Introduction by The General Mufti of KSA

His Honor Shaykh `Abdul-`Aziz ibn `Abdullah Al Al-Shaykh

Praise be to Allah Alone. May peace and blessings be upon our Prophet Muhammad:

Among the blessings that Allah conferred on us in the General Presidency for Scientific Research and Ifta' is the completion of collecting and printing the Fatwas of the Permanent Committee for Scholarly Research and Ifta'. The collection includes important and carefully examined Fatwas in response to the questions referred to the Ifta' House, Kingdom of Saudi Arabia. A group of the most highly-qualified and the best of scholars, we think, and only Allah can verify this. The Fatwas deal with different topics of knowledge; `Aqidah (creed), Tafsir (Qur'anic interpretation), and Fiqh (Islamic jurisprudence), etc., and matters always needed by people.

They were collected under the supervision of Shaykh: Ahmad ibn `Abdul-Razzaq Al-Duwaysh, (may Allah grant him success). He worked diligently in collecting, arranging, and preparing the Fatwas for print. May Allah reward him well.

After the completion of Fatwas, we collected new Fatwas and decided to print the second group of (Fatwas) in the same arrangement of the original Fatwas. We decided to collect the new Fatwas each according to its classification and chapter as long as it does not duplicate previous printed Fatwas. Thus, I used to meet with Shaykh `Abdullah ibn `Abdul-Rahman ibn Ghudayyan (may Allah protect him) and Shaykh Ahmad Al-Duwaysh (may Allah grant him success) every Monday to read these Fatwas and decide which would be printed. Thus, we collected a great number of Fatwas and these are the first group to be released. Others will follow, Allah willing.

I praise Allah (Glorified and Exalted be He) Who granted us His manifest and hidden favors and facilitated this task for us. I thank Shaykh: `Abdullah ibn `Abdul-Rahman ibn Ghudayyan (may Allah protect him) for his patience and revision of Fatwas. I also thank Shaykh: Ahmad Al-Duwaysh for his concern, collecting, and arrangement. May Allah reward them well.

I ask Allah the Ever-Exalted to make this work solely for His sake, a way to obtain His pleasure and closeness, and to be useful and beneficial for all. Indeed, Allah (Glorified be He) is the Guardian and the All-Able to answer our prayers.

May peace and blessings be upon our Prophet Muhammad, his family and Companions all together.

Introduction

All praise be to Allah, the Lord of the Worlds, and peace and blessings be upon Prophet Muhammad, his family, Companions, and those who follow his guidance until the Day of Judgment.

All praise be to Allah, the arrangement of the Fatwas (legal opinions issued by a qualified Muslim scholar) of the Saudi Permanent Committee for Scholarly Research and Ifta' in the Kingdom of Saudi Arabia has been completed as follows: Volume One includes 26 parts as follows:

1. Parts 1 - 3: 'Aqidah (creed)
2. Part 4: Tafsir (exegesis of the meanings of the Qur'an) and the Qur'anic sciences
3. Parts 5 - 23: Fiqh (Islamic jurisprudence), with the chapters organized as in: "Mukhtasar Al-Muqni".
4. Parts 24-26: A compilation

Many of the Hadith that are cited as evidence have been attributed to their reporters, to make it easy for scholars and students of knowledge to know the status of the evidence. These parts were printed in 1425 A.H.

These Fatwas have been issued by senior scholars upon whom Allah has bestowed knowledge, understanding, Amanah (honesty, trust, and obedience) and jealousy for Him; through which they have gained the confidence of Muslims throughout the world.

This led to the circulation of these Fatwas, and encouraged publishing houses and those who seek Allah's Reward to print them. These Fatwas are characterized by the clarity of their expression and their brevity without obscurity. They rely wholly on evidence, are clarified by explanation, to benefit scholars, students, and anyone who needs to know the rulings they cannot obtain knowledge of otherwise. Each one will find their objective, because the Fatwas contain knowledge, clarification of rulings, and also solve unprecedented legal problems. As long as the work of the committee continues, so will arranging and printing Fatwas. Work resumes whenever there is something new, following the first arrangement in method and style, taking into consideration what has already been published to avoid repetition; although some matters are repeated if this will add a benefit or if there is a change in the names of Muftys (Islamic scholars qualified to issue legal opinions). We hope that any omissions will be overlooked and excused by the readers and we will include them in the second volume.

May Allah guide us all to that which He loves and which pleases Him! May Allah make these Fatwas beneficial to the readers and students. May Allah reward the Muftys, compilers, assistants, publisher, and sponsor, as truly, He is the Most Kind and Generous. May Allah's Peace and Blessings be upon our Prophet Muhammad, his family, and Companions! And the last of our last is that all praise be to Allah, the Lord of the Worlds.

The meaning of Tawhid-ul-Rububiyyah and Tawhid-ul-Uluhiyyah

(Part No. 1; Page No. 7)

The first question of Fatwa no. 11843

Q 1: What is the meaning of Tawhid-ul-Rububiyyah and Tawhid-ul-Uluhiyyah?

A: The meaning of Tawhid-ul-Rububiyyah (Oneness of Allah's Lordship) is the ascription of all Acts of Allah (Glorified and Exalted be He) to none but Him Alone, such as: creation, bringing into being, providing sustenance, giving life, and causing death.

The meaning of Tawhid-ul-Uluhiyyah (Oneness of Worship) is the dedication of all acts of the servants to none but Allah Alone, such as: Du`a' (supplication), asking help, seeking refuge, fear, hope, reliance and all other forms of `Ibadah (worship).

May Allah grant us success. May peace and blessings be upon our Prophet, his family, and Companions.

Fatwa no. 16950

Q: I entered into a long discussion with a Muslim brother about who created evil. I told him that it is Allah (Exalted be He) who created evil as well as good, Jannah (Paradise) as well as Hellfire, and the believer as well as the Kafir (disbeliever). However, the Muslim brother said that evil is from man and that Allah (Exalted be He) creates only what is good and beneficial. He wondered how Allah (Exalted be He) creates evil and then punishes us when we commit it. I answered him that Allah (Exalted be He) enjoins what is good and forbids what is evil. There is a difference between creating and enjoining; Allah (Exalted be He) created Hellfire, but He forbids us from it. However, each one of us sticks to his opinion.

(Part No. 1; Page No. 8)

Allah (Glorified and Exalted be He) says, ﴿And of knowledge, you \(mankind\) have been given only a little.﴾ I know that I have only a little knowledge. Therefore, I argued with him, convinced of my little knowledge. Although my Muslim brother is more knowledgeable in religious affairs than me, he could not convince me, and I could not convince him. I know that my opinion is right and may be wrong and his is wrong and may be right. I know also that Allah (Exalted be He) forbids us to engage in argument without knowledge. Therefore, I write this letter to Your Eminence to enlighten me. May Allah guide you!

I ask Allah (Glorified and Exalted be He) to guide us to the right and truth; verily, He is the All-Hearer, the All-Knower. And our last call is "Praise be to Allah, the Lord of the Worlds." I extend my best regards and deep appreciation to Your Eminence, in advance, for clarifying the relevant Islamic ruling. As-salamu `alaykum warahmatullah wabarakatuh (May Allah's Peace, Mercy, and Blessings be upon you!)

A: The basic ruling is that Allah (Exalted be He) has created all things in general. He (Exalted be He) says, ﴿Allâh is the Creator of all things﴾ And: ﴿"While Allâh has created you and what you make!"﴾ allah (Exalted be He) has created good and He enjoins and loves it, and He has created evil and He prohibits and dislikes it. There is a huge difference between Allah's creation of things and His will and between loving and enjoining them and being pleased and satisfied with them. Allah (Exalted be He) says, ﴿If you disbelieve, then verily, Allâh is not in need of you; He likes not disbelief for His slaves. And if you are grateful \(by being believers\), He is pleased therewith for you.﴾ He

(Part No. 1; Page No. 9)

(Exalted be He) also says, ﴿and Allâh likes not mischief.﴾

May Allah grant us success! May peace and blessings be upon our Prophet, his family and Companions!

Fatwa no. 20164

Q: It is known that Allah (Glorified and Exalted be He) created the heavens and the earth in sixth days. This is proven in the Qur'an and the Sunnah. However, there is a Hadith recorded in Sahih Muslim mentioning that the heavens, the earth, and Adam were created in seven days. How do we reconcile the Hadith recorded in Sahih Muslim and the Ayah? Please, explain.

May Allah reward you!

A: It is authentically proven that Allah created the heavens and the earth and all that is between them in six days. Allah (Exalted be He) states, ﴿Indeed, your Lord is Allāh, Who created the heavens and the earth in Six Days, and then He rose over \(Istawâ\) the Throne \(really in a manner that suits His Majesty\).﴾

He (Exalted be He) also states, ﴿Allāh it is He Who has created the heavens and the earth, and all that is between them in six Days. Then He rose over \(Istawâ\) the Throne \(in a manner that suits His Majesty\).﴾ and ﴿And indeed We created the heavens and the earth and all between them in six Days﴾ etc.

The days are: Sunday, Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday. Nothing was created on Saturday for it is the seventh day and Sabt (Saturday) means interruption. The authentic reports indicate that Allah created the heavens and the earth and that is between them in six days. As for the Hadith narrated by Abu Hurayrah (may Allah be pleased with him), ﴿Allah created the Earth on Saturday, He created the mountains on Sunday, He created the trees on Monday, He created the things entailing labor on Tuesday, He created light on Wednesday, He spread out the animals on Thursday, and He created Adam \(peace be upon him\) after `Asr on Friday. It is the last of creation in the last hour of the day, between `Asr and the night.﴾ It is recorded by Imam Ahmad, Al-Nasa'y, and Muslim according to more than one narration. Al-Bukhari and more than one of the Imams of Hadith said that the Hadith of Abu Hurayrah on the authority of Ka'b Al-Ahbar is not Hadith Marfu' (a Hadith narrated from the Prophet with a connected or disconnected chain of narration). However, some narrators related it to the Prophet (peace be upon him). Therefore, it is Hadith Maqtu' (a Hadith narrated from a Follower; the generation after the Prophet's Companions) and does not contradict the Ayahs and the authentic Hadith. Accordingly, such a Hadith cannot be used as evidence. Thus, the ambiguity is resolved and both can be reconciled.

The first and second questions of Fatwa no. 19147

Q 1: Is it correct to say: "If the Prophet

(peace be upon him) had not been there, Arabs would have been in continuous Jahiliyyah (pre-Islamic ignorance)"?

A: The correct phrase to be said in this regard is: "If Allah did not guide Arabs by sending the Prophet (peace be upon him)..." or "If Allah did not send the Prophet (peace be upon him)..." This is because Muslims have to avoid words that may contradict their `Aqidah (creed) in any way.

Q 2: As La ilaha illa Allah means that there is no true deity but Allah; is it thus permissible to say: la Ghaliba Illa Allah (No one has full power and control but Allah)?

A: It is permissible to use such a phrase because its meaning is correct and implies Tawhid-ul-Rububiyyah (Oneness of Allah's Lordship). However, it is not permissible for the concerned phrase to be considered explanatory for La ilaha illa Allah.

The second question of Fatwa no. 18252

Q 2: What is the ruling on saying: "You have a Lord and I have a Lord"? What is the Kaffarah (expiation) that has to be made for saying so?

A: A Muslim has to say: "Allah is our Lord and your Lord" just as the Glorious Qur'an teaches. A person may thus say, for example: "Allah is my Lord and your Lord." However, it is not permissible to say the phrase which is mentioned in the question as it gives the false impression that there is more than one Lord.

The third question of Fatwa no. 18885

Q 3: We had a discussion with a Christian man, and among the questions that he asked us was the following: Can Allah (Glorified and Exalted be He) create an Ilah (god) like Himself? I could not answer this question.

We hope that you will provide an answer to this question.

A: Allah (Glorified be He) says in His Glorious Book (what means): \(No son \(or offspring\) did Allâh beget, nor is there any ilâh \(god\) along with Him. \(If there had been many gods\), then each god would have taken away what he had created, and some would have tried to overcome others! Glorified be Allâh above all that they attribute to Him!\) Allah in this Ayah (Qur'anic verse) explains the impossibility of there being another god, as it would necessarily beget and entail the following perils:

First peril: Allah explains by His Saying: \(If there had been many gods\), then each god would have taken away what he had created\) i.e. each god would have exclusive control over whatever he had created, would overpower it and would try to make his sovereignty overcome that of the others gods, which would lead to reciprocal claiming, combating and defeating! Indeed, high Exalted is Allah above all that.

Second peril: Gods would struggle against one another, each wanting superiority over the others, fighting to seize what they possess, to conquer them and to take their kingdom, where the strong would destroy the weak. As Allah (Exalted be He) says: \(and some would have tried to overcome others!\) Exalted is Allah and high above the great falsehood that the wrongdoers say! Third peril: There would be corruption of both of the heavens and earth along with all that is in between them of creation, as Allah (Exalted be He) says: \(Had there been therein \(in the heavens and the earth\) âlihah \(gods\) besides Allâh, then verily both would have been ruined. Glorified be Allâh, the Lord of the Throne, \(High is He\) above all that \(evil\) they associate with Him!\) The assumption that there could be another god with Allah would entail that each has an absolute power of disposition, which would incur conflicts and disagreements between them, which would in turn bring about the ruin of the earth and heavens and whatever is in them. Indeed, high Exalted is Allah above all that!

It is not permissible for Muslims, especially those who lack knowledge and understanding, to enter into discussions and arguments with skeptic and misguided people. Indulging in such debates, without having sufficient knowledge could spark off doubts within themselves. A Muslim's inability to answer or offer their opponents a strong position will make them appear to hold weak views that they cannot prove.

May Allah grant us success! May peace and blessings be upon our Prophet Muhammad, his family, and Companions!

Fatwa no. 20823

Q: Please give me your Shari`ah-based opinion regarding the poem of "this is Predestination" which reads:

(Part No. 1; Page No. 14)

This is Predestination that stabs whomever it wills
With the spear of age which is sent by trials
It hits a person in the jugular vein sometimes
They are thus killed and stained with blood
This is Predestination that we all know
That heavens destroy on earth
It has an influence on the heart
Thus a person kneels helpless and continues weeping
This is Predestination that if pleased with us
It gives us fresh water and every increase
But if not it is unconcerned
That sky is barren and dry

Is it permissible for the poem mentioned above to be published in a school magazine which is distributed amongst primary school pupils?

Provide us with your beneficial answer please. May Allah reward you with the best!

A: The words of this poem are not permissible, as they ascribe Allah's acts to Predestination while it is Wajib (obligatory) to ascribe all matters to Allah the Sole Determiner of Predestination. A Muslim must also be content with Predestination, call themselves to account, and repent from sins which are the reason for punishment. Allah (Exalted be He) states, \(And whatever of misfortune befalls you, it is because of what your hands have earned.\)

Evolution

Darwinian theory

The first question of Fatwa no. 2872

Q 1: We studied something about the theory of Evolution and all that relates to creation as this forms part of our educational curriculum. The more I read on this subject, the more I become convinced that Allah is the Only One Who created this universe and all that it contains. Nevertheless, I was greatly astonished to come across a book written by a Muslim author approving the theory of Evolution and supporting it by the Qur'an! Moreover, one of my Muslim teachers asked me: "Since Islam forbids a man to marry to his sister; how could brothers and sisters amongst the offspring of Adam and Eve get married to each other?"

A: The theory of Evolution which is renowned as the theory of Darwin contradicts the Qur'an, Sunnah (whatever is reported from the Prophet), and Ijma' (consensus of scholars). There are thus proofs from the Qur'an and authentic Sunnah stating that Allah (Exalted be He) created Adam from soil then created Eve from Adam.

regarding the fact that Adam (peace be upon him) married his sons to his daughters, this is something that he did according to the law that Allah commanded him to follow which we do not have any right to argue with. Anyway, as far the Shari'ah (Islamic law) that was sent to Prophet Muhammad (peace be upon him) is concerned; Allah makes it Haram (prohibited) for a man to marry his sister along with other well-established categories of women that a man is not allowed to marry. Besides, since Allah

(Glorified and Exalted be He) says, ﴿To each among you, We have prescribed a law and a clear way.﴾ while mentioning the laws of Tawrah (Torah), Injil (Gospel), and Qur'an; the same applies for Adam (peace be upon him) i.e. he had a specific law that he followed.

The third question of Fatwa no. 8139

Q 3: What is the reality of man's origin? Is it true that the "ancient man" who lived on earth millions of years ago had a tail? How can we refute the claim of some western scientists on this issue?

A: The claim that man evolved from an ape is falsehood that conflicts with religious texts [which prove otherwise, trans.]. It is a fact that the father of humanity is Adam (peace be upon him), who was created from clay.

May Allah grant us success! May peace and blessings be upon our Prophet Muhammad, his family and Companions!

Unity of worship

Fatwa no. 16085

Q: On reading books on Tawhid (belief in the oneness of Allah), I find sections as follow:

1. Al-Tawhid Al-`Ilmy Al-Khabary
2. Al-Tawhid Al-Irady Al-Talaby

What is the meaning of "Al-Irady" in the second section? Does it refer to what Allah wants from His servant as regards His Shari`ah (Law) and legal rulings? Or does it refer to what a servant wants from his Lord, i.e. that he wants none but Allah? What does the "Divine Will" refer to?

Also, what does the word "Al-Talaby" refer to? Does it mean that a servant should exclusively call on Allah and not associate anything or anyone with Him?

In some books, the second section is named "Tawhid Al-Qasd wa Al-Iradah"; what does the word "Qasd" mean? Does it mean that a servant should be directed solely to Allah? I would be grateful if you could elaborate these points. May Allah bless you for it!

A: What is meant by al-Tawhid al-Talaby al-Irady is that a servant singles out Allah (Exalted be He) for acts of worship such as Salah (Prayer), Sawm (Fast), sacrifice, vows, supplication and other acts of worship. This type of Tawhid is known as Tawhid of worship, acting upon the Saying of Allah (Exalted be He),

﴿Worship Allâh and join none with Him (in worship)﴾ Allah (Glorified be He) also says, ﴿And they were commanded not, but that they should worship Allâh, and worship none but Him Alone (abstaining from ascribing partners to Him)﴾ This is the meaning of the word of Tawhid "La Ilaha illa Allah (there is no deity but Allah)." That is why the word Tawhid was denied by the Mushriks [of Arabia, trans.] when the Prophet (peace be upon him) asked them to testify that there is no deity but Allah, but they said as mentioned in the Glorious Qur'an, ﴿"Has he made the âlihah (gods) (all) into One Ilâh (God - Allâh). Verily, this is a curious thing!"﴾ The Will of Allah (Exalted be He) is one of His Attributes that are proper for Him. Divine Will is of two types:

A: A cosmetic will: It is like Allah's Will to create the heavens and the earth, supply provision for all creatures and fix life spans for them. This is because Allah (Exalted be He) does what He intends and wills. Whatever He intends and wills, must happen. Allah (Glorified be He) says, ﴿Verily, your Lord is the Doer of whatsoever He intends (or wills).﴾

B: A Shari`ah-based will: It is Allah's Will with regard to His servants that they worship Him Alone and join no one with Him in worship. A servant may realize the purpose of His Will. Also, he may be unable to realize the purpose of His Will according to wisdom fixed by Allah (Glorified be He) as referred to in the Saying of Allah (Exalted be He), ﴿Allâh wishes to make clear (what is lawful and what is unlawful) to you, and to show you the ways of those before you, and accept your repentance, and Allâh is All-Knower, All-Wise.﴾

The thirty-third question of Fatwa no. 18612

Q: We would be grateful if you could elaborate the meaning of "the fundamentals of religion" in particular.

A: The meaning of "the fundamentals of religion" differs from one context to another. The term sometimes refers to the pillars of Islam and Iman (Faith). Sometimes it means the principles of creed. It may also refer to the rulings of Islam whose violation will make a Muslim liable to punishment and ignorance of which will not be an excuse to cancel it such as the prohibition of adultery and drinking alcohol. This definition differs according to the different opinions of scholars. There is no unction with regard to such definitions. What concerns a Muslim is that he must act upon the ordinances of Allah (Exalted be He) and shun the forbidden things by following Allah's Purified Shari`ah (Law).

Q: We hear some people saying, "Ya Ilahi Anta Jahy (meaning, O my Lord, You are [the source of] my honor)". What is the ruling on uttering such a statement? Is it legally forbidden as its apparent meaning, Allah knows best, implies that one should not utter it? Until we receive your reply, is such statement legally forbidden? We would be grateful if you could elaborate this point. May Allah preserve you for you comprehensive replies!

A: It is not permissible for a Muslim to use such a statement in supplication, as such a statement is neither mentioned in the Qur'an nor in the Prophetic Sunnah. Also, "source of honor" is not an attribute of Allah (Exalted be He). It is probable that such an attribute means intention and fulfillment of needs, which is literally wrong, even the meaning is correct. It is also probable that such an attribute denotes granting Shafa`ah (intercession), which is wrong both literally and semantically.

Q 2: Most people in our communities introduce new practices in the religion. If we prevent them from doing so by showing them the religious texts explaining such points, they cite as evidence the Prophetic Hadith in which the Prophet (may peace be upon him) said, (Whosoever introduces a good practice in Islam, there is for him its reward and the reward of those who act upon it (until the Day of the Resurrection).) What is the ruling on this point?

A: What is meant by a good practice is not the invention of a new religion, but it refers to the revival of the abandoned practices of the Prophet (peace be upon him) so that other people can imitate him. The same applies to evil practices. This Hadith is general as it handles the question of reviving the traditions of the Prophet (peace be upon him) both during the era of the Prophet (peace be upon him) or after it until the Day of Resurrection.

The fourth question of Fatwa no. 21166

Q 4: If Muslims have the right to call others to Islam, why do non-Muslims not have the right to call others to their religions?

A: calling people to Islam and to worship none but Allah (Exalted be He) is the mission of Allah's Messengers and the Muslims coming after them. The Muslims after the mission of Prophet Muhammad (peace be upon him) undertake this task, as they are those who follow the revelation sent down by Allah (Exalted be He). That is why they call people to the right path as a way to worship Allah (Exalted be He) and to follow the footsteps of their Prophet Muhammad (peace be upon him) and the preceding prophets (peace be upon them). Furthermore, the practice of calling people to Islam is a mercy for all creatures and sympathy for them regarding the chastisement set by Allah (Exalted be He) for the disobedient. Also, calling people to Islam signifies the establishment of the call which is dear to Allah (Exalted be He) to leave its opponents with no excuse of ignorance. As for non-Muslims, whatever their religions and beliefs are, it is not permissible for them to call people to their false and corrupt religions. This is because the one who follows the right path is in no need to follow corrupt religions. Moreover, it is not permissible for Muslims to allow the followers of corrupt religions to call people to their false religions. This is because calling people to disbelief means abolishing Islam, denying the Qur'an and the Prophethood of Muhammad (may peace be upon him), and approving of the worship of crosses, idols, fire and others false deities along with Allah, may He be Glorified and Exalted above such falsehoods. It is not acceptable to permit the call to the worship of Allah alone and the worship of other deities at the same time; the call to belief in Allah and His Messenger and the denial of Allah and His Messenger at the same time; or the call to hate the disbelievers and their traditions and the call to love and be loyal to the disbelievers and their traditions at the same time. This is not acceptable at all.

Q 5: Since it is not permissible for non-Muslims to call people to their religions, is this practice not in opposition with the Ayah (Qur'anic verse) in which Allah (Exalted be He) says, \(There is no compulsion in religion.\) ?

A: Well, it is not permissible for non-Muslims to call Muslims to their false religions, as stated in the reply to the previous question. This does not oppose the Saying of Allah (Exalted be He), \(There is no compulsion in religion.\) It is shown in this Qur'anic Ayah that since the religion of Islam is perfect with regard to its proof, evidence and its clear Ayahs, and since it is the religion of reason and knowledge; the religion of nature and wisdom; the religion of righteousness and reform, and the religion of right and guidance, it is in no need to be spread through compulsion. This is because a person is forced to do something which the hearts loathe; something that opposes truth and right or something whose proof and signs are not clear. However, anyone who embraces Islam then abandons it out of stubbornness and haughtiness after the right path has become distinct from the wrong path for him, there will be no excuse for him to reject it. This was said by Ibn Kathir (may Allah be Merciful with him) in the explanation of the Ayah mentioned above, "Muslims should not compel anyone to adopt Islam as it is a clear religion with clear proof and evidence. Thus, Islam is a religion that does not need people to be compelled in order for them to embrace it. Anyone who Allah (Exalted be He) guides to Islam and grants sound insight will adopt it without hesitation. On the other hand, for those who Allah (Exalted be He) allows to go astray and seals their hearing and heart, it will be useless to compel them to embrace Islam."

Q: What is your reply to philosophers who give reason preference over religious texts?

A: The function of reason with regard to the Noble Qur'an and the Prophetic Sunnah is to understand and accept them. Reason has no role in religion except for this. There are a lot of religious texts that make it obligatory for Muslims to follow the Noble Qur'an and the Prophetic Sunnah. Also, such texts warn Muslims against offering any opinions or suggestions that may oppose what is mentioned in the Qur'an and the Prophetic Sunnah. Allah (Exalted be He) says, ﴿O you who believe! Make not (a decision) in advance before Allâh and His Messenger (ﷺ), and fear Allâh. Verily! Allâh is All-Hearing, All-Knowing.﴾ He (Glorified be He) says, ﴿[Say (O Muhammad ﷺ) to these idolaters (pagan Arabs) of your folk:] Follow what has been sent down unto you from your Lord (the Qur'ân and Prophet Muhammad's Sunnah), and follow not any Auliya' (protectors and helpers who order you to associate partners in worship with Allâh), besides Him (Allâh). Little do you remember!﴾ Also, Allah (Glorified and Exalted be He) says, ﴿Say (O Muhammad ﷺ) to mankind): "If you (really) love Allâh then follow me (i.e. accept Islâmic Monotheism, follow the Qur'ân and the Sunnah), Allâh will love you and forgive you your sins.﴾ He (Glorified and Exalted be He) says, ﴿And verily, this (i.e. Allâh's Commandments mentioned in the above two Verses 151 and 152) is My Straight Path, so follow it, and follow not (other) paths, for they will separate you away from His Path. This He has ordained for you that you may become Al-Muttaqûn (the pious - see V.2:2).﴾ Allah (Glorified and Exalted be He) also says, ﴿(And) if you differ in anything amongst yourselves, refer it to Allâh and His Messenger (ﷺ), if you believe in Allâh and in the Last Day. That is better and more suitable for final determination.﴾ He (Exalted be He) says, ﴿When it is said to them: "Follow what Allâh has sent down." They say: "Nay! We shall follow what we found our fathers following." (Would they do that!) even though their fathers did not understand anything nor were they guided?﴾ There are other Qur'anic Ayahs that order Muslims to follow the revelation sent down from Allah (Exalted be He) and warn against following one's personal desires and all that is dictated by reason deviating from the right path.

Thus, it is not permissible for a person to be fooled by his reason whatever comprehensive understanding and thought he might have; that he takes his reason as a fundamental and the transmitted texts of the Qur'an and the Sunnah as a branch, accepting what is in agreement with reason and rejecting or distorting all that is in disagreement with it. This implies an accusation of the Divine Shari'ah (Law). Also, it undermines the fundamentals and pillars of the Shari'ah, as there are different reasons, natures, and thoughts, and people hardly agree on anything with the exception of necessities and the things that are perceptible through the senses. If the reality is as mentioned, which of all these reasons can be adopted as a fundamental to which people refer when differing on a case and to understand the transmitted texts of the Shari'ah?

What a wise opinion was said by Shaykh-ul-Islam, Ibn Taymiyyah (may Allah be Merciful with him), "People should know that nothing related to direct reason or the authentic transmitted texts makes it obligatory to oppose the method of the Salaf (righteous predecessors). Those who oppose the Qur'an and the Prophetic Sunnah and the Salaf of this Ummah (nation based on one creed) are in a confused state in which they can not differentiate between right and wrong. Anyone who denies Ru'yah (seeing Allah), claims that reason regards such an act as impossible. Thus, he needs to have another Ta'wil (allegorical interpretation) for the word "Ru'yah". Also, those who regard it as impossible for Allah (Exalted be He) to have Knowledge and Might and to have uncreated speech, say that reason regards such matters as impossible, so they resort to Ta'wil. Moreover, those who deny the resurrection of bodies and real eating and drinking in Paradise claim that reason regards such matters as impossible, so they resort to Ta'wil. Also, those who claim that Allah (Exalted be He) is not seated on the Throne, claim that reason regards it as impossible, thus, they resort to Ta'wil.

The evidence on the corruption of opinions offered by those people is that none of them has a fixed rule regarding what is considered impossible by reason. Some of them claim that reason regards as permissible or obligatory what is regarded as impossible by others. So, which of these can be adopted in terms of considering the Qur'an and the Prophetic Sunnah? As said by Imam Malik Ibn Anas (may Allah be pleased with him), "How foolish we are to abandon what is revealed to Muhammad (may peace be upon him) through Jibril (Gabriel) (peace be upon him) when a person excels others in argument comes to us!"

Fatwa no. 21008

Q: Is it permissible to say that the Companions differed on matters of `Aqidah (creed) such as the Prophet's (peace be upon him) seeing his Lord on the night of the Mi`raj (Ascension to Heaven) and the dead person hearing the living persons? Do such matters constitute part of the `Aqidah?

A: There was no difference or disagreement among the Companions or those following them from among Ahl-ul-Sunnah wal-Jama`ah (those adhering to the Sunnah and the Muslim main body) with regard to the Islamic `Aqidah. This is because they all believed in what is mentioned in the Qur'an and the Prophetic Sunnah. Moreover, they never introduced new practices into the religion. This was the reason for their unity and agreement on the same beliefs and the same method, acting upon Allah's Saying, ﴿And hold fast, all of you together, to the Rope of Allāh \(i.e. this Qur'ān\), and be not divided among yourselves﴾

One of these beliefs is the belief that the believers will see their Lord on the Day of Resurrection, as all agree on this belief as is proven by the reported proof from the Qur'an and the Prophetic Sunnah. They never differed on such belief.

As for the difference and disagreement on the question whether the Prophet (peace be upon him) saw his Lord on the night of the Mi`raj with his physical eyes or not, there is a disagreement on a particular event in this life, not a disagreement on seeing Allah (Exalted be He) on the Day of Resurrection. The majority of scholars are of the opinion that the Prophet (peace be upon him) saw his Lord with his insight, not with his eyes. This is because when the Prophet (peace be upon him) was asked about this point, he said, ﴿Light, how could I see Him.﴾ Thus, the Prophet (peace be upon him) negated seeing his Lord in this situation out of the light which prevented him from seeing his Lord. Also, scholars unanimously agree that no one can see his Lord in the life of this world, as mentioned in the Prophetic Hadith, where the Prophet (peace be upon him) said, ﴿No one of you shall see his Lord until he dies.﴾ (Related by Muslim). It is worth mentioning that our Prophet Muhammad (peace be upon him) is excluded from this rule, as he saw his Lord, but not in this way.

Fatwa no. 20096

An important Fatwa by the Permanent Committee for Scholarly Research and Ifta' in the Kingdom of Saudi Arabia on warning against the methods of Christianization

All praise be to Allah, the Lord of the worlds! May peace and blessings be upon the one who was sent as a mercy for all people, the last of all the prophets and messengers, our Prophet and Messenger Muhammad, and upon his family, Companions and those who follow their right path until the Day of Recompense! To proceed;

It is clear for all Muslims whom Allah (Exalted be He) granted deep insight that disbelievers including the Jews, the Christians and others hate Muslims. Also, they unite their forces against the Muslims to lead them to destruction and cause confusion in their religion, which is the religion of truth with which Allah (Exalted be He) sent His Prophet and Messenger Muhammad to all people. It is worth mentioning that disbelievers adopt different means to resist Islam and to mislead Muslims, preoccupy their minds and plot against them. It is clear in the present time that the disbelievers' calls, societies and missions are working energetically and their danger is increasing. One such misleading means is the practice of sending a publication entitled: (Institute of the People of the Book in the State of South Africa), which is sent to individuals, establishments and societies by mail in Arabia, from where Islam rose. This publication offers educational programs through correspondence and a free subscription card for some books such as the Torah, the Psalms, and the Gospel. There are quotes from these books on the subscription card.

However, it is good news for Muslims that there is a denial of this organized intellectual invasion and a warning against all means of this invasion. One of the favorable attitudes against this invasion is that many letters and calls have been sent to the Permanent Committee for Scholarly Research and Ifta' asking for the issuing of a statement that resists these publications and warns against the danger of these calls on Muslims.

With Allah's guidance, it can be said:

Since the advent of Islam, the enemies of Islam with their different beliefs and creeds, have plotted against Islam. They have also acted cunningly against the followers of Islam to lead Muslims out of the light of Islam to the darkness of disbelief, to undermine the Muslim community, and to weaken the influence of Islam on the souls of man. This is emphasized in the Qur'an, as Allah (Exalted be He) says, «Neither those who disbelieve among the people of the Scripture (Jews and Christians) nor Al-Mushrikûn (the idolaters, polytheists, disbelievers in the Oneness of Allâh, pagans, etc.) like that there should be sent down unto you any good from your Lord.» Allah (Glorified be He) says, «Many of the people of the Scripture (Jews and Christians) wish that if they could turn you away as disbelievers after you have believed, out of envy from their own selves, even after the truth (that Muhammad صلى الله عليه وسلم is Allâh's Messenger) has become manifest unto them.» He (Glorified and Exalted be He) says, ﴿O you who believe! If you obey a group of those who were given the Scripture (Jews and Christians), they would (indeed) render you disbelievers after you have believed!﴾

Of the severest enemies of this religion are the Christians who are full of hatred against Islam and who do their best to resist the spread of Islam all over the world. They attack Islam and Muslims in their homelands, particularly in the state of weakness that is spreading in the Muslim world these days. Undoubtedly, the purpose of this attack is to shake the Muslims' beliefs and to cause Muslims to doubt their religion, as a step to lead them out of Islam and attract them to embrace Christianity through what is wrongly known as "Missionary Activity", which is nothing but a call to idolatry in the name of the distorted form of Christianity, for which Allah (Exalted be He) has sent down no authority and which `Eisa (Jesus), Allah's prophet, is innocent of.

As known, the Christians have spent a lot of money and exerted much effort to realize this target of leading all people in general and the Muslims in particular to Christianity, but their conditions are as stated in the Qur'an when Allah (Glorified be He) says, ﴿Verily, those who disbelieve spend their wealth to hinder (men) from the Path of Allâh, and so will they continue to spend it; but in the end it will become an anguish for them. Then they will be overcome. And those who disbelieve will be gathered unto Hell.﴾ In addition, to realize this target, they have held many conferences; both regional and international, where missionaries meet to exchange opinions and suggestions about the best means and the most important results. They lay down plans and programs to realize this purpose. The means they adopt to realize their targets include:

Sending Christianization missions to Muslim countries and calling people to Christianity through distributing publications including books and pamphlets that explain Christianity and offer various translations of the Gospel as well as other publications that draw people to have doubts about Islam, attack Islam and distort it before the whole world.

They then resorted to hidden and indirect means of Christianization, the most dangerous of which is: Offering medical treatment and health care to people. The need of medical treatment and the spread of epidemics and fatal diseases in Muslim countries have made such means of Christianization very influential, especially at a time when it is rare, and sometimes impossible, to find Muslim physicians in some Muslim countries.

Also, one of the means of Christianization is through offering educational services either through establishing Christian schools and universities directly or inaugurating schools with apparently deep educational purposes but hidden Christian purposes, a matter that leads some Muslims to allow their children to join these schools, hoping that their children will learn foreign languages or other specific subjects. They pay no attention to the opportunity they give to the Christians when they send their children to the Christians. It is worth mentioning that these boys and girls still have empty minds and are ready to receive whatever they are taught.

Also, one of their means of Christianization is the mass media through the stations transmitting their material to the Muslim world in addition to the numerous satellite channels throughout the past years. There are also newspapers, magazines, and publications issued in large numbers for this purpose. These visual and audio mass media help in Christianization through:

- A. Calling to Christianity through displaying its feigned advantages, mercy and sympathy with the whole world
- B. Drawing Muslims to have doubts about their religion, rituals and religious relationships
- C. Spreading nakedness and dissolution and arousing sexual lusts with the purpose of undermining people's morals and turning people into worshippers of their lusts. Consequently, it will be easy for the Christians to call such dissolute people to anything, even to apostasy from the religion of Islam, may Allah forbid, after the light of faith disappears from their hearts and their religious conscience ceases to exist.

There are other means of Christianization which can be easily monitored by those who meditate on the condition of the Muslim world, but we will leave them aside, as our discussion is for warning, not for restriction. However, the reality is as mentioned in the Qur'an when Allah (Glorified and Exalted be He) says, \(they were plotting and Allâh too was plotting; and Allâh is the Best of those who plot.\) Also, Allah (Glorified be He) says, \(They \(the disbelievers, the Jews and the Christians\) want to extinguish Allâh's Light \(with which Muhammad ﷺ has been sent - Islâmic Monotheism\) with their mouths, but Allâh will not allow except that His Light should be perfected even though the Kâfirûn \(disbelievers\) hate \(it\).\)

These are the plots adopted by the Christianizers to mislead Muslims. What should we do to resist these attempts? How can we face these fierce attacks on Islam and Muslims? There can be no doubt that there is a common responsibility among all Muslims; individuals and groups, governments and peoples to stop this poisonous religious invasion that targets all individuals of the Muslim nation; old and young, males and females. Allah Alone is Sufficient for us and He is the Disposer of all our affairs.

Agreeing that there are different Shari`ah-based measures to be taken according to each attempt of Christianization, the following measures

1. Instilling the Islamic `Aqidah (creed) in the Muslims' souls through educational curriculums and pedagogy programs in general, taking into consideration the importance of instilling it in the hearts of the children in particular, in schools and in governmental and non-governmental educational establishments
2. Spreading sound religious awareness among the different classes of the Muslim community and charging the hearts with the feeling of zeal for the religion of Islam and its sacred things
3. Drawing people's attention to the means through which Christianization finds its way into the Muslim community such as movies, publications, magazines and other means and how to stop them from entering the Muslim community as well as punishing all those who contradict these measure with deterring punishments
4. Getting people acquainted with the dangers of Christianization as well as the means and methods adopted by the Christianizers so that people can avoid them
5. Paying attention to all the basic needs of the Muslims such as health care and educational services in particular, as it has been proven that those two needs are the most dangerous ways through which the Christians enter the hearts and minds of the Muslims

6. Every Muslim should adhere to his religion and `Aqidah wherever he lives and regardless of his surrounding conditions. Also, a Muslim should establish the rituals of Islam and enjoin those whom he cares for to establish these rituals as much as he can. In addition, one should provide one's family with the religious fuel through which they can resist any invasion that targets their `Aqidah and morals.

7. No Muslim should travel to any of the countries of disbelief except for a dire need such as receiving medical treatment or learning a necessary science which is not available in Muslim countries, taking into account the importance of being supplied with the religious knowledge needed to face the doubts aroused against Islam and Muslims.

8. Activating social solidarity and cooperation among Muslims so that the rich can care for the rights of the poor and help in establishing useful projects to meet the needs of the Muslims not to allow the Christians to make use of the Muslims' needs and poverty to practice Christianization

Finally, we ask Allah by His Sublime Names and Exalted Attributes to unite all Muslims, gather their hearts, reconcile them, guide them to the path of peace, protect them against the plots of their enemies, safeguard them from their evils, make them shun all vile deeds and trials; both what is apparent and what is hidden, as He is really the Most Merciful of all those having mercy!

Oh Allah! Whoever targets Islam and Muslims with evil, let him be preoccupied with his own affairs, make his plots against his own self, and inflict him with the calamity of evil, as You are Able to do all things!

(Glorified be your Lord, the Lord of Honour and Power! (He is free) from what they attribute unto Him!) , (And peace be on the Messengers!) , (And all the praises and thanks be to Allâh, Lord of the `Alamîn (mankind, jinn and all that exists).)

Q 1: What is the difference between Islam and Christianity?

A: Islam is the religion of monotheism, with which Allah (Exalted be He) sent Prophet Muhammad (peace be upon him). Allah (Glorified be He) has made it obligatory for the Jinn (creatures created from fire) and the human beings to embrace Islam. Allah (Exalted be He) says, \(And whoever seeks a religion other than Islâm, it will never be accepted of him, and in the Hereafter he will be one of the losers.\)

Christianity is principally the religion with which Allah (Exalted be He) sent His prophet and messenger `Eisa (Jesus) (peace be upon him). It is principally a call to monotheism to which all the prophets and messengers called, but the Christians distorted their religion and joined other deities with Allah (Exalted be He) and claimed that Allah (Exalted be He) has a wife and a child, Allah is Exalted above such things. Allah (Exalted be He) says, \(And \(remember\) when Allâh will say \(on the Day of Resurrection\): "O 'Isâ \(Jesus\), son of Maryam \(Mary\)! Did you say unto men: 'Worship me and my mother as two gods besides Allâh?' " He will say: "Glory be to You! It was not for me to say what I had no right \(to say\). Had I said such a thing, You would surely have known it. You know what is in my inner-self though I do not know what is in Yours; truly, You, only You, are the All-Knower of all that is hidden \(and unseen\).\) \(Never did I say to them aught except what You \(Allâh\) did command me to say: 'Worship Allâh, my Lord and your Lord.'\) When Allah (Exalted be He) sent Muhammad (peace be upon him) with the religion of Islam, He ordered everyone to follow the new religion as it abrogates all those that preceded it, so anyone who does not follow it is a Kafir (disbeliever)

in Allah (Glorified and Exalted be He). In Surah Al-A`raf, Allah (Exalted be He) says, [\(Say \(O Muhammad صلى الله عليه وسلم\): "O mankind! Verily, I am sent to you all as the Messenger of Allâh - to Whom belongs the dominion of the heavens and the earth. Lâ ilâha illa Huwa \(none has the right to be worshipped but He\). It is He Who gives life and causes death. So believe in Allâh and His Messenger \(Muhammad صلى الله عليه وسلم\), the Prophet who can neither read nor write \(i.e. Muhammad صلى الله عليه وسلم\), who believes in Allâh and His Words \[\(this Qur'ân\), the Taurât \(Torah\) and the Injeel \(Gospel\) and also Allâh's Word: "Be!" - and he was, i.e. 'Isâ \(Jesus\) son of Maryam \(Mary\), عليهما السلام\], and follow him so that you may be guided.\)](#) He (Exalted be He) also says, \(And We have not sent you \(O Muhammad صلى الله عليه وسلم\) except as a giver of glad tidings and a warner to all mankind\) Allah (Exalted be He) says, \(And We have sent you \(O Muhammad صلى الله عليه وسلم\): not but as a mercy for the 'Alamîn \(mankind, jinn and all that exists\).\) He (Exalted be He) also says, \(Truly, the religion with Allâh is Islâm.\) Allah (Exalted be He) says, \(And whoever seeks a religion other than Islâm, it will never be accepted of him, and in the Hereafter he will be one of the losers.\) He (Exalted be He) also says, \(This day, I have perfected your religion for you, completed My Favour upon you, and have chosen for you Islâm as your religion.\)

Q 2: Religions are usually named after their prophets, but Islam does not follow such rule, so what is the meaning of the word "Islam"?

A: Islam is submission to Allah through Tawhid (belief in the Oneness of Allah/ monotheism), resignation to Him through obedience, and disavowal of Shirk (associating others with Allah in His Divinity or worship) and its people.

No religion is known to be named after its prophet with the exception of the religion of the Christians, It was named after Christ, the son of Maryam (Mary), peace be upon them, after the religion had been distorted. This name is totally wrong. But every religion can be attributed to its prophet; we can say: "The religion of Musa (Moses, peace be upon him), the religion of `Eisa (Jesus, peace be upon him) and the religion of Muhammad (peace be upon him)," in the same way we can say: "Islam is the religion of such and such a person" and so on.

The second question of Fatwa no. 11057

Q 2: When a person removes a tooth, he throws it into the sun and says, "Oh Sun! This is the tooth of a donkey, give me the tooth of a deer!"

A: invoking the sun and appealing to it is a kind of major Shirk (associating others with Allah in His Divinity or worship). What is mentioned in the question is a type of such major Shirk.

Q: Respected shaykh, we would be grateful if you could give us the ruling on the utterance of the words mentioned below and the following figures, as I found an amulet with my brother's wife, which her mother gave her to wear as a charm against fear. If you have any observations about its use, please elaborate on them from all aspects. The words written on the amulet are: (Supplication against fear: Oh fear! Leave this person's body by the honor of our mother, Hawwa' (Eve) and our father, Adam) .

Give us the ruling on this, may Allah bless you for it!

A: It is not permissible for a Muslim to utter such a supplication or to wear it as a charm against fear, as such a practice is a sort of Shirk (associating others with Allah in His Divinity or worship). Also, it is not permissible for a Muslim to invoke by the honor of Hawwa' or Adam. A Muslim has to supplicate to Allah (Glorified be He) Alone. Allah (Exalted be He) says, ﴿And the mosques are for Allâh \(Alone\): so invoke not anyone along with Allâh.﴾ It was authentically reported that the Prophet (may peace be upon him) said, ﴿If you need assistance, supplicate to Allah Alone for help; and if you beg, beg of Allah Alone.﴾

Appealing to others, not to Allah for Help

Q: What is the ruling of Islam on a person relating that one night he was late, and he found no means of transport to take him home? He was standing near a grocer who told him that there were no longer any means of transport to take home. Upon that the man said, "Oh Joseph!" There came a deluxe car driven by a veiled person. The car stopped beside that person who appealed to Joseph for help. The grocer was astonished with what happened and tried to find out who the driver was, but he could not. The man who appealed to Joseph for help got into the car and they drove away. Some people think that such a person is a righteous person, but others see that such a situation is a type of superstition and a devilish trick.

We would be grateful if you could elaborate on this, may Allah reward you with the best!

A: Such a practice is a type of appealing to another for help and not to Allah, the Exalted; so it is regarded as a kind of Shirk (associating others in worship with Allah).

The second question of Fatwa no. 15398

Q 2: In the country where I live, a woman who does not become pregnant a few months after marriage is taken to the graves or to the slaughterhouse to hasten pregnancy, as they believe that such a woman is Mayshuhurah (meaning, she is under a spell out of another woman's entering upon her without permission). What is the ruling of Islam on such a practice?

A: It is not permissible for a barren woman to visit the graves aiming to become pregnant. This is because such a practice is a sort of appealing to the dead for help. There can be no doubt that appealing to the dead for help is a sort of major Shirk (associating others in worship with Allah) and a false belief. The only one a woman may appeal to in order to become pregnant and for other needs is Allah Alone. This is because Allah (Exalted be He) says, [\(And your Lord said: "Invoke Me, \[i.e. believe in My Oneness \(Islâmic Monotheism\)\] and ask Me for anything I will respond to your \(invocation\)."\)](#) Allah (Exalted be He) also says, \(so invoke not anyone along with Allâh.\) Also, it is not permissible to slaughter cows aiming for a woman to become pregnant, as this is a sacrifice for other than Allah. Such a practice is a sort of major Shirk (associating others in worship with Allah) in case it is used to seek the satisfaction of the Jinn (creatures created from fire) and other human beings. If it is slaughtered to seek Allah's pleasure for the woman to become pregnant, it will be a Bid'ah (innovation in religion). Anyway, it is not permissible for a Muslim to commit such practices. Moreover, it is obligatory for the person who did such practices to repent and not do them again, with the necessity of warning people against such practices.

Fatwa no. 15852

Q: May Allah reward you with the best, give us the ruling on a religious group in Egypt, named the Group of Abu Al-`Azayim, which call people to follow the so called "the reviving Imam," Muhammad Mady Abu Al-`Azayim with regard to the following points:

1. Supplicating to the dead and appealing to them for help as well as invoking the Prophet (may peace be upon him) and Abu Al-`Azayim in his absence
2. Memorizing and chanting some particular verses of poetry including appeals to and praises of the family of the Prophet (may peace be upon him)

Give us the ruling on this question, may Allah guide you and us to the right path! Are those people regarded as Muslims who can lead us in prayers; whose girls we can marry, and whose food we can eat? Or are they regarded as disbelievers with which we cannot maintain any of the relations or practices mentioned above?

A: Anyone who invokes Allah and appeals to the dead from among the prophets and other righteous people, is a Mushrik (one who associates others with Allah in His Divinity or worship) and such major Shirk (associating others in worship with Allah) draws him out of Islam. Allah (Exalted be He) says, ﴿And whoever invokes \(or worships\), besides Allāh, any other ilāh \(god\), of whom he has no proof; then his reckoning is only with his Lord. Surely! Al-Kāfirūn \(the disbelievers in Allāh and in the Oneness of Allāh, polytheists, pagans, idolaters\) will not be successful.﴾ Such a person is named by Allah as a disbeliever. Also, Allah (Exalted be He) says, ﴿And the mosques are for Allāh \(Alone\): so invoke not anyone along with Allāh.﴾ He (Exalted be He) also says, ﴿And indeed it has been revealed to you \(O Muhammad صلى الله عليه وسلم\), as it was to those \(Allāh's Messengers\) before you: "If you join others in worship with Allāh, \(then\) surely \(all\) your deeds will be in vain, and you will certainly be among the losers."﴾

Allah (Exalted be He) says, ﴿And those who take Auliya' \(protectors, helpers, lords, gods\) besides Him \(say\): "We worship them only that they may bring us near to Allāh." Verily, Allāh will judge between them concerning that wherein they differ. Truly, Allāh guides not him who is a liar, and a disbeliever.﴾ Allah (Glorified be He) regards them as liars and disbelievers on appealing to others and not to Allah for help even if they claim that they take such helpers as mediators between them and their Lord.

Q 2: Some people say, "Oh, my father!", "Oh, so-and-so!" and "Oh, Shaykh so-and-so!" appealing to them for help; however we do not know whether they utter such words with the belief that these persons can bring them any benefit or whether they utter these words without belief in anything. It is worth mentioning that they utter these words all the time. My question is: Is the person uttering these words regarded as a Mushrik (associating others in worship with Allah) and practicing major Shirk which draws a Muslim out of the fold of Islam? Please give us the ruling on this question. May Allah bless you for it!

A: If a person says such words to a dead or an absent person appealing to him for help, this will be considered a form of major Shirk from which the person should repent. This is because appealing to others instead of Allah (Exalted be He) for help with regard to the things none but Allah can do, is regarded as a form of major Shirk.

Q 4: In Nigeria there are some societies that believe in the Qur'an and the Prophetic Sunnah; however, the followers of these societies also have some false beliefs such as the belief in polytheism, fortunetelling, jugglery, magic and other things. It is worth mentioning that these practices are done in some Islamic establishments. What should be done with regard to those people?

A: the meaning of associating partners with Allah (Exalted be He) is to associate idols, righteous people, deceased people, leaders of some religious groups as partners with Him in worship. This practice is regarded as a form of major Shirk (associating others with Allah in His Divinity or worship) which draws a person out of the fold of Islam. This is because Allah (Exalted be He) has ordered His servants to worship none but Him alone and has forbidden them to worship others or to associate partners with Him in worship. Allah (Exalted be He) says, ﴿Worship Allāh and join none with Him \(in worship\)﴾ He (Exalted be He) also says, ﴿so invoke not anyone along with Allāh.﴾

In addition, Allah (Glorified be He) rejects the practices of those who associate righteous people as partners with Him in worship, claiming that such righteous people are their intercessors with Allah (Exalted be He) who says, ﴿And they worship besides Allāh things that harm them not, nor profit them, and they say: "These are our intercessors with Allāh." Say: "Do you inform Allāh of that which He knows not in the heavens and on the earth?" Glorified and Exalted is He above all that which they associate as partners \(with Him\)!﴾ He (Exalted be He) says, ﴿So worship Allāh \(Alone\) by doing religious deeds sincerely for Allāh's sake only.﴾ ﴿Surely the religion \(i.e. the worship and the obedience\) is for Allāh only. And those who take Auliya' \(protectors, helpers, lords, gods\) besides Him \(say\): "We worship them only that they may bring us near to Allāh." Verily Allāh will judge between them concerning that wherein they differ. Truly, Allāh guides not him who is a liar, and a disbeliever.﴾ learning, teaching, and practicing magic is considered a form of Kufr (disbelief) in Allah (Glorified and Exalted be He). Also, learning, teaching and practicing magic draws a person out of the fold of Islam, as Allah (Exalted be He) says, ﴿They followed what the Shayâtîn \(devils\) gave out \(falsely of the magic\) in the lifetime of Sulaimân \(Solomon\). Sulaimân did not disbelieve, but the Shayâtîn \(devils\) disbelieved, teaching men magic and such things that came down at Babylon to the two angels, Hârût and Mârût, but neither of these two \(angels\) taught anyone \(such things\) till they had said, "We are only for trial, so disbelieve not \(by learning this magic from us\)." And from these \(angels\) people learn that by which they cause separation between man and his wife, but they could not thus harm anyone except by Allāh's Leave. And they learn that which harms them and profits them not. And indeed they knew that the buyers of it \(magic\) would have no share in the Hereafter. And how bad indeed was that for which they sold their own selves, if they but knew.﴾

With regard to jugglery, it is a sort of deception and trickery, as said by Allah (Exalted be He) about the magicians brought by Pharaoh : \(their sticks, by their magic, appeared to him as though they moved fast.\) Thus, it is regarded as a sort of magic, so the ruling that applies to magic also applies to it.

The Prophet (peace be upon him) regarded magic as a major sin and fortune-telling as a way of claiming to know the Ghayb which none but Allah (Glorified and Exalted be He) knows. Claiming to know the Ghayb is one of the practices that nullify one's Islam. Also, it is not permissible for a Muslim to visit a diviner nor to believe him, as the Prophet (peace be upon him) said, \(He who visits a diviner and asks him about anything, his prayers extending to forty nights will not be accepted.\) (Related by Muslim). In another Prophetic Hadith: \(If anyone resorts to a diviner or a soothsayer and believes in what he says, then he has disbelieved in what was revealed to Muhammad \(may peace be upon him\).\)

Appealing to the dead for help

Q 2: What is the ruling on those who put some money as charity in vows boxes that are placed inside the domed sepulchers of some righteous deceased persons; the ruling on those who ask for blessings from the deceased persons; the ruling on those who ask for blessings from deceased persons through applying perfume; and the ruling on those who circumambulate the graves of righteous deceased persons to obtain blessings from them? Also, while the music is being played, some people sing some poems including some words such as: "Give me strength, Shaykh `Abdul-Rahim", or "Give me strength, Shaykh Ibrahim"?

A: Tabarruk (seeking blessings) from the dead is an act of major Shirk (associating others with Allah in His Divinity or worship that takes the Muslim out of Islam). If they intend to take the deceased as means to obtain blessings from Allah (Exalted be He), it is a path to Shirk.

Making a vow to the deceased is considered an act of major Shirk. This is because vowing is an act of `Ibadah (worship); so anyone who dedicate it to any other than Allah (Exalted be He) is a Mushrik (one who associates others with Allah in His Divinity or worship). Also, it is not permissible to offer Salah (Prayer) behind someone who asks blessings from the graves, makes vows or offers sacrifices to them, or asks for the help of those buried in them as such a person is a Mushrik.

Songs and music are Haram (unlawful), as they are forbidden forms of amusement. If such songs include some words that appeal to the deceased for help and provision, singing these songs is regarded as a form of major Shirk.

The second question of Fatwa no. 17457

Q 2: some people invoke the dead when visiting the graves of Al-Baqi` and Uhud and throw money there for their sake. What is the ruling on this practice?

A: Invoking the dead and appealing to them for help when visiting their graves is regarded as a form of major Shirk (associating others with Allah in His Divinity or worship) which draws a person out of the religion of Islam. This is because supplication is the highest kind of all acts of worship. Allah (Exalted be He) says, ﴿And whoever invokes (or worships), besides Allâh, any other ilâh (god), of whom he has no proof; then his reckoning is only with his Lord. Surely! Al-Kâfirûn (the disbelievers in Allâh and in the Oneness of Allâh, polytheists, pagans, idolaters) will not be successful.﴾ Also, throwing money on the graves of the dead and offering sacrifices for their sake is one of the worst types of major Shirk.

Q 2: It is common in our societies that some people, particularly the elderly, that on rising or sitting down they say, "Oh, my parents!" or "Oh, our Prophet" appealing to them for help; is the person who utters such words regarded as a Mushrik (associating others in worship with Allah)? What should be done with those people? May Allah bless you for it!

A: appealing to the Prophet (peace be upon him) or to one's parents for help on rising and sitting down is not permissible, as it is a form of appealing to the dead and the absent persons for help. It is worth mentioning that asking for help is an act of worship for which no one should be appealed to but Allah (Exalted be He), as appealing to other than Allah (Exalted be He) for help is a form of Shirk. Therefore, one should avoid the utterance of such words and enjoin others not to utter them. It is better for a Muslim on rising to say, "Oh, Allah! Help us and make all our affairs easy!" or "Oh, Merciful! Help us and make all our affairs easy!" and so on. This is because it is Allah Alone Who is Able to do all things.

Q 1: on supplicating in the Qunut (supplication recited while standing after bowing in the last unit of Prayer), the Imam says: "Glory be to You wherever You are!" When he was asked about this supplication, he replied that it is uttered by the angels on praising their Lord. What is your opinion on this matter?

A: The supplication "Glory be to You wherever You are!" is not mentioned in any authentic supplications or formulas of Dhikr (Remembrance of Allah) reported from the Prophet (may peace be upon him). This supplication entails both a real meaning, which is "Glory be to You wherever You are with Your Knowledge" and a false meaning as adopted by those who believe in the Hulul (a Sufi term meaning indwelling).

Therefore, this supplication should be shunned, as it is known in Allah's Purified Shar` (Laws) that a Muslim should avoid the utterance of supplications that may entail both a real meaning and a false one as a protection of our religion. It is worth mentioning that in the Qur'an and the Prophetic Sunnah there are supplications and formulas of Dhikr that one can say without using fabricated ones. As reported from the Prophetic Sunnah, one can say, "Glory be to my Lord, the Exalted," "Glory be to my Lord, the Greatest," "Glory be to the King and the Holy," and other supplications mentioned in Qur'anic Ayahs (verses) and Prophetic Hadiths.

Making a vow to other than Allah

Q: I made a vow to offer a sacrificial animal to Shaykh `Abdul-Rahim Al-Qinawy, but a righteous friend of mine met me and told me that it is not permissible for me to do so, as such a practice is regarded as Shirk (associating others with Allah in His Divinity or worship). Thus, I decided to do nothing until I receive a Fatwa on this question from Your Eminence. It is worth mentioning that my sons sold the animal I made a vow to slaughter, but its price is still with me. We would be grateful if you could tell us whether offering sacrificial animals to such dead shaykhs is Haram (prohibited) or not? If such a practice is prohibited, what should we do with regards to the vow? We would be grateful if you could send the reply as soon as possible.

A: It is prohibited to offer a sacrificial animal to the dead shaykh whose name is mentioned above or to other shaykhs, as offering sacrificial animals is an act of `Ibadah (worship) through which a Muslim can get closer to their Lord and offering them to other than Allah is regarded as major Shirk (associating others with Allah in His Divinity or worship that takes the Muslim out of Islam). This is because Allah (Exalted be He) says: \(Therefore turn in prayer to your Lord and sacrifice \(to Him only\).\) Allah (Exalted be He) also says: \(Say \(O Muhammad\): "Verily, my Salât \(prayer\), my sacrifice, my living, and my dying are for Allâh, the Lord of the 'Alamîn \(mankind, jinn and all that exists\).\) \(He has no partner.\)" It was authentically reported from `Aly (may Allah be pleased with him) that the Prophet (may peace be upon him) said: \(The one who sacrifices for anyone besides Allah is accursed\) So, you have to turn to Allah with sincere repentance. Also, you should not fulfill such a vow and give the price of the sacrificial animal to the poor Muslims from among your relatives and others.

Q: A person made a vow to slaughter a sheep or a cow for others besides Allah. It is known that such vow is made for Allah. When this person slaughtered the sheep or cow, he said "In the Name of Allah"; is it permissible for us to eat from the meat of such an animal or not? After mentioning the Name of Allah on slaughtering such an animal, does its meat become pure or impure as he intended to offer it as a sacrificial animal to others besides Allah?

Give us the ruling on this question, may Allah increase you in knowledge!

A: It is prohibited to make a vow to slaughter a sheep or a cow for others besides Allah. Also, a Muslim should not fulfill such a vow, as it is an act of disobedience to Allah. It was authentically reported that the Prophet (may peace be upon him) said: \(Anyone who vows to obey Allah should obey Him; and anyone who vows to disobey Allah should not disobey Him.\) As for the animal offered as a sacrificial animal to others besides Allah, it is not permissible for a Muslim to eat from its meat even if the Name of Allah is mentioned on slaughtering it, as it was slaughtered for others besides Allah.

Sacrifice for others besides Allah

Fatwa no. 14090

Q: my father slaughtered a sacrifice for a shaykh in our village saying that the sacrifice was for Allah's sake but the reward was for the shaykh. I refused to eat from the meat of this sacrifice, but he took an oath that I would eat from it, otherwise he would dismiss me out of the home. What is the ruling of Islam on such a practice?

A: If the sacrifice your father slaughtered was to get nearer to the shaykh to get a particular benefit, even if the Name of Allah was mentioned on slaughtering it or another name was mentioned on slaughtering it, it will not be lawful to you to eat from such sacrifice, as it is slaughtered for others besides Allah.

If the sacrifice was for Allah's sake and the Name of Allah was mentioned on slaughtering it but the reward was for the shaykh or others, you can eat from the meat of this sacrifice.

Fatwa no. 14747

Q: A few years ago, we used to commit an act of Shirk (associating others with Allah in His Divinity or worship) by offering a sacrifice to the dead. Some of us died without repenting from such a practice though they established Salah (Prayer), observed Sawm (Fast) and performed Hajj. Our parents and a lot of people died without repenting from such a practice though they did so out of their ignorance.

What is the ruling on this question? As for our dead parents, should we ask Allah's forgiveness for them? Or should we give money as charity for their sake? As for those who are still alive, they have received the Islamic ruling on such a practice, but they refused to act upon it out of ignorance. What is the ruling on these people? Some young men avoid those people and regard them as disbelievers, taking as evidence that those people have received the ruling on such practice, but they refuse to act upon it.

A: First: slaughtering for the dead to get nearer to them and to glorify them is regarded as major Shirk, as a sacrifice must be offered to none but Allah. This is because Allah (Glorified and Exalted be He) says, ﴿Say (O Muhammad صلى الله عليه وسلم): "Verily, my Salât (prayer), my sacrifice, my living, and my dying are for Allâh, the Lord of the 'Alamîn (mankind, jinn and all that exists).﴾ ("He has no partner. And of this I have been commanded, and I am the first of the Muslims.") Allah (Exalted be He) says, ﴿Therefore turn in prayer to your Lord and sacrifice (to Him only).﴾ It was authentically reported that the Prophet (may peace be upon him) said, ﴿May Allah's curse be on anyone who slaughters (a sacrifice) to other than Allah!﴾ It is not permissible to ask Allah's forgiveness for those who died as Mushriks (associating others with Allah in his Divinity or worship) or give money as charity for their sake, as Allah (Glorified and Exalted be He) says, ﴿It is not (proper) for the Prophet and those who believe to ask Allâh's Forgiveness for the Mushrikûn (polytheists, idolaters, pagans, disbelievers in the Oneness of Allâh), even though they be of kin, after it has become clear to them that they are the dwellers of the Fire (because they died in a state of disbelief).﴾

Second: As for the surviving people who offer sacrifices for the dead to get closer to them or to glorify them, they should be made aware of the ruling on such practices and should be advised in a nice way so that Allah may guide them to the right path. If they do not act upon such a ruling and insist on offering sacrifices for people other than Allah, they should be given three days to declare their repentance from this major sin. If they do not declare their repentance during the fixed three days, they should be killed as apostates from the religion of Islam.

Fatwa no. 14788

Q: My mother is possessed by Jinn (creatures created from fire); whenever the Jinn show up or disappear, my mother yawns repeatedly. The Jinn ask my mother to wear specific gold jewelry, she does. The Jinn also request that pigeons and hens of specific colors be slaughtered over my mother's head while she is dressed in a white garment then we, not my mother, are to eat from such birds. We then do so and following the instructions of the Jinn we throw the bones in the Nile River. It is worth mentioning that the Jinn command my mother to visit the Shrines of Sheikh Abu Al-Su`ud, Al-Sayyidah Zaynab, and Al-Husain every Tuesday. When my mother does not comply to these commands, the Jinn cause her to fall ill and she becomes bedridden for long periods of time. What is the ruling on this? Give us a detailed response please! May Allah reward you with all the best!

A: A person who is possessed by Jinn must not comply with their orders and disobey Allah (Exalted be He) or commit any act of Shirk (associating others with Allah in His Divinity or worship). Accordingly, you must not obey the Jinn by slaughtering birds over your mother's head. You must also not eat from them. Rather, you - as well as all other Muslims - have to ask for Allah's help, seek refuge with Him, and commit to His Shari`ah (Islamic law). Muslims must not disobey Allah as disobedience and indulgence in acts of Shirk enable Satan to dominate man. A person thus has to protect themselves by reciting the Qur'an and Shar`i (Islamic legal) supplications. They may recite Surah Al-Fatihah, Ayat-ul-Kursi (the Qur'anic Verse of Allah's Chair, Surah Al-Baqarah, 2:255), Surah Al-Ikhlâs, and thrice Al-Mu`awwidhatayn (Surahs Al-Falaq and Al-Nas). Then a person is to blow in their hands and rub over their face and the surface of their body as much as they can. A person may also recite invocations such as: "I seek the protection of Allah's perfect words against any evil from His creation", "In the Name of Allah with Whose Name nothing on earth or in heaven can do harm. He is All-Hearing, All-Knowing", and "I seek refuge in Allah's perfect words against any Satan, disturbances, or worries, and against any censuring eye." It is important to mention that it is not permissible to visit graves to ask for the Shafa`ah (intercession) of the dead. On the contrary, doing so is Shirk. Cure is only to be sought through Halal (lawful) means for which I advise you to refer to the beneficial books of Al-Kalim Al-Tayyib by Ibn Taymiyah,

Al-Wabil Al-Sayyib by Ibn Al-Qayyim, and Al-Adhkar by Al-Nawawi. Any righteous person may also recite the Ayahs (Qur`anic verses) and authentic Dhikr (Remembrance of Allah) mentioned above and blow on your mother. May Allah grant her immediate recovery.

The first question of Fatwa no. 16072

Q 1: I had an uncle whose father died a long time ago. My uncle says his father would offer Salah and observe Sawm, but he used to slaughter sacrifices for people other than Allah. His father fell ill three months before his death. There was a deep cut in his pubes which caused him to be confined to bed. During those three months, he would not offer Salah. He died at the end of those three months. He did not know that a sick person is not exempt from offering Salah. My uncle wants to know whether it is permissible for him to offer Hajj for the sake of his dead father or not?

A: If the father of your uncle died without repenting from slaughtering for people other than Allah and not praying during his illness, he will be regarded a Mushrik (associating others in worship with Allah in His Divinity or worship) and it will not be permissible to perform Hajj for his father. This is because Allah (Glorified and Exalted be He) says, ﴿But if they had joined in worship others with Allāh, all that they used to do would have been of no benefit to them.﴾ The Prophet (may peace be upon him) also said, ﴿The step right before becoming a Kafir \(disbeliever\) and a Mushrik is the abandonment of Salah \(prayers\).﴾

Q: My two uncles and I lived in the same house for about fifty years. After a period of time, my uncles moved to other new houses. I lived in the house with my family. I bought the shares of my uncles and the house has become my own property.

Respected shaykh, ever since my uncles and my father lived in this house, there had been a sacrifice slaughtered inside the house and its meat would be distributed among the people of the village. My uncles and I do not know who initiated it or the reason for such a sacrifice except that one year the cattle we possessed were inflicted with some diseases. As a result, one of my uncles went to a soothsayer to find the reason for such an affliction. The soothsayer told him that a sacrifice should be slaughtered inside the house provided that the blood of such a sacrifice was poured down from the second floor onto the first floor where the cattle were kept. Moreover, she told them that they had to follow this practice every year. Some years later, I was wandering in a remote region where I met a soothsayer who told me that my family slaughtered a sacrifice in such and such house located in such and such region. She then described some features of the house, a matter that caused me to believe her. She finally told me that I had to slaughter such a sacrifice as in case I did not slaughter it, my family and property might be harmed. Thus, I slaughter such a sacrifice every year in the place she told me about. Please note that this house is no longer inhabited. I am obliged to go to the deserted house to slaughter the sacrifice. My sons advised me that it is not permissible for me as a Muslim to do so, as such a sacrifice is prohibited, but I fear that harm may inflict my children or property due to me not slaughtering such a sacrifice. What should I do now?

A: Such a sacrifice slaughtered in the house mentioned above is a sort of Shirk (associating others in worship with Allah) as it is slaughtered to get closer to the Jinn (creatures created from fire) to avoid their evil. Thus, it is not permissible for you to do such an act. Moreover, you have to turn to Allah with sincere repentance from this practice. You have to be sure that none but Allah (Exalted be He) can benefit or harm a human being. Others can neither benefit nor harm a human being. This is because Allah (Exalted be He) says, ﴿Say: "Tell me then, the things that you invoke besides Allâh ? if Allâh intended some harm for me, could they remove His harm? Or if He \(Allâh\) intended some mercy for me, could they withhold His Mercy?" Say: "Sufficient for me is Allâh; in Him those who trust \(i.e. believers\) must put their trust.﴾

Q 2: What is the ruling on slaughtering a sacrifice for a guest since Allah (Exalted be He) says, (and that on which Allâh's Name has not been mentioned while slaughtering, (that which has been slaughtered as a sacrifice for others than Allâh) ?

A: slaughtering a sacrifice for a guest is lawful as long as Allah's Name is mentioned on slaughtering it. The idea that it is offered to others besides Allah is totally wrong, as the slaughterer does not intend to slaughter it to get nearer to the guest, but he slaughters it and Allah's Name is mentioned while slaughtering just to offer it as food to the guest. It is like the animal you slaughter to feed your family.

Q3: Is it permissible to pray behind a person who eats the meat of animals slaughtered for anyone other than Allah and yet claims to have pronounced the Name of Allah at the time of slaughtering?

A: Offering Salah behind a person who slaughters animals for anyone other than Allah such as Jinn is not valid, even if he mentions Allah's Name when slaughtering the animals. This is an act of Shirk (associating others with Allah in His Divinity or worship) and this person's Salah is not valid, because he is a Mushrik (one who associates others with Allah in His Divinity or worship) and so is the Salah of any person who slaughters animals for other than Allah (Exalted be He), even if they mention Allah's Name before slaughtering. Allah (Exalted be He) informs us of this in His Statement: \(on which Allâh's Name has not been mentioned while slaughtering\). According to the statement of the Prophet (peace be upon him), \(The reward of deeds depends upon the intentions and every person will get the reward according to what he has intended.\) This person has slaughtered the animal to draw closer to the Waliy, Jinn or any other being, such as angels, idols and the like.

Q 2: Is it permissible to eat from the meat of animals slaughtered (in sacrifice) for the sake of any Waliy (pious person) like Abdul-Qadir Al-Jilany or any other person, since such banquets are widespread in our country? We would like to know the ruling of Shari`ah (Islamic Law) on them.

A: The animals slaughtered to draw nearer to the Awliya' (pious people), Jinn (creatures created from fire) or Satans; those on which names other than Allah's Name are pronounced upon slaughtering are not permissible to eat, for Allah (Exalted be He) says, ﴿Eat not \(O believers\) of that \(meat\) on which Allâh's Name has not been pronounced \(at the time of the slaughtering of the animal\)﴾ And ﴿Forbidden to you \(for food\) are: Al-Maitah \(the dead animals- cattle- beast not slaughtered\), blood, the flesh of swine, and that on which Allâh's Name has not been mentioned while slaughtering﴾ Thus, slaughtering for other than Allah (Exalted be He) is a form of major Shirk (associating others with Allah in His Divinity or worship), such as slaughtering for Shaykh Abdul-Qadir Al-Jilany or Al-Badawy or any other person.

Q1: It is customary for our fellow Bedouins that when someone builds a new house or buys a new car, he slaughters an animal. It is believed that this will protect the house or the car against destruction or envy. When we advise people, they say it is a charity.

A: It is not permissible to slaughter an animal with such intention. Moreover, if the person slaughters it intending to draw closer to the Jinn to ward off their harm, it will be considered an act of major Shirk (associating others with Allah in His Divinity or worship).

Allah (Exalted be He) states, ﴿Say (O Muhammad صلى الله عليه وسلم): "Verily, my Salât (prayer), my sacrifice, my living, and my dying are for Allâh, the Lord of the 'Alamîn (mankind, jinn and all that exists).﴾ (He has no partner.﴾

Fatwa no. 20786

Q: on slaughtering a sacrificial animal, some people turn their sacrifice to the direction of the west. They may also slaughter at places where other people slaughter their sacrifices for other than Allah. Is it permissible for us to eat from the meat of their sacrifices?

A: Slaughtering an animal is an act of worship that must be devoted sincerely for the Sake of Allah Alone. It is not permissible to slaughter an animal for other than Allah, or in places where others slaughter their animals for other than Allah. Therefore, Allah prohibits eating from the meat of the animals slaughtered on Nusub (stone-altars) even if Allah's Name has been mentioned before slaughtering them. Also, Allah forbids the believers to do this, as Nusub were stone-altars round the Ka`bah where the Arabs used to slaughter their animals for other than Allah. Subsequently, it is not permissible for the believer to slaughter animals in the places where other people slaughter theirs for other than Allah. This implies acting like them and, you may be influenced by their false beliefs. The meat of the sacrifices slaughtered at these places is unlawful and it is not permissible for you to eat from it.

You must slaughter the sacrificial animal in a place where no one slaughters for other than Allah or commits prohibited acts. The slaughtering should be done solely for the Sake of Allah Alone and you should mention the Name of Allah before this. It is Mustahab (desirable) for one to face Qiblah (direction faced for Prayer towards the Ka`bah) and turn the sacrifice towards the Qiblah because it is the noblest direction. It is Mustahab to face the Qiblah when offering an act of worship, unless there is proof otherwise. It is highly Mustahab (desirable) to face the Qiblah while slaughtering a Hady (sacrificial animal offered by pilgrims) or Ud-hiyah (sacrificial animal offered by non-pilgrims). It is reported from `Aishah (may Allah be pleased with her) that the Prophet (peace be upon him) stated, «Offer sacrifices \(for the sake of Allah\) willingly. Every Muslim that directs his sacrificial animal towards the Ka`bah, its blood, excretions, and wool shall be converted into good deeds in his account on the Day of Judgment.» He also used to say, «Spend a few of your money and you will take a great reward.» This Hadith is narrated by `Abdul-Razzaq in the book (Musannaf `Abdul-Razzaq vol.4, p. 388) and Al-Tirmidhy, Ibn Majah, and Al-Bayhaqy reported the like of it. This Hadith, even if scholars of Hadith say its Sanad (chain of narrators) is weak, can be acted upon in issues of good deeds. It supports the previously mentioned proofs. Therefore, Ibn `Umar and Ibn Sirin see that it is Makruh (reprehensible) to eat from the meat of the sacrifice that is turned to a direction other than the Qiblah. If one just mentions Allah's Name while the sacrifice is not turned towards Qiblah, one leaves the preferable practice but the act will be acceptable. This view is adopted by Al-Qasim ibn Muhammad, Al-Nakha`y, Al-Thawry, Ibn Al-Mundhir, and others.

Q: I have an old-aged female relative who is accustomed to slaughter a black male goat every year. She thinks that if she does that, some of her diseases will be cured. Whenever she is asked about the reason for doing this, she answers that it is a Sadaqah (voluntary charity). Her children also support her in doing this. Please advise us on the ruling of this act.

A: Slaughtering based on this belief along with determining a certain color for the slaughtered animal at a specific time is not permissible. This is because believing that such an act cures diseases is a corrupt belief. If the slaughtered animal is intended for the Jinn (creatures created from fire) or Satan, this will be an act of major Shirk (associating others with Allah in His Divinity or worship). Therefore, you should advise this woman or any other person acting the same way to abandon that and repent to Allah (Exalted be He) for doing it, for Allah (Glorified and Exalted be He) is the Only One Who removes distresses and prevents diseases. Allah (Exalted be He) says, \(Say: "Tell me then, the things that you invoke besides Allāh ? if Allāh intended some harm for me, could they remove His harm? Or if He \(Allāh\) intended some mercy for me, could they withhold His Mercy?" Say: "Sufficient for me is Allāh; in Him those who trust \(i.e. believers\) must put their trust.\)"

Q: What is the Islamic ruling on people who slaughter a sacrificial animal on the Day of 'Arafah (9th of Dhul-Hijjah) on a regular basis, even when they are not performing Hajj? They call this sacrifice, "I'rafah" and perform the slaughter with the intention of doing so on behalf of one of their deceased relatives, such as a parent, a son, a daughter, or a sibling.

A: The habit of slaughtering a sacrifice on the Day of 'Arafah as an act of drawing closer to Allah is not permissible, because it is a Bid'ah (innovation in religion), whether the people intend to dedicate the Thawab (reward from Allah) for it to their deceased relatives or any others. This is because there is no Shar'y (Islamic legal) evidence for such a practice and the Prophet (peace be upon him) said: \(Anyone who does an action which is not in accordance with this matter of ours \(Islam\) will have it rejected.\)

Q: Our tribe lives in a village to the south of Ta'if, whose population is more than 200 people. We give Sadaqah (voluntary charity) every Ramadan by slaughtering a young calf, which all the male members of the tribe pay for. We divide the meat up and give it to the poor and the rest we distribute equally amongst the tribe. When we asked some of the elders about this tradition, they told us that it started in the time of our grandfathers, 50 years ago. The chief of our tribe at that time went to see some soothsayers, who told him that he had to slaughter a calf every Ramadan for the Sake of Allah (Exalted be He). They said this because the people from our village had killed someone without a just cause, and they all then died, apart from a few of them; no more than nine people remained. This sacrifice was to be a Kaffarah (expiation) for that. From then on, the people of our tribe have continued to offer this sacrifice every year. Please guide us in this matter, knowing that we only slaughter for Sake of Allah (Exalted be He) and do not intend anything other than that.

A: It is not permissible for you to continue practicing this tradition, in fact it is Wajib (obligatory) on you to abandon it and make Tawbah (repentance to Allah) from it, because it is considered an act of Jahiliyyah (the pre-Islamic time of ignorance) and is based on the advice of soothsayers. It is not permissible to go to soothsayers or believe in them, as the Prophet (peace be upon him) said, "Anyone who goes to a soothsayer and believes what they say has disbelieved in what was revealed to Muhammad." (peace be upon him).

What is Wajib, if someone is deliberately assaulted and killed, is Qisas (just retaliation) for the dead person, unless their family forgive it in return for paying Diyah (blood money) or for nothing in return. If the death was accidental, it is Wajib for the Diyah to be paid by the murderer's kin to the family of the murdered person, unless they excuse it. In addition, the Kaffarah that should be made for killing a soul is by freeing a believing slave. If this is not possible, Sawm (Fast) should be observed for two successive months. This is the Shar'y (Islamic legal) ruling which prescribes the obligatory action in case of killing without a just cause, which you should refer to the Shari'ah (Islamic law) court. As to what you mentioned, this is one of the rulings of Jahiliyyah which you must stop performing.

Ruqyahs and Amulets

Fatwa no. 18450

Q: Nowadays there are many people who pretend to have medical skills or knowledge, although they are not physicians recognized by the Ministry of Health. In view of the danger of this group to the Islamic 'Aqidah (creed), I would like to hear the opinion of the Din (religion of Islam) on those who claim to treat people with the Qur'an and Sunnah (whatever is reported from the Prophet), who examine men and women who are ill, diagnose their illnesses, and prescribe treatments for them. They recite over water, honey, etc. for them, even though they do not know the fundamentals of the Din or the proper way of acting upon Qur'an and Sunnah? To give an example, I heard an audio cassette tape by a shaykh, who was saying that the treatment for anxiety is that the patient should read a Juz' (a 30th of the Qur'an) every day and the Tafsir (explanation) of it by Ibn Kathir. How can the basis for this be from the Qur'an or Sunnah?

A: it is permissible to perform Ruqyah (reciting Qur'an and saying supplications over the sick seeking healing) for someone who is physically or psychologically ill, suffering from the evil eye, or other reasons. This is permissible, as long as nothing other than the Qur'an or authentically reported Du'a's (supplications) are used. This should be done by someone who is known to have sound 'Aqidah, abides by the Shar'iah (Islamic law), and is knowledgeable about medical matters relating to treatment with Mubah (permissible) methods.

Al-Hafizh Ibn Hajar (may Allah be merciful with him) said: "The Ijma' (consensus of the scholars) agrees that it is permissible to recite Ruqyah under the fulfilment of three conditions:

1. It should be the Words of Allah (Exalted be He) or His Names and Attributes.
2. It should be performed in Arabic or another understandable language.
3. It should be believed that the Ruqyah is not effective in itself, but only according to what Allah (Exalted be He) predestined.

There is a difference of opinion regarding the conditions, but the preponderant opinion is that the conditions mentioned above have to be met. In "Sahih Muslim", there is a Hadith on the authority of 'Awf ibn Malik (may Allah be pleased with him) who said, \(We used to perform Ruqyah \(saying supplications over the sick seeking healing\) in Jahiliyyah \(pre-Islamic time of ignorance\) and so we asked, "O Messenger of Allah! What is your opinion about that?" He \(peace be upon him\) said, "Present to me your Ruqyahs; there is nothing wrong with Ruqyah so long as it does not involve any Shirk \(associating others with Allah in His Divinity or worship\)."\)

There is also a Hadith on the authority of Jabir: \(The Messenger of Allah \(may peace be upon him\) prohibited Ruqyah, so the people of 'Amr ibn Hazm came to the Messenger of Allah (peace be upon him) and said, "O Messenger of Allah! We have a Ruqyah that we use for curing the sting of the scorpion, but you have prohibited Ruqyah." They then recited it to him, and he said, "I do not see anything wrong in it; anyone of you who can benefit his brother let him benefit him.")

Some scholars have adhered to the generality of this Hadith and thus permitted every Ruqyah that has been tried and proven beneficial, even if its meaning is not understood; but the above-mentioned Hadith narrated by 'Awf shows that that any Ruqyah that leads to Shirk must be prohibited, and any Ruqyah whose meaning is not understood it cannot be guaranteed that it will not lead to Shirk, and therefore, as a precautionary measure, should not be used. The third condition must be met."

Even if the recitations whose meanings are unintelligible do not lead to Shirk they will open the door to charlatans and justification for the practices of sorcerers, Muftadi's (those who introduce innovations in religion), and quacks.

As for those who claim that they know the Ghayb (the Unseen) or who conjure up the Jinn (creatures created from fire) and their like from among the charlatans or the ignorant, whose reality or way of treatment is obscure, it is not permissible to go to them, ask them about anything, or receive their treatment. This is because the Prophet (peace be upon him) said, "Anyone who goes to a diviner and asks them about something, their Salah \(Prayers\) will not be accepted for forty nights."

(Related by Muslim) He (peace be upon him) also said, "Anyone who goes to a diviner or a soothsayer and believes in what they say has disbelieved in what was revealed to Muhammad." (peace be upon him). (Related by Ahmad and Ahl-ul-Sunan [authors of Hadith compilations classified by jurisprudential themes] with a good Sanad [chain of narrators])

There are other Hadith on this subject that all show that it is Haram (prohibited) to consult diviners and soothsayers and believe in them. They are people who claim to have knowledge of the Ghayb, who seek the help of the Jinn, or do certain actions or behave in a way that indicates this. Regarding such people and their like, the Prophet (peace be upon him) said in a well-known Hadith, related by Imam Ahmad and Abu Dawud with a good Sanad, on the authority of Jabir (may Allah be pleased with him) who said, "The Messenger of Allah \(peace be upon him\) was asked about Al-Nashrah \(undoing a spell by means of another spell\). He \(peace be upon him\) replied, "This is the work of Satan."

Scholars explained that Nashrah is the undoing of magic by means of magic that was practiced in Jahiliyyah, and under its heading falls any treatment sought from soothsayers, diviners, liars, and charlatans.

(Part No. 1; Page No. 75)

However, the Prophet (peace be upon him) used to recite Ruqyah for his Sahabah (Companions). An example of this is the Hadith narrating that the Prophet (peace be upon him) used to say: "Our Lord Allah Who is in heaven, Holy is Your Name, Your Decree is in heaven and on earth; as Your Mercy is in heaven, make Your Mercy on earth. Forgive us our sins and errors. You are the Lord of the good; bestow mercy from Your Mercy, and healing from Your Healing on this pain that it be cured." And the person would recover.

Another example of an Islamically permissible Du'a' is: "In the Name of Allah, I recite Ruqyah over you (to heal or protect you) from everything that is harming you, from the evil of every soul or envious eye. May Allah heal you. In the Name of Allah, I recite Ruqyah over you.” And: ﴿“Remove the harm, O Lord of mankind! Grant healing, for You are the Healer. There is no healing but Your healing; a healing that leaves no ailment.”﴾

It is also permitted for someone to place their hand on the part of their body that is painful and say: ﴿“In the Name of Allah (three times). I seek refuge with Allah’s Glory and Power from the evil that I find and am wary of (seven times).”﴾ (Related by Muslim in his "Sahih [Book of Authentic Hadith]") There are also many others.

As for writing Ayahs (Qur’anic verses) or Adhkar (invocations) for a sick person to wear, this is not permissible, according to the most correct scholarly opinion, because the Prophet (peace be upon him) forbade this saying, ﴿“Incantations, amulets and love-charms are Shirk.”﴾ Lawful forms of Ruqyah are exceptions from this rule.

As for blowing on water, if this is done to bless the water with the saliva of the blower, it is Haram and one of the means to Shirk, because human saliva does not give blessings or cure illnesses. It was only the saliva of the Messenger (peace be upon him) whose blessing was sought.

In regard to blowing while making Du’a’ or reciting Qur’an, for example, Surah Al-Fatihah, there is nothing wrong with this, for Al-Fatihah is the best Ruqyah for a sick person. The Sahabah of the Prophet (peace be upon him) did this when they performed Ruqyah for a man who had been stung and Allah cured him. When they told the Prophet (peace be upon him) about it, he (peace be upon him) approved it, saying, “You did the right thing.” This has, therefore, been tried and is beneficial, with the Permission of Allah. The Prophet (peace be upon him) used to blow in his palms when he went to bed, and recite: ﴿Say (O Muhammad صلى الله عليه وسلم): "He is Allâh, (the) One.﴾ , ﴿Say: "I seek refuge with (Allâh), the Lord of the daybreak,﴾ , and ﴿Say: "I seek refuge with (Allâh) the Lord of mankind,﴾ He (peace be upon him) would then wipe his face and whatever parts of his body he could reach three times.

Concerning what is mentioned in the question regarding the treatment for anxiety and that a person has to recite one Juz’ of the Qur’an and the Tafsir of it by Ibn Kathir, this has no origin in the Shari’ah (Islamic law), although the whole of the Qur’an is a Ruqyah that Allah benefits people with.

However, specifying certain Ayahs to be used as Ruqyah for some illnesses, without any evidence for it, is not permitted. All the Qur’an is full of goodness and is a remedy for the believers. As mentioned above, Surah Al-Fatihah is the greatest Surah that can be recited for healing.

It must be born in mind that the Qur’an was not revealed to treat physical illnesses only; rather, it was revealed for serious reasons and important matters: to be a warning to existence, a source of guidance to Allah’s Straight Path and a criterion to judge between people concerning that over which they used to differ, and to warn against slipping into the path of Kufr (disbelief) and Kafirs (disbelievers). Through it also Allah helps His believing servants attain cure from any spiritual or physical disease.

He (Exalted be He) says: ﴿Say: "It is for those who believe, a guide and a healing.”﴾ And: ﴿And We send down of the Qur’ân that which is a healing and a mercy to those who believe (in Islâmic Monotheism and act on it), and it increases the Zâlimûn (polytheists and wrong-doers) nothing but loss.﴾

May Allah grant us success! May peace and blessings be upon our Prophet Muhammad, his family,

Q 1: It is narrated in Sahih Al-Bukhari on the authority of `Aishah (may Allah be pleased with her) (that the Prophet (peace be upon him) used to say to the patient: In the Name of Allah, the dust of our land and the saliva of some of us would serve as means whereby our patient will be cured with the Will of Allah.) The question is: Does the saying ("with the saliva of some of us") indicate singling out some people and excluding others? I hope Your Honor will point out the correct way to apply this Hadith.

A: The Hadith is interpreted according to its apparent meaning. the person performing the Ruqyah (reciting Qur'an and supplications over the sick as a cure) would wet his finger with his saliva and touch the dust with it, then wipe with this finger the place of pain reciting this Du`a' (supplication).

The majority of scholars are of the opinion that this way of performing Ruqyah is general in terms of the person who does it and the land where it is done. However, some said that this is particular to the Messenger of Allah and the land of Al-Madinah. It seems that the first opinion is the most preponderant, because there is no evidence that indicates that this way was restricted to the Prophet (peace be upon him). And Allah knows best.

Q 2: We notice that by reciting certain Ayahs (Ayah (Qur'anic verses) for patients, they tend to be affected by them. Should we recite these Ayahs even if it has not been reported that the Prophet (peace be upon him), his Sahabah (Companions of the Prophet), or any of the Salaf (righteous predecessors) ever did this, or should we only adhere to authentic reports in this issue?

A: The whole Noble Qur'an provides guidance and remedy. Allah (Exalted be He) says: ﴿Say: "It is for those who believe, a guide and a healing."﴾ He (Glorified be He) says: ﴿And We send down of the Qur'ân that which is a healing and a mercy to those who believe (in Islâmic Monotheism and act on it)﴾ The preposition "of" mentioned in this Ayah, for expressing kind, denotes that the Qur'an itself is remedy and mercy; it does not denote here just some or parts of its whole. Based on this, seeking healing by all Ayahs in the Qur'an is permissible, but this does not disregard the special merits and influence of some Ayahs as mentioned in authentic Hadiths.

A: We do not know of any Shari`ah-based evidence that proves the permissibility of this practice. A person is permitted to supplicate to Allah (Glorified and Exalted be He) with Islamically acceptable Du`a' (supplications). It is better to refer to the following books for Du`a'; Al-Adhkar for Al-Nawawy, Al-Wabil Al-Sayyib for Ibn Al-Qayyim, `Amal Al-Yawm wal-Laylah for Al-Nasa'y, and Jami` Al-Usul.

Q 1: A young man asks: "I suffer from a big problem; when I go to bed I feel that something controls me and makes me unable to move or even speak. My heart then begins to hurt and I hear strange sounds such as waves, cries, etc. This feeling continues for some period. It then stops so I go to another room but the same suffering restarts and persists until the break of dawn. It is worth mentioning that such a problem only takes place when I go to bed at night. I do not know what to do. Upon having this suffering I read Qur`an, Al-Mu`awwidhatayn (Surahs Al-Falaq and Al-Nas), and Ayat-ul-Kursy (the Qur`anic Verse of Allah's Chair, Surah Al-Baqarah, 2:255) but this does not change the situation. O Shaykh! How can I get rid of my suffering? Answer and advise me quickly please!"

A: We ask Allah to grant you and us recovery from all diseases. However, you should not surrender to whispers and delusions of Satan. Openly, your suffering is all due to the evils of Satan. A person can defend themselves against such cheating by trusting Allah as well as having firm `Aqidah (creed), and strong determination. You have to recite Dhikr (Remembrance of Allah), reciting the Glorious Qur'an, reading Wird (portion of Qur'an recited with consistency), and making Du`a' (supplication) in the morning and at night. A very special recitation is to read Ayat-ul-Kursy upon going to bed for it is reported that the Prophet (peace be upon him) said in the Hadith Sahih (authentic Hadith): \(When a person recites it \(Ayat-ul-Kursy\) on going to bed, Allah assigns an angel to protect them and Satan does not approach them until the morning.\) You may also recite the Surahs (Qur'anic chapters) of [Surah Al-Ikhlâs] \(Say \(O Muhammad صلى الله عليه وسلم\): "He is Allâh, \(the\) One.\) and [Surah Al-Falaq] \(Say: "I seek refuge with \(Allâh\), the Lord of the daybreak,\) and [Surah Al-Nas] \(Say: "I seek refuge with \(Allâh\) the Lord of mankind,\) three times upon going to bed and after offering Fajr (Dawn) and Maghrib (Sunset) Prayers after concluding the recommended Dhikr. I advise you also to say upon going to bed: "I seek the protection of Allah's perfect words against any evil that may spur from His creation" and "In the Name of Allah with Whose Name nothing on earth or in heaven is harmful. He is All-Hearing, All-Knowing," three times. Finally, you are to rejoice at the good expectation that your suffering will be removed and you will be safe. This consequence is asserted as long as you truthfully do your best to struggle with Satan by virtue of the strength of Iman (Faith), sincerity, and Tawakkul (putting one's trust in Allah). Allah (Glorified be He) says:

\(And whosoever fears Allâh and keeps his duty to Him, He will make a way for him to get out \(from every difficulty\).\) \(And He will provide him from \(sources\) he never could imagine. And whosoever puts his trust in Allâh, then He will suffice him.\) May Allah be merciful with us all! Amen.

May Allah grant us success! May peace and blessings be upon our Prophet Muhammad, his family,

Q: When the Messenger (peace be upon him) was asked about the seventy thousand people who would be made to enter Paradise without rendering any account, he said: \(They are the ones who neither practice Ruqyah nor ask others to practice it, nor treat themselves by branding \(cauterization\) or see evil omens in things. Indeed, they used to put their trust \(only\) in their Lord.\) (Related by Ahmad)

According to another narration, he adds: \(“They do not practice Ruqyah.”\) Refer to Tafsir (explanation/exegesis of the meanings of the Qur'an) of Ibn Kathir (vol. II). Commenting on the Ayah (Qur'anic verse) that reads: [\(You \[true believers in Islâmic Monotheism, and real followers of Prophet Muhammad \(ﷺ\) and his Sunnah\] are the best of peoples.\)](#) Imam Al-Hafizh ibn Hajar mentioned a part of the Hadith related on the authority of `Imran ibn Husayn : \(There is no Ruqyah \(reciting Qur'an and supplicating over the sick seeking healing\) better than that which is said as a treatment for an evil eye or \(a sting of\) a venomous animal.\) In Muslim on the authority of Yusuf ibn `Abdullah ibn Al-Harith on the authority of Anas who said: \(The Messenger of Allah \(peace be upon him\) allowed applying Ruqyah to dispel the influence of the evil eye, a poisonous sting, and to cure small pustules.\)

The question is: what is the meaning of: "They neither practice Ruqyah nor ask others to practice it." in the first narration? Is applying Ruqyah exclusive to the evil eye, the sting of a poisonous animal, and small pustules?

A: It is authentically narrated in the Two Sahih (authentic) Books of Hadith (i.e. Al-Bukhari and Muslim) and other Hadith compilations on the authority of Ibn `Abbas that the Prophet (peace be upon him) said at the end of the Hadith regarding those who will enter Paradise without being called into account or facing torment: \(They are the ones who do not see evil omen in things or treat themselves through branding \(cauterization\) or requesting Ruqyah from others. Indeed, they used to put their trust \(only\) in their Lord.\) This is the narration of Al-Bukhari (vol. 7, p. 26.). It is also related by Imam Ahmad in his Musnad (Hadith compilation) on the authority of Ibn Mas`ud (vol. 1, pp. 401-403) in a similar wording.

As for the narration of Muslim and other scholars of Hadith that mentioned, "Those who do not practice Ruqyah," Shaykh-ul-Islam Ibn Taymiyyah (may Allah be Merciful to him) commented: "The phrase "and they do not practice Ruqyah" which is mentioned in the Hadith is a mistake on the part of the narrator, and the Prophet (peace be upon him) did not say that. Rather, when he was asked about Ruqyah, he said: \(He who is competent amongst you to benefit his brother should do so.\) The Prophet (peace be upon him) also said: \(There is no harm in practicing Ruqyah as long as it does not involve Shirk \(associating others with Allah in His Divinity or worship\).\) Moreover, Jibril (Gabriel) applied Ruqyah to the Prophet (peace be upon him) and the Prophet (peace be upon him) applied it to his Companions.

The Hadith addresses those who ask people to give them Ruqyah, for a Ruqyah seeker tends to be attached to the giver of Ruqyah; it is known that a sick person clings to anything that might contribute to his recovery.

Hence, the sick person immediately meets the orders of the practitioner of Ruqyah even if the former is not convinced with them. In this case he does not totally put his trust in Allah. Thus, Allah's Messenger described the seventy thousand people who would be made to enter Paradise without rendering any account or facing any torment as they fully put their trust in Allah, since they do not request others to give them Ruqyah, nor do they use cauterization, or see bad omens in things. Instead, they repose their trust in their Lord Allah. In doing so, they combine both perfect and infinite patience over afflictions and hardships as well as putting trust fully in Allah Alone and attaining His Pleasure and Reward. In fact, this does not contradict the act of utilizing the available means; they leave that as a sort of submission to the Divine Decree, finding pleasure in afflictions and realizing the perfect Tawhid (belief in the Oneness of Allah/ monotheism). Putting full trust in Allah (Glorified be He) along with seeking treatment, utilizing the available means and applying Ruqyah - all do not hinder putting one's trust in Allah, even Islam orders Muslims to practice Ruqyah with the belief that Allah is the Beneficent, the One Who can cause harm and the Creator of the means and the causes. A Muslim must believe that Allah has placed a remedy for every malady, as the authentic Sunnah states.

The Prophet (peace be upon him) encouraged Muslims to practice Ruqyah against the evil eye and the sting of poisonous animals, saying: \(There is no Ruqyah \(reciting Qur'an and supplicating over the sick seeking healing\) better than that which is said as a treatment for an evil eye or \(a sting of\) a venomous animal.\) but this does not mean Ruqyah is restricted to these two reasons.

Al-Khattaby said in 'Ma`alim Al-Sunan' (vol. 4, p. 210): "It does not cancel the permissibility of practicing Ruqyah to treat other diseases and pains; it means that Ruqyah is more appealing and beneficial from evil eye and poison. Such a style of speaking is common among people, since it is authentically reported that the Prophet, (peace be upon him) gave Ruqyah to some of his Companions to treat them from pains. Also, it is narrated on the authority of Abu Bakr ibn Sulayman ibn Abu Hathmah that Al-Shifa' bint `Abdullah said: \(One day, Allah's Messenger \(peace be upon him\) entered upon me while I was sitting with Hafsah \(may Allah be pleased with her\) and said: "It will be a good thing if you teach Hafsah Ruqyah from small pustules as you taught her writing."\) (Related by Abu Dawud in his Sunan (Hadith compilations classified by jurisprudential themes) and Imam Ahmad in his Musnad (Hadith compilation) (vol. 6, p. 372))

It is authentically narrated \(on the authority of `Aishah \(may Allah be pleased with her\) that the Prophet \(peace be upon him\) ordered her to apply Ruqyah from the evil eye.\) It is authentically narrated \(on the authority of Um Salamah \(may Allah be pleased with her\) that the Prophet \(peace be upon him\) ordered them to give Ruqyah to a female-slave in her house.\) This affirms that it is not reprehensible for a Muslim to ask someone to give Ruqyah when needed.

Fatwa no. 18268

Q: Upon performing the Ruqyah (reciting Qur'an and saying supplications over the sick seeking healing), is it permissible for the person who does it to put his hand on the patient,

while playing a cassette tape containing Qur'an, as there are four tapes in the market that contain supplications and certain Surahs for healing by the Qur'an and warding off envy and the like?

A: The general rule is that the person who carries out the Ruqyah should recite the Qur'an himself and should blow his breath over the patient with his own saliva. Doing so is reported in the Sahih (authentic) book of Hadith on the authority of Abu Sa'id Al-Khudry (may Allah be pleased with him) who said, \(Some of the Sahabah \(Companions\) of the Prophet \(peace be upon him\) came across an Arab tribe, and that tribe did not entertain them. While they were in that state, the chief of that tribe was bitten by a snake \(or stung by a scorpion\). They said, \(to the Sahabah of the Prophet \(peace be upon him\)\), "Have you got any medicine with you or is there anybody who can treat with Ruqyah?" The Prophet's Sahabah said, "You refuse to entertain us, so we will not treat \(your chief\) unless you pay us for it." So they agreed to pay them a flock of sheep. One of them \(the Prophet's Sahabah\) started reciting Surah Al-Fatihah and gathering his saliva and spitting it \(at the snake-bite\). The patient was cured and his people presented the sheep to them, but they said, "We will not take them unless we ask the Prophet \(peace be upon him\) \(whether it is lawful\)." When they asked him, he smiled and said, "How did you know that Surah Al-Fatihah is a Ruqyah? Take it \(flock of sheep\) and assign a share for me."\)

It is also reported in a Hadith narrated by `Aishah (may Allah be pleased with her): \(Whenever Allah's Messenger \(peace be upon him\) became sick, he would recite Al-Mu`awwidhatayn \(Surah Al-Falaq and Surah Al-Nas\) and then blow his breath \(while reciting\). When he became seriously ill, I used to recite \(these two Surahs\) and rub his hands over his body hoping for their blessings.\)

Furthermore, there are certain attributes that should be present in the person who does the Ruqyah, and upon which Allah (Exalted be He) may cause the patient to be healed.

Consequently, using the recorded tapes of Qur'an contradicts the basic Shar`y (Islamically lawful) rule, because this is a newly-invented matter that is not legally permissible.

(Part No. 1; Page No. 87)

Fatwa no. 16951

Q: Your Eminence, may Allah protect you, there is something common among many of those who practice Ruqyah (reciting Qur'an and saying supplications over the sick seeking healing) upon the sick, the epileptic and the possessed people. I would like to inquire about it to know and let other people know its permissibility and whether it is part of Ruqyah or not. most of them recite Ruqyah on a big container full of water and then pour this water in small vessels and place them in packages in order for them to be sold to people. The problem is that the reciter reads on a lot of water and does not read on each vessel or on each small pot. I hope, may Allah protect you, that you will explain the permissibility of this act and whether it is part of the legal Ruqyah or not? What is the standard applied to determine the amount of water?

I would like to inform you about another phenomenon which is widespread among those who practice Ruqyah, which is collecting many sick people in one chamber in which there is a loudspeaker and the reciter recites on those sick or epileptic people through the loudspeaker. The problem is, nothing from the salvia of the reciter reaches those sick people and there is no direct connection with the place of sickness exactly as if they were listening to the Qur'an from a cassette. Could you kindly explain the permissibility of this act in order to benefit Islam and Muslims?

May Allah reward you with the best!

A: The permissibility of using Ruqyah as treatment is proved by the Prophet's act, sayings and approval. Muslims agreed unanimously that it is permissible provided that three conditions are fulfilled:

1. The Ruqyah must be with Allah's Words (Exalted be He) or with the legal supplications.
2. It should be composed of words of Dhikr (remembrance of Allah) and Du`a' (supplication) recited in Arabic or any other understandable language.
3. The reciter and the sick must believe that Ruqyah is just a means which has no effect on its own except with the Will of Allah.

The person who practices Ruqyah should recite and blow on the sick whether he was practicing Ruqyah himself or someone is doing it for him. He may recite Qur'an on water and make the sick drink from as it is reported in the chapter on Medicine, Sunan Abu Dawud through a good Sanad (chain of narration) that the Messenger of Allah (peace be upon him) entered on Thabit ibn Qays - Ahmad added: while he was sick- So, he said: \(Remove the sickness, O Lord of mankind, from Thabit ibn Qays ibn Shammās He then took some dust of Bat-han \(a valley in Madinah\) and put it in a bowl, and then mixed it with water and blew in it, and poured it on him.\)

This is the reported Hadith concerning reciting Qur'an on water and giving it to the sick to drink from.

As for reciting on water and then pouring it in a pool or tank for general Ruqyah or practicing Ruqyah through loudspeakers, this was not reported from the Prophet (peace be upon him) and has no evidence. It is against the legal Ruqyah because it must be made directly over the sick or through a little water drunk by the sick. The general rule is to confine oneself to what was reported from the Prophet (peace be upon him).

Q 1: what is your opinion concerning reciting the Qur'an over saffron water, dipping some papers in it, drying them, putting some water on them, and then drinking this water?

A: Reciting the Qur'an over saffron water, dipping some papers in this water, and selling them for people to use them as a cure is not permissible.

This should be forbidden, as it involves eating people's money unlawfully. It is not a legal Ruqyah (reciting Qur'an and saying supplications over the sick seeking healing) declared by some scholars to be permissible, which is writing Ayahs on paper or any Tahir (ceremoniously pure) substance, and then washing this writing and drinking the water.

Q 2: Is it correct that a sick person can visualize the 'A'in (one who casts an evil eye) as a result of Qur'an being recited over him, or the person who does the Ruqyah (reciting Qur'an and saying supplications over the sick seeking healing) or asking his Qarin (a personal Jinn companion for humans) to show the sick person the one who cast an evil eye on him?

A: The claim that the sick person can visualize the one who cast an eye on him while the Qur'an is being recited over him, or the reciter's telling him to do so is a devilish action and is not permitted, because it denotes seeking the help of Satan. The jinn is the one who makes the patient visualize the person who afflicted him with the evil eye, and this is Haram (prohibited), because it entails seeking the help of Satan, and this could cause enmity, fear and terror. This falls under the Ayah (Qur'anic verse), ﴿And verily, there were men among mankind who took shelter with the males among the jinn, but they \(jinn\) increased them \(mankind\) in sin and transgression.﴾

Q 3: is it permissible to touch a woman's hand, forehead, or neck for treatment? This is done by doctors in hospitals on the pretext of trying to put pressure on the Jinn (creatures created from fire) and get rid of it. What are the restrictions concerning this matter?

A: It is not permissible for a person doing Ruqyah (reciting Qur'an and supplications over the sick seeking healing) to touch any part of a woman's body if the latter is using this treatment method, because this involves Fitnah (sedition). In fact, this person should use Ruqyah without touching her. Moreover, there is a difference between a person using Ruqyah and a doctor, because the latter may not be able to treat the patient except by touching the place in need of treatment, unlike the former whose work depends on recitation and blowing and does not require touching.

Q4: What is the ruling on putting large seals in which Ayahs (Qur'anic verses), invocations and supplications are written to ward off Sihr (sorcery), envy, or jinn? The seal is dipped into water containing saffron to stamp papers that will be dissolved later and soaked in water to be drunk as a kind of Ruqyah (reciting Qur'an and saying supplications over the sick seeking healing).

A: This is not permissible because one of the conditions of a lawful Ruqyah is that the intention of both the person who makes the Ruqyah and the person on whom it will be performed, should be seeking cure from Allah's Book by writing the Ayahs.

Q 5: what is the ruling on people who have a patient smell the leather of wolves under the pretense that this reveals the existence/non-existence of Jinn (creatures created from fire). They claim that Jinn fear wolves, flee from them and are troubled by their presence.

A: It is not permissible for a person who performs Ruqyah (reciting Qur'an and saying supplications over the sick seeking healing) to use the leather of wolves to have patients smell it to be able to diagnose their illness. This is a form of deception and corrupt belief; therefore, it should be totally prohibited. Moreover, saying that Jinn fear wolves is a baseless superstition.

Q 6: what is the ruling on using a microphone or a telephone to recite the Qur'an to recite Ruqyah (reciting Qur'an and saying supplications over the sick seeking healing), or reciting Ruqyah over a large number of people at the same time?

A: Ruqyah should be recited directly over the patient, not through a microphone or a telephone. This contradicts with what was done by the Messenger of Allah (peace be upon him), his Sahabah (Companions, may Allah be pleased with them) and their Tabi'un (Followers, the generation after the Companions of the Prophet). The Prophet (peace be upon him) said, \(Anyone who introduces anything into this matter of ours \(Islam\) that is not part of it will have it rejected.\)

Q 7: what is the ruling on seeking the help of Jinn (creatures created from fire) in finding out about `Ayn (envious eye) or spells [i.e., who cast it and what type it is]? Is it permissible to believe a Jinn who has possessed a person in what he says about sorcery and `Ayn, and take action based on that?

A: It is not permissible to seek the help of Jinn in finding out what the problem is and how to treat it, because seeking the help of Jinn is Shirk (associating others with Allah in His Divinity or worship). Allah (Exalted be He) states, ﴿And verily, there were men among mankind who took shelter with the males among the jinn, but they (jinn) increased them (mankind) in sin and transgression.﴾ Allah (Exalted be He) also states, ﴿And on the Day when He will gather them (all) together (and say): "O you assembly of jinn! Many did you mislead of men," and their Auliya' (friends and helpers) amongst men will say: "Our Lord! We benefited one from the other, but now we have reached our appointed term which You did appoint for us." He will say: "The Fire be your dwelling-place, you will dwell therein forever, except as Allāh may will. Certainly your Lord is All-Wise, All-Knowing."﴾ The meaning of 'We benefited one from the other' is that humans venerate jinn, submit to them, and seek help from them, and the Jinn serve them by doing what they want and bringing them what they ask for. That includes informing them of the type of sickness and its causes. Jinn can come to know of things that humans cannot, but they may tell lies as they cannot be trusted, and it is not permissible to believe them.

Q 8: what is your opinion concerning playing recordings of Qur'an recitation for hours for the sick, and playing specific Ayahs that remedy Sihr (sorcery), `Ayn (the envious eye) and Jinn (creatures created from fire)?

A: Playing recordings of the Qur'an and Du`a' (supplication) cannot be a substitute for Ruqyah (reciting Qur'an and supplications over the sick as a cure), because Ruqyah requires conviction while performing it and being face to face in order to blow over the patient's body. This cannot be achieved merely through playing recordings on a device.

Q1: Is it permissible to write the Noble Qur'an in separated letters on a piece of paper then dissolve it in water and give it to a patient to drink?

A: There is no harm in writing the Qur'an in clear handwriting on a sheet of pure paper then soaking it in water to be given to a patient to drink; because this was practiced by some of the Salaf (righteous predecessors) and it is considered a way of seeking cure through the Qur'an. As for writing the Qur'an in separated letters, it is not permissible; because this is considered misuse of the Book of Allah (Glorified and Exalted be He). Likewise it is not permissible to use the Qur'an or some of its verses in amulets as a means of protection from harm to be worn by the patient. The Messenger (peace be upon him) prevented this by stating: \(Anyone who wears an amulet, Allah will not accomplish his affairs for him.\) and in another narration: \(Anyone who wears an amulet commits an act of Shirk \(associating others with Allah in His Divinity or worship\).\) There is no difference between the amulet containing Qur'an, or that which contains other than the Qur'an, according to one of the scholar's soundest two views. This is because of the general meaning of the Hadith and because it is a means to Sadd-ul-Dhara'i` (blocking the means leading to sins) since wearing amulets from the Qur'an may lead to wearing amulets made from other than the Qur'an.

The second question of Fatwa no. 20515

Q 2: Some people who are said to be scholars say that it is not permissible to set a time or a place to recite Ruqyah (reciting Qur'an and supplications over the sick as a cure), is this correct? Many of those who practice Ruqyah make it in places other than their houses and at certain times so that they will not be annoyed by intruders who do not respect the privacy of others.

A: It is permissible for those who recite Ruqyah to set a time and place to recite over people for the benefit of themselves as well as that of others.

Q: I enclosed with this request for Fatwa the text of the protective spell against snake and scorpion bites. It is used by some old people in our neighborhood. A good person found that it has been with his father for more than forty years. He said that it works well if it is recited three times on the person who was bitten. I could not find a religious origin for it in the religious books I have. It reads as follows: "O Allah, verily we have showed the spell of the scorpion to Christians, the Jews and to Sulayman ibn Dawud and said "O Messenger of Allah! What is this? (i.e. what is this insect?) He said, 'It is one of Hell-fire's insects, whose color is either pitch black or saffron yellow; its throat is like a cover and its tail is like a saw.' O Allah if its poison reached the organs get it out to flesh and if in flesh get it out to skin and if in skin, get it out to hair. We said, 'Fall by Allah's Plans and Force three times.'"

A: A: It is not permissible to use this spell because it contains unknown names ascribed to People of the Scriptures and to Allah's Prophet Dawud (David) and meaningless words. It is mentioned in the Hadith reported by Ibn Mas'ud (may Allah be pleased with him) that he heard Allah's Messenger (peace be upon him) say, [«\[Illegal\] Ruqyahs, charms and love-potions are all \[acts of\] Shirk \(associating others with Allah in His Divinity or worship\).»](#) Related by Ahmad and Abu Dawud.

Q: Some of those who treat people by Ruqyah (reciting Qur'an and supplications over the sick as a cure) ask the afflicted person to offer two Rak'ahs (units of Prayer) then recite specific Qur'anic Surahs or Tasbih (saying: "Subhan Allah [Glory be to Allah]") in the hope that they will see a vision identifying the persons who placed the spell on them, where they live, and how to break the spell. To what extent is this permissible?

Also those who treat people by the Ruqyah ask the afflicted person to recite some Surahs (Qur'anic chapter) such as Surah Ikhlas, Al-Mu'awwidhatayn (Surahs Al-Falaq and Al-Nas) and Ayat-ul-Kursy (the Qur'anic Verse of Allah's Chair, Surah Al-Baqarah, 2:255) a hundred times and count the times on a Misbahah (counting beads used when remembering Allah). It should be noted that some people are against this practice and say it is a Bid'ah (innovation in religion).

It is also said that it is Bid'ah to recite the Qur'an on black cumin oil, honey, and milk, and to massage the body with musk and rose-water after reciting Qur'anic verses on them. It should be noted that these things have their practical effects on the Jinn; such as help in burning the Jinn, by Allah's Grace. Is this a permissible way of treatment by the Qur'an, or is the treatment by the Qur'an a Tawqifiy (bound by a religious text and not open to personal opinion) matter which requires the person to adhere to the religious texts?

A: The practices mentioned in the question about those who treat people by asking them to offer two Rak'ahs (units of Prayer) then recite specific Surahs of the Qur'an and tasbih with hopes of seeing a vision about the bewitched person, and ask them to recite some Surahs a hundred times on the Misbahah etc.- all these practices are Bid'ahs which have no origin in Islam. There is no proof in the Book of Allah (the Qur'an) nor in the Sunnah of His Messenger Muhammad (peace be upon him) to support these practices. the permissible Ruqyah has some conditions such as: A Ruqyah should include either the Words of Allah, His Names or Attributes. It is permissible to seek treatment through the Qur'an and through the Sunnah, as the Messenger did when reciting Ruqyah on himself or his Sahabah (Companions). It is also permissible to use (as a Ruqyah) the blessed invocations that include nothing against the sacred Shari'ah. Another condition for Ruqyah is that it be recited in Arabic or whatever gives its meaning. Another condition is for both the person who recites the Ruqyah and the person on whom it is recited, to believe that the Ruqyah itself or the person reciting it himself does not have any special effect. In fact both of them should believe the effect is up to Allah's Will and that the person who treats by Ruqyah is a mere instrument. It is Allah Who creates the reasons and their effects. It is permissible also to recite the Qur'an or Prophetic invocations on one's hands then rub them against the body as it is authentically reported that the Prophet (peace be upon him) did so when reciting Ruqyah on himself and on some of his Sahabah. As regards writing Qur'anic verses with rose-water or saffron on a piece of paper then soaking it in water then drinking this water and reciting on honey, milk or the like or rubbing the body with musk and rose-water on which Qur'anic verses have been recited, there is no harm in this. The Salaf (righteous predecessors) used to do this.

Q: We write to you with an attachment of some Ruqyah that people use, in order to verify their content and permissibility.

(Part No. 1; Page No. 98)

The callers to Islam at the center hope that after your examination, you will give us your opinion on this issue.

A: The form of Ruqyah we received from you is not permissible. The number of recitations required is baseless. Likewise, performing Ghusl (ceremonial bath) with minutes before sunset is also groundless, as far as we know. As for the other recitations, supplications, and permissible tested medicine, there is no harm in using them.

The third question of Fatwa no. 12808

Q 3: We have some people possessed by Jinn. I have read the book of (Wiqayat Al-Insan min Al-Jinn wal-Shaytan i.e. Protecting Man from Jinn and Satan). I then knew how to treat the possessed people. Later, I met the author our beloved brother, Wahid `Abdul-Salam Baly who said that one would be able to treat such cases after reading the book. What is your opinion about this?

A: A righteous and honest man may treat the cases of possession by reciting the Qur'an over the patient when the patient is touched by the Jinn.

The third question of Fatwa no. 15420

Q 3: What is the ruling on gathering to recite the Qur'an over a sick person and make Khatmah (completing of one reading of the whole Qur'an)?

A: The permissibility of reciting the Qur'an over the sick and asking Allah (Glorified and Exalted be He) to cure them by reciting the Qur'an over them and blowing upon them, or the organ in need of treatment, is authentically reported in the Sunnah (whatever is reported from the Prophet). In fact, this is a useful treatment in sha'a-Allah (if Allah wills). The most useful way is to recite Al-Fatihah, Ayat-ul-Kursy (the Qur'anic Verse of Allah's Throne, Surah Al-Baqarah, 2:255), Surah Al-Ikhlās, Surah Al-Falaq, and Surah Al-Nas. The entire Qur'an is a healing, as Allah (Exalted be He) states, \(Say: "It is for those who believe, a guide and a healing."\)

Q: We treat epileptic and possessed people by the Qur'an,

Du`a's (supplications) and Adhkar (Remembrances of Allah) authentically reported from the Prophet (peace be upon him). However, some people treat patients using other methods, including:

First, performing Ruqyah (reciting Qur'an and saying supplications over the sick as a cure) on a glucose injection that is given to patients possessed by Jinn (creatures created from fire), as Satan is known to circulate within the human bloodstream.

Second, performing Ruqyah over water, adding perfume to it and then drinking this water, as Jinn do not like water.

Third, performing Ruqyah over olive oil and adding it to the water.

What is your advice for those who provide such treatments?

A: lawful Ruqyah is Tawqifiyyah (bound by a religious text and not amenable to personal opinion); it is not permissible to add anything to it. However, some people have introduced new practices, whether intentionally, out of ignorance, or due to Satan's insinuations. this includes performing Ruqyah over injections to be administered to the possessed. they use as a pretext the Hadith that states, \(Satan circulates in the human body as blood does\) This is an unlawful manner of performing Ruqyah, and a way of treatment that might harm the patient. The mentioned Hadith may not be used as a pretext, as it only indicates that Satan is close to man. Thus, patients should be treated by lawful Ruqyah, which is reciting the Qur'an and blowing over them, as the Prophet (peace be upon him) used to do. Moreover, injecting water in the vein might cause harm.

Fatwa no. 16653

Q 1: What is the ruling on talking at great length to one of the Jinn (creatures created from fire) if he talks through the tongue of a possessed person? Is it authentically proven that the Prophet (peace be upon him) or one of the Sahabah (Companions of the Prophet) spoke extensively with one of the Jinn, and asked his name, religion, country and who sent him? What is the evidence that the voice heard through the tongue of the possessed person is that of the Jinn? Kindly provide us with the legal opinion supported with the relevant proofs.

A: It happens often that the Qarin (a personal Jinn companion for humans) speaks when a Ruqyah (reciting Qur'an and supplications over the sick as a cure) is recited over the possessed. Thereupon, this Jinn should be threatened with the torment of Allah and warned against harming the Muslim. Shaykh-ul-Islam Ibn Taymiyyah (may Allah have mercy on him) said something similar in a treatise entitled "Explaining the evidence on the generality of the message." You should read it, because it will be very beneficial regarding the issue in question. However, you should not talk at great length with the Jinni unless necessity so demands.

Q: What is the ruling on one who sends a Jinni to someone's house (one of the creatures created from fire) which talks through a possessed person to check whether or not there is a spell on their home? It should be known that I know a Muslim who recites (Qur'an) over the possessed, and after talking to the Jinni through the possessed person, he sends it to another Jinni who has already spoken through another person and asks about its father, mother, by whom he has been sent, and about the place of the spell as well. However, sometimes, when the Jinni happens to be a Christian, Jew, or a Buddhist, my friend starts to call it to Islam, and asks it to call other Jinn to Islam.

A: It is not permissible to use Jinn in any manner, for this is considered seeking the help of Jinn and Satans, which is prohibited; moreover, it is considered a means leading to Shirk (associating others with Allah in His Divinity or worship). It is not permissible either to believe what they say with regard to issues relevant to sorcery and sorcerers, because of their evil.

Q 1: What is the Islamic ruling on seeking the help of Christian monks to treat cases of possessed people by excessive fear, or to read over a person or an animal bitten by a wild dog?

Q: If a possessed person from the People of the Book seeks healing from a Muslim who treats with the Qur'an, what should the latter do, bearing in mind that the former does not believe in Islam?

Truly, Allāh loves Al-Muhsinūn \(the good-doers\).﴾](#) Allah (Exalted be He) also states, [﴿Allāh does not forbid you to deal justly and kindly with those who fought not against you on account of religion nor drove you out of your homes. Q 2: Sometimes I feel depressed without any obvious reason; are there any Qur'anic Ayahs (verses) you recommend me to recite when I have such feeling to protect myself from the influence of Satan?

A: You should recite Surah Al-Fatihah and Al-Mu`awwidhat (Surahs Al-Ikhlās, Al-Falaq and Al-Nas) and repeat them three times. Each time you should blow in your palms then recite and rub your face with them as well as any parts of your body that your hands can reach. Afterwards, you should recite Du`a-ul-Karb (supplication of distress) "There is no deity but Allah the Glorified and

Q 1: I am an old woman who believes in Allah and the Last Day and holds fast to what Allah and His Messenger (peace be upon him) said, but I have been afflicted with a disease that caused me deep distress to the extent that I have no desire to see my son or his children. Sometimes, when I see them I burst into tears, other times I feel satisfied with them. The disease moves to my head and my neck and sometimes I have doubts during Salah (prayer). I went to several hospitals but nothing was good for my case and I fear that I may commit a sin when I get angry with my son who is sick, praise be to Allah. So, shaykh, may Allah grant you all goodness, what do you recommend me to do about such distress that I suffer?

A: I recommend you to fear Allah, may He be Exalted, seek refuge with Allah from the accursed Satan, and not to pay attention to such insinuations and doubts as they all are from Satan. (A Companion (may Allah be pleased with him) complained to the Prophet (peace be upon him) that he had weird thoughts to the extent that he would prefer to be a piece of fiery charcoal before he could open his mouth to express them. He (the Prophet) said, "Allah is the Greatest, Allah is the Greatest, praise be to Allah Who reduced the plots of Satan to mere whispering.") Related by Ahmad and Abu Dawud with an authentic chain of narrators. It is narrated by Ibn Mas'ud (may Allah be pleased with him) - who considered this narration to be Marfu' (a Hadith narrated from the Prophet with a connected or disconnected chain of narration) while in fact it is Mawquf (words or deeds narrated from a Companion of the Prophet that are not attributed to the Prophet), (The angel entrusted with the heart of the son of Adam inspires him as Satan does. The angel's inspiration is a promise of good, belief in the truth and aspiration to its good reward. Satan's inspiration is a promise of evil, denial of the truth and despair of good. Thus, if you feel the inspiration of the angel, praise Allah and ask His blessings; and if you feel Satan's inspiration, seek refuge with Allah from him and seek Allah's forgiveness.)

In this respect you have to increase the remembrance of Allah, the Exalted, seeking forgiveness from Allah, reciting the Noble Qur'an, seeking refuge with Allah from the accursed Satan and recite the Opening Surah of the Quran (Surah Al-Fatihah), Surah Al-Ikhlâs, Al-Mu'awwidhatayn (Surah Al-Falaq and Surah Al-Nas) and Ayat-ul-Kursy (the Qur'anic Verse of Allah's Chair, Surah Al-Baqarah, 2:255) and in general any part of the Noble Qur'an is good. Allah, the Exalted, said, (And We send down of the Qur'ân that which is a healing and a mercy to those who believe (in Islâmic Monotheism and act on it), and it increases the Zâlimûn (polytheists and wrong-doers) nothing but loss.) Try to control yourself to abandon anger as the Prophet (peace be upon him) commanded those who get angry to relinquish their anger by observing Wudu' (ablution) and by sitting if they were standing, lying if they were sitting and seeking refuge with Allah from accursed Satan. Moreover we recommend you to recite Ayat-ul-Kursy when going to sleep and to recite Surah Al-Ikhlās and Al-Mu`awwidhatayn three times when going to sleep, in the morning and in the evening.

Influence of the evil eye

Q 6: There is a person among us who admirably speaks about things and describes them without mentioning the Name of Allah. He often expresses his admiration about things saying, for example, "Wow, how nice this is; it fits perfectly in its place!" and while he is saying that, the thing he is talking about gets broken or damaged. We therefore think this is the influence of his evil eye. We would like to know the means of protection from the evil eye according to the Sunnah of the Prophet, may Allah reward you with the best.

A: According to Sunnah, anyone who sees anything he admires, be it a person, vehicle, home or anything else, should say "Ma sha'a Allah la quwwata illa bi-Allah (Whatever Allah wills [will come to pass], there is no power except with Allah);" for Allah, the Exalted, said, "It was better for you to say, when you entered your garden: 'That which Allāh wills \(will come to pass\)! There is no power but with Allāh!' If you see me less than you in wealth, and children" Protection from the evil eye can be achieved by the remembrance of Allah through reciting Ayat-ul-Kursy (the Qur'anic Verse of Allah's Chair, Surah Al-Baqarah, 2:255) after observing Salah (Prayer) and when going to sleep. Reciting Surah Al-Ikhlās and Al-Mu'awwidhatayn (Surahs Al-Falaq and Al-Nas) three times every morning and every evening and when going to sleep is also recommended. You should also put your trust in Allah, depend on Him and believe that all good and evil are controlled by Allah, may He be Glorified and Exalted. Whatever He wills is destined to happen and whatever He does not will is not destined to happen. Thus Allah protects His Servants from the evil eye and whatever may harm them.

Q: Some Bedouin men use Satanic superstitions and believe that they are legal Ruqyah (reciting Qur'an and saying supplications over the sick seeking healing) to treat people afflicted with the evil eye. The process runs as follows:

Seven pebbles should be collected along with a piece of leather and white alum which is known well by spice merchants. Such materials are to be gathered in one bundle and turned around the head of the patient afflicted with the evil eye seven times while saying the following words:

"First in the name of Allah, second in the name of Allah, third in the name of Allah..." until they complete seven counts in the same way. Afterwards the alum is to be put in the fire and upon boiling they claim that such alum reflects the image of the person whose evil eye afflicted the patient. If the person is a man, the alum will reflect the image of his eye or his genitals and if the person is a woman, her genitals will be reflected.

Shaykh, we hope you will refute those people and advise them.

A: These acts are all Satanic acts and they are of the superstitions that Satan ornaments in the eyes of those people and they are not legal treatments as they assume. Therefore, such acts should be denied, whoever practices such an act should be forbidden to do so and they should be reported to the concerned authorities in order to stop such practices and punish whoever is involved in them.

Q 2: I heard a knowledge-seeker say: along with Ruqyah (reciting Qur'an and saying supplications over the sick seeking healing) that is recited for the person afflicted with the evil eye, these words should be said, "A restrainer restrains; a hard stone and a flaming fire; the evil eye will be turned away!" When I asked him about the proof for what he had said, he told that this was reported from some of the Salaf (Righteous Predecessors). So, is there an authentic source for these words? Can they be said to treat anyone afflicted with the evil eye? If they are really attributed to some Salaf, does this stand as proof?

May Allah reward you with the best.

A: The words mentioned above have not been reported neither from the Prophet (peace be upon him) nor any of his Companions and we do not know their origin as they sound strange. The treatment of the influence of evil eye is carried out through Qur'anic Ayahs (verses), the Prophet's supplications, and what was authentically reported from the Prophet (peace be upon him) about the necessity of bathing for 'A'in (one who casts an evil eye). Ibn Shihab narrated that Abu Umamah ibn Sahl ibn Hunayf said: ﴿ `Amir ibn Rabi`ah saw Sahl ibn Hunayf bathing, so he said, "I have never seen before such beautiful skin which is like the skin of a virgin." Consequently, Sahl fell down [without being able to move]. So he was brought to the Messenger of Allah (peace be upon him)..., then the Messenger of Allah (peace be upon him) called for `Amir and was very angry with him and said, "What may one kill his brother for? Would you please invoke the blessing of Allah! You should bathe for his sake." Consequently `Amir washed his face, both hands, elbows, knees, feet's tips and inside his Izar (garment worn below the waist) in a bowl then he poured the bathing water upon Sahl, thus Sahl became healthy and sound and went out with people.﴾ Narrated by Ahmad and Malik in Al-Muwatta' and Ibn Majah.

Q 5: Some people, when they or one of their relatives is afflicted with the evil eye and they despair of treating it, say that they dig a grave for the afflicted person thus he will recover if Allah wills. Does this have an origin in the Islamic Law; and if not, is the person who digs the grave for that purpose considered sinful? Would you please give us your opinion, may Allah reward you!

A: digging a grave to treat a person afflicted with the evil eye has no origin in the Purified Shari`ah (Islamic Law); rather it is definitely a superstition that should be abandoned and warned against.

Q: When reciting Qur'an over a patient whose eyes are closed yet fully conscious, he sees the one who worked Sihr (sorcery) against him; the sorcerer, the place where sorcery is practiced, or `A'in (one who casts an evil eye). Our question is: is this matter considered knowing Ghayb (the Unseen) or not?

A: the patient's ability to see the one who worked Sihr (sorcery) against him, the sorcerer, the place where sorcery is practiced, or `A'in (one who casts an evil eye), upon reciting Qur'an on him, is not considered as knowing the Ghayb (Unseen). Anyone who believes that they know the Ghayb (Unseen), according to this matter, is Kafir (disbeliever). Knowledge of Ghayb (Unseen) is restricted to Allah, the Glorified and He does not disclose it except through revelation inspired to some of His Angels and Messengers. Allah, the Exalted, states, Say: "None in the heavens and the earth knows the Ghaib \(Unseen\) except Allâh" and also Allah, may He be Glorified and Exalted, states, And with Him are the keys of the Ghaib \(all that is hidden\), none knows them but He. What happens to the patient concerning this type (of knowing the Unseen) is out of the satanic influence and deception for Banu Adam (human beings, descendents from Prophet Adam). This happens because the reciters seek the assistance of Jinn (creatures created from fire) even if they may pretend to recite (some verses of) the Qur'an and Noble Hadith in order to deceive and misguide the ignorant, the laypeople, and the foolish. By so doing they make people believe that their recitations are useful; thus, they steal their money and exploit them to serve their own interests and desires. In reality they are soothsayers and diviners. Even if what they predict sometimes occurs and what the patient sees turns out to be true, the patient should not rely on this and should not be tricked into believing it. Otherwise, they will accuse people without Shari'ah Legal grounds; rather, because of the influence of Jinn (creatures created from fire) as was previously mentioned. We recommend you not pay attention to such illusions that may shake your `Aqidah (creed) and cause you to cut your ties of kinship and harm people. Moreover, you should turn to Allah, the Exalted, and seek refuge with Him Alone to relieve your distress.

Place your hopes on no one but Allah and do not rely upon anyone except Him Alone. You must treat yourself with Ruqyah (reciting Qur'an and supplications over the sick as a cure) and the Shari'ah-based supplications mentioned in the Book of Allah and Sunnah (whatever is reported from the Prophet) of His Prophet (peace be upon him) and take the permissible medicines that may help you recover, if Allah wills.

Jinn Possession

Statement of the Permanent Committee of Scholarly Research and Ifta'

No. 21518 concerning the issue of the entrance of Jinn into a human body

Praises be to Allah, Lord of `Alamin (mankind, jinn and all that exists) and peace and blessings be upon our Prophet Muhammad, his family and Companions.

To answer the inquiry of Hammad ibn `Abdullah Al-Hammad, a tax notary public, about what was written by: Muhammad ibn `Abdullah Al-Fawzan in Al-Jazirah Newspaper, issue no. 10168 dating 29/4/1421A.H. denying the fact that humans can be possessed by the Jinn, the Permanent Committee of Scholarly Research and Ifta' states: There is evidence from the Book of Allah, may He be Glorified and Exalted, and the Sunnah of His Prophet (peace be upon him), as well as the consensus of Ummah (nation) on the possibility and occurrence of this condition, i.e. A Jinn possessing the body of a human. Allah, the Exalted, states, \(Those who eat Ribâ \(usury\) will not stand \(on the Day of Resurrection\) except like the standing of a person beaten by Shaitân \(Satan\) leading him to insanity.\)

Ibn Jarir, may Allah have mercy on him, said: He (Allah) means that Satan leads him to insanity during his lifetime as Satan causes him depression and seizure, (Al-Mas) means insanity.

Al-Baghawwy, may Allah have mercy on him, commented on this Ayah (verse), \(will not stand \(on the Day of Resurrection\) except like the standing of a person beaten by Shaitân \(Satan\) leading him to insanity.\) with a similar statement.

Ibn Kathir, may Allah have mercy on him, said, "The people referred to in the Ayah will be resurrected from their graves on the Day of Resurrection in a very similar condition to someone who is possessed by Satan, in terms of the very odd state they will be in." Ibn `Abbas, may Allah be pleased with them, said, "The usurer is resurrected on the Day of Resurrection as a choking insane person", narrated by Ibn Abu Hatim. He said it was narrated from `Awf ibn Malik, Sa`id ibn Jubayr, Al-Suddy, Al-Rabi` ibn Anas, Qatadah and Muqatil ibn Hayyan with close wording.

Al-Qurtuby, may Allah have mercy on him, said: This Ayah (Qur'anic verse) is a proof against those who denied the possession of Jinn in human beings thinking that it is a natural disposition and that Satan can never enter a human or be a part of him.

Shaykh-ul-Islam Ibn Taymiyyah, may Allah have mercy on him, wrote in Majmu` Al-Fatawa (The Compendium of Fatwas) vol. 24, pp. 276-277, "The existence of Jinn is affirmed in the Book of Allah, Sunnah of the Messenger of Allah (peace be upon him) and according to the consensus of the Salaf (Righteous Predecessors) of this Ummah and its leading scholars. Moreover, the entrance of a jinn into a human body is also confirmed by the consensus of Ahl-ul-Sunnah wal-Jama`ah (those adhering to the Sunnah and the Muslim main body). Allah, the Exalted states, \(Those who eat Ribâ (usury) will not stand (on the Day of Resurrection) except like the standing of a person beaten by Shaitân (Satan) leading him to insanity.) In the Sahih (authentic) Book of Hadith compiled by Al-Bukhari and/ or Muslim) it is reported that the Prophet (peace be upon him) stated, (Satan circulates in the human body as blood does.) `Abdullah son of

Imam Ahmad ibn Hanbal said, "I told my father that some people claim that Jinn can never enter the body of a person. So he said, 'O son! They tell lies. Satan can even speak on the tongue of those whom he possesses.'" Shaykh-ul-Islam said, "What he [`Abdullah] said is self-evident. The Jinn may possess someone and cause him to speak a language that he does not even know. A possessed person may be violently beaten, beatings that even a camel may not endure, yet he neither feels the beating nor is aware of the words he says." Then he said, "None of the leading Muslim scholars ever denied the ability of Jinn entering the body of a human being. Whoever denies this fact and assumes that the Shari`ah (Islamic law) denies it too, is fabricating lies against Shari`ah as there is no Shari`ah-based evidence that denies this fact." (End of quote).

Through the Shari`ah-based evidence that we have mentioned and the consensus of the scholars of Ahl-ul-Sunnah wal-Jama`ah (those adhering to the Sunnah and the Muslim main body) concerning the possibility of Jinn entering a human body, it becomes clear for the readers that those who denied this fact are totally wrong. Consequently, the writer Muhammad ibn `Abdullah Al-Fawzan should return to the right and not speak about matters he does not know very well. Allah, the Exalted, states, (And follow not (O man i.e., say not, or do not or witness not) that of which you have no knowledge.) Attributing things to Allah with no basis of reliable knowledge is more grievous than Shirk (associating others with Allah in His Divinity or worship) as far as prohibition is concerned. Allah, the Exalted, states,

(Say (O Muhammad صلى الله عليه وسلم): "(But) the things that my Lord has indeed forbidden are Al-Fawâhish (great evil sins and every kind of unlawful sexual intercourse) whether committed openly or secretly, sins (of all kinds), unrighteous oppression, joining partners (in worship) with Allâh for which He has given no authority, and saying things about Allâh of which you have no knowledge.")

The fifth question of Fatwa no. 25109

Q 5: My father took the youngest of my three mentally-retarded brothers, to visit a psychiatrist in order to prescribe a medicine for him because he is very naughty and gives us a hard time. The doctor prescribed some tranquilizers that cause him to sleep all day. Is my father sinful, knowing that he has to give him the medicine because he prevents us from doing our duties. My brother does not hurt anyone, but he has the tendency to run away from the house and go to far away places. We are worried lest he should have accidents, so is it permissible to lock him up in the house or even tie him up with a rope in order to prevent him from running away and not give him the medicines that may afflict him with other diseases that Allah Alone knows?

A: If these medicines affect his health badly, it will not be permissible to give them to that mentally-retarded child, and you can stop him from going out by tying him or locking him up at home and so on. May Allah grant you assistance, decisiveness, reward and recompense.

Amulets

Q 1: What is the opinion of Islam on carrying amulets and saying charms?

A: It is not permissible to carry amulets or let people put them on; as the Prophet (peace be upon him) prohibited us to do this saying, ﴿If one ties an amulet, Allah will not accomplish his affairs for him.﴾ The Prophet (peace be upon him) also says, [﴿\[Illegal\] Ruqyah, amulets and love-potions are acts of Shirk \(associating others with Allah in His Divinity or worship\).﴾](#) The Ruqyah here means: All words that are not from Qur'an and Shari'ah-based supplications. Concerning Ruqyahs with (verses from) Qur'an and Shari'ah-based supplications, which are recited on the patient; they are permissible as the Prophet (peace be upon him) says, ﴿There is no harm in Ruqyah as long as it does not include Shirk.﴾ Amulets are: things carried or tied in order to get rid of the evil eye and relieve or get rid of affliction.

Q 5: The Messenger of Allah (peace be upon him) says, (If a man puts on a necklace, he will be excluded from the intercession of Muhammad.) Does necklace here mean any kind of gold and silver necklaces; for I used to cite this Hadith to warn the Muslim students who put on silver necklaces?

A: wearing necklaces, rings or certain types of string to ward off evils is forbidden and is considered an act of Shirk (associating others with Allah in His Divinity or worship) no matter what kind they are; because the Prophet (peace be upon him) prohibited this act and renounced those who do it; it denotes reliance on someone other than Allah, may He be Glorified. We should depend on Allah Alone, for He is the controller of good and evil and the Healer. (When the Prophet (peace be upon him) saw a man with a brass ring in his hand, he asked, "What is that?" The man replied, "Something to protect me against Al-Wahinah [weakness; a fever]." The Prophet (peace be upon him) said, "Cast it off, for verily it would only increase your weakness. If you die with it on, you will never be successful.") The Messenger of Allah (peace be upon him) also says, (Anyone who wears an amulet commits an act of Shirk.)

Q 4: What is the ruling on using amulets and words of protection in Islam? Should I observe Salah (Prayer) behind an Imam who seeks treatment through them? Am I considered sinful if I observe Salah behind him after I know this about him?

A: Amulets and words of protection are of three types:

The first type: Amulets and words of protection that involve Shirk (associating others in worship with Allah)

like Istighathah (imploring) anyone other than Allah and supplicating to anyone other than Allah including Jinn (creatures created from fire), devils, Awliya' (pious people), and righteous people. It is not permissible to write or use such amulets and words of protection as they associate others with Allah in His Divinity or worship, and whoever writes, uses, or promotes them is considered a Mushrik (one who associates others with Allah in His Divinity or worship) behind whom observing Salah (Prayer) is not permissible.

The second type: Amulets that contain separate letters, talismans, intelligible words, or any beads and cowrie shells or the like are forbidden. Even if the people do not believe in their good or evil but that they are a reason, still putting them on is considered minor Shirk (associating others with Allah in His Divinity or worship); as the Prophet (peace be upon him) says, \(If one ties an amulet, Allah will not accomplish his affairs for him and if one ties a cowrie shell, Allah will not protect him.\) In another narration, \(Anyone who wears an amulet commits an act of Shirk.\) Putting them on may be considered major Shirk, if people believe that they themselves ward off evils, and are not just a means for that.

Whoever writes such amulets should be advised and warned about doing so. He should respond or the official authority will depose him from leading congregational prayer to prevent people from taking him as an example and imitating him. Observing Salah (Prayer) behind him is considered correct if he does not believe that such amulets themselves are able to benefit. The third type: Amulets and words of protection from Qur'an and lawful supplications written in Arabic words - these are a point of disagreement among the scholars, as there are two opinions:

The first opinion: They are permissible because they are void of Shirk and its means.

The second opinion: It deems them unlawful; as the Prophet (peace be upon him) forbade us from putting on all types of amulets generally and warned us against them. For example, the Prophet (peace be upon him) says, [\(Ruqyahs, amulets and love-potions are \[acts of\] Shirk.\)](#) Moreover, the Prophet (peace be upon him) says, \(If someone ties an amulet, Allah will not accomplish his affairs for him and if someone ties a cowrie shell, Allah will not protect him.\) This opinion is the right one due to the general purport of the Hadith banning the use of amulets.

May Allah grant us success! May peace and blessings be upon our Prophet Muhammad, his family

The second question of Fatwa no. 14549

Q 2: I suffer from epilepsy and I visited many physicians but to no avail. I went to a person who gave me an amulet in the form of a piece of paper in which some unintelligible words are written and some lines are drawn. He asked me to wear it. Is this permissible?

A: You are not allowed to wear this amulet which was given to you by the person whom you visited to treat you. This is an act of charlatanism and sorcery because it contains lines, talismans and unintelligible words. You have to be treated by lawful Ruqyah (reciting Qur'an and saying supplications over the sick seeking healing).

Q 1: Some people among us, when they find a dead wolf they cut the skin of its face and its ears and hang them as a Hirz (protective amulet) in their homes believing that they dispel devils. What is the ruling on such an act?

A: hanging some parts of a wolf and its skin at home or at the doors as hirz and believing that they dispel devils and prevent Jinn from entering homes is Bid`ah (innovation in religion) and has no origin in the Book of Allah or the Sunnah (whatever is reported from the Prophet) of His Messenger (peace be upon him). Believing in these things blemishes the Tawhid (belief in the Oneness of Allah/monotheism) of the Muslim because it is a kind of association with something other than Allah and an act of seeking refuge with something other than Him. Keeping such things at home and hanging them on doors is, like wearing amulets, an act of Shirk (associating others with Allah in His Divinity or worship); according to what was narrated by `Uqbah ibn `Amir from the Prophet (peace be upon him) that he said, «If one ties an amulet, Allah will not accomplish his affairs for him and if one ties a cowrie shell, Allah will not protect him.» Related by Imam Ahmad in his Musnad, vol. 4, p. 154. According to another narration, «Anyone who wears an amulet commits an act of Shirk.» Also, `Abdullah ibn Mas`ud (may Allah be pleased with him) narrated: I heard the Messenger of Allah (peace be upon him) say, [«\[Illegal\] Ruqyahs, amulets and love-potions are \[acts of\] Shirk.»](#) Related by Imam Ahmad in his Musnad, vol.1 p. 381, and by Abu

Dawud and Ibn Majah in their Sunan.

A Muslim should keep away from such things, hold fast to Allah Alone, seek His protection, put his trust in Allah and seek refuge with Allah Alone, for He Alone controls good and evil. Whoever puts his trust in Allah, He will surely protect him. A Muslim is allowed to seek refuge in the Perfect Words of Allah from His evil creatures. The Prophet (peace be upon him) says, «When anyone lands at a place, and then says, 'I seek refuge in the Perfect Words of Allah from the evil of what He has created,' nothing will harm him until he leaves that place.» Related by Muslim.

Q 2: Respected shaykh, i have an aunt, my father's sister, her problem is that when she starts her pregnancy or even knows of her pregnancy, she wears a Hirz (protective amulet) on her chest, in the shape of a small book covered by a piece of cloth which is closed by stitches. If she happens to remove it or cast it away, she miscarries and the baby comes out as stillbirth. My question is: What should we do about that? Would you please help us, may Allah reward you for what you will do for us!

A: Wearing such a book on the woman's chest when she gets pregnant; in order not to miscarry and the belief that if she removes this amulet or casts it away from her chest, she will miscarry, is considered one of the forbidden Shirk-based amulets.

If this woman believes that this amulet, and not Allah, brings about good or evil, she will be guilty of major Shirk (associating others with Allah in His Divinity or worship) that takes her out of Islam, may Allah forbid! Such belief contradicts Tawhid (belief in the Oneness of Allah/ monotheism) and Tawakkul (putting one's trust in Allah). Good and evil are in the Hands of Allah Alone.

But if she believes that such amulets are mere causes upon which some events depend and that Allah is the Provider of good and evil then she commits minor Shirk. Generally, this is proven by what was narrated by Ibn Mas'ud (may Allah be pleased with him) that he heard the Prophet (peace be upon him) say, [«\[Illegal\] Ruqyahs, amulets and love-potions are \[acts of\] Shirk.»](#) Narrated by Imam Ahmad and Abu Dawud. Moreover, the Prophet (peace be upon him) says, «If someone ties an amulet, Allah will not accomplish his affairs for him and if someone ties a cowrie shell, Allah will not protect him.» Narrated by Imam Ahmad in his Musnad, Ibn Hibban in Mawarid Al-Zam'an, and Al-Hakim in Al-Mustadrak. According to another narration of Imam Ahmad: «Anyone who wears an amulet commits an act of Shirk.» In a Hadith Marfu' (a Hadith narrated from the Prophet with a connected or disconnected chain of narration) narrated by `Abdullah ibn `Ukaym: [«Anyone who wears any luck charm will be left to it \[and will be deprived of Allah's Help\].»](#) Narrated by Imam Ahmad and Al-Tirmidhy.

As for the miscarriage that takes place when that woman removes or casts away this amulet, it is the work of

Satan and not due to keeping such an amulet. This is proven in what Abu Dawud narrated in his Sunan; [«it was reported that Zaynab, the wife of `Abdullah ibn Mas'ud, said: `Abdullah saw a thread around my neck. He said, "What is this?" I said, "It is a charm for me." Then she said, "He took it and tore it apart then said, "You, family of `Abdullah should be the remotest people from Shirk \(associating others with Allah in His Divinity or worship\); I heard the Messenger of Allah \(peace be upon him\) say, "\[Illegal\] Ruqyahs, amulets and love-potions are \[acts of\] Shirk\)," so I said, "I had shaking eyes and I used to frequent to so and so, the Jew, and whenever he cast a spell, my eyes](#) stopped moving. `Abdullah said, "Verily it is an abomination of Satan's handiwork, as he was pricking them with his hand and whenever he (the Jew) cast the spell, he stopped doing that. It is enough for you to say what the Messenger of Allah (peace be upon him) used to say, i.e. 'O Lord of mankind! Grant cure for you are the Healer. There is no cure but from you, cure which leaves no illness behind.'" Narrated by Imam Ahmad, Ibn Majah, Ibn Hibban, and Al-Hakim who said that it is a Hadith Sahih (authentic Hadith). It was approved by Al-Dhahaby.

Consequently, this woman should abandon wearing such an amulet in order to protect her religion and `Aqidah (creed) and keep them safe and sound and give up that act in favor of other acts that are approved by the Shari`ah (Islamic law), including Ruqyah using the Qur'an, Allah's Most Beautiful Names, authentic Adhkar (invocations) and Prophetic supplications which are intelligible and include no prohibitions. Moreover she should put her trust in Allah totally, return to Him in prosperity and adversity, and ask Him for protection from every evil, for He Alone is the Provider of good and evil. Whoever puts his trust in Allah and depends on Allah in all his matters, Allah will suffice him, facilitate his matters and relieve his distresses. Allah, the Exalted says,

﴿And whosoever fears Allâh and keeps his duty to Him, He will make a way for him to get out (from every difficulty).﴾ ﴿And He will provide him from (sources) he never could imagine. And whosoever puts his trust in Allâh, then He will suffice him.﴾

Swearing by other than Allah

Is it true that swearing by other than Allah, using abstract meanings, not considered Shirk (associating others with Allah in His Divinity or worship), whereas swearing by essences or beings is that which is considered Shirk?

A: Swearing by anything or anyone other than Allah is an act of minor Shirk (associating other partners with Allah that is not tantamount to taking a Muslim out of Islam); based on the Hadith reported by Imams Ahmad, Abu Dawud and Al-Tirmidhy that Prophet (peace be upon him) said: \(Anyone who swears by other than Allah has committed Kufr or Shirk.\) If a person aims at glorifying the thing sworn by in the same way that Allah is glorified, this is considered major Shirk (associating others with Allah in His Divinity or worship that takes the Muslim out of Islam), whether the thing sworn by is concrete or abstract; all this is not permissible.

Q5: A teacher said that if a person swears by other than Allah without intending glorification, it will be permissible. He cited an example from the Qur'an where Allah swears by His creatures like the sun, the moon, the forenoon, the night,etc.

A: Allah, may He be Glorified, can swear by any of His creatures as He wills, but servants are not permitted to swear by anything or anyone except Allah, may He be Glorified and Exalted. It was authentically narrated in the Two Sahih (authentic) Books of Hadith (i.e. Al-Bukhari and Muslim) that the Prophet (peace be upon him) stated, \(Anyone who has to take an oath should swear by Allah or remain silent. \(i.e. He should not swear by other than Allah.\)\) It was narrated in the Musnad of Imam Ahmad with an authentic chain of narration from `Umar ibn Al-Khattab (may Allah be pleased with him) that the Prophet (peace be upon him) stated, \(Anyone who swears by anything other than Allah is committing an act of Shirk \(associating others with Allah in His Divinity or worship\).\) It was also narrated in the Sunan of both Abu Dawud and Al-Tirmidhy with an authentic chain of narration from `Abdullah ibn `Umar ibn Al-Khattab (may Allah be pleased with them both) that the Prophet (peace be upon him) stated, \(He who swears by anyone but Allah commits an act of Kufr \(disbelief\) or Shirk.\) The phrase "Kufr or Shirk" indicates the narrator's doubt which one the Prophet (peace be upon him) said. The meaning is crystal clear; the narrators were extra careful to mention the exact wordings of the Hadith as they heard from the Prophet (peace be upon him). Shirk here denotes minor Shirk.

The first and third questions of Fatwa no. 18991

Q 1: Is swearing by anyone or anything other than Allah (the Most Exalted) basically considered major Shirk (associating others with Allah in His Divinity or worship) unless it includes something that renders it minor Shirk?

What does the Prophet (peace be upon him) mean by saying, (Whoever amongst you swears, (saying by error) in his oath 'By Al-Lat and Al-`Uzza', then he should say, 'La ilaha illa Allah (there is no deity but Allah)')? And what is the rank of this Hadith?

Did the Prophet order those who swear by anyone or anything other than Allah to say "La ilaha illa Allah (there is no deity but Allah);" because they have committed apostasy? Or did he order them to say "La ilaha illa Allah" as a sort of expiation for what they had said?

A: Swearing by anyone or anything other than Allah is basically minor Shirk unless those who do so intend to give what they swear by the same rank as Allah concerning glorification and exaltation. In such a case this is considered major Shirk.

The Prophet (peace be upon him) ordered that "La ilaha illa Allah" should be said by whoever swears (by mistake) by Al-Lat and Al-`Uzza, which were two of the Arab's idols worshipped besides Allah, because swearing by Al-Lat and Al-`Uzza contradicts the word of Tawhid (Monotheism) if it is intended to glorify Al-Lat and Al-`Uzza in the same way of glorifying Allah. If swearing by them is not intended to glorify them, then this is against the perfection of Tawhid, and whoever swears by them, he indeed glorifies them. Whoever swears by idols and the like, his oath is not considered valid but he should seek forgiveness from Allah and say "La ilaha illa Allah" and no expiation is due on him. The word of Tawhid annuls any kind of association with (anything or anyone) other than Allah, and it acquits those who say it from Al-Lat and Al-`Uzza and every other false deity but Allah. This word essentially means that there is no one that has the right to be worshipped but Allah; so it emphasizes worship of Allah and denies such a right to anyone but Allah. Consequently, if a person says it from the depths of his heart out of loyalty to Allah coupled with true repentance to Him for what he has said, such a sin will be expiated.

The Hadith mentioned in the question is authentic and it was related by Al-Bukhari and Muslim in their Two Sahih (authentic) Books of Hadith and also related by Al-Bayhaqi in his Sunan. The wording of the narration of Al-Bukhari from Abu Hurayrah (may Allah be pleased with him) is thus:

(Whoever takes an oath in which he mentions Al-Lat and Al-`Uzza (forgetfully), should say 'la ilaha illa Allah (None has the right to be worshipped but Allah),' and whoever says to his companion, 'Come along, let us gamble' must give alms (as an expiation).)

Q3: Is it right to get evidence on an opinion that differentiates between swearing by the essences of things and abstract meanings according to what the Prophet (peace be upon him) stated, (He who swears by Amanah (trust) is not one of us) ? What is the grade of authenticity of this Hadith? What is the ruling on the writer of this article? And what is the ruling on those who propagate it?

A man swears by Allah falsely, but swears by anything other than Allah, may He be glorified, truthfully. Could his conduct be a criterion to judge him as swearing by other than Allah out of glorification?

A: Swearing by persons, like saying 'I swear by the Prophet' or 'I swear by so-and-so' and swearing by abstract meanings, like saying 'I swear by Amanah (trust)' or 'I swear by my honor' are the same. They are both included within the general form of swearing by anything or anyone other than Allah. The Hadith mentioned in the question (Anyone who swears by Amanah (trust) is not one of us.) confirms the prohibition of swearing by abstract meanings such as Amanah (trust) and the like. It also indicates the prohibition of swearing by persons, as it is indicated by the general meaning of the Hadith. The prohibition of swearing by persons is proved in what was narrated from the Messenger of Allah (peace be upon him) when he stated, (Do not swear by your fathers!) (Agreed upon by Al-Bukhari and Muslim). There is also the Hadith that reads, (Anyone who swears by anyone but Allah is a disbeliever or a Mushrik (one who associates others with Allah in His Divinity or worship).) Narrated by Abu Dawud and Al-Tirmidhy with an authentic chain of narrators. Also, the Prophet (peace be upon him) stated, (Anyone who swears by anything other than Allah is committing an act of Shirk.) Narrated by Imam Ahmad with an authentic chain of narration from the Hadith narrated by `Umar (may Allah be pleased with him).

Anyone who calls to the differentiation between swearing by Amanah (trust) and swearing by persons in order to permit swearing by persons, is grossly mistaken and his claim is to be rejected. The Hadith narrated from the Messenger of Allah (peace be upon him) concerning the prohibition of swearing by parents and the like, and the prohibition of swearing by anything other than Allah in general can refute this opinion.

Concerning those who swear by Allah falsely, their fault is the false oath and glorifying Allah to prove what is not true. Needless to say, lying is one of the major sins.

Swearing by anything or anyone other than Allah, even when it is a true oath, is considered minor Shirk (associating others with Allah in His Divinity or worship). In essence, Shirk is more grievous than major sins because swearing by anything other than Allah may reach the level of major Shirk, if it is intended to glorify what is sworn by the same way Allah is glorified.

Therefore, Ibn Mas`ud (may Allah be pleased with him) said, "To swear by Allah falsely is more tolerable to me than swearing by anything or anyone other than Allah truthfully."

Exerting all efforts...without Tawakkul

The first question of Fatwa no. 18281

Q 1: What is the ruling on using all possible means without Tawakkul (putting one's trust in Allah), and on Tawakkul without making use of means?

A: Muslims should place their trust in Allah along with making use of all beneficial means. It is not permissible to abandon the use of means (to materialize one's objective) under the pretext of Tawakkul, as there is no contradiction between the two. Allah has ordained that all possible means be utilized along with Tawakkul.

Fatwa no. 19700

Q: some Muslims swear by the Prophet, by a person's life, or by their loved ones, along with swearing by Allah - we seek refuge in Allah from this. What is the reason for the spread of this phenomenon? Is it because of the people's ignorance of its seriousness, or due to their customs and traditions? Are there any other reasons? What is the role of the media in enlightening the people regarding this matter? What is the role of the Du`ah (callers to Islam) in raising people's awareness as regards this phenomenon?

A: It is not permissible to swear except by Allah (Exalted be He) or by one of His Attributes, because swearing by other than Allah is Shirk (associating others with Allah in His Divinity or worship). The Prophet (peace be upon him) stated, \(Anyone who swears by anyone but Allah has committed Shirk.\) He (peace be upon him) also stated, \(Anyone who has to take an oath should swear by Allah or remain silent.\) Also, swearing is an act of glorifying what is sworn by and such glorification should be given only to Allah (Exalted be He). Thus, it is not permissible to swear by other than Allah, which includes the Prophet or any other creature. Likewise, it is not permissible to swear by any creature along with Allah (Glorified and Exalted be He), such as by saying, "By Allah and the Prophet, I did not do such and such." Muslim scholars in general, and Du`ah in particular, are required to warn Muslims against this and explain (the truth) to them so that they will be aware of what they are doing. They should warn the people against these pre-Islamic customs and this blind imitation of parents. Similarly, mass media should turn the people's attention to this and warn them against such customs, by publishing the scholars' explanation of `Aqidah (creed) and Islamic issues and their warnings against Shirk and acts of disobedience.

Fatwa no. 20432

Q: Is it valid to swear by the life of Allah saying, "By the Life of Allah"? Ibn Al-Qayyim mentioned this in a poem entitled "An-Nuniyyah As-Shafiyah Al-Kafiyah".

A: It is permissible for a Muslim to say "By the Life of Allah", and there is nothing wrong with this, as it involves swearing by an established attribute of Allah, and a Muslim may swear by any of the Names of Allah or His Attributes.

The fourth question of Fatwa no. 18805

Q 4: When we buy goods from a merchant, we ask him about the price which he mentions. After that, to know the final price, we say: "How much is it for the sake of honesty?" or "How much is it for the sake of Allah?" What is the ruling on using these or similar phrases?

A: It is not permissible to swear by other than Allah, whether by honesty or anything else, in compliance with the warning of the Prophet (peace be upon him): \(Anyone who swears by other than Allah has committed Shirk \(associating others with Allah in His Divinity or worship\).\)

Extremism in religion

Fatwa no. 13922

Q: I have a neighbor whose father died about ten years ago. At that time, he did not know that building on the graves is not permissible; therefore, he built a shrine for his father, and people began visiting this shrine and offering sacrifices at it. This evil custom that is based on a corrupt `Aqidah (creed) has been halted, and I advised him (the son) to destroy the shrine, but he refuses thinking this represents undutifulness to his father. What is your advice in this regard? It should be mentioned that people there have weak Iman (Faith) and are illiterate, so if this building remains, it will lead to further spread of corrupt beliefs. Please guide us to the ruling on this and how to destroy this building, and whether or not there are certain Adhkar (invocations) or Qur'an to be recited before demolishing the shrine to ward off any Satan in the grave. May Allah reward you.

A: The building constructed on the grave of your neighbor's father must be demolished, and this does not imply any undutifulness to him. Building over graves is prohibited as it is authentically reported that the Prophet (peace be upon him) instructed `Aly (may Allah be pleased with him) \(Do not leave a raised grave without leveling it.\) Let your neighbor seek Allah's Support and demolish the building constructed over the grave.

And let him never fear Satan or any thing else, for these are illusions thrown by Iblis (Satan) in the heart to undermine one's determination to refute evil.

The first question of Fatwa no. 17070

Q 1: In Yemen large graves were built for some Awliya' (pious people) and rooms were built over these graves with domes like those of Masjids (Mosque) attached over them. These Masjid-like rooms are dedicated by people for offering Salah (Prayer). What is the ruling on that?

A: It is not permissible to build Masjids over graves, because this is a means leading to Shirk (associating others with Allah in His Divinity or worship). It is even more emphatically prohibited to offer Salah at the graves, whether in places built over them or not, as the Prophet (peace be upon him) forbade this. It leads to people calling upon the dead, seeking help and blessing from their graves. This is major Shirk which takes a person out of Islam. Accordingly, it is not permissible to offer Salah in such places, and rooms built over graves should be demolished, as the Prophet (peace be upon him) instructed `Aly (may Allah be pleased with him) \(Leave not a raised grave unleveled.\)

Q 1: Is it permissible to build a Masjid (mosque) over a grave out of necessity? Is it permissible to build a Masjid in the graveyard after exhuming the bodies? Is it permissible to install pillars in the grave, while leaving the first floor empty and building the Masjid on the second floor?

A: It is not permissible to build a Masjid over graves or exhume the dead to raise a Masjid in their places. The graves have a greater right to the site where they were built, and Muslims must look for another place to build the Masjid. Similarly, it is not permissible to install pillars in the graves or build over them, whether the building is a Masjid or whatsoever. Masjids are not to be built over graves, and the dead must not be disturbed. Furthermore, performing prayers in such Masjids leads people to associate its dwellers as partners with Allah and exaggerate their status. Therefore, it was authentically reported from Allah's Messenger (peace be upon him) that he stated: \(May Allah curse the Jews and the Christians, for they have taken the graves of their Prophets as places of worship.\) (Agreed upon by Al-Bukhari and Muslim). It was also related by Muslim in his Sahih (authentic) Book of Hadith on the authority of Jabir ibn `Abdullah (may Allah be pleased with both of them): \(The Messenger of Allah \(peace be upon him\) forbade plastering of the graves, sitting on them and building over them.\) In Sahih Muslim, the Prophet (peace be upon him) said, \(Beware of those who preceded you and used to take the graves of their prophets and righteous men as places of worship, but you must not take the graves as Masjids; I forbid you to do that.\) There are many Hadith to that effect, and we ask Allah to set right the affairs of

Q 7: If there is a grave in the backyard of a Masjid (mosque) with a wall in between, is it permissible to perform Salah in that Masjid? Is performing Salah there valid or not? What is the legal ruling on a person who swears by other than Allah such as the Prophet or Al-Amanah (Honesty)?

A: It is invalid to offer Salah in any Masjid where there is a grave. The Prophet (peace be upon him) is quoted to have prohibited to take graves as Masjids. The prohibition indicates that it is not permissible to perform Salah there whether a building was established upon it or not, or if the grave is attached and connected directly to the Masjid or the Masjid is built for its sake. However, in case the Masjid is separated from the grave with a street or a passage for example, there will be no harm to pray therein. It is not permissible to swear by other than Allah (Glorified be He), neither by the Prophet (peace be upon him) or anyone else because the Prophet stated: \(Anyone who swears by other than Allah has committed a disbelief or has associated others with Allah.\)

Q: What is the ruling on offering Salah (Prayer) in a Masjid (Mosque) where there is a grave? A person whom we asked said that there is no harm whether the grave was outside the Masjid or annexed to it. He said that the Sahabah (Companions of the Prophet) did not object to burying the Prophet (peace be upon him), Abu Bakr, or `Umar in the Masjid. If the grave is annexed to the Masjid but not in the direction of the Qiblah (direction faced for Prayer towards the Ka`bah), it is Makruh (reprehensible) to offer Salah in it. However, you can offer Salah if the grave is in the direction of the Qiblah but not annexed to Masjid. Please, advise. May Allah reward you the best!

A: According to Hadith, it is prohibited to build Masjids over graves as part of the Masjid, for this leads to Shirk (associating others with Allah in His Divinity or worship). It is also prohibited to offer Salah at any spot of the Masjid built over graves because this leads to Shirk or to offer Salah beside graves where there is no Masjid, because this counts as taking them Masjids. On the other hand, the graves of the Prophet (peace be upon him) and his two Companions (may Allah be pleased with them) were outside the Masjid. They were buried in the room of `Aishah (may Allah be pleased with her). When the Masjid was expanded during the caliphate of Al-Walid ibn `Abdul-Malik, the room was included by the order of Al-Walid without consulting scholars. In conclusion, the Masjid of the Messenger (the Prophet's Mosque) was not built over the graves, all praise is due to Allah.

A: It is invalid to offer Salah in a Masjid where there is a grave, as the Prophet (peace be upon him) stated, \(Do not take graves as Masjids\) and he cursed those who do that, as it is a means leading to Shirk (associating others with Allah in His Divinity or worship).

Q 2: A man told me that a Hadith states, «Do not set out on a journey but to three Masjids (mosques)...» He inquired whether it is Haram (prohibited) to visit the grave of Al-Husayn or Al-Sayyidah Zaynab with the sole intention of visiting the grave, not to offer Salah (Prayer) in the Masjid or seek the blessing of the deceased.

A: it is permissible for men to visit graves without traveling specifically to visit them, according to the statement of the Prophet (peace be upon him), «Visit the graves, for they remind you of the Hereafter.» Related by Imam Muslim in his Sahih (authentic) Book of Hadith. However, it is Haram to travel especially to visit them, seek blessings in them and those buried in them, or offer Salah there, according to the Prophet's statement, «Do not set out on a journey but to three Masjids: Al-Masjid al-Haram (the Sacred Mosque), this mosque of mine (the Prophet's Mosque), and Al-Aqsa Mosque (in Jerusalem).» The Prophet (peace be upon him) also stated, «May Allah curse the Jews and the Christians, for they have taken the graves of their Prophets as places of `Ibadah (worship).» The Prophet (peace be upon him) also cursed the women who visit the graves. It was reported on the authority of Ibn `Abbas (may Allah be pleased with him) that he said, «The Messenger of Allah (peace be upon him) cursed the women who visit graves, and those who build Masjids and place lights upon them.» In another narration reported on the authority of Abu Hurayrah (may Allah be pleased with him), «The Messenger of Allah (peace be upon him) cursed the women who frequent graves.» Accordingly, it is not permissible to travel to visit the grave of Al-Husayn and Zaynab.

The second question of Fatwa no. 16105

Q 2: A group of people visits a Masjid (mosque) wherein is buried a Waliy (a pious person) called Sidi Arwaz. They try to draw closer to him by offering gifts, including coverlets and candles, and they slaughter sacrificial animals there. They do this believing that this Waliy will send their Du'a' (supplication) to Allah (Glorified be He). When we asked about this belief, they said that during the French occupation of Algeria, the French Forces fired heavy artillery at this Masjid and could not destroy it. In fact the cannon balls bounced back and killed many of the French soldiers. We would like to know the ruling of the Din (religion of Islam) on this.

A: visiting the graves of the Awliya' (pious people) for the purpose of seeking their blessings or drawing closer to them to ask for their needs to be fulfilled, is an act of Shirk (associating others with Allah in His Divinity or worship) and it is not permissible. Anyone who does this is a Mushrik (one who associates others with Allah in His Divinity or worship), because it involves performing worship to other than Allah (Exalted be He). Allah (Exalted be He) says: \(so invoke not anyone along with Allāh.\)

Q 2: What is the ruling on visiting the graves of the Awliya' (pious people), as we have in our village two graves of Awliya' (pious people) visited by people seeking blessings from them and calling upon them as intermediaries to Allah?

(Part No. 1; Page No. 145)

A: It is not permissible to visit the graves of Awliya' or others in order to seek their blessing and supplicating through them to Allah , as this is a form of Shirk (associating others with Allah in His Divinity or worship) or a means to it. Similarly, seeking blessings from the occupants of graves is Shirk, because one can only seek them from Allah, not others. It is known that what many ignorant people do around grave sites such as seeking the help of the dead and calling upon them to heal the sick, is a form of major Shirk (associating others with Allah in His Divinity or worship). Likewise, supplicating to Allah by virtue of their status i.e. a kind of unlawful Tawassul (seeking to draw close to Allah through unlawful means), is a prohibited Bid`ah (innovation in Islam) and a means to major Shirk. We seek refuge with Allah from all of this.

Q: Is it permissible to join people during circumambulation around graves to guide them, as this is the only way to make them stop walking around the graves? Is there any Muslim scholar who holds this opinion? What is the ruling on one who holds that circumambulating the graves with people is permissible in order to save them and for the sake of Da`wah (calling to Islam)?

A: The ruling of circumambulating the graves varies according to the intention of the circumambulator.

1- If they circumambulate for the sake of drawing near to the people of the graves, it is major Shirk (associating others with Allah in His Divinity or worship). This is because this is an act of worship dedicated to other than Allah and whoever dedicates any act of worship to other than Allah commits Shirk (associating others in worship with Allah).

2- If they circumambulate graves with the intention of drawing near to Allah, it is a prohibited Bid`ah (innovation in Islam) and one of the means of Shirk. Allah did not prescribe that Muslims circumambulate any place but the Honorable Ka`bah.

3- If they do not intend to draw near to Allah or to the dead, but walk with people around the grave to call them to the truth, this is wrong and prohibited. This involves imitating the circumambulators in their action and it is not permissible as a way of Da`wah. Therefore, whoever sees Muslims doing so must advise and reprimand them.

Q 2: There are a lot of mausoleums in the cemetery of our village. They are built at a height of approximately 10 feet, but the people of this area neither visit nor revere them. We have advised them to demolish these mausoleums, but they refuse as they consider them monuments within the graveyard walls, and no one visits them. We hope your Eminence will kindly provide us with a written fatwa (legal opinion issued by a qualified scholar) so we can present it to the people in charge of our town to act accordingly.

A: Muslim authorities must demolish any structures built over graves, for they are of the means to Shirk (associating others in worship with Allah). The Prophet (peace be upon him) said to the Commander of the believers `Aly ibn Abu Talib (may Allah be pleased with him) \(Spare no portrait unwiped out and leave no high grave unleveled.\) It is also authentically reported that the Prophet (peace be upon him) \(forbade plastering graves, sitting on them, and building over them\) Compiled by Muslim in his Sahih from the Hadith narrated by Jabir ibn `Abdullah Al-Ansary (may Allah be pleased with both of them). Fatwa no. 21019

Q: I am a citizen of the Republic of Kazakhstan. There is a grave in my country for a man called Ahmad Al-Isawy which people visit to perform pilgrimage and acts of worship. What is the ruling on this? May Allah reward you. What is your advice to the Muslim brothers in Kazakhstan? May Allah reward you.

A: Islam is based on five pillars, which the Prophet (peace be upon him) clarified in his saying, «Islam is based on five pillars: testifying that there is no god but Allah and that Muhammad

is the Messenger of Allah, offering Salah \(Prayer\), giving Zakah, observing Sawm \(fasting\) in Ramadan and performing Hajj for those who are able to perform it.» The meaning of testifying that there is no God but Allah is that none should be worshipped but Allah. Thus, all forms of `Ibadah (worship), whether outward or inward, such as fear, hope, love, repentance, Salah (Prayer), Sawm (fasting), Hajj, vowing, slaughtering animals, Du`a' (supplication) and seeking help should be dedicated only to Allah. This is Tawhid (monotheism) other than which Allah does not accept, and which leads its believer to Jannah (Paradise) and away from Hellfire. This is shown in many texts of the Qur'an and the Sunnah, such as Allah's saying, «Worship Allâh and join none with Him \(in worship\)» His saying, «And verily, We have sent among every Ummah \(community, nation\) a Messenger \(proclaiming\): "Worship Allâh \(Alone\), and avoid \(or keep away from\) Tâghût \(all false deities i.e. do not worship Tâghût besides Allâh\).» His saying, «And I \(Allâh\) created not the jinn and mankind except that they should worship Me \(Alone\).» His saying, «Verily! Allâh forgives not \(the sin of\) setting up partners \(in worship\) with Him, but He forgives whom He wills sins other than that, and whoever sets up partners in worship with Allâh, has indeed strayed far away.» His saying, «and whoever sets up partners with Allâh \(in worship\), he has indeed invented a tremendous sin.» His saying, «Verily, whosoever sets up partners \(in worship\) with Allâh, then Allâh has forbidden Paradise to him, and the Fire will be his abode. And for the Zâlimûn \(polytheists and wrong-doers\) there are no helpers.»

His saying, «Say \(O Muhammad صلى الله عليه وسلم\): "Verily, my Salât \(prayer\), my sacrifice, my living, and my dying are for Allâh, the Lord of the `Alamîn \(mankind, jinn and all that exists\).» «He has no partner. And of this I have been commanded, and I am the first of the Muslims.» and His saying, «Therefore turn in prayer to your Lord and sacrifice \(to Him only\).» The Prophet (peace be upon him) also said, «Whoever dies while still invoking a rival \(in worship\) to Allah will enter Hellfire.» Related by Al-Bukhari in his Sahih (authentic) Book of Hadith. The Prophet (peace be upon him) also said, «Anyone who meets Allah without associating anything with Him will enter Jannah \(Paradise\); and anyone who meets Him associating \(anything\) with Him will enter Hellfire.» Related by Muslim in his Sahih Book of Hadith.

This is Tawhid which is Allah's right over His slaves. Those who give this right or some of it to anyone other than Allah have committed major Shirk (associating others with Allah in His Divinity or worship) and Kufr (disbelief), such as those who supplicate to the dead and seek their help to bring benefit or ward off harm, slaughter animals or make vows for them. Allah (Exalted be He) shows the error and delusion of those who supplicate to anyone other than Him in His saying, ﴿And invoke not besides Allâh, any such that will neither profit you nor harm you, but if (in case) you did so, you shall certainly be one of the Zâlimûn (polytheists and wrong-doers).﴾ ﴿And if Allâh touches you with harm, there is none who can remove it but He, and if He intends any good for you, there is none who can repel His Favour which He causes it to reach whomsoever of His slaves He wills. And He is the Oft-Forgiving, the Most Merciful.﴾

He (Glorified and Exalted be He) also says, ﴿Verily, those whom you worship besides Allâh have no power to give you provision: so seek your provision from Allâh (Alone), and worship Him (Alone), and be grateful to Him. To Him (Alone) you will be brought back.﴾ He (Glorified and Exalted be He) also says, ﴿And who is more astray than one who calls on (invokes) besides Allâh, such as will not answer him till the Day of Resurrection, and who are (even) unaware of their calls (invocations) to them?﴾ ﴿And when mankind are gathered (on the Day of Resurrection), they (false deities) will become their enemies and will deny their worshipping.﴾ He (Glorified be He) also says, ﴿Is not He (better than your gods) Who responds to the distressed one, when he calls on Him, and Who removes the evil, and makes you inheritors of the earth, generations after generations? Is there any ilâh (god) with Allâh? Little is that you remember!﴾ Thus, what the people of your village do of circumambulating around the grave to get closer to the dead man is considered a form of major Shirk (associating others with Allah in His Divinity or worship) that renders a person out of the fold of Islam. If they do it to get closer to Allah and think that doing it by the grave is a means for it to be accepted, this is innovated Tawassul (seeking to draw close to Allah through unlawful means) and a means leading to Shirk. They should perform Tawbah (repentance to Allah) of this deed and worship Allah Alone.

Everyone should learn the pillars of Islam and Iman (Faith) as they were mentioned in the Qur'an and the Sunnah, and as clarified by the scholars of Ahl-ul-Sunnah wal-Jama`ah (those adhering to the Sunnah and the Muslim main body).

They should also beware of committing deeds that invalidate Iman and Islam, whether Shirk or others. A person who is granted knowledge and understanding should call for Tawhid in the most suitable and useful ways. Allah (Exalted be He) says, ﴿And who is better in speech than he who [says: "My Lord is Allâh (believes in His Oneness)," and then stands firm (acts upon His Order), and] invites (men) to Allâh's (Islâmic Monotheism), and does righteous deeds, and says: "I am one of the Muslims."﴾ He (Glorified be He) also says, ﴿Say (O Muhammad صلى الله عليه وسلم): "This is my way; I invite unto Allâh (i.e. to the Oneness of Allâh - Islâmic Monotheism) with sure knowledge, I and whosoever follows me (also must invite others to Allâh i.e. to the Oneness of Allâh - Islâmic Monotheism with sure knowledge). And Glorified and Exalted be Allâh (above all that they associate as partners with Him). And I am not of the Mushrikûn (polytheists, pagans, idolaters and disbelievers in the Oneness of Allâh; those who worship others along with Allâh or set up rivals or partners to Allâh).﴾

The first question of Fatwa no. 21454

Q 1: It is customary when someone marries to go to the domed grave of the righteous man Sidi Muhammad Al-Salih. The bridegroom writes his name and his family name on the wall of the dome. He then lights some candles. When I asked some elders about this custom, they said that this pious Waliy recommended that the newlyweds visit him.

They told us that he died on his wedding night. People, thus considered his request obligatory and claim that anyone who does not go to the grave and write his name with henna, and lights some candles will become impotent or insane on his wedding night. We heard that when some newly married people disapproved of this habit and did not abide by it, they were afflicted with impotence, insanity, etc. This Waliy is buried alone in a private place, not in the cemetery. Is it permissible to follow them in this habit despite our knowledge that all good and evil are in the Hand of Allah?

What is the meaning of what happened to the newly married people who refused to visit the grave on their wedding night and were exposed to afflictions? They sought several medical treatments but all were in vain. They did not recover until they went to that Waliy, wrote their names with henna, and lit some candles.

Is someone who follows this practice considered a Mushrik (associating others with Allah in His Divinity or worship)? How do we treat people who do this out of fear that they will be inflicted with adversity? Please, advise! May Allah show mercy to and bless you, and benefit Muslims from your knowledge.

A: It is not permissible to visit the graves of the dead in order to be blessed by them or to ensure a happy marriage, or anything else. This is an act of disbelief because these needs are only asked from Allah. So you should abandon this evil practice and warn people against it.

As for the success achieved when they follow this custom and the problems they face when they do not, this does not validate this practice or its permissibility because this is a trial and test. Actions must be taken from the Shari'ah, not from customs.

The first question of Fatwa no. 21394

Q 1: In the city of Sidy Khalid, which is about 7 km from my town, there is a grave known as the grave of Khalid ibn Sanan. Many people come from far away to circumambulate around this grave and seek help from its dead occupant and they collect a lot of money there. This is usually done on the 26th of Ramadan every year. People gather 400 m or less around the grave that is in this graveyard to sell and purchase things. It has become an annual market and people come to it from as far away as 600 km or even more than that; we are not just talking about a local market, shaykh!

My question is: Can my religious brothers and I go to this market to buy and sell?

A: It is not permissible for you to travel to visit graves, because the Prophet (peace be upon him) said, "No journey should be made except to three Masjids (mosques): This Masjid of mine (Al-Masjid Al-Nabawy in Madinah), Al-Masjid Al-Haram (the Sacred Mosque in Makkah), and Al-Masjid Al-Aqsa (Al-Aqsa Mosque in Jerusalem)." Also, because this is a way to Shirk (associating others with Allah in His Divinity or worship). It is not permissible to circumambulate around graves or to rub their walls to get blessings from them, because this is Shirk and a way to it. It is also not permissible to go to the market that has been established around this grave, because this would involve cooperation in falsehood and support of this Munkar (that which is unacceptable or disapproved of by Islamic law and Muslims of sound intellect).

Fatwa no. 21847

Q: In Pakistan, there is a famous city named Pakpattan, where there is a shrine of a Sufi shaykh called Farid Al-Din Mas'ud, who died in 664 A.H. His shrine has two doors; one is open for visitors throughout the year and the other is open for only five days every year; starting from the fifth (5) of Muharram on the occasion of an annual feast set at the shrine. People there call this door "The door of Jannah (Paradise)", claiming that the Sufi shaykh Nizham Al-Din Awliya' saw the Prophet (peace be upon him) when the veil was removed before him and he told him that this door is the door of Jannah and that whoever passes through it will enter it. This is why every year hundreds of thousands of people jostle to pass through this door believing this claim, but this year more than 40 persons died while passing through this door

because of the crowd.

What is the Islamic ruling on this door?

What is the ruling on whoever believes it is the door of Jannah?

What is the ruling on those who pass through this door?

I hope that you will kindly answer us as soon as possible. May Allah reward you with the best reward and guide you to what pleases Him!

A: The Prophet (peace be upon him) forbade building over graves and ordered the demolishing of buildings constructed on them, for this is a means to shirk (associating others in worship with Allah). Thus, the mentioned shrine must be demolished by whoever is in charge. It is impermissible to seek its blessings or contribute to its maintenance, as this is a major shirk. Moreover, the claims spread about it are untrue and false superstitions. We ask Allah to keep us safe and sound.

Exaggerated veneration of the Messenger (peace be upon him)

Q 1: I heard some people say that anyone who is named Ahmad or Muhammad will not enter the Fire on the Day of Resurrection out of honor and glorification to the name of the Messenger (peace be upon him). However, I know some men who are named Ahmad and Muhammad yet oppose all that Allah has commanded us to do and the Messenger (peace be upon him) forbade us from. They do not observe Sawm (Fast) during Ramadan or offer the obligatory Salah (Prayer) and some of them even deny Allah's Existence! May we be protected from that! So, how is it possible that such people will enter Jannah (Paradise)?

A: What is mentioned in the question, that anyone who is named Muhammad or Ahmad will not enter the Fire on the Day of Resurrection, out of honor and glorification to the Messenger (peace be upon him), is not true. The Prophet (peace be upon him) called his closest kindred to Islam; he warned them and commanded them to abide by Tawhid (belief in the Oneness of Allah), and to become believers, then he announced to them all, “I can avail you nothing against Allah.” Every soul will be held in pledge for its deeds: it will receive the reward for whatever good it has earned, and it will be punished for whatever evil it has earned.

Q: I heard a shaykh saying that when the Messenger (peace be upon him) died, the Sahabah (Companions of the Prophet) hastened to bury him on the same day and offered the Funeral Prayer in groups over his body. They, then, continued to visit his grave and recite some Ayat (Qur'anic verses) asking Allah to have mercy on him. I would like Your Honor to fully explain two points stated by this shaykh, which are:

Firstly: Was the Messenger (peace be upon him) buried on the same day, or was he shrouded and left until the selection of Abu Bakr (may Allah be pleased with him) to lead the Muslim state and assume the caliphate? How long did this take? When was the Prophet (peace be upon him) buried?

Secondly: Did the Sahabah (Companions of the Prophet) really recite the Qur'an and visit the grave of the Messenger (peace be upon him) to ask Allah to be merciful with him after offering the Funeral Prayer over his body - as claimed by the shaykh?

A: The Messenger (peace be upon him) was not buried on the same day in which he died. It is not true that the Sahabah came successively to visit his grave and recite the Qur'an there.

Q: There is a question fired by those who excessively revere the graves of righteous people and Mu'tadi's (those who introduce innovations in religion) to whom they call people. They attack us claiming that Imam Ahmad (may Allah have mercy on him) permitted rubbing and kissing of the Minbars (pulpits) and graves of righteous people with the intention of drawing close to Allah. They cite in support the book entitled Al-Jami' Fi Al-'Ilal Wa Ma'rifat Al-Rijal, more specifically the narration of 'Abdullah, Salih Al-Marwadhay and Al-Maymuny vol. 2, p. 23, no. 250 which reads: "I asked him about the man who rubs and kisses the Minbar of the Prophet (peace be upon him) seeking his blessing and does the same at his grave, seeking to draw close to Allah (Glorified and Exalted be He). He answered: "There is no harm in this."

Kindly, guide me and provide me with a satisfactory answer, for it gives rise to a strange Fitnah (sedition) among the youth who are not firm in knowledge. Can this statement be attributed to Imam Ahmad (may Allah be merciful with him)?

A: rubbing the remaining relics of the Prophet, his grave and Minbar is not permissible, as it is a means leading to Shirk (associating others with Allah in His Divinity or worship). If this is done with the aim of seeking blessing, it will be Shirk. Shaykh-ul-Islam Ibn Taymiyyah said, "The scholars agreed that the visitor of the grave of the Prophet (peace be upon him) or of other prophets, righteous people, Sahabah (Companions of the Prophet), Ahl-ul-Bayt (members of the Prophet's extended Muslim family) or others should not wipe or kiss any of these things. Moreover, no inanimate object is lawful to be kissed [out of reverence] except for Al-Hajar Al-Aswad (the Black Stone in a corner of the Ka'bah). It was authentically reported in the Two Sahih (authentic) Books of Hadith (i.e. Al-Bukhari and Muslim) that 'Umar (may Allah be pleased with him) said, when kissing Al-Hajar Al-Aswad, "By Allah I know that you are but a stone that brings no benefit and causes no harm. Had it not been that I saw the Messenger of Allah (peace be upon him) kissing you, I would not have kissed you." Therefore, it is not an act of Sunnah, according to the consensus of the Four Imams (Abu Hanifah, Malik, Al-Shafi'y, and Ahmad), to kiss or touch the corners of Al-Bayt (the House: another name for the Ka'bah) which are beside Al-Hajar Al-Aswad or the walls of Al-Bayt, or Maqam Ibrahim (the Station of Ibrahim) or the Rock near Al-Masjid Al-Aqsa (the Aqsa Mosque in Jerusalem) or the grave of any of the prophets and righteous people. The scholars differed as to the ruling on putting the hand on the Minbar of the Messenger of Allah (peace be upon him) when it existed. Malik held the view that it is Makruh (reprehensible), for it is Bid'ah (innovation in religion). It was reported that when Malik saw 'Ata' doing this, he did not attend his religious circles. The narration attributed to Ahmad with regard to permissibility of this act is weak. Likewise, the narration of Ibn 'Umar concerning touching the Minbar cannot be used as a proof, for it is contrary to other established proofs and contrary to what was authentically reported from Amir Al-Mu'minin (Commander of the Believers) 'Umar ibn Al-Khattab (may Allah be pleased with him). It is not permissible to act in contradiction to the evidence, because the Prophet (peace be upon him) stated, "Anyone who does an action which is not in accordance with this matter of ours \(Islam\) will have it rejected.)

The first question of Fatwa no. 17457

Q 1: What is the ruling on wiping the walls and the steel bars of the Prophet's grave while visiting it?

A: Upon visiting the Prophet's grave (peace be upon him), it is recommended to send peace on him and his two Companions Abu Bakr and `Umar (may Allah be pleased with them). This was the practice of the Sahabah (companions of the Prophet), Tabi`un (the generation after the Companions of the Prophet), the next generation of the best centuries and those who adopted their way. As for wiping the walls and the steel bars of the windows of the room where he was buried, it is a Bid`ah (innovation in Islam) and one of the means to Shirk (associating others in worship with Allah). A Muslim must abandon this prohibited practice and warn others against it.

Q: Did the Barakah (blessings) of the Messenger (peace be upon him) end with his death?

A: Tabarruk (seeking blessings) from the Messenger (peace be upon him), his sweat, and the water he used for 'Wudu' (ablution) was permissible during his lifetime, for it was possible to obtain these things and seek Tabarruk from them. However, this is not permissible after his death, as these things ended with his death and can no longer be obtained.

The third question of Fatwa no. 17248

Q 3: What is the ruling on excessively praising the Prophet (peace be upon him)? What is your opinion in this saying: "O Allah, send Your blessings on Muhammad, the cure and treatment of hearts, the good health and remedy of bodies, and the light of sights" while the person believes in these meanings?

A: These words are full of exaggeration and extremism in praising the Prophet (peace be upon him). The Prophet (peace be upon him) prohibited this kind of exaggeration when he said, «Do not exaggerate in praising me as the Christians praised the son of Maryam \(Mary\).» This description makes the Prophet (peace be upon him) a source of treatment and cure of sicknesses. Indeed, this matter is only within Allah's Power. Al-Khalil (Prophet Ibrahim) said, «And when I am ill, it is He who cures me.» So the belief that the Messenger (peace be upon him)

Q 1: In your respected magazine, issue 37 and precisely in the Fatawa corner, I read the Fatwa no. 5783 which states that reading Qasidah Al-Burdah (The Poem of the Cloak) is a Bid`ah (innovation in religion) and you quoted a Hadith as evidence. You also added that there is no reward in reading this poem; rather some of its verses include major Shirk (associating others with Allah in His Divinity or worship). For example, the poet writes:

Most generous of mankind, I have no one to take refuge in Except you at occurrence of widespread calamity
If at my resurrection, you do not take me by my hand
Out of kindness, then say O the slipping of my foot until the end of the poem.

My question is: How can Shirk be detected in the verses?

A: The verses contain Shirk because the poet seeks refuge in other than Allah at the time of calamity on the Day of Resurrection. Seeking refuge in other than Allah is Shirk because it is a kind of worship that is dedicated only to Allah. Moreover, the poet describes this world and the Hereafter as one of the bounties of the Prophet (peace be upon him) and this is definitely false, a sort of exceeding the proper limits, and a kind of dispossessing the sovereignty of Allah (Glorified and Exalted be He). Finally, he writes that of the Prophet's knowledge is his knowledge of Al-Lawh-ul-Mahfuzh (the Preserved Tablet) and the Pen. This description denotes that he knows the Ghayb (the Unseen) while Allah (Glorified be He) states: \(Say: "None in the heavens and the earth knows the Ghaib \(Unseen\) except Allâh"\)

The fourth question of Fatwa no. 17626

Q 4: Many people claim that Allah created the universe for the sake of the Prophet (peace be upon him) and that were it not for the Prophet, Paradise and Hellfire would not have been created. They also claim that he is created from light. How can we refute these claims?

A: The claim that the universe was created for the sake of Muhammad (peace be upon him) and that he is created from light is false and a kind of extravagance and exaggeration. Allah has created mankind to worship Him. Allah (Exalted be He) says, ﴿And I (Allâh) created not the jinn and mankind except that they should worship Me (Alone).﴾ and ﴿He has created the heavens and the earth with truth.﴾ The Prophet (peace be upon him) is a man who was created in the same way as mankind; namely, through a father and a mother. Allah says, ﴿Say (O Muhammad صلى الله عليه وسلم): "I am only a man like you.﴾ Moreover,

Paradise and Hellfire are created as a reward and a punishment for the deeds of man. Paradise is the home of the pious people, whereas Hellfire is the home of the Kaffirs (disbelievers).

Q: In Al-Azhar Magazine, (vol. 4, issue 69 - Rabi` Thany 1417 A.H., p. 540), I read a poem called, "Longing" by Ibrahim `Eisa marking the occasion of the Mawlid (the Prophet's birthday). I have doubts regarding some of its verses for they include seeking help from other than Allah. The poem reads as follows:

O my master! O you the best creature and the splendid light!
Save the truth, for it is about to be erased by a fool
O Prophet! You are the epitome of every good
O my beloved! Offer your graces for they are thirst-quenching
My longing for you is an invocation and an echoing voice
Choose me! Shelter me! For my heart is pure
My heart yearns for my beloved and is watered by my tears
What a great honor, I chant, if I come close to you!

Please, show what is appropriate and what is not in these verses. May Allah reward you the best for helping Muslims understand their religion.

A: This poem is an invocation and an appeal to the Messenger of Allah (peace be upon him) after his death regarding matters that Allah Alone can do. The verses contain some polytheistic phrases such as, "Save the truth! For it is about to be erased by a fool", "O my beloved! Offer your graces for they are thirst-quenching" and "Choose me! Shelter me!" To believe in these matters is Kufr (disbelief) that may drive a person out of Islam, Allah Forbid! A person should perform sincere Tawbah (repentance to Allah) of this and dedicate all acts of `Ibadah (worship) such as Du`a' (supplication) and Istighathah (seeking help) to Allah only. In addition, a person should believe that Allah (Glorified be He) is the only Sustainer Who can extend benefit and afflict Harm.

Q: I found the attached poem and read it only to find that it includes verses entailing Shirk (associating others with Allah in His Divinity or worship), such as "If it were not for you, no human would have been created...". A: This poem is a lie against Imam Abu Hanifah (may Allah be merciful with him). It is, thus, not permissible to attribute it to him. Also, the poem includes verses that exceed proper limits and excessively praise the Messenger of Allah (peace be upon him), and this is definitely prohibited. Moreover, it includes Tawassul (supplicating to Allah in the name of a human being) and Du`a' (supplication) to the Messenger (peace be upon him), which should not be done nor believed in, as this is Shirk or may lead to Shirk. Anyone who finds this poem must get rid of it, warn against it, and not propagate for it.

Q: People circulate some pictures of the prophet's room, which includes the graves of the Prophet (peace be upon him) and his two Companions (may Allah be pleased with them both). Also, there are pictures bearing some Ayahs (Qur'anic verses) and on the back a phrase expressing that these pictures are made as a Waqf (endowment) for the sake of Allah on behalf of a particular deceased person. People usually exchange these pictures on some occasions such as 'Eids and the New Hijri Year. We would like to hear your Fatwa in this regard in order to enlighten people.

A: It is not permissible to distribute these pictures due to the evils which result, such as exceeding proper limits, Tabarruk (seeking blessings) through them, and exposing the Ayahs and Names of Allah (Exalted be He) to desecration. Also, it is not permissible to print or distribute the pictures that bear Qur'anic Ayahs and have a phrase on the back indicating that they are endowed for the sake of Allah on behalf of a particular deceased person. In doing so, there is a sort of disrespect when the pictures are taken for decoration. Indeed, the Words of Allah are far exalted above that. Additionally, such pictures cannot be made as a Waqf, since there is no Shar'y (Islamically lawful) benefit that can be drawn from using them according to the way mentioned.

Q: Please, explain the legal opinion in respect of looking at and spreading this photo which I received by email and the translation of the caption below it which is as follows: this is the picture of the Prophet's Rawdah (the area between the Prophet's pulpit and grave). People are not allowed to see it, for it is not open for visitors. The number of Muslims who had the chance to see it is one out of 10%. Please, pass it to all you know for the sake of spiritual benefits. May Allah bless us all "Amen". This is the translation of what has been written hereunder. Please, advise about the ruling on looking at and spreading them.

My second question is: How do we define Shirk to laypeople and how can we know and protect ourselves from it, because many people believe that such pictures may benefit or harm in someway or another, because it is the picture of the Prophet's grave (if it really is). Could you explain this important issue. May Allah reward you with the best.

A: It is not permissible to spread these pictures, for spreading them is a means to Shirk by seeking blessing from and being attached to them. They must be destroyed and people should be warned against them because the Prophet (peace be upon him) warned against exaggeration at his grave or any other grave. He said, «O Allah! Do not make my grave an idol that is worshipped.» And he (peace be upon him) said, «Do not make my grave a place that you frequent \(to invoke Allah's blessings on me\), but invoke blessings on me \(without visiting my grave frequently\) for your blessings reach me wherever you may be.» The Prophet (peace be upon him) said, «You must not take graves as Masjids \(mosques\), I forbid you to do this.» i.e. do not offer Salah (prayer) in their area, because this is a means leading to Shirk.

Q: As it is clear for you, may Allah protect you, many plots are being made nowadays against this religion to undermine the `Aqidah (creed) and spread acts of Bid`ah (innovation in religion) all over Islamic Ummah (nation) by the enemies of Allah (Exalted be He) and religion. However, people may neglect small things that grow to become serious problems that become hard to stand up to, as happened with the people of Nuh and their statues. Please find attached herewith some of the patterns that grew to become very serious to the extent of holding comparisons between Allah (Glorified be He) on one hand and the Prophet, (peace be upon him) on the other. I do not know what worse could happen than this. The fellows at the Committee of Observing the Abominable Acts in `Aqidah have written this small leaflet that I hope you will read and provide us with your comments. Perhaps this may help to remove such evil. May Allah guide you and benefit His Servants by you, and enjoy your life in worshipping Him, Amen.

A: It is not permissible to write the Exalted Name "Allah" and "Muhammad" (peace be upon him) parallel to each other on a paper, portrait or a wall. This act includes excessive reverence to the Messenger (peace be upon him); it also includes equality to Allah (Exalted be He), leading to a means of Shirk (associating others with Allah in His Divinity or worship). The Prophet (peace be upon him) said, Do not overpraise me as the Christians did with the son of Maryam (Mary), for I am only a servant (of Allah). Therefore you should say (about me) "the Servant and Messenger of Allah." Therefore, such portraits or papers should not be hung. Any similar writings on a wall should also be wiped out, to protect the `Aqidah (creed) and act in accordance with the recommendation of the Messenger (peace be upon him).

The third question of the Fatwa no. 19272

Q 3: How accurate is the claim that when Allah sent Adam (peace be upon him) out of Paradise, he invoked Allah to forgive his sin by the honor of Muhammad, whose name is written in Paradise? The story states that when Adam did so, Allah forgave his sin. Adam supplicated to Allah to allow him to see Muhammad (peace be upon him) and Allah let him see the image of Muhammad (peace be upon him) on the nails of his thumbs whereby he rubbed his eyes. Thus, it has become a custom among some non-Arabs to kiss the nails of their thumbs and rub them against their eyes upon hearing the name of the Prophet (peace be upon him). Actually, we have never heard this before.

We ask Allah to guide you to work for the good and the best interest of the Muslim Ummah. We ask Him to grant you success and guard you - indeed, He is All-Hearer and Responsive.

A: The reports that mention Adam's Tawassul (supplicating to Allah) in the name of Muhammad (peace be upon them both) are baseless, and every action based on such reports are unfounded as well.

Q 2: Is it true what is said, that anyone who recites the following Du'a' (supplication) 12,000 times shall see the Prophet (peace be upon him): O Allah! Send Your Blessings and Peace upon our master, Muhammad, the Unlettered Qurayshy Prophet, the Sea of Your Lights, the Mine of Your Secrets, the Eye of Your Protection, the Tongue of Your Proof, the best of all Your creation, the most beloved of all creatures to You, Your Slave and Your Prophet by whom You confirmed the mission of all Your Prophets and Messengers; and upon his family and Sahabah (Companions)?

A: sending graces and blessings upon the Prophet (peace be upon him) in the formula mentioned in the question is a baseless Bid'ah (innovation in religion); there is no evidence for this in the Qur'an or the Sunnah (whatever is reported from the Prophet). It is obligatory on all Muslims to not do this. They should restrict themselves to narrations that are authentically reported from the Messenger of Allah (peace be upon him) regarding how to send blessings on him. These are sufficient and in them lies all goodness, In sha'a-Allah (if Allah wills). An example of the way to send graces and blessings upon the Prophet (peace be upon him) is the Hadith reported by Muslim, Al-Bukhari, Ahmad, and Al-Nasa'y (may Allah be merciful to them all), on the authority of Abu Mas'ud Al-Ansary (may Allah be pleased with him), who said, ["The Messenger of Allah \(peace be upon him\) came to us while we were sitting in the company of Sa'd ibn 'Ubadah, when Bashir ibn Sa'd said to him, 'Allah \(may He be Exalted\) commanded us to send blessings upon you, but how should we send blessings upon you?' The Messenger of Allah \(peace be upon him\) fell silent until we wished he had not asked him. Then the Messenger of Allah \(peace be upon him\) said, 'Say: O Allah! Another example is the Hadith related in the Two Sahih \(authentic\) Books of Hadith \(i.e. Al-Bukhari and Muslim\) on the authority of Ka'b ibn 'Ujrah \(may Allah be pleased with him\), who reported that when the Prophet \(peace be upon him\) was asked about the way of sending graces and blessings on him, he answered, saying, \["Say: O Allah! Send Salah \\(Graces, Honours, Blessings, Mercy\\) upon Muhammad and upon the Family of Muhammad as You have sent Salah upon Ibrahim \\(Abraham\\) and upon the Family of Ibrahim, You are indeed Worthy of Praise, Full of Glory."\]\(#\)](#)

He advised our Prophet to return to Allah and ask him to reduce the daily obligatory prayers from fifty to five. Also, how can we claim that the Messenger (peace be upon him), the best of creation, avails us nothing after his death?

and what happened with the other prophets whose dead bodies exist in their graves on earth are a special case and one of the miraculous supernatural events restricted only to the Prophet. Allah is over all things competent. The prophets are dead and lead in their graves a life of Barzakh (period between death and the Resurrection). Allah relieved their bodies from decay. However, this case or any other does not indicate that the prophets or any other dead people can avail or harm living people.

May Allah grant us success! May peace and blessings of Allah be upon our Prophet Muhammad, his family and Companions!

Isra' and Mi'raj

The first question of Fatwa no. 20530

Q 1: the Qur'an mentions that our Prophet Muhammad (peace be upon him) was taken up to the heavens on the Night Journey from Al-Masjid Al-Haram (the Sacred Mosque in Makkah) to Al-Masjid Al-Aqsa (the Aqsa Mosque in Jerusalem) and from there he was taken up to Sidrat Al-Muntah (The Lote Tree of the Utmost Boundary over the Seventh Heaven beyond which none can pass). According to one of the Hadith, the Prophet (peace be upon him) met with our master Musa (Moses, peace be upon him) who advised him that he should entreat Allah (Glorified and Exalted be He) to reduce the number of the daily Salahs (Prayers) from fifty to five. Another Hadith states that when our Prophet (peace be upon him) was on his journey to Al-Masjid Al-Aqsa (the Aqsa Mosque in Jerusalem), he met Prophet Musa (peace be upon him) in his grave. I think that the Jews fabricated this Hadith to exalt Prophet Musa (peace be upon him) and show that he was preferred over our Prophet Muhammad (peace be upon him). Please satisfy our thirst for the truth from your deep knowledge of Islam.

A: It is confirmed by the Qur'an and Hadith Mutawatir (a Hadith reported by a significant number of narrators throughout the chain of narration, whose agreement upon a lie is impossible) that the Prophet (peace be upon him) was taken on a Night Journey (Isra') from Al-Masjid Al-Haram to Al-Masjid Al-Aqsa, and then up to the Seventh Heaven (Mi'raj). There he saw some prophets, some astonishing scenes, Jannah (Paradise) and Hellfire. There Allah (Glorified and Exalted be He) spoke to the Prophet (peace be upon him) with no intermediary and enjoined on him fifty Salahs. But the Prophet (peace be upon him) kept on returning to His Lord, asking Him to lighten the duty, until Allah (may He be Blessed and Exalted) reduced it to five Salahs in practice, but fifty in reward.

All praise and thanks are due to Allah Alone!

It is confirmed in the Hadith Sahih (a Hadith that has been transmitted by people known for their uprightness and exactitude; free from eccentricity and blemish) that the Prophet (peace be upon him) saw Musa (peace be upon him) in the Sixth Heaven and it was he who advised our Prophet (peace be upon him) that he should go back to Allah (may He be Blessed and Exalted) to ask him to reduce the number of Salahs. This is confirmed in the Two Sahih (authentic) Books of Hadith (i.e. Al-Bukhari and Muslim) and others.

It is also authentically reported in "Sahih Muslim", "Musnad Al-Imam Ahmad", "Sunan Al-Nasa'y", and "Sahih Ibn Hibban", on the authority of Anas (may Allah be pleased with him) that the Prophet (peace be upon him) said, "I passed by Musa near the red mound on the night I was taken on the Nightly Journey \(Isra'\), and he was standing in prayer in his grave." All this is truth, which Muslims must believe in and acknowledge. It is confirmed that the Messenger of Allah (peace be upon him) saw Musa (peace be upon him) in his grave performing Salah and that he also saw him in the heavens, and Allah has power over all things. It is not permissible to deny what has been confirmed in the authentic texts reported from the Prophet (peace be upon him) due to bewilderment of minds at it, comparing the world of the Ghayb (the Unseen) or Barzakh (period between death and the Resurrection) to life in this world, or by claiming that they are just fabricated by the Jews. All of this is error, misguidance and deviation from the Straight Path.

Tawassul

Q 2: Is it permissible for a person to make Dhikr (Remembrance of Allah) by saying: "O Allah! You are All, from You comes all, to You refers all, by Your Grace lives all, and You are raised above all. I ask You by Your Mercy O Most Merciful"?

A: This formula of Tawassul (supplicating to Allah in the name of/by the virtue of...) is baseless in Shari'ah (Islamic law); the Tawassul that is Islamically permissible is that a servant beseeches Allah in the name of one's Iman (belief) in Him or righteous good deeds. Allah (Exalted be He) says: ﴿And \(all\) the Most Beautiful Names belong to Allāh, so call on Him by them﴾ It is related in the Sunan (Hadith compilations classified by jurisprudential themes) on the authority of 'Abdullah ibn Buraydah from his father that ﴿The Messenger of Allah \(peace be upon him\) heard a man saying, 'O Allah! I beg You in the name of my bearing witness that You are Allah, there in no god but You, the One God, the Self-Sufficient Sustainer of all, Who begets not, nor was He begotten, and there is none coequal or comparable to Him.' He \(peace be upon him\) said, "You have begged Allah by His Name which, when begged by it, He gives, and when supplicated by it, He answers.﴾ Also, it is related in the Two Sahih (authentic) Books of Hadith (i.e. Al-Bukhari and Muslim) on the authority of 'Abdullah ibn 'Umar (may Allah be pleased with them both) that he heard the

Messenger of Allah (peace be upon him) saying, ﴿Three persons while walking were overtaken by rain, so they sought refuge in a cave in a mount; but a rock fell down the mountain and closed the mouth of their cave. Some of them said to the others, "Think of righteous deeds which you did for the Sake of Allah, and supplicate to Allah \(may He be Exalted\) in their name, perhaps He may remove it for you." One of them said, "O Allah! I had my two old parents, my wife and little children to look after. Whenever I brought back my herd from the pasture, I would draw the milk and serve it first to my parents before my children. One day the quest for pasture took me far, so I only returned in the evening to find them both asleep. So, I drew the milk as I used to, then took it and stood close at their heads, hating to wake them from their sleep and hating to hand it first to my children to drink, who were crying of hunger at my feet. I and them remained thus until the break of dawn. \(O Allah\)! If You know that I have done that only seeking Your Face \(Pleasure\), open up a way in it for us through which we can see the sky." So, a way was opened in it for them through which they saw the sky. Another said, "O Allah! I had a cousin whom I loved the strongest kind of love a man can feel for a woman, and I asked her herself but she refused until I would bring her a hundred Dinars. So, I struggled until I collected a hundred Dinars and went to her with them. But when I sat between her legs, she said, 'Slave of Allah! Fear Allah, and do not break the seal \(i.e. take her virginity\), except by its right \(i.e. marriage\).' So, I got off her. O Allah! If You know that I have done that only seeking Your Face, open up a way in it for us." So, a way was further opened in it for them.﴾

The third said, "O Allah! I hired a worker for a Faraq of rice and when he finished his job, he said, 'Give me my right.' So, I offered to him his Faraq, but he refused to take it.' So, I kept sowing it (the rice) until I gathered from it (the yield) cows and their herdsman. He then came to me and said, 'Fear Allah and do not deprive me of my right.' I said, 'Go to these cows and their herdsman and take them.' He said, 'Fear Allah and do not mock me!' I said, 'I am not mocking you, take these cows and their herdsman.' So, he took them and went away. If you know that I have done that only seeking Your Face, open up the rest of it for us." So, Allah opened the rest.﴾

Q: What is the difference between al-Tawassul al-Shirky (seeking to draw close to allah through polytheistic means) and al-Tawassul al-Bid`y (seeking to draw close to allah through heretic means)? May Allah reward you with the best.

A: Al-Tawassul Al-Shirky refers to the case when a suppliant draws near to whom he is supplicating by performing acts of worship such as sacrificing, vowing, seeking help, and supplicating just as they used to do in the Pre-Islamic era. Allah states, ﴿And they worship besides Allâh things that harm them not, nor profit them, and they say: "These are our intercessors with Allâh."﴾

For example, the acts of disbelief practiced by grave worshippers around shrines such as calling the dead, offering sacrifices, and making vows to them.

As for Al-Tawassul Al-Bid`y, it refers to the case when a suppliant supplicates Allah through the status or the right of a prophet, a Waliy (pious person), or a righteous person without offering them any act of worship.

The third question of Fatwa no. 17058

Q 3: Some people say in their invocation, "O Allah! We ask You by means of Your Messengers to heal, provide us with sustenance, etc.", is this act permissible?

A: It is not permissible to use tawassul (supplicating to Allah) by virtue of the status of the prophets or other people. For example saying 'I ask You by virtue of Your prophets' is an oath by means of creation that Allah should do something. It is a Bid'ah (innovation in religion) and a means to Shirk. It is permissible for a Muslim to seek help by Allah's Names, Attributes, and belief in Him, and by virtue of their good deeds.

Fatwa no. 18461

Q: A seeker of knowledge in Indonesia enquires about the validity of Tawassul (supplicating to Allah by virtue of the status of) the dead righteous people and prophets. The concerned learner would like to know your opinion regarding a book that mentions that such Tawassul is not only permissible but also Sunnah (a commendable act). The author adds that Tawassul in question was practiced by prophets, messengers, and our Salaf (righteous predecessors). He proceeds that no scholar rejected Tawassul except Shaykh Al-Islam Ibn Taymiyah. The author, who claims to be affiliated with Ahl-ul-Sunnah wal-Jama'ah (those adhering to the Sunnah and the Muslim main body), states that it is permissible to make Tawassul by the Prophet (peace be upon him) before his birth, during his lifetime, and after his death. He quotes proofs for all this and arrogates that Ahmad made Tawassul by Al-Shafi'y and that Al-Shafi'y made Tawassul by Abu Hanifah. He seeks evidence in some sayings that he attributes to some righteous scholars. The author also mentions that Du'a' (supplication) made by the graves or righteous people is accepted. Please tell us about your opinion regarding all this. Are the Hadiths mentioned by the concerned author such as the one on Adam's sin and that on Tawassul by Al-'Abbas Sahih (authentic)? Regarding the second Hadith, did such an incidence happen during the lifetime of Al-'Abbas or after his death? It may be worth mentioning that the concerned Indonesian brother works as a driver and prays with me every day in the Masjid (mosque). Attached are sixteen pages of the book in question that the Indonesian brother photocopied. Please, advise!

A: First: Making Tawassul by prophets and Awliya' (pious people) is Bid'ah (innovation in religion) and a means to Shirk (associating others with Allah in His Divinity or worship). However, making Tawassul by Du'a' of live prophets and Awliya' for a person is permissible. Evidence for this is that when Muslims suffered from drought, they made Tawassul by Du'a' of the Prophet (peace be upon him) i.e. they asked him to make Du'a' for rain. Moreover, a blind man made Tawassul by the Prophet so that he (peace be upon him) asked Allah (may He be exalted) for the man to restore his eyesight and Allah (Exalted be He) responded to His Prophet's invocation.

On the other hand, making Tawassul by a person's belief in prophets and their love and obedience to them is a good deed and a means to draw close to Allah (Glorified and Exalted be He) whether done when prophets are alive or after their death. The same applies to making Tawassul by a person's love and copying of righteous people. Conversely, making Tawassul through asking dead prophets or righteous people to make Du'a' for a person is Shirk. This is because a deceased person is not in a state to be asked to make Du'a' or anything else for anyone.

As for making Tawassul by honor of the prophets or righteous people or swearing oaths by them or by their merits in the sight of Allah; all this is a sort of impermissible Tawassul that is equivalent to Bid'ah. Following is a Fatwa that we issued previously on this matter: Question: Is it permissible for Muslims to make Tawassul by prophets and pious people? It is worth mentioning that I read a viewpoint by some scholars to the effect that making Tawassul by Awliya' is permissible as Du`a' is directed only to Allah (Exalted be He). Nevertheless, I came across some other different opinions. Could you please tell me the correct ruling on this issue?

Answer: A waliy is whoever believes in Allah, fears Him, conforms to His commands, and refrains from His prohibitions. Allah (Exalted be He) says: (No doubt! Verily, the Auliya' of Allâh [i.e. those who believe in the Oneness of Allâh and fear Allâh much (abstain from all kinds of sins and evil deeds which he has forbidden), and love Allâh much (perform all kinds of good deeds which He has ordained)], no fear shall come upon them nor shall they grieve.) (Those who believed (in the Oneness of Allâh - Islâmic Monotheism), and used to fear Allâh much (by abstaining from evil deeds and sins and by doing righteous deeds).)

Making Tawassul to Allah (Exalted be He) through His Awliya` is of four kinds:

1- That a person asks a Waliy who is alive to make Du`a' for them that Allah grants them abundant Rizq (sustenance), cures them from a specific disease, guides them to truth, makes them successful, etc. Such type of Tawassul is permissible. Evidence for this is that when the Sahabah (Companions of the Prophet) suffered from drought, they asked the Prophet (peace be upon him) to make Du`a' for rain. The Prophet did so and Allah (Exalted be He) responded to His Prophet's invocation and it consequently rained. Another proof is when the Sahabah asked Al-`Abbas during the caliphate of `Umar (may Allah be pleased with them all) to make Du`a' for rain. Whereupon Al-`Abbas invoked His Lord and all other Sahabah said Amen" behind him. Besides, it was the common practice of the Sahabah during the lifetime of the Prophet (peace be upon him) to make Du`a' for each other that Allah might grant them goodness and protect them against evil.

2- That a person calls upon Allah while making Tawassul by his love for Prophet Muhammad (peace be upon him), his obedience to him, and his love to Awliya'. Such type of Tawassul is also permissible. A person thus may say: "O Allah! I ask you by virtue of my love to your Prophet (peace be upon him), my obedience to him, and my love for Awliya' that you may grant me so and so." This is equivalent to supplicating to Allah by virtue of a person's good deeds which is permissible as it is authentically reported that the three people were confined in the cave and made Tawassul by their good deeds.

3- To ask Allah by virtue of the honor of His prophets or Awliya' by saying such as: "O Allah! I ask You by virtue of the honor of Your Prophet or of Al-Husayn, etc." This type of Tawassul is not permissible. Although the honor of Awliya' is of great status in the sight of Allah (Exalted be He) especially that of Prophet Muhammad (peace be upon him), making such Tawassul is not a Shar`y (Islamic legal) reason for the acceptance of Du`a'. When the Sahabah (may Allah be pleased with them all) faced drought after the death of the Prophet; they did not make Tawassul by virtue of the Prophet's honor. Instead, they made Tawassul by asking the Prophet's uncle i.e. Al-`Abbas to make Du`a' for rain. The Sahabah did so though the status of the Prophet is higher than the honor of all other people. Yet, no narration is available to the effect that the Sahabah - who belonged to the best generation and were the most loving to the Prophet and knowledgeable of his status - made Tawassul by the Prophet (peace be upon him) after his death.

4- If a person asks Allah (Exalted be He) for their need while swearing an oath by Allah's Waliy or Prophet or by their honor, this type of Tawassul is not permissible for since swearing an oath by one of the creatures of Allah to ask another creature of Allah to do something is Haram (prohibited), such a prohibition is more emphatic with regard to swearing an oath by one of the creatures of Allah to ask Allah - the Creator - to do something. In addition, Allah (Exalted be He) does not owe a created being any right. In other words, a person's obedience to Allah (Glorified be He) does not qualify them to swear an oath that Allah may do a certain thing.

This division of types of Tawassul is not only supported by authentic proofs but it also protects Islamic `Aqidah (creed) and blocks the means to Shirk. May peace and blessings be upon our Prophet Muhammad, his family, and Companions!

Secondly: Calling upon Allah (Exalted be He) by graves is Bid`ah and a means to Shirk as it leads to invoking the deceased. Hence, `Aly ibn Al-Husayn blamed the man who used to go to a gap by the grave of the Prophet (peace be upon him) for making Du`a'. `Aly and said to such man: "I will inform you of a Hadith that I heard from my father who heard from the Prophet (peace be upon him): \(Do not make my grave a place of worship and do not make your houses graves \(by not offering voluntary Prayer in them\), but invoke blessings on me, for your blessings reach me wherever you may be.\) Narrated in Al-Mukhtarah Collection of Hadith.

Since the foregoing Hadith prohibits making the Prophet's grave a place of worship, the same prohibition is more emphatic with regard to all other graves.

Q: Some people supplicate to Allah by the Prophet (peace be upon him). Does this supplication conform to Islamic `Aqidah (creed)?

A: supplicating to Allah by His creatures is not permissible and is a prohibited form of Tawassul (supplicating to Allah by virtue or the status of) and swearing by other than Allah, because Allah is not obliged to do anything. It is lawful for a Muslim to make Tawassul by His Names and Attributes, or one's good deeds, such as belief in Allah and His Messenger, dutifulness to parents and the like.

Q: Attached is a copy of a Du'a' (supplication) distributed by some immigrants to be said in Safar. The Du'a' includes: "O Allah! By the virtue of the status of Al-Hasan, his brother, grandfather, and father, spare us the evil on that day and what takes place on it, O All-Sufficient One! \(So Allâh will suffice for you against them. And He is the All-Hearer, the All-Knower.\) Allah (Alone) is Sufficient for us, and He is the Best Disposer of affairs (for us) and there is neither might nor power except with Allah, the Most High, the Most Great.

O Allah! We ask You by Your Beautiful Names, Perfect Words, and the honor of Your Prophet, our leader Muhammad (peace be upon him), to protect us and save us from Your affliction, for You are the Only One Who wards off afflictions. O Reliever of distresses! Relieve our distress and remove from us the distresses which have been destined for us in this year, for You are Omnipotent over all things." I hope Your Honor will examine this Du'a'.

A: This is an innovated Du'a' in terms of being specified to be said at a certain time.

It also includes Tawassul (supplicating to Allah by virtue of the status of...) by Al-Hasan, Al-Husayn, the honor of the Messenger (peace be upon him), and names which are given to Allah although they are stated neither in the Qur'an nor in the Sunnah (whatever is reported from the Prophet). It is not permissible to name Allah (Glorified be He) except with what He has named Himself in His Book or revealed to His Messenger Muhammad (peace be upon him). Tawassul by people or by the virtue of their status in Du'a' is a Bid'ah (innovation in religion), and every Bid'ah is misguidance and a means to Shirk (associating others with Allah in His Divinity or worship). Accordingly, the circulation of this Du'a' should be prevented in addition to getting rid of any of its copies. It seems that it is innovated by the Shi'ah (Shi'ites).

Dawud. Would you please - if the phrase is legally unacceptable -warn the newspaper and the writer against it.

A: Yes, the phrase: "We make Tawassul to You through Allah" is like, "We seek Shafa`ah (intercession) to you through Allah, the Almighty." The Prophet (peace be upon him) prohibited it and got angry when he heard it, for it is an offence against Allah. It indicates that the intercessor is less in rank than the one before whom intercession is made. The person who said this phrase should repent to Allah (Glorified and Exalted be He) and determine not to use such phrases that breach the `Aqidah (Creed).

Sorcery

A: A sorcerer is a person who ties knots and blows into them or makes polytheistic incantations that contain names of some devils and Jinn and statements which are not understandable. amazing feats. What is the Shari`ah ruling on these feats and the entertainers who perform them? What is the ruling on hosting and watching them?

A: Breaking stones on someone's chest, laying on sharp nails and tools, bending metal beams with someone's eyes, pulling cars with someone's hair or teeth, crushing razor blades and glass, and other extraordinary acts that some foolish entertainers display are works of fraudulence, sorcery, and magic like the sorcerers of Pharaoh practiced. Allah (Glorified and Exalted be He) states in Surah (Qur'anic chapter) Al-A`raf: (So when they threw, they bewitched the eyes of the people, and struck terror into them, and they displayed a great magic.) He (Glorified be He) states in Surah Ta-Ha, (Then behold! their ropes and their sticks, by their magic, appeared to him as though they moved fast.) Thus, it is not permissible to practice, learn, propagate or encourage these works; rather, a Muslim must oppose them and report them so that they will be punished. This will serve as a deterrent and avert their evil from people. Acts and shows of these people clearly involve fraudulence, sorcery, insulting people's intelligence, corrupting the `Aqidah (creed) and taking people's money unjustly.

Praise be to Allah, Alone, and peace and blessings be upon the Last Prophet. To continue,

The Permanent Committee for Scholarly Research and Ifta' read a letter sent by His Eminence the Manager of the Cooperative Office for Da`wah and Foreigners' Guidance at Al-Ghat to His Eminence the General Mufti (Islamic scholar qualified to issue legal opinions) No. 1/55, dated 25/7/1419 A.H, that was transferred to the Committee from the Secretariat General for the Council of Senior Scholars numbered 4897, dated 9/8/1419 A.H, in which he raised the following question:

Some brothers asked the following question: "If someone knows that there is a Muslim person who frequently resorts to sorcerers and charlatans seeking their treatment, and that this person keeps receiving treatment from them and visits them from time to time; what is my duty toward this person? Is it permissible to sit, eat and drink with them, or should I desert them and warn other Muslims against them? It should be noted that this matter has become widespread among people. We ask Allah to keep us sound and safe."

After studying this inquiry, the Committee answered as follows:

It is not permissible to resort to, ask or believe in sorcerers and charlatans. The Prophet (peace be upon him) said, \(Anyone who visits a fortune-teller and asks them about anything, their \(the person visiting them\) prayers will not be accepted for forty nights.\) And in another Hadith: \(Anyone who resorts to a soothsayer or a fortune-teller and believes in what they say, will have disbelieved in what was revealed to Muhammad \(peace be upon him\).\) Therefore, rulers should be informed about these sorcerers and charlatans and act toward deterring and punishing them, and anyone who resorts to them should be advised and commanded to repent to Allah (Exalted be He). However, if they do not respond to advice, they should be deserted until they make Tawbah (repentance) to Allah.

Q: What is the ruling on sitting with warlocks and asking them to show some magic to people then commenting, replying to them, and explaining what is wrong with their actions? We only aim at informing people of the truth of warlocks and how to break their magic. May Allah reward you with the best.

A: It is not permissible to sit with warlocks and ask them to show some of their magic even if the intention is good such as condemning and refuting their magic and informing people of their reality and how to break their spell. The Prophet (peace be upon him) said, «Anyone who visits a diviner and asks him about anything, his Salahs (Prayers) will not be accepted for forty nights.» (Related by Muslim in his Sahih). The word 'diviner' includes soothsayers, astrologers, and magicians. The Prophet (peace be upon him) said, «He is not of us who sees omens or has omens seen for him; soothsays or has the future foretold for him, practices magic or has magic performed for his sake.» (Related by Al-Tabarany on the authority of `Imran ibn Husayn (may Allah be pleased with him), Al-Minawwy said: Its chain of narration is good. Indeed, magic is one of the major forbidden acts which drive their doers away from Islam. The Messenger (peace be upon him) instructed people to avoid it. Therefore, it is not permissible to invite the warlock in the way that was mentioned because this will spread their falsehood and call for their corrupted actions. A sorcerer may camouflage, trick, and play with the minds to trick the weak-minded and ignorant, for they can not be convinced with the reply. The reply may not be strong enough to refute the magic works that may affect even those who undertake to challenge the magician. It is a must to denounce evil and anyone who knows a magician should warn the people against him and report him to the concerned authorities to take the necessary deterrent measurements and protect people from their evil.

Q 1: What is the Islamic ruling on a bewitched man who went to fraudulent diviners to neutralize his spell and give him a counter-spell? Is he permitted to keep this counter-spell?

A: It is not permissible for a Muslim to go to magicians in order to neutralize a magic spell or whatsoever. The Prophet (peace be upon him) stated, «If anyone resorts to a diviner or a soothsayer and believes in what he says, then he disbelieves in what was revealed to Muhammad.» One who does so must repent to Allah (Glorified be He) for this action, trust in Him and resolve never to do it again. Moreover, one must get rid of this counter-spell because it takes the ruling of prohibited amulets that involve Shirk (associating others with Allah in His Divinity or worship). However, a Muslim should seek treatment through lawful medicines and Islamically lawful Ruqyah.

Learning and practicing sorcery

The sixth question of Fatwa no. 12262

Q 6: What is the ruling on learning sorcery for the purpose of treating those affected by magic?

A: It is not permissible to learn sorcery whether for the purpose of breaking a spell affecting a person or treating diseases.

Fatwa no. 16589

Q: I had many problems with my husband and his family. My husband forsakes me and does not fulfill my rights; he does not treat me kindly to the extent that I suspect that someone has placed a spell on us. A man gave me some papers on which some Ayahs (Qur'anic verses) and invocations of the Prophet are written. He also gave me other papers including meaningless, disconnected letters that he asked me to put in my pocket after my husband, my children and I pass by them for a week. I doubt the validity of this act so I need to get your Fatwa on it.

A: After the Committee looked into the papers attached to the question, we found that the papers contain some Ayahs (Qur'anic verses) and invocations of the Prophet in the form of segments along with other papers that include disconnected letters and talismans. Therefore, it is not permissible to use these papers because they contain truth mixed with falsehood and corrupt beliefs. A Muslim must avoid such things to protect his `Aqidah (creed) and avoid Shirk (associating others with Allah in His Divinity or worship) and anything that leads to it.

The second question of Fatwa no. 17785

Q 2: How can a person get rid of sorcery? Indeed, the woman affected regularly recites Adhkar (invocations) and her Wird (portion of Qur'an recited with consistency). Also, a Ruqyah (reciting Qur'an and saying supplications over the sick seeking healing) has been recited over her but the signs of Sihr are still apparent, as food and water accumulate by the end of the Pharynx. Whenever she reads certain Ayahs to ward off Sihr, she feels itching. Kindly, give us the legal opinion in this regard. We hope that the person who provides the answer practices Ruqyah himself.

A: Removing Sihr is permissible by the Qur'an and the legal formulae of supplications as well as the permissible medicines. This should be repeated until the person affected by Sihr is cured by Allah's will.

Q: I certainly know that going to a sorcerer is absolutely forbidden. However, I hear that there is a sorcerer who prescribes useful medication for people. Is it permissible for me to use this medication without going to this man? It is worth mentioning that the composition of this medication is unknown to me.

A: It is not permissible to take medication prescribed by sorcerers, even if you do not go to them. The sorcerers commit unlawful acts and seek help from the devils. There is no good in them or in their medication.

Seeking help from Jinn to treat possession and Sihr

Fatwa no. 16171

Q: Shirk (associating others with Allah in His Divinity or worship) is a widely spread phenomenon in the town where I live. People practice charlatanry, Sihr (sorcery), and seek help from the Awliya' (pious people). I read a book entitled "Ilaj Al-Umur Al-Sihriyyah" (How to treat matters related to sorcery) and another book entitled "Al-Shirk wa Mazhahiruhu" (Shirk and its manifestations) in which I found a number of Sahih (authentic) Hadith which permit practicing Ruqyah (reciting Qur'an and saying supplications over the sick as a cure). I have, thus, practiced Ruqyah and because of the many patients afflicted with possession and Sihr, I have been practicing it day and night. Am I permitted to seek the help of Jinn (creatures created from fire) to get rid of Sihr or even to order the jinni to search for hidden amulets?

A: It is not permissible to seek help from the Jinn and those who are not in someone's reach. This is Shirk as it is an act of worship that should be dedicated to Allah Alone, not to any person, jinn, angel, or any other being. A living person who is capable of providing assistance may be sought to help in agriculture, construction, combating enemies, etc. The Jinn, on the other hand, must not be sought for help whether they are reachable or absent. This is because Allah (Glorified and Exalted be He) states, ﴿You (Alone) we worship, and You (Alone) we ask for help (for each and everything).﴾ The Prophet (peace be upon him) stated, "If you need assistance, supplicate to Allah Alone for help."

Q 4: What is the difference between a miracle and a Karamah (an extraordinary event performed by a pious person)? Who can be described as Allah's "Awliya' " (pious people)? Please advise us. May Allah reward you.

A: A miracle is a supernatural thing which Allah (Exalted be He) generates at the hand of a Prophet so as to make people believe him; a thing that humans can not do, such as the miracle of the she-camel for Prophet Salih, the hand and the stick for Prophet Musa (Moses), and the Qur'an for Prophet Muhammad (peace be upon them all). However, a Karamah is an extraordinary thing which Allah (Exalted be He) generates at the hands of a pious servant to honor them, like that which happened to Maryam (Mary) and the People of the Cave. A Karamah is a miracle for the Prophet whom this pious servant followed, for this servant did not acquire it except by sincerely following the Prophet. Moreover, this Karamah is not to be proven for someone acquiring it unless they are known for abiding by the Shari'ah of Muhammad (peace be upon him).

Soothsaying

Fatwa no. 11847

Q: A healer requests a sick man to bring a she-camel whereby he walks around with all his children four or seven times after gathering them in the house, then, slaughters it. The sick man is supposed to remain in the she-camel's blood for a period of time. Is this action Haram (prohibited)? Is it permissible to eat from the she-camel's meat, knowing that they pronounced the Name of Allah upon slaughtering it? Please, advise. May Allah reward you with the best!

A: A sick Muslim is permitted to seek treatment through Islamically lawful Ruqyah, which involves recitation of Ayahs of the Qur'an and invocations reported from the Prophet (peace be upon him). He may also resort to lawful medicines.

However, visiting soothsayers or the like who request the sick to slaughter a she-camel, a sheep, a chicken, or any animal is not permissible. This is because slaughtering is an act of worship that must be dedicated to Allah Alone. Allah (Exalted be He) states, ﴿Say \(O Muhammad صلى الله عليه وسلم﴾: "Verily, my Salât \(prayer\), my sacrifice, my living, and my dying are for Allâh, the Lord of the 'Alamîn \(mankind, jinn and all that exists\).﴾ \(He has no partner.\)﴾

It is not permissible to eat from this camel's meat even if the Name of Allah is mentioned upon slaughtering, because it was slaughtered for the sake of other than Allah (Glorified and Exalted be He) - an act which is considered major Shirk (associating others with Allah in His Divinity or worship) that takes the doer out of the pale of Islam.

Fatwa no. 14746

Q: Thanks to Allah, I am a Muslim woman. I have been married for eight years. My problem is that I hate to have sexual intercourse with my husband. I try to please my husband in all ways, lest I should be sinful. We have only one child and I do not like to sleep with my husband in the same bed. I have tried a lot but I could not. Some relatives advised me to consult charlatans and fortune-tellers. I would like Your Eminence to guide me to the right solution.

A: It is not permissible to go to soothsayers, charlatans, and sorcerers for treatment or to believe them. The Prophet (peace be upon him) said, \(Anyone who visits a diviner and asks them about anything, their Salah \(Prayer\) will not be accepted for forty nights.\) (Related by Muslim.) It is authentically reported that he (peace be upon him) said, \(If anyone resorts to a diviner or a soothsayer and believes what he says, then he disbelieves in what was revealed to Muhammad \(peace be upon him\).\) You should treat yourself with the Qur'an, Adhkar (invocations), and authentic supplications. For example, Surah Al-Fatihah, Ayat-ul-Kursy (the Qur'anic Verse of Allah's Chair, Surah Al-Baqarah, 2:255) Surah Al-Ikhlās, Al-Mu`awwidhatayn (Surahs Al-Falaq and Al-Nas) in addition to the Du`a' (supplications) mentioned in the books of Al-Adhkar and the book entitled "Zad Al-Ma`ad" by Ibn Al-Qayyim.

Q: What is the ruling on reading horoscopes published in the newspapers and magazines and believing in what they say?

A: Depending on astrology and horoscopes to know the future counts as an act of Shirk (associating others with Allah in His Divinity or worship) committed by the early Magians, the disbelieving philosophers and their kind. Claiming knowledge of the future means knowing about the Ghayb (the Unseen), which counts as major Shirk and violation of Allah's Command. This act is falsehood and deceit to usurp people's money and corrupt their beliefs.

Accordingly, it is not permissible to publish, cast a look in, promote or believe in horoscopes, as this counts as a form of disbelief and goes against Tawhid (monotheism). Every Muslim should be careful of and give up these matters and depend on Allah (Exalted be He) in all affairs.

Fatwa no. 16705

Q: The questioner says that his father believes in superstitions like charlatanism, including drawing on the sand which they learn from a book named "Ilm Usul Al-Raml," (The science of the basics of drawing on sand) and other things which they call 'folding the earth'. They also believe in protective amulets and writing Hirz (verses of guarding and refuge) which they obtain from so-called yellow books, such as a book named 'Shams Al-Ma`arif Al-Kubra' (The sun of higher knowledge), and 'Kitab Al-Tib-wal-Rahmah' (The book of medicine and mercy), Kitab Al-Awfak, Kitab Daqa'iq Al-Akhyar Al-Kabir, and Sihr Al-Kuhhan (The sorcery of soothsayers) and many other strange books. My father owns some of these books, which he always reads and derives amulets and talismans from them. He also believes in what is called the Al-Riyadah (Exercise), meaning the exercise of spiritual fasting in which they refrain from eating meat. Moreover, they do what they call Al-Mandal by which they search in matters of Ghayb (the Unseen) and conjure the jinn. The questioner is asking about the religious ruling regarding such acts and eating from the meat of sacrifices done for their sake.

A: The books mentioned in the question are misleading, because they are abundant in means of Shirk (associating others with Allah in His Divinity or worship), soothsaying, propagation of Sihr (sorcery) and deviation from the right path.

Accordingly, they should not be owned, sold or circulated, as they were the cause why many people have deviated from the straight path - truly, to Allah we belong and truly to Him we shall return. As for what you mentioned concerning the person who keeps reading these books and practicing soothsaying, he is definitely so unfair to himself by indulging in the way of deviation and Shirk, and the acts you mentioned are like soothsaying and charlatanism which no Muslim accepts for himself or for others. They indicate complete ignorance of the religion of Allah (Exalted be He). You should advise him and make the way of truth known to him. Urge him to follow the way of the Prophet (peace be upon him) and his Sahabah (Companions of the Prophet) (may Allah be pleased with them) and if he repents and gives up such malicious misdeeds, praise be to Allah, the Lord of the Worlds. If not, you should not keep company with him until he repents to Allah (Exalted be He). However, if the doer of such acts is your father, then you have to tell him what we said and advise him kindly and leniently - may Allah make you the cause for his guidance. You should not sever your relation with him, but rather keep advising him and supplicating to Allah (Exalted be He) that He may guide him to the way of righteousness as well as keeping good company with him until he repents from such misdeeds or dies. Allah (may He be Praised and Exalted) says: ﴿And We have enjoined on man (to be dutiful and good) to his parents. His mother bore him in weakness and hardship upon weakness and hardship, and his weaning is in two years - give thanks to Me and to your parents. Unto Me is the final destination.﴾ ﴿But if they (both) strive with you to make you join in worship with Me others that of which you have no knowledge, then obey them not; but behave with them in the world kindly, and follow the path of him who turns to Me in repentance and in obedience. Then to Me will be your return, and I shall tell you what you used to do.﴾

Q 3: How can we refute the claim that man may control the jinn (creatures created from fire) in a way that makes them carry out his orders, and transport him from one country to another? Does the person who claims so become a disbeliever?

A: seeking help from the jinn is an act of major Shirk (associating others with Allah in His Divinity or worship) and one of the corrupt practices of the pre-Islamic era. Allah (Exalted be He) states, ﴿And verily, there were men among mankind who took shelter with the males among the jinn, but they (jinn) increased them (mankind) in sin and transgression.﴾ Also, He (Exalted be He) states, ﴿And on the Day when He will gather them (all) together (and say): "O you assembly of jinn! Many did you mislead of men," and their Auliya' (friends and helpers) amongst men will say: "Our Lord! We benefited one from the other, but now we have reached our appointed term which You did appoint for us." He will say: "The Fire be your dwelling-place, you will dwell therein forever, except as Allāh may will. Certainly your Lord is All-Wise, All-Knowing.﴾

Q 1: Some people employ the help of Jinn (creatures created from fire) to cure diseases claiming that their patients are possessed, and they earn money from this occupation. What is the Islamic ruling on this? Is it Halal (lawful) or Haram (prohibited)?

A: It is not permissible for Muslims to employ the help of Jinn for any reason, because the Jinn will never serve humans unless the latter obey them by committing acts in disobedience of Allah, Shirk (associating others with Allah in His Divinity or worship), and Kufr (disbelief). Allah (Exalted be He) states, ﴿And verily, there were men among mankind who took shelter with the males among the jinn, but they (jinn) increased them (mankind) in sin and transgression.﴾ He (Exalted be He) also states, ﴿And on the Day when He will gather them (all) together (and say): "O you assembly of jinn! Many did you mislead of men," and their Auliya' (friends and helpers) amongst men will say: "Our Lord! We benefited one from the other, but now we have reached our appointed term which You did appoint for us." He will say: "The Fire be your dwelling-place, you will dwell therein forever, except as Allâh may will.﴾ Earnings from this work are Haram. Being possessed by Jinn or afflicted with other diseases can be treated by the Qur'an, prescribed Du`a' (supplications), and medication administered by reliable specialists of sound Iman (faith).

Q 4: What is the ruling on soothsayers and diviners who claim to have knowledge of all things? Sometimes we ask them about a lost item and they may give us true information about it.

A: It is not permissible to visit, consult, or believe soothsayers and diviners. The Prophet (peace be upon him) stated, «If anyone resorts to a diviner or a soothsayer and believes in what he says, then he will be a disbeliever in what was revealed to Muhammad.» He (peace be upon him) also stated, «Anyone who visits a diviner and asks him about anything, his prayers will not be accepted for forty nights.» Related by Muslim in his Sahih (authentic) Book of Hadith. By their claim of the knowledge of the Ghayb (the Unseen), diviners and soothsayers have disbelieved in Allah the Almighty and left the pale of Islam, as knowledge of the Ghayb is exclusive to Allah (Glorified and Exalted be He). He (Glorified be He) states, «Say: "None in the heavens and the earth knows the Ghaib \(Unseen\) except Allâh"» He (Glorified and Exalted be He) also states, «\(He Alone is\) the All-Knower of the Ghaib \(Unseen\), and He reveals to none His Ghaib \(Unseen\).» «Except to a Messenger \(from mankind\) whom He has chosen \(He informs him of unseen as much as He likes\)» May Allah grant us success! A: We do not know any Hadith that the Prophet (peace be upon him) exorcised Jinn. However, a sick person should seek treatment by the Qur'an and Ruqyah (reciting Qur'an and saying supplications over the sick seeking healing) as the Salaf (righteous predecessors) used to do. It is not permissible to seek the help of the Jinn or the non-present people as this is an act of Shirk (associating others with Allah in His Divinity or worship). Q 2: We also ask about the lawful Ruqyah (reciting Qur'an and saying supplications over the sick seeking healing). Is it permissible to recite a specific number of Ayahs for each case such as reciting such and such Ayah 2001 times and the like?

A: The legal Ruqyah is the one that is taken from the Qur'an and the legal supplications. As for specifying a number of times to recite the Ayah or supplication, this requires proof. However, we do not know of any legal proof in support of this issue. Indeed, the Prophet (peace be upon him) only used to repeat his supplications three times in some cases. Q 3: Is it permissible to use Jinn (creatures created from fire) in restoring rights taken by a wrongful man, who unlawfully earned all his money at the expense of people's rights? It should be mentioned that this man oppressed his own brother when he brought a legal action against him after the latter had written him a check. As a result to this, the brother was sentenced to a year and was obliged to pay twenty-five thousand pounds, which led him to leave the country.

A: It is not permissible to use Jinn in deterring a wrongful person or any other person, for this is a sort of sorcery and seeking support of Satan, in addition to other unlawful acts that violate 'Aqidah (creed). Therefore, the oppressed person should resort to the authorities to restrain and punish the oppressor.

Is it permissible to believe in this? Does this belief lead to Shirk (Associating others with Allah in His Divinity or worship)? How could we interpret the case of those people who suffered this?

Fatwa no. 21297

All praise be to Allah Alone and peace and blessings be upon the Last Prophet, Muhammad, his family and Companions. To commence:

The Permanent Committee for Scholarly Research and Ifta' has perused the letter submitted to his Honor, the General Mufti by the questioner through Sa`d Al-Husayn. The letter was referred to the Committee by the Secretariat-General for the Council of Senior Scholars under the number 16 on 3/1/1421 A.H. The text of the question is as follows:

A man in Breen, governorate of Al-Zarqa', named Muhammad Idris Al-Hawamdah, claims that he treats people through reading the Qur'an on water after diagnosing the disease. According to him, an angel standing above his eyes enables him to see the disease. We tried in vain to convince him that angels do not come down to any person after the Prophet Muhammad (peace be upon him) with revelation. He insists on his claim adding that this is a Karamah (an extraordinary event performed by a pious person) given to him by Allah. He confirms that he has no connection with the Jinn (creatures created from fire), Muslims or non-Muslims, at all; rather, he deals only with the angels. What is the ruling on the person who claims so? He tempted many citizens of the Gulf States generally and Saudi people in particular. May Allah reward you.

After the Committee examined the question, it gave the following answer:

The angels (peace be upon them) do not do anything except by the command of Allah (Glorified and Exalted be He), and it is beyond the capacity of man to control them however he wants. The claim that man deals with the angels or that they help him has no conclusive evidence. The reality is that evil spirits that are jinn or devils may communicate with many people believing that they are angels. They are spirits that communicate with star worshippers and other idolaters. Thus, it is not permissible for a muslim to claim that he deals with the angels, nor is it permissible for Muslims to believe him. If a man is proved to seek the help of jinn or spirits in treating the patients, it will not be permissible to visit him for treatment. The Prophet (peace be upon him) stated, \(Anyone who visits a diviner and asks him about anything, his prayers extending to forty nights will not be accepted.\) Related by Muslim in his Sahih (authentic) Book of Hadith. He (peace be upon him) also stated, \(If anyone resorts to a diviner or a soothsayer and believes in what he says, he will be a disbeliever in what was revealed to Muhammad.\) Related by Imam Ahmad and Ahl-ul-Sunan (authors of Hadith compilations classified by jurisprudential themes) through a good Sanad (chain of narrators). Hadith and others indicate that it is prohibited to consult or believe diviners and soothsayers who claim knowledge of the Ghayb (the Unseen) or seek the help of jinn, provided their behaviors confirm that.

Q: We have a widespread phenomenon that is called: "Al-Wakh-dhah. It is as follows: when gold or a car is stolen from a person or his sheep are lost, he would go to certain person who is known for practicing Al-Wakh-dhah. This person utters incomprehensible speech. He may recite parts of the Qur'an and return the stolen or the lost money. Some people ask about how he returns the money and he refuses to tell. O shaykh, what is the ruling on this phenomenon and the ruling on going to those people? Please advise! May Allah protect you.

A: A: If the reality is as you mentioned that he knows the place of the stolen things and returns them, he must be a soothsayer and fortuneteller. He only knows that by looking at the stars, in a magical book, by drawing a line on the sand, seeking the help of Jinn, or any other forbidden means.

All these acts are acts of disbelief in Allah (Exalted be He), for he claims the knowledge of the Unseen, which is confined only to Allah (Exalted be He) who says, ﴿Say: "None in the heavens and the earth knows the Ghaib \(Unseen\) except Allâh"﴾ Allah (Exalted be He) also says, ﴿\(He Alone is\) the All-Knower of the Ghaib \(Unseen\), and He reveals to none His Ghaib \(Unseen\).﴾ ﴿Except to a Messenger \(from mankind\) whom He has chosen \(He informs him of unseen as much as He likes\), and then He makes a band of watching guards \(angels\) to march before him and behind him.﴾ Thus, it is prohibited to go to this person and it is forbidden to believe his knowledge of the Unseen, because of the severe punishment reported in this concern. The Prophet (peace be upon him) said, ﴿He who visits a diviner and asks him about anything, his prayers extending to forty nights will not be accepted.﴾ (Related by Muslim in his Sahih Book. ﴿If anyone resorts to a diviner or a soothsayer and believes in what he says, then he disbelieves in what was revealed to Muhammad \(peace be upon him\).﴾ (Related by the Four Compilers of Hadith (Imams Abu Dawud, Al-Tirmidhy, Al-Nasa'y and Ibn Majah) and Al-Hakim who ranked the Hadith as Sahih (authentic). The Prophet (peace be upon him) said, ﴿He is not of us: the one who sees omens or has omens seen for him; predicts or has the future predicted for him; performs magic or has magic performed for him. Anyone who goes to a soothsayer and believes what he says has disbelieved in what has been sent down upon Muhammad.﴾ (Related by Al-Bazzar with good chain of narration). As for the claim of this person that he recites the Qur'an, it is a game to trick the people that he is doing a permissible thing in order to spread evil, possess their minds, and extort their money. However, his act is a mere lie. The mere reading of the Qur'an does not unveil the place of the stolen things and he does not use it to return the stolen objects.

The person who knows the conditions of this person must warn the people against going to him or believe in him. He must explain for them the ruling on that and disapprove of the work of this person and advise him. He must also explain to him the ruling on soothsaying and the bad end of his work. If he stops and repents sincerely, it will be good; otherwise, his case shall be referred to the concerned authority in order to stop him and ward off harm from the Muslims.

Q: In our neighborhood there is a man that people think is a righteous person. They frequently visit him to know the place of things they lost and he tells them where to find such things. What is the Islamic ruling on those who visit and believe in what he says? What is their destiny if they die believing in such matters? Is this a form of Shirk (associating others with Allah in His Divinity or worship) that renders its doer out of the fold of Islam? There is an educated man living in our neighborhood who does not do anything to deny this man's acts; rather he praises him before people but he did not visit him. What is the Islamic ruling concerning anyone who dies believing in what this man says? What is your advice to him, because I will read your answer to him, as whenever I tell him that going to this man is not permissible and believing in what he says is Shirk, he replies that the man knows the place of lost things and helps people. I told him that he conjures up Jinn, but still he does not believe me.

What is the Islamic ruling on using Jinn in useful matters, and how should I reply to him?

A: A person who tells the place of lost things or claims the knowledge of the Ghayb (the Unseen) is a soothsayer that seeks the help of the Jinn, and as such, he should not be believed or visited. The Prophet (peace be upon him) said, \(Anyone who visits a diviner and asks him about anything, his Salahs \(Prayers\) extending to forty nights will not be accepted.\) He also said, \(If anyone resorts to a diviner or a soothsayer and believes in what he says, then he disbelieves in what was revealed to Muhammad \(peace be upon him\).\) Furthermore, the person who praises the acts of a soothsayer commits a greater sin than the person who goes to the soothsayer, because praising this person implies agreement on what he does and encouraging people to seek his help.

May Allah grant us success! May peace and blessings be upon our Prophet Muhammad, his family and Companions!

Praise be to Allah Alone. Peace and blessings be upon the Last Prophet (Prophet Muhammad - peace be upon him).

The Permanent Committee for Scholarly Research and Ifta' has reviewed a query (No. 1132, dated 19/2/1421 A.H.) sent to His Eminence the General Mufti from His Eminence judge of Badr Court in Madinah. The query, which was referred to the Committee by the Secretariat General of the Council of Senior Scholars, reads as follows:

It has recently been circulated among people that there is a person residing in Al-Sham (The Levant) who can cure physical and incurable diseases. This person has become popular. We have been informed that he asks the patient's family to go out of the house and plays a recorded Qur'an cassette tape while placing many pots filled with water. The patient who suffers a physical disease and needs surgery is put in a dark room for one night during which no one may enter to him. The patient leaves the room with good health. This person, with Allah's Power, cures many illnesses, such as blindness and coronary thrombosis. Furthermore, many seekers of knowledge who attend the lessons of well-known scholars visit this person to seek his help. Many residents of this region ask about the ruling on this act. it is worth mentioning that people assert permissibility of seeking help of the Jinn in lawful acts that do not cause harm to others. They attribute this Fatwa to His Eminence Shaykh Muhammad ibn `Uthaymin. This matter poses a serious threat to people. I provide you with this information to help issue a Fatwa that enlightens and lets people understand religious matters. Your quick reply is highly appreciated. Many thanks for your efforts and may Allah reward, protect and support you!

Having discussed the query, the Committee replies as follows: It is not permissible to go to this man as he is a sorcerer or a soothsayer and seeks help from Jinn. The Prophet (peace be upon him) said, (Anyone who visits a soothsayer and believes what he says has nothing to do with that which has been revealed to Muhammad (peace be upon him).) And (Anyone who goes to a soothsayer and asks him about something and believes him, his Salah (Prayer) will not be accepted for forty days.) Scholars and seekers of knowledge are obliged to explain the truth and warn people against the adoption of false ways that oppose the `Aqidah (Creed) and advise them to use lawful treatment exclusively. The Prophet (peace be upon him) said, (Treat yourselves medically, but use nothing unlawful.) And (There is no disease that Allah has created, except that He also has created its treatment that may be known to some people but unknown to others.) A Muslim must use what is prescribed by Allah (Exalted be He) and abandon what He prohibited.

May Allah grant us success! May peace and blessings of Allah be upon our Prophet Muhammad, his family and Companions!

Fatwa no. 18341

Q: We have a bad habit in Upper Egypt; some people claim that they eject snakes and scorpions from their homes. One of them holds a stick in his hand and says some words such as: Madad i.e. help me, O Sidy Rifa`y and other forms like these. Thereupon, the snake or scorpion comes and walks on the stick which the man holds and then he catches it without any harm.

Is there any permissible way that enables a person to catch snakes and scorpions with his bare hands? If this is a trick of a sorcerer, what is the best way to break this magic? It is worth mentioning that I recited some Ayahs to break the spell but the snake or scorpion did not change?

A: This way is an act of Shirk (associating others with Allah in His Divinity or worship), for the one who caught the snake sought help with other than Allah (Exalted be He) saying: O Sidy Rifa`y. Catching snakes and scorpions is not a sign of firm faith or piety. such persons could be seeking help with Jinn and practice sorcery and magic.

Fatwa no. 21163

Q: A large number of patients come to a Jordanian man from several countries, especially from the Gulf States seeking treatment. They commonly believe that he treats many incurable diseases that doctors fail to cure by the permission of Allah. In brief, he seeks the help of jinn in his work, through either reading the Qur'an on water, or performing operations that require no incisions in the body. The patient merely feels that something takes place inside his body after which he is cured by the will of Allah. People collectively confirmed that he diagnoses and cures diseases very accurately, and that he requires that the patient must perform Salah (Prayer) and remember Allah often during the operation and receiving the treatment. The man demands the patients to recite Al-Mu`awwidhat (Surahs Al-Ikhlās, Al-Falaq, and Al-Nas) and Ayat-ul-Kursy (the Qur'anic Verse of Allah's Chair, Surah Al-Baqarah, 2:255). He does not do what sorcerers do, for he neither asks about the patients' names nor the names of their mothers. He just asks about the pain that he diagnoses very accurately. Surprisingly, he receives a small fee about fifty Saudi Riyals, and this encourages people to ask about the ruling on going to him. Is it permissible to seek the help of the jinn in doing good for man? Please, advise. May Allah reward you, As-salamu `alaykum warahmatullah wabarakatuh (May Allah's Peace, Mercy, and Blessings be upon you!)

A: It is not permissible for a Muslim to seek help from the jinn at all, because they live in a world that we have no knowledge of. Allah (Exalted be He) states, ﴿And verily, there were men among mankind who took shelter with the males among the jinn, but they \(jinn\) increased them \(mankind\) in sin and transgression.﴾ The Ayah (Qur'anic verse) censures seeking help from the jinn in general in order to block the means leading to Shirk (associating others with Allah in His Divinity or worship).

Fatwa no. 19011

Q: A twenty-year-old man called Shaykh Muhammad lives in Jabal Al-Manarah, Jordan. He has been curing people since he was seven years old. I was told that when he was a child, he suffered from an incurable illness. Some pious Jinn (creatures created from fire) came and told his father that they would cure his child by Allah's will and he would treat people in the same way which can be summarized as follows:

The young man tells a patient who consults him for the first time that "only Allah cures people and not him and that anyone who does not offer Salah (Prayer) will not be cured. Having a sincere intention and putting one's trust in Allah are very important in the course of treatment." The young man asks the patient about what he suffers from and after thinking for a while he tells the patient that there is a cure for his case; which is either water he has blown into it or an operation. He takes fifty riyals and asks the patient to drink three sips from the water at Maghrib and 'Isha' Prayers. He asks the patient to say, "In the Name of Allah, the Curer" when drinking the water. If the patient is not cured, the young man tells him that he needs to undergo an operation.

The patient returns to him at a specific night. A group of patients fill a room where he treats them. Before they lie down, he gives them the following instructions: "Do not lie down without performing Wudu' (ablution), mention Allah while laying on your back, do not turn to your left side but to the right side only, stretch your legs, do not move as much as possible, and pray Fajr in congregation and return to lay down." This process starts at 9 p.m. and he returns to them the following day at 9 a.m. the following day morning. They listen to a recorded recitation by one of the famous Qur'an reciters such as, Al-Husary, Al-Sudies, and Al-Shureim while they are laying down. When the young man comes at 9 o'clock, he informs each one of them of their condition, saying for example: "you are cured, you got better but you spoke with other than mentioning Allah and moved." He asks the patient who uttered other than mentioning Allah to undergo another operation that lasts for one or two hours. Taking into consideration that during such an operation the body is not cut open and blood does not flow. Patients lay on the back only after performing Wudu' and mention Allah.

What is the ruling on consulting this young man? Some shaykhs say that anyone who consults him commits Shirk (associating others with Allah in His Divinity or worship) and others say that he is Fitnah (trial). It was proven that the condition of some patients was improved. He cures many diseases in which physicians failed to cure, such as blindness and paralysis.

A: All that is mentioned in the question is a form of bid'ah (innovation in religion), superstitions and baseless malicious acts which have no evidence in the Qur'an or the Sunnah. The person who introduced this Bid`ah wanted to distinguish himself among other quacks to attract the naive and ignorant common people to steal their money. He is either ignorant or he might be deceiving people. Moreover, he should not be deluded by his skills for it might be a trial and a test from Allah (Exalted be He). It was related by Abu Dawud in his Sunan on the authority of Zaynab from her husband `Abdullah ibn Mas`ud who said, "I heard the Messenger of Allah (peace be upon him) saying, ﴿[Illegal] Ruqyahs, charms and love-potions are [acts of] Shirk (associating others with Allah in His Divinity or worship).﴾ Zaynab said, "Why do you say this? I swear by Allah, when my eye was discharging I used to go to so-and-so, a Jew, who applied a spell to me. When he made the spell to me, it calmed down." `Abdullah said, "That was just the work of Satan who was picking it with his hand, and when he uttered the spell on it, he desisted. All you need to do is to say as the Messenger of Allah (peace be upon him) used to say, ﴿'Adhihibil-ba's Rabba al-nass, ishfi anta Al-shafi, la shifa'a illa shifa'ak, shifa'an la yughadiru saqama.' (O the Lord of all people! Do away with the agony, may You cure, You are the Curer, there is no cure except Your cure. A cure that does not leave any sickness.﴾ (See `Awn Al-Ma`bud, vol. 16, p. 212) (Related by Imam Ahmad in Al-Musnad, vol. 1, p. 381 and Ibn Majah, Ibn Hibban, and Al-Hakim, who ranked it as Sahih (authentic) and was also acknowledged by Al-Dhahaby.)

You should not consult this person as he might be doing things that contradict the Islamic `Aqidah (creed) which you do not know. It is permissible for you to recite or let others recite Ruqyah (reciting Qur'an and saying supplications over the sick seeking healing) that is free from Bid`ah and superstitions.

Q: I am a man and I have been suffering from a psychological disturbance for eight years. I am having treatment and hope that Allah (Exalted be He) will grant me a full recovery. Some people have told me about a local curer in Jordan and gave me his phone number. I called him at five o'clock and informed him about my condition and the pains and sores I have in my head, in addition to insomnia. He asked me to call him the following day at five o'clock and demanded me to send him a sum of one thousand Saudi Riyals in Jordan. He recommended me to buy some herbs from Riyadh and I did. I took them and used them in the morning and at noon. I also stopped taking my medicine and decided not to take it anymore. However, after inquiring about this person, I came to know that he is a sorcerer and a charlatan. I hope Your Eminence will guide me whether I am sinful in this regard. Should I continue to take the treatment he prescribed? It should be noted that this treatment consists of natural herbs.

A: If it is proven that this person is a sorcerer, it will not be permissible for you to be treated by him or even to believe him. The Prophet (peace be upon him) said, «Anyone who resorts to a fortune-teller and asks him about anything, his Salah \(Prayer\) will not be accepted for forty nights.» He (peace be upon him) also said, «Anyone who resorts to a fortune-teller or a soothsayer and believes him in what he says, will have disbelieved in what has been revealed to Muhammad \(peace be upon him\).» Further, you should make Tawbah (repentance) for that and never act in accordance with what he says in case those who told you that this man is a sorcerer are reliable. You can see physicians or trustworthy, upright and pious persons who can treat your disease. May Allah grant you recovery and safety from every ill.

Q: A man claims that he treats patients by just looking at them without prescribing any medicines.

He only points to the right side to tell that a patient has recovered or to the left side to tell that they have not. Is such treatment permissible? Is it permissible to be treated by such a man?

A: It is not permissible to go to this man who treats by signs, for he is a liar and a charlatan. Moreover, he may be a soothsayer who seeks the help of Jinn (creatures created from fire). It is worth mentioning that the Prophet (peace be upon him) said: "Anyone who goes to a diviner or a soothsayer and believes in what they say has disbelieved in what was revealed to Muhammad." Thus, receiving treatment is only Mubah (permissible) when it is done by lawful Ruqyah (reciting Qur'an and supplications over the sick as a cure), or by known, Mubah, tried medications.

Q: There is a person in Yemen, particularly in the governorate of Ta'iz, named Ahmad Hasan `Abdul-Rahman Al-Shar`aby. He claims that he is your student and that you have allowed him to practice Ruqyah (reciting Qur'an and saying supplications over the sick seeking healing). However, the people have noticed that he does the following:

1. He gives his patients oil or salve, which he claims to bring from India, and sells it to them at a high price. He claims that it resists Sihr (sorcery) and Jinn (creatures created from fire) possession.

2. He takes gold from some patients, claiming that he will recite Qur'an over it to repel the Jinn but on the condition of not giving it back to the patients because the Jinn will take it.

3. We would like to inform you that he lived in Saudi Arabia, Madinah, and left during the Gulf crisis in 1411 AH, corresponding to 1991 AD.

How should we - the seekers of knowledge - act toward this man and the likes of him?

A: The above-mentioned methods of treatment, whether prescribed by this person or anyone else, are not Islamically lawful. In fact, they are a way of swindling and deceiving the people. It is, thus, obligatory to advise such practitioners, warn the people against their evils, and refer their case to the Shari`ah Court to apply the rulings of Shari`ah (Islamic law) on them.

Q 1: I heard an Imam in our village saying that he is able to show the truth in uncertain or ambiguous situations. For example, if two persons dispute over a right to possess money, this Imam says that he is able to resolve this dispute by showing the truth with a certain method called "Al-Hikmah" (wisdom in English). I asked him how and he replied that he can recite specific Qur'anic verses or Hadith. When he does so with the consent of the two men, one of the two disputing men will be afflicted with blindness, paralysis, flatulence, etc. if he tells lies. I asked him to teach me this method, but he refused, claiming that it is a secret he learnt from some scholars. He added that no one can learn this method but the one who can meet certain conditions, including the use of this method only in knotted problems, and not to disclose the secret of this method to any one except the one who meets these conditions. My question is: Are these things authentically reported from the Messenger (peace be upon him) and Salaf (righteous predecessors)? If so, are these reports written down in recognized Hadith and Islamic Jurisprudence books? Please explain this matter as I doubt it contains Shirk - I seek refuge with Allah from that.

A: The act done by this man comes under the heading of swindling, charlatanism and satanic works. You should not go to him or believe in what he says. Authorities must ban and punish him according to Shari'ah.

Q 2: Al-Rahmah Fi Al-Tibb Wa Al-Hikmah (Mercy in Medical Treatment and Wisdom) by Jalal-u-Din `Abdul-Rahman Al-Suyuty. In this book he mentions some medicine; some are common to people while others contain a kind of Shirk (associating others with Allah in His Divinity or worship) or at least doubt. For example, to treat fever a person brings three leaves of olive and writes on the first: `Asab Jahannam (The hardness of Hell), writes on the second: Naharat

Jahannam (Hell was slaughtered) and writes on the third: `Atashat Jahannam (Jahannam suffered thirst). A person should then burn them and use their smoke to ward off evil. The one who has fever should also wear this incantation around his neck in which is written: Say He is Allah, the One. By Allah, this is true (three times), Allah (Al-Samad i.e. the Self-Sufficient Master). By Allah, this is true (three times). He never begets. By Allah, this is true (three times). He is not begotten. By Allah, this is true (three times), and there is no equivalent to Him. By Allah, this is true (three times). These concluding phrases must also be written.

To treat fever, you should bring a dead female locust, not hermaphrodite or male, and cut through its back. Then, take its right half skin along with three leaves of olives after you write on the first: "Amlah Ablah", and on the second: "Malih Qabih", and the third: "Faltah Qamlih" go fever! Peel equal parts of onion and split them into seven parts. When the frenzy possesses him, he burns one part of the seven parts as incense provided that his garment and body are clean. He should wrap his head until he calls: O my master, Mu`awiyah ibn `Unuq and my master `Abdul-Qadir Al-Jilany. After he uses this incense, he goes to sleep saying secretly "Madad `Ala Al-Ashyakh i.e. help me sheikhs!" Allah will cure him.

Another recipe for fever: A person brings three bones and writes on the first: Iglikh Borikh, and on the second: Ya Dalil, and on the third: Yarikh. One bone is prescribed for every day. These are simple examples of this book. It is evident that it contains acts of Shirk. Could you explain to us who is this author Jalal-u-Din `Abdul-Rahman Al-Suyuty?

A: the book "Al-Rahmah Fi Al-tibb Wa Al-Hikmah" which is ascribed to Al-Suyuty is a useless book that has no good. It is replete with superstitions and acts of Shirk. A person must beware of this book and should not rely on it in order to protect his `Aqidah (creed) against anything that may distort or deviate it.

Fatwa no. 19085

Q 1: many people say the crimes that take place on earth have a connection with the moon, i.e., when it becomes a full moon, claiming that they have heard it in some Hadith of the Prophet (peace be upon him). Is this statement true?

A: What is mentioned in the question about the crimes that take place on earth having a relationship with the moon when it is full is not true. There is no basis for this in the Book of Allah or in the Sunnah of the Prophet (peace be upon him). This is a Bid'ah (innovation) created by superstitious fortune-tellers and charlatans, who try to control the minds of ignorant and naive people and thereby facilitate falling into crimes and sins. It is obligatory on anyone who has committed these things to make sincere Tawbah (repentance to Allah) and perform worship sincerely and solely for Allah Alone. Allah (may He be Exalted) is the Sole Disposer of all affairs and He Alone is the Creator of everything, with no partner or associate. He Alone has the Power to bestow benefit or inflict harm.

Q 2: There is a group of people here who treat people with what they call "folk medicine". When I talked to one of them, he asked me to tell him my name and my mother's name, and them to come back to meet him on a specific day. When I went back, he told me that I suffer from such-and-such an illness. One person said that he uses the Words of Allah to cure. What is your opinion about such people and what is the ruling on going to them?

A: This man and the likes of him, who claim that they can diagnose a patient's illness by just asking them their names and their mothers' names, or who claim that they use the Words of Allah, are soothsayers and charlatans. It is obligatory for them to be advised, warned against what they do, and ordered to make sincere Tawbah (repentance to Allah). If they repent, that will be good. Otherwise, their case should be referred to the relevant authorities to prevent their evil and protect people. It is Haram (prohibited) to consult this man and those like him, based on the Hadith narrated by Abu Hurayrah (may be pleased with him), who reported that the Prophet (peace be upon him) said, "Anyone who goes to a soothsayer or a diviner and believes in what they say has disbelieved in what was revealed to Muhammad." (Related by Ahl-ul-Sunan [Imams Abu Dawud, Al-Tirmidhy, Al-Nasa'y and Ibn Majah] and Al-Hakim who ranked it as Hadith Sahih [a Hadith that has been transmitted by people known for their uprightness and exactitude; free from eccentricity and blemish]) Therefore, anyone who goes to soothsayers and fortune-tellers and believes the news they claim to reveal from the Ghayb (Unseen) has committed Kufr (disbelief) that takes them out of Islam - may Allah save us from that! Allah (Exalted be He) says:

Q 1: Is it permissible to believe those who claim that their souls have the ability to speak to the dead in their graves during their sleep? They claim it is out of their hands and is done with Allah's Power.

A: Those people are liar charlatans who manipulate people's minds. It is not permissible to believe them or resort to them. Rather, you should deny their actions, warn people against them and report them to the authorities to punish them and save people from their evil.

May Allah grant us success! May peace and blessings be upon our Prophet Muhammad, his family and Companions!

Astrology

Fatwa no. 17727

Q: Some Arab newspapers and magazines dedicate pages to the horoscope, talking about zodiac signs such as Aries, Taurus, Gemini and others. They claim that people born under these signs will probably be moody because the zodiac conflicts a lot during this period. There are many things written in these pages, a copy of which is attached to the message and many Muslim youth read them. Please clarify the Islamic ruling on zodiac signs and your advice to Muslims and to those responsible for the magazines.

A: This is considered the same as divination used by fortune-tellers to inform people if they will be happy or miserable and if they should be optimistic or pessimistic. This is a prohibited idea dating back to the days of Jahiliyyah (pre-Islamic time of ignorance). It is not permissible to practice, follow or spread these ideas. It is even more misleading and misguiding to Muslims to spread such ideas in newspapers, as they involve claiming to know Ghayb (the Unseen), which is the sole Right of Allah (Glorified and Exalted be He) Who says, \(Say: "None in the heavens and the earth knows the Ghaib \(Unseen\) except Allâh, nor can they perceive when they shall be resurrected."\)

Allah also says, \(And with Him are the keys of the Ghaib \(all that is hidden\), none knows them but He. And He knows whatever there is in the land and in the sea; not a leaf falls, but he knows it. There is not a grain in the darkness of the earth nor anything fresh or dry, but is written in a Clear Record.\) Allah even denied that His Messenger Muhammad (peace be upon him) knew the Ghayb. Allah says, \(Say \(O Muhammad صلى الله عليه وسلم\): "I don't tell you that with me are the treasures of Allâh, nor \(that\) I know the Unseen; nor I tell you that I am an angel. I but follow what is revealed to me." Say: "Are the blind and the one who sees equal? Will you not then take thought?"\) He (Glorified be He) says, \("And I do not say to you that with me are the Treasures of Allâh, nor that I know the Ghaib \(Unseen\), nor do I say I am an angel, and I do not say of those whom your eyes look down upon that Allâh will not bestow any good on them. Allâh knows what is in their inner-selves \(as regards belief, etc.\). In that case, I should, indeed be one of the Zâlimûn \(wrong-doers, oppressors\)."\) The Prophet (peace be upon him) said, \(Anyone who acquires a branch of the knowledge of astrology has acquired a branch of magic \(of which they acquire more as long as\) they continue to do so.\) There are many Ayahs (Qur'anic verses) and Hadith in this regard. Muslim scholars unanimously agree on this well-established ruling prohibiting astrology. Thus, it is the duty of every Muslim seeking the best for themselves and their religion to avoid this form of manipulating people's minds and beliefs, to fear Allah regarding themselves and their nation and not to spread misleading ideas among Muslims. On the other hand, Muslim rulers (may Allah grant them success) should prevent this practice and punish those who spread it according to the Islamic prescribed punishment.

May Allah grant us success! May peace and blessings be upon our Prophet Muhammad, his family and Companions!

The second question of Fatwa no. 17915

Q 2: What is the ruling on believing the weather forecasts for the coming days, issued by the National Weather Service?

Moreover, doctors say that people suffering from heart diseases, arteriosclerosis and brain diseases are prone to have shorter life spans and are more liable to an early death. Should we believe in what they say? Does this fall under the knowledge of Ghayb (the Unseen), while Allah Alone is the One Who gives life and takes it?

A: Weather forecasts are based on meteorological signs and previous experiences and they are not decisive. So they should not be absolutely believed or belied.

The same applies to the opinions of doctors when they talk about patients suffering from heart diseases. These opinions are based on previous experiments and do not fall under the prohibited foretelling of the Ghayb. Life and death are in the Hands of Allah Alone.

astrology and calculations

The first question of Fatwa no. 19169

Q 1: The calendar always marks zodiac signs such as Sagittarius, Capricorn and others in addition to the names of some stars such as Al-Ghafar, Al-Na`ayim and others. There is also some information available about rain and wind related to each of these signs and stars. It is written that such days are characterized by severe cold or heat and the appearance of certain fruits and specify the length of their day and night. My question is: Are all of these signs and stars and what is said about their weather, wind and the like true? What is the ruling on believing in these things?

A: The information stated about these signs and stars related to rain, wind, temperature, plantation and the like do not fall under the prohibited foretelling of Ghayb (the Unseen). This is just information about how Allah has created the universe discovered by people through experimentation and experience. They are merely expectations that may sometimes not be true, for a reason that is known only to Allah (Glorified and Exalted be He). Consequently, giving and receiving this information should not leave the realm of expectations to become certain facts.

Weather forecasts

The twenty-fifth and twenty-sixth questions of Fatwa no. 18612

Q 25: there is no harm in weather forecasts based on specialized studies. Does the same apply to predicting some events of the near future for a person based on psychological, educational and mental studies at the hands of specialists? They use certain marks in the body to predict what will happen to the person. Does this fall under the prohibited guessing of Ghayb (the Unseen) or there is no harm in that as well? Those involved in these acts say their work is merely academic and depends on their true vision.

A: Firstly: There is no harm in weather forecasts based on cosmic signs, provided that no one believes that these signs are effective in themselves and capable of causing events. This will be considered major Shirk (associating others with Allah in His Divinity or worship). People should not depend on these signs and claim to have the ability to foretell the future or control the good and evil events that happen to others. Furthermore, these expectations based on the cosmic signs should always remain merely assumptions and should not be depended on as decisive facts to predict the future as mentioned in the question. This is known in astrology as "Al-Ta'thir (belief in the influence of stars)". This is Shirk since these are probable expectations and everything is referred to the Will of Allah.

Secondly: There is no harm in having true vision and insight and in anticipating a certain future for someone based on their actions and behaviors. This can be applied with the same previously-mentioned limitations. They should be nothing more than expectations and everything is referred to the Will of Allah. A person may say, "I expect that so-and-so will be a merchant, since his behavior shows that he will, in sha'a-Allah (if Allah wills)."

Moreover, you should beware of those who claim to know the Ghayb, fortune-tellers, palm-readers, soothsayers and others. Ignorant people resort to them and believe the lies they tell them about their future.

Q 26: Allah (Exalted be He) says, (Say: "None in the heavens and the earth knows the Ghaib (Unseen) except Allâh") We are certain that none but Allah knows the Ghayb and this is a main pillar in a believer's creed. However, we live in a time of confusion and doubt. A person may say that nowadays, meteorology predicts when it will rain. Artificial rain can be produced by applying modern technologies. Moreover, it is very easy now for obstetricians to know the gender of the fetus by using ultrasound waves. The gender of the fetus can be requested by parents during in vitro fertilization (IVF). Some people say that all this does not contradict the Ayah (Qur'anic verse) or the Hadith (and that the problem lies in our understanding). I hope to receive an explanation from you that removes any confusion or ambiguity. I mean Surah Luqman, Ayah no. 34 and the Hadith where the Prophet (peace be upon him) said, (Keys of the Unseen knowledge are five which no one knows but Allah; (i) no one knows what will happen tomorrow; (ii) no one knows what is in the wombs; (iii) no one knows what they will earn tomorrow; (iv) no one knows in what land they will die; and (v) no one knows when it will rain.) (Related in "Jawahir" by Al-Bukhari.)

A: Firstly: meteorologists' weather predication is nothing more than intuitive expectations and everybody knows that many of their anticipations are incorrect. Meteorologists observe what is taking place in the atmosphere and on earth to make their predictions, which may or may not happen. These predictions are not among the Ghayb known only by Allah. Thus, when someone sees a sign in the sky and anticipates the blowing of wind or anything else, this is not among the Ghayb, for they have depended on signs provided by Allah for people to use. An example is the signs denoting whether the harvest will be good or bad. In the same way, meteorologists observe and predict. If what they have predicted happens, it will be based on the signs Allah makes available for them, but if it does not happen, this must be due to their mistake in analyzing the signs.

Secondly: It has not been proven that artificial rain does what is mentioned. It is an exaggeration and there is no confusion in this regard. Allah taught scientists that rain is the result of certain reactions, so they make these reactions and rain may or may not fall. If it falls, it will fall in a limited area and will not be like natural rain falling from clouds. Based on that, we all know that the countries that try to produce artificial rain do not benefit from it and if Allah does not make rain fall from the sky in these countries, they will live in drought.

Thirdly: We have already received a question about knowing the gender of the fetus with the use of ultrasound and the Permanent Committee gave the following answer: "All praise be to Allah Alone, and peace and blessings be upon His Messenger, and his family and Companions. It is confirmed in a Hadith Sahih (authentic Hadith) that the keys to the Ghayb are five and they are only known to Allah. They are mentioned in the Ayah stated in the question. Among these Hadith is what is related by Al-Bukhari on the authority of `Abdullah ibn `Umar (may Allah be pleased by them both) who narrated that the Messenger of Allah (peace be upon him) said, \(Keys of the Unseen knowledge are five which no one knows but Allah... \(Verily Allâh, with Him \(Alone\) is the knowledge of the Hour, He sends down the rain, and knows that which is in the wombs. No person knows what he will earn tomorrow, and no person knows in what land he will die. Verily, Allâh is All-Knower, All-Aware \(of things\).\)\) In another narration on the authority of Ibn `Umar (may Allah be pleased with him) who narrated that the Messenger of Allah (peace be upon him) said, \(Keys of the Unseen knowledge are five which no one knows but Allah. Then he recited: \(Verily Allâh, with Him \(Alone\) is the knowledge of the Hour, He sends down the rain, and knows that which is in the wombs.\)\) (Related by Imam Ahmad on the authority of Ibn `Umar and Ibn Mas`ud with the same meaning.) The same Hadith was reported from different narrators supporting what is mentioned in the Ayah. It states that Allah Alone possesses the knowledge of the Hour, so no one is able to disclose its time but Him. Neither a close angel nor a prophet knows its time, but Allah has given them knowledge of its signs. None other than Allah knows when and where rain will fall. Experts may know roughly when and where it will fall when the signs are present and the causes are known, but their knowledge is mixed with some conjecture, and at other times, they may be mistaken. Allah (Glorified be He) Alone knows what is in the wombs, regarding fetus's creation, its growth, the period it remains in the womb, its survival or death, and its soundness or whether an illness affects it unexpectedly. Allah knows all this without acquiring His knowledge from another and without depending on signs. He is Allah Who creates the signs and Whose Knowledge is never wrong and events always take place in reality. He is Allah (Glorified be He). Human beings may have some knowledge of whether it will be a boy or a girl, whether it will be safe or afflicted with a disease, and whether it will remain in the womb until its delivery date or not. Yet Allah guides humans to know these things through different means such as using ultrasound and they do not know it by themselves or without any help. Humans see all these signs after Allah has commanded an angel to fashion the fetus. However, they do not have comprehensive knowledge of what is happening in the womb; they only have general knowledge with a probability of error. Moreover, no one knows what they will gain the next day in relation to their religion or worldly matters. This again is the exclusive knowledge of Allah. People may generally anticipate a gain or loss, which gives them hope and urges them to exert their efforts, or makes them fearful based on the signs and circumstances. Anyway, all of that is not sure knowledge. Finally, no one knows where they will die; whether on land or in the sea, and in which country. Only Allah has this Knowledge, as He (Glorified be He) has full knowledge that encompasses all matters, the public as well as Ghayb; apparent and hidden. In short, the Knowledge of Allah is not acquired from anyone else and does not depend on reasons, signs or experiments. Allah knows what has been and what will be. His Knowledge is never vague or late and it encompasses all creatures in detail, unlike anyone else. It is Allah Alone Whose help can be sought.

Based on the previous discussion, it is clear that all that you have mentioned does not conflict with Allah's sole Knowledge of Ghayb.

May Allah grant us success! May peace and blessings be upon our Prophet Muhammad, his family and Companions!

charlatanry

Fatwa no. 13221

Q: I am an Egyptian citizen residing in Jeddah. I saw an educated person in Egypt, who maintains recitation of the Qur'an. I saw him bringing the Mus-haf (Arabic Qur'an) after performing Wudu' (ablution) and reciting the Ayat-ul-Kursy (the Qur'anic Verse of Allah's Chair, Surah Al-Baqarah, 2:255), then commanding those who were sitting with him to do the same. After doing this, he brings a pair of scissors or a ring and puts it at the middle of the Mus-haf, takes one end of the scissors with his fingers, asks another one to grab the other end, and begins to ask the Mus-haf some questions. The Mus-haf then keeps turning right and left between his hands. He asks it, for instance, whether someone is in Cairo now. If the answer is in the affirmative, the Mus-haf turns right and if not, it turns left. This is how he commands the Mus-haf, which actually turns right or left according to the answer. I hope Your Eminence will clarify the legal ruling on this method, for I am worried from it. It should be mentioned that in most cases the answer is correct.

A: The method that is mentioned in the question is not permissible, for it includes charlatanry and the use of Jinn, and all this is prohibited.

Fatwa no. 19754

Q: I would like to inform you that I live in Al-Ta'if and my wife suffers from a mental disorder. I took her to some practitioners of Ruqyah (reciting Qur'an and saying supplications over the sick as a cure) to whom most of the people in Al-Ta'if resort for treatment. However, I noticed that they commit some acts which arouse suspicions. For example:

Firstly: Some of those practitioners, who recite the Qur'an over the patients afflicted with Sihr (sorcery) or Jinn (creatures created from the fire) possession, put their fingers on the patient's eyes - whether they are males or females - and recite Ayat-ul-Kursy (the Qur'anic Verse of Allah's Chair, Surah Al-Baqarah, 2:255) and Ayah (22) of Surah Qaf. After this, the patient sees the type of Sihr, those who have cast the Sihr on them, and where the Sihr is hidden. In addition, they claim seeing other things such as snakes, persons and other places which they know. What confuses me is that the practitioner knows that he will see things of that sort and this is called "revelation". Some of those practitioners recite the Qur'an in a low voice while standing before the patient. They then stretch their hand toward the patient and blow over it, saying "The patient is afflicted with Sihr which is sentinelled by a male, female or a flying jinni.

Secondly: My wife is afflicted with Sihr - as they claim and Allah knows best. When the practitioner recited the Qur'an over her, something strange took place; she vomited pieces of fabric and blood. She sometimes vomited small plants, three nails wrapped in a piece of fabric, and locks of hair and fingernails placed in a plastic bag. Some other patients vomited pieces of leather sewn and placed in a bag with some fingernails, nails, and locks of hair. The practitioners of Ruqyah claim that these items are Sihr placed in the stomach of the patient by the Jinn. We, thus, thought of presenting this matter to Your Honor seeking your explanation Should we believe such things and consult these practitioners? Do these acts represent Islamically lawful Ruqyah? Is it true what the patient sees and what comes out from them? May Allah preserve you!

A: If what you have stated in the question about those practitioners is true, it will be Haram (prohibited) to consult them. What they are doing can never be classified as lawful Ruqyah; rather, it is a way of swindling, false talk, and guesswork which are not based on truth or sound evidence. Such practices may indicate that those people employ Satan and engage in soothsaying and sorcery, and thus the patients do not see what is really there. Moreover, they can bring tangible items and make the patient falsely think that they are coming out of their stomachs, by managing to do this through the help of Satan and Jinn. Accordingly, it is not permissible to consult these practitioners, seek treatment from them, or even to treat sorcery with sorcery. You are required to sincerely repent to Allah from consulting such people and not do this again in the future. It is not permissible to believe what they are doing, because it was reported on the authority of Abu Hurayrah (may Allah be pleased with him) that the Prophet (peace be upon him) stated, \(If anyone resorts to a diviner or a soothsayer and believes in what he says, they will be disbelievers in what was revealed to Muhammad.\) (Related by the four Ahl-ul-Sunan (authors of Hadith compilations classified by jurisprudential themes), and Al-Hakim who ranked it as Sahih (authentic)). Also, the Prophet (peace be upon him) stated, \(Anyone who sees omens or has omens seen for them; predicts or has the future predicted for them; performs Sihr or has Sihr performed for them is not one of us.\) (Related by Al-Tabarani on the authority of `Imran ibn Husayn, and Al-Manawiy commented that its Sanad (chain of narrators) is good.) The Prophet (peace be upon him) said when asked about Al-Nushrah: \(It is from the acts of Satan.\) (Related by Imam Ahmad and Abu Dawud with a good Sanad) Al-Nushrah means treating Sihr with Sihr.

We advise you to treat your wife by using the Islamically acceptable Ruqyah from the Qur'an, Adhkar (invocations and Remembrances said at certain times on a regular basis), Prophetic supplications, or prescribed medications which do not include unlawful ingredients. The Prophet (peace be upon him) stated, \(Treat yourselves medically for there is no disease that Allah has created except that He also has created its treatment, about which some people know and other do not know.\) (Related by Imam Ahmad, Al-Tirmidhy, Abu Dawud, and Ibn Majah) Abu Dawud added: \(Treat yourselves medically, but use nothing unlawful.\) If you know where the Sihr is hidden, you are permitted to dig it out - if it is buried underground - and destroy it by burning or by any other means to nullify its effect. That was done by the Prophet (peace be upon him) when a spell was cast on him and he learned where it was hidden.

Fatwa no. 17372

Q: Your Eminence, there is a person in Indonesia who treats people who are sick. One of the trustworthy people went to see him and told me what he saw. He told me that the man asks the person who is ill to lie on a bed. He then puts his hand on them and holds the area that is painful and recites over them. He then puts adhesive tape over the area and asks the person who is ill to come back after two or three days. On the second appointment, he holds the area that hurts and recites in Arabic: "In the Name of Allah, the Most Gracious, Most Merciful. I seek refuge with Allah from the heat of the Fire and the evil of every agitated vein. O Allah, the Ever-Kind! Treat us with Your Subtle Kindness." He repeats this and then recites in an unknown language and presses (the part that hurts) and removes the pain. It is as if it is before a surgical operation, but the person only feels the pain for a few moments after it. It is as if he makes a cut with a sharp instrument. He then puts the adhesive tape on it and asks the person who is ill to remove it after three or four days, telling them during this time that they should refrain from eating meat or fat. After that, a good result, by the Will of Allah, will be clearly seen.

The man does not charge a specific fee and says about himself that he cures through the Qur'an. He is a lieutenant-colonel in the army and he is in charge of an orphanage and is also a Khatib (preacher) in a Masjid (mosque). One man who went to him for treatment told me that he saw him smoke and shake hands with non-Mahram women (not a spouse or unmarriageable relatives). Once a boy came to him when I was there, who had excess skin on his upper lip, about 3 cm of loose black skin. The man told me to watch. He first mentioned Allah's Name, removed it with his hand in a second, and when the blood poured out, he placed adhesive tape on it. It is said that many people visit him to be cured of illnesses such as epilepsy, cancer, and problems with their eyesight. Some members of my family want to travel to see this man for treatment, but they are worried. Please give us a Fatwa (legal opinion issued by a qualified Muslim scholar) on the ruling regarding going to this man for treatment. May Allah reward you with the best!

A: It is not permissible to go to this person, because his 'Aqidah (creed) is unknown, and he recites unknown words over the patients as ruqyah (supplications recited over the sick seeking healing); also because of what is mentioned about his laxity in Din (religion), as he smokes and shakes hands with non-Mahram women.

Q: I read the following passage in an old book entitled: "Tadhkarat Dawwud fi al- 'Ilaj bil Tib wal a'shab" and in other books:

Whoever recites: "Bismillah Al-Rahman, Al-Rahim (In the Name of Allah, the Most Gracious, the Most Merciful)"

231 times over unmarketable goods, Allah will make it easy to sell them.

Whoever recites it 31 times over a glass of water and then gives it to any person they love, Allah will implant love for them in their heart.

Whoever recites it 50 times after Fajr (Dawn) Prayer in complete Khushu' (the heart being attuned to the act of worship) and submissiveness, Allah will make them see in their dreams what humans are not allowed to see.

My question is:

Is reciting "Bismillah Al-Rahman, Al-Rahim" in this way Halal (lawful) or Haram (prohibited)?

Is it permissible to recite it over a glass of water and then give it to a dear friend who does not perform Salah (Prayer) or know little about the Din (religion), in the hope that Allah will guide them and open their heart to Iman (faith) and Salah?

A: Basmalah (saying, "Bismillah Al-Rahman, Al-Rahim") is a blessed form of Dhikr (Remembrance of Allah) and it is Mustahab (desirable) to recite it before every Surah (chapter) of the Qur'an, except Surah Bara'ah (i.e. Surah Al-Tawbah). It is lawful to recite it before starting any desired matter. However, reciting it a given number of times and with the intentions mentioned in the question has no origin in the Shari'ah (Islamic law); therefore, it is not permissible to recite it in this way.

The book "Tadhkirat Ulu Al-'Albab fi Al-Tib", commonly known as "Tadhkirat Dawwud", after its author, Dawwud ibn 'Umar Al-Antaky, and then Al-Qahiri, who died in Makkah in the year 1008, is full of such sayings that have no origin in the Shari'ah. We, therefore, advise you not to read it, and to read instead the books of the Sunnah (what was reported from the Prophet) and those written by the Salaf (righteous predecessors) of this Ummah (nation under one creed), such as the book "Al-Tib Al-Nabawy (Medicine of the Prophet)", by Ibn Al-Qayyim, Al-Dhahaby, and Ibn Muflih (may Allah be merciful to all of them). And Allah knows best.

The third and fourth questions of Fatwa no. 14893

Q 3: I got seriously ill and my family members and neighbors collectively concluded that a Qarin (a personal Jinn companion for humans) had possessed me. When I was informed that I must rid myself of this Qarin through incantations and the like, I refused. Actually, I find comfort in reading the Qur'an and Islamic-related books and listening to the Hadith. I also love Ahl-ul-Bayt (members of the Prophet's extended Muslim family), particularly Al-Husayn and Zaynab and love visiting them. Is this wrong?

A: It is not permissible for Muslims to go to sorcerers, to use talismans, or incantations that involve Shirk (associating others in worship with Allah). Instead, one should seek treatment through known medicines prescribed by doctors or through Islamically lawful invocations read by persons who perform Ruqyah (reciting Qur'an and supplications over the sick as a cure). It is not permissible for a Muslim to visit graves and supplicate there. Invoking the dwellers of the graves is a major Shirk (associating others with Allah in His Divinity or worship). Love of Allah's Messenger (peace be upon him) and his household is an act of worship that brings one closer to Allah (Glorified and Exalted be He) on condition that a Muslim carries out His orders and avoids things He prohibits. It should be noted that women's visiting of the graves is not permissible according to the preponderant opinion of scholars, because the Prophet (peace be upon him) cursed women who visit graves.

Q 4: I have had many marriage proposals, but none have succeeded. People tell me that I am possessed by Jinn (creatures created from fire) and bewitched. Is this true? How can I undo this spell, or possession? It may be worth mentioning that I suffer from spasms when I become angry, and I sometimes have nightmares.

A: You must beware of the whisperings that Satan makes to cause grief to the believers. You have also to perform your Islamic duties of `Ibadah (worship) as commanded by Allah. You should increase your Du`a' (supplication), Dhikr (Remembrance of Allah), Qur'an recitation, and read the Adhkar (invocations and Remembrances said at certain times on a regular basis) after the obligatory Salahs (Prayers) especially Fajr (Dawn), Maghrib (Sunset), and `Isha' (Night) Prayers. You may also visit a person who treats using Ruqyah (reciting Qur'an and transmitted supplications over the sick as a cure), hopefully Allah will cure you. In addition, you can recite frequently: A`udhu Bikalimat-illahi Al-tammati Min Sharri Ma Khalaq (I seek refuge with the Perfect Words of Allah from the evil of what He has created) in the morning and at night. Also, recite Ayat-ul-Kursy (the Qur'anic Verse of Allah's Chair, Surah Al-Baqarah, 2:255) after every obligatory Salah (Prayer) and when you go to bed. Finally, you can recite the Surahs (Qur'anic chapters) of (Say (O Muhammad صلى الله عليه وسلم): "He is Allâh, (the) One.), (Say: "I seek refuge with (Allâh), the Lord of the daybreak,), and (Say: "I seek refuge with (Allâh) the Lord of mankind,) after you perform every obligatory Salah, and repeat the three Surahs thrice after Fajr (Dawn) and Maghrib (Sunset) Prayers. Reciting all these will remove all things that hurt you, In sha'a-Allah (if Allah wills).

Q 4: When people in our country suffer from mental illness, they visit some shrines built on graves and claim they are cured. What is the ruling on this?

A: If the case is as you mentioned, the disease that such people suffer from is only Satanic delusions and acts that afflict those whose `Aqidah (creed) is corrupted, and who are controlled by Satan. These people respond to Satan's whispers and visit the graves of the so called Awliya' (pious people) to be cured. Since this practice is Shirk (associating others with Allah in His Divinity or worship), Satan is pleased with them and stops his whisperings to them and thus they recover by the permission of Allah (Exalted be He). This is a trial for them by Allah (Exalted be He). We seek refuge in Allah (Exalted be He), His Power and Might from Satan's whispers, delusions, Fitnah (trial), and plots. On the other hand, Allah may cure a person coinciding with the latter's visit to a grave. Thus, they think that they recovered because of visiting the shrines which are built on the graves of Awliya'. Only Allah guides to the Right Path.

Fatwa no. 1635

Q: Attached to my letter is a sheet of paper entitled Al-Da'irah Al-Nuraniyyah (luminous circle). Is it a fact or a myth? It may be worth mentioning that this paper contains some Ayahs (Qur'anic verses) along with some meaningless words like Sqatim, Sqfatis, etc. What is the ruling on this?

A: It is not permissible to use incantations that contain unattached letters and meaningless words that may be names of devils. Even if such incantations contain meaningful words, using them is not permissible for this is tantamount to making Du`a' (supplication) to other than Allah. This is also a form of seeking help of others beside Allah which is tantamount to major Shirk (associating others with Allah in His Divinity or worship) if one seeks protection from them, or as a means to get the blessings of such names, or that the latter are believed to be a reason for recovery, or the fulfillment of any need. Ayahs of the Noble Qur'an are only written on the same sheet of paper to confuse people and mix truth with falsehood.

Conjuration

Q: We have noticed the spread of conjuration especially in university areas and on beaches during summer vacation. I was once on a beach and when I entered my colleagues' tent, I ridiculed what they were doing. Nevertheless, a glass suddenly moved and displayed my first name, my surname, etc. I, thus, believed in conjuration for a period of time. Please give the scientific and Islamic explanation for such a phenomenon? What is the ruling on it, and on the person who practices it?

A: conjuration is a satanic practice which involves using Jinn (creatures created from fire) in a way that contradicts Tawhid (belief in the Oneness of Allah). This is because conjuration is only done through acts of Shirk (tantamount to associating others associates others with Allah in His Divinity or worship). Beings who report such information as what is mentioned in the question are not souls. Rather, they are devils who declare this information to deceive people. No one can call souls except Allah (Glorified and Exalted be He). Accordingly, it is Wajib (obligatory) to believe that conjuration is falsehood that must be rejected, not attended, and not accepted as truth.

Q: A man who constructed a small Masjid (mosque) in a corner of his building establishes the congregational Salah (Prayer) and mentions nine of the Most Beautiful Names of Allah one hundred thousand times. he holds sessions and informs people about things that have already taken place, and what will happen in the future. This person claims that he receives Ilham (inspiration) from Allah (Glorified and Exalted be He) and when we reject this he refers to the story of Prophet Musa (Moses, peace be upon him) and the righteous servant of Allah (Al-Khadir). He explains that latter only depended on Ilham not knowledge of Ghayb (the Unseen) when he made a hole in the ship, killed the boy, and built the wall.

What is the ruling on this?

A: This person who calls himself shaykh is simply telling things that the devils inform him of. He does not receive Ilham. To make it clearer, devils circulate information amongst each other then tell their allies whether humans or demons about it. They do so only for those who associate them in `Ibadah (worship) with Allah. Allah (Exalted be He) states regarding them, ﴿Our Lord! We benefited one from the other﴾ One form of being benefited by human beings is that some of the latter worship them. On the other hand, Al-Khadir acted upon the Wahy (Revelation) of Allah (Glorified and Exalted be He) as he was a prophet according to the most proper of the two opinions of scholars. This is why Al-Khadir (peace be upon him) said at the end of the narrative: ﴿And I did them not of my own accord.﴾

The first question of Fatwa no. 17382

Q 1: In the Al-Majalis Magazine, issue no. 1168, dated 24/12/1994 AD, pp 4-6, a reporter wrote, "The era of miracles is over and man should believe in nothing but scientific facts that exist around us. After great hesitation I decided to go to a young man who claims he is able to cure AIDS in two minutes and challenges any doctor to add something new to the diagnosis he makes. To my surprise, when I arrived I found that the house of this man, based in Egypt, was crowded with people from many countries and classes. For example, a woman, whose attempts at recovery in Europe failed, visited this man. People from various professions, including lawyers, accountants and teachers, came to this man hoping that he would cure their illness. They do not care about the person who can provide them with treatment, even if he is listed among the swindlers and charlatans. While attending a session of treatment, I could not believe what I saw or understand what happened in front of all of us. Even worse, people assert that this "blessed man" performs miracles. Some of them told me that they were about to recover and others had already recovered once he used a stone and put his hand on their body. This man gained popularity throughout Egypt, from Alexandria to Aswan. Owing to this popularity, the American CNN network visited his house and conducted an interview with him. He told his story, saying that his name is Magdy Abd Al-Sami` Murad and that he works as a teacher. Born on 3/5/1965 AD, he is married and has two sons. He said he enjoyed playing football. One day, he returned home after finishing his work and asked his wife to prepare lunch. He performed Salah and sat down to recite Qur'an. At that moment, he felt as if a heavy hill entered his body causing him to shiver and move unconsciously. His family thought that he was suffering from a disease. However, they heard a voice coming from his mouth saying, 'I am Queen Sally and 2 billion believing Jinn work for me. I came to heal patients through Magdy.' He regained consciousness and his family told him what happened. Later, Queen Sally talked to him face to face, saying that she aimed at curing serious diseases through him using the Qur'an. There are 2 billion believing Jinn assigned by her to treat these human diseases using the Qur'an." This is the entire story of this man published in the magazine. My question is: If this story is true, will it be permissible to go to this man? I appreciate your comment.

A: This man is a liar and a charlatan who makes use of people who have a weak mind. Such people who claim they have accidents, experiences and journeys with Jinn increases in number. The story mentioned in this magazine and others stated in a book entitled, 'An Interview with a Muslim Jinni', are some examples of fabrication used to extract money from people. Other people use such stories to cast doubt on the faith of Muslims. Therefore, you should be careful, and remain certain and steadfast in all such things and in all your affairs.

Q: A person had a car accident and suffered loss of memory and a coma that lasted for a long period of time. Afterwards, his condition improved slightly and he started to move his limbs, but he could not speak, remember anything, or perceive any information. His father has done his best to find all possible treatment; however, there are some people who treat such incurable diseases, using what is called 'spiritual medicine' that is practiced by both Kuffar (disbelievers) and Muslims. In most cases they achieve positive results and many patients, who tend to suffer from incurable diseases, recover by their treatment. Is it permissible to resort to such people? It should be mentioned that I do not know the techniques they use in their treatment.

A: It is not permissible to resort to or be treated by them until you are aware of the techniques they use in their treatment and are certain that they do not contradict the purified Shari`ah (Islamic Law).

The first and second questions of Fatwa no. 18891

Q 1, 2: What is the ruling on a person who tells people that he comes down to graves, lives with those buried and transmits their news? What is the ruling on those who come to our homes and claim to be sent by Ibn 'Ulwan or other Awliya' (pious people) to expel snakes out of our homes? Actually, some of them stipulate to go in homes while naked to be able to expel snakes.

A: All the things mentioned above are related to false beliefs and superstitions which have to be denied and warned against. Moreover, those who do such acts have to be punished as they corrupt and confuse people's creed.

Fatwa no. 18730

Q: My elder sister was married eight years ago. She has not given birth yet. She saw many doctors and tried many drugs but it was all in vain. She now tries very amazing medicine regarding which I have doubts. It is something like dough (a loaf) which my sister irrigates as if it is a plant. Every time it is irrigated, the dough produces another dough, as some fruits would do, which my sister gives to another barren woman every fifteen days. After a certain period, when my sister has finished distributing the dough, my sister takes the remaining dough for herself. In fact, I do not know how she uses it. Is such behavior sound, bearing in mind that the dough is taken from a person who is claimed to have brought it from sacred Hajj locations?

A: The behavior you mentioned, that your sister makes use of certain dough in hope of having children is false and groundless which must be forsaken. However, she has to rely on Allah, supplicate to him and seek lawful medication. \(And whosoever fears Allāh and keeps his duty to Him, He will make a way for him to get out \(from every difficulty\).\) \(And He will provide him from \(sources\) he never could imagine. And whosoever puts his trust in Allāh, then He will suffice him.\) Undoubtedly, having children or otherwise is something predestined by Allah (Glorified and Exalted be He). Allah (Exalted be He) said, \(He bestows female \(offspring\) upon whom He wills, and bestows male \(offspring\) upon whom He wills.\) \(Or He bestows both males and females, and He renders barren whom He wills. Verily, He is the All-Knower and is Able to do all things.\)

Q 3: When a person accused of theft is brought before some people here, they burn him with a heated piece of iron. If he admits his act, it will be all right; otherwise, fire will cause him no harm. Is such behavior permissible according to Allah's religion?

A: This is a prohibited groundless behavior. Moreover, it falls under prohibited jugglery which renders one's creed corrupt. Thus, it has to be avoided and other lawful methods of interrogating convicts have to be adopted.

The second question of Fatwa no. 18839

Q 2: My sister has been suffering from a disease caused by a defect in the nerves, and the doctor refused to allow her to stay longer in hospital, and so we turned to charlatans who prepared some exotic rituals for her. While these rituals were being performed, our neighbor came by and said to these charlatans that if her daughter was cured, she would reward them. After a long time she came to me with a sum of money and asked me to give it to these charlatans, but I did not, because I could not find them and I did not exert any effort to deliver this money to them. What should I do?

A: You should return the money to the woman who gave it to you or to her heirs, and do not pay it to the charlatan, as it is not lawfully his.

Fatwa no. 18987

Q: My brother occupies a very outstanding and enviable position. He also has a wife and two daughters. however, he - May Allah guide him - began to collect dust and old bones from graves in addition to old ragged clothes. he started to write incantations under the pretence that he causes the absent to come and breaks spell. It is worth mentioning that he does not benefit or harm people. He only does that under the pretence that he received a bequeathal from one of his dead relatives, who used to practice the same deed, to do that. However, he and I know well that he practices it only to make money and gain wealth and he knows that he does not benefit people.

What is the ruling on this?

A: These actions are fraudulent and belong to those who turn people away from the Lord of the worlds and consume their money unjustly. Thus, giving advice is necessary along with warning him against these actions and reminding him of Allah (Exalted be He). If he does not respond positively, you may report him to the authorities to stop, deter, and punish him justly to protect people from his evil.

Fatwa no. 18787

What is the ruling on snake charmers? The snake charmer is said to possess certain characteristics, such as:

- 1- A dead scorpion is added to the milk that a snake charmer suckles from his mother, or it is just placed over her breast (during breastfeeding). In so doing, people claim that the snake charmer becomes immune to scorpions, snakes and worms and they cannot harm him.
- 2- Scorpions, snakes and worms do not bite or affect snake charmers.
- 3- Saliva of the snake charmer cures those who are poisoned.
- 4- Urine or saliva of the snake charmer kills scorpions and snakes immediately, but the snake charmer loses this quality and becomes a normal person after he urinates or spits over them. Hence, he neither spits nor kills scorpions and snakes.
- 5- A snake charmer may confine a scorpion or a snake to a circle he draws on earth so that it cannot escape even if it dies inside it.
- 6- A mature man who wishes to become a snake charmer must go to another snake charmer to transmit these characteristics to him.

7- Some snake charmers address worms with special words and their fathers may utter these words upon placing a dead scorpion on his son when he was young. This is a full description of a snake charmer as experienced people told me, and I want to hear your Fatwa to end the dispute and remove confusion over this issue.

May Allah protect you.

A: It was authentically reported from Allah's Messenger (peace be upon him) on the authority of Khawlah bint Hakim that he (peace be upon him) said: «When anyone lands at a place and then says "I seek refuge with the Perfect Words of Allah from the evil of what He has created," nothing will harm him until he leaves that place.» (Related by Muslim in his Sahih (authentic) Book of Hadith)

It was also narrated on the authority of `Imran ibn Husayn that Allah's Messenger (peace be upon him) said: «There is no Ruqyah \(reciting Qur'an and supplicating over the sick seeking healing\) better than that which is said as a treatment for an evil eye or \(a sting of\) a Humah.» (Related by Ahmad)

The Arabic word 'Humah' means the venomous animals such as snakes and scorpions. Also, it was narrated on the authority of `Aishah (may Allah be pleased with her) that Allah's Messenger (peace be upon him) used to recite in his Ruqyah: «In the Name of Allah. The dust of our land and the saliva of some of us can cure our patient with the Permission of Allah.» (Related by Al-Bukhari)

These Hadithes indicate that a Muslim should combat the evil of poisonous animals, or the like, through Islamically lawful Ruqyah. This involves seeking refuge in Allah Alone and relying completely on the belief that He Alone can bring benefit or cause harm.

It was narrated in the Two Sahih (authentic) Books of Hadith of Al-Bukhari and Muslim (that Abu Sa`id Al-Khudry (may Allah be pleased with him) narrated: "Some of the Sahabah (Companions of the Prophet, peace be upon him) went on a journey until they reached some of the Arab tribes (at night). They asked the latter to treat them as their guests but they refused. The chief of that tribe was then bitten by a snake (or stung by a scorpion) and they tried their best to cure him but in vain. Some of them said (to the others), 'Nothing has benefited him, will you go to the people who resided here at night, it may be that some of them have something (as treatment),' They went to the group of the Sahabah and said, 'Our chief has been bitten by a snake (or stung by a scorpion) and we have tried everything but he has not benefited. Have you got anything (useful)?' One of them replied, 'Yes, by Allah! I can recite a Ruqyah for him, but as you have refused to accept us as your guests, I will not recite the Ruqyah for you unless you fix us some wages for it.' They agreed to pay them a flock of sheep. One of them then went and recited (Surah Al-Fatihah): ﴿All the praises and thanks be to Allâh, the Lord of the 'Alamîn (mankind, jinn and all that exists).﴾ over the chief who recovered as if he was released from chains, and got up and started walking, showing no signs of sickness. They paid them what they agreed to pay. Some of them (i.e. the Companions) then suggested to divide their earnings among themselves, but the one who performed the Ruqyah said, 'Do not divide them until we go to the Prophet (peace be upon him) and narrate the whole story to him, and wait for his order.' Therefore, they went to the Messenger of Allah (peace be upon him) and narrated the story. Allah's Messenger (peace be upon him) asked, 'How did you come to know that Surah Al-Fatihah was recited as Ruqyah?' Then he added, 'You have done the right thing. Divide (what you have earned) and assign a share for me as well.' The Prophet (peace be upon him) then smiled.﴾ This is the narration of

Al-Bukhari.

The Prophet (peace be upon him) used to seek Allah's refuge for Al-Hasan and Al-Husayn as related in the Hadith narrated on the authority of Ibn `Abbas (may Allah be pleased with them both): ﴿The Prophet (peace be upon him) used to seek refuge in Allah for Al-Hasan and Al-Husayn and say, "Your forefather (i.e. Abraham) used to seek refuge in Allah for Isma`il (Ishmael) and Is-haq (Isaac) by reciting the following: 'O Allah! I seek Refuge with Your Perfect Words from every devil and from poisonous pests and from every evil, harmful, envious eye.'"﴾ (Related by Al-Bukhari, Muslim, Al-Tirmidhy, Abu Dawud, Ibn Majah and Ahmad)

Snakes, scorpions and similar poisonous pests harm man by nature, so the Prophet (peace be upon him) described them as evil and harmful animals by saying: ﴿Five are the harmful animals which should be killed in the state of Ihram or otherwise...﴾ the Hadith included snakes and scorpions.

Thus, the claims of these fraudulent people that snake charmers possess the qualities mentioned above, such as taming harmful, poisonous animals, controlling and confining them, curing persons bitten by these animal with their saliva, not being harmed or stung by these animals, immunizing the infants from the poison of scorpions and snakes through taking a dead scorpion mixed with the breastfeeding milk - all these claims are lies, falsehood, and myths. They involve seeking help of devils and relating to the jinn as well as cooperating with them in sin and transgression. These myths are meant to deceive the common, naive people.

Some snake charmers claim they are Awliya' (pious people) owing to the unusual events they practice. A Muslim should not be tempted by them or deceived by their claims; rather, he must reject them and keep away from them. He should warn people against their evil and believe that they commit acts of Bid`ah (innovation in religion) and heresy.

May Allah grant us success. May peace and blessings be upon our Prophet Muhammad, his family and Companions.

The second question of Fatwa no. 19172

All praise be to Allah Alone, peace and blessings be upon His Last Prophet.

The Permanent Committee for Scholarly Research and Ifta' has looked into a request for Fatwa submitted to His Eminence the General Mufti (Islamic scholar qualified to issue legal opinions) from the representative of Da`wah and Guidance Center in Duba' No. A/135, dated 7/6/1417 A.H, and referred to the Committee from the General Secretariat of the Council of Senior Scholars, No. 3251, dated 17/6/1417 A.H. The questioner's inquiry reads:

Your Eminence has earlier issued a Fatwa no. 18787, dated 3/5/1417 A.H, that rendered the act of a magician as Haram (prohibited), but some people were not convinced of that, let alone the magician himself. Does his sin become greater? Please support your answer with evidence, given that he does not have enough knowledge to say what is Halal and what is not.

(Part No. 1; Page No. 272)

After examining the issue, the Committee answered as follows:

some people discern the shar`y (Islamically lawful) ruling which is based upon evidence from the Book of Allah and the sunnah of His Prophet (peace be upon him) but do not abide by it. They may do this out of arrogance; they may be sinners and should immediately repent sincerely. If someone finds anything dubious or can not fully grasp the evidence, they will be entitled to repeat the question to knowledgeable people and scholars to clarify it and make it understandable. However, once the truth becomes discernable for the questioner, it is obligatory upon him to abide by the Shar`y ruling, even if it goes against the desires and whims of his own self.

May Allah grant us success! May peace and blessings be upon our Prophet Muhammad, his family and Companions!

All praise be to Allah Alone, and peace and blessings be upon the Last of the Prophets.

The Permanent Committee for Scholarly Research and Ifta' has examined the Fatwa request submitted to His Eminence the Chief Mufti by the second Middle School Deputy in `Afif, which is referred to the Committee by the Council of Senior Scholars with no. 7095 dated 3/12/1419 A.H. The questioner asked a question stating:

We submit to you this Fatwa request from the second `Afif Middle School in `Afif. An eye-catching paper became widely circulated among school students bearing the title "Be my friend". Some copies of the paper are computer-printed while others are handwritten as attached. Following is a description of how the paper works:

You choose the first letter of your hidden friend's name and whether male or female. Example:

The letter "b" bears the number (6).

You prepare another paper to count the total number.

You then choose their eye color. Example: brown eyes bear the number (4).

You then choose the friend's country. Example: Saudi Arabia is number (1), and so on, ending up with the place where you meet your friend.

Points - numbers - you got are then added and the paper is turned to give the result of how your friend feels towards you or how he deals with you. For example, if the total is (33), the result will be "he hates you very much" and so on.

After examining the Fatwa request, the Committee replied:

The paper referred to above entitled "Be my friend" which explains how to make a friend through a naive way based on letters and numbers is a new method adopted by imposters and superstitious people. It also apparently involves playing with minds and feelings. Accordingly, it is not permissible to act upon such a paper, publish it, or spread it among students or among the masses in general. Furthermore, anyone who is found having such a paper is to be advised and criticized, a manner which involves cooperation in good and piety and advising Muslims.

May Allah grant us success! May peace and blessings be upon our Prophet Muhammad, his family and Companions!

Fatwa no. 21007

Q: Praise be to Allah Alone and may peace and blessings be upon the one after whom there is no prophet.

The Permanent Committee for Scholarly Research and Ifta' has examined the Fatwa request submitted to His Eminence the Chief Mufti by the judge of Bish in his letter no. 160, dated 19/ 1/ 1420 A.H., attached therewith is the Fatwa request submitted by Ibrahim `Aly Muhammad, which was referred by the Secretary General of the Council of Senior Scholars. The questioner asks about the attached publication stating: There is none worthy of being worshipped but Allah and Muhammad is the Messenger of Allah. There was a sick 16-year-old girl whose case was incurable. One night, she wept so bitterly and slept. In her dream she saw Zaynab (may Allah be pleased with her) who gave her water to drink. When the girl woke up, she found herself cured by Allah's leave. She also found a piece of cloth on which was written that she had to publish this message and distribute it to 13 people. The message was later received by a marine brigadier general who distributed it and thus got a promotion 13 days later. It was also received by a merchant who paid it no attention and thus lost all his wealth 13 days later. Moreover, it was received by a worker who distributed it and thus got a promotion and all his problems were solved within 13 days. Therefore, I hope that you, Muslim brother, publish it and distribute it to 13 persons. Please, do not be negligent.

A: After examining the Fatwa request, the Committee replied:

This paper spread among people from time to time is false and groundless. Rather, it belongs to fabrications of liars and imposters who aim at making Muslims rely in bringing benefit and averting harm on creatures rather than on their Lord (Glorified be He) and making them depend on illusions and superstitions for which Allah has revealed no authority [i.e., has no basis in Islam]. Thus, it is obligatory on a Muslim not to be deceived by such false publications and the like. Moreover, everyone has to warn others against them and burn them whenever found. Furthermore, those who write, distribute or help distribute them are sinful and apt to Allah's immediate or later punishment as such a publication is a means to Shirk and rejected innovation in Allah's religion.

Q: What should a man who finds an owl in his home do? What is the ruling on believing that it is an evil omen? What supplication should be said on hearing its sound? May Allah reward you well!

A: Believing in Islam indicates total submission to, reliance on, heading toward and dependence on Allah in bringing benefit and averting harm. Allah (Exalted be He) said, ﴿You \(Alone\) we worship, and You \(Alone\) we ask for help \(for each and everything\).﴾ He (Exalted be He) also said, ﴿So worship Him \(O Muhammad صلى الله عليه وسلم\) and put your trust in Him. And your Lord is not unaware of what you \(people\) do.﴾ Thus, it is obligatory on Muslims to dedicate all forms of worship to Allah Alone (Glorified and Exalted be He). They also have to have hope in Allah Alone regarding achieving what they aspire to, bringing their benefits, and removing their fears and averting harm. This is to be accompanied by adopting all the lawful worldly means which Allah had destined to lead to their inevitable results. Moreover, a Muslim has to abandon regarding birds, such as owls, as evil omens. In fact, believing that they may bring benefit or avert harm is Shirk (associating others with Allah in His Divinity or worship) which runs counter to monotheism. Abu Hurayrah (may Allah be pleased with him) is authentically reported to have narrated the Prophet (peace be upon him) as saying, ﴿There is no 'Adwa \(no contagious disease is conveyed without Allah's permission\), nor is there any bad omen \(from birds\), nor is there any Hamah \(pre-Islamic belief: bones of the dead turning into a bird called Al-Sada\), nor is there any bad omen in the month of Safar.﴾ Thus, the Prophet (peace be upon him) invalidated the pre-Islamic customs of believing that there are evil omens in such things and denied them any effect. It is also authentically reported [﴿on the authority of Mu`awiyah ibn Al-Hakam that he said to Allah's Messenger: 'There are men among us who believe in bad omens.' The Prophet said, 'This is \(baseless\) inner thinking which should not hold you back \[from doing what you are up to do\].﴾](#) Hence, the Prophet (peace be upon him) informed us that believing birds to be evil omens is something made up by pessimists as they themselves fear dangers they only imagine to have heard or seen. He also prohibited us to be stopped from doing something we embark on, such as travel, work or the like, merely for evil omens. Rather, we have to rely on Allah and perform the worldly affairs we embark on. Furthermore, the Prophet (peace be upon him) ordered those who see something which they believe to be an evil omen to say: ﴿O Allah, no one brings good things except You, and no one averts evil things except You and there is no might and power but in Allah.﴾ (Related by Abu Dawud).

Praise be to Allah, Alone, and peace and blessing be upon the Last Prophet.

The Permanent Committee for Scholarly Research and Ifta' have read the letter received to his Eminence, the General Mufti (Islamic scholar qualified to issue legal opinions) from the Manager of Religious Affairs Department of the Armed Forces, no. 3/10/4196, which was sent to the Committee from the Secretariat General of the Council of Senior Scholars no. 19 T, dated 4/1/1412 A.H. in which the inquirer asks a question reading: "I hope you will advise us on some deaths at a hospital due to very contagious diseases, such as the Acquired Immune Deficiency Syndrome (AIDS), in addition to some deaths caused by hepatitis. Many doctors say these diseases are contagious. As a result of this, some corpses get partially decomposed in the morgue fridges, and others remain there until they become deformed. Thus, I hope you will advise us whether or not they should be washed. Can we perform Tayammum (dry ablution) for them? If Tayammum is permissible, should the plastic bag placed on the face be opened or can Tayammum be applied over it to avoid infection?

After the Committee had studied the inquiry, it answered as follows:

The same steps followed in washing the dead should be applied to the cases that were mentioned. These diseases are not contagious by themselves.

People usually attribute the action to other than Allah (Exalted be He), and this is why it is authentically reported in a Hadith narrated by Abu Hurayrah (may Allah be pleased with him) that he said that the Messenger of Allah (peace be upon him) said, «There should be neither 'Adwa (believing that a disease becomes contagious spontaneously not by Allah's Predestination), nor Tiyyarah (believing in bad omen), or Hamah (believing that the bones of the dead turn into a bird), or Safar (rendering the month of Safar a sacred month.)» Rather, it can be transmitted, by Allah's Will (Exalted be He), from a patient to a sound person. Therefore, it is permissible to use the precautionary tools available, such as vaccination, masks, gloves, and so on.

The first question of Fatwa no. 21898

Q 1: I feel pity for my mother and other women who hold some false beliefs, including, for example, that the milk of a woman who suckles ceases to flow if someone carrying meat or someone who had his beard shaved enters upon her, especially if this occurs during the first week after giving birth. My mother thinks that if a menstruating woman enters upon a suckling woman, she will not get pregnant again. She also thinks that if a newly-married woman is visited by a menstruating woman, she will not get pregnant. She believes in superstitions that this woman can get pregnant if she performs Ghusl (ritual bath) three times at the time of Jumu`ah (Friday) Prayer. I swear by Allah (Exalted be He) that my husband and I tried hard to convince her, but she argues that my mother-in-law holds the same beliefs. My husband tried hard with his mother. Please bear in mind that my mother observes Salah (Prayer) and attends Islamic lectures; however, we failed to change her beliefs. We do not know what we should do.

A: These beliefs are false; she should repent from them and have Tawakkul (putting one's trust in Allah.) The Prophet (peace be upon him) said, Remember that if all the people gather to harm you, they will not be able to afflict you with anything other than that which Allah had pre-destined for you. Allah (Exalted be He) says, [It is only Shaitân \(Satan\) that suggests to you the fear of his Auliâ' \[supporters and friends \(polytheists, disbelievers in the Oneness of Allâh and in His Messenger, Muhammad ﷺ\)\]; so fear them not, but fear Me, if you are \(true\) believers.](#) These beliefs are considered part of tiyarah (believing in bad omen), which the Prophet (peace be upon him) regarded as Shirk (associating others with Allah in His Divinity or worship). Therefore, she should repent from this. Muslims should be warned against such beliefs and the like that fall under the category of Shirk.

May Allah grant us success! May peace and blessings be upon our Prophet, his family and Companions!

Q: Is it permissible for women to wear the French Riyals engraved with human figures or not? Please advise! May Allah reward you with the best.

A: It is not permissible to wear jewelry with designs of living beings engraved or stamped. It is authentically reported that the Messenger of Allah (peace be upon him) stated: \(Those who make such figures would be punished on the Day of Resurrection and it would be said to them: Breathe soul into what you have created.\) \(He also said to `Aly \(may Allah be pleased with him\): "Spare no figure without wiping it out..."

Q: In our school, we have a special activity board for the top students. The board shows the name of the student and a 4" X 6" photo of them. The purpose of the board is to encourage the students to work hard, strive to succeed, and to create

We hope that Your Eminence will give us a Fatwa (legal ruling issued by a qualified Muslim scholar) on the permissibility of displaying photos of students. May Allah grant us success in what benefits us in this world and the Hereafter.

A: It is not permissible to display students' photos on this board or to keep them, by the authority of the established Shar'y (Islamic legal) evidence that prohibits Taswir (painting, drawing, sculpture, and photography).

Q: I want to tell you that my sister supports a charity that provides for the needy. She makes puppets with a cloth body embroidered with designs of kids, cats, and dogs. My sister fills these puppets with cotton in order for them to look like a puppet and a toy. It is worth mentioning that a quarter of these toys is given to the needy; what is the ruling on this?

A: making designs of living beings, human or otherwise, is one of the Grievous Sins. The Messenger of Allah (peace be upon him) cursed idol-makers and told them that they will receive the severest punishment on the Day of Resurrection. It is incumbent on your sister to abandon this act, repent to Allah, of the sins she committed, and destroy all the forms she has. Anyone who repents to Allah sincerely, Allah will accept his repentance because of Allah's saying, ﴿And verily, I am indeed forgiving to him who repents, believes \(in My Oneness, and associates none in worship with Me\) and does righteous good deeds, and then remains constant in doing them, \(till his death\).﴾ Allah also says, ﴿And all of you beg Allâh to forgive you all, O believers, that you may be successful﴾ The Prophet (peace be upon him) also said, ﴿He who repents from his sins is like the one who has not committed a sin.﴾

Q 1: I work for a charitable Islamic society which keeps volumes of photos i.e. Albums. These photos are of the charitable efforts exerted by the society. For example, there are photographs of the orphans in Afghanistan whom the society sponsor and other photos of Muslim collective fast-breaking in Ramadan, which is related to the society's project of feeding those who fast. All this is intended to promote the work of the society and make its projects known to the benevolent people. My question is whether these photographs are Haram (prohibited)

A: It is not permissible to take photographs using cameras or other devices machines, when there is no legal considered necessity, for the general evidence forbids photographs and warns against it. Accordingly, it is not permissible to keep such pictures when there is no necessity. The Prophet (peace be upon him) ordered that pictures should be defaced and distorted. He (peace be upon him) stated: \(Angels do not enter a house in which there is a dog or a picture.\) (Agreed upon by Al-Bukhari and Muslim). However, it is permissible to take photographs and keep some of them if necessity so demands, such as photographs used in passports, identity cards and driving licenses.

Q : I color papyri which contain ancient pharaonic motifs in all aspects of life. My job requires me to color the human pictures that appear in foliar forms while practicing their rituals and glorifying one of their ancient pharaonic gods that was the god of earth according to their belief and another used to exemplify the god of heavens. Could you kindly advise about this? It is worth mentioning that I am only responsible for coloring it and I have nothing to do with printing and marketing it. I am also unaware of its importance to the tourists who buy it.

A: It is not permissible to perform this work, for it is a kind of spreading polytheism and disbelief, and an assistance of evil and aggression. It is a must to wipe out this idolatry and bury it, not to cooperate with others in printing or marketing it. This is a kind of cooperation in misdeed and aggression that Allah prohibited saying, [﴿Help you one another in Al-Birr and At-Taqwâ \(virtue, righteousness and piety\); but do not help one another in sin and transgression. (Part No. 1; Page No. 289) which include photos of ancient people like those which are found in educational books and historical references? A: Taswir (painting, drawing, sculpture, and photography) of living creatures is deemed unlawful in all cases and by all means, as the Prophet (peace be upon him) cursed those who make Taswir, and he said that they will be extremely tortured on the Day of Resurrection, due to their great crime and misdeed. Taswir can only be lawful in cases of need like that which are included in identification cards or passports, and those used in pillows and carpets on which we step referring to what was narrated on the authority of (`Aishah (may Allah be pleased with her) that the Prophet (peace be upon him) saw a curtain that had drawings on it in her room, and he tore it and got angry saying "Drawers (of these drawing) will be tortured on the Day of Resurrection and will be told: turn what you have drawn into living creatures." `Aishah (may Allah be pleased with her) said: so I split the curtain into two pillows for the Prophet (peace be upon him) to rest on,) There are also references to other Hadith mentioned in this regard.

A: It is not permissible to take any commemorative photos of people as we have been strongly warned about carrying out Taswir (painting, drawing, sculpture, and photography). The Prophet (peace be upon him) said that the angels do not enter the house in which a dog or pictures are found, and he gave his order to get rid of pictures as being a kind of glorification of those pictures. This is considered as one of the means of Shirk (associating others with Allah in His Divinity or worship). However, if the pictures are humiliated as to be found on a carpet or a rug to step or sit on, there would be no sin as the reason of forbiddance is not present.

All praise be to Allah Alone. Peace and blessings be upon His Last Messenger.

The Permanent Committee for Scholarly Research and Ifta' has read the letter sent to His Eminence the Mufty by His Excellency the secretary-general of the Muslim World League. (Letter no: 1/399 /M) dated 23/10/1414 A.H. Attached to the concerned letter was the question asked by professor K.W. from Holland. This was then transferred to the Committee by the Secretariat General of the Council of Senior Scholars in 29/10/1414 A.H. (no: 4766). Following is the translation of the concerned question:

I would like to enquire about the Muslims' acceptance of the trade-mark that we intend to choose. It is a drawing of half a man who stretches his arms like wings of a flying falcon. It is worth mentioning that our company has international commercial relations, so we do our best so as not to offend Muslim countries. Could you please tell me if the design referred to may be a point of objection from the Muslim viewpoint? According to my knowledge, I think that Muslims only do not accept drawings that degrade Masjids (mosques) or holy places. Anyway, since we have not disclosed the design yet; attached to our letter is a drawing similar to the original one. Please answer me via the fax on the provided no.

It is not permissible to use the concerned trademark for the following two reasons:

First: It is Haram (prohibited) to make a drawing of a being with a soul whether human or not. There are many proofs of Sunnah (whatever is reported from the Prophet) to the effect that Allah (Exalted be He) curses those who make such drawings and for that reason Muslims have to wipe out or exterminate them.

Second: The concerned design takes the shape of a cross, which is extolled by the Christians, as they believe that `Isa (Jesus, peace be upon him) was crucified. On the contrary, the Muslims believe that crucifixion is a means of degrading `Isa (peace be upon him) and that the Jews did not crucify `Isa (peace be upon him) for the Qur'an tells us that

Allah protected and raised him to the heavens. Since the Qur'an is the Word of Allah (Exalted be He), it is not permissible for a Muslim to wear anything that belies their `Aqidah (creed) and contradicts the Qur'an. Moreover, it is not permissible for a Muslim to propagate the beliefs of non-Muslims as doing so is a manifestation of extolling such beliefs despite their being in opposition to Shari`ah (Islamic law).

The second question of Fatwa no. 16916

Q: I long to be able to see my deceased father and I am obsessed with the desire to talk with him. I constantly stare at his photo which I have framed and hung in my room. Is this Haram (prohibited), considering that my intention is far from any glorification, exaltation, or worship.

A: It is not permissible to keep photos whether of the living or the dead even as memories. The Prophet (peace be upon him) prohibited Muslims from hanging photos stating that their presence in the home hinders angels from entering it. However, there are limited cases in which Taswir is deemed permissible like taking photos for job purposes, and photos taken for necessary cases like identification cards and passports, and similar purposes.

Q: Is there any religious restriction as regards hanging photos of humans or animals on the wall?

A: Hanging photos of humans and all living creatures is not permissible, as the Prophet of Allah (peace be upon him) has forbidden that, and ordered to erase the features of such pictures; he (peace be upon him) further became angry on catching sight of pictures on curtains, and tore them apart. This incident was reported in the Hadith narrated by `Aishah (may Allah be pleased with her). Q: We work in one of the community bureaus. As you know, Your Eminence, the bureau organizes activities to call as many people as possible to Islam.

Among these activities is the printing of books for the sake of Allah. Some of these books which help people learn about Muslim family relationships contain pictures of men and women. These pictures are taken in different situations such as performing Salah, entering the Masjid (mosque) and gathering together. What is the ruling on this according to Shari`ah? Generally speaking, is it permissible to display these pictures in any field for the purpose of Da`wah (calling to Islam)?

A: Photographing all animate beings is absolutely haram (prohibited) according to the general meaning of the Hadith, except when there is a necessity to do so. What you mentioned is not a case of necessity, rather it is an embellishment used for further illustration. There are other means of illustration that can serve this purpose. The earlier generations dispensed with these pictures while they called to Islam and taught and explained things to people. The absence of these pictures did not negatively affect the level of understanding, accuracy, and the advancements made by those generations. On the contrary, they were more powerful and safeguarded than us. Accordingly, it is impermissible to photograph animate beings which is prohibited by Allah under the pretext that what you mentioned is a case of necessity. The reality has proven that it is not.

My intention is not to commit unlawful deeds, but I need to convince them of the camels' good health in order for them to agree on my price.

A: taking photos of animals and creatures with souls is not permissible, as the Prophet (peace be upon him) cursed those who make Taswir (painting, drawing, sculpture, and photography), and he informed that they would undergo the utmost torture on the Day of Resurrection. Therefore, taking photos for the mentioned reason is not permissible for Taswir is categorically prohibited in Islam with no specification. Q: A photo has been recently presented assuming that it is of a jinn in his true form. is it possible to see the Jinn in their true form? Would you warn people from this as it causes horror especially for children and women?

The Jinn (creatures created from fire) have various forms because Allah (Exalted be He) has given them the capability to do that. Thus, some people can see them in these forms; however, it is not permissible to take their photos as well as taking the photos of other creatures with a soul, because the Prophet (peace be upon him) forbade Taswir (painting, drawing, sculpture, and photography), and threatened of its penalty and cursed those who make Taswir (painting, drawing, sculpture, and photography) as a general prohibition for every creature with a soul like Jinn and others.

The Permanent Committee for Scholarly Research and Ifta' reviewed the letter submitted to His Eminence the Mufty by the head of the Cooperative Office for Da'wah and Guidance in Mudhannab, which was referred to the committee from the Secretariat-General of the Council of Senior Scholars, no. 675, dated 10/2/1416 A.H., in which the questioner sent the following question:

There is a frequently asked question now, especially by people in business, about the headless female mannequins that are used by store owners to display women's clothing. It has been observed that this may arouse Fitnah (temptation) in young men, due to exposure to the female form, such as the breasts and waist. What is your opinion on this. Does the committee have the right to forbid these things? Please advise me and may Allah reward you.

After studying the request for a Fatwa (legal opinion issued by a qualified Muslim scholar), the committee answered that if the situation is as mentioned, then making these female mannequins and using them is Haram (prohibited), as they are a cause of Fitnah due to being models of the female body and showing its attractions. It is also a means that may lead to using full images. It is, therefore, obligatory to forbid the use of these models in stores.

Publishing books containing pictures of the Prophet's family and Sahabah

Fatwa no. 17970

Praise be to Allah alone and peace and blessings be upon our Prophet Muhammad after whom there shall be no other Prophet:

The Permanent Committee for Scholarly Research and Ifta' has looked into the issue forwarded to His Eminence, the General Mufti, from a publishing company in Japan by the Secretary General of the World Assembly of Muslim Youth, referred to the Committee by the General Secretariat of the Council of Senior Scholars, no. 2370, on 20th of Jumada Awal, 1416 A.H. He asked the Mufti the following question:

Our company would like to publish a series of books to define the famous religions throughout the world. The series consists of fourteen books, one of them is entitled "Ta`rif Bildin Al-Islami (Defining the Islamic Faith.)" We try to collect accurate and basic information in simple Japanese language, along with pictures, so that Japanese readers can easily understand and grasp the meaning.

Japanese readers generally do not read religious books, and if they do, they should be easy to read and understand. Therefore, these books should be illustrated with pictures and should be written in simple language.

Our company is well known to the Japanese people for publishing such picture books.

Now, we would like to publish a book about Islam in easy and simple language illustrated by pictures, so that the Japanese can learn about Islam.

We have consulted the Islamic Center in Japan concerning publishing pictures of Prophet Muhammad (peace be upon him), his wives and the Rightly Guided Caliphs, but it rejected the idea. Finding us persistent upon obtaining the license to publish these pictures, the Center recommended that we write this letter to Islamic scholars and Mufties (Islamic scholar qualified to issue legal opinions).

We would like to publish this book about Islam, and thus we are providing the following alternatives to using picture, from which we hope you will choose one that we may use in our book.

1- Publishing the picture of Prophet Muhammad (peace be upon him), his family, his wives and the four Rightly Guided Caliphs, depicting their faces, although it is known that this is not permissible in Islam.

2- We can make due with publishing the picture of Prophet Muhammad's body (peace be upon him) without manifesting his face, but using full pictures of his family, his wives and the four Rightly Guided Caliphs.

3- Showing pictures of the bodies of Prophet Muhammad (peace be upon him), his family and his wives without displaying their faces, but publishing the pictures of the four Rightly Guided Caliphs including their faces.

4- Not publishing the pictures of Prophet Muhammad (peace be upon him), but only pictures of his family, his wives and the four Rightly Guided Caliphs.

5- Publishing full pictures of Prophet Muhammad (peace be upon him) without writing below the picture that it is Muhammad.

6- Publishing a full picture of Prophet Muhammad (peace be upon him), and writing below the picture that this is not permissible in Islam.

7- Publishing a blurred picture of Prophet Muhammad (peace be upon him), and publishing well-defined pictures of his family, his wives and the four Rightly Guided Caliphs.

We hope Your Eminence will enlighten us after reviewing this matter, and choose the best alternative. If none of them are permissible, we ask that you provide us with the appropriate viewpoint, taking into consideration the circumstances of Japan which is not an Islamic country. Please bear in mind that the Japanese are not well-informed about Islam or Arab countries. Accordingly, Islam should be presented to the Japanese along with a pictorial illustration of the Sirah (the Prophet's biography), so that the Japanese can receive an image of Islam in an attractive and simple way.

Hence, I hope you will grant us a license to publish pictures of Prophet Muhammad (peace be upon him), his family, his wives and the four Rightly Guided Caliphs.

Having reviewed the issue, the Committee responded as follows: Depicting soul-possessing creatures is absolutely Haram (prohibited) and is one of the major sins. This is based upon the threat of being cursed and the Hellfire that awaits those who do so. The Musawwir (one who makes pictures and statues, or photographs of living beings) shall receive the severest punishment on the Day of Resurrection being considered among the most unjust people.

Depicting the Prophet (peace be upon him) or any of the Sahabah (Companions of the Prophet) (may Allah be pleased with them), particularly his wives and the four Rightly Guided Caliphs is seen as greater sacrilege, for it causes Fitnah (sedition) and may lead to disbelieving in them. Moreover, it is an indignity of their honorable characters by portraying them in such pictures that allegedly represent their characteristics.

Therefore, these illustrations must be banned and avoided, in order to show respect to the Prophet (peace be upon him) and his Sahabah, and to block a means that may lead to Shirk (associating others with Allah in His Divinity or worship); for Shirk ensued when the People of Nûh (Noah) drew pictures and erected statutes of the righteous people among them. The Fitnah of publishing illustrations of Prophet Muhammad (peace be upon him), his wives and the four Rightly Guided Caliphs is severer and more dangerous.

Accordingly, we advise you to introduce Islam to the Japanese people via lectures and the explanation of Ayahs (Qur'anic verses) and Hadiths by the Du`ah (callers to Islam) sent to Japan under the sponsorship of the Ministry of Islamic Affairs, Endowments, Da'wah and Guidance in the Kingdom of Saudi Arabia. This will be sufficient, praise be to Allah.

May Allah grant us success! May peace and blessings be upon our Prophet, his family and Companions!

Masks of animals and lions

Fatwa no. 18030

Praise be to Allah Alone, and peace and blessings be upon the Final Prophet.

The Permanent Committee for Scholarly Research and Ifta' has read what was submitted to His Honor the General Mufti by the Assistant Director of the Center of Da`wah and Guidance in Jeddah, which was referred to the Committee by the Secretariat General of the Council of Senior Scholars, numbered 2886, dated 18/6/1416 A.H. The question reads as follows:

A Muslim brother asked for a Fatwa concerning what has spread in the markets of Jeddah nowadays, which is importing plastic masks worn on the head, made in the form of ferocious animals' heads. When a person wears them, they look like a wolf, a monkey, or a lion in the body of a human being. These masks are worn on the occasion of a Christian festival, in which people wear masks and congratulate each other. These masks have spread nowadays, as they are highly popular on this occasion.

Please advise concerning this, as people need to know the ruling on this, whether it is related to the festival or not, so that this Munkar (that which is unacceptable or disapproved of by Islamic law and Muslims of sound intellect) which is sought by some corrupt people can be abolished.

Having studied the submitted question, the Committee gave the following answer:

It is not permissible to buy, sell or use such masks for many reasons:

First, they are prohibited models of ferocious animals' faces, and pictures of creatures with souls are prohibited in all forms.

Second, it entails imitation of animals, and it is not permissible for man to imitate animals, especially lions.

Third, wearing them entails imitation of the Christians in celebrating their festival as mentioned in the question. Imitating the non-Muslims and taking part in celebrating their festivals is prohibited by Allah.

Thus, these masks should be prevented from being imported to the Islamic countries, in addition to preventing buying and selling them, in order to protect the Ummah (nation) from committing these forbidden acts.

Using computer animation in presenting parables of the Qur'an

Fatwa no. 18027

Q: Some young men plan to produce CDs that include parables of the Qur'an, but they intend to use moving pictures as an alternative for Muslim children who are attracted by such media which exposes them to the negative effects of television and other means of false amusement. They hope to teach children the rulings of their Deen (Islam) in a simplified manner. Please advise us regarding the legal ruling of using moving pictures, which are also known as the cartoons, and whether these pictures take the same ruling as that of the pictures shown on TV in terms of their being impermanent; and also if these moving pictures resemble puppets with which children play, as they are used for amusement, education and acting. For example, presenting Al-Buraq (The Prophet's camel) as a puppet and such as the cat puppet which `Aishah, the Mother of Believers, used to play with. We hope that you will advise us concerning the ruling of presenting figures mentioned in the parables of the Qur'an; whether they were righteous people, Prophets, or Sahabah (Companions of the Prophet) in animated pictures, as in the case of presenting the people of the Cave or the prophet `Uzair or others in the same way.

(Part No. 1; Page No. 306)

A: This type of portrayal is impermissible for two reasons:

First, it includes prohibited moving pictures, and the Prophet (peace be upon him) cursed al-musawireen (photographers, idol-makers, and painters) and informed us that such people will receive the severest punishment from Allah on the day of Resurrection.

Second, these pictures may be understood as presenting Tafsir (exegesis of the meanings of the Qur'an) of the Qur'an, and this is a manipulation of the Book of Allah (Glorified and Exalted be He). Accordingly, the Council of Senior Scholars has issued a decree forbidding this act.

The second and third questions of Fatwa no. 18098

Q 2: I would like to take photographs of inanimate objects such as farms, beautiful scenes, the sunrise, etc., but I never dare to shoot animate beings for I know that this is an act of disobedience.

What is your opinion, may Allah protect you?

A: taking photos of what does not have a soul such as a tree or a stone is permissible.

Q 3: When we go on a trip with a group of youth, some may use video cameras to record the event to be watched later. The trip may include religious talks, or the like. What is the ruling of Islam on that? May Allah preserve you with His guidance!

A: It is not permissible for the Muslim to take photographs of beings with a soul by a camcorder or any other device based on the general meaning of the texts that forbid photographing. There is also a severe warning for doing this, and Allah's Messenger (peace be upon him) cursed those who do so. May Allah grant us success! May peace and blessings be upon our Prophet Muhammad, his family and Companions!

Fatwa no. 18828

Praise be to Allah, Alone, and peace and blessings be upon the Last Prophet!

The Permanent Committee for Scholarly Research and Ifta' reviewed the question submitted to His Honor the General Mufti from the Deputy Director of the Cooperative Office For Da`wah and Guidance in Al-Quway`iyyah, no. (5/17/KH) and date 15 Muharram, 1417 A.H., and it was referred to the Committee from the Secretariat General of the Council of Senior Scholars with the no. 894 in 9 Safar, 1417A.H. Following is the wording of the question:

What is the ruling on drawing pictures to illustrate the Ayahs (Qur'anic verses) such as drawing camels and writing beneath the picture His (Exalted be He) statement: ﴿Do they not look at the camels, how they are created?﴾ etc.? We hope that you would issue a Fatwa in this regard.

(Part No. 1; Page No. 308)

After studying the matter, the Committee replied:

It is Haram (prohibited) to illustrate the Qur'an using pictures that show parables of the prophets and the messengers of Allah (peace be upon them), pious people, Kafir (disbelievers), devils, and beings such as trees, and the like. It is not permissible to draw, print, publish, or use such pictures regardless of the good intentions of the artist such as; making the Ayahs easy for the children or new Muslims to understand, or any other reasons. The legal violations involved in this include:

1. Drawing pictures of beings with souls or trees, etc. to illustrate the Qur'an is Bid`ah (innovations in Islam). It contradicts the Manhaj (methodology) of the scholars in explaining the meanings of the Qur'an in the present and past.
2. This act devalues the Qur'an and belittles its glorious meanings.
3. It is a way to explain its meaning by ways which Allah (Glorified be He) did not legislate.
4. Drawing prophets and messengers make them subject to mockery, contempt, and disdain. Anyone who draws their pictures commits a great sin as mocking any Prophet is Kufr (disbelief) as mentioned in the Qur'an.

5. Drawing imaginary pictures of prophets is an evident reason behind Shirk (associating others with Allah in His Divinity or worship), and marred monotheism. Allah informed us of those who worshiped Wadd, Suwa`, Yaghuth, Ya`uq, and Nasr (names of their idols). Allah states, ﴿And they have said: 'You shall not leave your gods: nor shall you leave Wadd, nor Suwâ'﴾ (nor Yaghûth, nor Ya'ûq nor Nasr' (these are the names of their idols)) ﴿And indeed they have led many astray.﴾ The people of Nuh (Noah, peace be upon him) became disbelievers when they carved the pictures of those righteous people and erected their statues in their gatherings. This lead them to worship those people.

6. Taswir (painting, drawing, sculpture, and photography) of beings with a soul is Haram (prohibited). There are many authentic Hadith related from the Prophet (peace be upon him) in the Sihah (authentic books), Sunan, and Musnads that indicate the prohibition of the Taswir of any being with a soul, whether human or not. There are also many Hadith that urge defacing pictures, cursing the image makers, and that they will be the most grievously tormented people on the Day of Resurrection. Here are some of the authentic Hadith that were mentioned in this regard. It is recorded in the Two Sahih (authentic) Books of Hadith (i.e. Al-Bukhari and Muslim), on the authority of Abu Hurayrah (may Allah be pleased with him) that the Messenger of Allah (peace be upon him) stated, ﴿Allah (Exalted be He) stated, "Who can be more unjust than he who tries to create the like of My creatures? Let them (i.e. I challenge them to) create an atom (or a small ant), a grain of wheat or a grain of barley!"﴾ (The wording is cited according to the narration of Muslim).

It was also related by them on the authority of Ibn Mas`ud (may Allah be pleased with him) that the Messenger of Allah (peace be upon him) said, ﴿The people who will receive the severest punishment from Allah will be the picture makers.﴾ It is also recorded in the Two Sahih on the authority of Ibn `Umar (may Allah be pleased with him) that the Messenger of Allah (peace be upon him) said, ﴿Those who make statues would be punished on the Day of Resurrection and it would be said to them: Breathe soul into what you have created.﴾ (The wording is cited according to the narration of Al-Bukhari).

﴿On the authority of `Aishah (may Allah be pleased with her) who said, "The Messenger of Allah (peace be upon him) came to me, and I had screened my alcove with a curtain on which there were pictures. When the Messenger of Allah (peace be upon him) saw it, he tore it and the color of his face changed [due to anger. Trans.] and he said, 'O `Aishah! The people who will receive the severest punishment on the Day of Resurrection will be those who imitate Allah's Creation.' So we tore it up and we stuffed a cushion or two cushions with it.﴾ (Related by Muslim) This is in addition to many other Hadith to this effect.

It is not permissible to explain the Qur'an in this manner; it is not permissible to explain the Hadith related by the Prophet (peace be upon him) in this manner for the same reasons mentioned above.

May Allah grant us success! May peace and blessings be upon our Prophet Muhammad, his family and Companions!

The second question of Fatwa no. 19332

Q 2: We live in a one-room apartment where there are pictures of animals. Is it permissible to offer prayers in this room?

A: These pictures must be destroyed; it is permissible to keep them in the house, for the Prophet (peace be upon him) stated, «Angels do not enter a house in which there is a dog or a picture.» As for praying in this room which contains such pictures, it is valid but disapproved.

Removing a sculpture of an eagle over a building entrance

Fatwa no. 16174

Praise be to Allah Alone and peace and blessings be upon the Last Prophet. To commence:

The Permanent Committee for Scholarly Research and Ifta' reviewed the request for Fatwa submitted to His Honor, the General Mufti by Director of Religious Affairs Department in the Armed Forces. The letter was referred to the Committee by the Secretariat-General of the Council of Senior Scholars no. 4758, on 9/9/1413 A.H. The question reads as follows:

Attached to the request is a clip of the Visitor's Guide to King Khalid Air Base that carries a picture of a stone in the shape of an eagle formed by erosion. The stone that carries this image was brought to the Base and fixed to the building as it appears in the picture for the purpose of pondering on the Creation of Allah (Glorified and Exalted be He). Would you please issue a Fatwa in this regard?

After the Committee studied the question, the answer is that it is obligatory to remove this sculpture because it takes the form of a bird. fixing images of animate objects, sculptures or other images, is not permissible. This may lead to major Shirk (associating others with Allah in His Divinity or worship).

The first question of Fatwa no. 18621

Q 1: We know that statues and three-dimensional figures of animals and humans are prohibited in Islam. This is for an important wisdom, which is refraining from imitating Allah's creation, and to impede worshipping animals and idols. This is about statues carved in rocks, wood or those molded in special templates.

However, if a person has tiger, zebra or sheep leather; stuffs it with straw or cotton; and makes a statue out of it to place it as an adornment, is that prohibited as well? Is it Halal (lawful) if it is not carved, molded into a template, or glorified?

A: This is prohibited, as it resembles a statue, and also because it is useless trifling.

May Allah grant us success! May peace and blessings be upon our Prophet Muhammad, his family and Companions!

The first question of Fatwa no. 18161

Q 1: In the Masjid (mosque), there is a big watch that has a picture of the Ka`bah - may Allah honor it- with people circumambulating it, and others bowing or prostrating in prayer. The back's of people only appear and one cannot distinguish their faces. Also, the Name of Allah is written on it, the name of the Messenger (peace be upon him), and the Ayah of Al-Kursy. When I wanted to remove it from the Masjid, the Mu'adhin -who is an old man- objected and said that this watch did not comprise any pictures, just to show stubbornness and to disown the truth. I then showed it to some people in the Masjid and asked them whether or not they saw the pictures, they answered, yes. I again argued with the shaykh until I asked him whether or not he would accept a Fatwa (legal opinion issued by a qualified scholar) of a shaykh in this regard. He said: "How could I not accept this?!" Therefore, I told him: "Insha' Allah I will bring you one."

A: It is not permissible to hang this watch bearing pictures of humans and other animate beings in the Masjid, or any other place; however, hanging it inside the Masjid is more severe, for this resembles the idolaters. Again, it is not permissible to keep this picture in order to preserve the sanctity of the Masjid and because it includes the sacred Name of Allah and the name of the Messenger Muhammad (peace be upon him) together. This leads to excessive reverence of the Messenger (peace be upon him), which is a means leading to Shirk. Furthermore, these drawings and writings tend to distract those offering prayer, and accordingly should be wiped out if possible. Otherwise, the watch should be removed from the Masjid and replaced with another one without these depictions.

The third question of Fatwa no. 18191

Q 3: We sometimes take pictures of the landscape during our school trips. We send these pictures to the multimedia department at their school at the request of the department. Is this permissible or not?

A: There is nothing wrong with photographing inanimate beings such as landscapes including mountains, trees, rivers, seas, etc. as it is not prohibited.

With regard to photographing the animate beings such as humans, animals, birds and insects and the others that have a soul, it is not permissible. Islam sternly prohibits and warns against this act which will result in their being cursed and thrown in Hellfire.

in the food market that acquires international fame. Out of our concern, please find attached a copy of the logo so that you may advise us concerning it. The logo is a potato that is drawn in the form of a caricature and written in English. May Allah guide you to serve Islam and the Muslims.

A: This logo of a potato is depicted in human form; and depicting creatures with souls is prohibited according to the texts of Shari'ah (Islamic law). Thus, you should find another alternative other than this logo which is portrayed in the form of an animate object. May Allah reward you for your care in asking about the fundamentals of your religion and help you earn lawful money.

of the Ministry of Islamic Affairs, Endowments, Call, and Guidance in Al-Madinah Al-Munawwarah, in the letter no. 2123/1034, dated 27/2/1418 A.H., which was forwarded to the committee from General Secretariat of the Council of Senior Scholars no. 1195, dated 20/2/1418 A.H. The person requesting the Fatwa asked the following question:

What is the ruling on building ceramic scale models of Masjids (mosques) and Islamic monuments to be used as promotional materials?

After examining the Fatwa request, the committee answered as follows:

It is not permissible for this institution or any other institutions to make models of Islamic monuments or Masjids to be used as promotional materials; because this involves Fitnah (temptation away from the true path), spreading of Bid'ah (innovation in religion), and opens the means to Shirk (associating others with Allah in His Divinity or worship) and idolatry. Therefore, it is not permissible to give permission for this institution or any other institutions to make patterns of any of these for promotional scale models or anything similar.

The Permanent Committee for Scholarly Research and Ifta' has reviewed the query no. 292 dated 29 Rabi` Thany, 1418 A.H., sent to His Honor the General Mufti from His Honor the Head of the Charitable Society of Al-Kitab Wal Sunnah in Sudan. The query which was referred with no. 916, on 12 Jumada Al-Ula, 1418 A.H., to the Committee by the Secretariat General of the Council of Senior Scholars is as follows:

Supporting orphans is one of the charitable activities performed by the society. The society acts as a mediator between the orphans and the donors, be they individuals or non-profit organizations, from outside the country in return for a small fee. It aims at helping the Muslim orphans in our country where poverty is widespread.

Most of these organizations stipulate that their contributions not be made, until they receive photos of each orphan. However, some officials in the society showed strong reservations due to the impermissibility of taking photographs. Is it permissible for us to request that the orphans bring a photo to be submitted to the authorities responsible for supporting the orphans? It is worth mentioning that having these photos is a prerequisite for supporting the needy orphans. Please respond, may Allah reward you with the best!

Having discussed the query, the Committee replies as follows:

The basic principle in Shari`ah (Islamic law) is that taking photos of animate beings is prohibited, according to the established Hadith unless there exists a necessity, e.g. photos of criminals for easy identification and arrest.

Consequently, it is not permissible to use a prohibited means to ask for supporting the orphans. Allah (Glorified be He) states, ﴿And whosoever fears Allâh and keeps his duty to Him, He will make a way for him to get out \(from every difficulty\).﴾ ﴿And He will provide him from \(sources\) he never could imagine.﴾ and ﴿And whosoever puts his trust in Allâh, then He will suffice him.﴾ He, the Exalted, also states, [﴿O you who believe! If you obey and fear Allâh, He will grant you Furqân \[\(a criterion to judge between right and wrong\), or \(Makhrâj, i.e. a way for you to get out from every difficulty\)\], and will expiate for you your sins, and forgive you; and Allâh is the Owner of the Great Bounty.﴾](#) May Allah grant us success! May peace and blessings of Allah be upon our Prophet Muhammad, his family and Companions!

Q: Attached to the letter that we submitted to Your Honor is a sample of plastic ice cream cups of which we have been asked to manufacture

a large quantity of for a national factory in this field. Though the cup takes the form of a head of a deformed elephant whose trunk is pressed against the face with no tusks, we fear that this may be prohibited by the Shari`ah (Islamic law). Therefore, we sent you this letter that you may give us a Fatwa on whether it is permissible to manufacture these plastic cups. Is it absolutely prohibited or just Makruh (reprehensible)? Actually, we read several opinions of Muslim scholars on this issue, but still we have not reached a conclusive decision.

A: The Committee, after studying the question, gave the following answer: it is not permissible to manufacture the cup in question since it is like a sculpture of a head and face of an animal. This is the type of image that Islam prohibits Muslims to create as it is an image of a face. Scholars unanimously agreed on the prohibition of creating, buying, or selling sculptures because it entails emulating Allah's Creation. There are many authentic Hadith stating that those who create images are cursed and will receive the severest punishment on the Day of Resurrection. On that Day, they will fail to carry out the order of breathing souls into every image they created in this life and receive punishment in Hellfire for every image they created. We seek refuge in Allah from His anger and punishment. Thus, it is obligatory to refrain from manufacturing such cups and make others that involve no violation of Shari`ah rules.

The questioner's request of Fatwa is as follows:

We inform your Eminence that we provided some shaykhs of our Educational Supervision Department in the center with a collection of pictures from the Home Economics Department. These pictures on home economics discuss nutrition and nourishing values of vegetables and fruits. As an illustration medium, some schools draw pictures of these vegetables and place two eyes, a nose, lips, hands, and legs and maybe clothes as well to a single seed with some movements as a new style to attract the attention of the audience and indicate the benefits of this type through the outline of the picture and in order not to fall into the prohibited pictures or to draw the living beings. Could you kindly advise about this activity as soon as possible?

After the Committee had studied the case, it answered with the following:

the mentioned shapes that contain living beings may not be used or included in the curricula in the Muslim countries. They fall under the general Shari`ah proofs prohibiting pictures. There is no need to use them in education or illustration; the same impact they may produce can be achieved without using them. Muslims lived centuries with no need of this style. However, they were the most powerful, knowledgeable, and perceptive nation. Leaving pictures did not harm them in their study, so we must not violate what Allah has made forbidden without an urgent need.

Q: What is the ruling on watching and buying islamic animated-cartoon movies, given that these movies present purposeful and beneficial stories for children which promote good character, dutifulness to parents, honesty, offering Salah (Prayer) regularly and the like. These animated movies are intended as good substitutes for television which has become widespread. However, the problem we face is related to the fact that such movies present hand-drawn pictures of humans and animals. Is it permissible to watch these animated cartoons? Please advise. May Allah reward you with the best!

A: It is not permissible to buy, sell or use cartoon movies, because they include Haram pictures. Raising children should be done in ways that are Islamically acceptable with regard to teaching, disciplining, encouraging them to offer Salah and taking good care of them.

Q: I would like to draw your attention to sundry shops that have strangely spread without any regard for the Haram (prohibited) items sold. Among these Haram items are, three-dimensional objects, whether in the form of dolls, or different kinds of animals. In any case, these sundry shops have recently begun selling three-dimensional shapes of the Holy Ka`bah in the form of medals or pencil cases to be placed on desks with pens or small sheets of paper in them. Provide me with your beneficial answer regarding the following questions please:

1. are these three-dimensional shapes whether in the form of dolls or animals considered Haram?
2. are such three-dimensional shapes of the Holy Ka`bah considered permissible? It is worth mentioning that three-dimensional shapes of the Ka`bah will be degraded as whoever buys these medals will not take them off before entering the toilet. Even if three-dimensional shapes of the Ka`bah are used as pencil cases, they will also be demeaned as pens and related items will be placed on them. Moreover, some ignorant people may seek the blessings of these three-dimensional shapes! When I tried to advise the shop owners they told me that they have other branches in Makkah and Jeddah. They argue that if such three-dimensional shapes are Haram, they would have been banned from the shops near the Sacred Mosque of Al-Ka`bah. I am confused! Is a three-dimensional shape of the Ka`bah, or the green dome of Al-Masjid Al-Nabawi (the Prophet's Mosque in Madinah) Haram or not? It may be worth mentioning that these three-dimensional shapes are immersed in water with small beads around them.

A: Firstly: According to the purified Shari`ah (Islamic law), the original ruling is the impermissibility of Taswir (painting, drawing, sculpture, and photography) of beings with souls. This is because of the Islamic legal proofs which state the prohibition of Taswir. However, it is permissible to make images of things with no souls such as trees, buildings, cars, etc. Such images may also be used as toys.

Secondly: It is not permissible to make three-dimensional shapes of the Holy Ka`bah and the dome on the grave of the Prophet (peace be upon him). Accordingly, it is not permissible to buy and sell such three-dimensional shapes as this leads to forbidden things that Muslims must beware of; all the means leading to such things should be blocked.

Fatwa no. 20522

Praise be to Allah, Alone, and peace and blessing be upon the Last Prophet:

The Permanent Committee for Scholarly Research and Ifta' read the letter received by His Honor the General Mufti (Islamic scholar qualified to issue legal opinions) from Dar Al-Bir Association in Dubai, United Arab Emirates, which was sent to the Committee from the Secretariat General of the Council of Senior Scholars numbered 4591 dated 27 Rajab, 1419 A.H. in which the inquirer asked a question as follows:

It is the pleasure of Dar Al-Bir Association in Dubai to convey its best regards to you, and we ask Allah to keep you safe and sound. Your Honor, a company here in United Arab Emirates has an idea to manufacture educational toys in the form of animated dolls performing the motions of Salah (prayers) such as Ruku` (bowing), Sujud (prostration) and so on.

These dolls may also recite Qur'an, Prophetic Adhkar (invocations and Remembrances said at certain times on a regular basis), some Arabic alphabetical letters or words, etc. It should be mentioned that the aim of this project is to instill Islamic and Arabic fundamentals in children, and develop a business in this field. Please advise us may Allah reward you with the best.

After the Committee studied the inquiry, it answered as follows:

The Taswir (painting, drawing, sculpture, and photography) of any animate being whether human or otherwise is legally prohibited. It is also one of the major sins, as the Messenger of Allah (peace be upon him) cursed the image makers, and warned that they will receive the sternest punishment on the Day of Resurrection. However, the animated Taswir that is herein described is more offensive and involves a greater sin than other forms of Taswir. Also, manufacturing these dolls to perform the motions of Salah, other acts of worship, reciting Qur'an, teach children the alphabet, etc. embraces scorn and contempt of the essence and status of worship and the Qur'an by the mechanically repeated acts preformed by these dolls. This also includes derision of Allah's Book and the rites of Islam, due to the likelihood of these inventions malfunctioning when performing movements or playing programmed words. This act is also a baseless Bid`ah (innovation in religion) that was not practiced by the Righteous Salaf (predecessors). However, educating people and children regarding their religious affairs and establishing their good morals occurs by relying on the original, authentic books of Islamic sciences, explaining these books to them, and conveying knowledge by presenting a good model. Therefore, a father, brother, or any other person should have good morals so that their children and family can pattern themselves after them in performing good deeds, and there is no prohibition in using the beneficial Islamic tapes to achieve this.

This is the type of education that is consistent with what Allah and His Messenger prescribed. It was the same approach adopted by the Prophet (peace be upon him) with his Sahabah (Companions of the Prophet), the conduct of the Sahabah themselves (may Allah be pleased with them) and the righteous Salaf (predecessors), and all good lies in this. Thus, many generations succeeded and people followed the same methodology in spreading knowledge and education, without these methods, and were not affected by not using them. On the contrary, they had greater Iman (faith) and awareness of their Islamic affairs, and were also more adhering to and abiding by the Prophet's Sunnah (whatever is reported from the Prophet, peace be upon him). Therefore, plans to manufacture these dolls must be halted, even if the intention of producing them is good. Moreover, one should substitute them with what Allah and His Messenger (peace be upon him) prescribed, for whoever gives up something for the sake of Allah, Allah will compensate them with something better.

Taswir of the Prophets (peace be upon them)

The second question of Fatwa no. 21570

Q: What is the ruling on showing the pictures of the prophets (peace be upon them) that were drawn by the Jews and Christians?

A: Taswir (painting, drawing, sculpture, and photography) of creatures that have souls is seriously Haram (prohibited) and one of the major sins, whose doer is threatened with cursing and the punishment of Hell. The Musawwirs (those who make pictures and statues, or photographs of living beings) will be the people most severely punished on the Day of Resurrection and they are the most wrongful of mankind.

Taswir of the prophets (peace be upon them) is even strictly and more seriously prohibited, because it involves Fitnah (temptation away from the true path), the hazard of falling into Shirk (associating others with Allah in His Divinity or worship) by holding them as partners with Allah, and desecration to the noble persons of the prophets through these images that are claimed to represent them. It is obligatory to prevent this and for it to be avoided out of respect for the high status of the prophets (peace be upon them all) and to block all the means leading to Shirk.

Q 4: will a person who commits suicide dwell forever in Hell-fire? There is a Hadith to the effect that someone who kills himself will abide in Hellfire forever. Will he ever get out of it? If he does get out, what does "forever" mean?

A: The person who commits a major sin, like one who commits suicide, is threatened with punishment. Nevertheless, this person will not dwell in Hellfire forever, as will the Kafirs (disbelievers). The dwelling in Hellfire mentioned in the Hadith is temporal. It is through this interpretation that all concerned Shari`ah-based proofs, which are seemingly conflicting, are reconciled.

Q 1: is it permissible for a Muslim to call another Muslim who drinks Khamr (intoxicant) a Kafir (disbeliever)?

A: Drinking Khamr, committing Zina (fornication or adultery) and withholding one's Zakah (obligatory charity) are major sins that may be forgiven only through repenting to Allah (Glorified and Exalted be He). According to Ahl-ul-Sunnah wal-Jama`ah (those adhering to the Sunnah and the Muslim community) anyone who commits a major sin is considered a believer by virtue of his Iman (Faith), but his major sin renders him a Fasiq (someone openly and flagrantly violating Islamic law). Therefore, it is not permissible to call this sinner a Kafir as long as he does not deem his sinful act lawful, or is satisfied with it.

A: Sincere Tawbah (repentance to Allah) effaces and negates previous misdeeds and a person who repents from a sin is like someone who has not sinned, as Allah (Exalted be He) states, \(Say to those who have disbelieved, if they cease \(from disbelief\), their past will be forgiven.\) The Prophet (peace be upon him) said, \(Islam wipes out all that has gone before it \(previous misdeeds\) and Tawbah also wipes out all that has gone before it.\) Compiled by Muslim in his Sahih.

Q: There is a school where pupils gather in front of an idol to praise, invoke, and dignify it. They give it a new covenant every day.

Most of the lessons which are taught in that school deny the revelation of Allah (Exalted be He), fabricate lies against Allah and His Messenger, mock the Shar`y (Islamic legal) rulings and accuse them of being unfair. Is it permissible for Muslims to enrol their children at such a school? What is the ruling on anyone who deliberately does so?

A: Firstly: Denying the revelation of Allah (Exalted be He), fabricating lies against Allah and His Messenger, and mocking the Shar`y rulings and accusing them of being unfair and unjust are all Haram (prohibited) practices of Kufr (disbelief). Allah (Exalted be He) says, [﴿Then, who does more wrong than one who utters a lie against Allâh, and denies the truth \[this Qur'ân, the Prophet \(Muhammad صلى الله عليه وسلم\) and the Islâmic Monotheism\] when it comes to him! Is there not in Hell an abode for the disbelievers?﴾](#) He (Exalted be He) also says, ﴿Say: "Was it at Allâh \(عز وجل\), and His Ayât \(proofs, evidence, verses, lessons, signs, revelations\) and His Messenger \(صلى الله عليه وسلم\) that you were mocking?﴾ ﴿Make no excuse; you disbelieved after you had believed.﴾ Besides, Allah (Exalted be He) says, ﴿And who is better in judgement than Allâh for a people who have firm Faith.﴾ Moreover, it is authentically reported that the Prophet (peace be upon him) said, ﴿Anyone who intentionally tells a lie against me, let him be sure of his seat in Hell-fire.﴾

Secondly: It is Haram to stand in front of an idol to praise or invoke it. Yet, doing so is an act of Shirk (associating others with Allah in His Divinity or worship) for Allah (Exalted be He) says, ﴿And invoke not besides Allâh, any such that will neither profit you nor harm you, but if \(in case\) you did so, you shall certainly be one of the Zâlimûn \(polytheists and wrong-doers\).﴾

Thirdly, it is Haram for a person to enrol their children at a school that teaches Kufr and opposing Allah and His Messenger (peace be upon him).

Fourthly: You have to advise anyone who enrolled their children at the concerned school and clarify the Shar`y ruling to them for hopefully they may be guided by Allah.

Major Shirk

Fatwa no. 13372

Q: There is a very big tree in our country. It occupies one Qirat (175 square meters) and the width of its root is about three meters. Such a tree has not been cut for many long years ago. One time the owner of the farm in which the concerned tree is located tried to cut it but he could not as his hand went numb and stopped moving. A rumor thus spread that such a tree is a blessed one. Another incident happened that worsened the situation. Once a woman tied up a bundle of the dry plants of that tree, she could not walk or move any part of her body until she put back such dry plants in their place next to the tree. From then on everyone understood that such a tree is blessed. They thus started to vow for it and do Tawassul (seeking to draw close to Allah through unlawful means) to it. The foregoing would be done under a sign that would be hung on the concerned tree and on which it was written "Tree of master Abu Najah." People then started to make Tawaf (circumambulation) around such a tree and seek its blessings. Is it then permissible for Muslims to cut the tree in question? It may be worth mentioning that only very few people still worship that tree and that there is no appointed guardian for it.

Moreover, the owner of the farm where such a tree is located do tries to cut it but he is unable to do so because of the influence of incitement of Satan. The reason I am sending this question to you is that some Muslims are of the view that such a tree has to be cut immediately; some others hold the opinion that Muslims should not make themselves busy with such a matter as only very few people still worship that tree and that we have to dedicate ourselves to Da`wah (calling to Islam). The Fatwa of your Eminence will put an end to that disagreement In sha'a-Allah (if Allah wills).

A: You have to rely on Allah Alone (Glorified and Exalted be He) and cut the tree which is mentioned in the question. Doing so will eradicate all the acts of Shirk which relate to the concerned tree and block all the means leading to them.

May Allah grant us success! May peace and blessings be upon our Prophet Muhammad, his family and Companions!

Fatwa no. 13402

Q: My father always tells me that it is sufficient to only offer Salah (Prayer) regularly and Sawm (Fasting), and just memorizing (Say (O Muhammad صلى الله عليه وسلم): "He is Allâh, (the) One.") i.e. Surah Al-Ikhlâs and Surah Al-Nas which he recites in every Salah. According to him, there is no harm if he, out of ignorance, commits an act of Shirk (associating others with Allah in His Divinity or worship) or Kufr (disbelieve), as long as he testifies that there is no God but Allah and that Muhammad is the Messenger of Allah. What is Your Honor's opinion in this regard? Is this a sound understanding of

Islam, given that he might commit one of the nullifiers of Islam or an act of Kufr, such as turning to other laws that contradict the Shari`ah i.e. laws of taghut (false gods) or associating others with Allah?

A: It was authentically narrated that the Prophet (peace be upon him) stated, (I have been ordered to fight against the people until they testify that none has the right to be worshipped but Allah, so if they say it, then they save their lives and property from me except legally, and then their reckoning (accounts) will be done by Allah.) Turning to other than Allah believing that their laws are better or equivalent to that of Allah, is Kufr and a nullifier that invalidates the Shahadatayn (two testimonies of Faith). Likewise, considering anyone an equal or a partner with Allah; calling upon them believing they can ward off calamities or bring benefit, all this is Kufr that takes one out of the fold of Islam. The mere uttering of the Shahadatayn will be of no avail for whomever persists in committing acts and deeds of disbelief and Shirk, because one must also disbelieve in whatever is worshipped beside Allah. The Prophet's other Hadith explained this: (Anyone who professes that there is none worthy of worship (in truth) but Allah and denies everything which the people worship beside Allah, his property and blood become inviolable, all their affairs rest with Allah.) It is therefore, incumbent upon you to explain the truth to your father, and may Allah guide him to righteousness.

Q: There is an Imam in our village who leads congregational Salahs (Prayers). This Imam has at his home a statue made of stone which has a face like that of a man. Women visit this statue every Friday and step over it believing that it will make them pregnant. We asked this shaykh to refrain from this practice as it is Haram (prohibited) and tantamount to Shirk (associating others with Allah in His Divinity or worship). However, he is not convinced of our view. Some of us are convinced that the shaykh is not Mushrik (one who associates others with Allah in His Divinity or worship), that he has sound `Aqidah (creed), and that he believes in Allah not in the statue. Others disagree.

Please provide us with your beneficial answer based on Qur'an and Sunnah (whatever is reported from the Prophet). Also, if the shaykh mentioned above is not convinced (that he is committing Shirk) even after receiving your answer, will it be valid to perform Salah (Prayer) behind him? It may be worth mentioning that he receives payment from these women who step over the statue.

A: Firstly: It is Haram for people to visit that statue at the home of the Imam to fulfill their needs. Doing so is Shirk that takes its doer out of the fold of Islam. Allah (Exalted be He) states, ﴿And those, whom you invoke or call upon instead of Him, own not even a Qitmîr (the thin membrane over the date-stone).﴾ (If you invoke (or call upon) them, they hear not your call; and if (in case) they were to hear, they could not grant it (your request) to you. And on the Day of Resurrection, they will disown your worshipping them. And none can inform you (O Muhammad صلى الله عليه وسلم) like Him Who is the All-Knower (of everything).﴾

He (Exalted be He) also states, ﴿To Allâh belongs the kingdom of the heavens and the earth. He creates what He wills. He bestows female (offspring) upon whom He wills, and bestows male (offspring) upon whom He wills.﴾ and: ﴿And the mosques are for Allâh (Alone): so invoke not anyone along with Allâh.﴾ Moreover, it is authentically reported that the Prophet (peace be upon him) stated, ﴿If you beg, beg of Allah Alone; and if you need assistance, supplicate to Allah Alone for help...﴾ .

Secondly: If this Imam does not perform Tawbah (repentance to Allah) from accepting Shirk and receiving worldly benefit for it, it will not be permissible to pray behind him.

Q: Twenty years ago, my father brought a man to our farm in Al-Shamiah and he read Qur'an on a Sidrah (lote tree). Afterwards, if one is bit or has boils and puts some of this tree on the affected area, he will get cured, by Allah's Will.

Once, a man from the village that suffers from boils in his hands went to the hospital and he was told that his hand should be amputated. He went to the farm and put some of this lote-tree on his hands and got cured, by Allah's Will. This lote- tree is not a visiting place or the like; it is approached only in case of necessity.

I have a worker who was bitten by a scorpion. I took him to this tree and put some of it on the affected area and so he got cured, by Allah's Will. No one believes that it can heal, for it is only Allah (Glorified and Exalted be He) Who heals. Kindly guide us concerning keeping this tree in the farm, may Allah guide you! My father is dead. Is it considered a Sadaqah Jariyah (ongoing charity) or not?

A: It is not permissible to keep this lote-tree; rather, it should be removed, for it can be a means leading to Shirk (associating others with Allah in His Divinity or worship) if it remains in its place, since some ignorant people may be misled by it. When asked to make a Dhat Anwat (lote-tree) like that of the Mushriks (those who associate others with Allah in worship), the Prophet (peace be upon him) denied it. Al-Tirmidhy reported on the authority of Abu Waqid Al-Laythy \(may Allah be pleased with him\) that he said, "We went out with the Messenger of Allah (peace be upon him) on the campaign to Hunayn when we had just left Kufr (disbelief) for Islam. The Mushriks had a Sidrah and they would stay there and hang their weapons upon it. It was called Dhat Anwat. We said, 'O Messenger of Allah, make for us another Dhat Anwat just like theirs.' The Messenger of Allah (peace be upon them) said, 'Allahu Akbar (Allah is the greatest)! By the One in Whose Hand is my soul, verily these are the ways of the earlier nations. You have said exactly as the Children of Israel said to Musa: ﴿Make for us an ilâh (a god) as they have âlihah (gods).﴾ He said: "Verily, you are a people who know not (the Majesty and Greatness of Allâh and what is obligatory upon you, i.e. to worship none but Allâh Alone, the One and the Only God of all that exists)."

Q: allah (Glorified is He) says, ﴿And of mankind are some who take (for worship) others besides Allâh as rivals (to Allâh). They love them as they love Allâh.﴾ Does this mean that polytheists used to love Allah?

A: Polytheists [of ancient Arabia, trans.] used to worship Allah but they associated partners with Him. They used to love Allah and others with Him and supplicate to Allah and other rivals with Him as well. They used to devote worship to Allah in hardships unlike the polytheists of our time who associate others with Him in prosperity and hardships. Allah (Glorified is He) says, ﴿And when they embark on a ship, they invoke Allâh, making their Faith pure for Him only: but when He brings them safely to land, behold, they give a share of their worship to others.﴾

Q 2: why does Allah dispraise polytheism and threaten polytheists of everlasting punishment in Hellfire?

A: Allah abhors polytheism and threatens polytheists that He will not forgive them and will cause them to undergo the perpetual residence in Hell if they die without repenting and quitting polytheism. Indeed, it is the most grievous sin and the greatest thing which Allah prohibited. Therefore, Allah (Glorified be He) informed us that He does not forgive its doer if he dies as a disbeliever and does not repent of his polytheistic actions. Moreover, his good deeds will be void, as none is more deviated than him. Allah (Exalted be He) says, ﴿Verily, Allâh forgives not that partners should be set up with Him (in worship), but He forgives except that (anything else) to whom He wills; and whoever sets up partners with Allâh in worship, he has indeed invented a tremendous sin.﴾ And He also says, ﴿And (remember) when Luqmân said to his son when he was advising him: "O my son! Join not in worship others with Allâh. Verily joining others in worship with Allâh is a great Zûlm (wrong) indeed.﴾ So anyone who associates others with Allah is equating between the Creator and His creation and makes the creature a rival to Allah and assigns for him the acts of worship which they do not deserve. Therefore, Allah threatens its doer with perpetual residence in Hell. Allah (Glorified is He) says, ﴿Verily, whosoever sets up partners (in worship) with Allâh, then Allâh has forbidden Paradise to him, and the Fire will be his abode. And for the Zâlimûn (polytheists and wrong-doers) there are no helpers.﴾

﴿When the Prophet (peace be upon him) was asked, "Which sin is the greatest?" He said, "To make a rival to Allah although He created you." It is said, "What is next?" He said, "To kill your children for fear that they join you in food." It is said, "What is next?" It is said, "To have sex with the wife of your neighbor."﴾ So Allah revealed, ﴿And those who invoke not any other ilâh (god) along with Allâh, nor kill such person as Allâh has forbidden, except for just cause, nor commit illegal sexual intercourse﴾

Q 3: What is the difference between a Mushrik and a hypocrite?

A: A Mushrik is someone who devotes any of 'Ibadah (worship) to other than Allah and does this publicly, such as the grave-worshippers and their like. This is Shirk (associating others with Allah in His Divinity or worship), which leaves nothing of Tawhid (belief in the Oneness of Allah/monotheism) to its committer, and this is the Mushrik to whom Allah has forbidden Jannah (Paradise) and made Hellfire their final abode. Allah shall never forgive them their Shirk if they die persisting in it, without having performed Tawbah (repentance to Allah) from it, as Allah (Exalted be He) says (what means):

﴿Verily, Allâh forgives not that partners should be set up with Him (in worship), but He forgives except that (anything else) to whom He wills; and whoever sets up partners with Allâh in worship, he has indeed invented a tremendous sin.﴾ Allah (Exalted be He) also says: ﴿Verily, whosoever sets up partners (in worship) with Allâh, then Allâh has forbidden Paradise to him, and the Fire will be his abode. And for the Zâlimûn (polytheists and wrong-doers) there are no helpers.﴾ As for a hypocrite who practices hypocrisy in their faith, this is someone who outwardly shows Islam but inwardly hides Kufr (disbelief), such as those who belie or detest the Messenger (peace be upon him), belie or detest his Message, or feel happy when they see the Din (religion) waning and hate to see it victorious and similar ill feelings. Such a hypocrite will abide in Hell forever, in the lowest depth of the Fire, if they die persisting in this hypocrisy, as Allah (Exalted be He) says: ﴿Verily, the hypocrites will be in the lowest depth (grade) of the Fire; no helper will you find for them.﴾ May Allah grant us success! Fatwa no. 20076

Q: My mother is 85 years old. She says that her late mother asked her to perform Hajj on her behalf. However, her mother was one of those who used to slaughter animals as a means to draw closer to the Jinn (creatures created from fire), believing that by so doing one is protected from their evil; otherwise, they shall harm the person.

All this is the result of her absolute ignorance of religious matters. Is it permissible for my mother to carry out this will? Is it permissible for her to supplicate to Allah to be merciful to my grandmother given the aforementioned situation?

A: If the reality is as you mentioned, that your grandmother died persisting in slaughtering sacrifices to other than Allah, she is thereby a Mushrik (one who associates others with Allah in His Divinity or worship) and it is not permissible to perform Hajj on her behalf, make Du'a' (supplications) to Allah for her, nor seek His Forgiveness for her, as Allah (Exalted be He) says (what means): \(It is not \(proper\) for the Prophet and those who believe to ask Allâh's Forgiveness for the Mushrikûn \(polytheists, idolaters, pagans, disbelievers in the Oneness of Allâh\), even though they be of kin, after it has become clear to them that they are the dwellers of the Fire \(because they died in a state of disbelief\).\) May Allah grant us success! The second question of Fatwa no. 18456

Q 2: Is it permissible for a Muslim to ask Allah's forgiveness for his dead parents who used to visit the graves and cook and eat food there at the graves of their family? They believed that this food is Sadaqah (voluntary charity) in behalf of the dead and they sought blessings through the Waliy (a pious person) buried in the shrine. My parents used to view Sufi leaders as Awliya' (pious people) and might go to sorcerers and believe their myths. In fact, they did so thinking that these actions pertain to Islam because they never knew that these actions are prohibited. Thus, these actions were done out of ignorance and negligence, not out of stubbornness. What is the ruling of Islam on the person who commits Shirk (associating others with Allah in His Divinity or worship) out of ignorance and negligence and dies before knowing this reality? Will they abide in Hell forever? Is it permissible to ask Allah's forgiveness for them?

A: In their visits to the graves, if your parents seek relief from and invoke the dead apart from Allah, believe the sorcerers and die in such a state, it will not be permissible for you to ask Allah's forgiveness for them. Allah (Exalted be He) says, \(It is not \(proper\) for the Prophet and those who believe to ask Allāh's Forgiveness for the Mushrikūn \(polytheists, idolaters, pagans, disbelievers in the Oneness of Allāh\), even though they be of kin, after it has become clear to them that they are the dwellers of the Fire \(because they died in a state of disbelief\).\) Having food at the graves and going to sorcerers without believing them, however, are misdeeds that do not prevent the Muslim to ask Allah's forgiveness for their doers. On the other hand, anyone who supplicates to other than Allah and dies in such a state has died in Shirk and will be treated like a Mushrik (one who associates others with Allah in His Divinity or worship). If a Muslim commits such actions out of ignorance, his affairs will be left to the Will of Allah, and we only judge him according to the acts of Shirk he openly commits.

Q: I brought this book to you; it is entitled "Al-Salah Al-Ilahiyyah Al-Kubra" i.e. (The Greater Divine Prayer). I have read some strange things in it. I hope you will read it and explain the ruling on following the orders mentioned in it and the ruling on printing, distributing and publishing this book.

A: After reading this book, it became clear to us that it contains issues in religion tantamount to associating others with Allah in His Divinity or worship and Bid'ahs (innovations in religion). one of the invocations that involve Shirk (associating others with Allah in His Divinity or worship) is the saying "allahuma salli `ala Ghayth Al-Mustaghithin" i.e. (o Allah! Send Your Blessings upon the only one who gives succor to those in need of help) in pages 71, 85, 87, 88 and the saying: "fardina ya rasul-allah", "istaghfir lana", "ishfa ` lana ila rabbika" i.e. (Make us pleased, O Messenger of Allah), (Seek Allah's Forgiveness for us), (Intercede with your Lord for us) respectively, as in page 77.

one of the invocations that involve Bid'ahs (innovations in religion) is the saying: "ya man `ilmuhu bi hali yughnihi `an su'ali" i.e. (o You the one Whose knowledge of my situation makes Him not in need to my invocation) and repeating it many times.

Also, the following invocation is Bid'ah: "salli `ala sayyidna wa mawlana Muhammad bi qadr `azhamat (la ilaha illa Allah subhanaka inni kuntu mina al-zhalimin) i.e. (O Allah send Your blessings upon our master and lord Muhammad as befits the greatness of the saying: "There is no god but Allah. Praise be to You. Indeed, I have been of the wrongdoers) and repeating it many times.

And the saying: "ya man laysa yusafu bi qiyam wala qu`ud, wala harakah wala jumud" i.e. (O You Who cannot be described as standing, sitting, moving nor staying still) on page 32.

and the saying: "wa an tajma `ani bihi- yaqzatan wa manaman" i.e. (to gather me with him -that is, with the Messenger (peace be upon him) - in wakefulness and in sleep) on page 64, 84.

And the saying: "bi sirri asrar al-fatihah ila hadrat al-nabi wa al baytihi biniyyat al-qabul" i.e. (by the secret of Al-Fatihah [the Opening chapter of the Qur'an] to the presence of the Prophet [peace be upon him] and his household with the intention of acceptance) on page 68.

And the saying: "ya man idha i`taqda fika al-muhibbu laka bi `adhamat jahik wa makanatika `inda Allah ta`ala bi sidq al-niyyah yunal kula al-murad, ya man idha tawajjaha bika mu'min sadik ila Allah fi ijabat du`a'ih wa su'alihi qabilahu Allah" i.e. (O you who, if the one who loves you, follows you by the greatness of your honor and place in the sight of Allah (Exalted be He), by the sincerity of intention, will get all that he desires. O you, who if a faithful invokes Allah with him to answer his invocation, Allah will answer it) on page 72.

And the saying: "alahumma inni waqif amam nabiyyaka wa habibika sayyidi wa shafi `i rasulu-allah mutawajjihan bihi ilayka. Allahumma inni atawajjahu ilayka bi nabiyyika nabiyy al-rahmah. Ya sayyidi ya rasulu-allah inni mutawjjih bika ila rabi fi hawa'iji lituqda" i.e. (O Allah I am standing before Your Prophet and Beloved being, my master and intercessor, the Messenger of Allah [peace be upon him] invoking You by him, O Allah I invoke You with Your Prophet, the Prophet of Mercy, O my master Messenger of Allah, I invoke my Lord with you to have my needs fulfilled) on page 78 , 79.

And the saying: "wa lawlak lam yakhlug allahu ardan wa la sama' kayfa wa lawlak lam yursil allah alanbiya'" i.e. (But for you Allah would not create the earth or the sky. Why not, if, but for you, Allah would not create the prophets) in page 73. This is exaggeration and it is not permissible to exaggerate in belief in the Prophet (peace be upon him).

In the end of this book, there are some pictures of relics that are ascribed to the Prophet (peace be upon him) and some of them are mere lies and others lack proof.

According to what is mentioned above, it is not permissible to use this book because it contains wrong information and exaggeration in Du`a' (supplication).

Allah (Exalted be He) says, \(Invoke your Lord with humility and in secret. He likes not the aggressors.\) When offering this act of worship (Du`a' (supplication)), the Muslim has to adhere to the sanctified Shari`ah and not innovate in it. The invocations in the Qur'an and the Sunnah and other permissible invocations that contain no violations or innovations are sufficient for the person instead of these books and publications.

Since this book contains what we previously explained, it is not permissible to print, publish, sell or distribute it; because this involves cooperation in sin, leading people astray, calling people to believe in Bid`ah (innovation in religion) and exaggeration in their belief in the Prophet (peace be upon him). Allah (Glorified and Exalted be He) says, \(but do not help one another in sin and transgression. And fear Allâh. Verily, Allâh is Severe in punishment.\) We pray to Allah to set the Muslims' situation right. May Allah grant us success! May peace and blessings be upon our Prophet Muhammad, his family and Companions!

Q: What is the ruling on a non-Muslim who declares the testimony of faith: "There is no deity but allah and Muhammad is the Messenger of Allah" on his deathbed?

(Part No. 1; Page No. 351)

Is he considered a Muslim?

A: One who utters the Shahadahs (two Testimonies of Faith) before death is a Muslim, even if he did not utter this while being healthy and committed major acts of Shirk (associating others in worship with Allah). Like any deceased Muslim, we should wash him, perform a Funeral Prayer for him, bury and invoke Allah to forgive and have mercy on him. The Prophet (peace be upon him) stated, «Allah will accept the repentance of His slave so long as the death-rattle has not yet reached his throat.» (Related by Ahmad, Al-Tirmidhy, and others).

Furthermore, when his uncle Abu Talib was on his deathbed, the Messenger of Allah (peace be upon him) came to urge him to utter Shahadah, but he rejected. It is reported in Sahih (authentic book) that «The Prophet \(peace be upon him\) visited a Jewish sick boy and urged him to embrace Islam. The boy embraced Islam, and the Prophet \(peace be upon him\) went out saying, 'Praise be to Allah Who saved him by me from the Fire.'»

On the other hand, anyone who utters the two Shahadahs while being healthy and commits Shirk including beseeching the dead for help, making vows and slaughtering for their sake is not a Muslim by uttering them on the deathbed. This will be the case unless he declares his Tawbah from the acts of Shirk.

May Allah grant us success! May peace and blessings of Allah be upon our Prophet Muhammad, his family and Companions!

The second question of Fatwa no. 18511

Q 2: Kindly explain: when does the forbidden Tabarruk (seeking blessings), which is kind of Bid`ah (innovation in religion), become major Shirk (associating others in worship with Allah). When does it become a minor Shirk? Please, support your answer with examples.

A: Tabarruk through living beings or objects in creation is of two kinds:

First, Tabarruk through graves, trees, stones, or humans, whether alive or dead wherein one believes blessings are gained from this creature or one draws near to Allah (Glorified be He) through this intermediary as did the first polytheists. This is a form of major Shirk exactly the same as worshipping idols. This was mentioned in the Hadith of Abu Waqid Al-Laythi regarding the polytheists who used to hang their weapons on a tree. The Prophet (peace be upon him) considered this act a major Shirk and compared what they said to what was said by the children of Israel to Moses: «Make for us an ilāh \(a god\) as they have ālihah \(gods\).» Second, Tabarruk believing that one will draw near to Allah and will be rewarded for doing so; not because one thinks an intermediary causes harm or benefit, as the ignorant do with the cover of the Ka`bah. They wipe their hands on the walls of Ka`bah, Abraham's station, the Prophet's chamber and the pillars of Al-Masjid Al-Haram (the Sacred Mosque in Makkah) and Al-Masjid Al-Nabawi (the Prophet's Mosque in Madinah) in order to seek blessings from Allah. This Tabarruk is considered a Bid`ah (innovation in Islam) and a means to major Shirk (associating others in worship with Allah) except for that proven with evidence, such as drinking from Zamzam and Tabarruk through the Prophet's sweat, hair, or anything that touched his body; as well as the excellence of his ablution (peace be upon him) in which there is no harm because there are proofs in this regard.

Treatment for Riya' (showing-off) in Salah

The first question of Fatwa no. 14735

Q 1: Is there any supplication a Muslim may recite to overcome Riya', particularly in Salah (prayer)?

A: If a Muslim suffers evil whisperings during Salah, he should seek refuge in Allah from Satan. Allah (Exalted be He) states, ﴿And if an evil whisper from Shaitân \(Satan\) tries to turn you away \(O Muhammad صلى الله عليه وسلم\) \(from doing good\), then seek refuge in Allâh. Verily, He is the All-Hearer, the All-Knower.﴾ A Muslim should continue his Salah and overlook such whisperings and Riya', whether or not people are looking at him. He should remind himself that he performs Salah for the sake of Allah and in the way He ordered him to by perfecting its bows and prostrations and paying no attention to Satan's illusion that his deeds are done to show off.

Q 1: Some of my deeds are tinged with Riya' (showing off), so in order to avoid Allah's displeasure towards me, I tend to do some acts which I feel He will not be pleased with.

For example: i feel that going to offer Salah (prayer) in the Masjid (mosque) is a sort of Riya', this is why i always pray at home; however, it troubles me a great deal because I believe in Allah, maintain my Salah, and always try to give to all sorts of charities. I am very much worried that Allah may not accept my Salah, Sawm (fast) or Zakah (obligatory charity). Please advise me, may Allah reward you.

A: A Muslim should be sincere towards Allah in performing any act, following the Prophet (peace be upon him) in this regard, hoping to win the Reward of Allah in the Hereafter. Thus, it is not permissible for a person to perform an act to gain people's praise; it is not equally permissible to abandon an act for their sake.

Treatment of Riya'

The second and third questions of Fatwa no. 17382

Q 2: How can a person get rid of Riya' (showing-off) and ostentation? What are the Du'a's (supplications) reported in this respect? How can a person know whether a certain act is meant for Riya' or not?

A: You should try hard to devote yourself to Allah, stay away from Riya' and seek Allah's Help in doing this. You should keenly know the different kinds of Riya' to avoid them. You should ponder over the punishment for Riya' in the worldly life and in the Hereafter, for any who does so will surely dislike Riya'; it will avail him nothing and will not ward off people's harm. On the contrary, this will bring upon him Allah's Anger and Discontent, and he will thereby lose both the worldly life and the Hereafter. It was reported in the Two Sahih (authentic) Books of Hadith (i.e. Al-Bukhari and Muslim) that the Prophet (peace be upon him) said, «If anyone wants to have his deeds widely publicized, Allah will make known \(his faults\). And if anyone makes a hypocritical display \(of his deeds\) Allah will make a display of \(his faults\).» One can get rid of this malady by asking Allah's rescue and refuge from it. One should remember that Riya' is one of the actions of the hypocrites mentioned in Allah's Saying, «Verily, the hypocrites seek to deceive Allâh, but it is He Who deceives them. And when they stand up for As-Salât \(the prayer\), they stand with laziness and to be seen of men, and they do not remember Allâh but little.»

It was reported that the Prophet (peace be upon him) addressed his Sahabah (Companions of the Prophet) saying, «O people, fear Shirk \(associating others with Allah in His Divinity or worship\) for it is more hidden than the creeping of an ant.» They asked, "How do we avoid it, O Messenger of Allah?" He (peace be upon him) replied, "Say: 'O Allah, we seek refuge in you from knowingly committing shirk with you and we ask your forgiveness for what we do not know about.'"» Reported by Ahmad and Al-Tabarani on the authority of Abu Musa Al-Ash'ari (may Allah be pleased with him.)

Q 3: After finishing Salah (prayer), a student found one of his shaykhs next to him, so he did not offer the sunnah (supererogatory) salah lest he should fall prey to Riya' (showing off). Is what he did correct?

A: The least that can be said regarding this action is that it is Makruh (reprehensible). However, some scholars consider it Riya', because anyone who decides to do an act of worship, then leaves it out of fear that people may see him will be showing off since he stops it for the sake of people. Actually, abandoning acts of worship for fear of Riya' is one of the traps of Satan. If Satan knows that of a person, he will most likely dissuade him from all his deeds by casting evil thoughts

Q 5: As far as I know, there are two categories of Shirk: 1. Major Shirk (associating others with Allah in His Divinity or worship), which places a person outside the pale of Islam. 2. Minor Shirk, which renders the deeds void. does minor Shirk, such as Riya' (showing-off), nullify all previous deeds, irrespective of being mixed or not with this Shirk?

Please, explain the Hadith about those people who will come on the Day of Resurrection with deeds weighing as much as the mountains and then Allah will make them as scattered dust. I would like to know why these deeds become void. Please, tell me how I can avoid the suggestions of Satan who ruins some acts of worship. For example, while I am performing Salah, intending from the very beginning that I do this only and sincerely for the sake of Allah, Satan whispers to me saying, "do well as so-and-so sees you." Please reply, may Allah be merciful to you.

A: Deeds mixed with Riya' are worthless unless the person performs Tawbah from it. As for the other deeds which are not mixed with it, they are not rendered void. On the other hand, major Shirk nullifies all good deeds. As reported in Hadith, people whose righteous deeds weigh as much as the mountains and become worthless, they are those who transgressed against other people. Their good deeds will be taken and given to those whom they wronged until the former run out of their good deeds. Some of the bad deeds of the wronged will be taken and added to the burden of the wrongdoers, and then they will be thrown into the Fire.

The deeds of idolaters and non-Muslims who die in their disbelief are not acceptable in principle as the deeds of a non-Muslim are worthless. You overlook these whispers and seek Allah's protection against the devil. By so doing, these suggestions will be harmless In sha'a-Allah (if Allah wills).

A: We advise you to continue your good deeds of giving Khutab and Imamah, because these are acts of obedience, and do not be affected by incitement of Satan to give up what you are doing under the pretext of avoiding showing off. Furthermore, you should have devotion and sincerity to Allah when performing acts of obedience, and seek His refuge against the accursed Satan and devilish whisperings. May Allah help you.

Enacting tribal customs and traditions

Fatwa no. 16894

Q: We submit to your Eminence our inquiry informing that the tribes settling in Al-Ta'if and its suburbs represented in the tribes of Quraysh, Banu Sufyan, Tuwayriq, Al-Numur and the tribe of Hudhayl which settle in Nu`man Valley are ruled by tribal rules, and what is so called the "Al-Madh-hab Al-`Araby" which consists of a group of rules. These rules do not follow the Shari`ah (Islamic Law), such as the rule of cutting the amount of Diyah (blood money) to one-third. For example, according to this rule the person entitled to claim the Diyah will receive three thousand only if the Diyah is estimated by 10,000. According to this rule, one third of the money is deducted for the banquet at which they gather, one third is dropped, and the last third is to be given to the person entitled to receive it from the relatives of the victim.

Another example of settling disputes is when one party continues to strike his head with daggers until he bleeds; such a person is supposed to continue until his rival utters the word "Abyad" (white, which means 'stop').

Nowadays, people try to evade the use of daggers by substituting it with money they pay; one thousand riyals that is subject to increase or decrease. They also have what is called (Al-Asiyah), which is a prevalent code that assigns rules for every single incident. For example, according to this code, a person may be fined five sheep or six daggers or their price with respect to a certain incident. They claim that the Shari`ah does not prohibit applying the traditions of their forefathers which they honor and are proud of. Furthermore, they tend to desert and ostracize anyone who tries to disavow their deeds. If they are able to harm them, they will never hesitate to do so.

We hope that your Eminence would provide us with a written answer, especially that some laymen tend to report on your authority things which we are not sure of their credibility.

The things mentioned above reflect a reality that these tribes live; their administrators of justice there are not Islamically qualified to do so, for they are laymen. Accordingly, what is the ruling in Islam on the one-third reduction rule, the rule of daggers and their prices, Al-Asiyah and the rest of what we have mentioned? Is it permissible to attend and eat from the banquet mentioned above that is called "Al-Firash"? It should be noted that these people also have what is called Al-Mansubah which is a slaughtered animal that a wrongdoer is obliged to offer and take to the house of the wronged person. Is it permissible to attend and eat its meat? What is the ruling on being satisfied with the rulings of those laypeople?

A: it is an obligation on Muslims to resort to the ruling of Shari`ah to obey Allah's Command (Glorified and Exalted be He) when saying, ﴿And so judge (you O Muhammad صلى الله عليه وسلم) among them by what Allâh has revealed and follow not their vain desires﴾, ﴿And whosoever does not judge by what Allâh has revealed, such are the Kâfirûn (i.e. disbelievers of a lesser degree as they do not act on Allâh's Laws).﴾, ﴿And whosoever does not judge by that which Allâh has revealed, such are the Zâlimûn (polytheists and wrong-doers - of a lesser degree).﴾, ﴿And whosoever does not judge by what Allâh has revealed (then) such (people) are the Fâsiqûn [the rebellious i.e. disobedient (of a lesser degree) to Allâh].﴾ In addition, Allah (Exalted be He) says, ﴿But no, by your Lord, they can have no Faith, until they make you (O Muhammad صلى الله عليه وسلم) judge in all disputes between them, and find in themselves no resistance against your decisions, and accept (them) with full submission.﴾

Therefore, it is not permissible for Muslims to resort to tribal rules, principles or positive laws, for this involves resorting to the judgment of the Taghut (false gods), and we are prohibited to do so. Allah (Exalted be He) has ordained us to disbelieve in it in His Saying (Exalted be He), ﴿Have you not seen those (hypocrites) who claim that they believe in that which has been sent down to you, and that which was sent down before you, and they wish to go for judgement (in their disputes) to the Tâghût (false judges) while they have been ordered to reject them. But Shaitân (Satan) wishes to lead them far astray.﴾

It is not permissible for the chieftains of these tribes to judge between people according to norms, and tribal rules; rather, they should advise anyone who resorts to them to refer to the competent judges at the legal courts who are appointed by the government to judge between people according to the Purified Shari`ah.

What has been mentioned regarding the daggers and their prices, two-third reduction of Diyah, Al-Asiyah or Al-Mansubah are all unlawful rulings, for they are tribal, and it is not permissible to apply them amongst people. Moreover, it is not permissible to eat from the food called (Ta`am Al-Firash), for it is offered unwillingly; it is not permissible either to agree to it or attend it.

Q: In Algeria, we have legislative elections. There are some parties that call for the Islamic rule and others reject it. What is the ruling on a Muslim who votes for a party that calls for non-Islamic ruling, knowing that he performs Salah (prayer)?

A: It is obligatory on Muslims who live in countries that do not judge according to the Shari`ah (Islamic law) to spare no effort to rule according to the Shari`ah and form a united front to help the party that is known to rule according to it. However, helping those who try to prevent the application of the Islamic Shari`ah is not permissible. Indeed, it may lead to Kufr (disbelief). Allah (Exalted be He) says, ﴿And so judge (you O Muhammad صلى الله عليه وسلم) among them by what Allâh has revealed and follow not their vain desires, but beware of them lest they turn you (O Muhammad صلى الله عليه وسلم) far away from some of that which Allâh has sent down to you. And if they turn away, then know that Allâh's Will is to punish them for some sins of theirs. And truly, most of men are Fâsiqûn (rebellious and disobedient to Allâh).﴾ ﴿Do they then seek the judgement of (the days of) Ignorance? And who is better in judgement than Allâh for a people who have firm Faith.﴾ Therefore, after Allah declared the disbelief of those who do not judge according to the Islamic Shari`ah, He warned the believers against helping or supporting them and commanded the believers to hold Taqwa (fearing Allah as He should be feared) if they are truly believers. Allah (Exalted be He) says, ﴿O you who believe! Take not as Auliâ' (protectors and helpers) those who take your religion as a mockery and fun from among those who received the Scripture (Jews and Christians) before you, and nor from among the disbelievers; and fear Allâh if you indeed are true believers.﴾

Q: What is the opinion of the Fuqaha' (Muslim jurists) and other scholars regarding those who give precedence to intellect over the Divine texts and arrogantly claim that intellect is the reference for everything? When an authentic Hadith is brought to them, even if it is in Al-Bukhari and Muslim, they object and seek corrupted ways of interpretation to alter its outward meaning. Thus, they dispute over the texts of Hadiths. Is this right or manifest error? Please, advise!

A: It is obligatory for Muslims to follow divine texts and reject any other claims. Allah (Glorified be He) says: ﴿Follow what has been sent down unto you from your Lord (the Qur'ân and Prophet Muhammad's Sunnah)﴾ and ﴿(And) if you differ in anything amongst yourselves, refer it to Allâh and His Messenger (صلى الله عليه وسلم)﴾ Whoever gives priority to intellect over divine texts is a disbeliever. The forty fourth question of Fatwa no. 12087

Q 44: What is the ruling of working as a lawyer in a country ruled by man-made laws, even if they are not entirely in disagreement with the Islamic Law, especially in matters that the relevant rulings are based upon `Urf (custom) or governmental issues?

A: If working as a lawyer is a means to support the truth, invalidate falsehood, return the rights to their owners, and help the oppressed, it will be permissible, as it is a form of cooperation in righteousness and Taqwa (fearing Allah as He should be feared). Otherwise, it is not permissible, as it shall be a form of cooperation in sin and transgression. Allah says, ﴿Help you one another in Al-Birr and At-Taqwâ \(virtue, righteousness and piety\); but do not help one another in sin and transgression.﴾ May Allah grant us success! The fifth question of Fatwa no. 18870

Q5: Some of those who call to Islam give importance to discussing Tawhid -Al-Hakimiyyah (rulership) as a fourth type of Tawhid. Is this type included in one of the three types or not? Is it an independent type? It is said that Shaykh Muhammad ibn `Abdul-Wahhab focused on Tawhid Al-Uluhiyyah (the Oneness of Allah's Divinity) in his time, for he saw people negligent of this aspect. Imam Ahmad focused on Tawhid Al-Asma' wal-Sifat (Oneness of Names and Attributes of Allah) in his time when he saw people lacking in this knowledge. Now, people have begun to neglect Tawhid Al-Hakimiyyah, so we must focus on this concern. Is this correct or not?

A: there are three types of tawhid (belief in the Oneness of Allah/ monotheism): Tawhid Al-Rububiyyah (the Oneness of Allah's Lordship), Tawhid Al-Uluhiyyah (the Oneness of Allah's Divinity) and Tawhid Al-Asma' wal-Sifat and there is no fourth type. adopting a system of government that copes with allah's Laws comes under the Tawhid al-Uluhiyyah. In fact, it is a kind of worship to Allah (Glorified be He) and all types of worship are included in Tawhid Al-Uluhiyyah. Making Hakimiyyah a separate type of Tawhid is an innovated act that no scholar ever adopted, as far as we know. However, some of them epitomized and made Tawhid of only two types: (1) Tawhid of knowledge and faithful certainty i.e. Tawhid Al-Rububiyyah and Tawhid Al-Asma' wal-Sifat. (2) Tawhid of purpose and intention which is Tawhid Al-Uluhiyyah. Some of them expound and make Tawhid of three types as stated previously. Allah knows best. We should place importance on Tawhid Al-Uluhiyyah, which starts with forbidding Shirk (associating others with Allah in His Divinity or worship), because it is one of the major sins and invalidates all other actions and its doer is in Hell. All Prophets began their mission by commanding people to abandon Shirk. Allah commanded us to follow their way and methodology in the Da`wah and other matters of faith. Placing importance on Tawhid and its three types is obligatory during every era, because Shirk and denial of Allah's Names and Attributes are ever present. They exist and their danger will increase towards the end of time. They are hidden from most people and their callers are numerous and active. Occurrence of Shirk is not limited to the time of Shaykh Muhammad ibn `Abdul-Wahhab, and denial of Names and Attributes is not limited to the time of Imam Ahmad (may Allah be Merciful with them) as mentioned in the question. However, their danger has increased and appeared in the Muslim communities of today. So, they are in urgent need for someone to forbid their wrong and explain their dangers. It is worth mentioning that following the commands of Allah, staying away from His prohibitions and turning to Shari`ah lead to realizing Tawhid and being free of Shirk.

Fatwa no. 18545

Q: In the southern region, we have what is called "ayman al-wisiyyah" i.e. (the oath of consolation) which is made for settling disputes and troubles that take place among individuals and tribes. For example when there is a dispute over land, or when a person's son is injured in a quarrel or a person's sheep eats from another person's farmland, the person or his guardian makes an oath that if he were in the same place of the wronged person, he would not claim anything, then says: "By Allah, if you, the owner of the farmland, the owner of the sheep, the father of the boy, wronged me, I would forgive you and claim nothing from you." This is the description of "ayman al-wisiyyah" i.e. (the oath of consolation). Your Eminence, there is another issue; it is about the execution of Ta`zir (discretionary punishment) on the person who makes a mistake that not as severe as a sin that deserves a prescribed punishment, by slaughtering a sheep or two for the people of the tribe or the village. This practice also solves many problems and settles many disputes between the people involved in the disputes. What is the ruling on these two issues?

A: First, what is known as "ayman al-wisiyyah" i.e. (the oath of consolation) which means that, when a person wrongs another person or violates his financial rights, he or his guardian makes an oath that if he were in the same place of the wronged person, he would not claim anything from him, is a disapproved act and involves forcing people to follow a ruling that neither Allah (Exalted be He) nor His Messenger (peace be upon him) obligated. So the people who make this oath have to stop it or substitute it with a permissible practice such as reconciling people involved in disputes with tolerance or bringing the disputes before legal courts.

Second, imposing Ta`zir (discretionary punishment) on the aggressor or mistaken person as befits his fault or mistake, by slaughtering a sheep or two for the tribe, to show disapproval of his mistake and to keep the victim's dignity, is execution of punishment by one who is not legally entitled to execute punishment. Moreover, it is a heavier punishment compared to Ta`zir (discretionary punishment) which is inflicted by the legal courts not the tribal conventions. So it is not permissible to do so.

Fatwa no. 18533

Q: Allah (may He be Praised and Exalted) says, \(and made you into nations and tribes, that you may know one another.\) Your Eminence, we are a group of students from the southern tribes. Your Eminence knows of the spread of ignorance and lack of knowledgeable people among the tribes; a matter which made them ruled by inherited customs and traditions.

(Part No. 1; Page No. 380)

For example, a dispute occurred between a man and his wife. As a result of the disputes, he uttered the pronouncement of Talaq (divorce pronounced by a husband) once, then accompanied her to her father's house. Some days later, the husband sent some benevolent people in order to try to reconcile between the spouses in the period of the three months, but her father refused to give him his wife back. As a result of the ignorance on the part of the husband, the benevolent people, and the father, who the husband has the right to take her back without his consent, they complied with the status quo, bearing in mind that Talaq has taken place. They did not know that sending the people to the wife's father to reconcile her means that it has become permissible for the husband to take his wife back in marriage. After the lapse of some months, the husband wanted to take his wife back by seeking the help of some benevolent people who judged that he should pay thirty thousand SR. They went to the judge without telling him that the husband had previously asked for his wife back during the period of `Iddah (woman's prescribed waiting period after divorce or widowhood). Consequently, the Judge told them that there should be a new marriage contract and a new Mahr (mandatory gift to a bride from her groom). Accordingly, the husband consulted some people who told him that he had already taken his wife back in marriage without his need to pay anything. I submitted to Your Eminence their issue and told them that the husband does not need to make a new marriage contract or pay a new Mahr as long as he took his wife back in marriage during her `Iddah. However, this contradicts the tribal customs and traditions. They did not agree to this Fatwa and the wife's father refused to give her back to her husband without paying a new Mahr which he stipulated i.e. thirty thousand SR. Despite the issuing of the concerned Fatwa, the husband and his father refused to pay the said money and asked for the return of the wife to her husband's house. Upon that, the girl's father resorted to the shaykh of his tribe and the prominent figures and explained the issue to them; they did not, as usual, adopt the Islamic directives in this case. Rather they said to the girl's father that he has rights over his son-in-law and his father as well as his own brother who played the biggest role in reconciling the two spouses and suggested the said sum of money. Hence, they asked three of them to attend the gathering in order to be subjected to the customs they inherited from their ancestors and grandfathers. The wife's father came in the presence of the concerned parties and the shaykh of the tribe along with a prominent figure who obliged the man who interfered for the reconciliation to pay ten thousand SR, as he did not compel the husband to pay the full Mahr to his brother who is the girl's father. They even considered him to have betrayed his own brother and sided with his opponents to get the thirty thousand SR. This rule on the part of the shaykh and the prominent figures was the final settlement to this problem. Is the money imposed upon the person who interfered for the reconciliation Halal? Is it permissible to pay this money to such people or is a person who pays it considered sinful? This said problem is nothing but one of many similar ones that take place inside the tribes and clans who hold at reverence such customs and traditions, to the extent that they consider whoever does not abide by them, as having committed a heinous offense and is shameful to them, because he does not abide by their old customs and traditions. Therefore, he is not worthy of sitting in their gatherings or attending their conventions until he is judged for what he has done and to the end of such unreasonable traditions and stupidities.

Your Eminence, if such deeds and acts rely on rulings other than that of Allah, what is the ruling on whoever abides by them? Then, his relatives sever ties of kinship with him? Is he, the one who boycotts such traditions, held as severing the ties of kinship or his relatives? Is there any advice you would like to give to the shaykh of the tribe, as being the one held in exemplary status and one of the judges in this case? Kindly give us the legal Fatwa in writing, so that it can be distributed and its benefit be circulated. May Allah forgive you, and reward you the best on behalf of us and all Muslims. He is the answerer of invocations!

A: Firstly, as long as the divorced woman is still in `Iddah and she has not been divorced irrevocably, the husband has the right to take her back in marriage without the need of her consent or that of her guardian or paying a new Mahr, as Allah (Exalted be He) says, \(And their husbands have the better right to take them back in that period, if they wish for reconciliation.\) Secondly, what is mentioned in the question concerning the tribal customs and traditions, these are all unacceptable and contradict the Islamic Law; thus they should not be the source of judgment or abiding by it. It is obligatory upon Muslims to seek judgment from the Islamic Shari`ah to settle their disputes and discrepancies in the Islamic courts. This is in accordance with the prerequisites of Iman (Faith), as Allah (Exalted be He) says, \(But no, by your Lord, they can have no Faith, until they make you \(O Muhammad صلى الله عليه وسلم\) judge in all disputes between them, and find in themselves no resistance against your decisions, and accept \(them\) with full submission.\) Allah also says, \(\(And\) if you differ in anything amongst yourselves, refer it to Allâh and His Messenger \(صلى الله عليه وسلم\), if you believe in Allâh and in the Last Day. That is better and more suitable for final determination.\) and says, \(Do they then seek the judgement of \(the days of\) Ignorance? And who is better in judgement than Allâh for a people who have firm Faith.\) Anyone who has been wronged or could not attain his rights should go to the Islamic court with his opponent, and it is due on the court to settle the dispute.

May Allah grant us success! May peace and blessings be upon our Prophet Muhammad, his family and Companions!

Fatwa no. 18542

Q: We live in a tribal society whose members have their own traditions and customs

according to which they settle the disputes of agricultural lands, real estates, marital disputes, and quarrels. Chieftains of the tribe acknowledge a set of well-known rules to which they refer for legislation arguing that it is a form of reconciliation. They also claim that the way of bringing the litigants in the presence of the so-called arbitrators is a necessary arrangement in the process of reconciliation. They may demand the party who denies to swear an oath on the ground that the judge rules so in case of denial. They see no harm in following this method or on the pressure they practice on the person who refuses to pay the amount of money he was sentenced to pay. All these are done on the pretext of ending the problem. Is this way considered a legal form of reconciliation? Are they assigned to be rewarded for that? What are the qualities of those who reconcile among people according to the legal directives? Arbitrators in such disputes may observe Sawm (fasting) on Mondays and Thursdays regularly and believe that their actions, were they sins, are small and forgiven by Allah (Exalted be He). A habit which is worse, the tribes blatantly blame filing the problems to the official authorities in a way that they all rally against the person who lodges a complaint against anybody in the authority even if he is right in his claim. Regardless of this fact, they consider that he forfeited his right by lodging the claim to the authority, provided they neither stand for witness with him nor allow him to attend their celebrations such as wedding ceremonies or other occasions the tribe holds. Members of the tribes will not support him, if he suffers an affliction such as killing someone in a car accident that entails him to pay blood money. They do not help him pay it until he returns to the tribe and introduces a sword or an amount of money, then, retracts his complaint from the authority, regardless of whether it was his mistake or not. They then pass judgment on him for the complaint he lodged. After that they start discussing his problem after taking the right of the tribe. For example, if a person does not shake hands with another in some gathering, he has to pay one thousand Riyals or more; if a person accuses another of theft, he will be sentenced to pay five thousand Riyals and so on. They discuss the tribe's problems in that way and enact the laws of their forefathers. Please, give advice to those people who deem that type of work as a part of reconciling among people and ending their problems. They even consider them mild sins that performance of the Five Obligatory Daily Prayers or other good deeds forgive. Please, advise.

A: It is obligatory on Muslims to refer their disputes and litigations to the legal courts and stop judging according to the tribal customs and old traditions. Allah (Exalted be He) says, ﴿And so judge (you O Muhammad صلى الله عليه وسلم) among them by what Allâh has revealed and follow not their vain desires﴾ He (Glorified and Exalted be He) also says, ﴿Do they then seek the judgement of (the days of) Ignorance? And who is better in judgement than Allâh for a people who have firm Faith.﴾ He (Glorified be He) says, ﴿(And) if you differ in anything amongst yourselves, refer it to Allâh and His Messenger (صلى الله عليه وسلم), if you believe in Allâh and in the Last Day. That is better and more suitable for final determination.﴾

Reconciliation between people and settling their disputes are necessary good deeds, but the permissible form of reconciliation does not involve violations of Shari`ah rules or imposing things on the rejecting party. Also, the litigants accept it willingly without passing particular punishment. This form of reconciliation should help settle disputes and remove hatred. All these are included in Allah's saying, ﴿and making peace is better.﴾ and His (Glorified be He) saying, ﴿So fear Allâh and adjust all matters of difference among you﴾ and His (Glorified and Exalted be He) saying, ﴿There is no good in most of their secret talks save (in) him who orders Sadaqah (charity in Allâh's Cause), or Ma'rûf (Islâmic Monotheism and all the good and righteous deeds which Allâh has ordained), or conciliation between mankind﴾

Q: we are representatives of the tribes 'Al Wa'ilah in Tihamah `Asir and we look into some cases to restrain some of the members of the tribes and to alleviate problems. They are as follows:

- 1. Al-Ladhah (Seeking help): When two persons have a dispute over something, and the wronged person claims his right, the wrongdoer asks a third person to mediate and prevent the wronged person from claiming his right. The mediator asks the wronged person not to claim his right. If he claims his right once more, the mediator gives twelve sheep to the wrongdoer then accompanies the wronged person to the chief of the tribe who in turn obliges the wronged person to give twelve sheep to the mediator. In this way, instead of taking back his right, the wronged person is forced to give twelve sheep just for claiming his right.
- 2. Justice: If a person stabs or fires at someone, both the wrongdoer and the wronged go to the chief of the tribe who looks into their case to settle the disputes as follows:

The chieftain says: I will judge your case provided that you accept my judgment, then they rub their hands against their beards as a sign of approval, regardless of the judgment he will make. He then judges that the wrongdoer gives ten or fifteen sheep to the wronged and both of them accept this judgment.

Cases involving Hudud (ordained punishment for violating Allah's Law):

Theft: When someone is caught while stealing a sheep, he is forced to give twelve sheep as a way of punishing him and restraining others from stealing.

Is our judgment in such cases, considered as judgment with other that Allah's Law? We appreciate your advice. May Allah reward you with the best!

A: The customs and tribal conventions mentioned in the question are judgments that befit the Pre-Islamic period and it is not permissible to resort to or accept them for settling people's disputes. Muslims everywhere have to seek the rule of Islamic Shari`ah and abandon other laws according to the Saying of Allah (Exalted be He), ﴿And so judge (you O Muhammad صلى الله عليه وسلم) among them by what Allâh has revealed and follow not their vain desires﴾ and the Saying of Allah (Glorified be He),

Fatwa no. 19915

Q: I would like to ask your Eminence the following question with the hope that Allah (Exalted be He) will guide you to the right answer. A group of wise men in a given Islamic country, who do not have a religious ruler, established a committee for reconciling adversaries and settling disputes that start between tribes. However, one of their bad habits is that they go to the wronged tribe driving a camel or a cow or any cattle in front of them. Once they reach the wronged people's neighborhood, they slaughter the cattle to gladden the wronged people's hearts. If they offered them a lot of money instead of slaughtering an animal, they would not stop their disputes. What is the ruling of the Shari`ah on slaughtering these animals? Is this unlawful?

It should be noted that the members of this committee have bought a camel for about 45,000 SR. They asked every member of the committee to participate with them, even though some members are poor. They asked us to participate with them. It should be noted that they do not know the religious ruling on this. Is it permissible for us to participate with them in purchasing this camel and to tell them that persistence in doing so is not permissible? We would like to receive a fully detailed answer for this question.

A: Allah (may He be Exalted and Glorified) ordered the believers to cooperate in righteousness and piety and forbade them to cooperate in sin and transgression. Moreover, the Prophet (peace be upon him) said, «There is no slaughtering \(at the grave\) in Islam» to stop the practices that have been common among people during the Pre-Islamic period. It is known that settling disputes and reconciling Muslims is a great righteous work, but the mentioned convention, that is, being obliged to slaughter an animal to be a means of reconciliation between people and satisfying the disputing tribes, is an invalid convention. It is not permissible to adhere to or continue it; because it is like the practices of people in the Pre-Islamic period and because it obligates people to do something that neither Allah (Exalted be He) nor His Messenger (peace be upon him) required them to do. Also, this may involve belief in slaughtering for other than Allah (Exalted be He) and hence it will be considered a means of Shirk (associating others with Allah in His Divinity or worship) with Allah (Exalted be He). Moreover, this obligation nurtures hatred, enmity and grudges among people. Consequently, these conventions and customs that violate the rulings of the sanctified Shari`ah must be abandoned.

Fatwa no. 20510

Q: We are tribes inhabiting Makkah Al-Mukarramah and its suburbs. We have neighboring tribes. we are judged by traditions and tribal laws in disputes and disagreements. Some of the members of the tribe and I fear that we are thereby judging by other than that revealed by Allah. We want to renounce them and to break away with the tribe if they are to insist upon what they do. However, we reconsidered the matter and found that such traditions and laws imply apparently interests, settling of disputes, protection from harm, prevention of bloodshed and guarding of rights. And Allah knows best. We fear to renounce and change them without knowledge and to be thereby acting against the interests of the tribe. Therefore, we decided to point out these traditions and laws to your Eminence, so that if they violate the rulings of the sanctified Shari`ah (Islamic law), we will In sha'a-Allah (if Allah wills) give them up and warn people against them. If they are useful and do not contradict the Shari`ah, we hope you could point out this to us and refer to what contradicts the Shari`ah so that we can change them, given that the tribe do not refer to the Shari`ah Courts of the government not out of objection to the Shari`ah ruling, but on account of the following reasons:

1. The Bedouins find difficulty in filing cases with the courts and government authorities due to the bureaucratic measures one has to go through that may take months or years.
2. Fearing harsh Ta`zir (discretionary punishment) sentences such as long prison sentences.
3. Some disputing parties may be skillful in procrastination, trickery and making use of legal loopholes so that the case may be adjourned for long terms or years; on the other hand, the Bedouins decide and settle their cases in a short period.

An outline of the tribal traditions and laws: When a dispute or a problem arises between two parties, the wronged party or his guardian demands from the wrongdoer or his guardian the Khatimah (indemnity) so the wrongdoer or his guardian pay a sum of money or a valuable thing to be maintained with the wronged party until the case is settled and each gets their right. The wronged party or their guardian makes a commitment not to take an action of revenge or complain to the government, until the case is settled. This commitment may be for warding off Fitnah (sedition) as in case a fight or quarrel breaks out between the tribe members, in which case a peacemaker takes the commitment from each party. This is considered a truce to suspend fight. Accordingly, each party that makes this commitment is responsible for preventing their tribe, even by force, from taking an aggressive action against the other party. Any attack that takes place after making the commitment brings shame on the committed person. In this way, the Fitnah comes to an end until the seniors of each tribe gather to debate and settle the issue.

Settlement of dispute: The wronged party bears the costs incurred for deciding on the issue; then the wrongdoer is to pay the costs if he is proved guilty. Two judges or more are to be elected to decide on the issue; they are not informed of the Shari`ah or scholars; but they are known for their discretion, wisdom, honesty and wit. You should bear in mind that no scholars or seekers of knowledge of the members of the tribe can engage or take part in solving such questions. Then the claimant guarantees the defendant and they rub their beards as a sign of being committed to implement the sentence and not to object to it, except in one case, i.e., when one is sure that the ruling is not fair, in which case, he is to oppose the ruling and pay a sum of money for the judge as a compensation. Then the case is to be brought before other judges who may not be of the same tribe. They review the ruling, if they agree upon it, he is to implement it and is to get another ruling for appealing against the sentence. If the ruling of the judges is really unfair, another one is to be issued and the judges get nothing. The claimant presents his case and the defendant answers, then the judges consider whether the case does not necessitate anything, so they throw out the case. If it necessitates a ruling, they see whether there is a precedent case and then they make the same ruling of the precedent. If there is no precedent, they make a ruling according to their discretion. (They agree that if a similar case takes place, they will make the same ruling). This is called Asiyah. It should be noted that there are rulings that are agreed upon and have this Asiyah, and when they are found to be contradictory with the Shari`ah, the judges give them up.

Some of the rulings:

1. If it is an assault and battery charge, the wronged party is to get Arsh (indemnity paid for inflicting certain wounds).
2. The burden of proof is upon the claimant and the taking of an oath is upon the one who denies (the allegation).
3. If it is a charge of curse or insult, the judges rule that a sum of money is to be given to the wronged party or a sum of money and Malfa (A sheep served at the home of the wronged party in his honor). It never comes to one's mind that the sheep is slaughtered as a sacrifice for other than Allah. It may occur that the wrongdoer produces this Malfa for the one he wronged out of respect, without a trial, but of his own free will, in order to appease the wronged one.
4. The sentence is to be doubled, if the wrongdoer is a neighbor, kin or the companion by your side.

We hope Your Eminence could enlighten us on this matter by a written Fatwa, so that we can point it out to the seniors and shaykhs of our tribe. May Allah make it beneficial! May Allah reward you with the best!

A: You should seek the judgment of Allah (Exalted be He) with regard to everything, on account of his Saying: ﴿\(And\) if you differ in anything amongst yourselves, refer it to Allâh and His Messenger \(صلى الله عليه وسلم\), if you believe in Allâh and in the Last Day. That is better and more suitable for final determination.﴾ And His saying (Glorified be He), ﴿But no, by your Lord, they can have no Faith, until they make you \(O Muhammad صلى الله عليه وسلم\) judge in all disputes between them, and find in themselves no resistance against your decisions, and accept (them) with full submission.) And: ﴿Do they then seek the judgement of (the days of) Ignorance? And who is better in judgement than Allâh for a people who have firm Faith.﴾ It is not permissible to judge according to the tribal traditions and the like; for this entails seeking judgment with other than that revealed by Allah. You should bring your cases before the judges of the Shari`ah Courts.

May Allah grant us success! May peace and blessings be upon our Prophet, his family and Companions!

Q: A misunderstanding may take place between members of a tribe where they get involved into fights and bloodshed. Meanwhile, the Shaykh and seniors of the tribe make what is called malfa where they try to reconcile between the wronged person and the one who wronged him and offer one or two sacrificial animals along with some money to the wronged person and his family; should this Malfa be endured by all the tribe members equally or by the wrongdoer only?

A: If this action is done out of reconciling between the disputed persons and upon the consent of the wronged person, there will be no harm in it, and its provider and anyone who seeks to help will be rewarded In sha'a-Allah (if Allah wills). However, if this action is taken under pressure; if the wrongdoer refuses he will be guilty of infringing the traditions of the tribe, this will be Munkar (that which is unacceptable or disapproved of by Islamic law and Muslims of sound intellect). It will further count as obligating something that Allah has not made obligatory upon his Servants; accordingly, it is not permissible. Rather, all disputes and fights should be referred to the Shari'ah (Islamic law-based) Courts, for Allah (Exalted be He) says, [﴿\(And\) if you differ in anything amongst yourselves, refer it to Allâh and His Messenger \(صلى الله عليه وسلم\), if you believe in Allâh and in the Last Day. The third question of Fatwa no. 20845

Q 3: Please, what is the ruling on reconciling among people to dissolve their disputes or prevent further bloodshed, but not according to the Qur'an and Sunnah?

A: It is not permissible to help bring about reconciliation among people when it will lead to committing forbidden acts or calling to apply man-made laws which go against the Book of Allah and Sunnah of His Messenger. Allah (Exalted be He) says, ﴿And whosoever does not judge by what Allâh has revealed, such are the Kâfirûn \(i.e. disbelievers of a lesser degree as they do not act on Allâh's Laws\).﴾ A Muslim has to reconcile among people in justice and encourage them kindly to follow the truth, avoid transgression, and pardon the offensive party. He may pay money to one or both sides to bring about reconciliation. For example, when he sees that paying money is more useful than kind words, he may make payment from Zakah expenditures assigned to those in debt or from money other than Zakah to those sides or others. Anyone who reconciles among people should fear Allah. It should be noted that fearing Allah is mentioned before the phrase "Adjust all matters of difference among you" due to its significance. Allah says, ﴿So fear Allâh and adjust all matters of difference among you, and obey Allâh and His Messenger \(Muhammad صلى الله عليه وسلم\), if you are believers.﴾ and ﴿And if two parties or groups among the believers fall to fighting, then make peace between them both.﴾ Up to His saying, ﴿Then if it complies, then make reconciliation between them justly, and be equitable. Verily, Allâh loves those who are the equitable.﴾ ﴿The believers are nothing else than brothers \(in Islâmic religion\). So make reconciliation between your brothers, and fear Allâh, that you may receive mercy.﴾

Fatwa no. 12597

Q: I ask Allah (Exalted be He) to grant Your Eminence long life, success and safety. I am interested in presenting a very important issue that caused Fitnah (sedition) in our country, for it has been sparked by an allegedly religious scholar. He is highly respected by people on account of his good conduct and character. He is a well-known Khatib (orator) in a large Masjid (mosque) in an important city called Alway, where Shaykh Muhy Al-Din Alway, an ex-teacher in the Islamic University in Al-Madinah Al-Munawwarah was born. The question is that the allegedly religious scholar accused a pious man of being a Kafir (disbeliever) for claiming the obligation of absolute obedience to the Messenger (peace be upon him). `Ibadah (worship) means absolute obedience; it is the right of Allah Alone; devoting this obedience to Allah Alone is Tawhid (belief in the Oneness of Allah/ monotheism). Absolute obedience to other than Allah (Exalted be He) is Shirk (associating others with Allah in His Divinity or worship). Some Muslims think that this scholar became a Kafir because he considered the righteous believer a Kafir. We hope Your Eminence could provide us with a precise answer that can settle the dispute. We hope that all Muslims could listen to and abide by your answer, for you are, thanks to Allah, the focus of Muslims' attention in our country. May Allah preserve you as a source of knowledge serving Islam! As-salamu `alaykum warahmatullah wabarakatuh (May Allah's Peace, Mercy, and Blessings be upon you!)

A: Obeying the Messenger (peace be upon him) should be absolute and unrestricted, for Allah (Glorified be He) has commanded such obedience in several Ayahs (Qur'anic verses) such as His Saying: ﴿Say: "Obey Allâh and obey the Messenger, but if you turn away, he (Messenger Muhammad صلى الله عليه وسلم) is only responsible for the duty placed on him (i.e. to convey Allâh's Message) and you for that placed on you. If you obey him, you shall be on the right guidance. The Messenger's duty is only to convey (the message) in a clear way (i.e. to preach in a plain way).﴾ And His Saying (Glorified be He): ﴿He who obeys the Messenger (Muhammad صلى الله عليه وسلم), has indeed obeyed Allâh﴾ And His Saying (Glorified and Exalted be He): ﴿And obey Allâh and the Messenger (Muhammad صلى الله عليه وسلم) that you may obtain mercy.﴾ The Prophet (peace be upon him) said, ﴿Anyone who obeys me, obeys Allah, and anyone who disobeys me, disobeys Allah.﴾ (Agreed upon by Al-Bukhari and Muslim).

Therefore, you should know that what this scholar said is absolutely wrong and is a great sin that contradicts the Shari`ah (Islamic law-based) evidence from the Book (i.e. Qur'an), Sunnah and the Ijma` (consensus of scholars). However, he should not be considered Kafir until he is informed of his sin. If he persists upon it and does not repent, he should be considered Kafir.

May Allah grant us success! May peace and blessings be upon our Prophet, his family and Companions!

Fatwa no. 13641

Q: what is the ruling on someone who abuses and curses Allah (the Most Exalted) and the Messenger of Allah (peace be upon him)? He commits this act in the presence of us and a group of people of knowledge and faith.

His wife informed us that this was not the first time her husband did that. So, she wants to know whether their marriage is still effective or should be dissolved due to his apostasy, especially that he did not perform Tawbah from this act until now.

It is worth mentioning that her husband does not perform Salah at all and works as a singer

at weddings and parties where men and women are intermingled. Please, advise this poor wife. May Allah reward and protect you for all Muslims! As-salamu `Alaykum warahmatullah wabarakatuh (May Allah's Peace, Mercy, and Blessings be upon you!)

A: According to Ijma` (consensus of scholars), cursing Allah and His Messenger is major Kufr (disbelief) and apostasy if the doer is a Muslim. Likewise, abandonment of Salah, even if not due to denying its obligation, is an act of Kufr according to the preponderant opinion of Scholars. It is obligatory to take his case to the legal court.

With regard to the wife, she, when she is aware of what you mentioned, has to refrain from her husband's bed until the court decides on the issue.

May Allah grant us success! May peace and blessings of Allah be upon our Prophet Muhammad, his family and Companions!

The second question of Fatwa no. 16487

Q 2: what acts nullify Islam?

A: The nullifiers of Islam are many. The gravest of these include Shirk (associating others with Allah in His Divinity or worship) by invoking and seeking relief from the dead, slaughtering animals and making vows at their graves, and other acts of worship practiced at graves as a means of drawing closer to the dead to ask them to fulfill their needs.

(Part No. 1; Page No. 405)

Acts that also invalidate one's Islam include learning and teaching sorcery, claiming knowledge of the Ghayb (the Unseen), believing that ruling by other than Allah's laws is permissible, abandoning Salah (prayer) deliberately, mocking Islam, insulting Allah and His Messenger and ridiculing the Qur'an and Sunnah.

The first question of Fatwa no. 16013

Q 1: Many people commit blasphemy openly and claim that they did not mean to curse Islam, but only the person with whom they were disputing. Please, advise!

A: cursing Islam is an act of apostasy. Allah states, ﴿Say: "Was it at Allâh (عز وجل), and His Ayât (proofs, evidence, verses, lessons, signs, revelations) and His Messenger (صلى الله عليه وسلم) that you were mocking?"﴾ ﴿Make no excuse; you disbelieved after you had believed.﴾ As for cursing Muslims, it is forbidden, but not an act of apostasy because of Allah's statement, ﴿O you who believe! Let not a group scoff at another group, it may be that the latter are better than the former.﴾ to Allah's saying, ﴿Nor defame one another, nor insult one another by nicknames. How bad is it to insult one's brother after having Faith [i.e. to call your Muslim brother (a faithful believer) as: "O sinner", or "O wicked"].﴾

Q2: What is the ruling on anyone who ridicules the Sunnah (whatever is reported from the Prophet) with the intention of only annoying another person? Is this Haram (prohibited)?

A: Ridiculing the Sunnah of the Messenger (peace be upon him) is an act of Kufr (disbelief) and apostasy from Islam, even if the person is joking or intending to annoy someone else. Allah (Exalted be He) says, ﴿If you ask them \(about this\), they declare: "We were only talking idly and joking." Say: "Was it at Allâh \(عز وجل\), and His Ayât \(proofs, evidence, verses, lessons, signs, revelations\) and His Messenger \(صلى الله عليه وسلم\) that you were mocking?"﴾ ﴿Make no excuse; you disbelieved after you had believed.﴾

Q 3: A man told his father that according to Shari`ah (Islamic law), full brothers inherit from one another unlike the paternal half brothers. Full brothers have a greater entitlement due to consanguinity than paternal half brothers as agreed by Ijma` (consensus of scholars). upon that, the father replied "We do not want a Shari`ah which states a ruling like that." What is the ruling on this statement? What should the son do with his father?

A: Such words turn this person out of the fold of Islam as it involves an open rejection to Islam. It is obligatory to advise this man and explain to him the gravity of this statement that amounts to Riddah (apostasy) - Allah forbid. This man must repent to Allah for his statement.

The third question of Fatwa no. 18604

Q 3: From time to time, people tend to circulate some jokes and funny stories related to Allah (Glorified and Exalted be He) or the prophets (peace be upon them). As far as I know, this is absolutely not permissible, for it involves ridiculing sacred matters. How can we stand up to such destructive ideas?

A: ridiculing Allah, His religion, Messenger, or any of His prophets is an act of apostasy from Islam. Allah (Exalted be He) states, ﴿Say: "Was it at Allâh (عز وجل), and His Ayât (proofs, evidence, verses, lessons, signs, revelations) and His Messenger (صلى الله عليه وسلم) that you were mocking?"﴾ (Make no excuse; you disbelieved after you had believed.) Therefore, we should beware of this, even if it is done in a joking manner. Allah has mentioned what these people say, ﴿We were only talking idly and joking.﴾ But despite that, He has not excused them.

Fatwa no. 19434

Fifteen years ago, my friend commented,

"This Qur'an was composed by a special committee of men." After sometime, he performed Tawbah from this act that he never uttered to anyone except a friend and me. No one, but Allah Alone, the Knower of the Unseen, knows this matter. I do not ask whether his Tawbah is acceptable or not, but I ask about the validity of his marriage contract. Is his contract still valid after such utterance? Does it need to be re-concluded? It is noteworthy that his wife was not separated from him, as he did not know that he committed apostasy which required separating him from his wife. He was not aware of the ruling and the consequences of what he said.

A: If the person who made this statement mentioned in the question was of sound mind and without being compelled, he would be committing an act of apostasy from Islam. However, if he performed sincere Tawbah, Allah, if He wills, would accept Tawbah. With regard to his wife, she would be unlawful to him until he performs Tawbah. If he repents while she is still in her `Iddah (woman's prescribed waiting period after divorce), she may return to him with no need for any formalities. However, if her `Iddah expires before he performs Tawbah, the marriage will be dissolved and she may not return to him except with a new marriage contract.

Q: An American embraced Islam and made Shahadah (Testimony of Faith) and accepted Salah (Prayer), Zakah (obligatory charity) and Sawm (Fast), but he denies some Shari`ah (Islamic law) rulings such as Isbal (lengthening and trailing clothing below the ankles), polygamy and cutting off the hand of a thief. We tried hard to convince him with all the Shari`ah (Islamic law-based) evidence, but in vain. What is the ruling of his action?

A: Anyone who denies some rulings of Shari`ah that are unanimously agreed upon and insists on his view after the truth is pointed out to him, and becomes no longer ignorant of this, he is to be considered Murtad (apostate) and comes out of the fold of Islam. Allah (Exalted be He) says, ﴿That is because they hate that which Allāh has sent down \(this Qur'ān and Islāmic laws, etc.\); so He has made their deeds fruitless.﴾ Allah (Exalted be He) is the one who guides to the straight path.

Q 7: what is the ruling on ridiculing Din (religion) of Islam and religious people?

A: Holding Din and religious people up to ridicule is Riddah (apostasy) that takes the one who does it out of the fold of Islam. Allah (Exalted be He) says, ﴿Say: "Was it at Allâh (عز وجل), and His Ayât (proofs, evidence, verses, lessons, signs, revelations) and His Messenger (صلى الله عليه وسلم) that you were mocking?"﴾ ﴿Make no excuse; you disbelieved after you had believed.﴾

When he saw the light of Al-Hur-ul-`Ayn (women of Paradise with large black eyes), he prostrated before them mistaking them for Allah! Is this considered Kufr (disbelief)?

A: Anyone who claims that Jibril (peace be upon him) prostrated before Al-Hur-ul-`Ayn is to be considered a Kafir (disbeliever), for he describes the Master of Angels as committing Shirk (associating others with Allah in His Divinity or worship).

The thirteenth question of Fatwa no. 18452

Q 13: what should someone who abuses the Din (religion) of Islam do, young or old, in order to return to the fold of Islam? what should be done with him if he does not turn in Tawbah (repentance to Allah), as he is ignorant of what he said and does not know its meaning?

A: When a Muslim abuses the religion of Islam, he becomes Murtad (apostate) and should be asked to repent; if he does so, it is Ok; and if not, he is to be executed. Besides, his recompense will be Hell to abide therein along with the Kafirs (disbelievers) and Mushriks (those who associate others with Allah in His Divinity or worship). We seek refuge in Allah from that.

As for the Tawbah of a person who abuses the Din of Islam, it is to praise the Din, regret what they said and resolutely determine not to return to such an act that entails Kufr (disbelief). They should repeatedly seek Allah's Forgiveness and Tawbah; if Allah knows that they are sincere, He will accept their Tawbah; in fact Allah (Glorified be He) is the One Who accepts repentance, the Most Merciful.

The second question of Fatwa no. 18146

Q 2: if a person forsakes islam, then after a while he seeks Allah's Forgiveness, should he renew his Tawbah (repentance to Allah) and announce the Shahadah (Testimony of Faith)?

A: The Tawbah of a Murtad (apostate) depends on his case; if he commits something which is Haram (prohibited) that leads to Riddah (apostasy); he is to repent by giving up what he did, along with regretting it and sincerely determining not to return to it. If he neglects something Wajib (obligatory), he is to repent by doing it, along with regretting the past and sincerely determining not to return to it. If he becomes a Murtad due to something he said, he is to repent by renouncing such a saying, along with regretting the past and sincerely determining not to return to it. The Tawbah of someone who abandons Salah (Prayer) is achieved by resuming performing it, along with regretting the past and determining not to abandon it again. The Tawbah of someone who commits unlawful things that are unanimously forbidden and are Ma`lum minad-din biddarurah (well-established religious matters) is by believing in their unlawfulness, along with regretting the past and sincerely determining not to return to it. The Tawbah of someone who makes Du`a' (supplication) to the dead and others besides Allah is achieved by giving up this act and devoting `Ibadah (worship) to Allah (Exalted be He) Alone, along with regretting what he did and sincerely determining not to return to it.

Q: Would you kindly advise regarding the following statements made in an interview of "Mir'at Al-Ummah" Magazine with Dr. Shamlan Al-`Isa, a professor of political science in Kuwait University: The Islamic system did not leave but corruption in the Islamic state. When he was asked, "What is your opinion about the application of Islamic Shari`ah in Kuwait?" He answered, "I am against the application of Islamic Shari`ah in Kuwait." Please, comment on these statements? May Allah reward you with the best!

A: Anyone who says that the Islamic system did not leave but corruption in the Islamic state and that he is against the application of shari`ah, or similar statements that criticize the Islamic Shari`ah or some of its rulings is an apostate. He must be given a grace period to repent. If he does not repent within that period, he will be subject to capital punishment. Statement issued by the Permanent Committee for Scholarly Research and Ifta' concerning the book entitled Masa'il Kathura Hawlaha Al-Niqash (Frequently Disputed Issues) by Zayn 'Al Samit

All Praise is due to Allah Alone and peace and blessing be upon the Messenger of Allah, our Prophet Muhammad, his family and Companions. To commence:

The Permanent Committee has perused a booklet entitled Masa'il Kathura Hawlaha Al-Niqash written by a person who called himself Zayn 'Al Samit. The Committee found that this book is full of fallacies and matters against 'Aqidah (creed), which the author claims are in conformity with the 'Aqidah of Ahl-ul-Sunnah wal-Jama'ah (those adhering to the Sunnah and the Muslim main body). In fact, they are in conformity with the 'Aqidah of those who worship graves and against the true 'Aqidah of Ahl-ul-Sunnah wal-Jama'ah. These fallacies and violations include the following:

1. His claim that seeking help from prophets and Awliya' (pious people) is permissible in the matters related to this world and that of the Hereafter.
2. His claim that the dead can bring benefits, supplicate and intercede for the living. In fact, the dead benefit from the supplications of the living.
3. His claim that it is permissible to seek blessings with the remains of the righteous, and this is desirable while in fact this is not permissible because it is a means leading to Shirk (Associating others with Allah in His Divinity or worship).

4. His claim that it is permissible to go out to travel to masjids other than the three Masjids (mosques). This is against the constraint related in the Hadith: "There is no journey except for three Masjids..."
5. He permits reciting the Qur'an on graves, which is an act of Bid'ah (innovation in religion) with no proof. The Prophet (peace be upon him) said: \(Anyone who introduces things extraneous to our affair \(i.e. religion\) will have them rejected.\) In another wording: \(If anyone does something that we have not ordered \(in worship\), it will be rejected.\)
6. He permits seeking help by touching the graves and kissing them while this is an act leading to Shirk.
7. His claim that building on graves and plastering them is just Makruh (reprehensible) while it is not Makruh according to the view of Abu Hanifah. This view contradicts the Prophet's prohibition in the Hadith reported on the authority of Jabir about the prohibition of the plastering of graves and the Hadith reported on the authority of Um Salamah that the people of previous scriptures used to build Masjids (mosques) on the graves of their dead pious men, truly, they are the worst creatures in the sight of Allah.
8. His claim that slaughtering animals on graves with the intention of offering these sacrifices to the soul of the Waliy (pious person) is permissible and making vows of offering sacrifices at the graves of Awliya' (pious people) is permissible while this is an act of Shirk.

9. His claim that seeing the Prophet (peace be upon him) after his death is permissible in the state of wakefulness while this has no proof.

There are many other fallacies mentioned in the book.

Therefore, the Committee warns people against this booklet and stresses that it must not be printed or circulated; rather it must be destroyed because it contradicts the `Aqidah (creed) of Ahl-ul-Sunnah wal-Jama`ah.

May Allah grant us success! May peace and blessings be upon our Prophet Muhammad, his family and Companions!

Declaring specific people disbelievers

The fifth question of Fatwa no. 17626

Q 5: What is the ruling on declaring specific persons disbelievers?

A: Anyone who does, says, or believes in some acts that are akin to Kufr (disbelief) is considered Kafir i.e. disbeliever, and is treated accordingly whether he is particularized or not, as the evidence is general in this regard. For example, a person who supplicates to or slaughters for other than Allah, or utters words of disbelief such as abusing Allah, His Prophet, or being heedless of an Islamic tenant is a Kafir, He must be asked to perform Tawbah (repentance to Allah), otherwise it is obligatory upon the Muslim rulers to apply capital punishment for Riddah (apostasy).

The third question of Fatwa no. 17749

Q 3: Discussing the doctrinal issue of establishing proof against a dissenter of fundamental issues, we - a group of students - differed. Some maintained that he is excused for his ignorance, as in all Islamic issues, for there is no difference between the Islamic fundamentals and the detailed issues, or between the evident and complex. Others said that he is only excused for ignorance in complex Islamic matters, not the fundamentals of faith, for there is no excuse whatsoever for whomever commits Shirk (associating others with Allah in His Divinity or worship) or devotes his worship to graves, stones, and trees besides Allah. No Muslim is unaware of such matters and if he does so, he is not a Muslim. As for the detailed issues of faith, the ignorance of some rulings might be excused until evidence is presented. What is the correct position in this regard? Please advise. May Allah reward you.

A: No one is excused for his/her unawareness of the articles of faith and fundamentals of Islam, if the message of the Qur'an and the Sunnah of His Prophet (peace be upon him) is conveyed to him/her. Allah states, \(this Qur'ân has been revealed to me that I may therewith warn you and whomsoever it may reach.\) He also says, \(This \(Qur'an\) is a Message for mankind \(and a clear proof against them\), in order that they may be warned thereby\) Similar Ayahs (Qur'anic verses) convey the same meaning. As for the subsidiary matters whose rulings may seem ambiguous, ignorance is declared as an excuse until the proof is set, as there are many Hadith related in this regard.

Q 1: is a person who is ignorant of Tawhid (monotheism) excused?

A: A person is excused if they are not aware of the proofs or not informed with anything from the Prophet (peace be upon him). They take the same ruling as Ahl-ul-Fatrah (those to whom Da`wah has not reached in an uncorrupted manner); they are tested on the Day of Resurrection. If they pass, they will be safe. If they do not, they will be doomed.

As for those who were informed of the Prophet (peace be upon him) or heard anything of the Qur'an and the Sunnah, they cannot be excused for ignorance.

The second question of Fatwa no. 17592

Q 2: What is the ruling on talking about some matters of the Hereafter while joking or as a slip of the tongue, such as the jokes we hear about Jannah (Paradise) or Hellfire? Is a person who says such things a Kafir (disbeliever) or excused for their ignorance of the ruling on one who ridicules anything of Islam?

A: A Muslim should believe in all that Allah and His Messenger have related to us about the Day of Judgment, whether resurrection, reckoning, Mizan (the Scales for weighing deeds), Sirat (the bridge over the Fire), the bliss of Jannah or the torment of Hellfire, and other things conveyed by Allah and His Messenger (peace be upon him) regarding the Day of Judgment. If a person ridicules any of these, they are considered apostates, as it is a form of disbelief. If a person does so, they must hasten to perform sincere Tawbah (repentance to Allah) and Istighfar (seeking forgiveness from Allah), so that Allah might accept their Tawbah.

The first question of Fatwa no. 18646

Q1: The Prophet (peace be upon him) stated, (Do not abuse Al-Dahr (i.e. afflictions of time), for Allah is the cause of the afflictions of time.) How does one reconcile this Hadith with the disbelievers' declaration: (And they say: "There is nothing but our life of this world, we die and we live and nothing destroys us except Ad-Dahr (time).) ?

A: The Hadith is in conformity with the Ayah regarding the prohibition of cursing Al-Dahr. The Noble Ayah repudiates those disbelievers who refer destruction to Al-Dahr. Al-Dahr does not refer to Allah. It refers to nights and days, so it is mentioned in the Hadith of the Prophet (peace be upon him), (The child of Adam inveighs against Me, he inveighs against [the vicissitudes of] Al-Dahr (Time), and I am Al-Dahr. I alternate the night and the day.)

Q 1: A group of people has emerged promoting various ideas and beliefs that contradict those of the dominant majority of Muslims. They call young men and women to them. A summary of their beliefs is as follows: they declare Muslims who live under man-made laws as Kuffar (disbelievers), even if such Muslims believe in Allah and in what the Messenger (peace be upon him) brought, obey Allah and His Messenger as much as they can, and hate whoever contradicts the purified Shari`ah (Islamic Law).

A: It is not permissible to declare Muslims ruled by a regime ruling with other than Allah's Shari`ah as Kuffar as long as their hearts are filled with Iman (Faith) in Allah and His Messenger and they observe whatever Allah has prescribed on them as much as they can, and hate whatever diverges from the purified Islamic Shari`ah. However, the great sin rests upon whomever promotes, agrees to and approves of such laws in Muslim countries. We seek refuge in Allah from betrayal and oppression.

Q 5: what is the ruling on someone who, for some reasons, declares some people to be disbelievers? He later came to know that those people did not intend to commit disbelief. Even worse, he cursed their faith claiming that they were not Muslims. Among the reasons for which he declared them disbelievers is misinterpretation e.g., a person may spontaneously utter some words that imply glorifying someone other than Allah like saying to another, 'you rank above any other one.' The one who heard these words deemed the speaker to be glorifying a person more than Allah, therefore he declared the speaker to be a disbeliever and cursed his faith.

A: The legal proofs indicate that a Muslim must be sure of things and take time before passing judgments. This person was wrong when he declared some people to be disbelievers and cursed their faith. He must perform Tawbah, ask Allah's forgiveness, and ask the one whom he wronged to pardon him.

The second question of Fatwa no. 18415

Q 2: can anyone call a Muslim a Kafir (disbeliever) if they witness them doing something that contradicts with Islam?

A: Ahl-ul-Sunnah wal-Jama`ah (those adhering to the Sunnah and the Muslim main body) do not call any Muslim a Kafir for committing a sin, like the Khawarij (separatist group that believes committing a major sin amounts to disbelief) and Mu`tazilah (a deviant Islamic sect claiming that those who commit major sins are in a state between belief and disbelief) do, unless they consider it lawful. The only exception is the people who abandon Salah (Prayer) intentionally; they are considered Kafirs even if they do not deny its obligation according to the most authentic of the scholars' views. There is evidence confirming the Kufr (disbelief) of a person who abandons Salah. Also, they do not believe that Iman (Faith) is enough, and there is no harm in committing sins like Al-Murji'ah (a deviant Islamic sect claiming that Faith is restricted to belief not deeds).

The people of the Qiblah (direction faced for Prayer) are those about whom the Prophet (peace be upon him) stated, \(Anyone who faces our Qiblah during Salah, offers Salah like us and eats our slaughtered animals are the Muslims; they have the same rights and obligations as other Muslims have.\) Related by Al-Bukhari and others in the Hadith of Anas (may Allah be pleased with him).

They are Ahl-ul-Sunnah wal-Jama`ah who follow the Manhaj (methodology) of the Messenger of Allah (peace be upon him), his Sahabah (Companions, may Allah be pleased with them) and their followers.

However, if a person commits anything that nullifies Islam, they are Kafirs, such as those who seek the help of the dead, slaughter animals for them, abuse Allah and His Messenger, ridicule Islam and such practices clarified by the scholars in the ruling on apostates.

Ahl-ul-Sunnah wal-Jama`ah do not testify that someone is a Kafir or doomed, except for a strong reason. It is one of the greatest forms of injustice to testify that someone will not be forgiven by Allah. This was severely warned against.

A Muslim must be careful, guard his safety, and refrain from interfering in matters that are not of their concern. It was reported in the Two Sahih (authentic) Books of Hadith (i.e. Al-Bukhari and Muslim) on the authority of Ibn `Umar (may Allah be pleased with him) that the Messenger of Allah (peace be upon him) stated, \(When a person calls his brother \(in Islam\) a Kafir, one of them will certainly deserve the title. If the addressee is so as he has asserted, the Kufr of the addressee is confirmed, but if it is untrue, it will revert to him \(the sayer\).\)

Also, the Hadith reported on the authority of Abu Dhar (may Allah be pleased with him), that he heard the Prophet (peace be upon him) stating, \(If anyone accuses another of Kufr or calls him the enemy of Allah, such an accusation will revert to the accuser if the accused is innocent.\)

It was mentioned in Sahih Muslim in the Hadith reported on the authority of Jundub ibn `Abdullah (may Allah be pleased with him) that the Messenger of Allah (peace be upon him) stated, \(A man said, "By Allah! Allah will not forgive so-and-so!" Allah (Glorified and Exalted be He) said, "Who is that who takes an oath in My Name that I will not forgive so-and-so? I have forgiven him and rendered your good deeds fruitless.")

Fatwa no. 18152

Q: May we tell Jews or Christians who live among the Muslims and know about Islam, Qur'an, and the Prophet (peace be upon him), that they will be, after death, sent to Hell if they do not accept Islam? Or can we consider them like sinful Muslims who are left to the Will of Allah (Glorified and Exalted be He), those who die while insisting on committing major sins? Please, advise! May Allah reward you with the best!

A: Those adhering to the Sunnah are of the view that no one shall be judged to be among the inhabitants of Hellfire or the inhabitants of the Paradise, except those whom the Messenger of Allah (peace be upon him) confirmed. However, we hope Allah's mercy for the pious people and fear from Allah's wrath upon the wrongdoer. No one, except Allah Alone, knows the outcome and consequences of all matters. It should be noted that Jews and Christians are disbelievers and anyone who dies as a disbeliever will be among the dwellers of Hell-fire; anyone who dies

Is there some concession in this case or not? What is the ruling on a Christian who does not hear anything about Islam and dies as a disbeliever?

A: A non-Muslim who receives the message of Islam in an apprehensible manner and evidence is established against him may not be excused for ignorance. The second question of Fatwa no. 11610

Q 2: What is the ruling on haircuts worn by some young men nowadays, imitating the disbeliever Michael Jackson? What if it is done not intending to imitate him?

A: The Shari`ah (Islamic Law) has prohibited imitating disbelievers in their clothes, customs or morals, for this is a means of being influenced by them, inclining to and loving them, which is prohibited. Therefore, it is not permissible to wear haircuts like that of Michael's even if it is not intended to imitate him.

Q 27: is it permissible for a Muslim to have Christian friends and is there any limit to this friendship?

A: It is not permissible to take the infidels as friends or companions. However, they should be treated kindly as instructed by our Shari`ah (Islamic Law). We should treat them with the best saying and argue with them in the best way because of the saying of Allah (Exalted be He), ﴿and speak good to people [i.e. enjoin righteousness and forbid evil, and say the truth about Muhammad صلى الله عليه وسلم]﴾ (Surah Al-Baqarah). And His saying, ﴿And by the Mercy of Allâh, you dealt with them gently. And had you been severe and harsh-hearted, they would have broken away from about you﴾ and: ﴿And argue not with the people of the Scripture (Jews and Christians), unless it be in (a way) that is better (with good words and in good manner, inviting them to Islâmic Monotheism with His Verses), except with such of them as do wrong﴾ (Surah Al-`Ankabut).

Q 5: what is the ruling on eating, drinking, sitting, and dealing with a Kafir (disbeliever)? Does doing this put a person outside the pale of Islam?

A: Eating, sitting, dealing with a Kafir for buying, selling, and exchanging worldly interests that do not harm Islam do not take a Muslim outside the pale of Islam. In addition to this, showing kindness to Kuffar (disbelievers) is not considered a sin as long as they do not fight or wage war against us because of our faith. Allah (Exalted be He) states: ﴿Allâh does not forbid you to deal justly and kindly with those who fought not against you on account of religion nor drove you out of your homes. Verily, Allâh loves those who deal with equity.﴾ (It is only as regards those who fought against you on account of religion, and have driven you out of your homes, and helped to drive you out, that Allâh forbids you to befriend them. And whosoever will befriend them, then such are the Zâlimûn (wrong-doers - those who disobey Allâh).﴾

However, the Prophet (peace be upon him) gave pledge to the Jews, exchanged benefits and dealt with them after the battle of Khaybar. The Prophet (peace be upon him) allowed them to cultivate the land there in return for half of the yield. He also ate from a shoulder of lamb that was served to him and his Companions by a Jewish woman, who poisoned it to harm him (peace be upon him). Further, he (peace be upon him) accepted the gift of the Byzantine Emperor after the Battle of Tabuk and rewarded him for it. He also had a Kafir (disbeliever) servant who later accepted Islam. The Prophet (peace be upon him) also used to deal with Kuffar to convey Allah's Call to them, hold discussions with them, answer their questions, and other forms of transactions and dealings not harmful to Islam or Muslims in this life. Rather, dealing with them can be a means of conveying the call to Islam, establishing evidence, and benefiting Muslims in worldly affairs. It should be mentioned that the Prophet (peace be upon him) died while his armor was mortgaged to a Jewish man in return for some food which he bought for his family.

On the other hand, sitting, eating and dealing with them in intimacy, brotherhood, love and loyalty is not permissible. Not only this, but it can also be considered an act of Kufr (disbelief) that takes one who consents to them and their religion, loves them, is faithful to them, and supports them against Muslims, outside the pale of Islam. I seek refuge in Allah (from this), Allah (Exalted be He) states,

﴿O you who believe! Take not as Auliya' (supporters and helpers) your fathers and your brothers if they prefer disbelief to Belief. And whoever of you does so, then he is one of the Zâlimûn (wrong-doers).﴾ (Say: If your fathers, your sons, your brothers, your wives, your kindred, the wealth that you have gained, the commerce in which you fear a decline, and the dwellings in which you delight are dearer to you than Allâh and His Messenger, and striving hard and fighting in His Cause, then wait until Allâh brings about His Decision (torment). And Allâh guides not the people who are Al-Fâsiqûn (the rebellious, disobedient to Allâh).﴾ Allah (Exalted be He) also states, ﴿You (O Muhammad صلى الله عليه وسلم) will not find any people who believe in Allâh and the Last Day, making friendship with those who oppose Allâh and His Messenger (ﷺ), even though they were their fathers or their sons or their brothers or their kindred (people). For such He has written Faith in their hearts, and strengthened them with Rûh (proofs, light and true guidance) from Himself. And He will admit them to Gardens (Paradise) under which rivers flow to dwell therein (forever). Allâh is pleased with them, and they with Him. They are the Party of Allâh. Verily, it is the Party of Allâh that will be the successful.) And ﴿O you who believe! Take not the Jews and the Christians as Auliâ' (friends, protectors, helpers), they are but Auliâ' of each other. And if any amongst you takes them as Auliâ', then surely he is one of them. Verily, Allâh guides not those people who are the Zâlimûn (polytheists and wrong-doers and unjust).﴾

A: It is not permissible to participate in their festivals or congratulate them, for this conduct shows a kind of intimacy and endorsement of their rituals. It is also a forbidden collaboration with them in sin and aggression. Allah forbids this and having intimate relationships with them. Allah states, ﴿You (O Muhammad صلى الله عليه وسلم) will not find any people who believe in Allâh and the Last Day, making friendship with those who oppose Allâh and His Messenger (Muhammad صلى الله عليه وسلم), even though they were their fathers or their sons or their brothers or their kindred (people). The second question of Fatwa no. 15662

Q 2: What is the ruling on a Muslim who reads the Bible or swears by it?

A: It is not permissible for a Muslim to read the Bible as it has almost entirely undergone interpolation. Even the parts of the Bible that have undergone no interpolation are needless as the Qur'an replaces them. This ruling is not applicable to scholars who need to read it in order to refute the claims of the People of the Book. It is not permissible either to swear by the Bible in its present form as it has undergone partial interpolation

The first and second questions of Fatwa no. 16419

Q 1: What is the ruling on Muslims who celebrate holidays of non-Muslims that Allah did not sanction, such as the Mother's Day, Sham Al-Nasim and Christmas?

A: All these days are innovated celebrations which are not permissible for Muslims to participate in or celebrate. In Islam, there are only two `Eids: `Eid-ul-Fitr (the Festival of Breaking the Fast) and `Eid-ul-Adha (the Festival of the Sacrifice). Thus, a Muslim whom Allah has guided to the truth should advise and gently instruct those who celebrate such innovated feasts. If he abandons this practice, it will be good; otherwise, he will be considered a persistent doer of Bid`ah (innovation in Islam) who is sinful for that action.

Q 2: Thanks to Allah who guided me to accept Islam. Now, I live with my non-Muslim family who congratulate me on `Eid-ul-Fitr (the Festival of Breaking the Fast) and `Eid-ul-Adha (the Festival of the Sacrifice). Then, when it is the time for their holidays, I do not congratulate them; they therefore become upset with me and call me arrogant. What should I do? Please, advise? May Allah reward you with the best.

A: It is not permissible for you to congratulate non-Muslims on their festivals even if they get upset with you or feel you are haughty. It is recommended to endear Islam to them and advise them nicely to accept it. We ask Allah (Exalted be He) to open the hearts of your family to Islam.

Fatwa no. 21079

Q: On 12/8/1420 A.H. notices were placed on the roads of Riyadh conveying congratulations from the Banque Saudi Fransi on the New Year.

Employees of the Banque Saudi Fransi wish the Saudi people a merry year. Respected shaykh, it undoubtedly hurts every Muslim to find things like this common in the land of Tawhid (belief in the Oneness of Allah/monotheism) and Al-Haramayn Al-Sharifayn (the Two Sacred Mosques, the Sacred Mosque in Makkah and the Prophet's Mosque in Madinah).

I hope that Your Honor will clarify the ruling of Islam on this matter.

A: A Muslim is prohibited to congratulate the disbelievers, Christians, Jews or whomever, on their distinctive occasions. This involves a sort of agreeing with them on their falsehood and being loyal to them. Similarly, a Muslim is prohibited to congratulate his Muslim brother on the feasts and celebrations of the disbelievers. By doing so, a Muslim imitates them.

It was authentically reported that the Prophet (peace be upon him) stated, \(Anyone who imitates a people becomes one of them.\) Shaykh-ul-Islam Ibn Taymiyyah commented on this Hadith saying, "This Hadith at least implies that it is prohibited for a Muslim to imitate the disbelievers though it apparently signifies the disbelief of the imitator. Allah (Exalted be He) states, \(nd if any amongst you takes them as Auliya', then surely he is one of them.\)

Muslims must resent disbelievers, dissociate themselves from them and hate their disbelief and disobedience to Allah, as Allah (Exalted be He) states, \(You \(O Muhammad صلى الله عليه وسلم\) will not find any people who believe in Allâh and the Last Day, making friendship with those who oppose Allâh and His Messenger \(Muhammad صلى الله عليه وسلم\)\) He (Glorified be He) states, \(O you who believe! Take not the Jews and the Christians as Auliya' \(friends, protectors, helpers\), they are but Auliya' of each other. And if any amongst you takes them as Auliya', then surely he is one of them. Verily, Allâh guides not those people who are the Zâlimûn \(polytheists and wrong-doers and unjust\).\)

Thus, Muslims are not permitted to express joy or congratulate disbelievers on their festive occasions, whether by word of mouth, posters, newspapers, magazines, cards or the like. The legal authorities must remove these notices.

May Allah grant us success May peace and blessings be upon our Prophet Muhammad, his family and Companions!

The first and third questions of Fatwa no. 16426

Q 1: What is the ruling of Islam on answering the greeting of Christians, following their funerals, and offering them condolences?

A: If a Kafir (disbeliever) greets a Muslim, the latter should reply by saying "The same to you" as mentioned in the Sahih (sound) Hadith in which the Prophet (peace be upon him) said, ﴿When the People of the Book greet you, you should say, "The same to you.">﴿When the People of the Book greet you, you should say, "The same to you.﴾ However, it is not permissible for a Muslim to follow the funeral of a Kafir, for this is considered an act of loyalty to them which is Haram (prohibited). However, consoling them is acceptable if there is a Shar`y (Islamically lawful) probable interest. In this case, they should say, "I offer you my condolences, may your distress be relieved," but they should not say, "May Allah forgive your deceased," for seeking forgiveness for a Mushrik (one associating others in worship with Allah) is not permissible.

Q 3: What is the ruling on participating in the feasts of the Christians? Please advise us. May Allah reward you.

A: It is not permissible to participate in the feasts of the Christians or any of the Kuffar (disbelievers) since this falls under cooperation in sin and transgression, approval to Munkar (that which is unacceptable or disapproved of by Islamic law and Muslims of sound intellect), and declaring loyalty to the Kuffar. Allah (Exalted be He) says in describing the slaves of the Most Gracious (Allah): \(And those who do not bear witness to falsehood\) Which means that they do not attend Munkar whether it is a feast of Kuffar or anything else.

Q: In our company, Muslim employees work together with Christian and Hindu employees. Some employees collect a sum of money from employees in order to set up a farewell party when one of the foreign employees is leaving. The party is composed of serving a meal plus a gift to the guest. Does a Muslim's participation with their money and selves in this kind of celebrations affect the Muslim's `Aqidah (creed) in any way? Could you kindly advise? May Allah reward you!

A: muslims' participation with non-muslims in collecting a sum of money to hold a party to see off non-muslims is a kind of respect and honor to them which is not permissible for a Muslim to do or even take part in. It is obligatory to call non-Muslims to Islam, illustrate its beauty and draw it near to them perhaps Allah will guide them.

Fatwa no. 17474

Some Muslim youth began corresponding with Christian missionary clubs and agencies which in return send them lessons about the Injil (Gospel), video tapes of missionary lectures, and immoral magazines which have spread all over our Islamic countries including Algeria. I have enclosed for you a typical copy of the correspondences they sent to us.

Q 1: is it permissible according to Shari`ah (islamic law) to correspond with such missionary agencies? What is the ruling on those who read injil (Gospel)?

Q 2: is it permissible according to Shari`ah (islamic law) to participate in the enticing competitions organized by such agencies?

A1,2: The Injil (Gospel) that exists today is not the same that Allah, may He be Glorified and Exalted, sent down. It contains a great deal of Tahrif (distortion of the meaning), lies, additions, omissions, and sayings that are unbefitting to Allah, the Exalted. Allah has declared this in His Book stating,

﴿And verily, among them is a party who distort the Book with their tongues (as they read), so that you may think it is from the Book, but it is not from the Book, and they say: "This is from Allâh," but it is not from Allâh; and they speak a lie against Allâh while they know it.﴾ Furthermore He, the Exalted, states, ﴿Then woe to those who write the Book with their own hands and then say, "This is from Allâh," to purchase with it a little price! Woe to them for what their hands have written and woe to them for that they earn thereby.﴾

Muslims should not read in any of the Jewish or Christian books. The Prophet (peace be upon him) admonished `Umar when he saw a paper from Tawrah (Torah) with him; the Prophet (peace be upon him) said to him, ﴿Are you confused about it (Islamic religion), "O Ibn Al-Khattab?! By Him in Whose Hands my soul is, I have brought unto you a white, bright and clean religion... Even if Musa were alive, he would have had no other way but to follow me." In the narration of `Abdullah ibn Thabit: then `Umar said: I am pleased with Allah as a Lord, Islam as a religion, and Muhammad (peace be upon him) as a Prophet.﴾

Consequently, it is not permissible to correspond with Christian missionary centers, listen to their tapes, or participate in competitions organized by them, however appealing they may be. This is a sort of helping them in sin and transgression. However, reading Jewish and Christian books is permissible for those who are able to refute all the falsehood mentioned in them in order to establish proof and remove doubts.

Q: i watched the TV series "The Grandfather of the Leader of Mankind," which made me love `Abdul-Muttalib and Abu Talib. Allah knows that I loved them out of my love to the Messenger of Allah (peace be upon him). Am I sinful due to my love for them, knowing that they died without accepting Islam? Would you please advise me, may Allah cover you with His protection. Peace and blessings be upon our leader Muhammad and may Allah grant you peace.

A: The care of `Abdul-Muttalib, and protection of Abu Talib given to the Prophet (peace be upon him), and the latter's support for him should not lead us to love them, because `Abdul-Muttalib died while maintaining the religion of Jahiliyyah (pre-Islamic time of ignorance) which is Shirk (associating others with Allah in His Divinity or worship). As for Abu Talib, he knew the truth but did not act according to it and he refused to pronounce the Shahadah (Testimony of Faith) while dying when the Prophet (peace be upon him) asked him to. Rather, he said: "I am upon the religion of `Abdul-Muttalib." Consequently, we should detest and resent them for the sake of Allah.

Q3: There is no doubt regarding the Kufr (disbelief) of those who worship graves, pious people, including the Sahabah (Companions of the Prophet) and others, or those who supplicate anyone other than Allah, the Exalted. What should be my attitude toward those who hold this creed, defend it, and admit the name of the group who holds the `Aqidah (creed) previously mentioned? Should I greet him? If he greets me, should I reply, or should I renounce him, oppose him, and show people how dangerous he is? Would you please tell me what to do in this respect?

A: You should call those whom you mentioned to the path of Allah, show them their manifest error, and advise them, may Allah guide them to the right path. If they respond positively, all praise be to Allah. If not, keep away from them, do not initiate the greeting, do not return it, or even answer them.

But listening to this radio broadcasting is nothing but curiosity and a desire to learn about their beliefs?

A: It is not permissible to listen to a Christian radio broadcasting that calls for embracing the Christian faith in order to avoid Fitnah (temptation), except for the scholars who want to answer their misconceptions, refute their propaganda, and warn Muslims against their evils.

The tenth question of Fatwa no. 18074

Q 10: Most of our teachers are Mushriks (those who associate others with Allah in His Divinity or worship) or People of the Book of Jews or Christians. What is the ruling on congratulating them on their festivals? What is the ruling on answering their greeting, which is very important to them? What is the ruling on giving them presents whether in their festivals or other occasions?

A: First: It is not permissible either to attend the Christian festivals or congratulate them on such occasions; for this will be a sort of being pleased with what they do, flattering them for their falsehood and helping them in sin and transgression. Allah, the Exalted, says, ﴿Help you one another in Al-Birr and At-Taqwâ \(virtue, righteousness and piety\); but do not help one another in sin and transgression.﴾

Second: starting with the greeting to a disbeliever is not permissible; for what has been authentically reported in the Hadith narrated by Abu Hurayrah (may Allah be pleased with him) that the Messenger of Allah (peace be upon him) said, ﴿Do not greet the Jews and the Christians before they greet you and when you meet anyone of them on the roads force him to go to the narrowest part of it.﴾

Narrated by Muslim. In the Hadith narrated by Anas (may Allah be pleased with him), he reported the Messenger of Allah (peace be upon him) as saying, ﴿When the People of the Book offer you salutations, you should say 'The same to you.'﴾ Narrated by the Two Shaykhs (Al-Bukhari and Muslim).

Thus they should be answered as indicated in the Hadith by saying, "The same to you." It is all right to start greeting the Kafir (disbeliever) saying "How is it going?" in the morning and the evening, and the like; if necessary. This was acknowledged by a group of scholars including Shaykh-ul-Islam Ibn Taymiyyah.

Based on what has been mentioned above, it is all right to greet your non-Muslim teachers with any greeting other than that of Islam before they greet you. You can say "How are you?" and the like. Moreover, you can answer their greeting if they greet you first. If they learn about the greeting of Islam and greet you with it, you should answer them with what has been mentioned in the previous Hadith saying, "The same to you."

May Allah grant us success! may peace and blessings be upon our Prophet Muhammad, his family and Companions!

The first question of Fatwa no. 18604

Q 1: It is common among us to say "Nowadays the Christians are better than Muslims in dealing with others."

A: It is not permissible to prefer non-Muslims to Muslims, either in terms of how they deal with others or in anything else. Allah has cursed the hypocrites who say to the disbelievers \(they are better guided as regards the way than the believers \(Muslims\)\). Even if some Muslims happen not to be honest in dealing with others, we cannot judge that all Muslims are the same.

Q 2: What is the appropriate limit of al-Wala' wal-Bara' (loyalty and disassociation for allah's Sake) as regards Muslims who commit sins such as singing, shaving the beard, smoking, snuffing, Isbal (lengthening and trailing clothing below the ankles), etc.? Must we boycott them if they do not respond to advice?

A: It is not permissible to deal with those who commit sins in public unless you aim at counseling them, knowing that your advice will affect them positively. They should be loved in proportion to the strength of their belief in Allah, and they should be resented in proportion to the seriousness of their sins. If they do not accept the advice, they should be abandoned according to Shari`ah (Islamic law) until they repent to Allah.

A: First: it is not permissible for a Muslim to observe any of the rituals of disbelief and Shirk (associating others with Allah in His Divinity or worship), including the religious occasions such as festivals and others.

Second: it is not permissible to eat the food served at feasts and celebrations associated with Shirk and Bid'ah (innovation in islam). This is a sort of participation and approval with them as they are. A Muslim should be very keen to maintain his Islamic practices unblemished.

Q 17: i usually have my lunch at a certain restaurant; is it lawful to go to it on a special festival day when many non-Muslims come, knowing that on that day they prepare special food for this occasion?

A: It is not permissible to have such food in order to avoid mixing with non-Muslims at their festivals. If it is due to coincidence, it would be permissible to eat from that food provided that it was made by the People of the Book (i.e. Jews or Christians), so long as it contains no unlawful ingredients, such as pork for example. If the food is made by other than the People of the Book, it will not be permissible to eat any of the meats served. We find it embarrassing not to greet them, so what should we do? Should we greet them or not? Would you please help us, may Allah grant you all goodness.

A: it is not permissible for Muslims to take part with the Hindu disbelievers in celebrating their festivals and religious occasions. One should neither show happiness and approval, nor congratulate them on such occasions. This is imitation of the enemies of Allah in their forbidden acts which are not in line with Islamic tenets. It also constitutes a sort of assisting them in sin and transgression, bringing them joy, flattering them, adding numbers to their gatherings [thus giving them significance], and giving them prestige. Q: I was born in France where I still live until now. I am 26 years old and my parents are Tunisian. I am married and have two children; the oldest is 4 years old and the second is 9 months old. I would like to migrate to one of the Arab countries, particularly to secure the future of my children and keep their religion and language safe and sound. I intended to settle in Tunisia because all my relatives live there. My parents too intend to go back home. The problem is that Muslim women are strictly forbidden to put on Hijab (veil) in Tunisia, even in the streets. All the members of my family living there were compelled to take off their Hijab (veil). Moreover, it is not permissible there to hold any kind of religious meetings or gatherings even if they were part of a wedding celebration or the like. Muslims there, especially the youth, are obliged to walk separately and are in continuous fear even when they observe the Salah (Prayer) at the mosque.

Consequently, living there is impossible for me and for my wife who wears

Hijab (veil). With regard to my children, I can not guarantee that they will learn their religion on sound bases. Whenever I think about my current status, living in a country of non-Muslims, I feel so confused and undecided. I have no satisfactory solution because I do not know whether I should migrate in such conditions or not. Would you please tell me about some Hadith and Qur'anic Ayahs (verses) upon which I can make the right decision, may Allah grant you all goodness. I fear lest I should later regret it or feel that I made the wrong decision.

A: Dear brother, we thank you for your religious feeling which is the duty of every Muslim who believes in Allah as the Lord, Islam as a religion, and Muhammad (peace be upon him) as a Prophet. We recommend you to fear Allah, the Exalted, as He should be feared in all your matters. Moreover, we would like to tell you that residing in non-Muslim countries is forbidden in Islamic Shari'ah (Islamic law) except for a necessity acknowledged by Shari'ah (Islamic law). For example, seeking treatment which is not available in Muslim countries, to call to Islam and the like. You have to do your best and seek the means that make it easy for you to leave this non-Muslim country, and to move to a Muslim country even if it is not your home country. Allah, the Exalted, says, ﴿And whosoever fears Allâh and keeps his duty to Him, He will make a way for him to get out \(from every difficulty\).﴾ ﴿And He will provide him from \(sources\) he never could imagine.﴾ If the status in France and Tunisia, is as you have mentioned, and it is not easy for you to migrate, you should fear Allah as He should be feared in regard to yourself, abide by and hold fast to your religion, observe the religious rituals such as the Five Obligatory Daily Prayers and others and seek refuge with Allah continuously to strengthen your heart. You also have to stay away from mingling and meeting with evil people. You should call to the path of Allah as much as you can. We ask Allah, the Benevolent, to grant you success and provide you with good wherever you are. Verily Allah is the One to be sought for achieving this and the only One Who is Able to do so.

Q: i work in a restaurant and when non-Muslim foreigners come to have their meals, we charge them double the price. is this permissible?

A: A non-Muslim should be treated equally as other Muslims concerning business dealings. Therefore, Muslims should be honest when dealing with non-Muslims and not cheat them. They should not be charged double the price that Muslims pay; however, this does not mean we should love and befriend them. We should feel aversion to them for the Sake of Allah and indeed, this is the firmest commitment of Iman (belief). May Allah grant us assistance.

Q: My inquiry is about the wedding of my brother-in-law who is a Magus.

Should we travel with him to conclude his marriage contract with his fiancée? Should we help him with money for example, knowing that my husband is the only Muslim in his family, while I am Muslim by birth? what are the legal rulings that regulate dealing with non-Muslim people, like the members of my husband's family?

it is not permissible for a Muslim to have 'Wala' (loyalty) to unbelievers, represented in this particular situation by attending the celebration of your brother-in-law's marriage and traveling with him for this purpose. The wedding celebrations and the like include some rites associated with Kufr (disbelief).

The second question of Fatwa no. 20400

Q 2: In India some festivals related to the Hindus (worshippers of idols) are celebrated. As I am their neighbor they present me with some desserts like those Muslims served in the blessed `Eid-ul-Fitr (the Festival of Breaking the Fast). There are different opinions regarding accepting these deserts; some people consider eating them permissible on the grounds that they are not meat. Others view that eating these desserts is Haram (prohibited) on the grounds that they were dedicated to other than Allâh. It should be noted that these desserts are not homemade; rather they are purchased from the stores. Please inform me of what should be done.

A: it is not permissible to accept or make use of the gifts given by disbelievers to Muslims on their festivals and religious occasions. Accepting such gifts is a sort of approval of their falsehood and being satisfied with what they do. Consequently, a Muslim should be mindful and be careful when it comes to matters related to his faith.

A 5: is it permissible for a male or female Muslim to work in the disbelievers' munitions factories, participate in any activity which strengthens their army in number and equipment, as a computer scientist or the like, or join their armies?

A: It is not permissible for a Muslim to work in the disbelievers' munitions factories, participate in any activity that increases their power, or join their armies. In fact, this is a sort of Wala' (loyalty) to them. Allah, the Exalted, states, ﴿Let not the believers take the disbelievers as Auliya' \(supporters, helpers\) instead of the believers﴾ Moreover, He, the Glorified, states, ﴿O you who believe! Take not the Jews and the Christians as Auliya' \(friends, protectors, helpers\)﴾ There are many other Ayahs (verses) to this effect. Anyone who does this becomes on the verge of being an absolute supporter of the disbelievers, thus becoming one of them unconsciously. Consequently, they will come under Allah's, the Exalted, warning, ﴿nd if any amongst you takes them as Auliya', then surely he is one of them.﴾ and also, ﴿and whoever does that will never be helped by Allāh in any way, except if you indeed fear a danger from them.﴾

Fatwa no. 20235

Praise be to Allah Alone and peace and blessings be upon the Last Prophet. To continue, The Permanent Committee for Scholarly Research and Ifta' read the letter sent to his Eminence, the General Mufty (Islamic scholar qualified to issue legal opinions) from Shaykh Khalid ibn `Aly Al Shamah, the court judge and manager of the Cooperative Office at Badr, which was referred to the Secretariat General of the Council of Senior Scholars no. 1139 on 3/2/1419, in which the questioner submitted the following question:

I would like to inform you that I work in the province of Badr in Al-Madinah Al-Munawwarah. There, we found many young men who were guided, by Allah's Grace, and others who tended to draw nearer to the Sufis there to earn some money or acquire subsidies. They thus tend to honor these Sufis, prepare banquets and celebrations for them on the plea that they make a lot of charitable acts in favor of the district.

Your Eminence; young men have become divided into two parties: one party is in favor of revering the Sufis to acquire the mentioned benefits; the other party denounces such acts even if the result will be the loss of such subsidies or donations provided for the district. Moreover, some people have started to warn against attending these gatherings claiming that they are prohibited. They have also started to desert those who revere the Sufis or draw nearer to them, even if they do not belong to them.

Your Eminence: Young men here have split between the two parties; they ask for your direction in this regard. is it permissible to honor the Sufis and draw nearer to them for the benefits they offer to the district? It is permissible to attend these honoring sessions? What is the ruling on avoiding anyone who honors them and seeks their friendship? I hope that the answer will be prompt and detailed so as to be reassured. May Allah guide you and grant you success.

After the Committee had studied the inquiry, it answered that Sufism is a Bid`ah (innovation in religion) in Islam, and every Bid`ah is a means of going astray. This could also lead to Shirk (associating others in worship with Allah) and Kufr (disbelief) if it leads to holding exaggerated views about the Sufi shaykhs, believing that they, rather than Allah, can cause harm and bring benefit, seeking the support of the dead and slaughtering for them and believing that those who follow the Sufi orders acquire their religion directly from Allah and are in no need to follow the Messenger (peace be upon him). Moreover, they prescribe some acts of worship and Adkhar (invocations and Remembrances said at certain times on a regular basis) that have no proof in what Allah revealed. The Prophet (peace be upon him) said, \(If anybody introduces a practice which is not authenticated by me, it is to be rejected.\) Therefore, it is not permissible to associate with the Sufis or attend their gatherings. It is not permissible either to honor or encourage them; rather, they should be censured and prohibited from performing their Sufi practices and spreading them among people. They should be deserted and people should be warned against them.

May Allah grant us success! May peace and blessings be upon our Prophet Muhammad, his family and Companions!

Q 2: Some foreign authorities distribute two types of flags, one for Saudi Arabia and the other one for their non-Muslim countries. A military official hangs these flags on people's chests. What is the ruling on this action?

Fatwa no. 20549

Q: First: Last year, people placed the word "Allahu Akbar" (Allah is the Greatest) on the minaret of the Islamic Center in Ramadan after Christmas was over. They decorated it and the facade of the Masjid (Mosque) with the same lights used on Christmas Day. I blamed them arguing that this action involves imitation of non-Muslims and it was not permissible to be done in the Masjid or Muslim houses. They advised me to wait until the Shaykh (Imam of the Masjid) would come back, but I told them that the matter was very clear so there was no need to ask him. Nobody responded.

I asked the Imam once he returned about what people did in his absence, and he said that this was just a sort of analogy. I replied that it was imitation of the disbelievers, but he drew my attention to the fact that people used to hang the lights and put Christmas Trees in their houses and streets and they no longer do so now. This is actually correct. The lights are brought out of the streets, but they are still available in the houses and people use them in Masjids in the same way. To me, this is not permissible.

Now, what worries me a lot is that Ramadan this year mostly corresponds to the month in which people celebrate the Christmas and many of the youth break their Sawm (fasting) in order to celebrate that Day. Moreover, next year, Christmas Day will correspond to `Eid-ul-Fitr (the Festival of Breaking the Fast). These countries need instructions regarding this matter where ignorance prevails among Muslims' children who gradually thaw in that society. For instance, we held an international contest for the memorization of the Qur'an and prizes will be given on Laylat-ul-Qadr (the Night of Decree). The interested participants were about 520 boys and 30 girls who took part just for the sake of the prizes. Some of them have not even memorized Al-Fatihah and another one said that he never hears the Qur'an recited in his house though his father is Muslim. Please, advise.

Second: There are four chairs inside the Masjid that has room for 850 people and another two in the entry. These chairs resemble those I used to sit on in church before I embraced Islam. Please, advise. May Allah reward you!

A: It is not permissible for Muslims to imitate the disbelievers in their festivals, their places of worship and the like. The Prophet (peace be upon him) said: \(Anyone who copies a people is one of them.\) You must all avoid that and advise those who imitate them not to do.

The fifth question of Fatwa no. 21394

Q 5: is it permissible to do business with ibadiyyah (a Muslim sect)? For example, I buy their good books and cassettes, should I stop or continue doing this?

A: There is no harm in buying the useful books from anyone because of their great benefit. As for the books that contain heresy and error, it is not permissible to deal in them.

The first question of Fatwa no. 21570

Q 1: Images of crosses have become openly visible. Muslims are so neglectful of this issue that we now see it on TV channels, commercial magazine, etc.

(Part No. 1; Page No. 466)

1. What is the ruling on making pictures of crosses in general?
2. What is the ruling on publishing pictures of crosses in magazines, ads, etc.?
3. We see the pictures of cross in some Islamic magazines in order to warn people against Christians and reveal their missionary plans, what is the ruling on this?
4. What is the ruling on taking photos of their religious rites?

A: Firstly, it is not permissible to take photos of crosses or any other symbol of disbelief, or to publish them in magazines and ads. The only exception is when someone intends to warn Muslims against glorifying and respecting them while ensuring that the publisher attaches a statement illustrating its falsehood.

Secondly, it is not permissible to take photos of non-Muslim rituals or circulate them among Muslims because they contain acts of disbelief in Allah and His Messenger and contradict Islam. This may also attract people to them, especially those of weak faith. Furthermore, this removes the Muslim's repugnancy of disbelief; thus it must be avoided.

Fatwa no. 21413

All Praise is due to Allah, Alone. May peace be upon the Last Prophet.

The Permanent Committee for Scholarly Research and Ifta' has reviewed the referred questions to His Honor, the General Mufti (Islamic scholar qualified to issue legal opinions) by a number of questioners. The questions are recorded in the Secretariat General of the Council of Senior Scholars no. 86, dated (5/1/1421 A.H.), and no. 1326, 1327, 1328, dated 2/3/1421 A.H. concerning the ruling on building places of worship for non-Muslims in Arabia such as Christian churches, Jewish synagogues, etc. Is it permissible for a company owner to allocate a place for non-Muslim workers to practice their worship there?

Studying these questions, the Committee answered as follows:

Every religion other than Islam is mere disbelief and error. Every house of worship other than that of Islam is considered a place of disbelief and error, because worshipping Allah is only permissible through what He has legislated. The Islamic Shari'ah is the Last Divine Testament for both Jinn and man. Thus, it abrogates the past codes of law according to the consensus of scholars.

Anyone who claims that the religions of Jews and Christians are true whether from among themselves or not, denies the Book of Allah (Qur'an), the Sunnah of the Prophet (peace be upon him) and the consensus of Muslims. Thus, he is an apostate even if he claims Islam. However, the proof must be established against him if it is thought that he is unaware of the truth. Allah (Exalted be He) states, ﴿And We have not sent you (O Muhammad صلى الله عليه وسلم) except as a giver of glad tidings and a warner to all mankind﴾ Allah also states, ﴿Say (O Muhammad صلى الله عليه وسلم): "O mankind! Verily, I am sent to you all as the Messenger of Allâh﴾ Allah (Glorified be He) states, ﴿Truly, the religion with Allâh is Islâm.﴾ Allah (Glorified and Exalted be He) states, ﴿And whoever seeks a religion other than Islâm, it will never be accepted of him﴾ Allah (Glorified be He) states, ﴿Verily, those who disbelieve (in the religion of Islâm, the Qur'ân and Prophet Muhammad صلى الله عليه وسلم) from among the people of the Scripture (Jews and Christians) and Al-Mushrikûn will abide in the Fire of Hell. They are the worst of creatures.﴾ It is authentically reported in "Sahih Al-Bukhari" and "Sahih Muslim" and others that the Prophet (peace be upon him) stated, ﴿In the past, every prophet used to be sent to his people only but I has been sent to all people.﴾ Therefore, it is an Islamic duty to forbid disbelief, because it entails the worship of other than Allah and contradicts the Shari'ah. Consequently, it is forbidden to build houses of worship for religions other than Islam such as Judaism, Christianity, etc. These temples, whether a church or otherwise, are considered places for worshipping other than Allah, as they are not in conformance with the Islamic Shari'ah that abrogates all the past codes of law. As for the good deeds of the disbelievers, Allah (Exalted be He) states, ﴿And We shall turn to whatever deeds they (disbelievers, polytheists, sinners) did, and We shall make such deeds as scattered floating particles of dust.) Thus, scholars have unanimously agreed upon the prohibition of building temples such as churches in Muslim countries. Likewise, it is not permissible that two religions are confessed as formal religions in the Muslim lands, and there must be no rituals or temples for non-Muslims such as churches or any other building. Scholars unanimously agreed on the obligation of destroying churches and other places of worship if they were built recently in the Muslim lands. It is not permissible to oppose the Muslim ruler in destroying them, but you must obey him. Scholars (may Allah be merciful with them) have unanimously agreed that building these places such as churches in the Arabian Peninsula is more sinful because of the clear and sound Hadith reported on the prohibition of combining two religions in the Arabian Peninsula. The Prophet (peace be upon him) stated, \(There should not be two religions together in the Arabian Peninsula.\) (Related by Imam Malik and others. Moreover, it finds further grounds in the reports of "Sahih Al-Bukhari" and "Sahih Muslim".

The Arabian Peninsula is the sacrosanct base of Islam which no disbeliever is allowed to violate, to assume its nationality, or to own anything therein. Needless to mention that the building of churches for the cross worshippers is also prohibited there. So, no two religions are to co-exist there. It is only one religion with which Allah sent His Prophet Muhammad (peace be upon him). There shall be only one Qiblah (direction faced for Prayer towards the Ka`bah); the Muslim direction to the ancient House (Ka`bah). Praise be to Allah who guided the rulers of this country to prevent building these places of worship on this sacred Muslim soil.

We cry out to Allah for the temples that the enemies of Islam have brought to Muslim lands such as churches and their likes. We ask Allah to protect Islam against their plots.

Thus, it is evident that setting up houses for non-Muslim worship such as churches or allocating places for them in any Muslim country is of the greatest support for disbelief and endorsement of their faith. Allah (Exalted be He) states, \(Help you one another in Al-Birr and At-Taqwâ \(virtue, righteousness and piety\); but do not help one another in sin and transgression. And fear Allâh. Verily, Allâh is Severe in punishment.\)

Shaykh-ul-Islam (may Allah be merciful with him) said, "Anyone who believes that churches are places where Allah is worshipped or that the worship of Jews and Christians is true and constitute obedience to His Prophet, or that Allah likes or is pleased with this act of worship, or helps them to open such places and establish their religion, is a disbeliever." He also said, "Anyone who believes that Christians' visits to their churches draw them near to Allah, is an apostate. If he is unaware that this is forbidden, he must be informed. However, if he insists on his opinion after this, he will be considered an apostate.

We seek refuge in Allah against deviation after integrity and against error after guidance. A Muslim must be careful lest he be included in Allah's statement, \(Verily, those who have turned back \(have apostatised\) as disbelievers after the guidance has been manifested to them - Shaitân \(Satan\) has beautified for them \(their false hopes\), and \(Allâh\) prolonged their term \(age\).\) \(This is because they said to those who hate what Allâh has sent down: "We will obey you in part of the matter." But Allâh knows their secrets.\) \(Then how \(will it be\) when the angels will take their souls at death, smiting their faces and their backs?\) \(That is because they followed that which angered Allâh and hated that which pleased Him. So He made their deeds fruitless.\) May Allah grant us success! May peace and blessings be upon our Prophet Muhammad, his family and Companions!

Q 2: There is a practice that has spread among committed Muslim women and we would like to know the ruling on it, namely, women's excessive love for one another. A woman may exceed the proper limits in loving her Muslim sister. For example, she imitates her style of clothing, sacrifices her life for her, engraves her name on jewelry, visits her frequently, talks with her daily on the phone for hours, and may feel deeply upset if she does not see her. Women claim that this is love for the Sake of Allah (Exalted be He). We hope Your Eminence will explain the ruling on this and the meaning of loving for the Sake of Allah. It is worth mentioning that this practice is common among women. Allah is the One sought for help.

A: Love for the Sake of Allah is one of the strongest expressions of Iman (faith). Those who love each other for the Sake of Allah will be shaded with His Shade on the Day of Resurrection - as authentically reported from the Prophet (peace be upon him). It is a good deed to love someone for the Sake of Allah because it means loving those whom Allah loves, namely, the pious people. A person is loved for the Sake of Allah when they fulfill the Rights of Allah and His Servants, and hold fast to Shari'ah (Islamic law). They are not loved because of their family status, lineage, beauty, wealth or any other worldly privilege. An indication of the sincerity of this love is that when the person being loved for the Sake of Allah disobeys Allah, this love diminishes according to the gravity of the sin and is replaced with anger for the Sake of Allah and respect for His Sanctities. On the other hand, it is not love for the Sake of Allah to exceed the proper limits in loving someone, be attached to them to the extent of not being able to part with them, or admire them so much. In fact, it indicates a defect in Tawhid (belief in the Oneness of Allah), and attachment of one's heart to other than Allah, which may lead to committing acts forbidden by Allah. Accordingly, it is unacceptable and should be avoided.

The third question of Fatwa no. 18645

Q 3: Do the Jinn (creatures created from fire) know the Ghayb (the Unseen)? Please clarify this as soon as possible.

A: Knowledge of Ghayb is one of the exclusive attributes of Rububiyyah (Lordship); no one knows the Ghayb of the heavens and the earth except Allah. Allah (Exalted be He) says: ﴿And with Him are the keys of the Ghayb \(all that is hidden\), none knows them but He.﴾ He (Exalted is His Majesty) also says: ﴿Say: "None in the heavens and the earth knows the Ghayb \(Unseen\) except Allâh"﴾ The Jinn do not know the Ghayb, which is proven by His Saying (Exalted be He): [﴿Then when We decreed death for him \[Sulaimân \(Solomon\)\], nothing informed them \(jinn\) of his death except a little worm of the earth, which kept \(slowly\) gnawing away at his stick. So when he fell down, the jinn saw clearly that if they had known the Unseen, they would not have stayed in the humiliating torment.﴾](#) Therefore, anyone who claims to know the Ghayb is a Kafir (disbeliever) and anyone who believes in this claim is a Kafir as well, for they are denying the Qur'an.

Fatwa no. 18723

Q: Here in Yemen, we have a printed material that is issued every Hijri (lunar) year entitled: (Calendar of Yemeni Astronomer, known as the calendar of Bayt Al-Faqih), produced by Mahdy Amin. It should be mentioned that this man died, but his grandson, Ahmad Muhammad Mahdy Amin, is still publishing and distributing thousands of copies of this release all over the cities and villages of Yemen. This calendar shows people's horoscope and luck as well as the future horoscope of people in authority, Yemeni regions and Arab countries, and also shows what will happen in the Hijri months all over the year. Its owner mentions the following in the calendar in page 3 for year 1417 A.H.: (The Yemeni Astronomer looks into your horoscope and luck as well as the future using stars, the sciences of Jafr (knowing the predestination and the Unseen), Al-Zirgah (knowing the answers of certain questions in a certain way) and Sand (knowing the Unseen by drawing some lines in the sand...etc). However, many of the common laymen and semi-educated people believe in and appreciate this calendar. Attached is a copy of it for clarification. My question is:

a- Is it permissible to write, publish and distribute it?

b- What is the ruling on whoever distributes, sells, or buys it?

c- Is it permissible to read and believe in all or part of what is mentioned in it?

And what should be the response to anyone who claims that some of that which is mentioned in it occurs?

(Part No. 2; Page No. 8)

d- What is the ruling on money earned from publishing, writing, printing, distributing or selling it?

A: It is impermissible to make, publish, sell or distribute this calendar, for it includes false sayings that denote Kufr (disbelief) and Shirk (associating others with Allah in His Divinity or worship), as it involves claiming the knowledge of Ghayb (the Unseen) and the good or bad future events occurring to countries and people, which is definitely an act of Kufr in Allah (Glorified and Exalted be He). This also constitutes a false claim of sharing with Allah (Exalted be He) the Knowledge of the Ghayb that is known only to Him, as He (Exalted be He) says: «(He Alone is) the All-Knower of the Ghayb (Unseen), and He reveals to none His Ghayb (Unseen).» «Except to a Messenger (from mankind) whom He has chosen (He informs him of unseen as much as He likes)» And: «Say: "None in the heavens and the earth knows the Ghaib (Unseen) except Allâh"» The Prophet (peace be upon him) also said: «Anyone who goes to a soothsayer or a diviner and believes what he says, has disbelieved in what was revealed to Muhammad.» (peace be upon him). Therefore, this calendar must not be published and should be destroyed. Moreover, whoever publishes or promotes it should be legally punished by rulers with an equitable punishment according to Shari'ah (Islamic law) to protect Muslims' 'Aqidah (creed) from Shirk and Kufr, deter callers to falsehood, and to fulfill the duty of enjoining good and forbidding evil.

Furthermore, this should be restricted to the calculations of the regular Hijri months, Salah (Prayer) times, times of throwing seeds and similar beneficial issues to people without violating the 'Aqidah.

May Allah grant us success! May peace and blessings be upon our Prophet Muhammad, his family, and Companions!

Q: Is Allah the only One Who knows my inner self?

A: Allah (Glorified and Exalted be He) Alone knows what lies in the recesses of the inner self and all thoughts, secrets and obsessions that preoccupy one's mind. Allah (Glorified be He) says: ﴿And if you (O Muhammad صلى الله عليه وسلم) speak (the invocation) aloud, then verily, He knows the secret and that which is yet more hidden.﴾ Allah (Exalted be He) also says: ﴿Is not Allâh Best Aware of what is in the breasts of the 'Alamîn (mankind and jinn).﴾ And: ﴿And Allâh knows what you conceal and what you reveal.﴾ And: ﴿He knows what is in the heavens and on earth, and He knows what you conceal and what you reveal. And Allâh is the All-Knower of what is in the breasts (of men).﴾

Allah also says: ﴿And your Lord knows what their breasts conceal, and what they reveal.﴾ Thus, anyone who claims knowledge of people's inner selves and what they conceal has contended with Allah (Glorified and Exalted be He) in His Lordship and this is Kufr (disbelief) which Muslims should beware of.

I may provide you with the number of the page and volume of the book entitled "Madarig Al-Salikin" by the student of Ibn Taymiyyah the illuminary and righteous in which he relates the discussion he held with his Shaykh as he informed him that Muslims will win a battle with Tatars and that he obtained this piece of news from Al-Lawh-ul-Mahfuzh."

Respected Shaykh, Sufis are known for their myths, lies and deviation from the sound `Aqidah (creed), but words like these cannot be uttered by prominent scholars who believe in the oneness of Allah, such as Shaykh Al-Islam Ibn Taymiyah and his student Ibn Al-Qayyim. Is what is attributed to these two great Shaykhs Ibn Taymiyah and Ibn Al-Qayyim correct? Is it true that Shaykh Al-Islam looked into Al-Lawh-ul-Mahfuzh and foretold future events? Is this an accusation that Sufis make against those who follow Tawhid (belief in the Oneness of Allah)? have men, messengers, or anyone ever looked into Al-Lawh-ul-Mahfuzh? In the same book, vol. 2, p.37, the author wrote, "The diligent student [Ibn Al-Qayyim] received the latest writings of Ibn Taymiyah in the prison where he died. The writings included a letter in which the scholar Ibn Taymiyah bitterly blamed his students for lack of Wajd (a very high point of love; ecstasy)."

In the same volume, it is written, "I wish they would read Fatwas (legal opinion issued by a qualified Muslim scholar) of Shaykh Al-Islam ibn Taymiyah from cover to cover to read about amazing beliefs in the reasonably partial Hulul (a Sufi term meaning indwelling) and see how this truthful scholar reproached his fellows for their need of Wajd from the prison where he died."

What is the meaning of Wajd from a Sufi perspective? Is it true that Shaykh Al-Islam sent a letter to his students informing them that they lacked Wajd?

Respected Shaykh, there are two other catastrophes in another book written by `Abdul-Salam Yasin, namely, "Nazhrat fi Al-Fiqh wa Al-Tarikh (Glimpses on Islamic Jurisprudence and History)", first edition, June, 1989. In page 37, the author wrote, "Allah (Glorified and Exalted be He) informed us that Muhammad (peace be upon him) is lenient, kind, and merciful with the believers, and Allah (Glorified and Exalted be He) revealed to him many matters of the Ghayb that his Nation will face until the Hour comes.

The Sahabah (Companions of the Prophet) (may Allah be pleased with them) conveyed to us some of these matters and forgot many of them."

In pp. 39-40, he added, "Two Hadith related by Muslim make obedience to the ruler contingent on two conditions; (i) he should lead the Nation according to the Qur'an (ii) he should establish Salah (prayers) among people. Then, the responsibility of distinguishing the ruler who leads by the Qur'an is left to the believers as well as evaluating the performance of Salah, its meaning and practical implication. The noble Messenger (peace be upon him) whom Allah supported with revelation made reference to the points of Predestination disclosed to him by Allah and gave us advice. He did not predict what was preordained by detailing what should be kept hidden or specifying what must be concealed until its due time comes or defining the two governing conditions. The Prophet (peace be upon him) remained silent so that every person would bear his own responsibility and that mankind should have no plea against Allah after the Messengers."

On the contrary, Allah (Glorified and Exalted be He) says in (Surah Al-Maidah, 5: 67):

﴿O Messenger (Muhammad صلى الله عليه وسلم)! Proclaim (the Message) which has been sent down to you from your Lord. And if you do not, then you have not conveyed His Message. Allâh will protect you from mankind. Verily, Allâh guides not the people who disbelieve.﴾

Is it permissible to join this organization whose leader adopts these thoughts? He is presently under house arrest. How can we advise members of this movement, which is widely spread in Morocco among youths and students?

A: What is written in the book mentioned above that a scholar, or a particular person knows the matters recorded in Al-Lawh-ul-Mahfuzh is purely falsehood. That is because the matters of Al-Lawh-ul-Mahfuzh pertain to the Ghayb that none knows except Allah (Glorified and Exalted be He). Allah (Exalted be He) says: ﴿Say: "None in the heavens and the earth knows the Ghaib (Unseen) except Allâh"﴾ He (Exalted be He) also says: ﴿("He Alone is) the All-Knower of the Ghaib (Unseen), and He reveals to none His Ghaib (Unseen).﴾ ﴿Except to a Messenger (from mankind) whom He has chosen (He informs him of unseen as much as He likes)﴾ Concerning joining Islamic movements, it is obligatory on the Muslim to follow the groups that adhere to the Qur'an and Sunnah (whatever is reported from the Prophet) and the way of the Salaf (righteous predecessors). As for Wajd, it is a Sufi term signifying great love, and was not used by Shaykh Al-Islam Ibn Taymiyah among his students or anyone else. Rather, he used to advise people to follow the Qur'an and Sunnah and warn against the Bid'ah (innovation in Islam) of Sufis and others.

May Allah grant us success! May peace and blessings be upon our Prophet Muhammad, his family, and Companions!

Fatwa no. 19458

Q: I would like to inform Your Eminence that a new product called the "Biological Clock" was advertised in a magazine. The advertisement states:

The biological clock is the indicator of fertility. It helps you control birth and plan to get the desired gender of the child in accordance with the Hadith that reads: \(If the male fluid prevails upon the female fluid, the baby will be male, and if the female fluid prevails upon the male fluid, the baby will be female.\) Kindly, find it attached.

Your Eminence Mufty, my question is: Do these claims contradict Shari`ah? Is it permissible to make use of such a clock? Does it really help in selecting the desired gender of the child? I hope that you will answer me. May Allah guide you to what is good and right.

A: It is not permissible to use such a clock for the purpose mentioned above or to believe in it. Actually, all fetus-related affairs such as conception and gender of the fetus belong to the Ghayb which is known only by Allah (Glorified and Exalted be He). Even the angel entrusted with embryos asks his Lord on breathing the soul therein whether it is male or female as stated in the Hadith. Allah (Exalted be He) says: \(He creates what He wills. He bestows female \(offspring\) upon whom He wills, and bestows male \(offspring\) upon whom He wills.\) \(Or He bestows both males and females, and He renders barren whom He wills. Verily, He is the All-Knower and is Able to do all things.\)

Q 4: A person who is punctual in attending Dhikr (remembrance of Allah) circles for a long period will know and understand everything without the need to ask scholars or shaykhs. Moreover, such a person will have pure vision of the Ghayb (Unseen).

A: Anyone who claims that someone other than Allah has knowledge of the Ghayb is a disbeliever. Allah (Exalted be He) said, ﴿Say: "None in the heavens and the earth knows the Ghaib \(Unseen\) except Allāh"﴾

Q: There is a kind of a table circulated widely among women bearing the so-called "Chinese Gender Prediction Calculator". It specifies whether the fetus is male or female through the age of the mother and the solar month in which conception took place (a copy of the paper is attached to the question). Is it possible for doctors to determine the gender of the fetus? What is the ruling on such and similar calculators? May Allah reward you with the best for benefiting Islam and Muslims.

A: No one but Allah (Glorified be He) can know the gender of the fetus before it is fully formed. However, after the fetus is fully formed, its gender can be identified through medical rays, something which Allah made within the boundaries of human capability.

As for determining its gender through the calculator mentioned above, it is false and groundless as it involves claiming knowledge of the Ghayb, which is known only by Allah. Moreover, such a table has to be destroyed and its circulation among people has to be banned.

Q 2: Mentioning the `Aqidah (creed) of true Muslims and that of nonconformists, the author of Ma`arij Al-Qabul states the following phrase: "We call Allah and His Messenger (peace be upon him) as witnesses." Is there anything wrong with this phrase?

A: The author, may Allah forgive and be merciful to him, erred in writing this phrase. It is not permissible for anyone to call the Messenger (peace be upon him) to witness after his death, for he (peace be upon him) cannot know the Ghayb (the Unseen) or what his Ummah (nation based on one creed) did after his death. The Messenger of Allah (peace be upon him) is reported to have said: «A group of my Sahabah \(Companions\) will be driven away from Hawd \(the Prophet's Basin in the Hereafter\) on the Day of Resurrection. I will say, '\(These are\) my Sahabah.' It will be said, 'You do not know what they have done after you.'»

Seeing Allah in worldly life

The first question of Fatwa no. 12713

Q 1: What is the ruling on a man who claims that he saw, while in a state of wakefulness, the Prophet (peace be upon him), Virgin Maryam (Mary, peace be upon her) breastfeeding `Eisa (peace be upon him), and the souls of believers hovering over graves? He also claims that he has seen Allah (Glorified and Exalted be He).

A: Claiming to see, while awake, the Prophet (peace be upon him) after his death is a false claim, as well as seeing Maryam and her son, the souls of believers hovering over graves and seeing Allah (Exalted be He).

Insinuating whispers of Satan

Fatwa no. 14084

Q: A few years ago, I showed great religious commitment. However, now I suffer many setbacks due to insinuating whispers of Satan. In the past, I used to offer Salah (Prayer) in the Masjid (mosque), now I find it the most troubling thing. I would die of shame if I mention to you the other things I have done. I feel as if I have two hearts; one is full of good (shown by my outward acts) and the second is full of evil (shown by my inner thoughts). I fear being a hypocrite. I severely suffer from these whispers which hinder me from doing any act, major or minor. One example is when I talk with my friend, I think about what he has in his mind. I do not know whether this matter is a test or a punishment from Allah. May it be due to the sickness of my heart as I suffer chronic heart disease?

My attempts of resorting to Allah by means of asking forgiveness and making Du`a' (supplication) to remove this suffering were of no avail. I know that my letter includes mistakes and things that Muslims should not do. So, I beg your pardon and ask you to make Du`a' for me so that it may help.

A: We advise you to turn to Allah and seek refuge in Him, strive to do the obligations including Salah and Sawm (Fasting). Do supererogatory acts as much as you can. Furthermore, you should recite the Qur'an more frequently, ponder, and act upon its Ayahs. Remember Allah frequently and supplicate to Him especially at the suggested times of response and at the last portion of night. May Allah guide you to the right path, forgive you, and replace your ill feelings with good ones, for Allah is Ever Near and Responsive.

Evidence-based knowledge of Islam

The third question of Fatwa no. 13507

Q 3: What does the author of Hashiatul-Usul Al-Thalathah mean by his statement: "Knowledge of Islam has to be substantiated by evidence"? In the same book, the author says: "Allah sent us a Messenger. Whoever obeys him will enter Paradise and whoever disobeys him will enter Hellfire." What is meant by obeying the Messenger (peace be upon him)?

A: By the statement: "Knowledge of Islam has to be substantiated by evidence", the author means that it is obligatory on a Mukallaf (person meeting the conditions to be held legally accountable for their actions) to know Islam and its pillars from its principal sources, namely, the Qur'an and Sunnah. Thus, a Muslim has to learn Tawhid (belief in the Oneness of Allah/monotheism) and whatever may detract from its perfection or contradict it. A Muslim also has to learn Salah (Prayer), its fundamentals, obligatory and recommendable acts, from the Qur'an as well as from the sayings, actions and approvals of the Prophet (peace be upon him). The same applies to other pillars and rituals of Islam.

By his statement: "Allah sent us a Messenger. Whoever obeys him will enter Paradise and whoever disobeys him will enter Hellfire", the author means that Allah (Glorified and Exalted be He) sent Muhammad (peace be upon him) with Tawhid and the rest of the laws of Islam. Whoever responds to him, embraces Allah's Religion, obeys Allah's Commands, and avoids His Prohibitions will enter Paradise. On the other hand, whoever rejects faith, disobeys the Messenger (peace be upon him) and refuses to embrace Allah's Religion will enter Hellfire.

(Part No. 2; Page No. 26)

Allah (Exalted be He) says: ﴿He who obeys the Messenger (Muhammad صلى الله عليه وسلم), has indeed obeyed Allâh, but he who turns away, then we have not sent you (O Muhammad صلى الله عليه وسلم) as a watcher over them.﴾ Moreover, the Prophet (peace be upon him) is authentically reported to have said: ﴿My entire Ummah (nation based on one creed) will enter Paradise except those who refuse.﴾ They said, 'O Messenger of Allah, who will refuse?' He (peace be upon him) said,

'Anyone who obeys me will enter Paradise, and anyone who disobeys me has refused.')

May Allah grant us success. May peace and blessings be upon our Prophet Muhammad, his family and Companions.

The first question of Fatwa No. (17763)

Q 1: What has a higher priority: `Aqidah (creed) or Islamic government?

A: the first thing a Muslim has to do is to know the sound `Aqidah and adherence thereto. Allah (Exalted be He) said: ﴿So know (O Muhammad صلى الله عليه وسلم) that, Lâ ilâha illallâh (none has the right to be worshipped but Allâh), and ask forgiveness for your sin, and also for (the sin of) believing men and believing women.﴾ Therefore, Allah's messengers (peace be upon them) would start their mission by calling people to the sound `Aqidah, which is worshipping Allah alone, associating no partners with Him. Allah (Exalted be He) said: ﴿And verily, We have sent among every Ummah (community, nation) a Messenger (proclaiming): "Worship Allâh (Alone), and avoid (or keep away from) Tâghût (all false deities i.e. do not worship Tâghût besides Allâh).﴾ In fact, Islamic government is a part of the `Aqidah but it is not everything thereof.

(Part No. 2; Page No. 27)

The fourth question of Fatwa No. (19346)

Q 4: Is it permissible to say, "We seek blessings from the Qur'an or the Hadith of the Prophet (peace be upon him)"? Is it permissible to say on receiving a bounty of Allah such as increase in knowledge or knowing the solution of a Fiqh (Islamic jurisprudence) problem to say, "We could know it only through Allah's bounty or through the blessings of the Qur'an or the Hadith of the Prophet (peace be upon him)"? We will be very grateful if you provide us with a general rule regarding what we can seek blessings from and what we cannot.

A: reciting and acting upon the Qur'an is one of the great reasons for blessing.

(Part No. 2; Page No. 28)

Likewise, following the Prophet's guidance and Sunnah involves all good and blessing. Allah (Exalted be He) says: ﴿And this is a blessed Book (the Qur'ân) which We have sent down, so follow it and fear Allâh (i.e. do not disobey His Orders), that you may receive mercy (i.e. be saved from the torment of Hell).﴾ He (Glorified and Exalted be He) also says: ﴿And this is a blessed Reminder (the Qur'ân) which We have sent down: will you then (dare to) deny it?﴾ Moreover, Allah (Glorified be He) says: ﴿(This is) a Book (the Qur'ân) which We have sent down to you, full of blessings, that they may ponder over its Verses, and that men of understanding may remember.﴾ One of the notions of blessing is the occurrence, continuance and increase of good.

the general rule regarding permissibility of seeking blessings from certain things is being substantiated by a Shar`y (Islamic legal) Nas (Islamic text from the Qur'an or the Sunnah). Thus, we can seek blessings from those things that are considered permissible in Shari`ah (Islamic law) to seek blessings from. However, if there is no substantiating Nas regarding seeking blessings, it is not permissible to seek blessings from them.

May Allah grant us success! May peace and blessings be upon our Prophet Muhammad, his family and Companions!

(Part No. 2; Page No. 29)

whether I have attained it, because it is a broad term. What is the way to attain Taqwa?

A: Allah (Glorified and Exalted be He) has ordered us to observe Taqwa. Allah (Exalted be He) says: (O you who believe! Fear Allâh (by doing all that He has ordered and by abstaining from all that He has forbidden) as He should be feared.) Observing Taqwa entails obeying all that Allah has ordered and abstaining from all that He has forbidden. Thus, a Muslim should abide by the actions and sayings which Muslims are ordered to follow and abstain from prohibited deeds and sayings.

The first and the third questions of Fatwa no. 17464

Q 1: Once in an Islamic lesson, a professor stated that the Khalaf (later scholars) are wiser, while the Salaf (righteous predecessors) are more knowledgeable; is this correct?

What is meant by "more knowledgeable" and "wiser"?

A: This is a false statement meant to disparage the Salaf of this nation, accuse them of lack of knowledge and wisdom and glorify the scholars of Kalam (a discipline that searches for answers to creedal issues using logic) for their knowledge and wisdom. Theologians were the first to make this statement. Inferentially, it follows that the successive generations are better and more knowledgeable than the preceding most righteous generations.

Shayk Al-Islam Ibn Taymiyah said: "It is known to those who reflect upon the Qur'an, the Sunnah (whatever is reported from the Prophet), and points where Ahl-ul-Sunnah wal-Jama'ah (adherents to the Sunnah and the Muslim mainstream) agreed that the best generation of this nation in terms of deeds, sayings, beliefs, and all virtues is the first generation, i.e. the Sahabah (Companions of the Prophet), then the one after, then the one after them.

This was reported in a number of authentic Hadiths from the Prophet (peace be upon him) in this regard. The Sahabah are better than later generations in every aspect; knowledge, actions, faith, character, deeds, and worship. Thus, they are most worthy of explaining every detailed point of religion. None may argue this evident fundamental except those who deny the well-established and known Islamic facts; and Allah, knowing that they know the truth, left them astray." `Abdullah ibn Mas'ud (may Allah be pleased with him) said: "Anyone who wishes to adopt a certain example should follow those who have passed away, for the living are not safe from Fitnah (temptation). They are the Sahabah of Muhammad who have the purest hearts, the best knowledgeable, and are the least pretentious of all Muslims. They are the people that Allah chose to accompany his Prophet (peace be upon him) and to establish Islam. So affirm their status and hold firmly to their guidance, for indeed they were on the right path." Someone once said: "Hold fast to the traditions of the Salaf, for they brought forth what is sufficient and curative and no good ever arose after them which they were not knowledgeable of."

The Prophet (peace be upon him) said: \(No time will come but the following time is worse than it,

(Part No. 2; Page No. 32)

until you meet your Lord.﴾ How can there be a better time than theirs while they witnessed the revelation of the best knowledge, i.e. the Knowledge of Allah! This will never happen.

How precise are the words of Al-Shafi'y (may Allah be merciful to him) who wrote in his book "Al-Risalah": "They, i.e. the Sahabah, are superior to us in knowledge, reason, belief, virtue and every means through which knowledge or guidance is attained. Indeed, their opinion is more beneficial to us than ours to ourselves." (Al-Fatawa; vol. 4, pp. 157-158)

Q: Our Philosophy teacher once told us that Shari`ah (Islamic law) is based on philosophy. Is this true?

A: shari`ah predominates all laws and philosophies, and all good is in its guidance. Whoever seeks guidance in other than it, Allah (Exalted be He) will lead them stray, and this is the case of many of the philosophers, for they have many articles and theories in `Aqidah (creed)-related issues, that in most cases express plain kufr (disbelief). This is because whoever studies their writings will find that they include `Aqidah errors, intellectual deviation, and exaggerations of which there is no room to clarify here. However, we recommend you to resort to what was written by Shaykh Al-Islam Ibn

Taymiyah and his student Ibn Al-Qayyim in this regard, as it will suffice, and Praise be to Allah.

The third question of Fatwa no. 17543

Q 3: What is the best way to call the people to Tawhid (belief in the Oneness of Allah/monotheism) and warn them against Shirk (associating others with Allah in His Divinity or worship)?

A: The best way to Da`wah (calling to Islam) is that stated by Allah (Exalted be He) in the following Ayah (Qur'anic verse):

﴿Invite (mankind, O Muhammad) to the Way of your Lord (i.e. Islām) with wisdom (i.e. with the Divine Revelation and the Qur'ān) and fair preaching, and argue with them in a way that is better.﴾

Allah (Exalted be He) also says: ﴿Say (O Muhammad): "This is my way; I invite unto Allāh (i.e. to the Oneness of Allāh - Islāmīc Monotheism) with sure knowledge, I and whosoever follows me (also must invite others to Allāh i.e. to the Oneness of Allāh - Islāmīc Monotheism with sure knowledge). And Glorified and Exalted be Allāh (above all that they associate as partners with Him). Q 2: What are the ways to strengthen one's Iman (faith/belief) in the face of the many temptations that confront us today (on televisions, in streets, from the western societies)?

Q 1: Is the religion one is born into the true one?

A: Every human is born in a state of Fitrah (divinely endowed natural disposition of monotheism/Islam). The Prophet (peace be upon him) said: \(Every newborn is born in a state of Fitrah. Its parents then make it a Jew, a Christian, or a Magian.\) (Agreed upon by Imams Al-Bukhari and Muslim from the Hadith of Abu Hurayrah, may Allah be pleased with him)

However, Fitrah alone is not enough to know the details of Tawhid (belief in the Oneness of Allah/monotheism) and how to worship Allah (Glorified and Exalted be He). It is incumbent to learn and try to become versed in religion; to follow and obey the Messenger of Allah (peace be upon him) who conveyed all details that the servants need about religion and `Ibadah (worship).

(Part No. 2; Page No. 35)

This is the way a Muslim can know the `Ibadah for which Allah created humanity. Allah (Glorified be He) says: \(And I \(Allâh\) created not the jinn and mankind except that they should worship Me \(Alone\).\)

Q: Could you please refute what has been said by a Muslim person that Muslims are those who submit their faces i.e. themselves to Allah. Such a saying aims at meaning that Christians and Jews may be Muslims.

A: The Glorious Ayah (Qur'anic verse) which is quoted in the question mentions the conditions of the accepted good deeds. Such conditions are:

1. Sincerity; which is meant by the word 'Aslama' (submits) in Allah's saying: \(Yes, but whoever submits his face \(himself\) to Allâh \(i.e. follows Allâh's Religion of Islâmic Monotheism\)\), thus 'Ibadah (worship) has to be offered only for Allah Alone without associating any partners with Him.
2. Following the Sunnah (whatever is reported from the Prophet, peace be upon him). Such a condition is explained in Allah's saying: \(and he is a Muhsin\) i.e. and a person follows the example of the Messenger of Allah (peace be upon him). Thus Allah has to be worshiped only according to His Shari`ah (Islamic law) which is conveyed to us through the Messenger of Allah (peace be upon him).

Accordingly, good deeds which are done by Jews and Christians are not accepted even if such Jews and Christians are sincere to Allah (Exalted be He). This is because deeds offered by them do not meet the second condition which is following the Sunnah of the seal of all Prophets and Messengers i.e. Muhammad (peace be upon him). It is a fact that the Shari`ah of Prophet Muhammad (peace be upon him) abrogated all other previous Shari`ahs (Divine laws) and Dins (religions). He (peace be upon him) was the last of all Prophets and Messengers and he was sent to all of mankind.

(Part No. 2; Page No. 37)

After the start of the prophethood of the Messenger Muhammad (peace be upon him), whoever does not worship Allah by believing in Him and in His Prophet Muhammad (peace be upon him) and by following Shari`ah is not a Muslim and is meant by Allah's saying: \(And We shall turn to whatever deeds they \(disbelievers, polytheists, sinners\) did, and We shall make such deeds as scattered floating particles of dust.\) and: \(But if they had joined in worship others with Allâh, all that they used to do would have been of no benefit to them.\) and: \(Say \(O Muhammad صلى الله عليه وسلم to mankind\): "If you \(really\) love Allâh then follow me \(i.e. accept Islâmic Monotheism, follow the Qur`ân and the Sunnah\), Allâh will love you and forgive you your sins. And Allâh is Oft-Forgiving, Most Merciful."\) The foregoing is the Tafsir (explanation) of the Glorious Ayah as stated by Mufasssirs (exegetes of the Qur'an). Such Tafsir is mentioned by Ibn Kathir in his book of Tafsir, Ibn Taymiyah in his book of (Al-Fatawa vol. 2 pp. 430, 431), (vol. 12 p. 469), and (vol. 28 pp. 174, 175) and in his book (Qa`idah Jalilah Fil-Tawassul Wal-Wasilah p. 41).

It thus becomes clear that such a saying that is mentioned in the question is false. It is an incorrect interpretation of the Qur'an and a distortion of its meaning.

May Allah grant us success! May peace and blessings be upon our Prophet Muhammad, his family and Companions!

The first question of Fatwa no. 10665

Q 1: What is meant by the phrase (Din 'religion' is easiness)?

A: All the beliefs and rulings that Allah ordains for His slaves and commands them to stick to do not entail any harm. Rather, they are all within the limits of peoples' ability. Allah (Exalted be He) says, \(So keep your duty to Allâh and fear Him as much as you can\) Moreover, it is authentically reported that the Prophet (peace be upon him) said, \(When I command you to do anything, do of it as much as you possibly can.\) A manifestation of the easiness of Din is that Allah gives us Rukhsahs (concessions) to avoid hardship such as not to observe Sawm (Fast) while on a travel or when a person is sick, to pray sitting down in cases of inability to stand up or lying down on one's side if the person is unable to sit down, etc.

The fifth question of Fatwa no. 10955

Q 5: One of the principles of Ahl-ul-Sunnah (adherents to the Sunnah) is not to declare whether a person from Ahl-ul-Qiblah (literally: People who face Ka`bah-direction in Prayer) will enter Paradise or Hell. They should merely hope that the righteous will be rewarded and fear that the guilty be punished. Who are Ahl-ul-Qiblah?

A: Ahl-ul-Qiblah are the Muslims.

The fourth question of Fatwa no. 17749

Q 4: I have read the Fatwa (legal opinion issued by a qualified Muslim scholar) no. 9234 in "Majallat Al-Buhuth Al-Islamiyyah (Magazine of Islamic Research)" issue no. 33 but I am uncertain whether I understood the answer correctly. However, according to my understanding, the author of the book in question used a sentence unsuitable to be used with Allah and was disrespectful to Allah (Glorified be He). Nevertheless, the intended meaning is correct. The only problematic thing is that I think the concerned author explained Tawhid (belief in the Oneness of Allah) as only referring to Al-Hakimiyyah (the true rule of Allah) which is an incomplete explanation, as this is not the first thing to which prophets and messengers called their people. Please clarify the Fatwa and explain it to us.

A: The explanation of Muhammad Qutb to Al-Hakimiyyah in the book that you referred to is incorrect. The correct explanation of the great word "La ilaha illa Allah" is that there is no true deity worthy of worship except Allah (Glorified and Exalted be He). Allah (Exalted be He) says:

﴿That is because Allāh - He is the Truth (the only True God of all that exists, Who has no partners or rivals with Him), and what they (the polytheists) invoke besides Him, it is Bâtîl (falsehood). And verily, Allāh - He is the Most High, the Most Great.﴾ This explanation was given by former and recent scholars. As for Al-Hakimiyyah, it represents one aspect of what "La ilaha illa Allah" means. May Allah increase your knowledge and insight!

The first and fourth questions of Fatwa no. 18870

Q 1: There is a current debate about the difference between `Aqidah (creed) and Manhaj (methodology) and people have started to say that so-and-so adopts the `Aqidah of Ahl-ul-Sunnah wal-Jama`ah (those adhering to the Sunnah and the Muslim main body) or the Salafiyyah (those following the way of the righteous predecessors) although their Manhaj is not that of Ahl-ul-Sunnah wal-Jama`ah. Similar words are said about some of the followers of Tabligh Group (a group calling to Islam), the Muslim Brotherhood, and some other groups. What differentiates between the Manhaj of Ahl-ul-Sunnah wal-Jama`ah and that of Salafiyyah? Is it correct to differentiate between `Aqidah and Manhaj?

A: There is no difference between `Aqidah and Manhaj. Both terms refer to what a person believes in their hearts, confesses with their tongues, and acts accordingly with their bodily members. They encompass believing in the Oneness of Allah's Lordship, Worship, His Names and Attributes, worshipping Him Alone, abiding by His Shari`ah (Islamic law) in words and deeds, and following the Qur'an and the Sunnah (whatever is reported from the Prophet) as adopted by the Salaf (righteous predecessors) and Imams (initiators of Schools of Jurisprudence). Accordingly, there is no difference between `Aqidah and Manhaj; they refer to the same thing which all Muslims must observe and hold fast to.

Q 4: Allah (Exalted be He) says, (Help you one another in Al-Birr and At-Taqwâ (virtue, righteousness and piety); but do not help one another in sin and transgression.) It is said that based on this Ayah (Qur'anic verse), Muslims have to cooperate with all the Islamic groups, even if they differ among themselves in the Manhaj (methodology) and way of Da`wah (calling to Islam). Tabligh (a group calling to Islam) for example adopts a method of Da`wah different from that adopted by the Muslim Brotherhood, Hizb Al-Tahrir, Al-Jihad Group and Salafiyyah (those following the way of the righteous predecessors). What is the criterion governing cooperation with all the Islamic groups? Can it be limited to attending conferences and seminars? What if non-Muslims are invited to enter Islam? This may be the cause of huge confusion to new converts, since each group will invite them to its centers to listen to its scholars and they may be confused. How can this problem be avoided?

A: It is your duty to cooperate with the group adopting the Manhaj of the Qur'an, Sunnah (whatever is reported from the Prophet) and the Salaf (righteous predecessors) in inviting people to unify Allah and worship Him Alone while warning them against Shirk (associating others with Allah in His Divinity or worship), Bid`ahs (innovations in religion) and sins. After that, you should advise the groups deviating from that Manhaj and if they return to the truth, you can cooperate with them, but if they insist on their disagreement, you should stay away from them and adhere to the Qur'an and Sunnah. Cooperating with the group sticking to the Book of Allah and Sunnah can be in every good, righteous and vitreous way. It can be by attending seminars, conferences, sermons and lectures, in addition to participating in anything that benefits Islam and Muslims.

Q 2: What is the ruling on having multiple Islamic groups? If I am convinced with the ideas of a certain group which is Al-Jama`ah Al-Islamiyyah, is it permissible to follow them despite my parents' opposition?

They have sworn never to be pleased with me if I insist on my stance. What can I do?

A: You have to follow the path of Ahl-ul-Sunnah wal-Jama`ah (those adhering to the Sunnah and the Muslim main body) to which the Prophet (peace be upon him) guided us when sects first started to appear. He (peace be upon him) said, (My nation will be split up into seventy-three sects, all of which will be in Hellfire except one.) It was said, "Who are they, O Messenger of Allah?" He (peace be upon him) said, "Those who adhere to what I and my Companions adhere to." Thus, you have to stick to the main body of Muslims following this path.

The third question of Fatwa no. 18870

Q 3: There are many points of disagreement among the Salafiyyah (those following the way of the righteous predecessors) and between them and other Islamic groups in the Manhaj (methodology) and bases upon which they build their Da`wah (calling to Islam). Is the disagreement among Salafiyyah groups less evil than that between them and other Islamic groups, since the former is in application and dealings while the latter is in Manhaj and scientific bases?

A: It is obligatory to avoid disagreement between Muslims in general and scholars in particular. If any conflict should occur, it will be necessary to refer it to the Qur'an and Sunnah (whatever is reported from the Prophet) to know the truth and adopt it, discarding anything negating it. Allah (Exalted be He) says, ﴿And in whatsoever you differ, the decision thereof is with Allâh \(He is the ruling Judge\).﴾ Allah also says, ﴿\(And\) if you differ in anything amongst yourselves, refer it to Allâh and His Messenger \(صلى الله عليه وسلم\), if you believe in Allâh and in the Last Day. That is better and more suitable for final determination.﴾ This ruling covers all differences between Muslims whether regarding `Aqidah (creed), sayings or deeds. Difference should be referred to the Qur'an and Sunnah for Muslims to follow the correct ruling and abandon the incorrect ones, while totally accepting and submitting to the judgment of Allah and His Messenger (peace be upon him).

The second question of Fatwa no. 17776

Q 2: I have read many Fatwas issued by you urging the knowledge seekers to join the group of Tabligh (a group calling to Islam). I joined this group and made use of the knowledge they provide. However, they observe some acts that are not mentioned in the Book of Allah or in the Sunnah. The following are some examples:

1. forming circles of two people or more inside the Masjid (Mosque) to study the last ten Surahs of the Qur'an and whenever they go out on a mission they have to perform this task mentioned above.
2. continuous performance of I`tikaf on Thursdays.
3. Determining certain days for setting out for Da`wah, three days of every month, forty days of every year, and four months during one's lifetime.
4. continuous collective supplication after each time of making Da`wah.

If I join this group, what should I do with these acts which are not mentioned in the Book of Allah or in the Sunnah? Furthermore, changing the group's method is impossible. Please, advise.

A: The acts of the group you mentioned count as Bid`ahs (innovations in religion). You are not allowed to join them unless they adhere to the teachings stated in the Book of Allah and in the Sunnah and stop observing Bid`ah in deeds, words and beliefs.

Fatwa no. 16896

Q: I am writing to Your Eminence about a practice which has raised great confusion in my mind. This practice is known as mushaharah and is prevalent among women. Mushaharah is one of many prevailing practices and customs in our society. Were I to list them all, you will find that we are only Muslims by name, and have only knowledge of some aspects of Islam. How does Mushaharah take place?

- 1. When a man returns from a journey or comes from the market, or elsewhere, and enters suddenly upon a woman breastfeeding her newborn, her milk will stop and she will not be able to breastfeed her baby unless she sees that man's nape.
- 2. If the same man sees a recently circumcised child, the child's wound will not heal unless a silver or gold ring is hung on a string and placed around the child's neck. If the child is a girl, she will not get pregnant in the future unless she sees another circumcised girl.

(Part No. 2; Page No. 47)

- 3. When a woman wants to wean her baby, she must do this at the end of the lunar month, not before that, otherwise the child will be thin and weak. Also, this should be done in secret.
- 4. If a woman has an abortion after which she does not give birth, it is said that she is Mushaharah. In order to become pregnant again, she must see another woman who recently had an abortion. The latter would not become pregnant again until the same process is repeated, and so on.
- 5. Some of the forms of Mushaharah in marriage are the following:
 - a) If the bride does not become pregnant, she must see the pen which was used by the judge in concluding her marriage.
 - b) It is desirable to conclude the marriage contract at the end of the month.
 - c) a string of seven knots called 'aqau' is hung until the new month starts for fear of Mushaharah.

I apologize for this long letter although there are many other similar practices and beliefs.

My question is: Do we find any of these practices in the Shari`ah (Islamic law)? If the answer is no, why do these practices continue in such an overt manner and take many different forms? I have failed to convince people that such practices are illusions that weaken our `Aqidah (creed) and Iman (belief) in Allah (Glorified and Exalted be He). Please enlighten us, and may Allah be merciful to you!

A: All these practices, which are known as "Mushaharah", are only illusions believed in by commoners. It is not permissible to take them into consideration because they are false beliefs and forbidden actions. Muslims should seek the help of Allah and place their trust in Him in all their affairs and needs. Allah says: ﴿And whosoever puts his trust in Allâh, then He will suffice him.﴾ Moreover, such practices must be rejected, stopped, and prevented. People should know how these practices oppose the `Aqidah and should be informed of the true `Aqidah. The Prophet (peace be upon him) said, ﴿"If Allah guides one person through you, it will be better for you than red \(expensive\) camels."﴾

Fatwa no. 18698

Q: I had a discussion with a member of an Islamic group called "Group of Muslims" and we disputed over two beliefs:

First: Suspension of judgment until doctrinal clarification is made. The group thus does not judge anyone as a believer or a disbeliever until they discuss him, even if he observes all the fundamental obligations and rites of Islam.

Second: They consider all the Masjids (mosques) worldwide except the three Masjids (Al-Masjid Al-Haram of Makkah, Al-Masjid Al-Aqsa of Jerusalem, and the Prophet's Mosque of Madinah) are harmful. They do not perform Salah in any Masjid other than those three.

Please, explain these two beliefs to identify the right from the wrong.

A: First: This trend is null and void, for the Muslims are originally upright and faithful unless otherwise proven. The Prophet (peace be upon him) condemned the act of Usamah ibn Zayd when the latter killed a disbeliever after declaring Shahadah (Testimony of Faith). Usamah thought that the man declared Shahadah out of fear of death. The Prophet said, \(Did you check inside his heart to find out whether he said it \(out of fear\) or not?\)

Second: all Muslims' Masjids worldwide are honored and valid for Salah. During the era of the Messenger (peace be upon him), the Rightly-Guided Caliphs, and the other succeeding eras, there was an abundance of Masjids. No one ever denied the validity of Salah therein. Allah (Exalted be He) says, \(And the mosques are for Allâh \(Alone\): so invoke not anyone along with Allâh.\) The Prophet (peace be upon him) said, \(Anyone who builds a masjid for the sake of Allah, Allah will build a house for him in Paradise.\) and \(Anyone who hears the call \(to prayer\) and does not come, then his prayer does not count, unless he has a \(valid\) excuse. Ibn `Abbas was asked: What is this excuse? He answered that it is an illness or fear.\) Moreover, Muslim narrated in his Sahih, \(A blind man came to the Prophet \(peace be upon him\) and said, "O Messenger of Allah! I have no one to guide me to the mosque." He, therefore, asked Allah's Messenger \(peace be upon him\) permission to offer prayer in his house. He \(the Prophet\) called him and said, "Do you hear the call to prayer?" He said, "Yes." He \(the Prophet then\) said, "Respond to it."\) There are many well-known Hadith indicating the obligation and virtue of performing Salah in Masjids.

As for the three Masjids, they are the best Masjids,

thus the reward of performing Salah in them is multiplied and so people travel to pray therein.

Claiming that Salah in any Masjid other than the three Masjids is null and void is wrong and goes against the Qur'an, Sunnah and Ijma` (consensus).

May Allah grant us success! May peace and blessings of Allah be upon our Prophet Muhammad, his family and Companions!

Fatwa no. 17336

Q: Thanks to Allah, some Japanese women accepted Islam. They began to struggle with the atheist Japanese society that prefers disbelief and distorted Christianity to Islam. Indeed, there are no obligations in the distorted Christianity, so a person may drink Khamr (intoxicant), eat pork, have girl friends, and at the same time be a Christian who believes in the Father, the Son, and the Holy Spirit. On the other hand, a new Muslim has to stand out and become different from non-Muslims and keeps away from their society and gatherings when it comes to `Aqidah (creed); so they become subject to be ostracized and regarded as insane.

(Part No. 2; Page No. 52)

Non-Muslims may even isolate new Muslim converts and deny them work. They cannot accept them as fellow Japanese while seeing them do what they deem as awful offense i.e. becoming Muslims, abandoning non-Muslim parties, Khamr, pork, and praying to Allah, the God that such non-Muslim people deny as the true Lord?

The problems the girls face are even worse, as they are weaker and usually depend on work to support themselves or on their non-Muslim families to support them.

Among the various problems the Muslim women face is the observation of the religious obligations e.g. wearing the Hijab (veil). Many times, a woman is prevented from wearing Hijab and offering Salah (Prayer) at her workplace. as she cannot pray on time, she makes up for the missed prayers together lest she should be fired from work; her only source to earn her living, as she lives apart from her non-Muslim family.

Another problem a Muslim young woman may face is her inability to fast Ramadan when she hides her Islam from her family, especially her strict Christian mother. This mother prefers that her daughter becomes a disbeliever to becoming a Muslim. This girl studies at the university and her family supports her.

She lives, eats, and drinks with them in the same house. This might lead her to committing many prohibitions. She cannot fast Ramadan, as this will be strange to her family. If they know of her conversion, they might harm and prevent her from continuing her education which will be her only way to earn her living in the future. A third problem a new Japanese Muslim may face is when his wife and children remain non-Muslims and he does not know what to do about them. We would like to ask your Eminence the following questions:

1. What should a Muslim woman do in such circumstances in Japan?
2. What should this Muslim man do with his non-Muslim wife and children? Is his disbelieving wife still lawful to him?
3. Is Salah (Prayer) offered by a woman outside her house and in public places while sitting behind a screen to cover her `Awrah (private parts of the body that must be covered in public) valid? May Allah reward you with the best!

A: Firstly, anyone who reverts to Islam and conceals it lest they should be harmed need to indirectly show the merits of Islam to people they fear from without making their reversion known. They should invoke Allah (Exalted be He) to guide them, perhaps Allah will guide them to accept Islam. This would ward off their evil. If they are not guided and are expected to harm the person, or the country does not allow the practicing of the Islamic rites, then this person should migrate to muslim lands, if possible. Allah (Exalted be He) says, \(He who emigrates \(from his home\) in the Cause of Allâh, will find on earth many dwelling places and plenty to live by.\) i.e. they should find another place away from the place they detest, a way out from deviation to guidance, from distress to relief, and from poverty to welfare.

A weak person who can not migrate is excused as they are prevented from immigration or due to being a woman. Allah (Exalted be He) says, \(Verily! As for those whom the angels take \(in death\) while they are wronging themselves \(as they stayed among the disbelievers even though emigration was obligatory for them\), they \(angels\) say \(to them\): "In what \(condition\) were you?" They reply: "We were weak and oppressed on the earth." They \(angels\) say: "Was not the earth of Allâh spacious enough for you to emigrate therein?" Such men will find their abode in Hell - What an evil destination!\) \(Except the weak ones among men, women and children who cannot devise a plan, nor are they able to direct their way.\) \(These are they whom Allâh is likely to forgive them, and Allâh is Ever Oft-Pardoning, Oft-Forgiving.\)

(Part No. 2; Page No. 55)

These Ayahs (Qur'anic verses) mean that the weak people are not able to develop plans, spend, and direct their way if they migrate.

Secondly, a weak woman should be in contact with the Islamic centers in her country, as they might help her. Otherwise, she should be patient and wait for a way out. She should invoke Him (Exalted be He) to facilitate her affairs. She will be rewarded In sha'a-Allah (if Allah wills). She should abide by the teachings, rulings, and obligatory acts of Islam as much as she can for Allah (Glorified be He) says, \(So keep your duty to Allâh and fear Him as much as you can\) The Prophet (peace be upon him) said, \(If I order you to do something, do as much of it as you can.\) (Al-Bukhari and Muslim agreed upon its authenticity.)

Thirdly, when a man converts to Islam but his wife remains in disbelief, it is permissible for him to keep her, if she is from the People of the Book (a Christian or a Jew), since the basic ruling is that it is permissible for a Muslim to marry chaste women of the People of the Book. Allah (Exalted be He) says, [\(Made lawful to you this day are At-Tayyibât \[all kinds of Halâl \(lawful\) foods, which Allâh has made lawful \(meat of slaughtered eatable animals, milk products, fats, vegetables and fruits\)\]. The food \(slaughtered cattle, eatable animals\) of the people of the Scripture \(Jews and Christians\) is lawful to you and yours is lawful to them. \(Lawful to you in marriage\) are chaste women from the believers and chaste women from those who were given the Scripture \(Jews and Christians\) before your time\)](#)

However, it is not permissible for him to stay with her if she is not from the people of the Book. Allah says, \(Likewise hold not the disbelieving women as wives\)

On the other hand, if a woman converts to Islam while her husband remains a disbeliever, she becomes unlawful to him for Allah says, ﴿O you who believe! When believing women come to you as emigrants, examine them; Allâh knows best as to their Faith, then if you ascertain that they are true believers send them not back to the disbelievers. They are not lawful \(wives\) for the disbelievers nor are the disbelievers lawful \(husbands\) for them.﴾

If she is forced to stay with him, she should be patient until she finds a way out and there is no harm on her as the early Muslim women did. Zaynab (may Allah be pleased with her) the daughter of the Messenger of Allah (peace be upon him) stayed with her husband Abu Al-`As ibn Al-Rabi`, after she converted to Islam, before he converted to Islam. The Prophet (peace be upon him) did not separate them. When she followed the Prophet (peace be upon him) to Madinah, their marriage was annulled. However, the Prophet (peace be upon him) gave her back to him after he became a Muslim.

Fourthly, as for the children, they should follow the best religion of their parents. If one of the parents embraces Islam, all the minor children will be Muslims, as children follow the best religion of their parents.

Fifthly, a woman should cover before any Ajnaby (man lawful for the woman to marry). She should stay away from anything that shows her adornment, stay at her house, and she should not leave it except out of necessity and in such a case she should dress modestly. If the time of Salah is due while she is out of her house, she has to offer it in a place away from men. The excuse mentioned in the question does not exempt her from standing while offering Salah, because standing is a pillar of Salah for anyone who is able to.

Following Sufism

(Part No. 2; Page No. 60)

Fatwa no. 12143

Q1: a shaykh of one of the Sufi orders claims that he has a light through which he knows unseen matters such as future news and circumstances. He trusts this light very much and says that it has nothing to do with the devil nor Jibril (Gabriel) (peace be upon him). He calls any decision he makes in his life as an order. Before he makes a decision, he says: 'If the order comes, I will do such and such and if it does not come, I will not do such and such.' He means the order of Allah (Exalted be He) and makes his life decisions based upon such orders. Moreover, whoever does not accept this order nor believes it, is considered by the shaykh as a hypocrite and a renegade and the shaykh drives him out of his sessions.

A: No one but Allah (Glorified and Exalted be He) knows unseen matters; Allah says: ﴿Say: "None in the heavens and the earth knows the Ghaib (Unseen) except Allāh"﴾ This person's calling knowledge of the unseen as a light is a way for him to deceive simple-minded people to accept his falsehood. His accusation of hypocrisy to those who do not believe his claims cannot be accepted. In fact it is he who should be accused of telling lies as claims to have knowledge of unseen matters. We have issued Fatwa no. 189 on the ruling on the persons who claim knowledge of the unseen.

(Part No. 2; Page No. 61)

The Fatwa reads as follows: The basic ruling as regards unseen matters is that Allah Alone knows them. Allah (Exalted be He) says: ﴿And with Him are the keys of the Ghaib (all that is hidden), none knows them but He. And He knows whatever there is in the land and in the sea; not a leaf falls, but he knows it. There is not a grain in the darkness of the earth nor anything fresh or dry, but is written in a Clear Record.﴾ Also, Allah (Exalted be He) says: ﴿Say: "None in the heavens and the earth knows the Ghaib (Unseen) except Allāh, nor can they perceive when they shall be resurrected."﴾ But Allah (Exalted be He) may make whomever He chooses, know some unseen matters as Allah (Exalted be He) says: ﴿("He Alone is) the All-Knower of the Ghaib (Unseen), and He reveals to none His Ghaib (Unseen).﴾ (Except to a Messenger (from mankind) whom He has chosen (He informs him of unseen as much as He likes), and then He makes a band of watching guards (angels) to march before him and behind him.﴾ He (Exalted be He) says: ﴿Say (O Muhammad صلى الله عليه وسلم): "I am not a new thing among the Messengers (of Allāh i.e. I am not the first Messenger) nor do I know what will be done with me or with you. I only follow that which is revealed to me, and I am but a plain warner." Besides it is authentically reported in a long Hadith (From the narration of Um Al-'Ala' who, when 'Uthman ibn Mazh'wn died, said: 'May Allah be merciful to you,

O Abu As-Sa'ib! I testify that Allah has honored you'. The Prophet (peace be upon him) said, 'How do you know that Allah has honored him?' I replied, 'O Allah's Messenger! Let my father be sacrificed for you! On whom else shall Allah bestow His honor?' The Prophet (peace be upon him) said, 'No doubt, death came to him. By Allah, I too wish him good, but by Allah, I do not know what Allah will do with me though I am Allah's Messenger. ' By Allah, I never attested the piety of anyone after that."

Related by Ahmad and mentioned by Al-Bukhari in (Book of Funerals) in (his Sahih book, i.e. Sahih Al-Bukhari). In one of his narrations to this Hadith: (I do not know what Allah will do with me though I am Allah's Messenger) It is authentically reported in many Hadiths that the Prophet (peace be upon him) knew from Allah (Exalted be He) the names of some Companions who will enter Paradise and hence, gave them glad tidings of entering Paradise and also in the Hadith reported by 'Umar ibn Al-Khattab (may Allah be pleased with him) in the narrations of Al-Bukhari and Muslim: (Jibril asked the Prophet (peace be upon him) about the Hour and he (peace be upon him) replied: The one who is asked about it is no better informed than the inquirer.) He (peace be upon him) added nothing but described its signs and this indicates that he did not know the unseen matters except what Allah (Exalted be He) enabled him to know and only when there is a need for this.

Q2: Sometimes a shaykh stops talking in the middle of a Khutbah (sermon) claiming that he is prevented or ordered to stop at that point, and calling this as al-'istikharah al-nuraniyyah (Pursuit of Divine Counsel).

A: The mentioned person's silence during the Khutbah (sermon) and saying that he is prevented from or ordered to do something implies that he claims receiving inspiration and Prophethood, even if he did not say so directly. There is no doubt that claiming Prophethood after Muhammad (peace be upon him) is a lie, falsehood and Kufr (disbelief); because Allah (Exalted be He) concluded Prophethood with the Message of Muhammad (peace be upon him). Allah (Exalted be He) says: ﴿Muhammad \(صلى الله عليه وسلم\) is not the father of any of your men, but he is the Messenger of Allâh and the last \(end\) of the Prophets. And Allâh is Ever All-Aware of everything.﴾ It is authentically reported that the Prophet (peace be upon him) said: ﴿I am the `Aqib \(the last to come\) after whom there will be no prophet.﴾

Q: Our Shaykh often swears and says that according to his research, the Hadith about the Prophet (peace be upon him), \("Allah has forgiven all your sins, the past and future ones"\) is definitely not a Hadith. He adds that this Hadith had been altered and changed, and that it is an interpolation of the Jews, despite its existence in the Sahih (authentic) books of Hadith, such as Al-Bukhari and others.

A: In the Noble Qur'an, Allah mentions that he has forgiven for his Prophet (peace be upon him) his past and future sins. Allah (Exalted be He) says: ﴿ Verily, We have given you \(O Muhammad ﷺ\) a manifest victory. ﴾ ﴿That Allâh may forgive you your sins of the past and the future, and complete His Favour on you, and guide you on the Straight Path,﴾

It was proven that \("The Prophet \(peace be upon him\) used to offer Prayer at night \(for such a long time\) that his feet used to crack. `Aishah said, 'O Messenger of Allah! Why do you do this since Allah has forgiven for you your past and future sins?' He said, 'Should I not love to be a thankful servant \(of Allah\)?'") This is an honor to the Messenger of Allah (peace be upon him), and it clarifies his status, for he is the best human being and the master of those who have come before and after him. Therefore, if anyone denies this after the proof has been established for them, they will be Kafirs (disbelievers) for denying a definite issue and disobeying the Noble Qur'an and the purified Sunnah (whatever is reported from the Prophet).

Q 4, 5: The Shaykh ordered that the glad tidings, ascribed to Hajy Ibrahim, should be inscribed on the council room. According to the glad tidings, the Prophet (peace be upon him) came to Hajy and said: "No one of the followers of this Shaykh will lose in the world or the hereafter except those who are insincere to him." Nevertheless, the successor denied this good omen and said: "The Prophet (peace be upon him) did not come to me. I did not see him and he (peace be upon him) did not inform me of such things." The Shaykh got very angry at this denial and said: "According to my verification, the Satan party (whose name is Ahl Al-Dably) dominates this successor i.e. Hajy Ibrahim and spoiled his memory. Consequently, Hajy now is denying the good omen and his seeing of the Prophet (peace be upon him)". The Shaykh then announced from his Minbar (pulpit) that he did not give any order of writing the good omen except after he had first verified its authenticity one hundred times via radiant water and luminous investigation. When he was sure that the concerned good omen was true and that all its words were correct, the Shaykh ordered that it should be written. At several times, the Shaykh pointed to the good omen written on the wall to the right of his assembly room, repeated its words, and concluded by saying: "or the Prophet (peace be upon him) said like that".

The successor Hajy Ibrahim said: "Regarding all several times when I told - on Minbar - that I saw the Prophet (peace be upon him), I did so only because I was commanded and forced by the Shaykh to do. All these narrations are not true. They all have no real origin." It is worth mentioning that according to one of the concerned narrations, Jibril (Gabriel, peace be upon him) brought to the Shaykh's assembly a golden crown of three levels. Then, the Prophet (peace be upon him) - who joined the same session - put such a crown on the Shaykh's head. Another narration tells that Ayat-ul-Kursy (the Qur'anic Verse of Allah's Chair, Surah Al-Baqarah, 2:255) descended from the heavens and entered the Shaykh's heart. What is your opinion on this?

A 4, 5: First: Claiming that the Prophet (peace be upon him) came to the successor in question, told him about the good omen, put the crown on the Shaykh's head, and that Ayat-ul-Kursy descended and entered the Shaykh's heart is nothing but explicit falsehood. It is worth mentioning that the Prophet (peace be upon him) warned Muslims against ascribing untrue sayings to him. He (peace be upon him) said: \(If a person falsely ascribes to me something while they intend to do so, then \(surely\) they will occupy their seats in hellfire.\)

Second: The conflict between the sayings of the Shaykh and those of his successor regarding the concerned good omen signifies that the Shaykh is a liar. He deceives naive people to win over their attention and devour their money unjustly.

Q 6, 7: Firstly, Once our Shaykh said in one of his talks that the Prophet (peace be upon him) comes frequently to his house and the houses of his son and daughters and kisses his forehead. Moreover, he once adorned him with a golden necklace and another time the Prophet (peace be upon him) adorned the Caliph with one.

Secondly, The Shaykh declared in a public session that the Prophet (peace be upon him), as well as all prophets, were present in that session to show the sanctity of his lesson and his status before the people so that they may be affected by him.

A: The Prophet (peace be upon him) died in Madinah and was buried in the chamber of `Aishah (may Allah be pleased with her). He will not leave his grave except on the Day of Resurrection.

(Part No. 2; Page No. 67)

Allah (Exalted be He) says: ﴿Verily you (O Muhammad صلى الله عليه وسلم) will die, and verily they (too) will die.﴾ (Then, on the Day of Resurrection, you will be disputing before your Lord.) Allah also says: ﴿And indeed We created man (Adam) out of an extract of clay (water and earth).﴾ up till... ﴿After that, surely, you will die.﴾ (Then (again), surely, you will be resurrected on the Day of Resurrection.) Similarly, all prophets died except `Eisa ibn Maryam (peace be upon him), who was taken up into the heavens. so the claim of the shaykh that the Prophet (peace be upon him) or any other prophet attend his sessions or visit his house or the houses of his son or daughters is a mere lie and falsehood. It is a trick he uses to deceive the ignorant, spread his fallacies, and achieve his goals.

Q 8 and 10: First: A Sufi successor says that he has not seen visitations by his eyes but whenever he tells his Sufi shaykh that he has not seen anything, the latter says, 'How dare you deny visitations which I confirmed and what I saw in the Al-Isrikhara Al-Nuraniyyah (Divine Vision) about all that you have seen? He insists on this and forces me to admit this to people in his presence.

But in his absence, I deny having any visitations; because I fear Allah, the Lord of the Worlds. I also have not experienced anything called Shawk (a Sufi term meaning longing) or Rida (a Sufi term meaning pleasure)

Second: Many years ago, one of this shaykh's followers saw many visions that came true and saw the Prophet (peace be upon him) in visions. He used to talk about these visions in the presence of the shaykh then the shaykh confirmed them. But after a short period, when this man denied seeing such visions and visitations, the shaykh said about him, 'I now confirm that this man has become a hypocrite and a renegade. He added, on the pulpit, that he died of liver cancer while this man is still alive and has children. Such are the confirmations of the shaykh and the so-called Istikhara Nuraniyyah (Divine vision), physiognomy, and visitations which are mere lies, contradictions and fabrications.

A 8 and 10: the shaykh's obliging his deputy to tell people he has seen visitations which in effect he has not seen is mere falsehood, fabrication and deceit of simple-minded people to call them to follow his false beliefs. Likewise his telling lies about one of his followers and claiming that he died of cancer or so for denying seeing any such visitations. All this is a mere lie to deceive people.

Q 11: Some followers of a certain Tariqah (Sufi order) kiss the hands and feet of their shaykh and put their foreheads against the shaykh's hands and feet until they are in a posture similar to prostration. At other times, when the shaykh is standing, they fall on the ground to kiss his feet while prostrating. Later they are granted the Ijazah (authorization) to be given the pledge of allegiance and to succeed him. The shaykh says they have humiliated themselves in front of everyone by falling down to kiss his feet and that is why the orders came that they should be granted his succession. Any person who is known to kiss the shaykh's hands and feet much is said to have light in their heart at the time of receiving the pledge of allegiance, even if this person apparently disobeys the orders of Allah in their daily life.

A: What is mentioned regarding kissing the shaykh's hands and feet and falling down to kiss his feet while he is standing in addition to putting their foreheads against his hands falls under exceeding the proper limits in honoring a creature. This was not done with the Prophet (peace be upon him) or with the Rightly-Guided Caliphs. Moreover, these practices may be a means leading to major Shirk (associating others with Allah in His Divinity or worship). Prostrating before anyone apart from Allah is even a form of major Shirk.

Q 12, 13 and 14: Firstly: A shaykh of a certain Tariqah (Sufi order) dismisses some of his followers from his assembly, claiming that they are hypocrites and humiliates them so much. Once the shaykh related that the so-called grand jurist (whose name was not mentioned) wrote informing him that the followers that the shaykh dismissed from his assembly will die with no faith in their hearts. Despite all that, the shaykh accused the grand jurist of being a sorcerer and sent a group to fight him in his rulership headquarter. Moreover, the shaykh said that the grand jurist had a black heart, attributing this saying to the Prophet (peace be upon him). But now, he denies ever saying that.

Secondly: The shaykh used to tell his successor that the latter acquired the "Ghawthiyyah", "Fard" and "Qutb" ranks of merit and was accepted by Allah. Later, the shaykh told the same man [his successor] that he was an outcast hypocrite with a black heart because he disagreed with him and disapproved of his false call.

Thirdly: The shaykh threatens many of his followers that he will seize their gains, rewards, jobs, wealth and the light of their hearts. He reminds them that anyone who abandons him will die a terrible death; therefore all the followers fear this threat.

As followers of this shaykh, we hope our honorable scholars can clarify to us in the light of Shari`ah (Islamic law) the reality of these claims that conflict with the Qur'an and Sunnah (whatever is reported from the Prophet). We wish to follow the True Path. Allah Alone guides to every type of goodness.

A: Firstly: the shaykh's decision of dismissing some of his followers for being hypocrites; his allegation that the grand jurist turned into a sorcerer and that his successor became an outcast hypocrite with a black heart are all baseless claims and conjectures resulted from personal desires on the basis of which he favors or dismisses whoever he wishes.

Secondly: the shaykh saying that his successor has reached the "Ghawthiyyah" and "Fard" ranks of merit is a Bid`ah (innovation in religion) and he is exceeding the proper limits in honoring his successor and this may lead to major Shirk (associating others with Allah in His Divinity or worship). When common people are told that a certain person can offer "Ghawth (help)" at difficult times, they believe in that, start asking him for help, and give him offerings and vows and many other things. This is exactly the definition of major Shirk which takes a person outside the fold of Islam. Allah is the Only One Whose Help is sought for curing an illness, removing poverty and asking for sustenance and offspring.

Thirdly: when the shaykh threatens his followers of seizing their gains, rewards, jobs, wealth and the light of their hearts, these are lies, Kufr (disbelief) and falsehood. The Only Disposer and Creator is Allah (Glorified and Exalted be He). Allah says, ﴿To Allāh belongs the dominion of the heavens and the earth﴾ He also says, ﴿Surely, His is the Creation and Commandment.﴾ All the creations are subject to the Dominion and Power of Allah to dispose of, possess, give life or take it. As for humans, they do not have the power to bring about harm or benefit to anyone. Allah (Exalted be He) says, ﴿And if Allâh touches you with harm, there is none who can remove it but He, and if He intends any good for you, there is none who can repel His Favour which He causes it to reach whomsoever of His slaves He wills. And He is the Oft-Forgiving, the Most Merciful.﴾ This shaykh is a lying and deceiving imposter. May Allah guide us all and grant us success and firmness on the Right Path! We seek Allah's Refuge from misleading trials, for He is the Best One to be asked! May Allah grant us success! May peace and blessings be upon our Prophet Muhammad, his family and Companions!

Q: What is the ruling on some people who say: "O Allah, I worship You out of my love for You. If I worship You fearing Your Hell, let me enter it and if I worship You seeking to enter Your Paradise, let me enter Your Hell"?

A: Worshiping Allah just by loving Him is the Manhaj (methodology) of misguided Sufis, which is of their own invention.

Loving Allah is the highest degree of `Ibadah (worship), but not the sole act of `Ibadah. The Manhaj of Ahl-ul-Sunnah wal-Jama`ah (adherents to the Sunnah and the Muslim mainstream) is to worship Allah through love, fear, hope and other expressive forms of `Ibadah. Allah (Exalted be He) says: (Invoke your Lord with humility and in secret.) Allah says about His Prophets: (Verily, they used to hasten on to do good deeds, and they used to call on Us with hope and fear, and used to humble themselves before Us.) Allah also says about the angels: (And they stand in awe for fear of Him.) And: (They fear their Lord above them, and they do what they are commanded.) There are many Ayahs (Qur'anic verses) elaborating on this meaning.

May Allah grant us success. May peace and blessings be upon our Prophet Muhammad, his family and Companions.

The second question of Fatwa no. 16098

Q 2: What is the ruling of Islam on the pledge that we make to the shaykh of a Tariqah (Sufi order)? Will we be considered disobeying the Qur'an and the Sunnah (whatever is reported from the Prophet) if we break it?

A: It is not permissible to make a pledge of allegiance to anyone except to a Muslim ruler. It is not permissible to make it to the shaykh of a Sufi order or any other person, for this has not been authentically reported from the Prophet (peace be upon him). Every Muslim should worship Allah according to the way He prescribed without committing oneself to a certain person, for this is the attitude of Christians toward their priests and bishops, a thing that does not exist in Islam.

May Allah grant us success. May peace and blessings be upon our Prophet Muhammad, his family and Companions.

Fatwa no. 16011

Q: A group of women in Kuwait propagate sufism according to Naqshabandiyyah order formerly headed by Ahmad Kaftaru the former Mufti (Islamic scholar qualified to issue legal opinions) of Syria. They do their activities under the umbrella of an official feminist society through which they propagate their mission in secret and preach what they do not practice. We reviewed some of their writings and books, and some of them admitted that they have already joined this movement. Their principles include:

A person who has no shaykh, Satan will be his own shaykh; whoever does not benefit from the etiquettes taught by a religious trainer, neither Qur'an nor Sunnah will benefit him. Whoever says 'why' to his shaykh will never succeed. Members of this group practice the sufi formulae of remembrance recalling the image of their female shaykh called Al-Anisah and kissing her hand. She is from Syria and her disciples seek blessings through drinking the leftover of the water she drinks. Their references include books of magic such as "Al-Lu'lu' wal Marjan fi Taskhir Al-Jan," and they found their own schools to formulate minds of the children according to their order, taking the advantage of the education system to diffuse their mission among female students affiliated to government schools in the pre-secondary and secondary stages. Some of these women left their husbands and requested divorce by courts when their husbands ordered them to give up that deviant way.

My question is:

1. What is the ruling of Islam on the creed of those women who insist on following that Sufi order?
2. Is it permissible for a Muslim to marry them?
3. What is the ruling on the marriage contract which is still in effect now?
4. May you advise and warn them against this order?

May Allah reward you with the best!

A: Sufi orders, including Naqshabandiyyah, are entirely innovated orders that are against the Qur'an and Sunnah. The Prophet (peace be upon him) said, [\(Avoid newly invented matters \[in religion\], for every newly invented matter is Bid`ah \(innovation in religion\), and every Bid`ah is \(leads to\) going astray.\)](#) Not only are Sufi orders Bid`ah (innovation in religion) which is itself falsehood and error, but they also involve many acts of major Shirk (associating others in worship with Allah) such as exaggerating the status of the Sufi shaykhs, seeking relief from them apart from Allah, believing that they have authority in this universe and unquestionable acceptance of their orders without checking whether or not they conform to the Qur'an and Sunnah. The polytheistic acts also include what is mentioned in the question above that whoever does not have a particular shaykh to follow, Satan will be his own shaykh; whoever does not benefit from the etiquettes taught by a religious trainer, neither Qur'an nor Sunnah will benefit him; whoever argues with his shaykh will never succeed. All these principles contradict the Qur'an and Sunnah, because it is only Allah's Messenger whose orders are absolutely and unquestionably accepted. Allah (Exalted be He) says, ﴿And whatsoever the Messenger (Muhammad صلى الله عليه وسلم) gives you, take it; and whatsoever he forbids you, abstain (from it).﴾ He (Exalted be He) also says, ﴿Nor does he speak of (his own) desire.﴾ ﴿It is only a Revelation revealed.﴾

The order of any person, regardless of his great knowledge, cannot be carried out unless it complies with the Qur'an and Sunnah. Whoever claims that a particular person other than the Messenger of Allah (peace be upon him) is given full submission has turned out of the fold of Islam. Allah (Exalted be He) says, ﴿They (Jews and Christians) took their rabbis and their monks to be their lords besides Allâh (by obeying them in things which they made lawful or unlawful according to their own desires without being ordered by Allâh), and (they also took as their Lord) Messiah, son of Maryam (Mary), while they (Jews and Christians) were commanded [in the Taurât (Torah) and the Injeel (Gospel)] to worship none but One Ilâh (God - Allâh) Lâ ilâha illa Huwa (none has the right to be worshipped but He). Praise and glory be to Him (far above is He) from having the partners they associate (with Him).﴾ Scholars said that the Ayah (Qur'anic verse) means that they (Jews and Christians) took their rabbis to be their lords besides Allâh by obeying them in prohibiting lawful things and permitting unlawful things as stated in the Hadith of `Ady ibn Hatim which was related by Al-Tabarany, Ibn Jarir and Al-Tirmidhy. `Ady said: ﴿I came to the Prophet (peace be upon him) wearing a cross of gold in my neck. He said, "O `Ady! Take this idol (cross) off your neck." I did so and came to him while he was reciting Surah (Qur'anic chapter) Al-Tawbah in the Ayah which reads: ﴿They (Jews and Christians) took their rabbis and their monks to be their lords besides Allâh (by obeying them in things which they made lawful or unlawful according to their own desires without being ordered by Allâh)﴾ When he finished it, I told him that we had not worshipped them. The Prophet (peace be upon him) expounded: "Did they not prohibit what Allah made lawful and make lawful what Allah prohibited and you followed in their footsteps?" `Ady answered in the affirmative, so that the Prophet (peace be upon him) said, "This is how they worshipped them.﴾

A Muslim must avoid Sufism and its adherents and prevent them from assuming posts in teaching and education. They should not join feminist societies or whatsoever, so that they will not corrupt people's sound beliefs. A man must prevent the girls in his charge from joining such Sufi societies and schools in which Sufis teach in order to guard their creed, keep unity of the family and avoid turning wives against their husbands. Anyone who adopts Sufism leaves the way of Ahl-ul-Sunnah wal-Jama`ah (those adhering to the Sunnah and the Muslim main body), whereas if he believes that the Sufi shaykhs are Allah's equals in bringing blessing, benefit or harm regarding matters that Only Allah can do, such as curing diseases, providing sustenance and alleviating harm, or that he believes they should be given full obedience to their orders even if they contradict the Qur'an and Sunnah - a person holding these beliefs commits major Shirk that turns him out of Islam. Such a deviated woman may not be taken as a supporting companion and is not permissible to marry. Allah (Exalted be He) says, ﴿And do not marry Al-Mushrikât (idolatresses, etc.) till they believe (worship Allâh Alone).﴾

until His saying, ﴿And give not (your daughters) in marriage to Al-Mushrikûn till they believe (in Allâh Alone)﴾ a Muslim man should not marry a woman inclined to Sufism without actually adopting the beliefs mentioned above from the very beginning or keep her as a wife unless she responds positively to advice and repents to Allah. Here, we advise such women to repent to Allah, turn back to the truth, give up this false doctrine, avoid those calling to evil and adhere to the way of Ahl-ul-Sunnah wal-Jama`ah. We recommend that they read useful books that explain the sound `Aqidah (creed) and listen to lessons, lectures and useful programs prepared by upright scholars who adopt the sound methodology. Finally, they should obey their husbands and guardians in what is good.

The third question of Fatwa no. 10701

Q 3: Some Sufis claim that there are men who are called "Ahl-ul-Khutwah" (literally: People of Transcendent Step), what is the meaning of this term and to what extent is it correct according to Shari`ah (Islamic law)? They argue that the following Hadith supports their belief: "O My Servant, obey me and you will be a godly servant."

A: The term "Ahl-ul-Khutwah" refers to those who can cover long distances in a short time defying human nature and the Universal Laws of Allah. Their allegation is not true because there is no proof of this and the evidence they raise is baseless

Q 3: I was under age when I went to one of the shaykhs of the Sufi sects. I said to him: I want to join the sect of Shaykh `Abdul-Qadir Al-Jialy. He said: Take the pledge. I took the pledge from him by placing my hand in his and he said to me: Repeat the words of the pledge after me. In the name of Allah Most Gracious Most Merciful. O Allah, send Your peace and blessings upon our master Muhammad, his family and Companions. I made up my mind to join the sect of Shaykh `Abdul-Qadir Al-Jialy. I dedicated myself for this Shaykh, and I would mention his name.

(Part No. 2; Page No. 81)

First, is my pledge correct, taking into consideration that I repented to Allah (Exalted be He)?

Second, will it be effective until death? Could you kindly advise.

May Allah reward you.

A: This kind of pledge is not valid. You have done well by repenting to Allah (Exalted be He). You have to hold firm with the Book of Allah (Exalted be He) and the Sunnah of the Prophet (peace be upon him) by `Aqidah (creed) and by saying, without taking the pledge to follow a leader of these sects. Dedicate yourself to Allah (Exalted be He) instead of dedicating it to a Shaykh in order to follow Allah's Shari`ah (Islamic law). You are not committed to this pledge because it is a Bid`ah (innovation in religion) that must be avoided because of the Prophet's saying: \(He who does any act against our Shari`ah, it will be rejected.\) (Related by Imam Muslim in his Sahih). This pledge is not in conformity with the instructions of the Prophet (peace be upon him) by this Hadith, so it is rejected.

The seventh question of Fatwa no. 7316

Q 7: Once the Sahabah (the Prophet's Companions) used the sputum of the Prophet to rub their faces in his presence. What is the ruling on this? What were his instructions concerning their behavior? Can these instructions be taken as prohibitive caution against this act? Nowadays, shaykhs want their followers to seek blessings from the water they use for their wudu' and the like. Thus, their followers do that in the presence of their shaykhs with no objection.

A: As for the accounts that whenever the Prophet (peace be upon him) spat, his spittle was received by the hands of Sahabah who would rub their skin therewith and that they sought blessings from the water he used in Wudu' and the other relics etc., this merit is confined to the Prophet. So, the Sahabah, who were aware of the objectives of Shari'ah and adopted the example of the Prophet in a matchless manner did not do this with any other figure but the Prophet (peace be upon him). Had it been permissible to do so with shaykhs and noble men, they would have hastened to copy this act. Hence, this incident and its like can not stand as proof of the permissibility of seeking blessing from the saliva and water the sufi shaykhs and others use for Wudu'. Accordingly, what the followers do with their shaykhs is an act of Bid'ah (innovation in religion). It is authentically reported that the Prophet (peace be upon him) said, \(Anyone who innovates something in this matter of ours \(i.e. Islam\) that is not part of it, will have it rejected.\) (Agreed upon by Imams Al-Bukhari and Muslim.)

Q: What is the ruling on giving the title of Qutb (Sufi title denoting a "Perfect Master") or Ghawth (Source of Succor) to some Awliya' (pious people)? Is this permissible?

A: The two titles Qutb and Ghawth do not have any basis in Allah's Purified Shar' (Law). These terms are invented by some extremist Sufis. Accordingly, giving these titles to some Awliya' (pious people) is not permissible. Some misguided people understand such terms to mean that such a Qutb or Ghawth can run the affairs of the universe and fulfill people's needs. This is Kufr (disbelief) that contradicts Tawhid (belief in the Oneness of Allah/ monotheism) because Allah (Glorified and Exalted be He) revealed the Scriptures, and sent the Messengers to worship Him Alone without partners or associates. He (Exalted be He) commanded all creatures to resort and supplicate to Him Alone to bestow upon them all good and ward off harm. Allah (Exalted be He) says: ﴿Is not He \(better than your gods\) Who responds to the distressed one, when he calls on Him, and Who removes the evil, and makes you inheritors of the earth, generations after generations? Is there any ilâh \(god\) with Allâh? Little is that you remember!﴾

He (Exalted be He) says: ﴿And if Allâh touches you with harm, there is none who can remove it but He, and if He intends any good for you, there is none who can repel His Favour which He causes it to reach whomsoever of His slaves He wills. And He is the Oft-Forgiving, the Most Merciful.﴾ He (Glorified be He) also says: ﴿Say: "None in the heavens and the earth knows the Ghaib \(Unseen\) except Allâh"﴾

May Allah grant us success. May peace and blessings be upon our Prophet Muhammad, his family and Companions.

Fatwa no. 16862

Q: I am forwarding to you this message that was sent to me by a woman who says her husband, Mohamed Al-Faytury Hamudah, follows a Sufi order. She wants to know the truth. I convinced her and she accepted advice, but I failed to convince her husband and his father. They told me they were right and asked me to bring forth proof from a well-known scholar to prove the opposite. I also hope you will comment on the enclosed poems, written by this Mohamed Hammudah.

A: the Sufi orders have nothing to do with the guidance of the Prophet (peace be upon him) and a Muslim has to follow the Prophet (peace be upon him) and his Sunnah (supererogatory act of worship following the example of the Prophet) and avoid whatever is different from the Prophet's guidance and Sunnah because such are Bid'ahs (innovation in religion) and every innovation in religion leads to misguidance. After looking at the enclosed poems, we found some sayings that involve innovation in religion and over exaggerated praise of the Messenger (peace be upon him). Consequently, we say that Sufism and Sufi orders have to be abandoned and a Muslim has to refer to the Book of Allah (Qur'an), Sunnah (whatever is reported from the Prophet) of His Messenger and the practices of the Salaf (righteous predecessors) such as the Companions and Followers. He (peace be upon him) said: My Ummah (nation) shall be split into seventy three sects, all of them are in Hellfire except one. People asked, "Who are they, Prophet of Allah?" He (peace be upon him) said, "Those who stick to what I and my Companions do." And he (peace be upon him) also said: You must follow my Sunnah and that of the Rightly-Guided Caliphs. Stick to them and hold fast to them. Avoid novelties, for every novelty is an innovation, and every innovation is an error. May Allah grant you and us success in doing all that leads to goodness and righteousness.

May Allah grant us success! May peace and blessings be upon our Prophet Muhammad, his family, and Companions!

The second question of Fatwa no. 17558

Q 2: What is Sufism? Does it pose a danger to one's Islam? What is the ruling on keeping company with Sufis?

A: In general, Sufism as it exists at the present time refers to a misguided group, which adopts a Manhaj (methodology) in `Ibadah (worship) that opposes the Sunnah. The followers of Sufism receive their teachings from their leaders and shaykhs of Tariqah (Sufi order) whom they believe can bring benefit and cause harm besides Allah. Therefore, it is not permissible to keep company with or befriend them except to call them to Allah and help them to correctly understand the Sunnah.

The third question of Fatwa no. 16099

Q 3: In some Masjids (mosques) here, people gather and continue repeating Allah's Name around a piece of white cloth. What is the importance of the white cloth in Islam?

A: placing a piece of cloth in the Masjid and gathering around it to repeat the Name of Allah is a misleading act of Bid`ah (innovation in religion) undertaken by some Sufis who deviate from the course of the Messenger (peace be upon him). Therefore, it is not permissible to do or attend. This should also be prohibited and disavowed. Masjids should be protected from such acts of Bid`ah.

The fifth question of Fatwa no. 18068

Q 5: It is said that the ancestral line of Al-Sayyid Al-Badawy is traced back to Ahl-ul-Bayt (members of the Prophet's extended Muslim family); is this correct? Is Al-Sayyid Al-Badawy one of the Awliya' (pious people)? Is it permissible to celebrate his birthday or that of any other person by any means; or to speak about his memory and point out his outstanding traits and virtuous deeds on the radio or television?

A: Al-Sayyid Al-Badawy whose full name is Ahmad ibn `Ali ibn Ibrahim Al-Husayny was a Moroccan Sufi who lived in the seventh century. Many ignorant and Muftadi` (innovative) Sufis and others exceed the proper limits in revering Al-Sayyid Al-Badawy in a way that takes them out of the fold of Islam. Some people for example make Du`a' (supplication) to him, seek his protection or help, or make Tawaf (circumambulation) around what they believe to be his grave. On the other hand, it is not permissible to celebrate the memory of the birth of Al-Sayyid Al-Badawy or any body else, for doing so is considered Bid`ah (innovation in religion). It may be worth mentioning that if a person peruses the biography of Al-Sayyid Al-Badawy, they will not find any distinguished contributions that merit much concern.

(Part No. 2; Page No. 88)

Therefore, Muslims have to beware of those who invent new matters in religion and self-seeking people who follow their whims, lest they should mislead them. A Muslim must hold fast to the Qur'an and Sunnah (whatever is reported from the Prophet) for they lead to salvation and success in this world and in the Hereafter.

Fatwa no. 19521

Q: I ask your eminence to reply to us in short about Sufism and Sufis; what is Sufism, their `Aqidah (creed) and what is the opinion of Ahl-ul-Sunnah wal-Jama`ah (those adhering to the Sunnah and the Muslim main body) about them? What should Ahl-ul-Sunnah wal-Jama`ah do regarding them and how should we treat Sufis while they insist on their `Aqidah? They believe that they are on the truth even after the facts are revealed before them?

I ask Allah (Exalted be He) to benefit the people who are in need to understand this matter from your knowledge. May Allah guide all of us to what pleases Him. May Allah reward you.

A: Al-Sufiyyah (Sufism) is derived from Suf (wool) because it was their costume. This is the nearest meaning in language and to reality. As for the saying that Al-Sufiyyah is derived from Al-Suffah because they look like the poor Companions (may Allah be pleased with them) who used to go to a place in Al-Masjid Al-Nabawy (the Prophet's Mosque in Madinah) which is called Suffah, or ascribed to Safwah (purity) because of the purity of their hearts and actions; all these sayings are not true. This is because the ascription form of Suffah is Saffyy with double f and y. The ascription form of Safwah is Safawy and because these two meanings are not in conformity with their attributes because of their ill-thoughts, bad `Aqidah and frequent Bid`ah (religious innovation).

All the Sufi sects or what is so called now Tasawwuf (mysticism) are full of Bid`ah and the means which leads to it and corrupted thoughts which are against the Book of Allah and the Sunnah of the Prophet such as calling the dead and Al-Aqtab by saying: Madad ya Sayyidy (Help, O my master). Madad ya Zaynab (Help, O Zaynab). Madad ya Badawy or ya Dusuqy (Help, O Badawy or Dusuqy), and such actions of seeking the help of their shaykhs and Aqtab and believing that they are the spies of heart who know the unseen and what is concealed in their hearts and naming Allah (Exalted be He) with attributes which He did not declare to Himself such as: Hwa (He) and Ah.

Sufism has innovated Wird (portion of Qur'an recited with consistency) and not permissible supplications. They take the pledge from their followers to remember Allah (Exalted be He) in their rituals and acts of worship in specific names in congregation such as: Allah, Hay (alive) and Qayyum (the Self Subsisting) repeating them everyday and night and not repeating other names except with the permission of their shaykhs, otherwise he will be disobedient and has to fear the power of the servants of the names. Repeating these names must be accompanied with moving the head right and left, bowing and lifting, dancing, singing, clapping and other actions which have no basis in religion; in the Book of Allah and the Sunnah of the Prophet (peace be upon him). A Muslim must not sit in their sessions and must keep away from mixing with them in order not to be affected with their ill-thoughts, Bid`ah or polytheism. He must advise them and explain the truth to them perhaps Allah (Exalted be He) guides them through him and approve the actions which are in conformity with the Qur'an and Sunnah. We disapprove of the matters which are against the methodology of Ahl-ul-Sunnah wal-Jama`ah in order to be safe. Whoever wants to know the conditions of Sufism and their `Aqidah in details, he may read the book of Madarij Al-Salikin by Ibn Qayyim Al-Jawziyyah and the book of "This is Sufism" by `Abdul-Rahman Al-Wakil.

May Allah grant us success! May peace and blessings be upon our Prophet Muhammad, his family and Companions!

The second question of Fatwa no. 18422

Q 2: Some Sufis claim that they see the Prophet (peace be upon him) in dreams and that he (peace be upon him) commands them to write certain books. Nevertheless, such books include many Bid`ahs (innovations in religion) and other things that oppose Shari`ah (Islamic law). How can we then refute what such Sufis claim?

A: What is mentioned in the question is one of the Dalalahs (deviations from what is right) of Sufis. It is one way through which Satan whispers to them and takes them away from the right path.

It is well-established that if a Muslim sees the Prophet in a dream and he (peace be upon him) commands them to do something or to give up doing something, they do not have to act upon such a dream. This is because Allah (Exalted be He) has already perfected His Din (religion) and completed His Grace and that the Purified Shari`ah is not in need of any completion to be taken from dreams. However, if a person sees the Prophet in his form and he (peace be upon him) commands them to do something which conforms to Shari`ah; such a Ru'ya (true dream) is to emphasize the Shar`y (Islamic legal) command and to help the concerned person to adhere to it.

On the other hand, if a person sees the Prophet (peace be upon him) in the form of somebody else; such a dream is not true. Rather, it is from the work of Satan for the Prophet (peace be upon him) said, «Whoever sees me in a dream in fact has seen me, for Satan does not appear in my form.»

This Hadith proves that anyone who sees the Prophet

(peace be upon him) in some other person's form in fact has seen Satan but not the Prophet (peace be upon him). It is worth mentioning that it is Wajib (obligatory) on you to advise such Sufis, enlighten them, and inform them that things which they see are just whispers of Satan and ways of deviation. You also have to warn people against Sufis who claim that they have such dreams so that they are not deluded by them.

The second question of Fatwa no. 18440

Q 2: Many Muslims celebrate the Prophethood of our Messenger (peace be upon him) with musical songs just as Jews and Christians do i.e. they mention Allah (Exalted be He) while music is played. What is the ruling on this practice?

A: Muslims should express their love for the Messenger of Allah (peace be upon him) by following him, emulating his Sunnah (whatever is reported from the Prophet), and being guided by his guidance. Allah (Exalted be He) says: Say \(O Muhammad صلى الله عليه وسلم to mankind\): "If you \(really\) love Allâh then follow me \(i.e. accept Islâmic Monotheism, follow the Qur'ân and the Sunnah\), Allâh will love you and forgive you your sins. And Allâh is Oft-Forgiving, Most Merciful."

On the other hand, musical songs cannot show love to the Prophet (peace be upon him). Rather, they are manifestations of diversion and a hindrance from Dhikr (Remembrance of Allah). Such songs harden the hearts and divert people from Allah and His Straight Path.

Q: I know some people who call themselves shaykhs but they stab themselves with skewers etc. and ascribe fictitious things to Al-Rifa'y. What is the ruling on the foregoing? Is it Haram (prohibited)? Provide me with your beneficial answer please. May Allah benefit you.

A: The people that you mentioned belong to a deviant Sufi sect and such practices they indulge in, that you referred to, are just some of their Bid'ahs (innovations in religion). It is worth mentioning that such people are very dangerous to Islam and thus you have to beware of them and warn others against them. You also have to advise members of such Sufi sect according to your ability and tell them that the practices they indulge in that you mentioned in the question are just devious acts of those Muftadi' (one who introduces innovations in religion) Sufis who are given the title of Qutb (Sufi title denoting a "Perfect Master"). You have to tell them that they are in great danger and that the only right path is that of the 'Aqidah (creed) of Ahl-ul-Sunnah wal-Jama'ah (those adhering to the Sunnah and the Muslim main body) i.e. Al-Firqah Al-Najiyah (the Saved Sect). Fatwa no. 19433

Q: I read in a book entitled "Hadhihi Al-Sufiyyah (This is Sufism)" that Sufism is a deviant Islamic sect that departs from Islamic `Aqidah (creed) and methodology and introduces Bid`ahs (innovations in religion) in the area of `Ibadah (worship). I then read in the volume of Tasawwuf (Sufism) by Shaykh Al-Islam Ibn Taymiyah, and the book "Madarij Al-Salikin" by Ibn Al-Qayyim, that some Sufis are knowledgeable (of the rulings of religion) and pious. They follow the Manhaj (methodology) of our Salaf (righteous predecessors) and declare that their way is to act upon Qur'an and Sunnah (whatever is reported from the Prophet).

So please tell me whether it is permissible to say that all Sufis are deviants or that Sufis are not all of the same, or what else should be said regarding them? Please enlighten me, and may Allah enlighten and reward you!

(Part No. 2; Page No. 95)

A: What has been said by Shaykh Al-Islam Ibn Taymiyah and his student Ibn Al-Qayyim regarding Sufis to the effect that some of them are moderate (not deviants) refers to ancient Sufis. The majority of modern day Sufis are deviants and astray from the right path. Nevertheless, Sufism is an innovation in Islam and the Prophet (peace be upon him) said, "...every novelty is Bid`ah \(innovation in religion\), and every Bid`ah is misguidance..." Finally, Muslims have to hold fast to the Qur'an, Sunnah, and to the way of the Salaf with regard to both beliefs and deeds. The first, second and fourth questions of Fatwa no. 20116

Q 1: A Yemeni fellow, who is a Masjid (mosque) Imam and a preacher in Al-Hubayqy village, one of the villages existing in the suburbs of Makkah Al-Mukarramah, told me that there are several poetic lines describing the attributes of Safy Al-Din ibn Ahmad that are circulated in the City of Sabr in Yemen during feasts and birthday celebrations wording:

I am Ahmad, a descendant of Haydar and my grandfather is Al-Mustafa (the Prophet), whose grave is visited by people

I have a Minbar (pulpit) in Jannah Al-Firdaws (The highest degree in paradise) as I have power and position at the Throne (of Allah)

To concur them and ruin their houses I was the first to knock Khaybar down

Do these stanzas include disbelief and invention of lies against Allah (Glorified and Exalted be He)?

A: What is mentioned in these stanzas includes outrageous excessiveness and claim of sharing Allah (Glorified be He) in His Throne and Sovereignty, which constitutes Kufr (disbelief) in Him (Glorified and Exalted be He). Therefore, such lines must not be recited and should be prevented and resisted.

He left part of the rock on the mount in the city of Sabr according to him. Is this a Karamah (an extraordinary event performed by a pious person) of pious people as some people claim, or is it done by help from the Jinn?

Fatwa no. 20234

Q: I am a Muslim man living in Britain and want to follow the way of Ahl-ul-Sunnah wal-Jama`ah (those adhering to the Sunnah and the Muslim main body) in all the affairs of my life. Accordingly, I tried to read some religious books written in the Urdu language. During my reading of some books compiled by the renowned and prominent Indian scholar, who is a member of the Deobandis, Shaykh Muhammad Zakariyya Kandahlawy, a scholar of Hadith studies, found that the fifth chapter of his book Tablighi Nisab,

(Part No. 2; Page No. 98)

p. 113, containing a story the author quoted from the book entitled "Rawnaq Al-Majalis". It relates an account of a merchant who died and his wealth was distributed between his two sons. In addition to the wealth, the deceased also left the hair of the Prophet's head which the younger son took and gave up his share in the legacy to his elder brother. A short time later, the son who took the money went bankrupt whereas the younger brother became very rich. The story continues to say that after the death of this brother who took the hair of the Prophet, some benevolent people had a dream of the Prophet (peace be upon him) and the Prophet told him that whoever has a certain need should go to the grave of the younger brother and supplicate to Allah at the grave and their need will be fulfilled. This story is quoted from the book "Tabligh Nisab." I have also read another book titled "The History of the Shaykhs of Jathat" by the same author Shaykh Muhammad Zakariyya, (p. 232) where he mentions that while Shaykh Hajji Imdadullah Muhajir Makki was on his deathbed, one of his followers who was deeply sad and moved by him visited him. However, he addressed him saying, "Do not be sad; the ascetic servant does not die; he only moves from a place to another and he fulfils people's need while in his grave exactly as he was alive. Quoted from "The History of

(Part No. 2; Page No. 99)

Shaykhs of Jathat." I would like to hear Your opinions in this regard.

Is the author who relates this story still a Muslim after the creed evidently manifested in his books? Kindly, clarify the point and substantiate your argument with the relevant evidence from the Qur'an and the Sunnah.

If he is not considered a Muslim, then what is the evidence from the Qur'an and the Sunnah that he is a renegade?

A: The content these books impart like the accounts you mentioned in the question about the false religious innovations and superstitions are groundless, for there is no evidence in their support in the Qur'an and the Sunnah of His Prophet. Only those of false nature and blind vision may adopt these beliefs. as for claiming that the Prophet's hair still exists and brings richness to whoever possesses it, and the claim of seeing the Prophet in dream and the advice the Prophet gave to supplicate by this man's grave, these are baseless lies. It is authentically reported that the Prophet (peace be upon him) said, (Satan does not assume my form.) Thus, how can the Prophet advise people to supplicate to Allah by the graves? Indeed, it is he who forbade that during his life and warned against it vehemently. He even warned against extreme beliefs in prophets and righteous people and against invoking them after their death. The Prophet (peace be upon him) died after conveying the religion of Allah in full, thus the religion accepts no addition or

or omission. believing that Du`a' (supplication) beside graves are answered is an innovated and baseless Bid`ah. It may even lead to major Shirk if a person seeks the help of the dead buried in the grave alone or besides Allah, or believed that the deceased may benefit or harm them. It is Allah Alone Who brings about benefit and lets harm occur. Likewise, believing that the devoted servant does not die and only moves from a place to another where he fulfills people's needs while in his grave just as he was alive, is false and a groundless belief of the deviant sects of Sufism. Texts of the Qur'an and authentic Hadith indicate that every human will eventually die, for Allah (Exalted be He) says, ﴿Verily you (O Muhammad صلى الله عليه وسلم) will die, and verily they (too) will die.﴾ He (Exalted be He) said, ﴿And We granted not to any human being immortality before you (O Muhammad صلى الله عليه وسلم): then if you die, would they live forever?﴾ ﴿Everyone is going to taste death﴾ Furthermore, the authentic Hadith in this regard state that when a person dies, all his deeds come to an end except for three: beneficial knowledge, a righteous son who prays for him, or ongoing charity. If the deceased in his grave can not ward off or bring benefit for himself, he can not do that for another a fortiori. It is not permissible to seek the fulfillment of needs from anyone other than Allah, for he is the only One able to grant such needs. Seeking the help of the dead for fulfilling needs of people is a major polytheistic act. Anyone who maintains other than that is committing major disbelief that drives him out of the pale of Islam, Allah forbid! Indeed, he denies the authentic evidence of the Qur'an and the Sunnah of the Prophet (peace be upon him). Therefore, anyone who does that must sincerely repent to Allah and resolve not to commit such acts again. He should follow the way of the early righteous Muslims to gain Allah's content and escape His punishment.

May Allah grant us success! May peace and blessings be upon our Prophet Muhammad, his family and Companions!

Fatwa no. 20232

Q: Would you please look into the books entitled: "Ad`iyat Al-Salihin" by Ahmad Al-Rifa`y and "Kashf Al-Akinnah `Amma Qil Innahu Bid`ah wa huwa Sunnah" by the Algerian author Abu Muhammad `Abdul-Wahhab Muhayyah, to judge whether they are authentic or not? May Allah bless you!

A: A Fatwa (legal opinion issued by a qualified Muslim scholar), no.19185, concerning the book: "Kashf Al-Akinnah `Amma Qil Innahu Bid`ah wa huwa Sunnah" was previously issued. It reads as follows: Reviewing the content of the book, the Committee found that the author is not among the well-qualified and knowledgeable scholars whose views may be adopted in legal issues. Thus, many religious innovations are included in this book as acts of Sunnah. Therefore, a Muslim should refer to the books written by the recognized scholars noted for their deep knowledge, sincerity, and devotion. With regard to the second book: Ad`iyat Al-Salihin wa Adhkaruhum wa Awwaduhum (Invocations, Remembrances and other acts of worship done at certain times on a regular basis), that contains their daily religious rituals of remembrance and supplications by Ahmad Al-Rifa`y. However, the Sufi Order of Ahmad Al-Rifa`y is an innovative Sufi order. The book includes fabricated and baseless Adhkar that have no basis in the purified Shari`ah. Furthermore, these Adhkar involve extremism, ambiguity, rhymes, and Tawassul (supplicating to Allah in the name of some persons). These Wirds and Adhkar are to be recited in this manner in a certain time, place, and condition. There is no proof in the Qur'an or Sunnah that affirms these acts. Such books aim at distracting Muslims from reading the authentic legal supplications and the Adhkar authentically reported from the Prophet (peace be upon him). A Muslim is obliged to take the infallible Prophet as an example, restore, and follow his Sunnah when reciting the Adhkar or doing other things. This is the best and secure way to Paradise. We should be careful of the conduct of the innovators who oppose the line of conduct of Prophet Muhammad, who is the last of prophets and messengers.

May Allah grant us success! May peace and blessings of Allah be upon our Prophet Muhammad, his family and Companions!

The sixth question of Fatwa no. 20236

Q 6: There is a group of righteous and devout people who gather at a certain time and listen to verses talking about love of Allah and other themes. Some of those in attendance may feel ecstasy and start whirling, others may scream and cry out, and others may lose consciousness. Are these acts Makruh (reprehensible) or not?

A: ecstasy and Whirling are Sufi Bid`ahs (innovations in religion). Thus, it is not permissible for Muslims to join or imitate those who practice such Bid`ahs.

The fourth question of Fatwa no. 20530

Q 4: Some (Sufi) sources keep repeating the names: Ghawth (help), Qutb (chief), `Amud (Pole), etc. The Ghawth is the highest rank of this chain, whereas the lowest rank is granted for the Qutb and the `Amud, etc. These people gather during the days of Hajj to plan for the activities of the upcoming year, Prophet Ilyas (Elias) (peace be upon him) also attends these meetings. Studies have indicated that the Jews of a town named Silmiyyah (in Iraq) founded an underground association in 70 B.C., for retrieving the occupied land taken over by the Magis, but there was no mention of any of Gawth or Qutb in Islam until 800 A.H. Nevertheless, it started to be mentioned in the books since that time, we believe that Allah (Glorified and Exalted be He) has created enormous numbers of Angels to implement His Commands, as we know that another four great Angels were appointed to do certain tasks. Is there anything left for Al-Gawth and Al-Qutb to do, despite that they are mortal humans?

A: It is not permissible to believe that any humans can handle or have disposition of the universe with Allah (Exalted be He), whether they are called Ghawth, Qutb or the like. Anyone who believes in any of these things is a Mushrik (one who associates others in worship with Allah) and a Kafir (disbeliever). What these Sufis and others mention with respect to the meeting of Qutbs, Ilyas, Al-Khadir and others is not true; rather it is superstition and deception of Satan - we seek refuge in Allah from going astray and the strayers.

May Allah grant us success! May peace and blessings be upon our Prophet Muhammad, his family and Companions!

The third question of Fatwa no. 21025

Q 3: some ignorant sufis follow their shaykhs in their error

and immorality. The Sufi before his Shaykh is like a dead person before his washer to dispose of him as he wants supposing that the Shaykh is a Waliy (pious person) who must be followed because of His saying: \(and follow the path of him who turns to Me in repentance and in obedience.\) The worst is that they claim to know the unseen and set the proofs to this by Allah's saying: \(And they will never compass anything of His Knowledge except that which He wills.\) So how could we refute their claims? What is the correct explanation to these two Ayahs?

A: It is the duty of a Muslim to follow what Allah (Exalted be He) has revealed to His Prophet (peace be upon him); Qur'an and Sunnah which contain guidance and light. Adhere to it, understand their meanings, act according to them and bear harm for the sake of holding firm to the straight way of Allah (Exalted be He) to which the Prophet (peace be upon him) and his Companions used to hold. Allah (Exalted be He) says: \("And verily, this \(i.e. Allāh's Commandments mentioned in the above two Verses 151 and 152\) is My Straight Path, so follow it, and follow not \(other\) paths, for they will separate you away from His Path. This He has ordained for you that you may become Al-Muttaqûn \(the pious - see V.2:2\)."\) Allah (Exalted be He) says: [\(\[Say \(O Muhammad صلى الله عليه وسلم\) to these idolaters \(pagan Arabs\) of your folk:\] Follow what has been sent down unto you from your Lord \(the Qur'ân and Prophet Muhammad's Sunnah\), and follow not any Auliya' \(protectors and helpers who order you to associate partners in worship with Allāh\), besides Him \(Allāh\). Little do you remember!\]\)](#)

The Ayahs which were revealed in this context are well-known. A Muslim should not follow those who distract people from following the revelation or the distorters of the people of Bid'ah (religious innovation), myths, immorality and bad actions. This is the meaning of Allah's saying: \(and follow the path of him who turns to Me in repentance and in obedience.\) i.e. the path of those who believe in Allah, angels, revealed books and Messengers who submit to their Lord and following their way: to follow them in repentance to Allah (Exalted be He); hearts inclinations to Allah's will, then followed by obeying Allah (Exalted be He) in one's physical actions in what pleases Him and draws them near to Allah (Exalted be He). Thus, we know that imitating a deviated person from the revelation which is the straight path in his 'Aqidah, acts of worship or behavior is a plain deviation from the right path. We ask Allah (Exalted be He) for safety and good health for us and all Muslims.

The meaning of Allah's saying: \(He knows what happens to them \(His creatures\) in this world, and what will happen to them in the Hereafter. And they will never compass anything of His Knowledge except that which He wills.\) This is information about the vast and surrounding knowledge of Allah (Exalted be He) and that He knows the future matters of His creatures and their past matters and nothing is concealed from Him. None of His creatures can know anything from His knowledge except if He wants and reveals it to them. It is a very tiny part of His knowledge as messengers and angels who know Him well said about Him: ﴿They (angels) said: "Glory be to You, we have no knowledge except what you have taught us.﴾ So claiming the knowledge of the unseen is merely a form of Kufr (disbelief) because they defy Allah (Exalted be He) in His Lordship. Allah (May He be exalted) says: ﴿And with Him are the keys of the Ghaib (all that is hidden), none knows them but He.﴾ Allah (Exalted be He) says: ﴿Say: "None in the heavens and the earth knows the Ghaib (Unseen) except Allâh"﴾ and He says: ﴿"(He Alone is) the All-Knower of the Ghaib (Unseen), and He reveals to none His Ghaib (Unseen).﴾ ﴿Except to a Messenger (from mankind) whom He has chosen (He informs him of unseen as much as He likes), and then He makes a band of watching guards (angels) to march before him and behind him.﴾ So the Ayahs proved that the knowledge of the unseen is with Allah (Exalted be He) alone; then He excluded whom He wants from among His Messengers by telling them parts of the unseen through revelation and made it miracles for them and clear proof to their prophethood. If other people claim knowledge of the unseen, their claim is a mere lie and falsity against Allah (Exalted be He). We seek Allah's refuge against this.

Fatwa no. 21119

Q: The Permanent Committee for Scholarly Research and Ifta' looked into the letter submitted to his Eminence the Mufti and the enclosed publication titled: (Mawqif Al-Salaf Al-Salih Min Al-Sufiyyah, i.e. "The Stance of Righteous Predecessors towards Sufis"). The questioner says: I found the publication defends Sufis and makes a blackout to prevent people from knowing the deviated Sufi practices. It praises Sufis disregarding their delusions, over exaggerations and horrible polytheistic acts. Therefore we had to explain the fallacies and delusions included in this publication, given that Sufism is a Bid`ah (innovation in religion) imported to Islam from Christianity.

A: Following is a detailed explanation:

First, the sayings of religious scholars, worshippers and earlier hermits who, in effect, were not Sufis, mentioned in the publication, does not imply any praise for current Sufis; because current Sufis deviate from following the Qur'an and the Sunnah (whatever is reported from the Prophet). The current Sufis innovated orders whose practices are against the views of such scholars whose sayings are quoted in the publication. Their innovated views include unity of the universe, pantheism and following shaykhs belonging to Sufi orders in whatever they say without discussion. Besides they claim they receive inspiration from Allah (Exalted be He) directly and that they are not in need of the Messenger (peace be upon him); because according to them, the Messenger was sent for ordinary people not for the elite. Also, they glorify graves by slaughtering animals there, making vows and Du`a' (supplication), and seeking help from the dead. All such horrible practices are expressed in their books and their actions and practices prove them as can be seen from their present conditions.

Second, he also says: "Accordingly, any violation of the rulings of Islam should not be ascribed to Sufis or Sufism. In fact such violations are done by imposters and ascribed falsely to Sufism or mere intrigues to attack the Sufis and distort their image and views. It is similar to the insertion of Israelite narrations (reported from the Jews) in the exegeses of the Qur'an even though they were known for their meticulousness in the explanation of the truth.

The reply to this saying is: The mentioned fallacies are not practices of imposters who falsely ascribed these fallacies to Sufism. In fact these are practices of deviated famous Sufi figures such as Ibn `Arabi, Al-Hallaj, Al-Rifa`i, Ibn Al-Farid, Al-Sha`rany in (Tabaqat Al-Sha`rany), Al-Sahrudy in (Awarif Al-Ma`arif), `Addul-Karim Al-Jeli in (Al-Insan Al-Kamel) and others famous Sufi figures, and they are mentioned in their books. The claim that they are falsely ascribed to them is unfounded. How come they say these books are falsely ascribed to them while their followers still publish, distribute and act upon them day and night? We are speaking about their practices now and not their books. Comparing this case to the insertion of Israelite narrations (reported from the Jews) into the exegesis of the Qur'an is totally wrong; because there is a great difference between the two cases. Not all Israelite narrations (reported from the Jews) include lies. In fact, some of them are accepted, namely the views that agree with our Shari`ah revealed by our Prophet Muhammad (peace be upon him). However some of them are false views, that is, the sayings that are against the Shari`ah.

Third, when he interpreted the words of shaykh Muhammad ibn `Abdul-Wahhab (may Allah be merciful to him) when he spoke about knowledge, jurisprudence, worship and working for the Hereafter, he said that shaykh Muhammad ibn `Abdul-Wahhab said, 'So Allah sent His Prophet with this all-inclusive religion with these two types...' The writer of this publication interpreted the "two types" as jurisprudence and Sufism. This way he interpreted the words of Muhammad ibn `Abdul-Wahhab wrongly as the two types refer to guidance and religion of truth as in the Qur'anic Verse: ﴿It is He Who has sent His Messenger \(Muhammad صلى الله عليه وسلم\) with guidance and the religion of truth \(Islām\)﴾

Also, the shaykh mentioned in the beginning of his words: (You have to know, may Allah guide you to the right, that Allah (may He Exalted and Praised) sent Muhammad (peace be upon him) with guidance, that is, useful knowledge, and religion of truth, that is, good deeds), and it is known that the shaykh (may Allah be merciful to him) used to fight Bid`ahs (innovation in religion) and polytheistic practices, the worst of which was the deviated Sufi views.

Subsequently, the Committee sees that the circulation of such a publication should be prevented, and it should be destroyed and people should be warned against it as a means of protecting the Muslims' Creed from the spread of Bid`ahs and polytheistic practices through such publications and the likes. May peace and blessings be upon our Prophet Muhammad, his family, and Companions!

Q 1: Here in Morocco, we have a group called Jama`at Al-`Adl wal-Ihsan (the Justice and Charity Group). they gather at one of the houses and offer Qiyam-ul-Layl (standing for optional Prayer at night) in congregation. they then turn off the lights, face the Qiblah (direction faced for Prayer towards the Ka`bah) and remember Allah in the dark. Among their objectives is to fight the ruler and seize power, following the footsteps of Khomeini who was a follower of Rafidah (a Shi`ah group). The Shaykh of Jama`at Al-`Adl wal-Ihsan stated this fact in one of his books. He once said, "Shiites are our brothers." The Group members harbor fierce enmity to Salafiyyah (those following the way of the righteous predecessors) and they express it in their books and tapes. They describe Salafiyyah followers as "the inferior ones" and "the impaired ones". This Group manipulates people's minds on the plea of changing the evil reality, commanding good and forbidding evil. What is the Islamic ruling regarding them?

A: If the reality of this Group is as you have mentioned, it will be established that they contradict the Manhaj (methodology) adopted by Ahl-ul-Sunnah wal-Jama`ah (those adhering to the Sunnah and the Muslim main body) and support those who commit Bid`ah (innovation in religion) and misguidance. It is your duty to advise them and to show them the truth, may Allah guide them or some of them to the Right Path. Moreover, offering Qiyam-ul-Layl in congregation on a regular basis is a Bid`ah.

Q: Ahmad Deedat said in his book "Al-Qur'an the Miracle of Miracles" that Qur'an includes many references to the number 19 and its multiplications. He gave many examples and here are some of them:

- The word "اسم" (name) is mentioned 19 times in the Qur'an.
- The word "الله" (Allah) is mentioned 2698 (19 x 142) times in the Qur'an.
- The word "الرحيم" (The Most Merciful) is mentioned 114 (19 x 6) times in the Qur'an.
- The letter "ن" (Nun) is mentioned 133 (19 x 7) times in Surah Al-Qalam.

He also made reference to the study conducted by Dr. Rashad Khalifah in his book "Al-Qur'an Taqdim Mar'y li-Mu'jizah". Here are some examples of the points he raised:

- The first Qur'anic revelation is composed of 19 words which include 76 (19 x 4) letters.
- The first Surah (Qur'anic chapter) revealed in the Qur'an includes 19 Ayahs (Qur'anic verses) and 285 (19 x 15) letters, etc.

Please give us your Fatwa (legal opinion issued by a qualified Muslim scholar) in this regard.

A: This study is among the fabricated falsities of a sect called Al-Batiniyyah Al-Baha'iyyah. It is based on glorifying the number 19. There is no doubt that this study is false, as it involves manipulating the Glorious Qur'an and distracting people from pondering its true meanings. This malicious group holds many false beliefs such as some of its leaders claiming prophethood. Its followers believe in Hulul (a Sufi term meaning indwelling) and Ittihad (a Sufi claim of union with Allah), deem Jihad (fighting in the Cause of Allah) to be unlawful and call for the unification of religions plus many other things. So it is the duty of Muslims to beware of falling into this evil group and of being affected by its ideas or books. We ask Allah (Glorified and Exalted be He) to save us from their plotting and to protect Muslims from their evils, for He is All-Powerful.

May Allah grant us success! May peace and blessings be upon our Prophet Muhammad, his family and Companions!

Fatwa no. 21168

Q: Tulu` Al-Islam is an organization that publishes an Urdu magazine bearing the same name. They are followers of Ghulam Ahmed Pervez, one of the most nefarious deviants. He denies the Sunnah (whatever is reported from the Prophet), Islamic beliefs and the entire faith, as shown in the attached document which includes some of his evil views. Followers of this organization have begun to appear in Kuwait, and we heard that it has followers in other Gulf countries, Pakistan, and other countries.

Please issue a Fatwa (legal opinion issued by a qualified Muslim scholar) so that the majority of Muslims may know the truth of this organization and may not be misled by it. This organization spreads its deviant ideas opposing the Qur'an and Sunnah and calls to disbelief. Unfortunately, this occurs under the name of Islam.

Your Fatwa will have a huge effect in destroying this evil and spreading the Truth In sha'a-Allah (if Allah wills). May Allah reward you!

Please inform us of the Islamic ruling on Qadianism as well, for it has some followers carrying out its activities in Kuwait and other countries. May Allah reward you!

A: After reviewing the beliefs and opinions of the sect called tulu` Al-Islam published by its founder Ghulam Ahmed Pervez and his followers in their books and articles, and based on previous Fatwas issued by many Muslim scholars in different Muslim countries regarding this sect, we have discovered that this sect commits many evils, such as:

1. Denying the obligation of obeying the Messenger of Allah (peace be upon him), denying the evidences in the Sunnah and claiming the Qur'an is the only source of legislation.
2. Distorting the pillars of Islam in a way that negates the Qur'an, Sunnah and Ijma` (consensus of scholars). Prayer, Zakah and Hajj have other meanings to followers of this sect, similar to the interpretations of the deviant Al-Batinayyah sects.

(Part No. 2; Page No. 119)

3. Distorting the pillars of Islam in a way that negates the Qur'an, Sunnah and Ijma`. According to followers of this sect, angels are not a real separate creation but forces given to other creatures and predestination is a Magian scheme.

4. Denying the existence of Paradise and Hell.

5. Denying Adam (peace be upon him), father of all humans, ever existed and claiming his story is just drama.

6. Interpreting the Qur'an according to their own opinions and whims and claiming the rulings included in it are temporary and not eternal.

There are many other false beliefs and ideas adopted and propagated by this sect. Only one of its beliefs is enough to deem its followers outside the fold of Islam and among the apostates, let alone all of these beliefs. Any ordinary Muslim who examines these ideas will discover they follow other than the believers' way and distort all Ma`lum minad-din biddarurah (well-established theological matters). Based on our previous discussion, anyone who follows this sect, calls people to it or convinces others of its beliefs in any way in the media is Kafir (disbeliever) and Murtad (apostate). The Muslim ruler has to call such a person to perform Tawbah (repentance to Allah) and return to the Truth or they are subject to capital punishment as a Kafir.

Moreover, it is the duty of all Muslims to beware of and warn others against these misguiding groups and other deviant sects, such as Qadianism, Bahaism and others. We advise our Muslim brothers to holdfast to the Qur'an and Sunnah, follow the example of the Sahabah (Companions of the Prophet) and Tabi'un (Followers, the generation after the Companions of the Prophet) and the Rightly-Guided Imams (initiator of a School of Jurisprudence) known for their knowledge and virtuousness. We ask Allah to suppress the enemies of Islam wherever they are and to repel their plotting, for He is All-Powerful. Allah Alone is Sufficient for us, and He is the Best Disposer of affairs for us. All praise be to Allah.

May Allah grant us success! May peace and blessings be upon our Prophet Muhammad, his family, and Companions!

Fatwa no. 20417

Q: Praise be to Allah alone, and peace and blessings be upon the final Prophet!

The Permanent Committee for Scholarly Research and Ifta' has read what was submitted to His Eminence the Mufty by His Honor the Director of the Center of Da`wah and Guidance in Dammam, in his letter no. 22/1/103, on 27/1/1418 A.H., attached therewith the Fatwa request submitted by Abu Muhammad Al-Pakistani, which is referred to the Committee by the General Secretariat of the Council of Senior Scholars, no. 689, on 4/2/1418 A.H. The question reads as follows: There is a group in Pakistan called "Al-Tawhid group". They have special beliefs, i.e., they consider all Muslims Kafirs (disbelievers) except those who belong to their group, they do not offer the congregational Salah (Prayer) behind a Muslim Imam (the one who leads congregational Prayer), they only greet each other and no one else; they do not believe any Hadith of the Prophet (peace be upon him) except what agrees with their desires. They describe books of Fiqh (Islamic jurisprudence) as being full of Shirk (associating others with Allah in worship), superstitions and deviation, which are the books written by the four Imams (initiators of a School of Jurisprudence). They do not approve of an Imam receiving payment, as all the prophets used to work as shepherds and they never took fees in return for guiding the people and leading them. After a long discussion, they insisted on not belonging to Ahl-ul-Sunnah wal-Jama`ah (those adhering to the Sunnah and the Muslim main body), the people of Hadith, or any of the four Madh-habs (School of Jurisprudence). They deny the punishment in the grave and question the punishment of the drowned and the burnt people. If they are punished, they argue, how can the Buddhists (who burn the bodies of the dead) be punished? It is not logical to them that a person lives in the grave, for it is too narrow. They ask: how are those whose bodies are dissected in the Faculty of Medicine punished in the grave? They claim that if there is punishment in the grave, it is for the soul only. They talk like communists regarding these matters, and they quote (Surah Al-Baqarah, 2:28), (Surah Ghafir, 40:11), and (Surah Al-Isra', 17:49-50).

(Part No. 2; Page No. 122)

After a long discussion with them, I brought them the following books:

1. "Al-Ruh" by Ibn-ul-Qayyim.
2. "Ahwal Al-Qubur wa Ahwal Ahliha ila Al-Nushur."
3. Fatwas (legal opinion issued by a qualified Muslim scholar) of the Permanent Committee for Scholarly Research and Ifta', volume 3, `Aqidah (Creed).
4. Fatwas and letters of Ibn `Uthaymin, volume 2, `Aqidah.

However, they denied all what was mentioned in these books. They believe that all the Hadith there are either Da`if (weak) or Mawdu` (fabricated). What they deny most is the Hadith where the Messenger of Allah (peace be upon him) said, ("When a person dies, their deeds come to an end except for three things...") They offer Salah (Prayer), observe Sawm (fasting), recite the Qur'an and interpret it according to their own desire. They also claim that the Qur'an is not a cure for physical ailments; it is a cure for spiritual ones only. Some people follow them out of ignorance.

Please advise concerning this group. Can we maintain ties of kinship with them or visit them? May Allah reward you on behalf of all the Muslims!

The Minister wrote a report to the Ministry of Islamic Affairs which is attached thereto with a report about this group, which states the following: In reference to your letter no. 3/8/167, on 14/5/1418 A.H., concerning the available information about the "Tawhid group", please be advised that the mentioned group used to be called Allah's Party, presided over by Dr. Mas`ud Al-Din Al-`Uthmany.

He graduated from the Faculty of Medicine in Lucknow, India in 1934, where he got the M.B.B.S certificate.

He worked as a doctor in the army, and then retired. He was interested in religious matters. In the beginning, he belonged to the Islamic group, but then he left it. He read some Hadith books to Shaykh Muhammad Yusuf Al-Banury, one of the great scholars of Deobandism at that time.

He was enthusiastic about proving Tawhid (belief in the Oneness of Allah) and resisting the forms of Shirk (associating others with Allah in worship) such as seeking the help of the dead. In the end, he became an extremist, which lead him to Takfir (declaring someone to be a disbeliever) of everyone who believes in hearing the dead and the return of the soul to the body in the grave. He also denied all the Hadith narrated about the deeds of this Ummah (nation) being displayed to the Prophet (peace be upon him). Accordingly, he issued his Fatwa about considering Imam Ahmad ibn Hanbal (may Allah be merciful with him) a Kafir, out of objection to what the Imam mentioned in his book "Al-Salah" in which he states, "Believing in Hawd (Prophet's lake in Paradise), Shafa`ah (intercession), Munkar and Nakir (the two angels who test the faith of the dead in their graves), the punishment in the grave, the angel of death who takes the souls so that they are returned in the grave where they are questioned about Iman (Faith) and Tawhid..."

Dr. `Asim Ibrahim Al-Qaryuty, one of the former official Du`ah (callers to Islam) in Pakistan and a researcher in the Prophetic Sunnah Services Council in the Islamic University in Madinah, wrote a booklet to refute his claims in a logical way.

More than one scholar issued a Fatwa that this man is misguided and leads to misguidance and it is not permissible to read his books or offer Salah behind him. Many of the people that belonged to his group that used to be called "Allah's Party" agreed on dismissing him, the first of whom was his cousin, Dr. Kamal Al-Din `Uthmany. Later, he dissolved his group, and claimed that the era is similar to the Makkan one, so there is no need to form a group, but it is important to work hard to spread Tawhid.

He died five years ago, and his party was weakened to a great extent after his death.

A: Having studied the question, the Committee answered that this group that calls themselves allah's Party or al-Tawhid has gone astray from the Sunnah. Their name does not correspond with their beliefs. They declare others Kafirs for no reason, and deny some of the matters of Ghayb (the Unseen) that were mentioned in the Sunnah and in which there is no way to argue. All of this is misguidance from the straight path described in the Qur'an and Sunnah and adopted by the Salaf (righteous predecessors) of the Ummah. These people should perform Tawbah (repentance to Allah) and return to the path of Ahl-ul-Sunnah wal-Jama`ah. It is better to return to the Truth than to persist in falsehood. May Allah guide us and them!

May Allah grant us success! May peace and blessings be upon our Prophet Muhammad, his family, and Companions!

The spread of and call to Irja' creed

Fatwa no. 21436

Q: Praise be to Allah Alone and peace and blessings be upon the Last Prophet. To continue,

The Permanent Committee for Scholarly Research and Ifta' had read the letter received by his Eminence, the General Mufti (Islamic scholar qualified to issue legal opinions) from a number of inquirers whose names are registered at the Secretariat General of the Council of Senior Scholars Nos.(5411) ,(1026), (1016),(1395), (1650), (1893), (2106) dated 7/11/1420, 7/2/1421, 7/2/1421, 3/8/1421, 17/3/1421, 25/3/1421, 7/4/1421 A.H., successively.

The inquirers asked many questions to the following effect: Lately, the idea of Irja' (a deviant conviction claiming that Faith is restricted to belief not deeds) has dreadfully spread. Many writers have been propagating it, depending on some incomplete quotations from Shaykh-ul-Islam Ibn Taymiyyah's writings, something which leads many people to confusion with respect to the definition of Iman (faith). They try to exclude the element of deeds from the definition of Iman. They claim that anyone who abandons all deeds will still be saved (from Hellfire). This definitely facilitates the committing of sins, acts of Shirk (associating others in worship with Allah) and Riddah (apostasy) for people attain Iman in light of this conviction, even if they do not abide by religious obligations, avoid prohibitions, or act in accordance with Shari'ah (Islamic law). There is no doubt that this conviction has a severe effect on Islamic societies, issues of `Aqidah (creed) and worship. Therefore, I hope Your Eminence will reveal the reality of this conviction and its bad effects, and the truth that is based on the Qur'an and Sunnah (whatever is reported from the Prophet). I hope you will also verify the writings reported from Shaykh-ul-Islam so that all Muslims can be sure about and have knowledge of their religion.

A: After the Committee studied the inquiry, it answered as follows: The mentioned sayings are attributed to al-Murji'ah (a deviant Islamic sect claiming that Faith is restricted to belief not deeds) who exclude deeds from the definition of Iman. They claim that Iman is achieved by belief with the heart and utterance with the tongue, whereas the deeds, according to their view, are a condition for attaining perfection but are not considered a prerequisite for it. Thus, according to their conviction, anyone who believes with their heart and utters with their tongue will be a perfect Mu'min (believer), even if they abandon obligations and violate prohibitions, they will also be entitled to enter Jannah (Paradise) without observing any good deeds. This has led to many null ideas, including the restriction of Kufr (disbelief) to denial of faith and Al-Istihlal (deeming what is Haram (prohibited) to be lawful) by heart. In fact, all these sayings are false, deviant and contradict the Qur'an, Sunnah and the way of Ahl-ul-Sunnah wal-Jama'ah (those adhering to the Sunnah and the Muslim main body); the predecessors and successors. However this opens the door to the people of evil and mischief to deviate away from their religion and be free from Allah's (Glorified be He) commands, prohibitions, fear and reverence. This also deactivates the concept of Jihad (struggling in the cause of Allah), enjoining good and forbidding evil.

Furthermore, this also equates between good and bad, obedient and disobedient people, a person who abides by Allah's Shari'ah and the Fasiq (someone flagrantly violating Islamic law) who abandons His Commands and Prohibitions since deeds do not violate Iman as they claim. This is why Imams of Islam concentrated on clarifying the falseness of this conviction and replying to its supporters in the past and the present. They also allocated a chapter for this issue in the books of 'Aqidah and compiled complete books in this regard, such as Shaykh-ul-Islam Ibn Taymiyyah (may Allah be merciful with him) and others. Ibn Taymiyyah (may Allah be merciful with him) mentioned in Al-'Aqidah Al-Wasitiyyah: "Among the fundamentals of Ahl-ul-Sunnah w-Al-Jama'ah is that Din (religion of Islam) and Iman are attained by words and actions and that Iman increases by acts of obedience and decreases by acts of disobedience." He also mentioned in his book Al-Iman: "In this chapter, we find several sayings of the Salaf (Righteous Predecessors) and the Senior Scholars of Sunnah in explaining Iman. Sometimes they say: It is utterance and action and some others say: utterance, action and intention. Others say: Iman is utterance with the tongue, belief with the heart, and acts with organs. All these definitions are true." Moreover, he (may Allah be merciful with him) added: "The Salaf strictly censured Al-Murji'ah for excluding actions from Iman. However, their claim that all people have the same degree of Iman is absolutely fraudulent. Belief, love, fear of Allah, knowledge, etc., of people vary from one person to another." He added: "Regarding this basic origin, Al-Murji'ah deviated from what was clarified in the Qur'an, Sunnah, opinions of the Sahabah (Companions of the Prophet) and the Tabi'un (Followers, the generation after the Companions of the Prophet), rather they founded their opinion, own their own understanding and on linguistic interpretation [of texts]; this is certainly the manner of people of Bid'ahs (innovations in religion)."

(Part No. 2; Page No. 129)

Among the proofs that indicate that deeds are included in Iman and that they affect it positively or negatively is Allah's saying, ﴿The believers are only those who, when Allâh is mentioned, feel a fear in their hearts and when His Verses (this Qur'ân) are recited unto them, they (i.e. the Verses) increase their Faith; and they put their trust in their Lord (Alone);﴾ ﴿Who perform As-Salât (Iqâmat-as-Salât) and spend out of that We have provided them.﴾ ﴿It is they who are the believers in truth.﴾ And ﴿Successful indeed are the believers.﴾ ﴿Those who offer their Salât (prayers) with all solemnity and full submissiveness.﴾ ﴿And those who turn away from Al-Laghwa (dirty, false, evil vain talk, falsehood, and all that Allâh has forbidden).﴾ ﴿And those who pay the Zakât.﴾ ﴿And those who guard their chastity (i.e. private parts, from illegal sexual acts)﴾ ﴿Except from their wives or (the slaves) that their right hands possess, - for then, they are free from blame;﴾ ﴿But whoever seeks beyond that, then those are the transgressors;﴾ ﴿Those who are faithfully true to their Amanât (all the duties which Allâh has ordained, honesty, moral responsibility and trusts) and to their covenants;﴾ ﴿And those who strictly guard their (five compulsory congregational) Salawât (prayers) (at their fixed stated hours).﴾ In addition, the Messenger (peace be upon him) said, ﴿Iman (Faith) has over seventy branches, the most superior of which is the declaration that there is no deity except Allah, and the lowest of which is the removal of (anything) harmful from the street, and shyness is a branch of Iman.﴾ Shaykh-ul-Islam (may Allah be merciful with him) also mentioned in his book Al-Iman: "The origin of Iman is in the heart, including utterance and action. It is recognition of belief, love and submissiveness. Whatever rests in the heart should manifest in action. If a person does not act in accordance to it, this indicates absence or weakness of Iman. This is why the visible deeds are a reflection of the Iman of heart and a confirmation to what exists in it. They constitute evidence of it and they are a branch and part of full Iman." He also says, "Thinking of what Kharijites and Al-Murji'ah say with respect to the meaning of Iman reveals that this includes disobedience of the Messenger. Obeying Allah (Exalted be He) and His Messenger (peace be upon him) denotes the perfection of Iman, and that Allah (Exalted be He) would never render a sinner to be a Kafir. Suppose that some people went to the Prophet (peace be upon him) and told him: 'We believe in what you have brought us by our hearts and bear witness (that there is no deity except Allah and that Muhammad is the Messenger of Allah) with our tongues, but we do not abide by your commands and prohibitions; as we do not offer prayers, fast, perform Hajj or believe what is told to us; we do not return trusts, fulfill our promises, maintain the ties of kinship or observe any good acts which you ordained us; we drink intoxicants and commit incest and adultery; we kill as many people as we can of your Companions and Ummah (nation) and take their money; we may even kill you too and fight with your enemies against you.' Can any rational person imagine that the Prophet (peace be upon him) would answer them by saying: 'You are the perfect Mu'minun (believers) and you are the ones entitled to my intercession on the Day of Resurrection, and it is expected that none of you would enter Hellfire?' On the contrary, every Muslim indisputably knows that the Prophet (peace be upon him) would have told them: 'You are the most disbelieving people ever to what I came with' and that he would have executed them if they had not repented."

Ibn Taymiyyah also said: "When the word of Iman is generally mentioned in the Qur'an and Sunnah, it is meant with dutifulness, piety, and religion as previously mentioned, for the Prophet (peace be upon him) declared that Iman has over than seventy branches, the best of which is to witness that there is no Deity but Allah, and the least is to remove harm from the road. Therefore, whatever pleases Allah falls under the meaning of Iman. All this is also included in the meaning of dutifulness when generally mentioned, and so are the Taqwa (fearing Allah as He should be feared) and the Din (religion of Islam). It was also narrated that when people asked about Iman, Allah revealed the following Ayah: \(It is not Al-Birr \(piety, righteousness, and each and every act of obedience to Allāh, etc.\) that you turn your faces\) ...What is meant here is that Iman, which is accompanied by action, is praised, other than that which is devoid of it." This is what Shaykh-ul-Islam Ibn Taymiyyah said about Iman; anyone who reports other than this on his authority will be inventing lies against him.

Whereas what was mentioned in the Hadith concerning the entrance of some people into Jannah despite that they had never done any good is not absolute to anyone who abandons deeds while being capable of doing them. Rather it is restricted to those who have excuses for abandoning deeds or for any other reason that is consistent with the objectives of Shari`ah.

After clarifying this issue, the Permanent Committee warns against arguing over the fundamentals of `Aqidah, because of the serious consequences resulting from this. It recommends resorting to the books of the Righteous Salaf and leading Muslim scholars which are based on the Qur'an, Sunnah and accounts of the Salaf. It also warns against referring to any books that carry views opposing the original references, or modern books that are issued by authors who have not acquired knowledge through scholars or from original sources. Those people are intruders to this one great fundamental of `Aqidah. They adopt the views of Al-Murji'ah and falsely attribute them to Ahl-ul-Sunnah W-al-Jama`ah, causing confusion to people. They also wrongly ascribe these views to Shaykh-ul-Islam Ibn Taymiyyah (Exalted be He) and other Imams of the Salaf through incomplete quotations. We advise them to fear Allah and to return to the Right Path, and not break the unity (of Muslims) by promoting this deviant belief. The Committee also warns Muslims against being tempted and falling into the trap of those opposing Ahl-ul-Sunnah W-al-Jama`ah. May Allah guide everyone to useful knowledge, righteous deeds and good understanding of the religion.

May Allah grant us success! May peace and blessings be upon our Prophet, his family and Companions!

Fatwa no. 20212

Q: Muslims in the Kingdom of Saudi Arabia live with many blessings; the greatest of which is Tawhid (belief in the Oneness of Allah/ monotheism). In the issue of Takfir (declaring someone to be a disbeliever), we refuse the doctrines of Kharijites (separatist group that believes committing a major sin amounts to disbelief) and Al-Murji'ah (a deviant Islamic sect claiming that Faith is restricted to belief not deeds).

These days, I came across a book entitled Ihkam al-Taqrir fi ahkam al-Takfir by Murad Shukry, a Jordanian writer. I found that this writer was not a scholar nor did he study the sciences of Shari'ah (Islamic law). In his book, he promoted the false doctrine of the extremist Al-Murji'ah, which recognizes only one form of Kufr (disbelief), which is Kufr of denial that we all know is inconsistent with the truth and the Shar'y evidence drawn by Ahl-ul-Sunnah wal-Jama'ah (those adhering to the Sunnah and the Muslim main body) and disseminated by Imams of Da'wah in these blessed country. Moreover, scholars stated that Kufr may be through words, actions, beliefs and doubts [of well-established religious facts, trans.].

We wish that you will clarify the truth to guard people against this book which is generally adopted by the group that belongs to Salafiyyah (those following the way of the Righteous Predecessors) in Jordan. May Allah protect you! As-salamu `alaykum warahmatullah wabarakatuh (May Allah's Peace, Mercy, and Blessings be upon you!)

A: After reading the book mentioned above, it becomes clear that it confirms the doctrine of Al-Murji'ah and promotes that there is only one form of Kufr, namely Kufr of denial and rejection. The book exposes this heinous doctrine in the name of Sunnah and Shar'y evidence as if it were the opinion of the scholars of the Salaf (righteous predecessors). On the contrary, this reflects the author's ignorance of the truth and it confuses and misleads young Muslims into believing that this is the opinion of the Salaf and competent researching scholars of this Ummah, where as it is the doctrine of Al-Murji'ah who say that sins do not affect one's Iman (Faith). According to them, Iman is just the inner belief and Kufr takes place only by denial. This is negligence which is the opposite of the false doctrine of the Kharijites that goes to the other extreme in Takfir. Both of them are two false and heinous doctrines that clearly lead to false results. Allah (may He be exalted) guides Ahl-ul-Sunnah wal-Jama'ah to the truth, the correct doctrine and the moderate belief beyond the two extremes, stressing that a Muslim's honor and religion are inviolable and it is not permissible to declare anyone a disbeliever without truth substantiated with evidence. Such a sound belief confirms that Kufr may take place through sayings, actions, abandonment of actions, beliefs and doubt, as proof from the Qur'an and Sunnah as support. Therefore, it is not permissible to publish or print this book or to claim that its false contents are based on sound evidence from the Qur'an and Sunnah or represent the way of Ahl-ul-Sunnah wal-Jama'ah. The author and publisher of this book must repent to Allah, for repentance wipes out sins. A person who does not have deep knowledge of the Shari`ah should not engage in similar issues so that he may suffer harm and corrupt disbelief more than the benefit and reform that he has wished to gain.

May Allah grant us success! May peace and blessings be upon our Prophet Muhammad, his family and Companions!

Fatwa no. 21435

Q: Would you please look into the book entitled Haqiqat-ul-Iman Bayn Ghuluw Al-Khawarij wa Tafrit Al-Murji'ah by `Adnan `Abdul-Qadir published by the Shari`ah Society in Kuwait?

A: This book advocates the Al-Murji'ah school of thought that excludes deeds from the concept and reality of Iman (Faith), as they maintain that practical devotion is only a supplementary condition. The author further supports this false creed by citations of authoritative scholars adapted and misquoted to serve his purpose. For example, he attributed a statement to Imam Ahmad (may Allah show mercy to him) while it was said by Abu Ja`fr Al-Baqir (see: p. 9). Furthermore, he gives titles that do not fit the content.

For example, he gives the title: "The seed of faith is only in the heart and anyone who denies that is a disbeliever". He then misquotes Shaykh-ul-Islam Ibn Taymiyyah (p. 9). However, his citations do not agree with his titles. For example, he misquotes parts of Al-Fatawa by Ibn Taymiyyah p. 9 (Al-Fatawa: vol. 7, p. 644, vol. 7, p. 377). Likewise, he misquotes the statements of "Uddat Al-Sabirin" by Ibn Al-Qayyim deleting the passages that refute the beliefs of Al-Murji'ah (a Muslim sect that excludes actions from the prerequisites of Faith). Similarly, in (p. 33), he deletes some words of Al-Fatawa by Ibn Taymiyyah, (Fatwa no. 11/87). Again, in (p.34) he misquotes Ibn Taymiyyah (Al-Fatawa: vol. 7, p. 638-639) and in (p.37)(Al-Fatawa: vol. 7, p. 494). Also, he omits the final conclusion of the statement of Ibn Al-Qayyim (Kitab Al-Salah, p. 59). He also misquotes Ibn Taymiyyah (refer to Ibn Taymiyyah's book: Al-Sarim Al-Maslul vol. 3, p. 967-969) in p. 64 and misquotes him again (Al-Sarim Al-Maslul vol. 3, p.971) in p. 67. Thus, this book is replete with academic offenses in favor of Al-Murji'ah sect; so it is forgery to introduce the book in the name of Ahl-ul-Sunnah wal-Jama`ah (those adhering to the Sunnah and the Muslim main body). The book thus must be banned and denied distribution. We also advise them to reconsider the matter, fear Allah, and return to the truth and avoid the misleading things.

May Allah grant us success! May peace and blessings of Allah be upon our Prophet Muhammad, his family and Companions!

Fatwa no. 21517

Q: Some people ask about the two books entitled "Al-tahdhir min Fitnat Al-takfir (the Warning Against the trial of Pronouncing Disbelief)" and "Sayhat Nadhir (the Cry of the Warner)" compiled by `Ali Hasan Al-Halabi. The two books call to the Madh-hab (school of jurisprudence) of Irja', which holds that actions are not a fundamental condition upon which the soundness of Iman (Faith) depends, and relate this opinion to Ahl-ul-Sunnah wal-Jama`ah (those adhering to the Sunnah and the Muslim main body). The author based the two books on distorted transmissions from Sheikh-ul-Islam Ibn Taymiyah, Al-Hafizh Ibn Kathir, and others (may Allah be merciful with them all). The advisors hope to see clarifications of the material of the books so that readers will be able to differentiate between truth and falsehood.

A: After studying the two books, the Committee found that the book entitled Al-Tahdhir min Fitnat Al-Takfir, compiled by `Ali Hasan Al-Halabi where he added to the sayings of scholars in the introduction and commentaries, includes the following:

1. The author based the book on the invalid and innovated Madh-hab of Al-Murji'ah (a deviant Islamic sect), who limit Kufr (disbelief) to denial, rejection, conscious Istihlal (believing that what is prohibited is to be made lawful) as seen on page 6, commentary 2, and also page 22. This opinion opposes that of Ahl-ul-Sunnah wal-Jama`ah who believe that doctrinal disbelief, actions, statements, and/or doubt entail Kufr.
2. The author distorted facts when transmitting from Ibn Kathir (may Allah be merciful with him) from Al-Bidayah wal Nihayah 13/118, where he stated in his commentary in page 15 - as cited from Ibn Kathir: "Verily, Genghis Khan claimed that Al-Yasiq was revealed by Allah and that is why they were regarded as Kafirs (disbelievers)." When referring to the stated page, the saying claimed to be Ibn Kathir's (may Allah be merciful with him) was not found.

3. He fabricated lies against Sheikh-ul-Islam Ibn Taymiyah (may Allah be merciful with him) in pages 17-18, where he falsely related to him the claim that ruling by other than what Allah has revealed was not considered Kufr by Sheikh-ul-Islam unless it is done out of knowledge, belief, and Istihlal. This is sheer fabrication against Sheikh-ul-Islam Ibn Taymiyah (may Allah have mercy on him), who promoted the Madh-hab of the Salaf (righteous predecessors), Ahl-ul-Sunnah wal-Jama`ah, which is already mentioned; however, this is the Math-hab of Al-Murji'ah.

4. He fabricated the meaning intended by the knowledgeable Sheikh Muhammad ibn Ibrahim (may Allah be merciful with him) in his treatise "Tahkim Al-Qawanin Al-Wad`iyyah" (Seeking the Rulings of Man-made Laws), as he falsely claimed that the Sheikh considers conscious Istihlal a condition for Kufr, although the statements of the Sheikh plainly indicate that he followed the opinion of Ahl-ul-Sunnah wal-Jama`ah.

5. He commented on the statements of the people of knowledge and implied that these statements mean what they do not mean, as in page 108, commentary 1; page 109, commentary 21; and page 110, commentary 2.

6. The book also lessens the sin of ruling by other than what Allah has revealed, particularly on page 5, commentary 1, claiming that paying special attention to enforcing Tawhid (belief in the Oneness of Allah) in this area is considered an imitation of the Rafidah (a Shi'ah group denying the caliphates of Abu Bakr Al-Siddiq and `Umar ibn Al-Khattab and making accusations against them and many other Companions of the Prophet), and this is a grave mistake.

7. On examining the second book entitled "Sayhat Nadhir", the Committee found that it is a supporting tool for the contents of the first book. Accordingly, the Permanent Committee believes that it is not permissible to print, publish, or distribute the two books because of the falsehood and fabrications they contain. We advise the author to fear Allah for himself and for Muslims, especially the youth, and endeavor to acquire knowledge of the Shari'ah (Islamic law) at the hands of scholars trusted for their knowledge and beliefs. Knowledge is a trust which should not be spread unless it is in accordance with the Qur'an and the Sunnah (whatever is reported from the Prophet). The author must renounce these opinions and highly shameful approaches in distorting the statements of the people of knowledge. It is known that returning to the truth is a virtue and a cause of dignity for Muslims.

May Allah grant us success! May peace and blessings be upon our Prophet Muhammad, his family, and Companions!

Fatwa no. 18265

Q: An Imam of a Muslim group in America, whose name I prefer not to mention, reiterates some heretic claims. For example, they claim that Prophet `Eisa (Jesus) was actually crucified; that Allah did not part the sea for Prophet Musa (Moses), that it is permissible for a Muslim woman to marry a Christian, and that Christians are better than Muslims in general. When the Imam of such group heard the Ayah of the stoning penalty, he described it as a barbaric penalty that should not be enforced. As for the Four Madh-habs (Hanafy, Maliki, Shafi`y, and Hanbali schools of law), he claims, they are confined to Arabs in practice, thus he founded his own Madh-hab that suits the Americans in addition to other false lies. As for himself, he claims he is the Christ and the Mahdy (a man named after the Prophet, who will appear as a sign of the Hour and rule according to Islamic law). However, later he abandoned his personal claims. A man from this group who worked as an Imam in his community twenty years ago came to our country and learned that such beliefs are false. Gradually, he learned the true Salafiyyah (the true creed of the righteous predecessors). He thus swore by Allah that he had never heard of the Salafiyyah except when he came to our country. Identifying the disbelief of the Imam mentioned above, we asked him to dissociate himself from that Imam and he acknowledged that the Imam is a Kafir (disbeliever) but he did not want to part with the group for the purpose of setting things right from the inside.

Now, how should we deal with that man? Is it permissible for him to stay involved in this group under the pretext of inviting its people to the true Islam? Should he distance himself from that Imam? If he refuses to leave this group, should we abandon him?

A: The aforesaid claims are the creeds of disbelievers. They contradict the teachings of the Qur'an and the consensus of Muslim scholars. Accordingly, anyone who imparts, accepts, believes in, or even does not separate himself from those who follow them, is a Kafir. The group that adopts such false creeds should not be regarded as an Islamic one and no Muslim is allowed to be a member of it except to deny and refute these deviant beliefs and invite its members to repent and accept true Islam. If they refuse, they should be abandoned and people should be warned against them. Allah (Exalted be He) says, ﴿ You (O Muhammad صلى الله عليه وسلم) will not find any people who believe in Allâh and the Last Day, making friendship with those who oppose Allâh and His Messenger (Muhammad صلى الله عليه وسلم), even though they were their fathers or their sons or their brothers or their kindred (people). ﴾ Allah (Exalted be He) also says, ﴿Indeed there has been an excellent example for you in Ibrâhîm (Abraham) and those with him, when they said to their people: "Verily, we are free from you and whatever you worship besides Allâh: we have rejected you, and there has started between us and you hostility and hatred for ever until you believe in Allâh Alone"﴾

secularism and Freedom of Religion

Fatwa no. 18396

Q: The Hanifiyyah creed in some countries is facing the challenges of secularism and its deviation from what is right. These are disguised in the shape of cunning explanations such as: It is made to avoid religious extremism and admitting the freedom of `Aqidah (creed) for every person; whether they would like to be believers or not.

In fact, the meaning of secularism is not confined to this only because it aims at not only corrupting the `Aqidah by this meaning but also goes beyond different interpretations which we can sum up in the following: Secularism fluctuates between different meanings according to the sayings and views of its advocates which is not less than five boundaries:

First, it recognizes freedom of religion for every person even though those who acknowledge secularism are assigned to a certain religion considering their religion the truth and others as wrong. This means: there is no objection that a Muslim leaves his religion because it is his sole right to do so.

Second, it recognizes freedom of religion for every person; believing in a certain religion but not giving precedence to any other over it.

Third, it recognizes freedom of religion for every person even if people disconnect themselves from every religion and treat them all equally.

Fourth, it does not recognize any religion and holds a neutral attitude demanding not to interfere in any religion as well as full neutrality before the different stances toward religions.

Fifth, it does not recognize any religion or `Aqidah and does not hold negative attitudes against them and does not support any opposing attitudes against religions.

We ask your eminence to tell us what the Islamic ruling is on secularism and secularists in the light of these interpretations because of the Muslims' condition and their inability to argue with the polytheists and apostates of our countries and the attempts of non-Muslims to render the actions of Muslims failures.

A: Secularism is the call of separating religion from the affairs of state and to take only the acts of worship and leave the other aspects of religions, and recognition of what is called "freedom of religion". Thus, whoever wants to be a Muslim will be Muslim, and whoever wants to leave it to embrace another religion or creed, he may do so. Secularism and other corrupted beliefs are immoral and bad calls which people must avoid, reveal its falseness, explain its danger and warn people against its evil because its evil is great and its danger is tremendous. We ask Allah (Exalted be He) for sanity and safety from its evil and the evil of its advocates.

May Allah grant us success! May peace and blessings be upon our Prophet Muhammad, his family and Companions!

Al-Tijaniyyah

The first question of Fatwa no. 18068

Q 1: I read a Fatwa (legal opinion issued by a qualified Muslim scholar) that rules Al-Tijaniyyah Tariqah (Sufi order) to be a Kafir (disbeliever), deviant group. Please advise concerning the reasons for this ruling.

A: al-Tijaniyyah Tariqah is a rejected group that does not correspond with the guidance of Islam. It entails Bida` (innovations in religion), acts of Munkar (that which is unacceptable or disapproved of by Islamic law and Muslims of sound intellect) and acts of Shirk (associating others with Allah in His Divinity or worship) which take one out of the fold of Islam. These practices include:

First, exceeding proper limits committed by Ahmad ibn Muhammad Al-Tijany, the founder of the Tariqah, and exceeding the proper limits made by his followers, to the extent that he thought he had the attributes of a Messenger or even a god, and his followers believed him in that.

Second, his belief in Ittihad (a Sufi claim of union with Allah) and Wahdat-ul-Wujud (pantheism), and claiming that he is in the highest rank of this status. His followers believed him and followed him in that.

Third, his declaration that help is given by Allah to the Prophet (peace be upon him), then to the rest of the prophets, then to himself, and then to the other people since the beginning and until the end of creation. His followers also believe in this.

Fourth, his attack of Allah and Awliya' (pious people), and his indecency with them. He stated that his foot was on the neck of each Waliy (referring to humiliation).

Fifth, his false claim that he knew the Ghayb (the Unseen) and what is within the minds of people, and that he controlled the hearts. His followers believe this and consider it one of his Karamahs (extraordinary events performed by a pious person).

Sixth, his distortion of the meaning of Ayahs of the Qur'an and interpreting them symbolically.

Seventh, his claim that every one who belongs to the Tijaniyyah Tariqah will enter Jannah (Paradise) without being questioned or punished, no matter what sins they committed.

These are some of the concepts adopted by Al-Tijaniyyah, extracted from their most trusted books, such as "Jawahir Al-Ma`ani" by `Aly Harazim and "Rimah Hizb Al-Rahim" by `Umar ibn Sa`id Al-Fawty.

May Allah grant us success! May peace and blessings be upon our Prophet Muhammad, his family and Companions!

Offering Salah behind Tijaniyyah Followers

Fatwa no. 18674

In Cameron we suffer from the problem of offering Salah (Prayer) behind a Muftadi` (one who introduces innovations in Islam) who follows the Tijaniyyah (a Sufi order that stresses culture, education, and ritual practices by disciples). It is the only Tariqah (Sufi order) which has prevailed for a very long time. This problem has led to disunity between the Du`ah (callers to Islam), since most of them believe that it is not permissible to offer Salah behind such Imams (those who lead congregational Prayer). They have based their belief on Fatwa no. 2089, which was issued by the Permanent Committee for Scholarly Research and Ifta', but we do not know whether the Fatwa is applicable to all Sufi orders or to one order in particular. We would like to present the actual situation of the people in our country so that you will give us a Fatwa specific to our condition that ends this Fitnah (trial).

Firstly, people have lived for forty years knowing nothing except the Tijaniyyah, and believing that it is the true Islam revealed to Allah's Messenger (peace be upon him) because there was no call to Salafiyyah (those following the way of the righteous predecessors). Thus, when the call to Salafiyyah began, it was regarded as an innovation.

Secondly, these people do not understand Arabic, and Islam cannot be understood except in Arabic. For example, some of them say "Allahu Akbar (Allah is the Greatest)" without understanding what the phrase means; they may even understand only some Ayahs (Qur'anic verses) of the Fatihah although they are Imams in Masjids (mosques).

Thirdly, there is no communication between them and the scholars of the Ummah (nation) and competent Du`ah.

Fourthly, they live in a non-Muslim country where there are no scholars and are thus away from Al-Haqq (the Truth).

Fifthly, those whom Allah has guided to understand the Salafiyyah and call to it are all from among the youth, and the elders do not trust their knowledge. In fact, they consider them ignorant youngsters who should be informed of the truth. Unfortunately, and because of Fatwa no. 2089, our young Du`ah declared that the followers of Tijaniyyah are Kafirs (disbelievers) after whom Salah should not be offered. This has led to several problems and rejection of Al-Haqq which the young Du`ah are calling to.

We hope Your Honor will advise us and consider the rules of Takfir (declaring someone to be a disbeliever). We ask you to give much concern to this country so that the Du`ah will unite and take the Da`wah in the correct manner in order to inform people how to properly deal with this Tariqah or any other Tariqah. As-salamu `alaykum warahmatullah wabarakatuh (May Allah's Peace, Mercy, and Blessings be upon you!)

A: The Fatwa we issued in which we declared the invalidity of offering Salah behind followers of Tijaniyyah represents Al-Haqq in accordance with the rules of Shari`ah (Islamic law). You must call to Allah with knowledge, deep insight, and make the means to your call wise and fair preaching.

Allah (Exalted be He) states: ﴿Say (O Muhammad صلى الله عليه وسلم): "This is my way; I invite unto Allâh (i.e. to the Oneness of Allâh - Islâmic Monotheism) with sure knowledge, I and whosoever follows me (also must invite others to Allâh i.e. to the Oneness of Allâh - Islâmic Monotheism with sure knowledge)﴾ He (Glorified be He) also states: ﴿Invite (mankind, O Muhammad صلى الله عليه وسلم) to the Way of your Lord (i.e. Islâm) with wisdom (i.e. with the Divine Revelation and the Qur'ân) and fair preaching﴾

You are required to explain the true `Aqidah (creed) to those whom you call to Allah and begin by calling to the pure `Ibadah (worship) along with supporting this with evidence from the Qur'an and the Sunnah (whatever is reported from the Prophet). Regarding the issue of Takfir, you should postpone it until the true `Aqidah becomes deeply rooted in the people's hearts.

May Allah grant us success! May peace and blessings be upon our Prophet Muhammad, his family, and Companions!

Al-Rafidah (a Shi`ah group denying the caliphates of Abu Bakr Al-Siddiq and `Umar ibn Al-Khattab and making accusations against them and many other Companions of the Prophet)

The first question of Fatwa no. 12849

Q 1: What is the legal decision on a person who claims that Jibril (Gabriel, peace be upon him) descends on some people after the death of the Prophet (Peace be upon him) and that He descended over Fatimah to console her?

A: The claim that Jibril descends over some people after the death of the Prophet (peace be upon him) is not true.

Fifth question of Fatwa no. 10733

Q 5: What is the ruling on the contemporary groups of Shi`ah (Shi'ites)? Are they considered Kafirs (disbelievers), bearing in mind that some of them believe that Jibril (Gabriel, peace be upon him) delivered the message to Prophet Muhammad (peace be upon him) by mistake instead of delivering it to `Ali (may Allah honor him)?

A: Whoever believes in what is mentioned in the question amongst Shi`ah is a Kafir (disbeliever) for defaming

The fourth question of Fatwa no. 11056

Q 4: It is claimed that there are three branches of knowledge revealed to Prophet Muhammad (peace be upon him): First: "The legal knowledge" that was mandatory to convey to people. Second: "The spiritual knowledge" that was optional to convey and he taught to `Aly ibn Abu Talib. Third: "The special knowledge" confined to the Prophet alone that he was ordered to keep secret. Is there any proof that affirms these claims? May Allah reward you with the best!

A: Classifying the (Wahy) revelation sent down to Prophet Muhammad (peace be upon him) into three kinds as mentioned has nothing to do with the Wahy divisions. As for the claim of some people that there is "spiritual knowledge" that was optional to convey and he taught it to `Aly ibn Abu Talib, it is false and has no evidence from the Book of Allah or the Sunnah of His Messenger (peace be upon him).

May Allah grant us success! May peace and blessings of Allah be upon our Prophet Muhammad, his family and Companions!

Q: when did Shi`ah (Shi'ites) and Qadianiyyah beliefs appear?

A: Supporting Ahl-ul-Bayt (members of the Prophet's extended Muslim family) began during the Caliphate of `Ali (may Allah be pleased with him). He denounced them for this, and burned a group of them who claimed him to be an Ilah (god). As for the Qadianiyyah, they appeared at the end of the thirteenth century.

Al-Batiniyyah

Al-Qaramitah and Al-Batiniyyah

The sixth question of Fatwa no. 18952

Q 6: What is your opinion regarding Al-Qaramitah and Al-Batiniyyah? Are they considered Islamic sects or Kafir (disbelieving) ones? Please provide us with some information on them along with some other sects.

A: both Al-Qaramitah and Al-Batiniyyah do not belong to Islam. Rather they are Kafirs (disbelievers) and heretics. Scholars have written specific books to explain the falseness of the ideologies and beliefs of the sects in question. You may thus refer to these books and give special attention to the writings of Shaykh-ul-Islam Ibn Taymiyyah (may Allah be Merciful with him).

Al-Makarimah

The fourteenth and fifteenth questions of Fatwa no. 20308

Q 14: Those who follow the Manhaj (methodology) of Al-Mukrimy claim that `Aly ibn Abu Talib is the first Caliph; they abuse the other Caliphs and the rest of the Sahabah (Companions of the Prophet), and they also accuse the mother of the believers, `Aishah.

A: There is a lot of evidence that the first Caliph after the Prophet (peace be upon him) was Abu Bakr Al-Siddiq (may Allah be pleased with him), whether they were reported from him or from other Sahabah. However, the Prophet (peace be upon him) did not say this directly and definitely, but he only gave orders that entails so; he asked him to lead the people in Salah (Prayer) when he (peace be upon him) was ill. When he was asked about his successor, he (peace be upon him) said, «Allah and the Mu'minin \(believers\) do not admit anyone to that position but Abu Bakr.» Thus, the Sahabah, including `Aly (may Allah be pleased with him), gave him their Bay`ah (pledge of allegiance) after the death of the Prophet (peace be upon him). They unanimously agreed on Abu Bakr being the best among them.

It was authentically reported in the Hadith narrated by Ibn `Umar (may Allah be pleased with him) that the Sahabah (may Allah be pleased with them) used to say during the lifetime of the Prophet (peace be upon him), «The best of this Ummah \(nation\) after the Prophet are Abu Bakr then `Umar then `Uthman. The Prophet \(peace be upon him\) acknowledged this.» Athar (narrations from the Companions) were narrated by a significant number of narrators that `Aly (may Allah be pleased with him) used to say, "The best one among the Muslims after their Prophet is Abu Bakr then `Umar ." He (may Allah be pleased with him) also used to say, "Anyone who claims that I am better than them will be whipped for slander." He never claimed that he is the best one among the Ummah, that the Messenger of Allah (peace be upon him) enjoined that he would be his successor, or that the Sahabah wronged him and usurped his right.

When Fatimah (may Allah be pleased with her) died, he gave a second Bay`ah to Al-Siddiq in assurance of the first Bay`ah and to show the people that he approved of the Bay`ah of Abu Bakr (may Allah be pleased with him). When `Umar (may Allah be pleased with him) was stabbed, he made the matter a Shura (consultation) among six of the ten Sahabah who were given the glad tidings of entering Jannah (Paradise); among whom was `Aly (may Allah be pleased with him). He did not denounce `Umar for this, neither in his lifetime nor after his death, and he did not say he has priority over them all. How can anybody tell lies on the tongue of the Messenger of Allah (peace be upon him) and claim that he had appointed `Aly as his successor, even though `Aly himself did not claim this, nor did any of the Sahabah? They unanimously agreed on the validity of the Caliphate of Abu Bakr, `Umar and `Uthman. `Aly (may Allah be pleased with him) admitted this, and cooperated with the three of them in Jihad (fighting in the Cause of Allah), Shura and other issues. The generation after the Sahabah unanimously agreed on what the Sahabah agreed on. Thus, it is impermissible for anyone, whether Shi'ah (Shi'ites) or others, to claim that `Aly is the successor of the Messenger of Allah, and that the Caliphate before him was Batil (null and void). It is also impermissible for anyone to claim that the Sahabah wronged `Aly and usurped his right. This is an evident falsehood and a form of mistrust in the Sahabah, including `Aly (may Allah be pleased with them all).

Allah (Exalted be He) protected the Islamic Ummah (nation) from consensus on a falsehood. It was authentically reported that the Prophet (peace be upon him) said in many Hadiths, \(A group of people from my Ummah will remain victorious \(and on the right path\).\) It is impossible that the Ummah unanimously agrees on falsehood in the best of centuries, which is the Caliphate of Abu Bakr, `Umar and `Uthman. Anyone who believes in Allah (Exalted be He) and the Day of Judgment, and who has the slightest idea about Islam would never say so.

Abusing the Sahabah (may Allah be pleased with them) is a Munkar (that which is unacceptable or disapproved of by Islamic law and Muslims of sound intellect) and adversity to Allah (Exalted be He) and His Messenger (peace be upon him). Allah (Glorified and Exalted be He) clarified many times in the Qur'an that He is pleased with them, such as His saying, \(And the foremost to embrace Islâm of the Muhâjirûn \(those who migrated from Makkah to Al-Madinah\) and the Ansâr \(the citizens of Al-Madinah who helped and gave aid to the Muhâjirûn \) and also those who followed them exactly \(in Faith\). Allâh is well-pleased with them as they are well-pleased with Him. He has prepared for them Gardens under which rivers flow \(Paradise\), to dwell therein forever. That is the supreme success.\) He (Exalted be He) also says, \(Indeed, Allâh was pleased with the believers when they gave the Bai'ah \(pledge\) to you \(O Muhammad صلى الله عليه وسلم\) under the tree\) If a person dies while still abusing the Sahabah or accusing the Mother of the Believers, `Aishah (may Allah be pleased with her), they have died while in a state of Kufr (disbelief), as they have doubted the truth of Allah and His Messenger, for Allah (Glorified be He) has praised the Sahabah, is pleased with them and has declared the innocence of `Aishah in the Qur'an.

Q: The followers of Al-Mukrimy order people not to perform Hajj unless one of the people of Al-Mukrimy orders someone to go with them. On their way to perform Hajj, they ask the people performing Hajj for the first time to slaughter a sacrifice as a vow and order women to make Tawaf (circumambulation around the Ka`bah) seven rounds in addition to the seven rounds of Tawaf for `Umrah (lesser pilgrimage) and Hajj and they call this Tawaf "Tawaf for women".

A15: Their saying that there must be one of the followers of the Al-Mukrimy order with the pilgrims is totally unfounded. It is an invalid condition that is against the sanctified Shari`ah and it must be disregarded. Every Muslim has to understand his religion and know the rulings on Hajj and other acts of worship in order to perform Hajj and other acts of worship based on knowledge. This is according to the saying of the Prophet (peace be upon him): ﴿"If Allah wants to do good to a person, He makes him comprehend the religion."﴾ (Agreed upon by Al-Bukhari and Muslim). As regards the order of the person from Al-Mukrimy for every person making pilgrimage for the first time to slaughter a sacrifice as a vow and also his ordering the women to make Tawaf seven rounds as Tawaf for women, they are Bid`ah (innovation in religion) that have no origin in Islam. In fact, they are additions to Islam of things which Allah (Exalted be He) did not permit. We pray to Allah (Exalted be He) to grant all of us success to do what is right and protect us from misguidance and delusions.

May Allah grant us success! May peace and blessings be upon our Prophet Muhammad, his family, and Companions!

Bid`ah (innovation in religion)

The first question of Fatwa no. 17522

Q: What is the meaning of Bid'ah? We want you to define this term clearly. Indeed, there are some people who say that everything that was not practiced during the lifetime of the Prophet (peace be upon him) and his Sahabah (Companions of the Prophet) is a Bid`ah. How should we reply to them?

A: The word Bid`ah is literally taken from Al-Bid` which is initiating something without any precedent, as Allah (Exalted be He) says: ﴿The Originator of the heavens and the earth.﴾ that is creating them in the most beautiful and splendid way without any precedent. He (Exalted be He) further says: ﴿Say (O Muhammad صلى الله عليه وسلم): "I am not a new thing among the Messengers (of Allâh i.e. I am not the first Messenger)﴾ i.e. I am not the first prophet to receive revelation from Allah; rather Allah sent messengers before me to bring glad tidings of Jannah (Paradise) to those who believed and the warning of Hell to those who disbelieved and I am following their way.

There are two kinds of innovation:

The first has to do with customs, such as the invention of modern machinery and this is permissible, because the basic principle with regard to customs is that they are permissible.

The second type has to do with newly-introduced innovations in religion. This is haram, because all the rulings of Din (religion) are subjected to Tawqif (a religious text and not personal opinion), and as such, are only taken from the Book of Allah and the Sunnah of His Messenger (peace be upon him).

The innovations that pertain to the Din could also be grouped into two types:

The first is doctrinal Bid`ah, such as that of the misguided sects of Jahmiyyah (a deviant Islamic sect denying some Attributes of Allah, claiming they are ascribed to people and cannot be ascribed to Allah), and Mu`tazilah (a deviant Islamic sect claiming that those who commit major sins are in a state between belief and disbelief), and other misguided sects.

The second kind of Bid`ah is the one that pertains to worship, such as when a person performs `Ibadah (worship) in a manner that was not ordained by Allah (Exalted be He), but the innovator increased or decreased or performed it in a manner that was not prescribed. Any bid`ah in religion is Haram, for the Prophet (peace be upon him) said: ﴿He who innovates things in our affairs for which there is no valid (reason) (commits sin) and these are to be rejected.﴾ Related by Al-Bukhari and Muslim from the Hadith narrated by `Aishah (may Allah be pleased with her). It is also narrated in Sahih Muslim that he (peace be upon him) said: ﴿He who did any act for which there is no sanction from our behalf, that is to be rejected.) Also narrated by Muslim on the authority of Jabir ibn `Abdullah (may Allah be pleased with him) that (Whenever the Messenger of Allah (peace be upon him) delivered a Khutbah, his eyes would become red and his tone loud. He used to show anger as if he were warning us against an army. He (peace be upon him) would say, "The enemy is about to attack you in the morning and is advancing against you in the evening.") and he used to say: (The last Hour and I have been sent like these two"); he would join his forefinger and middle finger; and would further say: ("The best of speech is embodied in the Book of Allah, and the best of guidance is that given by Muhammad (peace be upon him). The most evil affairs are novelties; and every Bid'ah leads to misguidance.") Then, he would say: ("I should be dearer to Muslims than themselves. If a person leaves behind property, it will be for their families. If a person dies while in debt or leaves children (in need), the responsibility (of paying their debt and bringing up their children) lies on me.")

This impermissibility varies in degrees, as some innovations might amount to Kufr, such as circumambulating the graves as a kind of worship to its occupants as well as slaughtering and vowing for them. Other innovations are means leading to Kufr, such as building on graves, and performing Salah (Prayer) and supplicating to Allah (Exalted be He) by them. Others pertain to corrupt doctrines as we mentioned, and others are considered sins such as celibacy/abstinence (from intercourse) and castrating oneself to avoid sexual desire.

staying in a village that practices Bid`ahs

Fatwa no. 12927

Q: The questioner explains his circumstances and those of the town where his mother is staying. She keeps asking him to stay with her in the same town.

A: Given that the situation is as you have mentioned, if you can find a job in your town that sustains you so that you will be able to advise your family without being affected by their Bid`ahs (innovations in religion), it will be better to obey your mother out of maintaining the ties of kinship and hoping that the people of your town might be guided through you. If you cannot find a suitable job in your town; you think that the people there will most probably reject your advice; or you fear that they might tempt you or your children with their Bid`ahs, there will be no harm on you if you stay in Alexandria or so to protect yourself and your children from Shirk (associating others with Allah in worship). However, you should also maintain the ties of kinship with your mother and your relatives with money and visits as much as possible, according to Allah's saying, ﴿Allâh burdens not a person beyond his scope.﴾ He (Glorified be He) also says, ﴿So keep your duty to Allâh and fear Him as much as you can﴾ The Prophet (peace be upon him) said, ﴿When I command you to do anything, do of it as much as you possibly can.﴾ Leaving the places of Fitnah (temptation) and Bid`ahs related to Shirk to a place where your religion is protected, where you cooperate with Ahl-ul-Sunnah (those adhering to Sunnah), and where you are able to earn your living lawfully, is considered a Hijrah (a believer's migration to an Islamic land) for the sake of Allah.

Q: We, the people of Wady Qadid, hope Your Eminence will guide us concerning the ruling on Tasat Al-Sum, which is believed by some people to have the Greatest Name of Allah in it and that it cures poisoning, by the Will of Allah, if an ill person drinks water from it or puts it in a pot of water, which has been brought to Your Eminence. drinking water from it to the extent of saying that it treated them. May Allah's Peace, Mercy, and Blessings be upon you!

A: Having studied the writings engraved in Tasat Al-Sum in question, the Committee prohibits using it for many reasons, the gravest of which is that the use of this pot is a means leading to Shirk (associating others with Allah in His Divinity or worship) due to the names of Ahl-ul-Bayt (members of the Prophet's extended Muslim family) engraved in it, as well as pictures of animals and signs of the zodiac. In addition, it entails contempt of the Names of Allah (Glorified and Exalted be He).

the book "Dala'il Al-Khayrat" and the Bid'ahs (innovations in religion) it contains

Fatwa No. 15880

Q: I hope you will issue a Fatwa concerning this book. Is it permissible to read and keep it? Here are some sentences from the book: "The purpose of this book is to mention the way and virtue of invoking Allah's peace and blessings upon the Prophet (peace be upon him). We mention them without their Sanad (chain of narrators), so that the reader can easily memorize them. It is of the most important tasks for whoever wants to draw closer to Allah (Exalted be He). I entitled it Dala'il Al-Khayrat Wa Shawariq Al-Anwar Fi Dhikr Al-Salah `Ala Al-Naby Al-Mukhtar."

It was reported that the Prophet (peace be upon him) said: \("Verily, there will come to the Cistern on the Day Resurrection people whom I will only know by their frequent supplication for peace and blessings upon me."\)

This is a copy of a page of this book: "Bismillah Al-Rahman, Al-Rahim [In the Name of Allah, the Most Gracious, the Most Merciful], O Allah, for the sake of your prophet Muhammad (peace be upon him), Your Love for him and his for You, and the secret kept between You and him, ... etc."

"O Allah, confer peace and blessings upon Muhammad and his family whose light is of Your Light and whose power of light revealed all secrets."

A: The book in question entitled "Dala'il Al-Khayrat"

is known by trustworthy scholars as misleading, for it over-praises the Messenger (peace be upon him), and includes supplications by calling upon him and claiming that his light is of Allah's Light, and that his light revealed all secrets as quoted by the questioner. Such praying and over-praising are baseless. People should not be deceived by this book. It should not be read, except by someone who wants to refute and warn against it. There are many authentic books that explain how to invoke Allah's peace and blessings upon the Prophet (peace be upon him) such as Jala' Al-Afham Fi Al-Salah Wa Al-Salam `Ala Khayr Al-Anam by Ibn Al-Qayyim.

Fatwa no. 17831

Q: We received some audio tapes of two eminent scholars, Sheikh Muhammad Nasir Al-Din Al-Albany the Muhaddith (Hadith scholar) of Al-Sham (The Levant), and Shaykh Muqbil ibn Hady Al-Wadi'y the Muhaddith of Yemen. In these tapes the two distinguished Sheikhs spoke about the renowned Da'iyah (caller to Islam) `Abdul-Rahim Al-Tahhan for they received some letters and inquiries from some of Ahl-ul-Sunnah (those adhering to the Sunnah) in Qatar about the soundness of some opinions that were ascribed to Al-Tahhan such as:

(Part No. 2; Page No. 168)

- 1- That imitating the Four Madh-habs (Hanafi, Maliki, Shafi`, and Hanbali) is Wajib (obligatory) and that rejecting them is nothing but deviation.
- 2- That he denies entirely the principles of Jarh (criticism of Hadith narrators) and Ta`dil (validating the uprightness of Hadith narrators).
- 3- That he, Al-Tahhan, praises highly the Sufis and accuses those who oppose them of being going astray.
- 4- That he is of the opinion that the dead can hear in their graves. He also believes that they perform Salah (Prayer) in their graves and see whomever visits them.
- 5- His opinion that it is possible for a person to see the Prophet (peace be upon him) in this world while they are awake. He mentioned as proof that Nur Al-Din Zinky saw the Prophet in this world while he was awake.
- 6- His claim that looking at the face of the Prophet (peace be upon him) or the faces of the Sahabah (Companions of the Prophet) is equivalent to offering `Ibadah (worship) for thousands of years and that looking at the face of Al-Imam Ahmad is equivalent to offering `Ibadah for one year.

It is worth mentioning that some of our Muslim brothers here in Egypt justify Al-Tahhan's position by saying that he may mean Sufis who are praised by Shaykh-ul-Islam (scholar of Islam) Ibn Taymiyyah (may Allah be merciful with him) in his booklet Al-Sufiyyah Wal-Fuqara' (Sufis and the poor). They also say that seeing the Prophet (peace be upon him) in this world may be possible. A proof for this, they proceed, is that some pilgrims saw `Abdullah ibn Al-Mubarak (may Allah be merciful with him) performing Hajj with them though he did not actually go for Hajj in that year. When they returned back from Hajj they told `Abdullah ibn Al-Mubarak that they saw him there and he did not comment.

(Part No. 2; Page No. 169)

Is this story correct and may it be used as a proof for the possibility of seeing the Prophet (peace be upon him) in this world while a person is awake?

Did Al-Tahhan divert from the way of Ahl-ul-Sunnah to the way of the people of Bid`ah (innovations in religion) after he left Hejaz and moved to Qatar?

Should we consider Al-Tahhan a Muftadi` (one who introduces innovations in religion)? Is it correct that the dead can hear from their graves? Is not imitating the Four Madh-habs considered deviation and turning away from the straight path?

Are these opinions ascribed authentically to Al-Tahhan? If so, are they correct?

We are here in Egypt disturbed by the matter of Al-Tahhan. We would like to know whether he ended up following the way of Ahl-ul-Sunnah or that of the people of Bid`ah? Please provide us with your answer as soon as possible.

A: All these opinions which are ascribed to `Abdul-Rahim Al-Tahhan are false and people must be warned against. They all violate the Qur'an and Sunnah (whatever is reported from the Prophet, peace be upon him). However, a person has not to imitate any scholar. Rather, opinions of scholars have only to be followed when there is evidence for them.

All Muslims must follow the Messenger (peace be upon him) for he is the model to be emulated by all believers as Allah (may he be Glorified) states: ﴿ Indeed in the Messenger of Allâh \(Muhammad صلى الله عليه وسلم\) you have a good example to follow ﴾

Allah (Exalted be He) also states: ﴿ And whatsoever the Messenger \(Muhammad صلى الله عليه وسلم\) gives you, take it; and whatsoever he forbids you, abstain \(from it\). ﴾ On the other hand, the principle of Jarh and ta`dil of narrators is agreed upon amongst scholars to examine the authenticity of Hadith not to defame people or speak evil of them. However, only well-versed scholars of Hadith are allowed to practice Jarh and Ta`dil.

besides, Sufism is a bid`ah (innovation in religion) for which Allah has sent down no authority. Most Sufis of today are deviant and astray, and it is impermissible to praise them. Rather, it is Wajib (obligatory) to follow the Sunnah. Concerning the dead hearing in their graves, this is something that cannot be proven except by evidence. It is something that relates to the conditions of Barzakh (period between death and the Resurrection) that no one knows except Allah. Even if a specific incidence of the dead hearing in their graves had been authentically reported, this would not validate making Du`a' (supplication) to the dead or seeking their help; as doing so is a form of major Shirk (associating others with Allah in His Divinity or worship).

In addition, it is impossible for anyone to see the Prophet (peace be upon him) or anyone who has passed away while they are awake. Those who consider this possible cannot present any proof for their view. This is because the deceased do not return to this world, and Allah (Exalted be He) said:

﴿ Do they not see how many of the generations We have destroyed before them? Verily, they will not return to them. ﴾ He (Glorified be He) also states: ﴿ After that, surely, you will die. ﴾ ﴿ Then \(again\), surely, you will be resurrected on the Day of Resurrection. ﴾ Finally, claiming that looking at the face of the Prophet (peace be upon him) or anyone else brings any benefit is incorrect, for many Kafirs (disbelievers) and hypocrites did so and it did not benefit them. People only benefit from their Iman (belief) in Allah and His Messenger (peace be upon him) and from their good deeds.

The eighth question of Fatwa no. 18074

Q 8: Some Circassian Muslims who indulge in many Bid`ahs (innovations in religion) live in my area. All praise be to Allah Alone; Allah makes it easy for me to allocate one day a week to teach them matters of Din (religion). My question is whether it is permissible for me to teach girls especially the adult ones? What are the conditions of doing so? Besides, is it permissible for me to overlook some Bid`ahs and forbid them only on a gradual basis?

(Part No. 2; Page No. 172)

A: It is not permissible for a man to teach a woman who does not wear Hijab (veil). Moreover, it is not permissible for a man to teach a woman in Khulwah (being in privacy with a member of the opposite sex) even if she wears Hijab. It is worth mentioning that the woman's whole body is `Awrah (private parts of the body that must be covered in public) as far as non-Mahram (not a spouse or an unmarriageable relative) men are concerned. In addition, covering the head and exposing the face is not full Hijab.

Nevertheless, it is permissible for men to teach women from behind a screen at schools where there is no free intermixing of males and females amongst the students or the teachers.

You may thus teach the girls that you have mentioned in the question provided that you abide by the foregoing Islamic measures. If you do so, you will receive great reward from Allah for explaining religious matters to people and warning them against Bid`ahs and superstition which are amongst the best deeds. According to authentic Sunnah (whatever is reported from the Prophet), anyone who guides people to do a good deed will get the same reward as theirs without their reward being decreased in any way. To be more specific, we will quote the Hadith which is narrated on the authority of Abu Hurayrah (may Allah be pleased with him) that the Messenger of Allah (peace be upon him) said, \(Anyone who calls others to follow right guidance, their reward will be equivalent to those who follow them \(in righteousness\) without their reward being diminished in any respect, and anyone who invites others to follow error, their sin will be equivalent to that of the people who follow them \(in sinfulness\) without their sins being diminished in any respect.\) (Related by Muslim).

On the other hand, it is not permissible for you to disregard Bid`ahs or to adulate people who indulge in them. Rather, you have to manage this matter with wisdom and fair preaching while making Da`wah (calling to the way of Allah) and you have to avoid harshness and cruelty. To sum up, you have to follow the way that you think is more suitable and effective for such people to accept Da`wah.

May Allah grant us success! May peace and blessings be upon our Prophet Muhammad, his family and Companions!

The second question of Fatwa no. 18145

Q 2: As Bid`ahs (innovations in religion) spread nowadays; what are the Bid`ahs that if a person avoids they will be saved from punishment in the Hereafter? Provide us with your beneficial answer please. May Allah reward you with the best.

A: The word "Bid`ahs" is a plural of "Bid`ah" which refers to something that is innovated in Din (religion). Muslims have to avoid Bid`ahs and beware of them for the Prophet (peace be upon him) said, \(Anyone who does an act which does not conform to our Din will have it rejected.\) He (peace be upon him) also said, [\(Avoid novelties \[in religion\], for every novelty is a Bid`ah, and every Bid`ah is deviation.\)](#) bid`ahs related to the recitation of the Qur'an

Fatwa no. 12707

Q: A man wants to know the ruling on the way that Al-Ahmadiyyah Tariqah (Sufi order) follows to eliminate catastrophes through reading Surah (Qur'anic chapter) Ya-Sin. The translation of his letter states:

A group of people follows the Tariqah called Ahmadiyyah Al-Idrisiyyah belonging to the so-called Ahmad ibn Idris. The questioner sent this letter as a response to campaigns leveled against Islam by its enemy and the way they use to overcome these campaigns by reading Surah Ya-Sin forty-one times. The sender supports his letter with two incidents. First: During the reign of the president Sukarno the communist leader called Eudit was arrested and sued because -according to the sender- the members of this Tariqah recited Surah Ya-Sin forty-one times every Thursday consecutively - May Allah guide them!

Second: A president of a Muslim country took it upon himself to make scholars of his own country like the scholars of Turkey. According to the sender, this president was deposed from authority because they read Surah Ya-Sin three times at night on three consecutive Thursdays - May Allah guide them! The sender requests the Committee members to perform Salat-ul-Istikharah (prayer for guidance) before answering his question and take his letter seriously to fully grasp its contents and enable the Muslim organizations to protect Muslims. The sender is ready to send the exact method in which people read Surah Ya-Sin forty-one times, if needed.

A: Reading Surah Ya-Sin forty-one times is a Bid`ah (innovation in religion) that has no basis in Islam. It was authentically narrated that the Prophet (peace be upon him) said, \(If somebody innovates something which is not in harmony with the principles of our religion, that thing will be rejected.\) Fighting the enemies of Islam and frustrating their evil plots should be done by the Shari`ah proofs that disclose their falsehood and foil their plots. If the enemies who are disbelievers refuse to repent, Muslims must fight them. If they are disobedient Muslims, the Muslim ruler must punish them in a way that wards off evil and harm from Muslims. If they do acts that entail Had (ordained punishment for violating Allah's Law), the Had must be carried out.

Reciting Al-Fatihah at graves

Fourth question of Fatwa no. 15662

Q 4: Could you please recite Surah Al-Fatihah for me at the grave of our noble Messenger (peace be upon him)?

A: It is impermissible to recite surah (Qur'anic chapter) Al-Fatihah on behalf of the Prophet or at his grave (peace be upon him). This applies to all other people i.e. it is impermissible to recite Al-Fatihah on behalf of a person or at their grave. Such practices are considered Bid'ah (innovation in religion) that you have to abandon.

May Allah grant us success! May peace and blessings be upon our Prophet Muhammad, his family, and Companions!

The second question of Fatwa no. 16025

Q 2: Is the saying: "sadaq Allah-ul-`Azhim" after reciting the Qur'an a Bid`ah (rejected innovation in religion) and not a Sunnah?

A: Saying, "Sadaq Allah-ul-`Azhim" after recitation is religiously groundless. Saying it therefore on a regular basis is a kind of Bid`ah that should be abandoned, as the Messenger of Allah (peace be upon him) said: \(He who did any act for which there is no sanction from our behalf, that is to be rejected.\)

Q: Many booklets are circulating containing what is called "Qira'at Al-`Eidia". It is as follows: recite Surah Ya-Seen seven times, then recite from the beginning of the Surah until Allah's statement: \(and We have covered them up, so that they cannot see.\) Then say: O Allah, Whose Light is in His Secret and His secret is in His creation. O Allah, protect me from the eyes of evil gazers and envious people! Keep me safe as You preserve the soul in the body. You are Omnipotent over all things. Then, recite until Allah's statement: \(and made me of the honoured ones!\) Then say: O Allah, bestow your grace upon me by fulfilling my needs and recite until the Ayah that reads: \(That is the Decree of the All-Mighty, the All-Knowing.\) After reciting this Ayah for eleven times, say: O Allah, I ask You from Your bounty and generosity to make me in no need of any of your Servants, then begin reciting until Allah's statement: \(\(It will be said to them\): Salâm \(peace be on you\) - a Word from the Lord \(Allâh\), Most Merciful.\) Repeat it fourteen times. Then, say thrice: "O Allah, keep us safe from the calamities of this world, and then recite until the Ayah: \(Is not He Who created the heavens and the earth, Able to create the like of them? Yes, indeed!\) Then, say thrice: And Allah is capable of fulfilling my need. Finish reciting the Surah and recite the following Du`a' (supplication): "O source of good and the best faith." The merit of this surah is evident to all. The Prophet (peace be upon him) stated: All things have a heart, and the heart of the Qur'an is Ya-Seen. He also stated: Ya-Seen is for whatever it is read for. Then, you recite the Surah of Al-Ikhlâs, Al-Mu`awwidhatayn (Surahs Al-Falaq and Al-Nas), and the Surah of Al-Inshirah.

What is the ruling on this recitation? Please, advise! May Allah guide you to success.

A: This recitation is a baseless Bid`ah. It has no legal foundation in the Qur'an and the Sunnah. Also, none of the Rightly-Guided Caliphs or the Salaf (righteous predecessors) of this Ummah (community) were ever reported to have done anything of the sort. Muslims should suffice themselves with the authentic Adhkar (invocations) narrated from the Prophet (peace be upon him).

Q: I read in an Islamic book that whoever has some need and wants it fulfilled should read Surah Al-Fatihah (Opening Chapter of the Qur'an) forty times after Maghrib (Sunset) Prayer. Once finished and before leaving, one's request will undoubtedly be fulfilled - In sha'a-Allah (if Allah wills). Is this saying correct?

A: It is not permissible for a Muslim to recite Al-Fatihah forty times to have some needs fulfilled. This is one of the newly-invented Bid'ahs (innovations in religion). It is not correct that the need of a Muslim who reads it will be fulfilled; rather, it is part of the promotion of this Bid'ah and a confusion for the common people.

The second question of Fatwa No. 16343

Q 2: What is the ruling on daily recitation of two Hizb of the Qur'an in congregation in the Masjid (mosque)? Can it be considered a daily Wird (portion of Qur'an recited with consistency)?

A: You are granted a great reward whenever you recite the Qur'an with a good intention, wherever you are, whether it is in the Masjid or not, and at any time. You should not limit yourself to a specific portion, but rather recite whatever you can with ease from the Qur'an. Examples of Adhkar and Wirds prescribed in Shari'ah include reciting Aayat Al-Kursiy after every obligatory prayer, after the Adhkar that are prescribed and when going to sleep. One may also recite Surahs of Al-Ikhlās and Al-Mu'awwidhatayn (Surahs Al-Falaq and Al-Nas) three times when going to sleep, after Fajr prayer, after Maghrib Prayer and once after Zhuhr (noon), 'Asr (afternoon), and 'Isha' (night) prayers. One may recite the Du'a' and Adhkar of the day and night and those prescribed when going to sleep. You can find all these Adhkar and Du'a' in the books of Adhkar, such as Riyadh Al-Salihin, Al-Targhib Wa Al-Tarhib and Ibn Al-Qayyim's book Al-Wabil Al-Sayib. On the other hand, it is impermissible to recite the Qur'an collectively and simultaneously. However, if you do so to learn and teach Qur'an, it is Mustahab (desirable). The Prophet (peace be upon him) used to review the Qur'an with Jibril (may Allah be pleased with him) once a year, and in the year in which he died he reviewed it with him twice. It was authentically reported that the Prophet (peace be upon him) said: «No group of people gathers in one of the houses of Allah to recite His Book and study it together, but tranquility descends upon them, the angels surround them, mercy comes down upon them, and Allah mentions them to those who are with Him.»

Q: What is the ruling on reading the following Ayahs (Qur'anic verses) on the baby upon weaning?

(Part No. 2; Page No. 182)

Does this act have an origin in the Shari`ah (Islamic law)? The Ayahs are:

- 1- The saying of Allah (Exalted be He): ﴿And We had already forbidden (other) foster suckling mothers for him, until she (his sister came up and) said: "Shall I direct you to a household who will rear him for you, and look after him in a good manner?"﴾
- 2- His saying: ﴿Say (O Muhammad صلى الله عليه وسلم): "Who has forbidden the adornment with clothes given by Allâh, which He has produced for His slaves)﴾
- 3- His saying: ﴿Therefore it (this holy land) is forbidden to them for forty years)﴾
- 4- His saying: ﴿O Prophet! Why do you forbid (for yourself) that which Allâh has allowed to you)﴾

The person who recites these Ayahs on the baby will end his recitation with the saying of Allah (Exalted be He) that reads:

﴿Had We sent down this Qur'ân on a mountain, you would surely have seen it humbling itself and rent asunder by the fear of Allâh.﴾

Then, he blows air three times over the baby. Was the Prophet (peace be upon him) reported to have done this act so we should do it? Should we avoid it since it has no origin in Islam? Please, advise. May Allah reward you with the best!

Q 3: In the Masjids(mosques) in our area, the Shaykhs recite Surah Al-Mulk, the first verses of Surah Al-baqrah, Ayat-ul-Kursy, the last verses of the same Surah, Al-Mu`awwidhatayn (Surahs Al-Falaq and Al-Nas) and Surah Al-Fatihah after calling the Adhan (call to Prayer) of `Isha' and before starting Salah. What is the ruling on this? Was it reported that the Prophet (peace be upon him) did so?

A: Reciting these verses, some Surahs and Mu`awwidhatayn or

Tashahhud (a recitation in the sitting position in the second/ last unit of Prayer) collectively after Adhan and before starting Salah of `Isha' or after Taslim (salutation of peace ending the Prayer) of each obligatory Salah is baseless and counts as a Bid`ah (innovation in religion). It has not been reported that the Prophet (peace be upon him) did so. It is a Sunnah (a commendable act) to recite Ayat-ul-Kursy immediately after each obligatory Salah following the recitation of Adhkar. The evidence is derived from a narration reported by Abu Umamah that the Messenger of Allah (peace be upon him) said: \(Whoever recites Ayat-ul-Kursy \(verse No. 255 of Surah Al-Baqarah\) following every obligatory prayer, then there is nothing between him and his entrance into Paradise except his death.\) It is also a Sunnah to recite Surah Al-Ikhlās and Al-Mu`awwidhatayn after each Salah, as Abu Dawud in his Sunnan narrated on the authority of `Uqbah ibn `Amir that he said: \(The Messenger of Allah \(peace be upon him\) ordered me to recite Al-Mu`awwidhatayn \(Surahs Al-Falaq and Al-Nas\) immediately after performing every prayer.\) The narration of Al-Tirmidhy and Al-Nisa'y reads: "... Al-Mu`awwidhatayn (Surahs Al-Falaq, Al-Nas and Al-Ikhlās)" One may recite these three Surahs after each Salah and after Fajr and Maghrib Prayers three times individually to the extent that he can hear himself. Sending peace and blessings upon the Prophet (peace be upon him) is permissible at any time, but not in the manner mentioned in the question.

Q 4: In the graveyard, while people are burying a dead person, some Shaykhs and Imams of Masjids stand in the corner and begin reciting Surah (Qur'anic chapter) Yasin, Al-Mulk, Al-Baqarah, Ayat-ul-Kursy (the Qur'anic Verse of Allah's Chair, Surah Al-Baqarah, 2:255), last Ayahs of Surah Al-Baqarah, Al-Mu`awwidhatayn (Surahs Al-Falaq and Al-Nas), Al-Ikhlās and Al-Fatihah. Afterwards, a person calls out so that the attendants start supplicating to Allah for the dead. What is the ruling of Islam on this act? Was the Messenger (peace be upon him) reported to have done this? Did the majority of Muslims do that? Is it Bid`ah (innovation in religion)?

A: Reciting some Ayahs and Surahs upon burying the dead by the Shaykhs and Imams of Masjids is a Bid`ah that has no origin in the Sunnah of Allah's Messenger (peace be upon him). Had this been permissible, the Prophet (peace be upon him) would have declared it to his Ummah. Therefore, a Muslim must avoid this act due to the great harms it entails. It also involves a way of imitating the grave worshippers who offer various acts of worship over there. However, it is permissible for Muslims to stand at the grave of the dead person after burying it, seek Allah's forgiveness for him and ask Him to make him firm. It was narrated on the authority of `Uthman ibn `Affan (may Allah be pleased with him) that he said: \(Whenever the Prophet \(peace be upon him\) finished burying the dead, he used to stay \(i.e. at his grave\) and say: Seek forgiveness for your brother and beg steadfastness for him, for he will be questioned now.\) Related by Abu Dawud.

It is an act of Sunnah that Muslims stand at the grave of the dead person after burying him and ask Allah to forgive him and make him firm during the interrogation.

Q 2: Is the saying of some people after the recitation of the Qur'an, "O Allah! Grant the reward of what I read to the Prophet (peace be upon him)" or "to honor him" (peace be upon him) permissible?

The first question of Fatwa No. 20794

Q 1: What is the ruling on reciting the Surah of Ya-Sin over the dead, with the intention of dedicating the reward to them? Is that permissible? If it is, what is the evidence?

A: Reciting the Qur'an with the intention of dedicating the reward to the deceased person is Bid'ah (innovation in religion), because there is no evidence to support that act. Furthermore, a Hadith has been reported concerning the recitation of Surah Ya-Sin upon the dying person, but it is a Da'if (weak) Hadith that does not stand as proof. Q: kissing the thumbs when hearing the name of the Prophet (peace be upon him), especially when hearing Adhan (Call to Prayer); is it a part of Sunnah or is it a Bid`ah (innovation in religion)? Could you explain to us the Hadith which was related by the Companions of the Prophet (peace be upon him) that Abu Bakr Al-Siddiq (may Allah be pleased with him) used to kiss his thumbs at hearing the Adhan and at hearing the Prophet's name and considered it a good act. The third question of Fatwa no. 16493

Q 3: After Adhan (call to Prayer), some people say, "O you the first of Creation", although the Messenger of Allah is not the first human created by Allah (Exalted be He). Is this permissible?

A: It is not permissible to say any form of Dhikr (Remembrance of Allah) out loud before or after Adhan. It is obligatory to confine the Adhan to that which was legislated by Allah (Exalted be He). Whoever adds anything to it is Muftadi` (one who introduces innovations in religion). The Prophet (peace be upon him) said: ﴿"Whoever does an act which is not in accordance with this matter of ours \(Islam\), will have it rejected."﴾ and, ﴿"Avoid novelties \(in religion\), for every novelty is an innovation."﴾ What is mentioned in the question is invalid, as the Messenger of Allah (peace be upon him) is not the first human created by Allah (Exalted be He). This is false and it involves exceeding the proper limits in honoring him (peace be upon him). The Prophet (peace be upon him) said: ﴿"Do not exaggerate in praising me as the Christians praised the son of Mary, for I am only a Slave. So, call me the Slave of Allah and His Messenger"﴾ .

May Allah grant us success! May peace and blessings be upon our Prophet Muhammad, his family, and Companions!

Du`a' After Taslim

Fatwa no. 14791

Q: Recently, there has been heated controversy among scholars in different parts in Bangladesh concerning du`a' (supplication) after Taslim (salutation of peace ending the Prayer). The Imam (the one who leads congregational Prayer) makes a Du`a' while raising his hands facing the Qiblah (direction faced for Prayer towards the Ka`bah) after the five daily obligatory prayers supplicating Allah (Exalted be He) to help them observe and remain committed to prayers and the Ma'mum (persons being led by an Imam in Prayer) say "Ameen" while raising their hands and voices. In conclusion, they wipe their faces with their hands and conclude the Du`a'. Clashes and disagreement arise among scholars themselves and among laypeople who follow the scholars; some held the view that it is Bid`ah (innovation in religion) and others claim that it is permissible and an act of Sunnah.

I hope Your Eminence could point out to us the truth with regard to this question, supporting it with evidence from the Book and the Sunnah along with the views of scholars. I hope you could also point out the proprieties and ways of Du`a', besides mentioning the situations where it is permissible to make a collective Du`a'. Thank you very much. Your Fatwa will be very effective in settling the dispute, In sha'a-Allah (if Allah wills). As-salamu `alaykum warahmatullah wabarakatuh (May Allah's Peace, Mercy, and Blessings be upon you!)

A: Muslims should know the authenticity of their actions in their Salah (Prayer) and Du`a' and whether they are authentically reported from the Messenger (peace be upon him) or innovated Bid`ah that with the passage of time became familiar to people and they thought them of the obligations of Din (religion) of Islam.

Muslims should also know that such Bid`ah does not entail Kufr (disbelief) and does not bring the Muslim out of the fold of Islam and does not invalidate the Salah of whoever commits it. It is of the Bid`ahs that have no base in religion and the Muslim is not to be rewarded for doing it, since it was not established by the Messenger (peace be upon him). Accordingly, Muslims should not engage in fighting and argument over it or abandon the Masjid (mosque) and the congregational Salah for it; rather, Muslims should pray behind whoever does so informing him of the impermissibility of this Bid`ah and that it is renounced.

May Allah grant us success! May peace and blessings be upon our Prophet, his family and Companions!

The fourth question of Fatwa no. 10665

Q 4: What is the ruling of Islam on reciting the Qur'an on Friday through the microphones?

A: Specifying Fridays for the recitation of the Quran is a Bid`ah (innovation in religion) and a Muslim has to read the Qur'an from time to time without specifying a particular day for that. Also, reciting Qur'an loudly in the Masjids (mosques) distracts the people offering Salah (prayers).

May Allah grant us success! May peace and blessings be upon our Prophet Muhammad, his family and Companions!

Shaking hands after concluding Salah is considered a Bidd`ah

The sixth question of Fatwa no. 16843

Q 2: More than four years ago, it was the custom of a Turkish Imam (the one who leads congregational Prayer) to stand in the Mihrab after each obligatory Salah and greet the persons he led in Salah. The first one comes to shake hands with him and then stands beside him. The second one does the same and stands beside the first one. All the persons, whatever the number of those who were led in Salah do so in sequence, imitating the Turkish Imam. The Arab Imam, after finishing Fajr (Dawn) Prayer, shakes hands with the worshippers as well. We advised him not to do this , but he does not respond. Please enlighten us.

A: The regular practice of shaking hands after finishing the obligatory salah is a Bid`ah (an innovation in religion), whether it is done between the Imam and the Ma'mums (persons being led by him) or among the Ma'mums themselves. This act is baseless and should be abandoned, as the Prophet (peace be upon him) stated: \(Whoever performs any act for which there is no sanction from our behalf, it is to be rejected.\) Neither the Prophet (peace be upon him) nor any of the Rightly-guided Caliphs are reported to have practiced such a custom. The best line of conduct to follow is that of Muhammad (peace be upon him) and the worst of affairs are matters newly innovated in Islam, as every novelty is an innovation, and every innovation is misguidance.

May Allah grant us success! May peace and blessings of Allah be upon our Prophet Muhammad, his family and Companions!

Standing for optional Prayer on the night before `Eid

Fatwa no. 17154

Q: What is the ruling on offering Tarawih (special supererogatory night Prayer in Ramadan) in the Masjid (mosque) on the night of `Eid-ul-Fitr (the Festival of Breaking the Fast)? Is this night considered the last night in Ramadan or the first night in Shawwal?

A: it is a Bid`ah (innovation in religion) to single out the night of `Eid to offer Qiyam-ul-Layl (standing for optional Prayer at night) to the exclusion of all other nights, whether by offering it alone or in congregation. This was not authentically reported from the Prophet (peace be upon him), who stated: \(Whoever performs any act for which there is no sanction from our behalf, it is to be rejected.\) However, if a person is accustomed to offering Qiyam-ul-Layl, they may observe their habit on the night of `Eid on the condition that offering Qiyam-ul-Layl is done alone and not in congregation. The night of `Eid is not part of Ramadan if the beginning of Shawwal is confirmed.

Q: After finishing salah (Prayer), some people sit for a while and before getting up, make one long or short sujud (prostration), without Taslim (salutation of peace ending the Prayer). What is the ruling on this Sujud?

(Part No. 2; Page No. 197)

A: This Sujud has no origin in Islam and must be abandoned, as the Prophet (peace be upon him) said: \(Whoever performs any act for which there is no sanction from our behalf, it is to be rejected.\)

The prescribed Sujud is Sujud-ul-Tilawah (Prostration of Recitation) when the reader of the Qur'an comes across one of Ayat-ul-Sujud (Qur'anic verses of Prostration), and Sujud-ul-Shukr (Prostration of Thankfulness to Allah) when one is blessed or relieved of some personal burden or one which affects all Muslims in general.

Q: When people finish offering congregational Salah (Prayer), they say "May Allah accept your Salah." "May Allah accept ours and all Muslims'," the other replies. What is your Fatwa regarding this?

A: saying "May Allah accept your salah" to another who is sitting beside him after Taslim (salutation of peace ending the Prayer) is not Mashru` (Islamically acceptable); rather, it is Bid`ah (innovation in Islam). The Prophet (peace be upon him) and the Companions (may Allah be pleased with them) never did it. Q: Attached are three booklets, hirz Al-Jawshan, Mujarrabat Al-Dirby and Asma' Ahl Badr. What is the ruling on reading and working according to them? What is your advice for whoever insists upon working according to them?

A: Having studied the booklets in question, the Committee found them containing aspects of Shirk (associating others with Allah in His Divinity or worship), innovated Du`a's (supplications), and Tawassul (supplicating to Allah by virtue of the status of righteous people). Accordingly, it is not permissible to keep such booklets or work according to them; rather, they should be destroyed and discarded in order to get rid of their evils. There are - praise be to Allah - sufficient authentic Du`a's that benefit the Muslim. This can be found in books such as, Al-Waabil Al-Sayyib by Ibn Al-Qayyim, Al-Kalim Al-Tayyib by Sheikh Al-Islam Ibn Taymiyah and Al-Azkar by Al-Imam Al-Nawawi. Q 1: What is the authenticity of al-Uns Salah (prayer)? It is performed after Maghrib (Sunset Prayer) on the day of burying the deceased. Did the Prophet (peace be upon him) perform such Salah, and how should it be performed?

A: Al-Uns Salah is one of the innovated Salah. It is an impermissible Bid'ah (innovation in religion) because acts of worship are based on divine texts. None should worship Allah except through His legislation. It was authentically reported from the Prophet (peace be upon him) that he said: \(Whoever introduces something into this affair of ours that is not of it, it will be rejected.\)

Acts of Bid`ah associated with funeral ceremonies

The first question of Fatwa no. 10274

Q 1: some people slaughter two or more sheep when a person dies and this is called the dinner of the deceased. Sometimes they invite people to the dinner directly after Maghrib (sunset) Prayer believing that this meal should not be offered later than Maghrib. The meat may be distributed among people uncooked. Please, advise us in this regard.

A: Preparing food by the bereaved is Bid`ah (innovation in religion), and the Salaf (righteous predecessors) used to consider it an act of wailing. The act of Sunnah on such an occasion is that people make food and send it to the bereaved family because they are in need of someone to alleviate their ordeal.

asking Allah the Lord of the Throne to cure this person. Is this permissible? Is there any mediation between a creature and His Creator?

A: It is not permissible to gather at the place where a person is ill and slaughter a sacrifice or recite the Qur'an seeking his recovery. There is no mediation between a creature and his Creator when praying to be healed. It is a Sunnah to use the legal Ruqyah (reciting Qur'an and saying supplications over the sick seeking healing) to treat the sick as well as using available medication.

The second question of Fatwa No. (16303)

Q: We have a variety of methods to bring reward to the deceased. For example, some of us call religious school students to recite the Qur'an in full at home, after which the host provides them with a meal. Does the deceased receive the reward of such recitation?

Other people participate in building religious schools and Masjids (mosques) so that their reward might be received by the deceased. Furthermore, some heirs or relatives do charitable acts and dedicate their reward to the deceased. Is all such behavior permissible?

A: First, the basic principle regarding acts of worship is that they are Tawqifiy matters (bound by a religious text and not amenable to personal opinion). Actually, reciting the Qur'an is purely an act of worship whose reward is only for the person who recites it.

thus, dedicating the reward of reciting the Qur'an to the dead is not valid

according to the soundest of two opinions of scholars. We have already issued a fatwa in this regard stating:

Is it permissible to recite Surah Al-Fatihah or any other part of the Qur'an for the deceased on visiting their graves? Does it benefit them?

A: The Prophet (peace be upon him) is authentically reported to have visited graves and recited Du`a's (supplications) for the dead which he taught to his companions and which they learned from him. For example: \(May you be safe, O inmates of the abodes of the believers and the Muslims, and if Allah pleases, we shall follow you, we pray to Allah for well-being for ourselves and for you\).

However, he (peace be upon him) is not authentically reported to have recited a Surah of the Qur'an or any verses thereof for the dead, even though he visited them often. Had it been permissible, he would have done it and would have taught it to his companions, seeking the reward, showing mercy towards his Ummah, and fulfilling the obligation of conveying the message. In fact, The Prophet (peace be upon him) was as Allah described him: \(Verily, there has come unto you a Messenger \(Muhammad صلى الله عليه وسلم\) from amongst yourselves \(i.e. whom you know well\). It grieves him that you should receive any injury or difficulty. He \(Muhammad صلى الله عليه وسلم\) is anxious over you \(to be rightly guided, to repent to Allâh, and beg Him to pardon and forgive your sins in order that you may enter Paradise and be saved from the punishment of the Hell-fire\); for the believers \(he صلى الله عليه وسلم is\) full of pity, kind, and merciful.\) The fact that he did not do it even though there were reasons why he might have done it indicates that it is not permissible. His companions (may Allah be pleased with them) knew this fact and thus followed in his footsteps limiting themselves to learning lessons and making Du`a' for the dead on visiting them. Moreover, they are not authentically reported to have recited Qur'an for the dead.

Thus, reciting the Qur'an for the dead is Bid`ah (innovation in religion). The Prophet (peace be upon him) is authentically reported to have said: (Whoever introduces anything into this matter of ours [i.e., Islam] that is not part of it will have it rejected.)

Second, the reward of such charitable acts done for the benefit of the deceased as substantiated by a Shar`y (Islamic legal) evidence, such as Du`a', asking forgiveness for them, charity, Hajj and `Umrah (lesser pilgrimage) as well as paying off their debts and making up for missed Sawm (Fast), will be received by them.

May Allah grant us success! May peace and blessings be upon our Prophet Muhammad, his family and Companions!

Q: Here in the valleys of Tihamah, Qahtan and Khawlan, we have some traditions that are known as Al-Harasiyyah. If a person is killed and people do not know who the killer was, men guard the murdered person on the first night of their death before enshrouding or burying him. The deceased is taken far away from people, and while he is being guarded he utters his name and the name of the person who killed him. This ends the problem, after which reconciliation is made between the tribes. Is it true that the murdered person speaks? Is this the deed of Satan and Jinn? Please answer us so that people can be warned against this.

A: What is mentioned in the question has no origin in Shari`ah (Islamic Law), rather it is the deed of Satan, and it is impermissible for Muslims to practice this. Manslaughter is proven by the establishment of legal evidence such as confession, existence of upright witnesses, or applying Lawath (circumstantial evidence) in case of Qasamah (exoneration from an accusation of murder by swearing fifty oaths).

Q 1: Here in Ouargla, when someone dies, his family slaughters one of their sheep on the next day. What is the ruling on this? Does the reward of slaughtering it reach the deceased? What are the things that benefit the deceased?

A: slaughtering for the deceased after burial is an act of Bid`ah (innovation in religion) for which there is no evidence in the Qur'an and the Sunnah. Taking the price of the slaughtered sheep from the property of the deceased is doing injustice to the heirs and is an unjust consumption of people's money. Its reward will not be credited to the deceased as it is unlawful, and its price is unlawful too. according to evidences, what benefits the deceased is making Du`a' (supplication), giving Sadaqah (voluntary charity), and performing Hajj or `Umrah on their behalf.

Is she permitted to go out when necessary, such as to visit a sick person or to attend a wedding, on the condition of not spending the night out of the house?

A: A woman whose husband dies must avoid displaying her adornments, whether on her body or clothes, during the period of `Iddah (woman's prescribed waiting period after widowhood), which is four months and ten days. During this period, she should wear plain clothes not intended to adorn, but there is no restriction on the color. Also, she must avoid perfume, kohl (antimony powdered eyeliner), jewelry, and remain in her deceased husband's home. There is no objection to bathing and changing her clothes as needed. Moreover, there is no harm in going out when necessary, or to go to court or to the hospital. She is permitted to wear perfume when she makes Taharah (ceremonial purification) from menstruation. As for going out to visit her relatives, for example, or to attend a wedding or similar occasions, this is not permissible because the Prophet (peace be upon him) said to a widow: \(Stay in your house till the term \(`Iddah\) lapses.\)

Q: Attached for Your Honor is a paper submitted by one of the Muslim brothers from Sudan asking about the ruling on distributing and hanging it in gathering places. He mentioned that it is being circulated and that the people who publish it claim that it protects a person from Jinn and guards them against diseases. They also claim that it was dictated by the Messenger of Allah (peace be upon him). Based on this, we hope that Your Honor will read it and issue your recommendations about it to all Muslims. We also hope that you will provide us with a copy of your reply. May Allah benefit Muslims through you and reward you. The paper reads: "Bismillah Al-Rahman, Al-Rahim (In the Name of Allah, the most Gracious, the most Merciful). And He is the All-Hearer, the All-Knower.\)](#) .

(Part No. 2; Page No. 209)

A: This message that is attributed to the Prophet (peace be upon him) is false and innovated. It has no origin in neither Allah's Book, nor the Sunnah (Whatever is reported from the Prophet) of His Prophet (peace be upon him). Moreover, it is one of the lies and delusions of impostors and charlatans which they use to capture the minds of common laymen and naive people and distract them from their Islamic duties. Moreover, hanging this circular in houses and at places of gathering believing that it protects one from Jinn and shields them against diseases is a fraudulent superstition.

The second question of Fatwa no. 20619

Q 2: Before the Adhan (call to prayer), Al-Mu'adhin (A caller for prayer) recites this Ayah:

﴿And who is better in speech than he who [says: "My Lord is Allâh (believes in His Oneness)," and then stands firm (acts upon His Order), and] invites (men) to Allâh's (Islâmic Monotheism), and does righteous deeds, and says: "I am one of the Muslims."﴾ He repeats every phrase twice and adds "come to best of actions" and he also does this in the Iqamah (call to start the Prayer).

A: No Dhikr (Remembrance of Allah) or Qur'an is to be recited before Adhan or any act of worship because this was not reported from the Prophet (peace be upon him). A Muslim must limit himself to the wordings of Adhan which are authentically reported from the Prophet (peace be upon him) which is the Adhan Bilal recited in Madinah. It consists of fifteen phrases: Saying, "Allah Akbar" (Allah is the Greatest) in the beginning four times. The testimony of "Ashhadu Anna La Ilaha Illal Allah" (There is no god but Allah) twice. "Ashhadu Anna Muhammadan Rasoulullah" (The testimony that Muhammad is the Messenger of Allah) twice. "Hay `Ala Al-Salah" (come to Salah) twice. "Hay `Ala Al-Falah" (Come to success) twice. (and says after them in the Adhan of the Fajr (Morning prayer): "Al-Salah Khair men Al-Nawm" (Salah is better than sleep) twice). Saying, "Allah Akbar" (Allah is the Greatest) twice. The second question of Fatwa no. 19689

Q 2: a small card containing a Du`a' (supplication) and blessings sent over the Prophet (peace be upon him) was distributed in Al-Haram Al-Makky by a person who keeps placing such cards on the shelves or distributing them among people in the Haram. I have obtained one of these cards after the said person put it in front of me.

The Du`a' contained in this card reads: "Bismillah Al-Rahman, Al-Rahim [In the Name of Allah, the Most Gracious, the Most Merciful], O Allah! Send peace and blessings upon our master Muhammad (peace be upon him) by virtue of which I am granted self-confidence, contentment; my task is eased for me; my aims fulfilled; my sins forgiven; my mention exalted; my afflictions removed; my distresses relieved; my poverty turned into richness; my life prolonged and my grave enlightened.

A: This card in which Salah (Prayer) over the Prophet (peace be upon him) is mentioned in such a manner is innovated, and neither the Qur'an nor the Sunnah of the Prophet provide evidence to support it. Subsequently, it should be neglected and should not be recited, as the Hadith reported on the authority of `Aishah (may Allah be pleased with her) that the Messenger of Allah (peace be upon him) said: \(He who innovates things in our affairs for which there is no valid \(reason\) \(commits sin\) and these are to be rejected.\) (Agreed upon by Al-Bukhari and Muslim), and this is the exact wording of the narration reported in Sahih Al-Bukhari. Invoking peace and blessings upon the Prophet (peace be upon him) is a kind of Du`a' (supplication) which, in turn, is considered `Ibadah (worship). In light of this, it should be said that all worships are Tawqifiy (bound by a religious text and not amenable to personal opinion) i.e. they are not practiced unless there is evidence from the Qur'an or the Sunnah in their support. Related to that is the Hadith reported on the authority of Ka'b ibn 'Ujrah (may Allah be pleased with him) that \(when the Companions asked the Prophet \(peace be upon him\) how they could pray for him

he said, "Say 'O, Allah! Send prayers upon Muhammad and the family of Muhammad, as You sent prayers upon Ibrahim and upon the family of Ibrahim. You are indeed the Praiseworthy and the Glorious. O Allah! Bless Muhammad and the family of Muhammad, as You blessed Ibrahim and the family of Ibrahim. You are indeed the Praiseworthy and the Glorious.\) (Agreed upon by Al-Bukhari and Muslim).

It is therefore incumbent upon a Muslim to restrict himself to the authentic supplications, as all goodness is to be found in them, and to avert others which are groundless in terms of the Qur'an and the Sunnah of the Prophet. Indeed, that is better in order to protect his religion.

May Allah grant us success! May peace and blessings be upon our Prophet Muhammad, his family and Companions!

Bid`ah (innovation in religion) committed during Hajj

Fatwa no. 20551

Q: Some people, after finishing washing the dignified Ka`bah, seek blessings and cure by taking the remaining water. They also take the leaves of the sweepers made from palm leaves that are used to sweep the Ka`bah's floor. Furthermore, they cut off a piece of the thread used in covering the Ka`bah seeking blessings from it. What is the ruling on these acts?

A: It is impermissible to do these acts, as there is no evidence that affirm them and they may lead to committing Shirk (associating others with Allah in His Divinity or worship). However, you are prescribed to face the dignified Ka`bah when performing Salah, to make Tawaf (circumambulation around the Ka`bah) and to have respect for it without exceeding the proper limits nor committing bid`ah.

May Allah grant us success! May peace and blessings of Allah be upon our Prophet Muhammad, his family and Companions!

The first question of Fatwa no. 12712

Q 1: What is the ruling on what some Muslims do nowadays when performing the obligatory act of Hajj at Makkah Al-Mukarramah. Before they leave their homes for Hajj, they slaughter goats etc., and prepare food. They also celebrate lavishly their return from Hajj, especially on the first Jumu'ah (Friday) Prayer after returning from Hajj.

At these celebrations, drums are beaten and people dance, and there is free intermixing of men and women. Does this conform with Shari'ah (Islamic law)? Please enlighten us with your written answer so that we can distribute it among Muslims. May Allah provide you with all support to protect Islam everywhere.

A: All that is mentioned in the question regarding celebrating the occasions of traveling to or returning from Hajj in a way that involves drums, pipes, singing, or free intermixing of men and women is Haram (prohibited), as it involves many evils and Munkar (acts which are unacceptable or disapproved of by Islamic law and Muslims of sound intellect).

Fatwa no. 20509

Q: Certain habits which relate to pilgrims who go for their first hajj are spread in our town. people call such a pilgrim "Surur" while their family practice some customs before and after Hajj.

As for habits that people follow before the pilgrim's return from Hajj:

1- Female relatives and neighbors of the pilgrim gather at the latter's home and have an evening of entertainment. They sing in a loud voice that may be heard by men. Not only that, but sometimes the foregoing involves free intermixing (of men and women) as well.

(Part No. 2; Page No. 216)

Such gathering takes place the night before the first day of `Eid-ul-Adha (the Festival of the Sacrifice) and two nights following it. This habit is called Al-Madrihah or Al-Durhah.

2- A new bed is prepared especially for the pilgrim and used only by them.

As for habits that people follow after the pilgrim's return from Hajj:

1- Firing weapons as a manifestation of showing joy for the return of the pilgrim.

2- Putting a green flag on the house of the pilgrim as a sign that they have returned safely.

What is your opinion regarding the foregoing? Provide us with your beneficial answer please. May Allah reward you.

A: All these habits which are practiced before and after the arrival of the pilgrim are considered Munkar (acts which are unacceptable or disapproved of by Islamic law and Muslims of sound intellect). They are all Haram (prohibited) customs that Muslims are not allowed either to participate in or to accept. They are just acts of Jahiliyyah (pre-Islamic time of ignorance) that Muslims have to forbid and abandon, as it is reported that the Prophet (peace be upon him) said: \(Whoever does an act that does not conform to our Din \(religion\), will have it rejected.\)

Bid`ah of Du`a'

The first question of Fatwa no. 14464

Q 1: Is it true that the number of Rak`ah (unit of Prayer) of Tahajjud (optional late night Prayer) is conditional for accepting Du`a'? For example: saying "Guide us to the Straight Way" 1111 times after praying eight Rak`ah for a week and the supplication will be answered, In sha'a-Allah (if Allah wills), or saying "Verily, His Command, when He intends a thing, is only that He says to it, "Be!" - and it is!" 2000 times after offering ten Rak`ah at night and asking Allah (Exalted be He) to grant us whatever we want and take away whatever we do not want, and the supplication will be answered, In sha'a-Allah.

A: the greatest reasons for having one's Du`a' answered are: Taqwa (fearing Allah as He should be feared). Allah (Exalted be He) says: ﴿Verily, Allāh accepts only from those who are Al-Muttaqûn (the pious).﴾ Food, drinks, and clothes should be from lawful income. It was authentically proven that the Prophet (peace be upon him) said to Sa`d (may Allah be pleased with him) ﴿If you earn your money lawfully, your supplication will be answered.﴾ Among the reasons for having the Du`a' answered are: raising up the hands, paying great attention to the times and places when Du`a' will be answered. On the other hand, repeating the Ayahs (Qur'anic verses) mentioned in the question is not a condition for answering the invocation, it is an act of Bid`ah (innovation in religion).

Q 1: One school day, while the teacher was explaining the lesson, he said: "La ilaha illa Allah 'there is no deity but Allah'." One of the students then said: "That is true." The teacher then told him that saying so is a Bid`ah (innovation in religion).

Is this correct? May Allah reward you with the best.

A: Neither the saying of the teacher nor that of the student referred to in the question is Bid`ah.

The first and second questions of Fatwa no. 15391

Q 1: After finishing the `Asr (Afternoon) Prayer, we are used to sit in the Masjid (mosque) around a shaykh who would recite the Qur'an and then say Du`a' (supplication). What is the ruling on saying Du`a' after reciting the Qur'an?

A: saying Du`a' after reciting the Qur'an and observing this is a Bid`ah (innovation in religion) that has no basis in religion. There is no problem, however, if the shaykh sometimes says Du`a' without observing this as a habit.

Q 2: What is the ruling on reciting supplication after performing the Salah (prayer) with the Imam (the one who leads congregational Prayer)?

A: Reciting supplications in a group with the Imam, or pronouncing Ta'min (saying: "Amen" after reciting supplication) when he finishes supplicating after Salah is an impermissible act of Bid'ah (innovation in religion). As for a person reciting supplications in private in a low voice, that is permissible.

Fatwa no. 15661

Q: I am sending you this letter to consult you and get your opinion on the attached Du`a' (supplication). I heard this Du`a' ten years ago and used to read it before a lot of people, who asked me about who reported it, its Sanad (chain of narrators), who transmitted it, and who ranked it as Sahih (authentic). I asked people of knowledge about this Du`a', but found that none have heard of it or know its Sanad.

(Part No. 2; Page No. 220)

After traveling from the Levant (the region covering Syria, Lebanon, Jordan, and Palestine) to America, I met a benevolent person, who recommended this Du`a' and entrusted me with a hundred copies of it to distribute among the Muslims living there. However, I did not carry out his request because I suspect the authenticity and Sanad of the Du`a', and have not been able to find anyone who says it believing in its authenticity. That is why I am enclosing a copy of this Du`a', asking Allah to receive an answer about its Sanad, degree of authenticity, who reported it, and who uses it believing in its authenticity. I hope Allah (the Most High, the All-Powerful) will guide us to what pleases Him. It was reported that the Prophet (peace be upon him) was sitting in his council when Jibril (peace be upon him) came and said, "O Muhammad, your Lord sends you greetings and gives you special salutation and honor. He says to you, 'I would like to give you a present which I have not given to anyone before you or after you.' The Prophet (peace be upon him) said, "What is this present, O my brother Jibril?" The latter answered, "A blessed Du`a'; whoever says it once during their lifetime, writes it, wears it, or carries it, they will have the reward of saying Tasbih (glorification of Allah - may He be Exalted) for nine hundred years, their sins will be forgiven even if they were as much as the foam of the sea, and they will be free from their sins as newborn babies. Whoever wants to see you in their sleep should read it and sleep and they will see you. If a person is sick and this Du`a' is said over them, they will be cured by the Will of Allah (Exalted be He). For the readers of this Du`a', if they are afraid of someone, Allah will save them from their harm; if they are poor, Allah will enrich them from His Bounty; and if they are traveling, they will be safe in their travel. If a person suffers severe pain and writes the Du`a' with musk and saffron in a clean vessel then drinks it, Allah will cure them from this sickness. If it is written on a paper and placed in the shroud of a dead person, that person will respond to the questions in the grave easily, will be saved from the punishment in the grave, and Allah will resurrect them on the Day of Resurrection with a thousand angels carrying them to the Sirat (the bridge over the Fire). If something is stolen or lost from a person, let them perform Wudu' (ablution), offer two Rak`ahs (units of Prayer), recite in each Rak`ah Surah Al-Fatihah and Al-Iklas and after concluding the Salah (Prayer) read this Du`a', Allah (Exalted be He) will then restore the lost or stolen thing. If they are illiterate, they should place the Du`a' between their hands and say, 'O Allah! By the right of this Du`a', restore to me my lost thing and fulfill my need' and then mention their need. Whoever reads it once during their lifetime, the angels will hear them and ask Allah to forgive them." It was reported from the Prophet (peace be upon him) that he stated, "Whoever reads this Du`a' and underestimates it and does not believe in it, I have nothing to do with them; and whoever refrains from distributing it among the Muslims, Allah will punish them severely on the Day of Resurrection." Also, the Prophet (peace be upon him) used to recite this Du`a' whenever he wanted to fulfill a need or intended war. Whoever suspects this Du`a' might be harmed. Abu Bakr Al-Siddiq (may Allah be pleased with him) said about this Du`a': "The Prophet (peace be upon him) advised us to memorize this Du`a' so that we would see him in our sleep when we read it." `Umar ibn Al-Khattab (may Allah be pleased with him) said, "The blessing of this Du`a' led to the spread of Islam." `Uthman (may Allah be pleased with him) said, "I memorized the Qur'an by the blessing of this Du`a'." `Ali ibn Abu Talib (may Allah be pleased with him) said, "Whoever memorizes this Du`a' will have a face shining as a full moon on the Day of Resurrection and will enter Jannah (Paradise) without being called to account." Al-Hasan Al-Basri (may Allah be pleased with him) said, "The Prophet (peace be upon him) stated that this Du`a' gives merits and rewards that none can count save Allah (Exalted be He). Whoever reads this Du`a' once during their lifetime, Allah will send one hundred thousand angels when they are being lowered to the grave; each angel will carry a dish of light full of whatever they desire. The angels will say: O Servant of Allah! Do not be afraid, we will be with you until the Day of Resurrection and your grave will be one of the gardens of Jannah. Allah (Exalted be He) states: I feel shy to punish whoever reads this Du`a' and carries it to their grave." Jibril (peace be upon him) said, "This Du`a' was written on the corners of the `Arsh (Allah's Throne) five hundred years before creating the world. Whoever believes in this Du`a' and reads it, whether at the beginning, middle, or end of the month, Allah (Exalted be He) will create seventy thousand angels under the `Arsh. Each angel will have a tongue speaking a different language, and all of them will continue to glorify Allah and ask forgiveness for the reader of this Du`a'. Whoever reads this Du`a' over the shroud of a dead person, Allah (Exalted be He) will send seventy thousand angels carrying cups of light in their hands. The cups will be full of four colors of the drink in Jannah; and there will be a paper on each cup sealed and written on it: A present from Allah (Exalted be He) to so and so, the reader of this Du`a'. The Messenger of Allah (peace be upon him) said: O brother Jibril! Would my Ummah (nation) have all these rewards?

(Part No. 2; Page No. 223)

Jibril (peace be upon him) said: And even more. O Muhammad! Whoever reads this Du`a' once in their lifetime will have rewards equivalent to those of the Awliya' (pious people), ascetics, worshippers, as well as those who are patient, grateful, and beg Allah's Forgiveness."

He meant this following blessed Du`a':

In the Name of Allah, the Most Gracious, the Most Merciful

In the Name of Allah, the Light. In the Name of Allah, Light upon Light. Praise is due to Allah, the Planner of affairs. Praise is due to Allah Who created light, and talked to Musa (Moses) on Al-Tur Mountain. Praise is due to Allah Who is spoken of with respect, and Who is famous for His Honor, and Who deserves thanks both in happiness and sorrow. Praise is due to Allah Who created the heavens and the earth and made the darkness and the light. Then those who disbelieve equate [others] with their Lord. Kaf- Ha-Ya- 'Ain-Sad. Ha-Mim. 'Ain-Sin-Qaf. You (Alone) we worship, and You (Alone) we ask for help (for each and everything). O Ever-Living! O Self-Subsisting and Supporter of all! I seek Your help. Allah is most Gracious and Kind to His Slaves. He gives provisions to whom He wills. And He is the All-Powerful, the All-Mighty. O Self-Sufficient, Who is Free of all needs by Your Power over everything! Forgive me all my sins, and do not call me to account for anything, You are the Omnipotent. In Your Hand is the good. Verily, You are Able to do all things. Glorified be Allah; praise is due to Allah, there is no deity but Allah, Allah is the Greatest, and there is neither might nor power except with Allah, the Most High, the Most Great. By Your Mercy, O Most Merciful!

A: This Du`a', which is mentioned in the question, is mubtada' (innovated).

Regarding encouragement to circulate it and the promises given as consequences for saying and circulating it, they are all false promises. In fact, this Du`a' should be rejected and its circulation should be prevented. And Allah knows best!

Q: Your Honor, would you please examine the paper attached to this letter and explain how correct the following invocations are and whether they were reported from the Messenger (peace be upon him)? In fact, a female teacher who wrote this paper wanted to share a good deed with her colleagues hoping for reward from Allah. The text reads: "It gives the administration pleasure to share this invocation with its staff to be read every night in the blessed month of Ramadan after Fajr (Dawn) Prayer. We wish you all success!

- 1- Reciting Surah (Qur'anic chapter) Al-Fatihah one time.
- 2- Reciting Surah Al-Nas one time.
- 3- Reciting Surah Al-Falaq one time.
- 4- Reciting Surah Al-Ikhlās one hundred times.
- 5- Reciting Ayat-ul-Kursy (the Qur'anic Verse of Allah's Chair, Surah Al-Baqarah, 2:255) one time.

(Part No. 2; Page No. 225)

6- Then the following supplication:

O Allah! The One Who reminds people of favors and is not to be reminded; Possessor of Majesty and Honor; Bestower of favors and blessings! O Allah! I supplicate to You by Your greatest Manifestation on this night of this blessed month of Ramadan and by virtue of my recitation of the Qur'an to remove covert and overt afflictions, plague, difficulties and diseases from us with whatever and however You will. Indeed, You are over every thing Competent.

O Allah! I supplicate to You by Your bounty and by virtue of the secret of Your Prophet Muhammad and the secret between You and him that You safeguard us from every oppressor, dissolute and stubborn envier.

O Allah! Do not give authority over us to one who does not fear you, nor will he be merciful with us.

O Allah! Remove covert and overt afflictions, plague and ordeals from us with whatever and however You will. Indeed, You are over all things Competent. Facilitate for us every difficult matter and grant us victory over the unjust people by virtue of 'Subhana Allah' (glory be to Allah), 'Al-hamdu lillah' (praise be to Allah), Allahu Akbar (Allah is the Greatest), 'La Ilaha Illa Allah' (there is no god but Allah), and 'la hawla wa la quwwata Illa billah Al-`Aly al-`Azhim' (there is no might and no strength but in Allah, the High, the Greatest). I supplicate to You by the key of the secrets of Al-Fatihah on behalf of the soul of the Noble Prophet, his virtuous wives as well as the souls of his household and all his Companions. Then, Al-Fatihah is to be recited in its entirety. We hope that Your Honor will verify the soundness of these supplications so that your answer will help the colleagues of this woman and convince her and stop circulating this paper. May Allah bless you, enable you to do good deeds, and grant you a good end!

A: A Muslim's deeds must be entirely in compliance with the Sunnah of the Prophet (peace be upon him); however, many of the supplications mentioned above include matters that are Bid`ah (innovation in Islam). The acts of Bid`ah in this supplication include, reading Surah Al-Iklas one hundred times, supplicating Allah by virtue of the secret of the Prophet and the secret between Allah and His Prophet, and other matters of Bid`ah. Therefore, it is not permissible for a Muslim to supplicate Allah in the manner mentioned in this letter. Moreover, specifying a particular supplication for every night in Ramadan is not of the Sunnah.

May Allah grant us success! May peace and blessings be upon our Prophet Muhammad, his family and Companions!

A: the Du`a' of the Imam after Salah and the Ma'mums' saying "Amen" is a Bid`ah (innovation in religion). Each person should make Du`a' individually without raising their voices or

The second question of Fatwa no. 16405

Q 2: The Messenger of Allah (peace be upon him) said: (Every innovated act is Bid`ah (innovation in Islam) and every Bid`ah is deviance and every deviance is in Hell.) Is the act of `Umar ibn Al-Khattab (may Allah be pleased with him) when he gathered people to offer Salah Al-Tarawih (voluntary night prayer) in Ramadan behind one Imam a type of good Bid`ah? Is there a good and a bad Bid`ah?

A: The act of `Umar gathering people to perform Salah behind one Imam is an extension to the Prophet's Sunnah. The Prophet (peace be upon him) did so during Ramadan when he offered Salah and people followed him, then in the second and the third night their number increased. The Prophet did not come out on the fourth night for fear that it would become obligatory on the Muslims. However, when the Prophet (peace be upon him) passed away, and with him the fear of this Salah becoming obligatory on the Muslims, `Umar (may Allah be pleased with him) decided to gather the people to offer Salah behind one Imam and revive this Sunnah. As for his saying "It is a fine Bid`ah" i.e. to revive Salah Al-Tarawih which the Prophet (peace be upon him) performed, this does not mean it was an innovation in Islam.

Scholars explain that Bid`ah in this context has a linguistic meaning which differs when used in legal terminology.

May Allah grant us success! May peace and blessings be upon our Prophet Muhammad, his family and Companions!

Fatwa no. 17339

Q: I found a photocopied paper claiming that Lady Rab`ah Al-`Adawiyyah used to say this Du`a' (supplication): "O Allah, if You know I worship you out of my desire for Your Jannah (Paradise), deprive me of it. If You know I worship You for fear of Your Hell-fire, torment me in it;" Is this saying permissible in Islam? What is the ruling on whoever says this Du`a'?

A: This Du`a' was not reported by the Prophet (peace be upon him) or any of his Companions (may Allah be pleased with them). It is just a famous Du`a' reported by Sufis; it is considered an aggressive Du`a', for it contradicts the Nas (Islamic text from the Qur'an or the Sunnah), such as His Saying (Exalted be He): ﴿Is one who is obedient to Allâh, prostrating himself or standing (in prayer) during the hours of the night, fearing the Hereafter and hoping for the Mercy of his Lord (like one who disbelieves)?﴾ He (Glorified be He) said about the prophets and righteous people:

﴿Verily, they used to hasten on to do good deeds, and they used to call on Us with hope and fear, and used to humble themselves before Us.﴾ Allah (Exalted be He) has created Jannah and promised it to the pious; He has also created Hell-fire and promised it to the Kafirs (disbelievers). He informed us of the blessings of Jannah and the torment of Hell-fire, to encourage and admonish His servants. Therefore, the Du`a' in question should be abandoned.

Fatwa no. 16964

Q: Many people believe in superstitions, Bid`ah (innovations in religion) and live in the gloom of ignorance. Some of them come to perform Hajj and recite the following Du`a' (supplication) after offering Tawaf (circumambulation around the Ka`bah) and visiting Al-Madinah Al-Munawarah. Some scholars say that this Du`a' is an act of shirk (associating others in worship with Allah) and Kufr (disbelief), and Allah knows best. We hope that you would provide us with the correct answer. May Allah bless you in the worldly life and the Hereafter.

The text of the Du`a' is as follows: "(O Allah) Cause me to die as a Muslim (the one submitting to Your Will), and join me with the righteous by Your Mercy, O Most Merciful of those who show mercy.

We are your delegate and visitors, O Messenger of Allah. We have come to fulfill your right, be blessed by visiting you, and seek the intercession for what has burdened our shoulders and darkened our hearts, for there is no intercessor for us but you, and there is no hope for us except at your door, so seek forgiveness for us, intercede for us before your Lord and ask of Him to answer all our demands and to gather us with His righteous servants, scholars and workers. O Allah, I ask of and turn to You by the support of Your Prophet; our master Muhammad, the Prophet of mercy. O Messenger of Allah, I turn to my Lord by you to meet my need, O Allah accept his intercession for me, and peace and blessings be upon the best of his creatures our master Muhammad, his family and all his Companions".

A: This Du`a' denotes a great deal of ignorance, and whoever recites it will fall into serious trouble, for the Shirk and Bid`ah-related words included. Therefore, you should abandon this Du`a' or any similar invented Ad`iyah (plural of Du`a'). Moreover, it is impermissible to recite this Du`a' either after offering the Tawaf or visiting (the Prophet's Masjid) or any thing else. The Prophet (peace be upon him) taught his Ummah (nation) the etiquette of making Du`a', thereby blocking the means to Shirk and Bid`ah, and this surely suffices whoever Allah (Exalted be He) has guided to abide by the course of the Prophet (peace be upon him) and to adhere to the purified Shari`ah (Islamic Law). Yet, intercession was asked from the Messenger (peace be upon him) during his worldly life, and will also be requested on the Day of Resurrection when the believer will ask him to do so. However, doing this after his death or before resurrection is impermissible; rather it is an act of Shirk, and Allah knows best.

Q: In Egypt, some religiously committed young people recite a Wird (portion of Qur'an recited with consistency) named "Wird Al-rabtah". The Wird is recited in the following manner: The young man recites the following Ayah (Qur'anic verse) \(Say \(O Muhammad صلى الله عليه وسلم\): "O Allāh! Possessor of the kingdom\) pauses for a while during which he visualizes the image of a knowledge seeker, caller to Islam or a scholar he loves and then says: "O Allah! If You know that these hearts are united in Your love and have met for the purpose of calling to Islam, strengthen our unity, make our love permanent, guide us, open our breasts by means of an increase of faith, putting our trust in Allah well, help us know You and grant us the honor of dying as martyrs for Your cause for You are the protector, and Excellent is the helper." This Wird is recited immediately after reciting Adhkar (invocations and Remembrances said at certain times on a regular basis) of the day and night. They see that one of the rights of brotherhood in Allah is to recite this Wird. We explained to them that there is no evidence that affirms this act and that reciting it regularly, especially along with these prescribed Adhkar, comes under the heading of Bid'ah. Rather, they claim that this Wird contains no sin nor causes severing the ties of kinship, but it is recited as a way of supplicating for one's brother in his absence.

Please tell us the ruling on reciting this Wird regularly, may Allah reward you with the best!

A: Reciting this Wird is baseless and counts as Bid'ah. It should be abandoned as the Prophet (peace be upon him) said, \(Whoever introduces in our matter i.e. religion, something that does not belong to it, will be rejected.\) Furthermore, it is impermissible to visualize an image of an absent person as it counts as a satanic act. Satan takes the form of the person whose image is visualized to distract them from religious matters. Therefore, this act must be discontinued and prohibited. And Allah knows best.

May Allah grant us success! May peace and blessings of Allah be upon our Prophet Muhammad, his family and Companions!

Q: We have a Mushaf (copy of the Qur'an) at the administration of Education in Shaqra', and on the back cover page of the Mushaf there is a supplication which reads as follows: 'O Allah, send the reward of what we have recited to the soul of Muhammad (peace be upon him) and other souls'. According to what has been mentioned on P. 524 attached with these questions, and according to what some people in our administration say, it is not permissible to give the reward of recitation to the souls of the dead. Please advise; should we use it or not and only read the supplication for the reciter without the souls of the dead?

A: It is not permissible to use these words either at the end of

Fatwa no. 18785

Q: There is an attached paper including a Du`a' (supplication), which is distributed by some people. We hope you will look at its contents and indicate whether they are authentic or not, may Allah preserve you!

Bismillah is our door; Tabarak is our walls; Ya-sin is our ceiling; Kaf- Ha-Ya-'Ain-Sad is our sufficient mean; and Ha-Mim 'Ain-Sin-Qaf is our means of protection. Allah will suffice you against them. And He is the All-Hearer, the All-Knower. The curtain of the `Arsh (Allah's Throne) is let down on us and the Eye of Allah is looking to us. By the Power of Allah, we will not be defeated. And Allah encompasses them from behind! Nay! This is a Glorious Qur'an. Allah is the Best Protector and He is the Most Merciful of those who show mercy!

In the Name of Allah, the Most Gracious, the Most Merciful. Say (O Muhammad peace be upon him): "He is Allah, (the) One." There is none comparable to Him. Let not those who show no mercy rule over us. Do not make us in need of anyone, and spare us from needing anyone, by the merit of (In the Name of Allah, the Most Gracious, the Most Merciful). Say (O Muhammad peace be upon him): "He is Allah, (the) One." O Allah! Spare me from what upsets me from the affairs of the world and Din (faith).

Glory to Allah, the Eternal. Glory to Allah, the One and the Only. Glory is due to Allah, the Independent and the Everlasting. Glory is due to Allah Who has never had a spouse or a son, Who raised the heavens without any pillars, and Who expanded the earth on water. Glory to Allah Who created the creation and knows its exact number. Glory to Allah Who distributed provisions and forgotten none. Glory to Allah Who begets not, nor was He begotten. And there is none co-equal or comparable to Him. Do not make us in need of anyone and let not those who show no mercy rule over us by the merit of (In the Name of Allah, the Most Gracious, the Most Merciful). Say (O Muhammad peace be upon him): "He is Allah, (the) One.

A: The wording of the stated Du`a' is not Mashru` (Islamically approved) and has no origin. Thus, it should not be said as Du`a' because there is no evidence supporting it, neither from the Qur'an nor the Sunnah (whatever is reported from the Prophet). Moreover, it includes some phrases which oppose the `Aqidah (belief), such as saying: Bismillah (In the Name of Allah) is our door; Tabarak is our walls; Ya-sin is our ceiling, Kaf- Ha-Ya-'Ain-Sad is our sufficient tool, and Ha-Mim. 'Ain-Sin-Qaf is our protective tool... The curtain of the `Arsh is let down on us.

Muslims are required to recite Du`a' which are Mashru` and taken from the Qur'an and the Sunnah, and which were stated by the Salaf (righteous predecessors) in their books, such as the books entitled "Al-Adhkar" by Al-Nawawi (may Allah have mercy on him), "Al-Wabil Al-Sayyib" by Ibn Al-Qayyim (may Allah have mercy on him), and "Tuhfat Al-Akhyar" by his Eminence, Sheikh `Abdul-`Aziz ibn Baz (may Allah protect him).

The first question of Fatwa no. 15856

Q 1: I would like to know the ruling on these sayings which many people use: "O Face of Allah! O Allah's Wrath! O Allah's Honor! O the Path of Allah and Muhammad, the Messenger of Allah!" Also, if they go to visit a sick person and find that the patient has a fever, they put their hands on the patient's head and say: O Messenger of Allah!

A: It is not permissible to supplicate to one of Allah's Attributes, like saying "O Face of Allah". Rather, Allah (Glorified and Exalted be He) should be supplicated and besought with His Names and Attributes, such as by saying: "O the Merciful! Have mercy on me!" or "O the All-Forgiving! Forgive me!" It is not permissible to say "O Face of Allah!", "O Allah's Wrath" and the like because we do not supplicate to the adjectives but to the One being described by these adjectives, Who is Allah (Glorified and Exalted be He). Moreover, it is not permissible to visit a sick person and put the hand on their head, saying "O Messenger of Allah", because this saying entails major Shirk (associating others with Allah in His Divinity or worship) since it denotes supplicating to someone other than Allah.

The third question of Fatwa no. 16483

Q 3: is it permissible for us to supplicate to Allah with names other than those mentioned in the Qur'an, such as the English word "God", which they consider as the translation of the word Allah?

(Part No. 2; Page No. 236)

A: Allah (Exalted be He) said: ﴿And \(all\) the Most Beautiful Names belong to Allāh, so call on Him by them﴾ Accordingly, Allah is to be supplicated with His established Names and Attributed mentioned in the Qur'an, and neglecting any others of which there was no solid evidence either in the Qur'an or the Sunnah. It is even preferable; rather Wajib (obligatory), to use the Arabic word if possible, because it is the language of the Qur'an and the Sunnah. However, if this is not within ability, it may be said in the language spoken by the said person, for Allah (Exalted be He) says: ﴿Allāh burdens not a person beyond his scope.﴾

Fatwa no. 12244

Q: What is the ruling on some people who say Takbir (saying: "Allahu Akbar [Allah is the Greatest]") after Salah loudly and collectively?

A: saying Takbir collectively after congregational prayer or at other times is impermissible as it is an act of Bid`ah (innovation in religion). It is permissible to remember Allah (Glorified and Exalted be He) sub-vocally and each on his own

by Tahlil (saying: "La ilaha illa Allah [There is no god except Allah]"), Tasbih (saying: "Subhan Allah [Glory be to Allah]"), Takbir (saying: "Allahu Akbar [Allah is the Greatest]"), reciting Qur'an, and Istighfar (seeking forgiveness from Allah) acting upon the saying of Allah (Exalted be He): ﴿O you who believe! Remember Allâh with much remembrance.﴾ (And glorify His Praises morning and afternoon [the early morning (Fajr) and 'Asr prayers].) and ﴿Therefore remember Me (by praying, glorifying), I will remember you﴾ It is acting according to what the Messenger (peace be upon him) encouraged by his saying: ﴿Saying: 'Subhan Allah [Glory be to Allah]', 'Alhamdu lillah [All praise is due to Allah]', 'La ilaha illa Allah [There is no god except Allah]', and 'Allahu Akbar [Allah is the Greatest]' is dearer to me than anything over which the sun rises.﴾ (Related by Muslim). He (peace be upon him) also said: ﴿Whoever says, 'Subhan Allah wa bihamdihi (All praise and glory are due to Allah)' one hundred times, will have his sins forgiven even if they were like the foam of the sea".﴾ (Related by Muslim and Al-Tirmidhy and the wordings are by him). This is following the guidance of the Salaf (righteous predecessors) as it was not reported from them that they used to make Dhikr (Remembrance of Allah) collectively. This is what the Mu'tadi` (people who introduce innovations in religion) do. Dhikr (Remembrance of Allah) is an act of worship and the basic ruling regarding it is Tawqifiy (bound by a religious text and not amenable to personal opinion). The Prophet (peace be upon him) warned us against innovation in religion when he said: ﴿Whoever introduces anything into this matter of ours (Islam) that is not part of it, will have it rejected.﴾

The first and third questions of Fatwa no. 16098

Q: What is the ruling regarding performing collective Dhikr (Remembrance of Allah) inside the Masjid (Mosque) while standing and swaying from side to side and turning the lights off? And is it permissible to remember Allah with repeated mentioning of the proper Name saying (Allah - Hayy (Ever-Living) - Qayyum (Self-Subsisting) - Qahhar (the Subduer))? Are there any reported Hadiths in this regard?

A: Collective Dhikr in unison is Bid'ah (innovation in religion), whether done in the Masjid or other place and in the presence of lights or not, because it has never been reported that the Prophet (peace be upon him) made Dhikr in this manner. He (peace be upon him) said: \(He who did any act for which there is no sanction from our behalf, that is to be rejected.\) Likewise, making Dhikr through the Proper Name of Allah is also a Bid'ah and not an authentic way of making Dhikr, because it does not convey a meaningful supplication.

Q 3: Are these supplications reported from the Prophet (peace be upon him):

A- O Allah, invoke Your peace and blessings on our master Muhammad and his family equal to the perfection of Allah and befitting His perfection.

B- O Allah, invoke Your peace and blessings on our master Muhammad and his family, the opener of what is closed, the seal of the previous (prophets or revelations), who supported the truth with the truth and the guided to the straight path. O Allah, invoke Your peace and blessings on him and his Family in proportion to his status and great rank.

C- O Allah, invoke Your peace and blessings on our master Muhammad, the compassionate, the merciful, the great creation, on his family and his Companions.

D- O Allah, invoke peace and blessing on our master Muhammad, the self-enlightening and the great secret in Names and Attributes (of Allah).

E- O Allah, invoke peace and blessing on our master Muhammad, the hero of all heros?

A: These supplications are innovated and were not reported from the Prophet (peace be upon him). Allah (Exalted be He) commanded us to invoke peace and blessings on the Prophet (peace be upon him) in His statement: «Allâh sends His Salât (Graces, Honours, Blessings, Mercy) on the Prophet (Muhammad صلى الله عليه وسلم), and also His angels (ask Allâh to bless and forgive him). O you who believe! Send your Salât on (ask Allâh to bless) him (Muhammad صلى الله عليه وسلم), and (you should) greet (salute) him with the Islâmic way of greeting (salutation i.e. As-Salâmu 'Alaikum).» the Prophet (peace be upon him) explained how to invoke peace and blessings on him in the authentic Hadiths. It is a Sunnah to act according to them and avoid Bid'ah (religious innovations) which people introduce. We advise that you read the book of Q 1: In the southern towns, we recite the Takbir (saying: "Allahu Akbar [Allah is the Greatest]") in the Masjid (mosque) on `Eid as follows: Allahu Akbar, Allahu Akbar, Allahu Akbar, Kabiran, wa al-hamdu lil lahi kathiran, wa Subhana Allahi bukratan wa asilan, La Ilaha Illa Allah wahdu, Sadaq wa`du, wa `Aza Junduh, wa Nasra `Abdu, wa Hazam Al-Ahzaba wahdu, laa ilaaha ill-Allah, wa la N`budu illa-Iyah, Mukhlseen lahu Al-Din wa law Kariha Al-Kafroon, laa ilaaha ill-Allah, Allahu Akbar, Wali-l-Lahi-l-Hamd (Allah is the Greatest (thrice), there is no deity but Allah, and all Praise be to Allah in abundance. Glory be to Allah, morning and evening. He fulfilled His promise, granted victory to His slave and defeated the confederates Alone. We are sincere in Faith and devotion to Him, although the disbelievers detest it.) This Takbir is recited aloud in unison until the call to commence Salat (Prayer) is made. However, the Imam stated that reciting Takbir in unison is impermissible and is a Bid`ah (innovation in religion)? What is the ruling on this form of Takbir?

A: Reciting Takbir is Mashru` (Islamically acceptable) on the night and on the day of `Eid-ul-Fitr (the Festival of Breaking the Fast) before and after Salah until the end of Khutbah (sermon). It is also recommended during the first ten days of Dhul-Hijjah and Days of Tashriq (11th, 12th and 13th of Dhul-Hijjah). The Sunnah is for each Muslim to recite it individually, but reciting it aloud as a group is a Bid`ah. It was authentically narrated that the Prophet (peace be upon him) stated: \(Whoever performs any act for which there is no sanction from our behalf, it is to be rejected.\)

The second question of Fatwa no. 16396

Q 2: During the fast of Ramadan, we recite the following Du`a' (supplication) after Zhuhr (Noon), `Asr (Afternoon), Fajr (Dawn) or any obligatory Prayer, especially after finishing the Salah (prayer): "I bear witness that there is no Deity except Allah, I seek Allah's forgiveness, we ask you Jannah and seek refuge in You from Hellfire" (Three times). We also say: "O Allah you are Most Forgiving, Most Generous, loves to forgive, so forgive us O Most Generous" (Three times). Then: "Glory and Praise be to You Allah". However, modern scholars have declared that it is impermissible to make any Du`a' either in groups or out loud; rather, a person should offer Du`a' to themselves inaudibly.

A: making Du`a' in a group after the Salah (prayer) is an act of Bid`ah that has no basis in Shari`ah (Islamic Law), but it is permissible for one to recite Dhikr (Remembrance of Allah) and authentic Du`a' after offering Taslim (salutation of peace ending the Prayer) quietly to oneself, and Allah knows best.

A: Collective supplication after the circle formed for recitation of the Qur'an is over is an act of Bid'ah (innovation in religion) that must be avoided. There is no harm in a Muslim supplicating to Allah for himself individually after finishing his recitation of the Qur'an, or in any state, since supplication to Allah is an act of worship which is required all the time, particularly after the end of another act of worship.

Mawlid

The second question of Fatwa no. 17858

Q 2: I understand what confirms the impermissibility of celebrating the Mawlid (the Prophet's birthday) (peace be upon him); however, I was astonished when I read a book entitled 'Al-Islam Wa Al-Sha`a'r Al-Dyniyyah' (Islam and Religious Celebrations) by Muhammad Mukhtar Tiyyam, specifically Ch. 4, p. no. 44. It states that Al-Imam Al-Shafi`y used to celebrate the Mawlid of the Prophet (peace be upon him).

A: As you know, may Allah bless you, celebrating the so-called Mawlid is a forbidden Bid`ah (innovation in religion), that was not practiced by Salaf (righteous predecessors) nor the Four Imams (Abu Hanifah, Malik, Al-Shafi`y, and Ahmad). Attributing such a claim to Al-Shafi`y is a lie, for this Bid`ah was innovated in the year four hundred after the Hijrah (Prophet's migration to Madinah) in the age of the Fatimid State, and Al-Imam Al-Shafi`y (may Allah be merciful with him) died 204 A.H. Q 2: Some Islamic institutions celebrate the Mawlid (the Prophet's birthday).

Did the Prophet (peace be upon him) do this, or did he order this to be done after his death?

A: Celebrating the occasion of the Mawlid is a forbidden Bid'ah (innovation in religion), for there is no evidence from the Qur'an or the Sunnah to support this act. It was not practiced by any of the four Rightly-Guided Caliphs. Moreover, the Prophet (peace be upon him) said: «Anyone who introduces anything into this matter of ours (Islam) that is not part of it will have it rejected.» He (peace be upon him) also said: *«Adhere to my Sunnah (way) and the Sunnah of the righteous, Rightly-guided Caliphs; hold fast to it and bite onto it with your molars (i.e. cling firmly to it). Invoking Allah's peace and blessings upon the Messenger (peace be upon him)

Fatwa no. 20591

Q: In my country, Mozambique, some Muslims want to assign the time after `Isha' (Night) Prayer each Thursday for asking allah to confer peace and blessings upon the Prophet (peace be upon him) in congregation. Is this Mashru` (Islamically acceptable)?

A: invoking peace and blessings on the Prophet (peace be upon him) is Mashru`, recommended, and greatly rewarded. However, it must be done in the prescribed manner. Assigning a certain time or manner of doing this without evidence is a forbidden Bid`ah (innovation in Islam). Accordingly, assigning the time after `Isha' Prayer or offering it in congregation is a forbidden Bid`ah. The prophet (peace be upon him) said: «Every novelty is Bid`ah, and every Bid`ah leads to misguidance.» He (peace be upon him) also stated: «Whoever performs any act for which there is no sanction from our behalf, it is to be rejected» Reported by Muslim in his Sahih on the authority of `Aishah (may Allah be pleased with her). Fatwa no. 18262

Q: I was given a book entitled Majmu` Latif as a gift. The book contains a Hizb (a 60th portion of the Qur'an) for Friday and the Surahs (Qur'anic chapters) of Al-Ikhlās, Al-Falaq, Al-Nas, Al-Kahf, Yasin and Tabarak. It invokes Allah's peace and blessings upon the Prophet (peace be upon him) in an excessive way. It claims that one can offer peace and blessings upon the Prophet (peace be upon him) in a manner that equals the reward of Hajj. It reads: "O Allah, confer peace and blessing upon Muhammad as many times as the birds flap their wings and as the Jinn (creatures created from fire) and devils fly, from the day You created the world till the Day of Resurrection. O Allah, confer peace and blessing upon Muhammad when the night covers and when the day appears in brightness." Is it permissible to take from this book? Was this supplication reported by the Messenger (peace be upon him)?

A: the authentic manner of offering peace and blessing upon the Prophet (peace be upon him) was reported in the Hadith Sahih (authentic Hadith): ﴿O Allah, confer peace and blessings upon Muhammad and the members of his household as you did confer upon Ibrahim and the members of Ibrahim's household. Grant favors to Muhammad and the members of his household as you did grant favors to Ibrahim and the members of the household of Ibrahim. You are indeed Praiseworthy and Glorious﴾ If one only says, 'O Allah! Bless our Prophet Muhammad, it is sufficient. And Allah's Statement (Exalted be He): ﴿O you who believe! Send your Salât on (ask Allâh to bless) him (Muhammad صلى الله عليه وسلم), and (you should) greet (salute) him with the Islâmic way of greeting (salutation i.e. As-Salâmu 'Alaikum).﴾

(Part No. 2; Page No. 247)

As for the book in question, we do not recommend you to rely upon it, since it is unknown and the way of conferring peace mentioned in it is not prescribed, nor reported from the Salaf (righteous predecessors). Moreover, what is prescribed by Allah is sufficient.

loving the Prophet (peace be upon him). These people offer prayers with us in our Masjids (mosques), therefore, we would like you to clarify whether this act is permissible or not.

A: Sending peace upon the Prophet (peace be upon him) is permissible and desirable, for Allah says, ﴿O you who believe! Send your Salât on (ask Allâh to bless) him (Muhammad صلى الله عليه وسلم), and (you should) greet (salute) him with the Islâmic way of greeting (salutation i.e. As-Salâmu 'Alaikum).﴾ The Prophet (peace be upon him) said, "Whoever sends blessings upon me once, Allah will bless them ten times".

However, doing this in a group was never practiced by the Salaf (righteous predecessors) of this Ummah (community), which indicates that it is an innovation. It is authentically proven that the Prophet (peace be upon him) said: "Whoever introduces into this affair of ours something that is not of it, it is to be rejected".

Q: I have some questions about the paper I sent to you in order to know the correct answer, so that I do not carry out its contents incorrectly. Someone gifted me this paper that no one knows anything about. The text of the paper reads: "O Allah! Send Your peace and blessings upon our master Muhammad who is master of the obedient people; O Allah! Send Your peace and blessings upon our master Muhammad who is master of the repentant; O Allah! Send Your peace and blessings upon our master Muhammad who is master of the grateful; O Allah! Send Your peace and blessings upon our master Muhammad who is master of the righteous; O Allah! Send Your peace and blessings upon our master Muhammad who is master of those who bow [to Allah]; O Allah! Send Your peace and blessings upon our master Muhammad who is master of those who prostrate [to Allah]; O Allah! Send Your peace and blessings upon our master Muhammad who is master of those who stand long in prayer; O Allah! Send Your peace and blessings upon our master Muhammad who is master of those who perform prayers in a sitting position; O Allah! Send Your peace and blessings upon our master Muhammad who is master of the pious; O Allah! Send Your peace and blessings upon our master Muhammad who is master of those who seek Allah's forgiveness; O Allah! Send Your peace and blessings upon our master Muhammad who is master of those who regret their sins; O Allah! Send Your peace and blessings upon our master Muhammad who is master of the thankful; O Allah! Send Your peace and blessings upon our master Muhammad who is master of the chaste people; O Allah! Send Your peace and blessings upon our master Muhammad Al-Qurashi Al-Hashimi; O Allah! Send Your peace and blessings upon our master Muhammad, the Arab Prophet who will be honored on the Day of Resurrection; O Allah! Send Your peace and blessings upon our master Muhammad who is master of the people of Paradise; O Allah! Send Your peace and blessings upon our master Muhammad the owner of the station of praise and glory; O Allah! Send Your peace and blessings upon our master Muhammad the follower of the straight Path; O Allah! Send Your peace and blessings upon our master Muhammad, the best of the creation; O Allah! Send Your peace and blessings upon our master Muhammad, all prophets and messengers, all favored Angels; all righteous slaves of Allah in the heavens and on earth and all of us by virtue of Your Mercy. Indeed, You are the Most Merciful. May Allah's peace and blessings be upon our master Muhammad, his family and Companions!

Whoever says this supplication once in a lifetime or every month or every Friday, Allah will admit him to Paradise without reckoning; whoever writes it down and attaches it to themselves, Allah will protect them from the evil of what they fear; whoever holds it in their hand and dies, it will stand as witness for them on the Day of Resurrection and Allah will appoint for them Angels to protect them from the horrors and difficulties. The Prophet (peace be upon him) stated: "One day,

I was performing Salah (prayer) behind the Station [of Ibrahim], and when I finished, I supplicated to Allah (Glorified and Exalted be He) and sought forgiveness for my Ummah, as Allah is oft-Forgiving, oft-Merciful. Then, Jibril (Gabriel) (peace be upon him) descended and I said: "O Jibril! You are a beloved Angel to me and my Ummah, so teach me something that will be a cause of reward and mercy for my Ummah after me." Jibril (peace be upon him) said: "No Muslim recites this supplication once during his lifetime except that he will come on the Day of Resurrection with his face illuminated like a full moon. Upon that people will wonder and say this man is either a prophet or a favored Angel, but they will be informed that this is a servant who recited this supplication once. Jibril (peace be upon him) said: "O Muhammad! No man recites this supplication fifteen times during his lifetime but Allah will gift him a horse whose saddle is made of rubies and it will be said to him, 'O servant of Allah! Today your reward is Paradise near the Prophet (peace be upon him).'" Jibril added: "O Muhammad! This supplication contains the greatest Name of Allah, so whoever recites it will be saved from the greatest horror on the Day of Resurrection and punishment in the grave. If all trees were made pens whose ink equaled the water of all the oceans, jinn and humans will fail to count the reward of this supplication. No man recites this supplication but Allah will give him the reward of four Angels and four prophets.

A: The supplications mentioned in this paper are all formulas which are Bid'ah (innovation in Islam), and the reward mentioned is fake and has no basis in Allah's Purified Shar' (Law). Therefore, it is not permissible for a Muslim to recite or circulate it through buying, selling, or gifting. A Muslim who comes across this paper containing this supplication must discard it. Indeed, the magnificent Qur'an and Sunnah of the Prophet (peace be upon him) contain authentic supplications which are sufficient for a Muslim, apart from what liars fabricate.

May Allah grant us success! May peace and blessings be upon our Prophet Muhammad, his family and Companions!

Bid'ahs related to certain nights and days

The second and third questions of Fatwa no. 13702

Q 2: It is a custom here that women engage in playful entertainment from the end of Rajab until the middle of Sha'ban. They beat the drums, dance, and sing in a loud voice after 'Isha' (Night) Prayer from 8 to 10 p.m. What is the ruling on this matter?

A: This is a bad custom and they should not be permitted to do so, for the evil and unlawful kind of amusement it involves.

Q 3: During the month of Muharram, women go to the house of a newly married woman and bring water with them. They wear thick clothes to protect themselves against the cold and splash some of that water over the newly married woman and pour the rest over themselves, including young and old women. They do this every year. When we ask them to give up this action, they say that it is part of their habits and traditions.

A: This habit is an invented practice from Jahiliyyah (pre-Islamic time of ignorance) and it is not permissible for a Muslim to do it since it does not have any origin in Allah's Purified Shar' (Law).

The second question of Fatwa no. 11100

Q 2: Every year and on the last Wednesday of the month of Safar, my father slaughters a sheep, and while slaughtering he says: This is a charity for the sake of Allah and to ward off any evil from us. Sometimes, he does not slaughter the sheep himself; rather, he orders one of my brothers to do that. On this very day, my father feels pessimistic so he does not go out and says that this is the day in which the Sahabah (Companions of the Prophet) were defeated, and so on. Is it permissible to eat the meat of that sheep?

A: slaughtering the sheep on the last Wednesday of safar and the Du`a' (supplication) that your father says upon slaughtering has no basis in religion.

Q: I have a book written by Imam Al-Shathuly entitled Wasiyyat Al-Imam Al-`Arif (the Will of Imam Al-`Arif).

This book talks about Imam Abu Hurayrah, the narrator of the Hadith of the Prophet (peace be upon him). It handles the Numbered Salah, the Du`a' for the night of the 15th of Sha`ban and the Part of Tawassul. The book contains nonsense and illogical things, and I want to know your opinion on it. May Allah reward you with the best!

A: There is no authentic evidence on the Du`a' to be said at the night of the 15th of Sha`ban. Therefore, doing so as an act of worship is Bid`ah (innovation in religion) which is not permissible to believe in or propagate.

Q: Since my young age, I am accustomed to slaughter a sacrifice, or to put it more accurately, to give its meat away as Sadaqah (voluntary charity) in the month of Sha'ban, on any of its nights? Is there anything wrong in doing so? Please enlighten me, may Allah enlighten you!

A: Sadaqah, especially Sadaqah Jariyah (ongoing charity), is among the greatest acts of obedience that draw us closer to Allah, but on condition that giving Sadaqah is done according to the teachings of Shari'ah (Islamic law). It should be given away from lawfully-gained money and paid into the permissible channels, such as the poor and the needy, or for building a Masjid (mosque) and the like.

Associating the giving of Sadaqah with a particular time unspecified by the Shari'ah based on a belief of its necessity is impermissible. Consequently, if this Sadaqah is paid during Sha'ban due to a belief in the sacredness of the month or any of its days, it will not be considered among the lawful acts of drawing closer to Allah.

Q 1: is delivering a Khutbah (sermon) on Laylat -ul-Qadr (the night of decree) prescribed in Shari`ah (islamic Law)? is it considered an act of Sunnah (supererogatory act of worship following the example of the Prophet)?

2- Is it an act of Sunnah to collect money for celebrating honorable nights such as Laylat-ul-Qadr in Ramadan?

3- Is it a legal tradition to distribute cups of tea among the listeners on such honorable nights?

4- is it an act of Sunnah to distribute money or presents among the speakers on these nights and to invite the servants of the Masjid (mosque) to attend these celebrations?

A: It is impermissible to celebrate Laylat-ul-Qadr or any other night such as the night of the mid of Sha`ban, the night of Mi`raj (ascension to heaven) or the Prophet's birthday, for such acts are innovated Bid`ah (innovations in religion) that were not authentically reported from the Prophet (peace be upon him) or any of his Companions. He (peace be upon him) said: «Whoever introduces any practice that is not authenticated by me, it is to be rejected» Moreover, it is impermissible to help in holding such celebrations either with money, presents or by distributing cups of tea, it is also impermissible to deliver a khutbah or a lesson on these nights, for this involves approving of and encouraging such acts. Rather, they should be disavowed and abandoned. However, it is permissible to offer Qiyam-ul-Layl (standing for optional Prayer at night) during Ramadan and the last nights of it and to increase the recitation of Qur'an, Dhikr (Remembrance of Allah) and Du`a' (supplication), for the Prophet (peace be upon him) says: «Whoever observes night prayer during Ramadan, out of Iman \(faith\) and hoping for Allah's Reward, their previous sins will be forgiven» And «Whoever offers night prayers on Laylat-ul-Qadr out of sincere Iman and hoping for Allah's Reward, all their previous sins will be forgiven» `Aishah (may Allah be pleased with her) also said: «As the last ten days of Ramadan started, the Prophet \(peace be upon him\) used to avoid having intercourse with his wives \(to offer worship with more vigor\) and pray all night.» , [«She also said \(may Allah be pleased with her\): "O, Prophet of Allah! Q: It is a custom in the Gulf countries and the East of the Kingdom to hold the Qurayqa'an Festival before or in the middle of Ramadan. Children knock at the doors while singing and some people give them sweets, nuts, or money. In the past, there was no control over this festival, but in the present time, governments started organizing it in special places and at schools, people celebrate it and not only children, and money is collected for it.

A: the celebration of the fifteenth of Ramadan of Qurayqa'an Festival is a Bid`ah (innovation in religion) that has no origin in Islam, \(and every Bid'ah \(rejected innovation in religion\) is an error.\) Therefore, this festival should not be attended and people should be warned against it. It should not be organized at schools or institutions, etc. In Ramadan, after performing all the obligatory acts, people should do their best with regard to Qiyam-ul-Layl (standing for optional Prayer at night), reciting Qur'an, and Du`a' (supplication).

Eighth question of Fatwa no. 19504

Q 8: Some schools give gifts to children on the occasions of their birthdays. Is it permissible for Muslim pupils to receive such gifts?

The sixth question of Fatwa no. 20834

Q 6: What is the ruling on celebrating children's birthdays? Is it true that fasting on this day is better than celebration?

A: celebrating birthdays and fasting on birthdays is a Bid`ah (innovation in religion) which has no origin. Muslims should draw close to Allah by performing the obligatory and supererogatory acts of worship which He enjoined upon them. They should be thankful and grateful to Allah all the time for having a sound body, and feeling secure with regard to

Q: We would like to ask about a phenomenon that has spread at this time which is the celebration of the twenty fifth birthday, which is sometimes called "The Silver Anniversary", the fiftieth one which is called "The Golden Anniversary", in addition to the seventy fifth which is called "The Diamond Anniversary" and so on. This also happens on some other occasions, such as the openings of some departments, companies or organizations, as they celebrate the mentioned anniversaries, and this is a prevalent phenomenon. However, in this virtuous country and under the protection of the government of Tawhid (belief in the Oneness of Allah/ monotheism), may Allah (Exalted be He) guide it, our scholars amongst Ahl-ul-Sunnah wal-Jama`ah (those adhering to the Sunnah and the Muslim main body) tend to fight this Bid`ah (innovation in religion) under the umbrella of the government of Aal-Su`ud. I hope that your Eminence will answer us whether such celebrations are Bid`ah or not, so that we can acquire sure knowledge in this regard.

A: It is impermissible to hold celebrations, distribute presents and other things on the occasion of a person's birthday, or an opening of a shop, school or a project, for this includes generation of Bid`ah-related feasts in Islam. It also involves resembling the Kuffar (disbelievers) in such acts. Therefore, this act should be abandoned and people should be warned against it.

Fatwa no. 21203

Q: Some people celebrate Valentine's Day on February 14 by exchanging red roses, dressing in red, and congratulating one another on that day. Some cake shops make heart-shaped cakes in red and draw hearts on them and other shops advertise special items on sale for this day. What is your opinion on:

First: Celebrating this day?

Second: Buying from these stores on this day?

(Part No. 2; Page No. 263)

Third: Shop owners who do not celebrate this day selling gifts to those who do celebrate it?

May Allah reward you with the best.

A: The clear-cut evidence from the Qur'an and Sunnah, upon which the Salaf (righteous predecessors) of this Ummah (nation based on one creed) of this Ummah unanimously agree, confirms that there are only two `Eids (festivals) in Islam: `Eid-ul-Fitr (the Festival of Breaking the Fast) and `Eid-ul-Adha (the Festival of the Sacrifice). Any other festival, whether peculiar to a person, a group, an event or stands for any meaning whatever, is an invented festival that is not permissible for Muslims to celebrate, approve of, enjoy, or support in any way, because this is considered to be a transgression of the Boundaries of Allah. Anyone who transgresses the boundaries set by Allah has wronged themselves. If we add to this fabricated festival the fact that it is one of the festivals of the Kafirs (disbelievers), this heaps sin upon sin, because it entails imitating them and is a type of support of them. Allah (Glorified be He) forbids the Mu'mins (believers), in His Ever-Glorious Book, from imitating or supporting the Kafirs. It is authentically reported that the Prophet (peace be upon him) said: \(Anyone who imitates a people is one of them.\) Valentine's Day falls under this heading, as it is one of the idolatrous Christian festivals. It is not lawful for a Muslim who believes in Allah and the Last Day to celebrate, approve of, or congratulate people on it; it is forbidden to them. Rather, it is obligatory for them to ignore and avoid it, in obedience to Allah and His Messenger and to keep away from that which will arouse Allah's Anger and incur Punishment.

It is also Haram (prohibited) for Muslims to support this festival or any other forbidden festival by any means, whether by supplying food or drinks; selling, buying, manufacturing, gift-giving, corresponding, advertising and so on, because all this comes under cooperating in sin and transgression, and disobeying Allah and His Messenger. Allah (Glorified and Exalted be He) says: \(Help you one another in Al-Birr and At-Taqwâ \(virtue, righteousness and piety\); but do not help one another in sin and transgression. And fear Allâh. Verily, Allâh is Severe in punishment.\)

It is obligatory for Muslims to adhere to the Qur'an and Sunnah in all matters, especially in times of Fitnah (trial) when corruption is widespread. They must be sagacious enough and on their guard to avoid falling into the misguidance of those who have earned Allah's Anger, those who went astray, or the Fasiqs (those flagrantly violating Islamic law) who have no fear of Allah nor have pride in being Muslims. Muslims should resort to Allah, asking for guidance and steadfastness in Islam, as it is Allah Alone Who guides and keeps us steadfast.

May Allah grant us success. May peace and blessings be upon our Prophet Muhammad, and his family and Companions.

Kinds of Bid`ah

The second question of Fatwa no. 17648

Q2: Imam Al-Naysabury reported from Ibn `Abbas (may Allah be pleased with them) that the names of the People of the Cave are useful for treatment, escape from danger and fighting fire if they are written on a parchment then thrown in the middle of a fire. They are also useful in preventing a baby from crying too much, by placing it under the head of the baby in his cradle and so on.

The names of the People of the Cave are Yemlekha, Sectlina, Methlina, Bartush, Shadhnoush, Kafhatus, Qatmir. Is it true and permissible to carry the names of the People of the Cave?

It is reported from `Aishah (may Allah be pleased with her) that she said that Allah's Messenger (peace be upon him) said: \("Whoever writes these five verses that contain fifty Qaf \(Qaf is an Arabic letter\) then puts them in some water and drinks it, will have the inside of his body one thousand means of cure, one thousand remedies, one thousand parts of mercy, one thousand parts of kindness, one thousand parts of certainty, one thousand parts of strength, one thousand parts of light and all his diseases, grudges, miseries and troubles will come to an end".\) (It is reported from Salman Al-Farisy (may Allah be pleased with him) that he said, 'O Messenger of Allah, I have committed sins in the past and I am at the end of my life, so teach me something which if I recite, my lifespan will be longer, my sins will be forgiven and my wishes will be fulfilled. (Part No. 2; Page No. 266)

and carries a parchment with them written on it, his lifespan gets longer, his sins are forgiven and his wishes are fulfilled. These are four successive verses of Surah Al-Baqarah, the last verse of Surah Al-Ma'idah and one verse of Surah Al-Ra`d).

Is it permissible to write the Qur'an in segmented letters with a pure liquid by placing it upon the epileptic person till he is cured by Allah's Will?

Allah (Exalted be He) blessed me with a talent, that is, sitting by an enchanted person and placing my right hand on his head and reciting the verses of Ruqyah (reciting Qur'an and saying supplications over the sick seeking healing). After that he (the enchanted person) watches the spell affecting him on the wall in front of him as if he is watching TV. This happened three times. Is there any harm in that? It should be noted that I write Allah with saffron on a plate and wipe it up with water then make the enchanted person drink this water and another one which I pour on his head. Is there any harm in this?

I have read a message written by our master `Aly (may Allah be pleased with him) which is dictated to him by the master of all humans, Muhammad (peace be upon him). Then he (peace be upon him) gave it to Abu Dujanah to place it in his house after he complained that his house was haunted. Is it permissible for us to write such a message following the example of Allah's Messenger (peace be upon him) and place it in the house that is haunted by evil spirits?

A: What you mentioned in your questions is all totally unfounded. Such deeds are the deeds of impostors, and you have to avoid them and warn other people against them. You have to refer to authentic books of Sunnah (whatever is reported from the Prophet) such as the Two Sahih (authentic) Books of Hadith (i.e. Al-Bukhari and Muslim) or Al-Sunan Al-Arba`ah (Hadith compilations classified by jurisprudential themes) and so on, the books of `Aqidah (creed) such as the books of Shaykhul-Islam Ibn Taymiyyah, the books of Imam Ibn Al-Qayyim, and the books of Shaykhul-Islam, the renovator Shaykh, Muhammad ibn `Abdul-Wahhab. We hope Allah will benefit you through them.

Q: Kindly, find the attached two papers entitled, "The Most Beautiful Names of Allah" and, ﴿Nay! But worship Allāh (Alone and none else), and be among the grateful.﴾ These two papers are widespread among the common people. Please advise us with regard to them.

Following is what is written on these two papers

The first paper: ﴿Nay! But worship Allāh (Alone and none else), and be among the grateful.﴾ ﴿So those who believe in him (Muhammad ﷺ), honour him, help him, and follow the light (the Qur'ān) which has been sent down with him, it is they who will be successful.﴾

﴿For them are glad tidings, in the life of the present world (i.e. through a righteous dream seen by the person himself or shown to others), and in the Hereafter. No change can there be in the Words of Allāh. This is indeed the supreme success.﴾ ﴿Allāh will keep firm those who believe, with the word that stands firm in this world (i.e. they will keep on worshipping Allāh Alone and none else), and in the Hereafter.﴾

Send these Ayahs (Qur'anic verses) and it will bring you happiness and good luck. If you distribute them nine times around the world, it will bring you righteousness and goodness after four days, In sha'a-Allah (if Allah wills), etc.

The second paper, "The Most Beautiful Names of Allah": He is Allah, beside Whom none has the right to be worshipped but He. He is the Most Gracious, the Most Merciful, the King, the Holy, the One Free from all defects, the Giver of security, the Watcher over His creatures, the All-Mighty, the Compeller, the Supreme, etc.

This blessed paper brought goodness to its writer and we hope it will spread among Muslims. Dear brother, make thirty copies without signing your name and send it to thirty of your relatives, friends, and fellow brothers.

A: It is not true that these two messages bring benefit, goodness, or prevent evil to their writers. This involves falsehood, propagating superstitions among people, diverting them from worshipping Allah alone turning to, and asking Him to bring benefits and ward off evil. It is not permissible to write or send them to anyone as they must be destroyed. If these results were to actually occur, it does not mean that it is permissible to propagate such papers because they are Fitnah (trial) and a trial to one's faith.

The third question of Fatwa no. 16384

Q 3: I heard about a book titled "Hiwar Sahafi Ma`a Jinni Muslim" (an interview with a Muslim Jinn), written by Muhammad `Eisa Dawud from Egypt. I do not know what it is about or whether this interview is real. What is your opinion on such a book, and what is your advise to those who read it?

A: You should read useful books and ignore those that are of no benefit, or books which contain defects in `Aqidah (creed). The book in question "Hiwar Sahafi Ma`a Jinni Muslim" contains lies and fabrications. It is a false and fabricated topic which liars invent to make money and cast doubt in people's faith, so one should avoid and warn people against it.

Q: Books which discuss issues of Jinn (creatures created from fire) have gained popularity. Whenever a person is possessed by Jinn, he goes to the one who treats with Ruqyah (reciting Qur'an and supplications over the sick as a cure). What the sick person says while Ruqyah is being recited over him is recorded. These writings are published in books such as "An Interview with a Muslim Jinni", written by Mustafa Kanjour, "Beware! Al-Masih Al-Dajjal will invade the world from the Bermuda Triangle" by Muhammad `Eisa Dawud and many others. What is the ruling on these books?

A: The committee has previously looked into the book entitled "An Interview with a Muslim Jinni" and found that it is based on illusions and lies. Therefore, publishing and selling this book is impermissible as it is harmful and misleads people.

As for the book entitled "Beware! Al-Masih Al-Dajjal will invade the world from the Bermuda Triangle", the committee has yet to read it.

Fatwa no. 17404

All praise be to Allah Alone, and peace and blessings be upon His Messenger, his family and Companions!

The Permanent Committee for Scholarly Research and Ifta' read the message sent to His Honor, the General Mufti (Islamic scholar qualified to issue legal opinions) from the principal of the preparatory and secondary school of Shbirmah, which was sent from the General Secretariat of the Council of Senior Scholars, no. 2648 dated 26/6/1415 A.H. in which the inquirer posed the following question:

Lately, the attached flier has been widely spread entitled (Muhammad's ID Card) which reads:

Name: Muhammad ibn `Abdullah ibn `Abdul-Muttalib.

Father's name: `Abdullah ibn `Abdul-Muttalib.

Grandfather's Name: `Abdul-Muttalib ibn Hashim ibn Abd Manaf.

Title: The Honest and the Truthful / Abul-Qasim.

(Part No. 2; Page No. 272)

Mother's Name: Aminah bint Wahb ibn Abd Manaf.

Name of Midwife: Al-Shifaa - Um Abdul-Rahman ibn `Awf.

Name of Wet Nurse: Halimah Al-Sa`diyyah.

Date of Birth: 20 April, 571 A.C., 12 Rabi` Awwal.

Place of Birth: Makkah Al-Mukarramah (Makkah, the Honored).

Religion: The first Muslim.

Occupation: Prophet and Messenger (peace be upon him).

Place of Employment: Makkah and the entire world.

Place of Residence: District of Banu Hashim, from Quraish at Makkah then emigrated to Al-Madinah.

Blood Type: A Light from Allah.

Nationality: Arab (In the plain Arabic language) .

Education: Illiterate (He has been taught (this Qur`ân) by one mighty in power [Jibrîl (Gabriel)]) .

Wives: Khadijah bint Khuwaylid, Sawdah Bint Zam`ah, `Aishah bint Abu-Bakr.

Number of children: Boys (Al-Qasim, `Abdullah , Ibrahim).

Date of Issuance: 611 A.C.

Card Number: 25 (the Last of the Prophets and Messengers).

We doubt some of the phrases included such as: title, religion, and that he is the first Muslim, the number of Prophets, the blood type, nationality, the archivist Jibril, the dependence is on Allah, etc.

Therefore, we hope that Your Honor will do whatever is appropriate, and inform us of what should be done about this flier. We want to inform students whether it is permissible or not, and in case it is not, we hope that you will inform the authorities in charge about this. May Allah keep you safe, support you and grant you success!

After reading the inquiry and examining this card, the Committee answered as follows: it is impermissible to approve, sell, buy, or circulate the so-called 'Muhammad's ID Card'. This card must be destroyed due to the prohibited statements it contains that do not befit Allah (Glorified and Exalted be He), His Prophet Muhammad (peace be upon him), or Jibril (Gabriel, peace be upon him). Moreover, it leads to exaggeration with respect to the Prophet (peace be upon him) and being worn as an amulet by children and others seeking its blessing.

May Allah grant us success! May peace and blessings be upon our Prophet Muhammad, his family, and Companions!

The first question of Fatwa no. 17789

Q 1: In India, we practice acts which are considered Bid`ah (innovation in Islam) and Shirk (associating others with Allah in His Divinity or worship) such as preparing and dedicating food to Imam Ja`far Al-Sadiq, and celebrating the eleventh day. When we traveled to the Kingdom of Saudi Arabia we performed Hajj. Is this Hajj valid?

A: Whoever commits acts of major Shirk (associating others in worship with Allah) such as beseeching the dead and vowing in their name then performs sincere Tawbah (repentance to Allah) from these acts and abandons them, their Hajj performed after Tawbah is valid. On the other hand, if Hajj is performed without offering Tawbah from these acts of Shirk, the Hajj as well as any good deeds are invalidated. Allah (Exalted be He) states: ﴿But if they had joined in worship others with Allâh, all that they used to do would have been of no benefit to them.﴾

The first question of Fatwa no. 17244

Q1: In some villages people offer charity. They slaughter a cow or another animal as a sacrifice at a specific time and place. Some of them call it Al-Nashrah; others call it as Sadaqah (voluntary charity) of such and such a place. Apparently they do not believe that such sacrifices bring good or ward off evil. In fact, they consider these sacrifices as Sadaqah (voluntary charity) offered for pleasing Allah (Exalted be He) and as a habit passed down through the generations. What also confuses us is that we hear some of them call these sacrifices vows and think they are abiding by the Saying of Allah (Exalted be He): \(They \(are those who\) fulfil \(their\) vows, and they fear a Day whose evil will be wide-spreading.\) Some others say they share the price of an animal which they offer as a sacrifice, and this way some of them contribute with one share and others contribute with two shares and so on. After a debate with them on the impermissibility of their deed, some of them felt angry and thought we want to stop them making their regular charity. Some of them considered our not sharing in such sacrifices as severing ties of kinship, refusing to visit the ill person, or to bury the dead. We are confused about this matter. It should be noted that when a person slaughters this sacrifice, he says, 'O Allah, this is Sadaqah (voluntary charity) for Your Sake. We pray to You to accept it from us.' What is the ruling on this deed?

A: the habit of slaughtering livestock at a certain time and place other than the time of Udhiyah and Hady (sacrificial animal offered by pilgrims), and considering it as a Sadaqah (voluntary charity) is a Bid`ah (innovation in religion) which should be disapproved and abandoned even if it has been the habit of one's fathers and forefathers, as the habits that violate the Shari`ah have to be abandoned. It is not severing of ties of kinship to abandon such habits. In fact, it is a Bid`ah (innovation in religion) and you have to explain it to the people of your village and to whoever acts like them that their deed is unlawful and it is not permissible to persist in doing it. May Allah reward you best!

May Allah grant us success! May peace and blessings be upon our Prophet Muhammad, his family, and Companions!

Fatwa no. 17686

Q: Many men and women here believe that a woman who gives birth or has a miscarriage is negatively influenced if another woman, a circumcised child, or a person who comes from the market, etc. visits her. She might even suffer from sterility, dryness of milk glands, as well as many other symptoms. People swear that this has happened to many women.

(Part No. 2; Page No. 277)

The question is: Is this true; does it have an origin in Shari`ah (Islamic Law)? What is its remedy? How can we treat these cases? People resort to wrong methods that contradict Shari`ah such as advising the afflicted woman to step over some of the blood or the urine of the person who visited her as a cure. Please, advise us. May Allah reward you with the best!

A: What is mentioned with regards to a woman getting affected by people who visit her after she gives birth or miscarriages is not true and has no origin. People should not believe in such lies; they should rather put their trust in Allah (Glorified and Exalted be He). This might have happened as a trial to some women because of their corrupt belief, and they might be overpowered by Satan to misguide those who believe in such things. A Muslim should put his trust in Allah and say, \(Nothing shall ever happen to us except what Allâh has ordained for us. He is our Maulâ \(Lord, Helper and Protector\)." And in Allâh let the believers put their trust.)

Q: Kindly find enclosed a sample of some pictures hung by the owners of stores and workshops in business areas. They hang these pictures believing that they bring profit and ward off loss. What is the ruling on this act?

A: It is impermissible to hang the said pictures on the walls of the stores, workshops and the like for the purpose of bringing benefit or removing harm. This act entails Shirk (associating others with Allah in His Divinity or worship) as it comes under the ruling of wearing amulets, which involves minor Shirk (associating others in worship with Allah). Even worse, this act may entail major Shirk, depending on the beliefs of the person who hangs them.

Q : A group has invented a new religion which could lead to a sedition among people in Ivory Coast. They mislead people with useless speech which is neither edifying nor useful in any way. They take a pledge from every Muslim to avoid six matters which they are asked to repeat. This sect has spread throughout the Ivory Coast and anyone who opposes them is not considered a Muslim. They claim that they have a proof from the Qur'an which is Allah's statement: ﴿O Prophet! When believing women come to you to give you the Bai'ah \(pledge\), that they will not associate anything in worship with Allâh, that they will not steal﴾ Is one's Islam complete without this allegiance?

A: Allegiance must be given to the Muslim ruler promising compliance and obedience, as the Companions did with the Prophet (peace be upon him) and as Muslims did with the Rightly-Guided Caliphs. however, pledging allegiance to other than the Muslim ruler is an invalid Bid`ah (Islamic innovation). The Prophet stated: ﴿Whoever performs any act for which there is no sanction from our behalf, it is to be rejected.﴾ and in another narration: ﴿"Whoever introduces into this affair of ours \(Islam\) something that is not of it, it is to be rejected".﴾ (Agreed upon by Al-Bukhari and Muslim).Whoever declares his faith, their Islam is valid provided that he commits to the tenants of Islam, even if he does not pledge allegiance. The Prophet (peace be upon him) used to teach people Islam and accept one's testimony of faith without taking a pledge from them. It is known from others proofs that a Muslim must comply with and obey Muslim rulers, even if he does not pledge allegiance.

Fatwa no. 19599

Q: It is a habit of the people in my country to hold various celebrations when a woman is in her seventh month of pregnancy. These celebrations vary from one city to another. Also, after a woman gives birth, they recite the Prophet's birth narrative.

The question is: What is your opinion on this and is there any religious proof on these practices?

A: Celebrating a certain period of pregnancy and reciting the Prophet's birth narrative after delivery are both Bid'ahs (innovations in religion) that have no basis in Shari'ah (Islamic law). What is Mashru' (Islamically permissible) is to offer 'Aqiqah (sacrifice for a newborn); two sheep for the male baby and one for the female baby. The sacrificial animals are to be slaughtered on the seventh day after birth. The baby should be given a name and the head of a male newborn should be shaved. This is according to the saying of the Prophet (peace be upon him): «Every baby is in pledge for his 'Aqiqah which should be sacrificed for him on the seventh day after birth, and his head should be shaved and he should be named.» The Prophet (peace be upon him) also ordered that two sheep should be sacrificed for the male newborn and one sheep for the female newborn.

If the person is unable to do this on the seventh day, he may slaughter the sheep whenever he is able to.

Q 2: Some women observe the following grievous action: if a woman has a stillbirth, another barren woman comes and takes this dead baby and perfumes it and performs Ghusl over the corpse, for the sake of fertility. Does such an act lead to Kufr (disbelief)? What is your advice and Fatwa concerning this abominable act, which is widely spread among barren women?

Fatwa no. 21412

Q: Shaykh Muhammad Zakariyya (may Allah be merciful with him) is one of the most famous religious scholars in India and Pakistan, especially among the followers of Tabligh (a group calling to Islam). He has numerous publications; of which is: Fada'il A`mal, which is read in the religious circles of the Tabligh group, and which the members of the group consider as Sahih Al-Bukhari. I was one of them. While reading this book, I found that some narrations are incomprehensible and unbelievable. Therefore, I refer my problem to your Eminent Committee, hoping that you could solve it. These narrations include the one reported by Ahmad Al-Rifa`y in which he claims that after performing Hajj, he visited the grave of the Messenger (peace be upon him) and recited the following lines:

When I was away, I would send my soul on my behalf to the ground to kiss
Now that I am here body and soul extend your right hand to me to kiss

After reading them, the right hand of the Messenger (peace be upon him) came out and he kissed it. This is mentioned in the book entitled Al-Hawi by Al-Suyuty. He also claims that nine thousand Muslims witnessed this great incident and saw the blessed hand, including Shaykh `Abdul-Qadir Jilany (may Allah be merciful with him) who was there in that place in Al-Masjid Al-Nabawy (the Prophet's Mosque in Madinah). In the light of this story, I would like to raise the following questions:

(Part No. 2; Page No. 283)

- 1- Is this a real or baseless story?
- 2- What is your opinion concerning the book entitled Al-Hawy by Al-Suyuty in which this story is mentioned?
- 3- If the story is not true, is it permissible to offer Salah (Prayer) behind the Imam (the one who leads congregational Prayer) who narrates and believes in this story?
- 4- Is it permissible to read such books in the religious circles held in Masjids (mosques), as this book is read in the Masjids of Britain by the Tabligh group? It is also widespread in the Kingdom of Saudi Arabia, particularly in Al-Madinah Al-Munawwarah, as the author of the book lived there for a long time.

Your Eminence, could you please guide us to the satisfactory answer so that I could translate it into the local languages and distribute it among my friends, colleagues and all Muslims I talk with in this regard?

A: This story is false and utterly baseless. The basic ruling concerning the dead; a prophet or otherwise, is that he cannot move in his grave. What is claimed that the Prophet (peace be upon him) extended out his hand to Al-Rifa`y or any one else is not true; rather, it is a baseless Wahm (illusion), which should not be believed.

He (peace be upon him) did not extend his hands to Abu Bakr, `Umar or any other one of the Sahabah (Companions of the Prophet). One should not be deceived by mentioning this story by Al Suyuty in his book Al-Hawy, for according to many scholars, Al Suyuty did not check the authenticity of the narrations he reported in his books. Moreover, it is not permissible to offer Salah behind an Imam who believes in this story, for he is imperfect with regard to his `Aqidah (creed) and believes in superstitions. It is not permissible to read the book of Fada'il A`mal or any similar book that contains superstitions and lies to the people in Masjids or elsewhere, for this implies misleading people and spreading superstitions among them.

May Allah (Glorified and Exalted be He) guide all Muslims to the truth. He is All-Hearer and Responsive!

May Allah grant us success! May peace and blessings be upon our Prophet Muhammad, his family and Companions!

Q 8: the Messenger of Allah (peace be upon him) said: ("Do not set out on a journey but to three Masjids (mosques): Al-Masjid Al-Haram (the Sacred Mosque in Makkah), this Masjid of mine (the Prophet's Mosque in Madinah), and Al-Masjid Al-Aqsa (the Aqsa Mosque in Jerusalem).")

What is the meaning of this Hadith? How should one set out on a journey?

A: The meaning of the Hadith is that it is not permissible to set out on a journey for the purpose of `Ibadah (worship) of Allah (Exalted be He), such as offering Salah (Prayer), saying Du`a' (supplication), or reciting the Qur'an except to these three places: Al-Masjid Al-Haram, Al-Masjid Al-Nabawiy, and Al-Masjid Al-Aqsa.

Q 1: In some of our villages, banquets are held during certain seasons and each banquet or "Wa`dah" as it is called, is prepared in honor of one of the Awliya' (pious people), whether they are known or not. What is the ruling on participating in these banquets?

A: banquets held at fixed dates in honor of a Waliy, whether each month or each year, are Bid`ah (innovation in religion) and a way leading to Shirk (associating others with Allah in His Divinity or worship). Thus, it is not permissible to participate in these banquets, attend them or eat there, as this may promote Bid`ah. It may lead an ignorant person to worship those Awliya' apart from Allah, believing that they can bring good. The Prophet (peace be upon him) said, \("Anyone who does something in this matter of ours \(the religion\) that is not from it, it will be rejected."\) (Agreed upon its authenticity by Al-Bukhari and Muslim). He (peace be upon him) also said, \("Anyone who does an action which is not in accordance with this matter of ours \(Islam\), will have it rejected."\) (Related by Muslim in his (Sahih) book of authentic Hadith)

The eighth question of Fatwa no. 21264

Q 8: What is the Du'a' (supplication) reported from the Prophet (peace be upon him) that he said during the night of mid-Sha'ban? Is it a Sunnah (supererogatory act of worship following the example of the Prophet) to gather in Masjids (mosques) during this night, say a certain Du'a' and seek to draw closer to Allah by doing good deeds?

A: There is not any authentic evidence that supports making a special Du'a' or act of worship on the fifteenth night of Sha'ban. Doing this is a Bid'ah (innovation in religion), because the Prophet (peace be upon him) said: «Every newly-introduced matter is a Bid'ah and every Bid'ah is a Dalalah \(deviation from what is right\).»

The first question of Fatwa no. 21437

Q 1: We are a group of families in one village. Our fathers have taken a vow to offer each year seven or fourteen slaughtered sheep, which they call the Sadaqah (voluntary charity) of Al-`Arqub. This takes place at the beginning of the year provided that it is on a Friday.

It is a Sadaqah through which they draw closer to Allah (Exalted be He) and upon slaughtering the animals they mention the Name of Allah. This is because they used to be infected in the past with diseases, misfortunes, and Fitnahs (trials) that sometimes led to death. Therefore, they would slaughter a sheep in behalf of each member of us, poor or rich, believing that this would ward off the diseases and misfortunes. When they delay such slaughter, they become doubtful that they are stricken with diseases because of this delay. Nevertheless, some of them know that these diseases are brought about by Allah's Will and that it is Allah Alone Who wards off harm and that such slaughtered animals offered could not protect them against the Will of Allah. However, they are thrown into doubt. They offer these slaughtered animals every year. Some would postpone the Jumu`ah (Friday) Prayer until they finish slaughtering; others would invite the people offering Salah to attend a meal to eat the slaughtered animals. What is the ruling on this act? What should they do? May Allah safeguard you!

A: offering slaughtered animals on a certain date every year believing that this would protect the town from any disaster is Haram (prohibited), Bid`ah (innovation in religion), and a means leading to Shirk (associating others with Allah in His Divinity or worship). This is so even if the Name of Allah is mentioned upon slaughtering and even if they call it Sadaqah.

If these slaughtered animals are offered for other than Allah (Exalted be He), such as the Jinn (creatures created from fire) and devils in order to ward off their evil, this is an act of major Shirk that takes a person out of Islam. Accordingly, they have to make Tawbah (repentance to Allah) and give up this habit. They have to put their trust in Allah Alone. (Say: "Nothing shall ever happen to us except what Allâh has ordained for us. He is our Maulâ (Lord, Helper and Protector). And in Allâh let the believers put their trust.")

(Part No. 2; Page No. 288)

Anyone who has made this vow should know that it is Haram and an act of disobedience that must not be fulfilled. The Prophet (peace be upon him) said: ("Anyone who vows to obey Allah, should obey Him; and anyone who vows to disobey Allah, should not disobey Him.") Such a will is Batil (null and void) and should not be executed.

May Allah grant us success! May peace and blessings be upon our Prophet Muhammad, his family, and Companions!

Fatwa no. 21577

Your Eminence, the book entitled "Al-Habib Al-Mustafa (peace be upon him)" attached to this letter, by Mustafa Ahmad Al-Badawy, is widely spread in our country. The book misleads the common Muslims and those whom they deem scholars due to their eloquence and beautification of falsehood, so people appreciate the book, publish it and distribute many copies of it in the country, especially in the eastern states of Sudan. Please, review the book and explain the ruling of Islam on it so that we will convey this ruling to those who are misled by the book and demonstrate its deviation in `Aqidah (creed) and the fabricated and weak Hadiths, which are the core of the book.

May Allah reward you with the best for serving Islam, giving advice to Muslims and fighting falsehood and its people altogether! May Allah guide you, grant you success and benefit people through you! May peace and blessings of Allah be upon our Prophet Muhammad, his family and Companions!

A: All Praise is due to Allah, the Lord of the Worlds, and may peace and blessings be upon our Prophet Muhammad, his family and Companions.

The Permanent Committee for Scholarly Research and Ifta' reviewed the book in question and found that it contains many points and mistakes related to `Aqidah; the most dangerous of which are:

1- On page 8 the author states: "There is no effective balsam or cure for negligence except supplicating to Allah through His honest Messenger as Allah (Glorified and Exalted be He) orders us saying: ﴿And seek the means of approach to Him﴾ The Prophet (peace be upon him) is the greatest of means and intermediaries."

This is corrupted form of Tawassul (seeking to draw close to Allah through unlawful means) which is falsely introduced to Islam and leads to Shirk (associating others in worship with Allah). Actually, this is an improper interpretation of the Qur'an, since "the means of approach" mentioned in this Ayah (Qur'anic verse) signifies getting closer to Allah (Exalted be He) by offering righteous deeds.

2- On page 10 the author says: "Without the Prophet (peace be upon him), Allah would have not been known, nor would there have been heavens, earth, night, day, man, jinn or an Angel, for all these were created for the sake of Muhammad (peace be upon him)." He also adds: "Allah informed Adam that He created him, the heavens and earth only because of Muhammad."

Actually, this is a kind of exceeding proper limits concerning the Prophet (peace be upon him) and over praise that contradicts his order: ﴿Do not exaggerate in praising me as the Christians praised the son of Mary, for I am only a Slave. So, call me the Slave of Allah and His Messenger.﴾

3- On page no. 21 he quotes poetic verses in seeking relief from the Prophet Muhammad (peace be upon him) on the Day of Gathering and Resurrection as well as seeking elimination of troubles. This is an act of Shirk (associating others in worship with Allah) because no one relieves or eliminates troubles on the Day of Resurrection but Allah (Glorified and Exalted be He).

4- On page 59 the author mentions a poem written by Al-Nabhany which starts with this verse:

Over the universe lie the shoes of Muhammad
Very high, under his shade the creation is situated

This is an outrageous exaggeration because above the universe is the `Arsh (Allah's Throne) and Allah, the Lord of the Worlds is above His `Arsh.

5- the book is riddled with weak and fabricated Hadiths and poems that exaggerate in praising the status of the Prophet (peace be upon him). Therefore, it is obligatory to warn people against this book and stop its circulation in order to guard the Muslims' `Aqidah from Shirk and Bid`ah (innovations in religion).

May Allah grant us success! May peace and blessings be upon our Prophet Muhammad, his family and Companions!

Fatwa no. 21609

Q: Amongst things that Muslims are afflicted by nowadays are some practices that they get through people with `Aqidah (creed) and habits opposing Shari`ah (Islamic law). Examples of such practices are civil Festivals and annual celebrations which are held on different occasions. To be more specific, keen Muslim teachers are very concerned and worried about the tribulation that they have been afflicted by, which is called the International Teacher's Day, that is celebrated by all people all over the world. Muslims differed as to whether such a Festival is Halal (lawful) or Haram (prohibited). It is worth mentioning that all countries celebrate the Festival in question every year on a specific day. In such a celebration, students, teachers, students' fathers and school administrators make statements about the merits of teachers, and the latter receive gifts from their students. Sometimes refreshments are served during the celebration in question when people probably congratulate each other saying: "May you have a good year." Some other customs which are not established by Shari`ah are also practiced during that celebration. Please tell me what the ruling on such a Festival is, and whether it is permissible to participate in it.

A: It is impermissible to hold innovated Festivals, to celebrate them, to participate in them, or to congratulate those who hold them as doing so involves helping them in sin and transgression. Moreover, Allah (Exalted be He) mentions that amongst the characteristics of the faithful slaves of the Most Gracious (Allah) is that they: \(And those who do not bear witness to falsehood\) i.e. they do not attend Festivals of Kafirs (disbelievers), as stated in the Tafsir (explanation of the meanings of the Qur'an) of the concerned glorious Ayah (verse). The foregoing applies whether such Festivals are called so, or referred to as Days or Occasions, for names do not change facts. Besides, Muslims have only two Holy Festivals; `Eid-ul-Fitr (the Festival of Breaking the Fast) and `Eid-ul-Adha (the Festival of the Sacrifice).

It is thus Wajib (obligatory) that Muslims abandon such Bid`ah (innovation in religion) and Festivals resembling those of Jahiliyyah (pre-Islamic time of ignorance), including The International Teacher's Day. May Allah help us all to act upon the Qur'an and Sunnah (whatever is reported from the Prophet, peace be upon him) and to abandon all types of Bid`ah.

May Allah grant us success! May peace and blessings be upon our Prophet Muhammad, his family, and Companions!

Fatwa no. 21507

Q: I have read the enclosed booklet entitled "Jami` Al-Salawat Bi Asmaa Ashraf Al-Bareyat", compiled by Ahmad Jumhury Al-Binjly.

This booklet is approved by the Ministry of Information under no. (623/2/M), on 16/4/1419 AH. It is given to people for free in Rawaby Al-Hijaz Restaurant in Makkah.

The author mentions that during his journeys he met a person who sends peace and blessings upon the Prophet (peace be upon him) twelve thousand times a day, and that's why he wants to connect the Prophet's names he collected with the act of sending peace and blessings upon the Prophet (peace be upon him).

Furthermore, he composed a peculiar poem that contains, as he claimed, the Prophet's names. There is no proof that these names can be attributed to the Prophet (peace be upon him). Examples of these names include Allah's Path, Allah's mention, Allah's Party, the Lamp, the Almighty, the Powerful, the Known, the Resort, the Dominant, the Overseer, the Possessor of Power, the Sacred, Spoke the Truth, the Piercing Star, the Most Trustworthy Handhold, the Key to Paradise, Honor belongs to him, etc.

I hope you will, if it is appropriate, notify the competent authority that approved this booklet not to approve such books, especially those of Tafsir (exegesis of the meanings of the Qur'an) and Creed unless approved by people of knowledge or Fatwa so that no confusion may occur due to publishing untrue information and books. Allah is the One whose help is sought.

A: It is impermissible to act upon the content of this book. Likewise, the book should not be published or sold, for it contains many names that may not be attributed to the Prophet (peace be upon him). moreover, it is a means to prohibited exaggeration with respect to the Prophet (peace be upon him). It is impermissible to recite the versified Adhkar and Wirds, as they are Bid'ah, and the best course of conduct is that of Prophet Muhammad (peace be upon him).

May Allah grant us success! May peace and blessings be upon our Prophet Muhammad, his family, and Companions!

Fatwa no. 21546

Q: Please find attached a copy of a reply written by Professor Muhammad `Abbas, may Allah reward him well and increase the weight of his good deeds, and save him from the day of the Greatest Terror (the Day of Resurrection). This reply addresses the novel entitled "Walimah Li-A`shab Al-Bahr" (A banquet of Seaweeds) by the Syrian writer Haydar Haydar. We ask Allah to guide him and others. Your Honor will find in the attached reply what this Syrian writer has mentioned about Allah (Glorified and Exalted be He), the Noble Qur'an, and the honorable Messenger (peace be upon him). Things that were not even mentioned by Jews in the Torah, or Christians in the Injil (Gospel), this Fasiq (someone flagrantly violating Islamic law) comes in this time where Fisq and Fujur (wickedness, evil-doing) is widespread and seizes the opportunity to stab Muslim scholars and laymen in their backs. He is bold enough to mention matters which he would never dare to say if the Muslims were sincere to their Lord, Prophet and Qur'an. He makes these statements in a Muslim country to let all Muslims hear about this delusive novel that he wrote. This writer has challenged all Muslims starting with scholars, Islamic authorities and organizations. What is Your Honors' and other scholars' response in this virtuous country that is known for defending Allah's Din (Islam), Book and Messenger (peace be upon him). I hope that your reply will be equal to, or even sterner than the challenge issued by this writer. Allah (Alone) is Sufficient for us, and He is the Best Disposer of affairs (for us). I hereby put forward this issue before Your Honor, since you are more qualified than me, declaring my disavowal to what this writer or any other deviants say. I repudiate the failure and weak attitude adopted by the Islamic authorities and organizations in Muslim countries in facing such dissolute people. Finally, Allah (Alone) is Sufficient for us, and He is the Best Disposer of affairs (for us).

A: After reading some of the texts in the novel "Walimah Li-A`shab Al-Bahr"

by Haydar Haydar, and after gathering some data issued by several Islamic authorities in this regard and the delusion and Kufr included in it, it has become clear to the committee that this novel contains several serious violations, including the following:

- 1- Mocking Allah (Glorified and Exalted be He) and describing Him in a manner not befitting His Majesty.
- 2- Mocking the Prophet (peace be upon him) and fabricating lies against him.
- 3- Denying the Day of Resurrection and mocking Jannah (Paradise), Nar (Hellfire), Thawab (reward from Allah) and Punishment.
- 4- The Call to immorality and the spread of licentiousness among the believers
- 5- Urging people to violate the Rulings of Islam and to abandon its laws, etc.

Muslims do not differ that these statements express Kufr (disbelief) in Allah and apostasy, for it involves mockery of Allah, His Messenger and Islam. It also implies refutation of Allah and His Messenger (peace be upon him), confutation of the Qur'an and denying the Rulings of Islam. Allah (Exalted be He) states: ﴿Say: "Was it at Allâh (عز وجل), and His Ayât (proofs, evidence, verses, lessons, signs, revelations) and His Messenger (صلى الله عليه وسلم) that you were mocking?"﴾ ﴿Make no excuse; you disbelieved after you had believed.﴾ And ﴿but really they said the word of disbelief, and they disbelieved after accepting Islâm﴾

(Part No. 2; Page No. 297)

Furthermore, scholars are unanimous upon deeming whoever denies and rejects a well-known and undisputable tenet of Islam a Kafir (disbeliever).

Therefore, it is obligatory for Muslims to urge the judicial authorities to consider the case of this novel, so as to be able to judge it in accordance with the Judgment of Allah and His Messenger, to teach this writer and whoever thinks to attack Islam a good lesson, and let every Muslim know that it is impermissible to print, publish, or circulate this novel and that it must be destroyed.

May Allah grant us success! May peace and blessings be upon our Prophet Muhammad, his family, and Companions!

Fatwa no. 21469

Q: Some lovers of rings and gems such as onyx, Iranian turquoise, etc. believe and propagate that such gems have special characteristics and benefits. They support their view by the Hadith and sayings which are mentioned in the book of Al-Mustatraf such as the saying of Ja`far ibn Muhammad: "A person who wears a ring made of turquoise will not be afflicted by poverty." Another example is the saying: "Beneficial rings are made of four materials: corundum which guards against drought, turquoise which saves from poverty, agate which saves from infertility, and Chinese iron which is for protection." The book also mentions that looking at turquoise sharpens one's eyesight and protects one who wears it against disease and drowning. Moreover, the book mentions that Ja`far Al-Sadiq said: "A person who wears a ring made of turquoise will not be afflicted by poverty."

It also states that wearing agate and carrying it make a person patient, refines their character, makes them calm at times of disputes, make their opinions correct, and delights their soul. It ascribes a Hadith to the Messenger of Allah (peace be upon him) which reads: "Whoever wears a ring made of agate will continue to be blessed."

It is worth mentioning that these Hadith and sayings which are mentioned in the book are photocopied and distributed. When I questioned this, people told me that these are secrets. I told them that such gems are not better than Al-Hajar Al-Aswad (the Black Stone in a corner of the Ka`bah) and (Umar ibn Al-Khattab said 'addressing Al-Hajar Al-Aswad': 'I know that you are a stone and can neither benefit nor harm. Had I not seen the Prophet (peace be upon him) kissing you, I would never have kissed you.') People answered, "Experience is the best proof for the special characteristics that Allah makes for such gems." They then mentioned some stories such as that of a man who used to have a ring that when worn a man would not ejaculate during sexual intercourse until he would take it off. Bridegrooms thus would borrow such a ring for the first night after their wedding. Another story is that a man went to have his hair cut but the barber was unable cut his hair and he wondered why. The man then took off a ring that he wore and put it aside; consequently the barber was able to cut his hair. There are many other similar stories. It is only the help of Allah that people must seek.

O Honorable Sheikh, is there any Sahih (authentic) Hadith or saying that supports these claims? Are the narrations mentioned in the book of Al-Mustatraf considered Sahih and valid and could be used as evidence? Do such gems have distinguished characteristics? Provide us with your beneficial answer please. May Allah benefit you.

A: No Sahih Hadith is reported from the Prophet (peace be upon him) regarding the merits or characteristics of rings and gems which are mentioned in the question. It is thus impermissible to ascribe to the Prophet (peace be upon him) things that he did not say for it is authentically reported that he (peace be upon him) stated: \(Whoever lies against me \(intentionally\), then \(surely\) let them occupy their seat in Hell-fire.\) Consequently, it is impermissible for a person to believe that these rings have special merits, or to believe in the stories and myths which are related to them. Finally, it is impermissible to depend on the book of Al-Mustatraf as far as matters of knowledge and Din (religion) are concerned.

May Allah grant us success! May peace and blessings be upon our Prophet Muhammad, his family, and Companions!

The second question of Fatwa no. 18565

Q 2: In our villages, some banquets are held for the sake of the dead and people attend them. When I disapprove travelling to these villages, people say that their intention is to visit their relatives, go shopping in the markets there, or do business there; is this permissible? Does their intention make it permissible?

A: offering slaughtered animals for the dead with the intention of drawing closer to them is considered a form of major shirk (associating others with Allah in His Divinity or worship). If the intention is to celebrate their birthdays without drawing closer to them, this will be a prohibited Bid'ah (innovation in religion) which must be avoided. People must be prohibited from observing such events even if they are used to this, so it is not permissible to go on in this practice.

May Allah grant us success! May peace and blessings be upon our Prophet Muhammad, his family, and Companions!

The second question of Fatwa no. 18221

Q 2: It is a custom in our district that in August or September every year, some people from our village gather in the Masjid (mosque) to slaughter a bull or a sheep and distribute the meat to houses to prepare food. When the people eat, they supplicate to Allah (Exalted be He) not to inflict them with diseases. They give Sadaqah (voluntary charity) and say that it is for the sake of good health. They believe if they do so, Allah (Exalted be He) will ward off misfortunes. What is the ruling on eating this food? What is the ruling on those who believe this?

A: This slaughtering is a Bid`ah (innovation in religion) and this belief is false and not permissible because it has no origin in religion. The Prophet (peace be upon him) said: \("Anyone who does an act for which there is no sanction from our behalf, that is to be rejected."\) He (peace be upon him) also said: \("Beware of novelties, for every novelty is a Bid`ah, and every Bid`ah is delusion."\)

The second question of Fatwa no. 18365

Q 2: What is the ruling on two men who made a pledge to something and recited Surah Al-Fatihah [the Opening Chapter]? Should it be fulfilled? What is the Kaffarah (expiation)?

A: Reciting Surah Al-Fatihah when making a pledge has no basis in religion. If the pledge is made on something lawful, it must be fulfilled because Allah (Exalted be He) says:

﴿And fulfil (every) covenant. Verily, the covenant, will be questioned about.﴾ Also, Allah says: ﴿And fulfil the Covenant of Allâh (Bai'ah: pledge for Islâm) when you have covenanted﴾ The Prophet (peace be upon him) said: ﴿"Three are the signs of a hypocrite: when they speak they tell lies, when they make a promise they break it, and when they are trusted they betray (the trust).﴾ (Agreed upon by Al-Bukhari and Muslim as narrated on the authority of Abu Hurayrah (may Allah be pleased with him)). It is related in the Two Sahih (authentic) Books of Hadith (i.e. Al-Bukhari and Muslim) on the authority of `Abdullah ibn `Amr ibn Al-`As (may Allah be pleased with both of them) that the Prophet (peace be upon him) said: ﴿"Anyone who has the following four (characteristics) will be a pure hypocrite and anyone who has one of the following four characteristics will have one characteristic of hypocrisy unless and until they give it up: Whenever they speak, they tell lies; whenever they make a promise, they break it; whenever they quarrel, they deviate from the truth; and whenever they make a pledge, they prove treacherous.﴾

Bid`ah related to marriage

Fatwa no. 12317

Q: In wedding ceremonies, some people bring a man or a woman to break eggs over the bride or the groom's head. Then, this person puts a plate over the head of the bride or the groom. People come to congratulate them and put money in this plate. The person holds the money and announces each payment and the name of the donor. They gain around 10 thousand in each wedding. When people are asked about the reason for bringing these persons who deceive them and take their money, they reply that this is the custom of their fathers and forefathers. Some people bring a ram, make it lie down and then ask the bride or the groom to step over it to and fro. They believe that this practice blesses their marriage.

What is the ruling on whoever brings these people to the wedding ceremony?

What is the ruling on whoever claims that it is an act of Sunnah? Is this true?

What is the ruling on breaking the eggs or slaughtering the ram?

(Part No. 2; Page No. 304)

Is the money paid to this person considered lawful gain or not?

What is your advice to the family that believes this is their parents' traditions? What should they do after they receive your reply? Do they have to pay Kaffarah (expiation)?

A: 1. breaking eggs on the bride or the groom's head in weddings is not an act of Sunnah. It is one of the old detestable customs by which swindlers devour people's property wrongfully. It is not permissible to bring such people to a wedding ceremony or to ask the bride and the groom to pass to and fro over a ram.

2. It is not permissible to pay money to the person who breaks the egg in the wedding ceremony.

3. Whoever has done such things should repent to Allah (Glorified and Exalted be He) and ask His forgiveness and should not do them again.

Q: Some families bring water on which Qur'an

is recited at the marriage of their daughters and sons. They put an amount of spathe salt, which is used to wash the dead, mixed with Vex cream and wash the husband and wife for fear of the evil eye, envy, and Sihr (sorcery) believing in the permissibility of this act. Is this act permissible according to Shari`ah (Islamic law)? Could you kindly advise. May Allah reward you and safeguard you.

A: reciting the Qur'an on water and putting an amount of spathe salt mixed with Vex cream in this as a method to stop the evil eye, envy, and Sihr from inflicting those who want to marry is a Bid`ah (innovation in religion) which has no origin in religion. It was not authentically reported that the Prophet (peace be upon him) nor any of his Sahabah (Companions - may Allah be pleased with them) did that. It is not permissible to believe that this act can bring about benefit or ward off harm. A person should adhere to the permissible Ruqyah (reciting Qur'an and saying supplications over the sick seeking healing) from the Qur'an and the Most Beautiful Names of Allah (Exalted be He). They must protect themselves with Adhkar (invocations and Remembrances said at certain times on a regular basis) and reported Du`a' (supplication).

Q 2: When a person marries, they offer a sheep as a sacrifice and make it a habit to offer a sacrifice every year. Sometimes the guardian of a wife enjoins the husband to offer a sheep as Sadaqah (voluntary charity) every year believing it protects the wife and the children from the evils of envy, diseases, and afflictions. They make it as a vow to be offered every year and call it Al-Rizbah. When they slaughter it, they mention Allah's Name. Some people think that if they delay slaughtering it, they suffer diseases and afflictions. Others are absolutely certain that diseases occur by the Will of Allah but they consider it a vow that must be fulfilled. Your Eminence, what is the ruling on their deed and what is the ruling on them? May Allah bless you and your deeds and make Muslims and Islam benefit from your deeds!

A: slaughtering a sheep every year after marriage believing that this would protect them from envy, diseases, and afflictions, is an unlawful act and a false belief. It is not permissible to call it Sadaqah. In fact, it is a means to Shirk (associating others with Allah in His Divinity or worship). This act must be totally abandoned; and anyone who does that must make Tawbah (repentance to Allah), put their trust in Allah Alone, and be certain that nothing brings good nor wards off harm but Allah (Glorified and Exalted be He).

Q 2: When experiencing a long drought, some villagers take a bull or a camel and slaughter it in the waterway, asking Allah for mercy and rain. Please advise, may Allah reward you!

A: It is permissible for Muslims, in case of late rain and drought to perform Salah (Prayer), observe Sawm (Fast), give in Sadaqah (voluntary charity), and abstain from engaging in disputes and wrongdoings, as obedience brings blessings while disobedience causes barrenness. Also, the Imam (the one who leads congregational Prayer) should specify a day on which people will offer Salat-ul-Istisqa' (Prayer for rain). The people must go to this Salah in submission, humbleness, and Khushu` (the heart being attuned to the act of worship) and the Imam should lead them in a two-Rak`ah Salah (Prayer consisting of two units). as for slaughtering a bull or a camel in the waterway hoping for rain, this is a Bid`ah (innovation in religion), which may lead to Shirk (associating others with Allah in His Divinity or worship) if they believe that this act will bring rainfall.

Q: I would like to inform Your Eminence that I am studying for my Ph.D. thesis, and my supervising professor asked me to cover a very important topic, i.e. the Islamic view on preserving sites and buildings that have a special historical or architectural significance. Does Islam encourage maintaining such buildings or sites? Is it permissible, for example, to maintain a site or a building that witnessed important historical or religious events? Is it permissible to turn it into a museum to be visited by the public?

A: It is impermissible to exaggerate the importance of historical sites and buildings, because this might lead to Shirk (associating others with Allah in His Divinity or worship). The laypeople may be tempted to believe that such places are blessed, and be driven to commit acts of disbelief. The Prophet (peace be upon him) forbade building over graves and performing Salah (Prayer) by them, for that is a means of Shirk. It is, therefore, obligatory to neglect and abandon such a deed and to warn against it.

Fatwa no. 21138

Q: In Al-Ta'if there is a Masjid (mosque) called Masjid Al-Ku` where people claim that Allah's Messenger (peace be upon him) met `Addas upon his return from Al-Ta'if. As teachers, we are required to take students on a visit to this Masjid so that they have information about this monument. Is this permissible? If visiting this Masjid is not permissible, what is the ruling on taking the students to it merely to know about it? What is the ruling on the Muslim who goes to it to perform two Rak`ahs (units of Prayer) there?

A: The two Masjids Al-Qantarah and Al-Ku` in Al-Ta'if are associated with Bid`ah (innovation in religion) that has no origin in Islam, nor do they enjoy any special merit.

(Part No. 2; Page No. 309)

There is no authentic Hadith or Athar (narrations from the Companions) that mentions them, and the stories that people relate about them are false and unfounded. Therefore, a Muslim is not permitted to visit them as an act of worship, exactly like the other Masjids that are associated with Bid`ahs. Also, it is not permissible for a Muslim to single out a Masjid for visit and worship except the three Masjids, namely, Al-Masjid Al-Haram (the Sacred Mosque in Makkah), Al-Masjid Al-Nabawy (the Prophet's Mosque in Madinah), and Al-Masjid Al-Aqsa (the Aqsa Mosque in Jerusalem), in addition to Masjid Quba' in Madinah. Thus, it is clearly not permissible to take students on a journey to visit these two Masjids since this misleads the minds of the young students and it is obligatory to protect Muslims' `Aqidah (creed) from Bid`ahs and misguidance.

Fitnah

(Part No. 2; Page No. 312)

Q 2: I want to ask about a Hadith which reads as follows: Al-Hasan Al-Basry (may Allah be merciful with him) said: I have come to know that the Prophet (peace be upon him) said: \("Before the Last Hour there will be Fitnahs \(temptations\) like pieces of a dark night in which a man's heart will die like the death of the body and a man will be a believer in the morning and a disbeliever in the evening, or a believer in the evening and a disbeliever in the morning. There will be people who would sell their religion for paltry worldly goods."\) If this Hadith is Sahih (authentic), what is the act which if it is done by a Muslim, they will be disbelievers and what is the way out? Could you kindly advise. May Allah reward you with the best!

A: It was related by Muslim in his Sahih Book of Hadith and Al-Tirmidhy in his Sunan (Hadith compilations classified by jurisprudential themes) on the authority of Abu Hurayrah (may Allah be pleased with him) that the Messenger of Allah (peace be upon him) said: \("Hasten to perform \(good\) deeds before Fitnahs which are as dark as night, where one can be a believer in the morning and a disbeliever at night, or they can be a believer at night and a disbeliever in the morning. They would exchange their religion for the perishable goods of the worldly life."\) Al-Tirmidhy said: This Hadith is Hasan and Sahih (good and authentic Hadith).

This Hadith was related by scholars in the chapters on Fitnahs, which refer to what befalls this Ummah (nation based on one creed), such as disagreements, killing, and rendering things which Allah (Exalted be He) and His Messenger (peace be upon him) have prohibited as Halal (lawful). The meaning of his saying: \("One can be a believer in the morning and a disbeliever at night..."\) to his saying: \("They would exchange their religion for the perishable goods of the worldly life"\) was explained by Al-Hasan (may Allah be merciful with him) as related by Al-Tirmidhy as follows, "A person wakes up in the morning prohibiting for himself his brother's blood, honor, and money and when the night falls, he believes they are lawful." the exit from Fitnahs is to resort to Allah (Exalted be He) and avoid all disputing sects by sitting at home or moving to another place with one's possessions or to another land if one has any other. Al-Bukhari related with his Sanad (chain of narrators) on the authority of Abu Sa'id Al-Khudry (may Allah be pleased with him) that the Messenger of Allah (peace be upon him) said: \("A time is about to come when the best property of a Muslim will be sheep which he takes to the tops of mountains and the places of rainfall so as to flee with his religion from Fitnahs."\)

The second question of Fatwa no. 10575

Q 2: How can we understand and act according to the Hadith which was narrated on the authority of Hudhayfah ibn Al-Yaman (may Allah be pleased with him) and was related by Al-Bukhari in Kitab Al-Fitan (Book of Tribulations), Chapter on "If there is neither a Muslim Community nor an Imam (ruler)"?

What did the Messenger of Allah (peace be upon him) mean when he said to Hudhayfah (may Allah be pleased with him) "turn away" when there is neither a Muslim Community nor an Imam?

A: There are many kinds of Fitnahs (trials). The Prophet (peace be upon him) meant to avoid the causes of Fitnah and evil. A person should call to the truth and act according to it. You have to choose the group which will draw you closer to goodness and cooperate with them in righteousness and piety hoping for Istiqamah (integrity) and safety from evil.

Q: ("You will have rulers some of whom you will approve of and some of whom you will disapprove of. Anyone who disapproves of them will be saved, and anyone who isolates from them will be secured, but anyone who mingles with them will be ruined.") Your Eminence, is this Hadith Sahih (authentic)? We read it in Sahih Al-Jami` Al-Saghir Wa Zyadatih. We think that its meaning contradicts other narrations related by Al-Bukhari, Muslim, and others from many of the Sahabah (Companions of the Prophet) on the issue of not revolting against the ruler. These narrations even reached the degree of Hadith Mutawatir (a Hadith reported by a significant number of narrators throughout the chain of narration, whose agreement upon a lie is impossible). This is also the belief of Ahl-ul-Sunnah (those adhering to the Sunnah) and scholars of Hadith as Imam Al-Tahawy said, "We do not revolt against our rulers even if they transgress." Are we right or wrong? Please explain the truth to us. If the mentioned Hadith is Sahih, how can we reconcile both meanings?

A: The Hadith you mentioned is Sahih and it does not disagree with the belief of Ahl-ul-Sunnah as regards listening to the rulers and obeying them and adhering to the Muslim community and never revolting against the rulers even if they transgress as long as they do not commit Kufr (disbelief). This is because the meaning of "anyone who disapproves of them" in the Hadith refers to verbal disapproval as explained by the interpreters of Hadith.

Al-Munawwy said in (Sharh Al-Jami` 4/132), "Anyone who disapproves of them"

means whoever verbally disapproves of the violations of Shari`ah (Islamic law) is saved from hypocrisy, and whoever isolates from them and disapproves of their deeds by their heart is secured from punishment for not forbidding evil, and whoever mixes with them being pleased with their immorality will be ruined; that is, they have done what makes them deserve ruin in the Hereafter."

Sahih Muslim supports this meaning by the Hadith reported on the authority of Um Salamah (may Allah be pleased with her) that the Prophet (peace be upon him) said: ("Rulers will be appointed over you, and you will find them doing good as well as bad deeds. Anyone who hates their bad deeds is absolved from blame. Anyone who disapproves of their bad deeds is (also) safe (so far as Allah's Wrath is concerned). But anyone who approves of their bad deeds and imitates them (is doomed). People asked, "Messenger of Allah, should not we fight against them?" He replied: No, as long as they offer Salah (Prayer).")

Q: Some people claim that they are following the way of Salaf (righteous predecessors),

(Part No. 2; Page No. 317)

but they are constantly attacking scholars and accuse them of introducing innovations in the religion. It is as if their tongues are created to utter such accusations despite their claim that they follow the Salaf. Now, I would like to ask Your Eminence, may Allah keep you safe:

What is the true concept of Salafiyyah and its attitude towards the modern Islamic sects? May Allah reward you the best reward for benefiting Muslims. Indeed, He is the All-Hearer of supplication.

A: If the reality is as you have mentioned, then attacking scholars and ascribing them to innovations is not the way of the Salaf, who were the best of this Ummah (nation). Rather, theirs is the way of adhering to the teachings of the Qur'an and the Sunnah as well as understanding the religion of Islam in the same manner of the Sahabah (Companions of the Prophet) and those who follow them in righteousness who called to Allah with wisdom, fair preaching, and arguing in a way that is best. This also necessitates acting according to what is preached and the principal rulings of Islam, calling to co-operation in good and union of all Muslims on the truth in addition to avoiding all causes of dissention, such as grudges, envy, and abusing people's honor, as well as other reasons that separate Muslims into sects and groups that curse and abuse each other. Allah (Exalted be He) says,

﴿And hold fast, all of you together, to the Rope of Allah (i.e. this Quran), and be not divided among yourselves, and remember Allah's Favor on you, for you were enemies one to another but He joined your hearts together, so that, by His Grace, you became brethren (in Islamic Faith), and you were on the brink of a pit of Fire, and He saved you from it. Thus Allah makes His Ayat (proofs, evidences, verses, lessons, signs, revelations, etc.) clear to you, that you may be guided.﴾ (Let there arise out of you a group of people inviting to all that is good (Islām), enjoining Al-Ma'rûf (i.e. Islāmic Monotheism and all that Islām orders one to do) and forbidding Al-Munkar (polytheism and disbelief and all that Islām has forbidden). And it is they who are the successful.﴾ (And be not as those who divided and differed among themselves after the clear proofs had come to them. It is they for whom there is an awful torment.﴾ Furthermore, it is authentically reported that the Prophet (peace be upon him) said: ﴿Do not renegade (as) disbelievers after me, striking the necks (cutting the throats) of one another﴾ There are more Ayahs and Hadiths that dispraise dissention and its reasons. Thus, securing the honor of Muslims is necessarily admitted religious obligation. They should not be violated or abused. It is also worse to violate the honor of Muslim scholars, who benefit Muslims with their knowledge. There are many texts of the two noble revelations pointing out to their revered status. Allah (Glorified be He) mentions them as the witnesses to His Oneness when He (Exalted be He) says:

﴿Allâh bears witness that Lâ ilâha illa Huwa (none has the right to be worshipped but He), and the angels, and those having knowledge (also give this witness); (He always) maintains His creation in Justice. Lâ ilâha illa Huwa (none has the right to be worshipped but He), the All-Mighty, the All-Wise.﴾

Abusing scholars unjustly and ascribing them to innovations and Fisq (flagrant violation of Islamic law) or belittling their status and degrading their opinions are of the most grievous kinds of injustice; rather this might stir Fitnah and ward off Muslims from seeking to learn matters of their Din (religion) and all the goodness spread by such scholars, regardless of the great harm this will affect on the spread of the sanctified Shar`. If the trustworthiness of those who preach such beneficial knowledge is blemished, this will definitely affect the knowledge seekers and their readiness to receive such knowledge. This is similar to criticizing the Sahabah of the Messenger of Allah by some whimsical people. The Companions are the witnesses that the Prophet of this Ummah (peace be upon him) did conveyed his message and the Shari`ah of Allah. If the trustworthiness of the witness is abused, the same happens to the person who is witnessed. It is obligatory upon the Muslim to adhere to the high manners of Islam and its rulings, hold the tongue from abusing knowledgeable scholars, repent to Allah (Exalted be He) and pay the due rights to their owners. However, if a scholar wrongly judges a legal matter, this should not be a pretext to underestimate his knowledge, as knowing what is right is by referring to the knowledgeable people who are known for their religion and sound creed. The Muslim should not listen to an ignorant person who may misguide him while he is unaware.

Fatwa no. 16872

Q: We would like your Eminence to clarify for us some issues regarding a debate that was aroused in our country, Sudan, on the Salafiyyah (those following the way of the righteous predecessors) Group here.

Some brothers drew away from the renowned Group of Ansar Al-Sunnah Al-Muhamadiyyah (protectors of the Prophet's Sunnah). They started to criticize it and describe its followers as being (Muslims who speak your language but whoever responds to them will be thrown in Hell-fire). They based this view on Hadith Al-Fitnah (sedition) which is narrated by Hudhayfah ibn Al-Yaman. The reasons for which the brothers referred to the above and broke away from Ansar Al-Sunnah Al-Muhamadiyyah Group can be summarized in the following:

They consider naming the Salafiyyah Group in Sudan as Ansar Al-Sunnah Al-Muhamadiyyah a Bid`ah (innovation in religion). They think that Ansar Al-Sunnah Al-Muhamadiyyah Group is a mere party, just like all other deviated parties and groups.

It is worth mentioning that such a matter separated Muslims and disturbed the Da`wah (calling) to Tawhid (belief in the Oneness of Allah) in a country where most of its people follow the way of Sufism. In addition, the current situation causes young men who join Ansar Al-Sunnah Al-Muhamadiyyah Group to be confused and doubt the truth. People wonder how the Salafiyyah Group in Sudan can unify Muslims all over the world while it is unable to unify its few members? Yet, people have perfect Yaqin (certainty) that In sha'a-Allah (if Allah wills) He (Exalted be He) will cause the truth to be victorious and destroy falsehood along with the enemies of Din (religion).

A: ansar al-Sunnah al-Muhamadiyyah Group in Egypt and Sudan is an Islamic Group whose members abide by the Sunnah (whatever is reported from the Prophet, peace be upon him) according to the understanding of the Salaf (righteous predecessors), who makes Da`wah to Allah in conformity to what has been conveyed to Muslims by the Prophet (peace be upon him) regarding the issues of Tawhid, `Ibadah (worship), and good manners. Besides, Ansar Al-Sunnah Al-Muhamadiyyah Group believes in Al-Wala' wal-Bara' (loyalty and disassociation for Allah's Sake) based on the Qur'an and Sunnah. The foregoing is what we know about such a Group. All praise be to Allah Alone, Ansar Al-Sunnah Al-Muhamadiyyah Group represents the real Muslim main body amidst such societies which have many different sects and creeds. It may be worth mentioning that many scholars, knowledge seekers, and ordinary people benefited from Ansar Al-Sunnah Al-Muhamadiyyah Group, and that this name distinguishes the concerned Group from other groups and sects that indulge in misguiding Bid`ahs (innovations in religion) and whims. Nevertheless, the covenant of Al-Wala' wal-Bara' (that the members of the Group in question give) has nothing to do with any name; it is just a covenant to follow the Qur'an and Sunnah and love and hate in Allah's cause.

Accordingly, it is impermissible that followers of the Group in question separate or that any body disunites them. Whoever does so or accuses them of forming an abominable party transgresses them and commits a sin.

The accusation referred to above is nothing but a Fitnah (sedition) that separates Muslims who model after the way of the Prophet (peace be upon him). We enjoin you and ourselves to fear Allah in secret and public, not to respond to those who want to create differences between Muslims, to be keen to acquire beneficial knowledge and spread it amongst people, to give special concern to issues which relate to Tawhid of Allah (Glorified and Exalted be He) in His `Ibadah, Names, and Attributes, and to warn against Shirk (associating others with Allah in His Divinity or worship) and deviating ways. May Allah keep us all firm on Islam.

May Allah grant us success! May peace and blessings be upon our Prophet Muhammad, his family, and Companions!

The first question of Fatwa no. 18072

Q 1: what is the meaning of giving authority to people other than the qualified people, which the Prophet (peace be upon him) informed as one of the signs of the Hour? Does this apply to religious matters only, or to both worldly and religious matters?

A: The meaning of giving the authority... in this Hadith is: giving the authority to other than the qualified people in both worldly and religious matters, as responsibility is a trust which should be delivered to its people, and giving it those who are not qualified would be a form of treason, as this leads to corruption and the loss of people's rights. Allah says: \(Verily, the best of men for you to hire is the strong, the trustworthy.\) So there must be power in execution and integrity in performance.

Q 2: When my mother regained her consciousness after falling into a coma and found half of her body paralyzed, she asked Allah (Exalted be He) to end her life because she did not want to live in such a state. One day later, she returned home and died the following morning. Is my mother sinful because she asked Allah (Exalted be He) to let her die? Please advise. May Allah reward you with the best!

Q 4: i am often fed up with my life and the Muslims' lack of religious commitment. i frequently say, "i wish i was not born." I ask Allah (Exalted be He) to help me get rid of this feeling of dissatisfaction. How can I eliminate this distress?

A: It is not permissible for a man to say the phrase "I wish I was not born;" rather, they should, when afflicted with an unpleasant thing, show patience and have Ihtisab (confident anticipation of Allah's Recompense) and say as the patient ones used to say: [﴿"Truly! Q 2: What are the means to strengthen one's Iman (faith) at times of Fitna (sedition) appearing in Televisions, streets, and western societies?

A: There are several means by which a person can strengthen Iman, such as abiding by the acts of obedience to Allah, avoiding prohibitions, associating with righteous people, increasing the recitation of the Qur'an and contemplating its meaning, studying the Prophetic Sunnah (Whatever is reported from the Prophet), and the persistence in remembering Allah (Glorified and Exalted be He), in addition to being attached to Du'a' (supplication) and feeling that you are always in need of Allah.

Fatwa no. 14833

Q: May Allah (Exalted be He) reward you for your concern about Islam and Muslims! In a previous letter, I stated that I began practicing Islam after a state in which I used to commit sins regularly. Later on, many things stood as barriers in my way and I was surprised that my father, who is supposed to help me give up sins, opposed me. My father does not like my state of practicing Islam or that of committing sins. When I asked him how I could please him, he ordered me to shave off my beard and forsake the Multazim (practicing Muslim) brothers in our country. He gave me that order on the pretext that the society rejects and does not welcome them. I told him that we should overlook the society since we seek only the reward in the Hereafter in which every believing slave will be honored and we seek only to lead our life in a way that pleases Allah (Exalted be He). He told me that even though he is sure that both they and I follow the right way, the society still looks at them suspiciously and does not approve of them. He does not prevent me from sitting in the nearby Masjid (mosque); yet the main problem lies in my beard. He forbids me from attending their lectures or mixing with them. He even permits me to observe I`tikaf (seclusion for worship in a Masjid) throughout the rest of my life on the condition that I shave off my beard. My father says that I may take all my books and remain in the nearby Masjid forever. In this case he will be pleased with me. If I keep my beard, he will not because he considers this beard a source of shame for my brothers who insist on abandoning Salah (Prayer). I wonder how growing my beard could be a source of shame for people who do not obey Allah (Exalted be He) or enter Masjids. I have the option to choose between obeying my father and obeying the Messenger (peace be upon him). I said that no one is to be obeyed in defiance to Allah (Exalted be He) and requested my father to give me fifteen days respite to consult about the matter, though I am fully convinced that I must not obey anybody in defiance of Allah (Exalted be He). Please advise.

A: We thank Allah (Exalted be He) that He has guided you and we implore Him to make you steadfast and consistently observant of Islam - indeed He is All Hearer and All Responsive. It is obligatory for you to be dutiful to your parents and treat them kindly and you should avoid speaking harshly to them. You must try your best to fulfill their needs. However, it is not permissible for you to obey the order of your father to shave off your beard because the Prophet (peace be upon him) said: "Trim closely the moustache, and let the beard grow." (Agreed upon by Al-Bukhari and Muslim) The Prophet (peace be upon him) also said: "It is obligatory for a Muslim to listen and obey \(the appointed authority\) whether they like it or not, except when they are ordered to do a sinful thing; in such a case, there is no obligation to listen or to obey." (Agreed upon by Al-Bukhari and Muslim) Your father fears that people may talk ill of you or despise you due to your adherence to Islam and sitting with righteous people, but you may tolerate this fact by telling him that Allah (Exalted be He) has made Islam a test for people so that the one who adheres patiently to it will gain the pleasure of Allah (Exalted be He) and enter His Jannah (Paradise). People hurt Prophet Muhammad (peace be upon him) who is the premier of people and most loved person to Allah (Exalted be He). They depicted him as a mad man and a sorcerer, put the abdominal contents of a slaughtered she-camel between his shoulders, cast stones at him, and severely beat and tortured his Sahabah (Companions of the Prophet) until some of them died. Nonetheless, they patiently adhered to Islam and as a result a new person used to embrace Islam every day until the Muslims became stronger and glorious as Islam prevailed. Similarly, these days Islam has become strange and Multazim persons are pursued and displaced and false accusations are made against them. However, Allah (Exalted be He) will make Islam reign supreme by their persistent adherence to it and patience in spite of the harm, insults, and mockery they experience.

Many Muslims at all levels have started practicing Islam and are returning to it every day. Allah (Exalted be He) says: ﴿So be patient. Surely, the (good) end is for Al-Muttaqûn (the pious)﴾ He (Exalted be He) also says: ﴿O you who believe! Endure and be more patient (than your enemy), and guard your territory by stationing army units permanently at the places from where the enemy can attack you, and fear Allâh, so that you may be successful.﴾

The first question of Fatwa no. 18645

Q 1: are Ya'juj and Ma'juj (Gog and Magog) from Banu adam (human beings, descendents from Prophet adam)?

A: Ya'juj and Ma'juj are two great nations from the descendents of Prophet Adam (peace be upon him). At the end of time, they will emerge and will cause mischief. Allah (Exalted be He) will destroy them all in one night when `Eisa (Jesus - peace be upon him), the son of Mary, descends. Their appearance is one of the major signs of the Hour as mentioned in the Qur'an and the authentic Sunnah (whatever is reported from the Prophet). There are many Hadith that indicate that they are from the descendents of Adam (peace be upon him). It was authentically reported on the authority of Abu Sa`id Al-Khudry (may Allah be pleased with him) that the Messenger of Allah (peace be upon him) said: «Allah (may He be Glorified and Exalted) will say on the Day of Resurrection, 'O Adam.' Adam will reply, 'O Lord! Labbayk wa Sa`dayk (I respond to Your Call and I am happy to serve You).' Allah will say, 'Bring out the people of the Fire from your descendants.' Adam will say, 'O Allah! How many are the people of the Fire?' Allah will reply, 'From every one thousand, take out nine hundred and ninety-nine.' At that time children will become hairy headed, every pregnant female will miscarry, and one will see mankind as drunken, yet they will not be drunken, but dreadful will be the Wrath of Allah. The people became afraid and their faces changed with fear. The Prophet (peace be upon him) said, 'Nine hundred and ninety-nine will be from Ya'juj and Ma'juj and one person will be from you.'» (Agreed upon by Al-Bukhari and Muslim, and this is the wordings of Al-Bukhari)

Fatwa no. 16050

Q: is it permissible to call any of Allah's Servants by (Rahman, Rahim or Jabbar) without using the definite article "Al"?

A: It is permissible for a person to be called by the name that corresponds to Allah's Name as long as it is not specified for Him only, such as " Al-Malik" (the king), as mentioned in the Qur'an: ﴿And the king said: "Bring him to me.﴾ Also such as: `Alim, Halim, Allah (Exalted be He) says: ﴿So We gave him the glad tidings of a forbearing boy.﴾ (halim), and ﴿And they gave him glad tidings of a son having knowledge \(about Allâh and His religion of True Monotheism\).﴾ (`alim). Also: Ra'uf, Rahim as He (Exalted be He) has mentioned in describing His Prophet (peace be upon him): ﴿for the believers \(he صلى الله عليه وسلم is\) full of pity, kind, and merciful.﴾ It should also be mentioned that there is a difference between the Names of the Creator and the names of creations, for nothing resembles Allah (Glorified be He) in His Self, Names or Attributes. He (Exalted be He) says: ﴿There is nothing like Him; and He is the All-Hearer, the All-Seer.﴾.

May Allah grant us success! May peace and blessings be upon our Prophet Muhammad, his family, and Companions!

The fifth question of Fatwa no. 16863

Q 5: The Imam (the one who leads congregational Prayer) forgot to say, "Sami'a Allahu liman hamidah (Allah listens to those who praise Him)" and said instead, "Allahu Akbar (Allah is the Greatest)." Should he perform Sujud-ul-Sahw (Prostration of Forgetfulness)? I am sending you two books that I would like Your Eminence to give your opinion on.

A: Tasmi' (saying: "Sami'a Allahu liman hamidah [Allah listens to those who praise Him]"), when standing after Ruku' is one of the obligatory actions of Salah (Prayer), because the Prophet (peace be upon him) always did it. If an Imam or someone offering Salah individually forgets to say it, then it is obligatory on them to perform Sujud-ul-Sahw to make up for what they missed.

After reviewing the two sent books, "Al-Takhmisiyyah Al-Manzhumah li Asma' Allah Al-Husna" and "Wasilat Al-Shafi", we would like to inform you that after studying the two mentioned books, the following is observed:

Firstly: "Al-Takhmisiyyah Al-Manzhumah li Asma' Allah Al-Husna" is a delicate treatise in verse, but it includes brief expressions, innovated supplications, and forbidden generalizations. On page four, for example, there is the expression: "Taqqast Ya man tamam al-khalqu jahah [O You the Most Perfect, Whom the creation completed His Glory]," which contains a grave error by ascribing an imperfection to Allah (Exalted be He).

On page six there is the statement: "Invoke the Most Generous and say: O He!" It suggests supplicating to Allah with the pronoun "He," which is not appropriate because it is not one of His Sublime Names. We should not call upon Allah using "He" because His Names (may He be Praised and Exalted) are Tawqifi (bound by a religious text and not amenable to personal opinion).

On page twenty the author says: "By Your Generosity, O You Who removes distress quickly, and all the Prophets and the angels..." until page twenty-two, "...we beseech You in the name of them all for Your Generosity, which..." It is not permissible to beseech Allah (make Tawassul) in the name of the creatures, or by virtue of their status, or their right, whether they are prophets, righteous people, or others, because this is a newly introduced matter into the Din (religion). And all newly introduced matters are Bid'ah (innovation in religion) and every Bid'ah is Dalalah (deviation from right).

There are also other similar things on pages five, eight, etc.

Therefore, it is not permissible for this book to be printed, published, or read, as it includes matters prohibited by the Shari'ah (Islamic law), like the above-mentioned.

Secondly: I have two comments concerning the book "Wasilat Al-Shafi" that is followed by Du'a' Khatm Al-Qur'an (supplication upon completing of one reading of the whole Qur'an) and Khutbat Al-Nikah (the sermon said on the occasion of marriage) by Al-Nabhany:

On page three there is the phrase: "I wish Muhammad was our guide," which is misleading, because Allah already sent him as our Prophet and Messenger.

On pages fifteen and sixteen, there is this Du'a' (supplication): "O Allah! Forgive me and forgive Your erring and weak slave, Yusuf ibn Isma'il Al-Nabhany, the author of this book, and admit me and him into Jannah (Paradise) without prior punishment, and convey to his soul the reward of reciting Al-Fatihah." After reciting it, he says: "... It is not legitimate to recite the Qur'an for the deceased and then gift the reward of its recitation to them, as there is no evidence for this. In addition, Al-Nabhany, who died in 1350 A.H., had many wrong beliefs and exaggerations about the Din, and his other books contain sayings entailing Bid'ah and Shirk (associating others with Allah in His Divinity or worship). Furthermore, scholars have warned against his writings and refuted them, among whom were Mahmud Shukry Al-Alwasy (may Allah be merciful to him) who wrote a book entitled "Ghayat Al-Amani fi Al-Rad 'ala Al-Nabhany (The Choicest Material of Refuting Al-Nabhany)".

Thus, Muslims should take precaution in their Din and should avoid these books and those like them, as they include many evil matters, such as Shirk, idolatry and attachment to the deceased. All these matters undermine the basis of the Din of Islam and its Tawhid (monotheism). As for what is mentioned at the end of it in Du'a' Khatm Al-Qur'an and Khutbat Al-Nikah, they also include many wrong beseeching, Bid'ahs, and a Hadith Mawdu' (fabricated Hadith), which says: "Two Rak'ahs (units of Prayer) offered by a married man are better than seventy Rak'ahs offered by an unmarried man." The Sunnah (whatever is reported from the Prophet) includes great good and general benefits, which can be sought in the books of reliable scholars.

May Allah grant us success! May peace and blessings be upon our Prophet Muhammad, his family, and Companions!

Q: We have shoes imported from Taiwan that have external sides that are, cunningly done, in the shape of the word Allah (Exalted be He). What do people who bought such shoes unknowingly have to do? Do they have to abstain from using such shoes or should they only efface such sides?

A: It is impermissible to use such shoes unless the concerned sides taking the shape of the word Allah are obliterated first, as they symbolize contempt for the Name of Allah (Glorified and Exalted be He).

Q: My real name that my father gave me is Bajid. However, my name was registered by mistake as Badi (initiator) and that is my name until now. Since the One who initiates every thing is Allah Alone (Glorified and Exalted be He), I would like to change my name to `Abd-ul-Khaliq. Yet, my family would like my name to be changed to Bajid - the name that they wanted to call me before - while others want me to keep my current name, Badi. I hope that your Eminence will tell me what the best of all the foregoing names is? Who do I have to obey? Besides, what is your opinion regarding my current name, i.e. Badi? I ask Allah to forgive me and to reward you with the best.

A: it is permissible for you to change your name to a better one. However, if some of your relatives do not agree that you do so; it is better to keep your current name bearing in mind that such a name is not Makruh (reprehensible) as far as Shari`ah (Islamic law) is concerned. On the other hand, your saying that it is Allah Who initiates everything meaning that Badi is one of the Names of Allah (Exalted be He) is wrong for it is not so.

All praise be to Allah Alone, and peace and blessings be upon His Messenger, and his family, and Companions.

The Permanent Committee for Scholarly Research and Ifta' reviewed the request submitted to his Eminence the General Mufti (Islamic scholar qualified to issue legal opinions) from the director of the department responsible for following those who remain illegally in the country after the performance of Hajj or `Umrah and forcing them out in Riyadh, which was referred to the Committee from the General Secretariat of the Council of Senior Scholars with the number (1898) in 14/4/1410 AH. The following question was posed:

There is a company named "`aziz for Contracting and Trade". We would like Your Excellence to advise us whether the name of the company is one of the Names of Allah (Glorified and Exalted be He) or not. We hope Your Eminence will give us an answer to carry out the necessary procedures. With best regards!

After studying the question, the Committee answered:

There is no objection to this name, because the word "`Aziz" is not exclusive to Allah (Glorified and Exalted be He).

(Part No. 2; Page No. 347)

All praise be to Allah Alone; peace and blessings be upon the last Prophet; to commence:
The Permanent Committee for Scholarly Research and Ifta' looked into the request for Fatwa submitted to his Eminence the General Mufty from his Eminence chief of department of Riyadh city, and referred to the Committee from the general secretariat of the Council of Senior Scholars no. 431/2, dated 20/4/1412 A.H. in which a person asks the following question that reads:

We enclose to your Eminence a tile with the name of the owner of the factory written on it. His name is al-Nafei`, which we think is one of the attributes of Allah (Glorified and Exalted be He). We hope you will refer it to the competent Committee and inform us of the ruling. May Allah protect you and peace and blessings be with you!

A: There is no harm in that; because this name is not one of the Names of Allah that applies only to Him. In fact Allah (May He be Praised) can be described as Ad-Darr (the Distressor) and Al-Nafei` (the Benefactor).

Q: In some of the Masjids (mosques) here in the district of Bashshar, people repeat Al-Latif (i.e. The Kindest), one of Allah's Most Beautiful Names, every Friday after finishing the study circle before the Adhan (call to Prayer) and the two sermons of Friday Salah. They repeat this Name 129 times. I asked the Imam about this practice and he told me that they do so for Allah to save them from His Wrath. What is your view and explanation of this practice?

A: recitation of Allah's Name (Al-Latif) 129 times before the Adhan of Friday Salah has nothing to do with the guidance of the Prophet (peace be upon him) nor his Companions (may Allah be pleased with them) nor the Salaf (righteous predecessors). In fact this is one of the Bid`ah (innovation in religion) introduced to religion. It is authentically reported from the Prophet (peace be upon him) that he said: \(He who innovates things in our affairs for which there is no valid \(reason\) \(commits sin\) and these are to be rejected.\) i.e. Allah will not accept it from the person who does it. With regards to sitting in circles for lessons before the Adhan (call to Prayer) of the Friday Salah and the two sermons, it is forbidden according to the Hadith that is narrated by Al-Nasa'iy from `Amr ibn Shu`ayb from his father from his grandfather: \(That the Prophet \(peace be upon him\) forbade

First question of Fatwa no. 18370

Q 1: It is mentioned in the book of Samir Al-Mu'minin fi Al-Mawa'izh Wal-Hikam Wal-Qasas by Muhammad Al-Hajjar, (fifth edition, published by Dar Al-Nafisin 1406 A.H./pp. 171-172): "... And that Allah (Exalted be He) has twenty Attributes, which are all affirmed by the Qur'an, Sunnah (whatever is reported from the Prophet), and Ijma' (consensus of scholars). Scholars of Tawhid (belief in the Oneness of Allah) divided such Attributes into four categories:

- 1- Sifah Nafsiyyah (Essential Attribute): which is Existence.
- 2- Sifat Salbiyyah (Negating Attributes): Oneness, Eternity, Permanence without beginning, Absolute Independence, Dissimilarity to creation.
- 3- Sifat Al-Ma'ani (Abstract Attributes): Knowledge, Will, Power, Hearing, Seeing, Speech, and Life.

4- Sifat Ma'nawiyyah (Signifying Attributes): that Allah is Knowing, Willful, Powerful, Hearing, Seeing, Speaking, and Living."

My question is whether it is true that Allah's Attributes are only twenty? Is such a division correct and proven by the Qur'an, Sunnah, and Ijma'?

A: It is untrue to confine Allah's Attributes to a certain number; be it twenty or any other number. This is because Allah has many Attributes that no one can count except Him (Exalted be He). All Allah's Attributes are Perfect and we have to believe in all the Attributes which are mentioned in the Qur'an or Sunnah. Such Attributes are divided into Sifat Dhat (Attributes of Allah's Person) and Sifat Af'al (Attributes of Allah's Actions). Sifat Dhat are such as the Face, the Hands, Hearing, and Seeing while Sifat Af'al are such as Rising over the 'Arsh (Allah's Throne), Descending to the heavens of the world during the last third of every night, and (the acts of) Speaking, Creating, Providing, Giving life, and Causing death.

May Allah grant us success! May peace and blessings be upon our Prophet Muhammad, his family, and Companions!

Fatwa no. 19110

Q: We receive many questions regarding enumerating the Most beautiful Names and Attributes of Allah, especially those mentioned in the Hadith narrated on the authority of Abu Hurayrah (may Allah be pleased with him) from Al-Walid ibn Muslim, `Abdul Aziz ibn Al-Husayn, and others. Are the following considered among His (Exalted be He) Names: Al-Abad (the Everlasting One), Al-Badi` (The Incomparable), Al-Baqy (The Remaining One), Al-Ba`ith (The Determiner of Resurrection), Al-Bar (the Benign), Al-Burhan, Al-Jalil (the Majestic), Al-Hannan (the Ever-Compassionate), Al-Da'im (the Everlasting), Al-Rafi` (One who promotes His servants), Al-Shadid (the Strong One), Al-Rashid (the Guide to the right path), Al-Sadiq (the Truthful), Al-Sabur (the Patient), Al-`Adl (the Just), Al-`Alam (the All-Knower), Al-Fatir (the Creator of the heavens and the earth), Al-Fard (the One), Al-Qadim (the Old One), Al-Kafi (the Sufficient), Al-Kafil (One Who supports His servants), Al-Mughni (the Enricher), Al-Muhsi (the Counter), Al-Muntaqim (the Avenger), Al-Mubdi' (the Commencer), Al-Mu`id (the Restorer), Al-Mughith (the Sustainer), Al-Muhyi (the Life-giver), Al-Mumit (the Death-giver), Al-Malik (the Sovereign), Al-Mudabbir (the Arranger of Affairs), Al-Nur (the Light), Al-Waliy (the Lord), Al-Wafy (the Faithful One), Al-Waqiy (the Protector), Al-Khafid (the Abaser), Al-Rafi` (the Exalter), Al-Mu`ty (the Giver), Al-Mani` (the Withholder), Al-Nafi` (the Propitious), Al-Mu`iz (The Supreme Might Giver), Al-Mudhil (The Supreme Humiliator)? These Names are stated in many books, frequently stated and printed on cards for people to say after Salah (Prayer).

I hope that Your Eminence will provide us with a clear answer regarding these Names. Is it permissible to name a person with the word `Abd (slave) followed by any of these Names like `Abd Al-Baqy, `Abd Al-Da'im, `Abd Al-Jalil, etc? May Allah reward you!

A: All the Names of Allah are beautiful. It was authentically reported that the Prophet (peace be upon him) said: \("Truly, Allah has Ninety-nine Names; one hundred minus one. Anyone who enumerates them will be admitted to Paradise."\) i.e. whoever knows, understands, believes, and worships Allah according to them. There was no authentically reported Hadith to specify them. Therefore, they are taken from the Qur'an and the Hadith reported from the Messenger of Allah (peace be upon him) because these Names are Tawqifiy (bound by a religious text and not amenable to personal opinion). They are not correct unless there is evidence from the Qur'an and the Sunnah.

May Allah grant us success! May peace and blessings be upon our Prophet Muhammad, his family, and Companions!

The first question of Fatwa no. 19930

Q 1: The Messenger (peace be upon him) said: ﴿"Allah has ninety-nine names, i.e. one-hundred minus one."﴾ What is the meaning of this Hadith? Does this mean we should memorize Allah's Names or act according to them?

A: First, the mentioned number does not mean that Allah (Exalted be He) does not have other than these ninety-nine Names, but the meaning is that anyone who memorizes these Names will enter Jannah (Paradise). Thus, the meaning is to inform people that memorizing them will cause admittance to Jannah and not to count all the Names.

Second, the meaning of counting in the Hadith is to memorize the Names, understand their meanings, and worship Allah (Exalted be He) with them.

May Allah grant us success! May peace and blessings be upon our Prophet Muhammad, his family, and Companions!

The first and second question of Fatwa no. 20961

Q 1: is Al-Fard one of the Allah's Names?

A: Allah's Names are Tawqifiyyah (bound by a religious text and not amenable to personal opinion). The Name "Al-Fard" was not mentioned in the Qur'an or in the Sunnah, so it is not considered one of Allah's Names; it is just used to refer to Him.

The first question of Fatwa no. 18362

Q 1: The Prophet (peace be upon him) asked a bondmaid, "Where is Allah?" She answered, "In heaven."

Is this Hadith Sahih (authentic) or Da`if (weak)? What is the ruling on asking about where allah is? Please support the answer with evidence from the Qur'an or a Hadith?

A: The Prophet (peace be upon him) asked a bondmaid: Where is Allah? She answered: In heaven. He asked: Who am I? She replied: The Messenger of Allah. The Prophet \(peace be upon him\) then said: Set her free,

for she is a believer.) This Hadith is Sahih and it was reported by Muslim, Abu Dawud, and Al-Nasa'iy on the authority of Mu`awiyah ibn Al-Hakam (may Allah be pleased with him).

This Hadith and other evidence pertaining to the same meaning and taken from the Qur'an and Sunnah (whatever is reported from the Prophet) prove the attribute of Highness for allah (Exalted be He) and that He (Glorified be He) is in heaven. Allah says: Do you feel secure that He, Who is over the heaven \(Allâh\) "Over the heaven" denotes highness and means that He (Glorified be He) is over everything and over the `Arsh (Allah's Throne), which is the roof of creation. Allah (Glorified be He) says: The Most Gracious \(Allâh\) rose over \(Istawâ\) the \(Mighty\) Throne \(in a manner that suits His Majesty\). He (Glorified be He) also says: Indeed, your Lord is Allâh, Who created the heavens and the earth in Six Days, and then He rose over \(Istawâ\) the Throne \(really in a manner that suits His Majesty\).

The Prophet (peace be upon him) found the bondmaid's answer sufficient to prove her Iman (belief); this indicates that Iman and attesting that the person professing Iman is a believer depend on outward evidence. The Prophet (peace be upon him) said that the bondmaid apparently professed Iman and applied the apparent rulings to this assumption. An opposite case is to profess Iman but commit an action that takes out of the pale of Iman.

That was why the Prophet (peace be upon him) treated the hypocrites according to what they professed, and used to apply to them the rulings applied to other believers. Furthermore, when one of them died, he (peace be upon him) used to offer the Funeral Prayer. He was only prohibited from offering the Funeral Prayer over the person whose hypocrisy was assured. Otherwise, he would have searched the people's inner selves and known what they were hiding; something which cannot be done by any person.

May Allah grant us success! May peace and blessings be upon our Prophet Muhammad, his family, and Companions!

Fatwa no. 21164

Q: We hope you would provide us with a detailed declaration about what was written by Khalid Mahyub in "Akhbar Alkhalij" newspaper, issue no. (7889), on Friday 29, October, 1999 entitled: "Glorifying Allah (Exalted be He) to the contrasts of these attributes and all other deficiencies". In this article, he has impugned the `Aqidah (creed) of the Salaf (righteous predecessors), especially Shaykh-ul-Islam Ibn Taymiyyah and Ibn Al-Qayyim (may Allah be merciful with both of them) whom he accused of adopting Tajsim (anthropomorphism).

A: It is an obligation to confirm the Names and Attributes which Allah (Exalted be He) or His Messenger (peace be upon him) has confirmed to Himself in a way that befits Him (Glorified be He) without Tashbih (comparison) or Takyif (questioning Allah's Attributes), and to refute what He or His Messenger (peace be upon him) has refuted for Himself of resembling His Creatures without Tahrif (distortion of the meaning) or Ta`til (denial of Allah's Attributes). This is according to His Saying (Glorified be He): \(There is nothing like Him; and He is the All-Hearer, the All-Seer.\) Therefore, Allah has confirmed Hearing and Sight to Himself, but at the same time He has refuted any resemblance to His Creatures. The terms "Tajsim" and "organs" are innovated words that have no origin in the Qur'an or the Sunnah (whatever is reported from the Prophet) either by confirmation or refutation. Regarding the direction, Ahl-ul-Sunnah wal-Jama`ah (those adhering to the Sunnah and the Muslim main body) agree that Allah (Glorified be He) exists upwards above His Creatures, rising over His Throne Separate from His Creatures. This is indicated by the evidence from the Qur'an and the Sunnah, and whoever denies this will be a Kafir (disbeliever) in Allah (Glorified and Exalted be He). This is the Madh-hab (belief) of the Salaf that was adopted by many leaders of guidance such as Shaykh-ul-Islam Ibn Taymiyyah and Ibn Al-Qayyim (may Allah be merciful with them).

May Allah grant us success! May peace and blessings be upon our Prophet Muhammad, his family, and Companions!

Allegorical interpretation of Allah's Attributes

Fatwa no. 13683

Q: Is it permissible to understand the meaning of Istiwa' (Allah's rising over the Throne in a manner that befits Him) as straightness?

A: The `Aqidah (creed) of Ahl-ul-Sunnah wal-Jama`ah (those adhering to the Sunnah and the Muslim main body) concerning the Names and Attributes of Allah (Exalted be He) states the following:

They believe in the Names and Attributes mentioned in the Qur'an and the Sunnah as authentically reported from the Messenger of Allah (peace be upon him), without Ta'wil (allegorical interpretation), Tamthil (likening Allah's Attributes to those of His Creation), Tahrif (distortion of the meaning), or Ta'til (denial of Allah's Attributes). They describe Allah (Exalted be He) with the Attributes He has ascribed to Himself and with the Attributes which His Messenger (peace be upon him) has ascribed to Him. Allah (Exalted be He) has described Himself in several places in the Qur'an with Istiwa' on the Throne in a manner that suits His Majesty. Allah (Exalted be He) says: \(The Most Gracious \(Allâh\) rose over \(Istawâ\) the \(Mighty\) Throne \(in a manner that suits His Majesty\).\) He also says: \(He it is Who created the heavens and the earth in six Days and then rose over \(Istawâ\) the Throne \(in a manner that suits His Majesty\).\) He says: \(Then He \(Istawâ \) rose over the Throne \(in a manner that suits His Majesty\). The Most Gracious \(Allâh\)! Ask Him \(O Prophet Muhammad صلى الله عليه وسلم , concerning His Qualities: His rising over His Throne, His creations, etc.\), as He is Al-Khabîr \(The All-Knower of everything i.e. Allâh\).\)

Malik ibn Anas, the Imam of Ahl-ul-Sunnah, was asked about Istiwa', and he said, "Istawa' is known in a way that is unknown. It is obligatory to believe in it, but asking about it is a Bid`ah (innovation in religion)."

A Muslim should follow the Salaf (righteous predecessors) and believe in Allah's Attributes that are mentioned in the Qur'an and Allah's Attributes that were authentically reported from the Messenger of Allah (peace be upon him). It is not permissible to understand Istawa' on the Throne as referring to straightness or restoration and so on.

May Allah grant us success! May peace and blessings be upon our Prophet Muhammad, his family, and Companions!

Q: Do all the Attributes related to Al-Dhat (Essence of Allah) mentioned in many Nusus (Islamic texts from the Qur'an or the Sunnah) have the same meaning or do they have different meanings according to the context in which they are mentioned? We hope you will provide us with information on what the following Attributes of Al-Dhat mean in each context:

(Part No. 2; Page No. 359)

(a) the word "Al-Yad" i.e. hand: What does it mean in each of the following Nusus: ﴿Say "In Whose Hand is the sovereignty of everything (i.e. treasures of each and everything)?﴾, ﴿Say (O Muhammad صلى الله عليه وسلم): "All the bounty is in the Hand of Allāh﴾, ﴿The Hand of Allah is with the majority﴾, in another Hadith: ﴿The Hand of Allah is over the majority.﴾ and in an Ayah (Qur'anic verse): ﴿The Hand of Allāh is over their hands.﴾ What does the use of "Ayd" (i.e. the plural form of "Yad") mean?

(b) The word "Al-`Ayn" i.e. eye: What does it mean in each of the following Nusus: ﴿And construct the ship under Our Eyes﴾, ﴿So wait patiently (O Muhammad صلى الله عليه وسلم) for the Decision of your Lord, for verily, you are under Our Eyes﴾, ﴿And I endued you with love from Me, in order that you may be brought up under My Eye.﴾ ? What is the proof that Allah (Exalted be He) has Eyes?

(c) The word "Wajh" i.e. face: What does it mean in each of the following Nusus: ﴿so wherever you turn (yourselves or your faces) there is the Face of Allāh (and He is High above, over His Throne).﴾, ﴿when you spend not except seeking Allāh's Countenance.﴾

﴿We feed you seeking Allāh's Countenance only.﴾, ﴿And the Face of your Lord full of Majesty and Honour will remain forever.﴾ **?

It would be useful if you provide us in your answer to these questions with references from which we can obtain further useful information.

A: The word "Yadd" in the mentioned Nusus of section (a) refers to one meaning, that is, confirming Allah's Attribute of having a Hand. However, this Hand befits Allah's Majesty with no Tashbih (comparison) or Tamthil (likening Allah's Attributes to those of His Creation) to the hands of His Creation and with no Tahrif (distortion of the meaning) or Ta'til (denial of Allah's Attributes). Just as Allah (Exalted be He) has a Dhat (Essence) which is different from those of His Servants, He has Attributes which are also different from those of His Servants. There are many other Nusus that support the ones that were mentioned in confirming Allah's Attribute of having a Hand. They all mention the word "hand" in singular, dual, and plural forms. We have to believe in their surface meaning as mentioned and leave their interpretation to Allah (Exalted be He) to be acting according to the Nusus of the Qur'an, the Sunnah (whatever is reported from the Prophet), and the views of the Salaf (righteous predecessors).

As for the word "Ayd" in the Saying of Allah (Exalted be He): ﴿With power did We construct the heaven. Verily, We are Able to extend the vastness of space thereof.﴾

it is derived from a different word that means strength. In Arabic the word "Ayyada" means supported and provided others with strength. It has nothing to do with the plural form of "Yad" (i.e. which means hands). Hence, this Ayah is not one of Ayat-ul-Sifat (Qur'anic verses including Allah's Attributes) on which scholars have differed; some confirming it while others interpreting it. In fact, describing Allah (Exalted be He) as having strength is beyond dispute.

The meaning of each of these Nusus differs according to the context and the evidence mentioned in the Nusus. Allah's Saying: ﴿Say "In Whose Hand is the sovereignty of everything (i.e. treasures of each and everything)?﴾ indicates that Allah (Exalted be He) has absolute power because the sovereignty of everything is in His Hand according to the context of the Ayahs. His Saying: ﴿Say (O Muhammad صلى الله عليه وسلم): "All the bounty is in the Hand of Allâh﴾ indicates that all blessings and bounties belong to Allah Alone. The Hadith: ﴿The Hand of Allah is over the majority﴾ urges the believers to unite and love each other and involves a promise that Allah (Exalted be He) will grant the believers support and triumph over others if they unite to defend Al-Haqq (the Truth). Allah's Saying: ﴿The Hand of Allâh is over their hands.﴾ refers to the Companions' pledge of allegiance to the Messenger (peace be upon him). Allah (Exalted be He) regards this pledge of allegiance given to His Messenger as a pledge of allegiance that is given to Him (Exalted be He). This, however, does not contradict the fact that Allah (Exalted be He) has a Hand that befits Him and that those who gave their pledge of allegiance to His Messenger (peace be upon him) have hands that befit them.

(b) The word "Ayn" (singular of "Ayun" i.e. eyes) in the mentioned texts in section (b) confirms Allah's Attribute of having Eyes in a way that befits His Majesty without Tashbih or Tamthil to the eyes of His Creation and without Tahrif. The context of speech has no effect on the meaning of this word. In fact, it affects the meaning of the whole sentence in which the word occurs. The meaning of these sentences is as follows:

First, Allah (Exalted be He) orders Nuh (Noah - peace be upon him) to make the ship and he will be under Allah's Protection.

Second, Allah (Exalted be He) orders Prophet Muhammad (peace be upon him) to endure the harm inflicted upon him by his people until He judges between them with His Justice and He will watch, protect, and save him.

Third, Allah (Exalted be He) tells Musa (Moses - peace be upon him) that He blesses him once more by revealing to his mother what to do so her son Musa will be brought up under His Protection (Exalted be He). It also indicates that Allah (Exalted be He) has Eyes i.e. "Our Eyes" as in the Ayah mentioned in the question. In Arabic the word "Ayn" is used in the plural or dual form when added to a plural or dual pronoun, as in the Saying of Allah (Exalted be He): ﴿If you two (wives of the Prophet رضي الله عنهما : Aishah and Hafsa صلى الله عليه وسلم) turn in repentance to Allâh, (it will be better for you), your hearts are indeed so inclined (to oppose what the Prophet صلى الله عليه وسلم likes)) Another Hadith that indicates that Allah has Eyes is the Hadith of the Prophet (peace be upon him) about Allah (Exalted be He) and Al-Masih-ul-Dajjal (the Antichrist); it says that Al-Dajjal is one-eyed while Allah (Exalted be He) is not. Scholars of the Sunnah deduced from this Hadith that Allah (Glorified be He) has Eyes.

(c) The word "Wajahu-Allah" (i.e. the face of Allah) in the first sentence refers to the Qiblah (direction faced for Prayer towards the Ka`bah) according to

Mujahid and Al-Shafi`y (may Allah be merciful with them). The implication of words depends upon the context in which they occur and upon the surrounding evidence. The context and evidence here indicate that the meaning of the word "Wajh" in this sentence means the Qiblah according to the Saying of Allah (Exalted be He): ﴿And to Allâh belong the east and the west, so wherever you turn \(yourselves or your faces\) there is the Face of Allâh \(and He is High above, over His Throne\).﴾ In this Ayah, Allah (Exalted be He) mentions the directions and places towards which people turn their faces. This Ayah is similar in meaning to the following one: ﴿For every nation there is a direction to which they face \(in their prayers\).﴾ So the Ayah is not one of Ayat-ul-Sifat on which scholars have varied between a group confirming them and a group denying them. As for the word "Wajh" in the other sentences in the question, they indicate confirmation of Allah's Attribute of having a Face in a way that befits His Majesty (Glorified be He); because this is the basic meaning and there is nothing that changes it. However, this does not mean that Allah's Face is similar to the faces of His Creation; because each has a face that befits them.

Q 2: what is the evidence on the prohibition of naming people after Allah's Names?

If it is not prohibited, are there particular restrictions? I mean the names, not the attributes, as it is known that people might be described by Allah's Attributes, and this was mentioned many times in the Qur'an. Please advise us concerning this matter.

A: First, the difference between Allah's Names and His Attributes is that the Name refers to the entity and its attributes. However, the attribute is a distinguishing feature of the entity, such as knowledge, power, creation, sustenance, granting life and causing death.

Second, a person may be named after Allah or described by one of Allah's Attributes. However, each has their own distinguishing features that befit them. Neither should be likened to the other, even if the same designation and general meaning of the word is shared, as the general meaning is only abstract, not material.

For instance, Allah named Himself the Ever-Living in His saying, ﴿Allâh! Lâ ilâha illa Huwa \(none has the right to be worshipped but He\), Al-Hayyul-Qayyum \(the Ever Living, the One Who sustains and protects all that exists\).﴾ He also described some people as living in His saying, ﴿He brings forth the living from the dead﴾ However, it is not the same; each has his own attributes. He also called one of Ibrahim's sons (peace be upon them) patient and the other knowledgeable, while He is the Patient and the Knowledgeable. This does not entail Tamthil (likening Allah's Attributes to those of His Creation), as each has his own distinguishing features, even if they share the designation. Allah called Himself All-Hearer and All-Seer in His statement, ﴿Truly, Allâh is Ever All-Hearer, All-Seer.﴾ He also described some people as hearers and seers in His statement, ﴿so We made him hearer and seer.﴾ This does not entail Tamthil, either, as each has his own distinguishing features as previously mentioned.

Allah described Himself as having knowledge in His statement, ﴿And they will never compass anything of His Knowledge except that which He wills.﴾ He also described some people as having knowledge in His statement, ﴿And of knowledge, you \(mankind\) have been given only a little.﴾

(Part No. 2; Page No. 367)

He described Himself as Powerful in His statement, ﴿Verily, Allâh is the All-Provider, Owner of Power, the Most Strong.﴾ He also described some people as powerful in His statement, ﴿Allâh is He Who created you in \(a state of\) weakness, then gave you strength after weakness﴾ It is not the same type of power, even if it is the same designation. Each has his own befitting characteristics.

Q3: Are the following cases considered evidence for the prohibition of naming people after Allah's names?

a. Since it is prohibited to name any being after Allah's Proper Name, i.e. "Allah", it is also prohibited to name any being after any other Names of Allah; because we regard all the Names of Allah (Exalted be He) as equal.

b. It is known in the Arabic language that if a definite noun comes after "jarr wa-majrour" i.e. a preposition and prepositional phrase, it indicates confining an adjective to the noun, and we notice this in the Statement of Allah (Exalted be He): ﴿And \(all\) the Most Beautiful Names belong to Allāh﴾ This Ayah (Qur'anic Verse) indicates that the adjective "Most Beautiful" are exclusive to Allah's Names and it is impermissible to name other beings after these names. Can this be considered a valid evidence?

A: It is prohibited to name other than Allah after Allah's Proper Names; because Allah's Proper Names cannot be shared with other beings. Similarly it is prohibited to name any being after any of Allah's Names whose meaning implies a quality that cannot be shared with other beings such as Al-Khalīq (i.e. the Creator) and Al-Bārī' (i.e. The Originator). Allah's Name, Al-Kalīq (i.e. the Creator) means One Who creates things without having a model, and Al-Bārī' (i.e. The Originator) means One Who originates things free from defects. These qualities are confined to Allah Alone and hence, none but He (Glorified be He) deserves these Names.

As for the Names and Attributes of Allah whose meaning is shared by other than Him with variation, it is permissible to use them to refer to other than Allah such as Al-Malik (The King), Al-'Azīz (The Almighty), Al-Jabbar (The Powerful), Al-Mutakbbir (The Tremendous); because Allah referred to Himself with these Names and referred to some of His servants with some of them such as: ﴿The wife of Al-'Azīz said﴾ and ﴿Thus does Allāh seal up the heart of every arrogant, tyrant. \(So they cannot guide themselves to the Right Path\).﴾ (in this verse "arrogant tyrant" is a translation of "Mutakbbir Jabbar") and the likes of these verses. However, this does not imply any similarity because every created being has qualities that make it distinct from other beings, and in this way we know the difference between Allah's Proper Name, i.e. "Allah", and other Names whose meanings can be shared with beings and cannot be treated like Allah's Proper Name.

As for the Ayah (Qur'anic Verse): ﴿And \(all\) the Most Beautiful Names belong to Allāh, so call on Him by them﴾ it means:

reserving perfect beauty to the Names of Allah (Exalted be He), because the "Most Beautiful" is a superlative adjective. It modifies Allah's Names yet does not mean Allah Alone has these names as Allah states: ﴿But Allāh is Rich \(Free of all needs\), Worthy of all praise.﴾ This Ayah means the absolute qualities of praiseworthiness and freedom of need are exclusive to Allah Alone and does not mean that these Names are restricted to Allah, because others beside Allah can be praiseworthy and free of need.

Q 4: Is there any Name that is not permissible to use when naming a person? Are the names "Al-Rahman (The Most Merciful)" and "Al-Qayyum (Sustainer)" among them? Are there any other Names which are not permissible to name any person with?

A: We have explained with examples the criterion governing the permissibility and the impermissibility of naming a person using any of Allah's Names, in the answers to the second and third questions.

Therefore, it is not permissible to name a person "Al-Qayyum" because it means the Self-Subsistent whom everyone is in need of. This Name is for Allah only. Ibn Al-Qayyim (may Allah be merciful with him) said in Al-Nuniyyah:

Al-Qayyum is also one of His Attributes

As far as Allah is concerned, this Attribute has two meanings

First, He is Self-Sufficient

Second, the whole universe depends on Him for their sustenance

Thus, the former means that He is in need of none and the latter means that all creatures are in need of Him

Moreover, it is not permissible to name a person, "Al-Rahman" because it is used a lot with Allah and has become one of His Names.

Fatwa no. 16064

Q 1: Allah (Exalted be He) says: ﴿And construct the ship under Our Eyes﴾

Allah (Glorified be He) also says: ﴿Floating under Our Eyes: a reward for him who had been rejected!﴾ Allah (Glorified be He) also says: ﴿The Jews say: "Allâh's Hand is tied up (i.e. He does not give and spend of His Bounty).">﴾ He (Exalted be He) also says: ﴿(Remember) the Day when the Shin shall be laid bare (i.e. the Day of Resurrection) and they shall be called to prostrate themselves (to Allâh), but they (hypocrites) shall not be able to do so.﴾

Does Allah (Glorified be He) have an Eye, a Hand, and a Leg? How do Ahl-ul-Sunnah wal-Jama`ah (those adhering to the Sunnah and the Muslim main body) understand the Ayahs (Qur'anic verses) mentioned above? Besides, How do Rafidah (a Shi`ah group denying the caliphates of Abu Bakr Al-Siddiq and `Umar ibn Al-Khattab and making accusations against them and many other Companions of the Prophet) and Asha`irah (a Muslim group that bases its creedal issues on logic) explain them?

Q 2: Allah (Exalted be He) says: ﴿On the Day when We will say to Hell: "Are you filled?" It will say: "Are there any more (to come)?"﴾

On the occasion of revelation, there is a Hadith that I do not remember its exact text but it implies that Allah (Glorified and Exalted be He) will place His Foot on the Fire until it reposes. the Shiites thus say: "How is it that Allah puts His Foot in the Fire?" Consequently, they deny that Allah has a Foot. How can we advise them?

A 1, 2: It is Wajib (obligatory) that we affirm all that Allah (Exalted be He) affirms for Himself or that His Prophet (peace be upon him) affirms for Him. This includes believing that Allah (Exalted be He) has an Eye, Hand, Leg, Foot, etc. in a manner that suits Allah's Majesty. However, Allah's Attributes are not like those of His creatures. Allah (Glorified be He) says:

﴿There is nothing like Him; and He is the All-Hearer, the All-Seer.﴾ Views of Mu'tadi`ah (those who introduce innovations in religion) and ignorant people who deny such Attributes are not considered. On the other hand, Allah's saying: ﴿Floating under Our Eyes﴾ means: We watch over it. Besides, it is true that our Lord (Glorified be He) places His Foot in the Fire so that its parts are contracted to each other. Verily, the Fire is a creature of Allah (Glorified be He), Who has power over all things. Verily, nothing can harm Allah (Glorified be He) for He is the Only One Who causes harm and brings benefit.

May Allah grant us success! May peace and blessings be upon our Prophet Muhammad, his family, and Companions!

The second question of Fatwa No. (18959)

Q 2: In his book "Shubuhāt wa Rudūd `indal-Salafiyyah", the author stated: Salafis believe only in the literal meaning of Nas (Islamic text from the Qur'an or the Sunnah) while denying any metaphorical meaning. How then can they understand the following Ayah (Qur'anic verse) in the literal sense: Everything will perish save His Face. ? Allah has stressed that He has a Hand, Leg, Foot and other attributes befitting His Majesty. If the Ayah is understood in the literal sense, "everything will perish" will definitely include the Hand, the Leg, the Foot and all other Attributes of Allah with the exclusion of the Face. However, if the Ayah is understood in another sense, it will definitely indicate a metaphorical one, which is the core of the issue. We would like you to refute, in full, this controversial point.

A: Allah (Glorified be He) prohibited us to supplicate to anyone other than Him, for anyone other than Him will definitely perish and thus may not be supplicated to or worshipped. He then told us that He alone is the Eternal and is thus alone worthy of being supplicated to and worshipped. The term "Face" was used to refer to the whole essence as it is the most honorable part. The same can be found in Allah's saying: Whatsoever is on it \(the earth\) will perish. And the Face of your Lord full of Majesty and Honour will remain forever. The two Ayahs describe Allah (Glorified and Exalted be He) as of the Face that is befitting His Magnificence. Linguistically speaking, Arabs used to use the face to refer to the whole essence, a style which the Qur'an followed. Moreover, the two Ayahs tell us that everything will perish with the exception of Allah, with all His Attributes, Who is the Living Who never dies, while other creatures will die and then be resurrected.

Fatwa No. (16325)

Q: I have heard a seeker of knowledge while speaking about Allah's Names and Attributes to have attributed to Allah (Glorified and Exalted be He) the description of having two Hands. He also added the description: Both Hand sides of His are right. What is meant by this statement? Please, provide evidence.

A: It is obligatory to attribute to Allah the description of having two Hands as stated by the Qur'an and Sunnah texts. In this regard, Allah (Exalted be He) said in Surah Al-Ma'idah: \(Nay, both His Hands are widely outstretched. He spends \(of His Bounty\) as He wills.\) He (Glorified be He) also said in Surah Yasin addressing Iblis (Satan): \(What prevents you from prostrating yourself to one whom I have created with Both My Hands.\) Moreover, there are many Hadiths mentioning Allah's two Hands, which are widely recognized in the compilations of Ahl-ul-Sunnah wal-Jama`ah (those adhering to the Sunnah and the Muslim main body). For example, `Abdullah ibn `Amr ibn Al-`As (may Allah be pleased with both of them) is authentically reported to have reported the Prophet (peace be upon him) as saying: \(The just will be with Allah on pulpits of light on the right Hand of the Most Merciful \(the Exalted and Glorified\), and both His Hands are right – those who are just in their judgment and are fair with their families and those of whom they are in charge.\)

Ahl-ul-Sunnah wal-Jama`ah's belief regarding Allah's Names and attributes is that they absolutely believe in all those Attributes stated in the Qur'an and those authentically reported from the Prophet (peace be upon him) without Ta'wil (allegorical interpretation), Tashbih (comparison), Tahrif (distortion of the meaning) or Ta'til (denial). Moreover, they believe that no negative attribute is attributed to Allah (Glorified and Exalted be He). Below is an explanation of the statement: \(Both Hand sides of His are right.\) It is reported by Al-Baghawiy from Al-Khattaby (may Allah be merciful with both of them) that such an Attribute is included under Tawqif (a religious text and not personal opinion). Therefore, we understand it in the literal sense without drawing any comparison stopping our minds where the Qur'an and authentically narrated Hadith stop them. Such is the belief of Ahl-ul-Sunnah wal-Jama`ah. Some scholars are of the view that \(and both His Hands are right\) means that they are equally meritorious even if one of them is called the left Hand as stated in the Hadith recorded on the authority of Ibn `Umar in Sahih Muslim.

May Allah grant us success! May peace and blessings be upon our Prophet Muhammad, his family and Companions!

The third question of Fatwa no. 17924

Q 3: I read in one of the commentaries on the book "Al-`Aqidah Al-Wasitiyyah" while answering those who deny Allah's Attribute of having Hands that His Hands were mentioned as tied up, widely outstretched and with Fingers. Thus it is impossible for the Hands to be a metaphor for Might.

Is it permissible to say that Allah has Fingers on His Hands? And what is the evidence supporting that?

A: It is obligatory to attribute to Allah what He has attributed to Himself, such as having two hands, two legs, fingers and other attributes mentioned in the Qur'an and Sunnah (whatever is reported from the Prophet) in a way that is befitting to Allah (Glorified be He). This should be done without Tahrif (distortion), Takyif (questioning), Tamthil (likening Allah's Attributes to those of His Creation) or Ta'til (denial). Allah says: (Say (O Muhammad صلى الله عليه وسلم): "He is Allâh, (the) One.) (Allâh-us-Samad (السيد الذي يصمد إليه في الحاجات) [Allâh the Self-Sufficient Master, Whom all creatures need, (He neither eats nor drinks)].) (He begets not, nor was He begotten.) (And there is none co-equal or comparable unto Him.) He (Glorified be He) also says: (There is nothing like Him; and He is the All-Hearer, the All-Seer.) This is a fact and not a metaphor.

Moreover, Muslims should abstain from trying to confirm any Attribute to Allah that was not mentioned in the Qur'an or Sunnah.

May Allah grant us success! May peace and blessings be upon our Prophet Muhammad, his family, and Companions!

But there will remain those who used to prostrate in this world for affectation and to gain a good reputation. They will try to prostrate (then) but their spine will be one bone.")

A: This Hadith with the same narration was reported by Al-Bukhari in his "Sahih" book of authentic Hadith and there is no reason to invalidate it or rank it as Da`if (weak). This Hadith is among Ahadith-ul-Sifat (Hadith including Allah's Attributes) which Muslims should believe in and transmit to others in a way befitting Allah, without drawing any comparison between Allah and His creatures. Allah says: (There is nothing like Him; and He is the All-Hearer, the All-Seer.)

Q 1: Is it permissible for people to say there are 20 Attributes of Allah that must be confirmed to Him, and they include the Existence, Eternity, Everlastingness, Non-resemblance to creatures, Oneness and others?

A: It is necessary to confirm all the attributes Allah has attributed to Himself in the Qur'an and which are confirmed to Him by the Messenger (peace be upon him) in the Sunnah (whatever is reported from the Prophet). However, the Attributes of Allah must not be limited to seven, fourteen or twenty, as this is the claim of followers of Al-Ash'ary sect. The fifth question of Fatwa no. 20722

Q 5: What is the difference between takyif and tamthil regarding the Names and Attributes of Allah (Exalted be He)?

A: The meaning of Takyif (questioning Allah's Attributes) regarding Allah's Attributes is close to that of Tamthil (likening Allah's Attributes to those of His Creation), except that Tamthil is to believe that Allah's Attributes are the same as those of His Creation. Takyif means believing that Allah's Attributes are in such and such way even if they are not like one of the creatures' attributes. If someone says that the attribute of the Hand of Allah (Exalted be He), for example, is like their hand or is like the hand of so and so, in this way they have likened Allah's Attributes to those of His Creation (Tamthil). If they say that the hand is in the shape and form of such and such thing but does not liken it to any creature, in this way they have questioned the way and mode of Allah's Attributes (Takyif). The outcome is that all these forms are invalid and deviation of the words from their real meanings.

(Part No. 2; Page No. 379)

Is this confirmed in the Qur'an and the Sunnah (whatever is reported from the Prophet)?

A: The word "Old" is not one of the Names of Allah (may He be Blessed and Exalted) and it is enough to call Him with His Name "The First". However, it is permissible to call Allah (Exalted be He) the Old since you describe Him and inform about Him and not as one of His Names as

A: Allah's Saying ﴿(Remember) the Day when the Shin shall be laid bare (i.e. the Day of Resurrection) and they shall be called to prostrate themselves (to Allâh), but they (hypocrites) shall not be able to do so.﴾ points to the fact that Allah (Glorified and Exalted be He) will expose His Leg on the Day of Resurrection in a manner that befits His Majesty and Eminence - as indicated by the authentic Hadith - and that only the believers will see Allah (Exalted be He), but not the Kafirs or the hypocrites whose Kufr (disbelief) is more severe. The second question of Fatwa no. 18370

Q 2: On page 176 of the book "Samir Al-Mu'minin fil-Mawa'idh wal-Hikam," the author Muhammad Al-Hajjar writes: I believe that seeing Allah is rationally permissible in the world and in the Hereafter, in wakefulness and in sleep because Allah (Glorified be He) exists and every existing being can be seen. Also Prophet Musa (Moses - peace be upon him) requested to see Allah. (he said: "O my Lord! Show me (Yourself), that I may look upon You.") If seeing Him is impossible, Musa (peace be upon him) would not have requested it. However, it only happened in the world to our Prophet (peace be upon him). It is obligatory to happen in the Hereafter according to the Qur'an, Sunnah (whatever is reported from the Prophet), and Ijma' (consensus of scholars). People will see Allah (Exalted be He) by a special power which He will provide for His Creatures. Facing, direction, and visual contact are not conditions to see Allah because He is perceived with the mind and the sight since both of them are created.

Could you kindly explain whether this passage is correct or false?

A: The fact that the believers will see their Lord on the Day of Resurrection is authentically reported in the Qur'an, the Sunnah, and Ijma' of Ahl-ul-Sunnah wal-Jama'ah (those adhering to the Sunnah and the Muslim main body). However, seeing Him (Exalted be He) in the world is not possible and did not happen to any human, even the Prophet (peace be upon him) because this is beyond the ability of humans in the world. The believers will see their Lord on the Day of Resurrection in Jannah (Paradise) while He is in an upward position above them. The claim that there is no specific direction and that Allah can be seen in any direction, not necessarily upwards, is the view of the innovators, which is a false view that contradicts the proofs confirming Allah's Superiority over His Creation.

May Allah grant us success! May peace and blessings be upon our Prophet Muhammad, his family, and Companions!

Q: Where is Allah (Glorified and Exalted be He) physically?

A: allah (Glorified be He) is rising over His `arsh (allah's Throne) by His Self and is separated from His Creation. Allah (Exalted be He) says: ﴿The Most Gracious \(Allâh\) rose over \(Istawâ\) the \(Mighty\) Throne \(in a manner that suits His Majesty\).﴾ Allah (Glorified and Exalted be He) says: ﴿He it is Who created the heavens and the earth in six Days and then rose over \(Istawâ\) the Throne \(in a manner that suits His Majesty\). He knows what goes into the earth and what comes forth from it, and what descends from the heaven and what ascends thereto. And He is with you \(by His Knowledge\) wheresoever you may be. And Allâh is the All-Seer of what you do.﴾

Also, it was authentically reported ﴿that the Prophet \(peace be upon him\) asked a bondmaid: Where is Allah? She replied: In heaven. He \(peace be upon him\) then said to the man: Set her free for she is a believer.﴾ Allah (Glorified be He), while rising over His `Arsh, knows all about His Creation on earth and in heaven; He sees and hears them and nothing is hidden from Him (may He be Blessed and Exalted).

The second question of Fatwa no. 17522

Q 2: What is the evidence that Allah is in the heavens?

A: The `Aqidah (creed) of Ahl-ul-Sunnah wal-Jama`ah (those adhering to the Sunnah and the Muslim main body) is that Allah is in the heavens, above all of His Creation, and that He has risen above the Throne, as He (Glorified be He) states: ﴿Do you feel secure that He, Who is over the heaven (Allâh), will not cause the earth to sink with you, and then it should quake?﴾ ﴿Or do you feel secure that He, Who is over the heaven (Allâh), will not send against you a violent whirlwind? Then you shall know how (terrible) has been My Warning.﴾ and He (Exalted be He) states: ﴿To Him ascend (all) the goodly words, and the righteous deeds exalt it (i.e. the goodly words are not accepted by Allâh unless and until they are followed by good deeds)﴾ and states: ﴿He manages and regulates (every) affair from the heavens to the earth; then it (affair) will go up to Him﴾ and in Surah Ta-Hah: ﴿The Most Gracious (Allâh) rose over (Istawâ) the (Mighty) Throne (in a manner that suits His Majesty).﴾ and (Glorified be He): ﴿Indeed, your Lord is Allâh, Who created the heavens and the earth in Six Days, and then He rose over (Istawâ) the Throne (really in a manner that suits His Majesty).﴾ in seven places in the Qur'an.

Furthermore, it was authentically reported in the Hadith regarding the Kharijites that the prophet (peace be upon him) states: ﴿Don't you trust me though I am the trustworthy man of the One in the Heavens, and I receive the news of Heaven (i.e. Divine Inspiration) both in the morning and in the evening?﴾ ﴿and when the Prophet (peace be upon him) asked a slave girl, "Where is Allah?" She replied, "In the heaven." He (peace be upon him) then asked her, "Who am I?" She said, "You are the Messenger of Allah." He (peace be upon him) said (to her master), "Release her, for she is a believer.﴾ Related by Muslim.

The Prophet (peace be upon him) also stated: ﴿The Compassionate One has mercy on those who are merciful. If you show mercy to those who are on the earth, He Who is in the heaven will show mercy to you.﴾ Related by Ahmad, Abu Dawud and Al-Tirmidhi who classified it as a Hasan Sahih Hadith, and Al-Hakim who classified it as Sahih and Al-Dhahabi agreed with him.

And there are many other Hadith to this effect.

Sheikh-ul-Islam Ibn Taymiyyah said that this does not mean in any way that Allah is in the mist of, or surrounded by the heavens, as none of the Salaf (righteous predecessors) of this Ummah (community) or its Imams ever stated that; rather they agreed that Allah is established on His Throne above the heavens and is distinguished from His creation with no similarity whatsoever between Him and His creation in terms of His Attributes, Names, or Power. Then he quoted the saying of Al-Imam Malik that Allah is above the heavens and His knowledge encompasses everywhere and every thing, until he (Malik) said whoever believes that Allah is in the mist of, or surrounded by the heavens and that He needs His Throne or any of His creation, or that His rising above the Throne is similar to that of any of His servants sitting on a chair, then he is astray, Mu'tadi` (one who introduces innovations in religion) and Islamically ignorant. Likewise, whoever believes that Allah is not above the heavens and rising above His Throne and Muhammad was not carried to heaven or the Qur'an was revealed to him, is Mu`atil (denying Allah's attributes), astray and Mu'tadi`. Quoted from the collection of Fatwa by Ibn Taymiyyah.

Q 1: I know that allah (Exalted be He) rises over His `arsh (allah's Throne) above the seven heavens and that He (Glorified be He) is everywhere with His Knowledge, not Essence. However, I have noticed that some poems, which are sung on different occasions at the homes of many Muslims as Nashid (Islamic songs), comprise phrases that oppose what I just mentioned. An example of such phrases is: "Be sure that Allah is there but not in a definite place." Is such a phrase correct?

A: The phrase which you referred to in the question is false for it opposes what is stated in the Qur'an and authentic Sunnah (whatever is reported from the Prophet) to the effect that Allah (Glorified be He) is high above His Heavens; rising over His `Arsh and being distinct from His Creatures. Denying Allah's Loftiness is the false belief of Jahmiyyah (a deviant Islamic sect denying some Attributes of Allah, claiming they are ascribed to people and cannot be ascribed to Allah) and their followers.

First question of Fatwa no. 16376

Q 1: What is the ruling on saying that Allah (Glorified be He) exists everywhere?

A: Saying that Allah exists in all places is the saying of the atheist Hululiyyah (a Sufi sect that believes in indwelling). The foregoing is a false saying and it is tantamount to Kufr (disbelief) in Allah (Glorified and Exalted be He). This is because Allah (Glorified and Exalted be He) is above His heavens rising over the (Mighty) Throne (in a manner that suits His Majesty). He (Exalted be He) is too exalted for indwelling in any of His creatures. He is Free of all wants and needs, while all His creatures stand in need of Him. He (Exalted be He) says:

﴿Verily, Allâh grasps the heavens and the earth lest they should move away from their places﴾ and: ﴿He withholds the heaven from falling on the earth except by His Leave.﴾ Besides, He (Exalted be He) says: ﴿Indeed, your Lord is Allâh, Who created the heavens and the earth in Six Days, and then He rose over (Istawâ) the Throne (really in a manner that suits His Majesty).﴾ and: ﴿So the judgement is only with Allâh, the Most High, the Most Great!﴾ He (Exalted be He) also says: ﴿The Most Gracious (Allâh) rose over (Istawâ) the (Mighty) Throne (in a manner that suits His Majesty).﴾ There are many other Ayahs (Qur'anic verses) to the same effect.

Fatwa no. 17728

Q: There is a person who leads the people in Jumu`ah (Friday) Prayer, and he believes that Allah (Glorified and Exalted be He) exists everywhere. We showed him clear pieces of evidence in the Qur'an and the Sunnah that Allah exists everywhere with His knowledge, but His entity is above everything. He totally refused this belief. Is our Salah (Prayer) behind him valid or not?

A: The belief of Ahl-ul-Sunnah wal-Jama`ah (those adhering to the Sunnah and the Muslim main body) is that Allah (Glorified be He) is high above His creatures, rising over His Throne and separated from His Creation. Allah (Exalted be He) says, ﴿Do you feel secure that He, Who is over the heaven \(Allâh\), will not cause the earth to sink with you, and then it should quake?﴾ He (Exalted be He) also says, ﴿Glorify the Name of your Lord, the Most High,﴾ He (Exalted be He) also says, ﴿And He is the Irresistible, \(Supreme\) above His slaves﴾ [﴿The Prophet \(peace be upon him\) asked a slave girl, "Where is Allah?" The Muslims have unanimously agreed that Allah is above His Creatures, rising over His Throne in an unknown way, and His knowledge is everywhere. A person who believes that Allah exists everywhere is a believer in Hulul (a Sufi term meaning indwelling); and it is impermissible to offer Salah behind him, as he is a disbeliever of Allah, His Messenger and the consensus of Muslims.

The first question of Fatwa No. (18672)

Q 1: the saying: "Allah is in the hearts of believers." Does it indicate that the one who says it is a believer in Hulul (a Sufi term meaning indwelling)? What is the deviating sect that believes in such a saying?

A: It is more proper not to say "Allah is in the hearts of believers" as it may allude to a belief in Hulul. Alternatively, one can say, "Believers love Allah." Allah (Exalted be He) said: ﴿But those who believe, love Allâh more \(than anything else\).﴾ He (Glorified be He) also said: ﴿Allâh will bring a people whom He will love and they will love Him﴾ However, if, by saying such a statement, one means that Allah's love is dominating the hearts of believers and that they fear Him, it will be alright as it is a sound meaning. In this regard, Allah (Exalted be He) said: ﴿It is only those who have knowledge among His slaves that fear Allâh.﴾ He (Glorified be He) also said: ﴿But for him who fears the standing before his Lord, there will be two Gardens \(i.e. in Paradise\).﴾ Moreover, He (Exalted be He) said: ﴿The Mosques of Allâh shall be maintained only by those who believe in Allâh and the Last Day, perform As-Salât \(Iqâmat-as-Salât\), and give Zakât and fear none but Allâh.﴾ Surah Al-Tawbah.

Fatwa no. 21120

Praise be to Allah Alone and peace and blessings be upon the one after whom there is no prophet.

The Permanent Committee for Scholarly Research and Ifta' has reviewed the translation of the Fatwa request as well as the reply published in the monthly Madinah Magazine issued from Dacca in Bengalese, fifth issue, 35th year, August 1999, corresponding to Rabi` II, 1420. The question submitted by a member of the Bengalese community in the Kingdom of Saudi Arabia states: We used to believe that Allah exists everywhere and that He is Imageless. However, here in Saudi Arabia in a cooperation bureau a Bengalese translator delivered a lecture in which he stated that Allah (Exalted be He) does not exist everywhere and that He is described as having a Hand, an Eye, and other Attributes. He further claimed that anyone who does not believe as such is a disbeliever. My question is: What is your opinion in this regard? Please explain it in the light of the Qur'an and Sunnah (whatever is reported from the Prophet). The reply was as follows: Anyone who believes in such claims is either intensely ignorant, mad, or even a member of a deviant sect. Actually, Allah (Exalted be He) is Imageless and exists everywhere and in everything and His Omnipotence encompasses all things. Moreover, Allah (Exalted be He) has been described as such in many Ayahs (Qur'anic verses) as well as in many Hadith. Therefore, you should pay no attention to such nonsense so that you may not corrupt your Iman (Faith). This was the end of the reply.

This reply is groundless and opposes the Qur'an, Sunnah, Ijma` (consensus of scholars), and sound `Aqidah (creed) as it indicates belief in Hulul (a Sufi term meaning indwelling) which means that Allah dwells everywhere even in dirty places (Exalted be He far above any such thing). The reply also involves denying some of Allah's Attributes wherewith He has described Himself and His Messenger (peace be upon him) has described Him, i.e. being High above His Creatures, rising over His `Arsh (Throne), being Distinct from His Creation, and being Incomparable in any respect to His Creatures. It also involves denying the fact that Allah is described as having a Hand, a Foot, a Leg, a Face, two Hands, two Eyes, and other Attributes related to His Self and Actions as proved by the Qur'an and Sunnah. Allah (Exalted be He) says: (And He is the Most High, the Most Great.) He (Exalted be He) also says: (Do you feel secure that He, Who is over the heaven (Allâh), will not cause the earth to sink with you, and then it should quake?) (Or do you feel secure that He, Who is over the heaven (Allâh), will not send against you a violent whirlwind?) The Prophet (peace be upon him) said: (Do not you trust me though I am the trustworthy person of the One in the Heavens?) Moreover, Allah (Exalted be He) says: (The Most Gracious (Allâh) rose over (Istawâ) the (Mighty) Throne (in a manner that suits His Majesty).) The same fact is stressed in seven places in the Qur'an. Furthermore, He (Exalted be He) says: (And the Face of your Lord full of Majesty and Honour will remain forever.) He (Exalted be He) says:

«Everything will perish save His Face.» Addressing Iblis (Satan), Allah (Exalted be He) says: «What prevents you from prostrating yourself to one whom I have created with Both My Hands.» He (Exalted be He) says: «Nay, both His Hands are widely outstretched.» In the same regard, the Prophet (peace be upon him) said: «The people will be thrown into the Fire and it will keep on saying, 'Is there any more?' until the Lord of the worlds puts

His Foot over it.» According to another narration of the Hadith, he (peace be upon him) said: «...His Foot over it, whereupon its different sides will come close to each other, and it will say: Enough! Enough!» To the same effect, Allah (Exalted be He) says to Musa (Moses - peace be upon him): «in order that you may be brought up under My Eye.» Allah (Exalted be He) says: «Floating under Our Eyes» The Prophet (peace be upon him) said: «"Your Lord is not one-eyed."» In the same context, Allah (Exalted be He) says: «(Remember) the Day when the Shin shall be laid bare (i.e. the Day of Resurrection) and they shall be called to prostrate themselves (to Allāh), but they (hypocrites) shall not be able to do so.» The Prophet (peace be upon him) interpreted the Ayah to mean that Allah (Exalted be He) will uncover His Shin on the Day of Resurrection whereupon every believer will prostrate before Him out of reverence and there will remain those who used to prostrate before Him just for showing off and for gaining good reputation. These people will try to prostrate but they will not be able to do so. In the same context, the Prophet (peace be upon him) said: «"I saw my Lord (may He be Glorified and Exalted) in the best form."» He also said: «"Allah created Adam in the Image of the Beneficent."» This is in addition to many Nusus (Islamic texts from the Qur'an or the Sunnah) including Allah's Attributes. Ahl-ul-Sunnah wal-Jama`ah (those adhering to the Sunnah and the Muslim main body) believe in these Attributes and confirm their indications without Tashbih (comparison) or Tamthil (likening Allah's Attributes to those of His Creation). Allah (Exalted be He) says: «There is nothing like Him; and He is the All-Hearer, the All-Seer.»

The Permanent Committee for Scholarly Research and Ifta' in the Kingdom of Saudi Arabia after stating such facts, deems it obligatory for the editor-in-chief of the monthly Madinah Magazine issued from Dacca, Bangladesh, Shaykh Muhiy Al-Din Khan, to publish this Fatwa and demand the person who replied to the Fatwa request to retract his allegations and declare his retraction in the same magazine. In fact, it is virtuous to admit the truth, which is the goal of the believers. Admitting the truth guides the people to the truth and distracts them from falsehood. The Prophet (peace be upon him) said: «"If anyone calls others to follow right guidance, his reward will be equivalent to those who follow him (in righteousness) until the Day of Resurrection without their reward being diminished in any respect, and if anyone invites others to follow error, the sin will be equivalent to that of the people who follow him (in sinfulness) until the Day of Resurrection without their sins being diminished in any respect."»

Q 3: some people say, "Indeed, Allah is aware of what is in the hearts." Is this saying correct? Was it circulated among the Salaf (Righteous Predecessors) (may Allah be pleased with them)?

(Part No. 2; Page No. 397)

A: attributing injustice to allah is a great sacrilege. Allah has denied oppression from Himself in His statement: \(Truly! Allâh wrongs not mankind in aught; but mankind wrong themselves.\) Allah also states in the divine Hadith: \(O My servants, I have made injustice unlawful for Me and made it unlawful for you, so do not wrong one another.\) Allah's decree and destiny is entirely based on the perfection of His wisdom, justice, mercy and knowledge. As for His servants being tested with the loss of their children, insufficient provisions, or diseases; this is a trial from Him to distinguish who is patient and pleased with His decree and destiny and those who are not. Allah (Exalted be He) stated: \(And certainly, We shall test you with something of fear, hunger, loss of wealth, lives and fruits\) then he promised the patient with His saying: \(but give glad tidings to As-Sâbirûn \(the patient\).\) \(Who, when afflicted with calamity, say: "Truly! One must be certain that He is Wise and All-Knowing and places all things their proper positions. [\(He cannot be questioned as to what He does, while they will be questioned.\) Whoever attributes injustice to Allah in His decree and destiny over humans and believes this is considered a disbeliever and out of the fold of Islam, because of disbelieving what Allah has informed about denying injustice from Himself. Q 3: The Hadith reported by Abu Hurayrah with a Sanad Marfu` (a Hadith narrated from the Prophet with a connected or disconnected chain of narration) and narrated by Imam Muslim reads: (pride is my cloak and majesty is my lower garment, and I shall throw him who shares with me regarding one of them into Hell.) How can we understand this Hadith? Is it permissible to ascribe the attribute of having a cloak or lower garment to Allah or do we in this case have to interpret these attributes?

A: Al-Khattaby, may Allah be merciful to Him, in his explanation of Sunan Abu Dawud, said that the meaning of the Hadith is that pride and majesty are two attributes of Allah (Glorified be He) that are confined to Him Alone, no created being can share them with Him and no created being should show them; because a created being is modest and humble. With regards to the saying that Allah has a cloak and a lower garment, it is, as Al-Khataby said - though Allah knows best - a simile that means that, just as no one shares another human's cloak or lower garment with them, no one can share with Allah the Attributes of Pride and Majesty.

Q 1: The Messenger of Allah (peace be upon him) said: (verily, Allah created, on the same very day when He created the heavens and the earth, one hundred parts of mercy...) What is meant by the mercy mentioned in this Hadith? Is it the Attribute of Allah (Exalted be He), or is it a created mercy that Allah designates for the Ummah (community) of Islam?

A: The mercy which is mentioned in the Hadith is a created mercy. Allah created one hundred parts of mercy, and out of this mercy He (Exalted be He) endowed one part to the earth and withheld ninety-nine parts for the Day of Resurrection. The mercy which is mentioned in the Hadith is thus other than the Mercy which is one of Allah's Attributes, for the Attributes of Allah are not created. Rather, Allah's Mercy is one of the Attributes of His Essence (Glorified be He) which neither it nor He (Exalted be He) is created. Allah (Glorified and Exalted be He) is the Creator but is not created.

The second question of Fatwa no. 18776

Q 2: Do the last people who will come out of Hellfire and enter Jannah (Paradise) see Allah according to Allah's statement, ﴿For those who have done good is the best (reward, i.e. Paradise) and even more (i.e. having the honour of glancing at the Countenance of Allāh جل جلاله).﴾ ?

A: Anyone who enters Jannah will see Allah (Glorified and Exalted be He), as seeing Allah is the greatest bliss of the people of Jannah. However, the Mu'minun (believers) vary in seeing Allah; some of them enjoy the privilege of seeing Allah all the time according to Allah's statement, ﴿For those who have done good is the best (reward, i.e. Paradise) and even more (i.e. having the honour of glancing at the Countenance of Allāh جل جلاله).﴾ It was authentically established from the Prophet (peace be upon him) that he interpreted this Ayah to mean that the reward is Jannah and the phrase "even more" refers to looking at Allah's Face (Glorified and Exalted be He). The Prophet (peace be upon him) also stated, ﴿When the people of Jannah enter therein, a caller announces, "O, people of Jannah! You were promised by Allah and that promise is going to be fulfilled." They wonder, "O, Allah! What is that promise? Have you not enlightened our faces? Have you not let us into Jannah? Have you not saved us from

Q: Imam Ahmad, Al-Bukhari, Muslim, Abu Dawud and Al-Nasa'iy reported on the authority of `Aishah (may Allah be pleased with her) that the Prophet (peace be upon him) said: \(Do that much of deeds which is within your ability, as Allah never gets tired of giving rewards till you get tired of doing good deeds. The most beloved deed to Allah is the most regular and constant even if it were little.\)

What is the meaning of his (peace be upon him) saying:

allah never gets tired of giving rewards till you get tired of doing good deeds. ? It is worth mentioning that I looked upon the views of Hafizhs (scholars who are well-versed in Hadith and its sciences) like Ibn Hajar in Fath Al-Bary, 1/101 and 3/36, Al-Hafiz Al-Khattaby in his book Ma`alim Al-Sunan, Al-Nawawy in his commentary on Muslim's book, Ibn Qutaybah in Ta'wil Mukhtalif-ul-Hadith and many others, but I found no commentary on this sentence; does this imply accepting it? Since I checked a treatise in which the sentence "Allah never gets tired of giving rewards till you get tired of doing good deeds" is mentioned, I hope you could answer my question.

A: One should accept this Hadith as it is, along with believing in the attribute (tiredness) and that it is appropriate with respect to Allah in a way different to His Creatures, such as plotting, deception and planning which are mentioned in the Qur'an. All such attributes are right with regard to Allah according to His saying (Exalted be He): \(There is nothing like Him; and He is the All-Hearer, the All-Seer.\)

Fatwa no. 16719

Q: Did the Salaf (the righteous Predecessors) classify Allah's Attributes into Hissiyyah (concrete) and Ma`nawiyyah (abstract) or Dhatiyyah (related to the Self) and Khabariyyah (informing about the Self) Attributes, or are there any other classifications? Moreover, there are some Divine Attributes, such as Wujud (Existence), Baqa' (Eternity) and Qidam (Preexistence); is it permissible to attribute them to Allah knowing that there is no Naql (primary Islamic source texts: Qur'an and Hadith) concerning these Attributes, but that they were established through examination of the texts of the Qur'an and Sunnah or exercise of reasoning? Is it permissible to derive Names of Allah from His Acts like Al-Satir (the one who veils) from the verb 'satar' (to veil, cover, conceal, etc.) and the One Who makes women pregnant from the intent of the verse, ﴿And no female conceives or gives birth but with His Knowledge.﴾ and so on. If deriving Names of Allah from His Acts is permissible, what is the proof?

A: Allah's attributes are classified into Dhatiyyah (attributes of the Self) and Fi`liyyah (attributes of action); the Dhatiyyah Attributes are like the Face, the Two Hands and Highness, and Fi`liyyah Attributes are like Creation, Sustenance, Establishment over the throne, Speaking, etc.

As for Wujud and Qidam, they are not among Allah's Attributes for there is no proof on them. However, there is no blame for saying that Allah, may He be exalted, is existent and that He is eternal since the scope of describing Allah is wider than that of specifying the Divine Names and Attributes. With regard to Al-Baqa' (Eternity), it was mentioned in Ayahs (verses) such as,

﴿And the Face of your Lord full of Majesty and Honour will remain forever.﴾ and ﴿He is the First \(nothing is before Him\) and the Last \(nothing is after Him\)﴾ The Prophet (may peace be upon him) explained the First and the Last in the former verse with his saying, ﴿You are the First and there is none before You. And You are the Last and there is none after You.﴾

Allah's Names are Tawqifiyyah (bound by a religious text and not amenable to personal opinion). Therefore, it is not permissible to give a name to Allah, and we should stick to the Names that He designated for Himself. In addition, one cannot derive a name of Allah from His Acts but His Attributes can be derived from His Names, such as the attribute of mercy that can be derived from His Names Al-Rahman (the Most Beneficent) and Al-Rahim (the Most Merciful) and so on.

May Allah grant us success! May peace and blessings be upon our Prophet, his family and Companions!

Fatwa no. 11664

Q: is it permissible to say that Allah is Non-resembling to the creatures and that He is "old"?

A: All perfect Attributes are attributed to Allah (Glorified and Exalted be He), as those He has attributed to Himself and those the Messenger (peace be upon him) attributed to Him, as Allah says: (There is nothing like Him; and He is the All-Hearer, the All-Seer.) He (Glorified be He) is Unique in His Self, Attributes, Names and Actions and there is nothing like Him. "Old" is not mentioned among the Names of Allah, but He is the First as He says: (He is the First (nothing is before Him) and the Last (nothing is after Him), the Most High (nothing is above Him) and the Most Near (nothing is nearer than Him). And He is the All-Knower of every thing.) It is also confirmed that the Prophet (peace be upon him) said, (“O Allah! You are the First, as there was nothing before You, and You are the Last, as there will be nothing after You. You are the Most High, as there is nothing above You, and You are the Nearest, as there is nothing closer than You.”) (Related by Muslim)

The third question of Fatwa no. 17072

Q 3: is it permissible to say "Allah is the Founder of the Salafiyyah movement (those following the way of the righteous predecessors)"?

A: Truly, the religion with Allah is Islam. This means that Allah has chosen Islam to be His Religion and law which He has revealed to His Messenger and Servant Muhammad (peace be upon him). Islam is the final religion and law and its followers are the Muslims who have not deviated from its course by following a Bid`ah (innovation in religion), act of misguidance or a personal desire. These are the Muslim main body that can be called any of these synonymous names: "Ahl-ul-Sunnah", "Ahl-ul-Sunnah wal-Jama`ah", "Ahl-ul-Hadith" and "Al-Salafiyyun".

Salafiyyah is a good name that means that such people are following the footsteps of the Salaf (righteous predecessors) and those after them (may Allah be pleased with them all). It is a name making a distinction between them and those who introduced Bid`ah, changed, altered and distorted the religion. Based on that, the statement "Allah is the Founder of the Salafiyyah movement" is true in its meaning that Allah has legislated its laws. However, it is not permissible to use the term "founder" with Allah since there is no evidence supporting it. The rule is that no Name or Attribute is attributed to Allah except that which He has attributed to Himself or which the Messenger (peace be upon him) has attributed to Him. The same thing applies to the statement "Allah is the Architect of the universe". It is true in meaning for Allah is the Creator but its attribute is not confirmed. Consequently both statements are not permissible to use based on the previous discussion.

The first question of Fatwa no. 17749

Q 1: What is the meaning of "tasalsul Al-Hawadith (consecution of creations)"? Does Shaykh Al-Islam Ahmad ibn Taymiyah adopt this view? Some knowledge seekers told me this information while I believe that he (may Allah be merciful with him) said that the first thing Allah has created is the Throne, when asked whether the Throne or the pen were created first.

A: "Tasalsul Al-Hawadith" is one of the terms newly introduced by scholars of Scholastic theology by which they mean that the Actions of Allah must have a beginning and are not eternal. If they were as eternal as Allah, there would be many eternal things and this is impossible, since Allah Alone is Eternal. This is a false claim and an innovation in Islam. The Eternity of Allah's Actions and Attributes does not necessarily mean the multiplicity of eternal things, for Allah is Eternal with His Actions and Attributes and His Actions do not have a beginning, just like He does not have a beginning.

Q 4: Some people welcome their guests saying: "O guest of the Most Merciful! May Allah safeguard you!" or "O aged of the Most Merciful! May Allah safeguard you!" What is the ruling on this?

A: It is permissible to welcome guests and others saying: "O guests of the Most Merciful!", "O aged people of the Most Merciful!", or by making Du`a' (supplication) for them such as invoking: "May Allah safeguard you!" This is because this ascription is meant only for honoring the concerned person. This is similar to saying: "the house of Allah", "the she-camel of Allah" etc.

Fatwa no. 19142

Q: There is a doubtful matter that frequently comes to my mind. It is about some non-Muslims who say that Muslims worship a vacuum. Especially when I start to observe Salah (Prayer), a question comes to my mind upon observing Sujud (prostration); should I imagine that Allah (may He be Exalted and Glorified) is in front of me, though I know by Yaqin (certainty) and Fitrah (natural disposition) that Allah (Glorified be He) exists in the Heavens?

A: We have to believe that Allah (may He be Exalted and Glorified) is above the Throne in Heaven. One of the manifestations of complete slavery to Allah (Glorified be He) is to worship Him as if you see Him and though you see Him not, verily Allah sees you. What you have mentioned concerning doubtful matters and suspicions which make a Muslim imagine that he worships a vacuum, is out of Satan's handiwork and temptations. A Muslim should put an end to these matters and stop thinking about them. He should observe Dhikr (Remembrance) of Allah (Exalted be He) abundantly, seek refuge with Him from the accursed Satan and do deeds that can benefit him in his religion and his life of this world. It is permissible for a Mu'min (believer), when observing Salah (Prayer), to believe that Allah is in front of him though He (Glorified be He) is above His Throne. In this respect, the Prophet (peace be upon him) says: \(If anyone of you stands up

Spitting to the left is permissible only outside the Masjid (mosque). If anyone is in the Masjid, he can only spit on the end of his outer garment, in his handkerchief or the like; for the Messenger (peace be upon him) said: \(Spitting in the mosque is a sin...\)

The first question of Fatwa no. 12087

Q 1: does the Asha`irah group (a Muslim group that bases issues of faith on logic) belong to Ahl-ul-Sunnah wal-Jama`ah (those adhering to the Sunnah and the Muslim main body)?

A: Ahl-ul-Sunnah wal-Jama`ah are defined as those who hold fast to the Book of Allah, the Exalted, the Sunnah of their Prophet Muhammad (peace be upon him) regarding all their `Aqidah (beliefs) and Islamic principles. They never oppose the texts of the Qur'an and Sunnah for rational argumentation or personal preference; rather, they stick to the principles of Iman (belief) and pillars of Islam observed by the Sahabah (Companions of the Prophet). They are represented in the leading guides and callers to goodness and success, such as Al-Hasan Al-Basry, Sa`id ibn Al-Musayyib, Mujahid, Abu Hanifah, Malik, Al-Shafi`y, Al-Awza`y, Ahmad, Al-Bukhari and those who took their path and followed their example by promoting their `Aqidah (beliefs) and way of seeking proofs.

The Asha`irah are the followers of Abu Al-Hasan Al-Ash`ari and the supporters of his school regarding `Aqidah (beliefs) and seeking proofs. He and his followers are the closest sect to Ahl-ul-Sunnah wal-Jama`ah. They are to be praised for what they approved of Ahl-ul-Sunnah wal-Jama`ah and they should be condemned for their opposition to them in some matters. Some of the followers of this school are Abu Bakr Al-Baqillany, Al-Bayhaqy, Abu Al-Faraj ibn Al-Jawzy, Abu Zakariyya Yahya Al-Nawawi, Ibn Hajar Al-`Asqalany and others who sought to follow the Ta'wil (allegorical interpretation) approach when dealing with the texts mentioning the Attributes of Allah, the Exalted, or deemed that their principal meanings should be ascribed to Allah's knowledge. Verily we regard them as some of the great Muslim religious figures whom Allah employed to benefit the Ummah (nation based on one creed). May Allah be Merciful with them and may Allah grant them all goodness.

Q: All praises are due to Allah Alone, and may peace and blessings be upon Prophet (Muhammad) after whom there is no prophet.

The Permanent Committee for Scholarly Research and Ifta' has studied the letter that was sent to His Eminence the General Mufti (Islamic scholar qualified to issue legal opinions) by the inquirer `Abdullah ibn Muhammad Al-Luhaydan, Head of the Department of Da`wah, and Guidance, and which was referred to the Committee by the Secretariat General of the Council of Senior Scholars with the number (95/S) and dated 2/11/1421 A.H.. The inquirer asked a question in which he said: I refer to Your Eminence what was sent to me and it is currently discussed especially in some girls' schools and our educational guidance centers. It is about a sheet of paper on which an issue related to Al-Madinah Newspaper is written. The holder of the papers mentions that he found out the following:

allah's Most Beautiful Names have an immense healing power that cures a great number of diseases.

- Each Name of Allah's Most Beautiful Names has the power to stimulate the immune system to work effectively in a certain organ of the human body.
- And he mentions his son and a number of volunteers as a practical successful example that proves his claim; in their case repeating certain Divine Names for ten minutes was proved effective.

(Part No. 2; Page No. 413)

- That the same Names of Allah, the Exalted, which cure diseases can also be used for prevention.
- That the healing power is doubled when reciting the curing Ayahs (Qur'anic verses) after Dhikr (Remembrance of Allah) by Allah's Most Beautiful Names.

The publisher asks people to try this and tell him the result.

Consequently, I would like Your Eminence, may Allah protect you, to explain this matter and clarify it to people, so that they will be on true guidance with regards to the Attributes of their Lord.

A: After the Committee had studied this Fatwa request, it answered as follows:

Allah, the Exalted, says, ﴿And \(all\) the Most Beautiful Names belong to Allāh, so call on Him by them, and leave the company of those who belie or deny \(or utter impious speech against\) His Names. They will be requited for what they used to do.﴾ Moreover the Prophet (peace be upon him) says, [﴿Allah has Ninety-Nine Names; whoever makes Ihsa' of them \[by learning them by heart, knowing their meaning and acting according to them\] will go to Paradise.﴾](#) These Names include Allah's Greatest Name, by which if He is called on, He responds; and if He is asked, He grants. No one knows the number of the Names of Allah, may He be Glorified and Exalted, but Him, and they are all beautiful. These Names and their indication to the Perfection, Glory and Greatness of Allah should be emphasized. It is forbidden to deviate in regard to them by denying them, denying the attribution of some of them to Allah, denying their indication of perfection and glory, or denying what they comprise of the Great Attributes of Allah. An example of deviation with regards to Allah's Names, is what was claimed by a person called Sayyid Karim, his student and his son in the sheet of paper which he distributed among people. It is claimed in this paper that Allah's Most Beautiful Names cure a huge number of diseases. Moreover, by using different accurate measurement methods to measure the energy inside the human body, he was able to find out that each Name of Allah's Most Beautiful Names stimulates the immune system to work efficiently in a certain organ of the human body. By applying the law of resonance Dr. Ibrahim Karim allegedly managed to discover that mentioning one of Allah's Most Beautiful Names leads to the improvement of the biological energy cycles in the human body.

He said: It is known that pharaohs are the first who studied and set the measurements of the biological energy cycles in the human body by the pharaonic pendulum. Afterwards he mentioned a group of Allah's Names written on a table assuming that each one of them has a certain benefit for the body or even cures a certain disease. He manifested that by drawing a human body and he wrote one of Allah's Names on its different organs. In fact, this act is Batil (null and void); because it is a sort of deviation regarding Allah's Names and abusing them. It is only permissible to supplicate to Allah by His Names, according to the Ayah in which Allah says, ﴿so call on Him by them﴾ Moreover, it is permissible to emphasize Allah's Great Attributes they indicate; because each Name of them comprises an Attribute of Allah, may He be Exalted and Glorified, and it is not permissible to use them in anything else except supplication. There should be evidence from Shar` (Islamic Law) to prove otherwise. In regard to the assumption that they are useful in such-and-such cases or cure such-and-such diseases without any evidence from Shar` (Islamic Law), it is considered like saying things about Allah of which you have no knowledge.

Allah, the Exalted, says, ﴿Say \(O Muhammad صلى الله عليه وسلم\): "\(But\) the things that my Lord has indeed forbidden are Al-Fawâhish \(great evil sins and every kind of unlawful sexual intercourse\) whether committed openly or secretly, sins \(of all kinds\), unrighteous oppression, joining partners \(in worship\) with Allâh for which He has given no authority, and saying things about Allâh of which you have no knowledge.﴾ Consequently, this sheet of paper must be destroyed.

The above mentioned people should repent to Allah from such an act and never practice it again for its association with `Aqidah (creed) and legal rulings.

May Allah grant us success! May peace and blessings be upon our Prophet Muhammad, his family and Companions!

Q: There are some partisans who call for applying the Islamic shari`ah though they are completely opposite to that. They have diluted Islam and consider those who do not embrace their thoughts, even if they are opposite to the Qur'an and Sunnah, as enemies of Islam. In addition, their hatred to Ahl-ul-Sunnah wal-Jama`ah (those adhering to the Sunnah and the Muslim main body), is deeply rooted, especially Salafiyyah (those following the way of the righteous predecessors). They insult and abuse them to the extent that they blaspheme their leadership figures labeling them as backward and intolerant. Is it permissible to support them or ask their advice? Or should they be disciplined by abandoning them?

A: Any Da`i (caller to Islam) who does not adhere to the Manhaj (methodology) of the Messengers and that of their followers concerning Da`wah (calling to Islam), and follows the Manhaj (methodology) of misleading sects which introduce Bid`ahs (innovations in religion) such as Khawarij (separatist group that believes committing a major sin amounts to disbelief) and Mu`tazilah (a deviant Islamic sect claiming that those who commit major sins are in a state between belief and disbelief) - it is impermissible for you to either be in his company or associate with him. The second question of Fatwa no. 18885

Q 2: A scholar said: We have an explanation for what Christians allege about being the sons of Allah. The saying: "We, human beings, are all the sons of Allah" means that: He is the One who created us. And He Alone sustains us and provides all of us with livelihood. This is according to the Hadith which reads: (The poor are My children) The paternity of Allah to us is not that one proved with a birth certificate. We are all His Servants and we do not perform Sujud (prostration) before anyone except Allah Alone."

(Part No. 2; Page No. 417)

What is your opinion on that?

A: Allah has made it clear in His Book (Qur'an) that Christians hold a false belief that the Messiah (Prophet `Eisa (Jesus)) is Allah's son and has a blood relation with Him. Allah, the Exalted, states, (and the Christians say: Messiah is the son of Allâh. That is their saying with their mouths, resembling the saying of those who disbelieved aforetime. Allâh's Curse be on them, how they are deluded away from the truth!) They claim that the Messiah is the son of Allah in order to distinguish him from all other humans. Therefore Allah, in condemnation for those who innovated this false allegation, states, (And they say: "The Most Gracious (Allâh) has begotten a son (or offspring or children) [as the Jews say: 'Uzair (Ezra) is the son of Allâh, and the Christians say that He has begotten a son [Isâ (Jesus) عليه السلام], and the pagan Arabs say that He has begotten daughters (angels and others.)].") (Indeed you have brought forth (said) a terrible evil thing.) (Whereby the heavens are almost torn, and the earth is split asunder, and the mountains fall in ruins,) Allah, the Exalted, rebukes the Jews and the Christians for their allegation of being the sons of Allah and His loved ones, out of their arrogance, haughtiness and love for being superior to all other humans, in the Ayah (verse) which reads, (And (both) the Jews and the Christians say: "We are the children of Allâh and His loved ones." Say: "Why then does He punish you for your sins?" Nay, you are but human beings of those He has created)

As regards those who believe that the Christians are the sons of Allah, meaning that: Allah is their Sustainer and He Alone provides them with livelihood, out of their distinction from other humans, this is Batil (null and void) as well. Allah, may He be Glorified, is responsible for sustaining all His Servants and He Alone cherishes them with His care and gives them success.

As for the Hadith stating that the creation are the children of Allah; is it not authentic. If it were authentic, it would still mean that Allah, the Glorified, is the one Who sustains them and provides them with livelihood; as it is declared in the Ayah in which Allah, the Glorified, states, (And no moving (living) creature is there on earth but its provision is due from Allâh.)

May Allah grant us success! May peace and blessings be upon our Prophet Muhammad, his family and Companions!

The first question of Fatwa no. 17458

Q 1: Some of the beliefs that are common in our country say that Shaykh-ul-Islam Ibn Taimiyyah (may Allah be merciful with him) believed in Tajsim (anthropomorphism) and that he tried to prove that Allah (Exalted be He) has a body like humans. Moreover, people say that Shaykh-ul-Islam Muhammad ibn `Abdul-Wahhab (may Allah be merciful with him) was a mischievous person; not a righteous one. He spread corruption in the Arab countries and he was astray and caused people to go astray. May Allah protect us from such beliefs. We are sending you two magazines (Nur

(Part No. 2; Page No. 419)

Al-Yaqin and Al-Fajr Al-Sadiq) to check them.

A: Shaykh-ul-Islam Ibn Taimiyyah and Shaykh-ul-Islam Muhammad ibn `Abdul-Wahhab were both Mujaddids (revivalist Muslim scholars), who revived the features of Islam that fell into oblivion in the light of the Qur'an and the Sunnah (whatever is reported from the Prophet). They were both two of the scholars of Ahl-ul-Sunnah wal-Jama`ah (those adhering to the Sunnah and the Muslim main body). Indeed, they were righteous; not mischievous. They were among those who proved the Names and Attributes of Allah (Exalted be He) as mentioned in the Qur'an and the authentic Sunnah in a manner that befits Allah (Glorified be He). Anyone who alleges that Shaykh-ul-Islam Ibn Taimiyyah believed in Tajsim is totally ignorant of the `Aqidah (creed) of Ahl-ul-Sunnah wal-Jama`ah. Likewise, anyone who alleges that Shaykh Muhammad ibn `Abdul-Wahhab was corrupt, not righteous, is ignorant of his `Aqidah and the sincere Tawhid (belief in the Oneness of Allah) which he called to and which was consistent with the `Aqidah of Ahl-ul-Sunnah wal-Jama`ah. May Allah be merciful with him, Shaykh-ul-Islam Ibn Taimiyyah, and all Muslim Imams.

The fifth question of Fatwa no. 17867

Q 5: Allah (Exalted be He) says: (Say (O Muhammad صلى الله عليه وسلم): "If Allâh had so willed, I should not have recited it to you nor would He have made it known to you.) Is the Will of Allah eternal or is it as renewable as time?

What is the ruling of Shari`ah (Islamic law) on the deliberate discussion of Ayat-ul-Mashi'ah (the Qur'anic verses mentioning Allah's Will)? Should we understand them superficially? Shall we absolutely understand from the Ayah (Qur'anic verse) in which Allah (Exalted be He) says: (Then whosoever wills, let him believe; and whosoever wills, let him disbelieve.) that Iman (belief) and Kufr (disbelief) are permissible under the pretext that man is Mukhayyar (has a free will of their own) and not Musayyar (has no free will to choose or undertake actions)?

A: the Attribute of Will peculiar to Allah (Exalted be He) is a real attribute characterized by eternity and oneness. Concerning Ayat-ul-Sifat (Qur'anic verses including Allah's Attributes), such as Allah's Will and other attributes, you should pass by them without deliberating on their nature. However, you should believe in their reality in a way that is appropriate for Allah (Exalted be He) without Ta'til (denial of Allah's Attributes), Tamthil (likening Allah's Attributes to those of His Creation), Ta'wil (allegorical interpretation), or Tashbih (comparison). Allah (Exalted be He) says: (There is nothing like Him; and He is the All-Hearer, the All-Seer.) As regards the Ayah in which Allah (Exalted be He) says: (Then whosoever wills, let him believe; and whosoever wills, let him disbelieve.), it does not mean giving man choice to believe or disbelieve, but it means threatening them because the path of Iman and right guidance has become clear and the path of Kufr has become clear too. Allah (Exalted be He) will punish those who saw clearly the path of Iman and right guidance but they did not follow it. Moreover, Allah (Exalted be He) will turn them away from Al-Sirat-ul-Mustaqim (the Straight Path) as He (Exalted be He) says: (I shall turn away from My Ayât (verses of the Qur'ân) those who behave arrogantly on the earth, without a right, and (even) if they see all the Ayât (proofs, evidence, verses, lessons, signs, revelations, etc.), they will not believe in them. And if they see the way of righteousness (monotheism, piety, and good deeds), they will not adopt it as the Way, but if they see the way of error (polytheism, crimes and evil deeds), they will adopt that way, that is because they have rejected Our Ayât (proofs, evidence, verses, lessons, signs, revelations, etc.) and were heedless (to learn a lesson) from them.) That is why after Allah (Exalted be He) says: (Then whosoever wills, let him believe; and whosoever wills, let him disbelieve.), He mentions the following threatening Ayah: (Verily, We have prepared for the Zâlimûn (polytheists and wrong-doers.), a Fire whose walls will be surrounding them (disbelievers in the Oneness of Allâh).)

The origin of Satan and his destiny on the Day of Resurrection

The first question of Fatwa no. 16370

Q 1: is iblis (Satan) an angel or a Jinni? And are the Jinn (creatures created from fire) his offspring or were he and his offspring created from them?

A: Iblis is one of the Jinn as Allah (Exalted be He) says: ﴿And \(remember\) when We said to the angels: "Prostrate yourselves unto Adam." So they prostrated themselves except Iblis \(Satan\). He was one of the jinn; he disobeyed the Command of his Lord.﴾ He is not an angel. Moreover, he was created from fire while angels were created from light. This is mentioned in the Ayahs (verses) talking about the creation of Iblis. Besides, this is proven in the Hadith of the Messenger of Allah (peace be upon him) narrated by `Aishah (may Allah be pleased with her) in which he said: ﴿Angels were created from light, Jinn were created from a smokeless flame of fire, and Adam was created from that which you have been told \(i.e., sounding clay like the clay of pottery\)﴾ Related by Imam Muslim in his Sahih.

Q: What are the means of strengthening Muslims' Iman? May Allah grant you all the best!

A: Some of the means through which you can strengthen your Iman and deepen your Yaqin (certainty), are your decisive belief in the six pillars of Iman in addition to your deeds which deepen your Iman. The pillars of Iman are: The belief in Allah (Glorified and Exalted be He), His angels, His Messengers, His Books, in the Last Day and in the Divine Destiny whether good or bad.

Branches of Iman also include: The declaration that there is no deity but Allah and that Muhammad is the Messenger of Allah, performing Salah (Prayer), observing Sawm (Fast), giving away Zakah (obligatory charity), performing Hajj, Jihad (fighting) in the Cause of Allah, filial obedience, being charitable to relatives, orphans, poor people, passers-by, neighbors, workers and servants, propagation of virtue and prevention of vice, keeping patience in all your matters, being modest and deserting pride, guarding the tongue and chastity (i.e. private parts) from illegal acts, and keeping Amanah (honesty, trust, and obedience) and promises..., etc. It is authentically reported that the Prophet (peace be upon him) said: \(Faith has over seventy branches or over sixty branches, the most excellent of which is the declaration that there is no deity but Allah, and the humblest of which is the removal of what is harmful from the road.\)

The first question of Fatwa no. 17558

Q 1: Does Iman (Faith) increase with acts of obedience and decrease with acts of disobedience? Please support your answer with evidence. What is the ruling on those who deny that?

A: it is true that iman increases with acts of obedience and decreases with acts of disobedience. This is confirmed by the unanimous agreement of Ahl-ul-Sunnah wal-Jama`ah (those adhering to the Sunnah and the Muslim main body) including the Companions (may Allah be pleased with them) and the scholars and the religious figures who followed their path. Allah, the Exalted, says, ﴿And Allâh increases in guidance those who walk aright.﴾ Moreover He, the Exalted, says, ﴿The believers are only those who, when Allâh is mentioned, feel a fear in their hearts and when His Verses \(this Qur'ân\) are recited unto them, they \(i.e. the Verses\) increase their Faith﴾ Allah, the Exalted, also says, ﴿and that the believers may increase in Faith \(as this Qur'ân is the truth\)﴾ Regarding the decrease of Iman, Allah, the Exalted, says, ﴿They were that day, nearer to disbelief than to Faith﴾ The Prophet (peace be upon him) said, ﴿He whose heart has the least faith, even as the tiniest mustard seed, will be brought out from Hell-Fire.﴾

The fifth question of Fatwa no. 16875

Q 5: What are the pillars of Iman (Faith), with explanation?

A: There are six pillars of Iman which are: the belief in Allah, His Angels, His Books, His Messengers, the Last Day and Predestination, whether good or bad.

Belief in Allah means: firm belief in His Lordship, His Names, and His Attributes. Moreover believing that Allah, the Glorified, is the only One Who is worth worshipping.

Belief in Messengers: is to believe that their Mission was from Allah, have faith in them, follow them and love them. On top of all of them is the last and the best Prophet, our Prophet Muhammad ibn `Abdullah ibn `Abdul-Muttalib (peace be upon him).

Belief in angels: is having faith in their existence and to believe that they are honored servants carrying out the Command of Allah concerning His creatures, descending upon His Messengers with His revelation and writing and preserving the deeds of Banu Adam (human beings, descendants from Prophet Adam).

Belief in the Books: is to believe that they are sent down by Allah in order to guide His creatures and that we should follow them and act according to them, each according to the Messenger upon whom it was revealed. The best and most perfect among all of them is the Qur'an, the Book sent to our Prophet Muhammad (peace be upon him).

Belief in the Last Day which is the Day of Resurrection: is to believe that it will occur when people will be resurrected from their graves to be rewarded for their good deeds or punished for their evil deeds.

Belief in Predestination whether good or bad: is to believe that everything happens in this universe whether good or bad, since the beginning of creation until the Day of Resurrection, is known, predestined and written by Allah in Al-Lawh-ul-Mahfuzh (the Preserved Tablet) and that Allah willed it to happen at the time it actually happened.

The first question of Fatwa no. 13964

Q 1: Is it our right or the right of Imams (those who lead people in prayer) to support their sayings with the sayings and acts of the Messenger of Allah?

A: Allah (Glorified be He) commands us to worship Him Alone and to make our religion sincere to Him (by not associating any partner with Allah in His worship). Moreover, He commands that no one should be worshipped nor invoked nor asked but Him (Glorified and Exalted be He). He sent

Muhammad (peace be upon him) to explain the Shari`ah (Islamic laws). He (Exalted be He) commands us to follow what the Prophet (peace be upon him) brought to us, obey his orders and abstain from what he forbade. Allah (Exalted be He) says: ﴿And whatsoever the Messenger \(Muhammad ﷺ\) gives you, take it; and whatsoever he forbids you, abstain \(from it\). And fear Allāh; verily, Allāh is Severe in punishment.﴾ Verily, he (the Prophet) is a model and a good example to follow in all his sayings, deeds and decisions. Allah (Exalted be He) says: ﴿Indeed in the Messenger of Allāh \(Muhammad ﷺ\) you have a good example to follow for him who hopes for \(the Meeting with\) Allāh and the Last Day, and remembers Allāh much.﴾ Therefore, Muslims should follow in the footsteps of Prophet Muhammad (peace be upon him) as there should be no saying besides the saying of the Prophet (peace be upon him).

Q 1: Sometimes Satan insinuates to me with some (evil) thoughts, as he tries to make me doubtful about my `Aqidah (creed). I am ashamed to mention such thoughts, so I would like to ask: Will I be accountable for this?

(Part No. 2; Page No. 429)

A: You must not persist in thinking about such doubts and insinuations created by Satan, aiming to fill you with doubts about your Islamic creed. Whenever any such thoughts come to your mind, you should seek refuge with Allah from the accursed Satan. Allah (Exalted be He) says: ﴿And if an evil whisper comes to you from Shaitân (Satan), then seek refuge with Allâh. Verily, He is All-Hearer, All-Knower.﴾ If you stop thinking about such insinuations and you neither act according to them nor speak about them, you will not be sinful. Fatwa no. 15610

Q: What do you think about the saying of Shaykh `Abdul-Rahman ibn Hasan Al Al-Shaykh in his book Fathul-Majid (p. 45) in which he states: This is different from those who say "La ilaha illa-Allah (there is no deity but Allah)" while invoking other than Allah, seeking refuge with a dead person or an absent person who can not provide any good or evil. As you see most people act like this. Verily, when such people say the Word of Shahada (La ilaha illa-Allah), they get involved in its contradiction. The person who says it will not benefit from it except by knowing its meaning, whether negative or positive. Does the ruling on people differ from time to time and from place to place, or is the ruling constant and does not need Ta'wil (allegorical interpretation)?

A: The words of Shaykh `Abdul-Rahman ibn Hasan (may Allah be Merciful with him) clarify that the word of the Shahada will not be useful for the person without knowing its true meaning, acting according to it, and proving his sincere worship to Allah (Exalted be He). As regards seeking refuge with, supplicating to anyone other than Allah, believing that the dead hear those who supplicate to them and intercede for them and act as a mediator between them and Allah, offering sacrificial animals to them, making vows for their sake, resorting to them to relieve distresses and believing that supplication to them is useful, all these acts contradict the Word of Tawhid (belief in the Oneness of Allah). He who practices and believes in such acts is a Mushrik (one who associates others with Allah in His Divinity or worship) and thus commits an act of major Shirk (associating others with Allah in His Divinity or worship). The ruling of Kufr (disbelief) should be applied to him.

The second question of Fatwa no. 16021

Q 2: How can I form a sound `Aqidah (creed), which rests on an Islamic scientific base in Iman (Faith) and other?

A: the `Aqidah of tawhid (monotheism) is the basis upon which a Muslim has to build his good deeds. It is the creed taken from the Book of Allah and the Sunnah (whatever is reported from the Prophet) of His Messenger (peace be upon him). Moreover, it is the creed of the Salaf (righteous predecessors). It is clarified in the authentic books compiled by eminent Muslim scholars, such as the Creed of Imam Al-Tahawy and its Explanation by Al-Izz ibn Abul-Izz, Al-`Aqidah Al-Wasitiyah by Ibn Taymiyah and Kitabul-Tawhid (Book of Monotheism) by Shaykh Muhammad ibn `Abdul-Wahhab and its explanation Fathul-Majid. The fourth question of Fatwa no. 15885

Q 4: I hear about the term `Aqidah (creed). What is `Aqidah and what is its importance? Please, provide me with a decisive answer about the `Aqidah of the Messenger (peace be upon him), his teachings and some books that tackle this issue, if possible. I want to be fully aware of my religion to follow the example of the Prophet (peace be upon him).

A: the right `Aqidah is to believe in Allah, His Angels, Books, Messengers, in the Last Day, and the Divine Destination whether good or bad. This was mentioned in the Qur'an and the Sunnah (whatever is reported from the Prophet) and was followed by the Salaf (righteous predecessors) and Imams (rulers) of the Ummah (Muslim nation). There are numerous books that tackle this issue and the best and most useful of which is the Glorious Qur'an where there is true guidance and remedy. The first question of Fatwa no. 16024

Q 1: What are the effects of Tawhid (belief in the Oneness of Allah) on people in the life of this World?

A: The influence of Tawhid i.e., worshipping Allah Alone in this life, has been manifested in the Ayahs (Qur'anic verses) in which Allah (Exalted be He) says: ﴿Allâh has promised those among you who believe and do righteous good deeds, that He will certainly grant them succession to (the present rulers) in the land, as He granted it to those before them, and that He will grant them the authority to practise their religion which He has chosen for them (i.e. Islâm). And He will surely give them in exchange a safe security after their fear (provided) they (believers) worship Me and do not associate anything (in worship) with Me.﴾

And: ﴿It is those who believe (in the Oneness of Allâh and worship none but Him Alone) and confuse not their belief with Zulm (wrong i.e. by worshipping others besides Allâh)﴾ Zulm here means Shirk (associating others with Allah in His Divinity or worship), ﴿for them (only) there is security and they are the guided.﴾ In these two Ayahs, Allah has manifested the effects of tawhid on people in this World and in the Hereafter by the prevalence of security, exchange of misguidance for true guidance, succession on earth and deepening religion in hearts and deeds.

The first question of Fatwa no. 16301

Q 1: Who are the righteous and pious servants of Allah and the friends of Satan?

A: Righteous servants of Allah are the pious believers as Allah (Exalted be He) says in the Ayah (Qur'anic verse) which states: [\(No doubt! Verily, the Auliya' of Allāh \[i.e. those who believe in the Oneness of Allāh and fear Allāh much \(abstain from all kinds of sins and evil deeds which he has forbidden\), and love Allāh much \(perform all kinds of good deeds which He has ordained\)\], no fear shall come upon them nor shall they grieve.\) \(Those who believed \(in the Oneness of Allāh - Islāmic Monotheism\), and used to fear Allāh much \(by abstaining from evil deeds and sins and by doing righteous deeds\).\)](#)

Iman (Faith) and Taqwa (fearing Allah as He should be feared) are to act upon the obedience of Allah and His Messenger (peace be upon him) and to abstain from all that Allah and His Messenger forbade including Bid'ahs (innovations in religion), superstitions and acts of Shirk (associating others with Allah in His Divinity or worship).

The friends of Satan are his followers including Mushriks (those who associate others with Allah in His Divinity or worship), believers of superstitions and innovators who deaden the Sunnah (supererogatory acts of worship following the example of the Prophet) and revive Bid'ah and prohibitions. Allah (Exalted be He) says: \(His power is only over those who obey and follow him \(Satan\), and those who join partners with Him \(Allāh i.e. those who are Mushrikūn i.e. polytheists. See Verse 6:121\).\) Those who assume servitude (to Allah) or it is attributed to them will not be true servants until they believe in the Oneness of Allah, act according to the Book of Allah and the Sunnah of His Messenger and abstain from Shirk (associating others with Allah in His Divinity or worship) and acts of Bid'ah.

The second question of Fatwa no. 17923

Q 2: Is Iman (Faith) a whole which can never be divided? When a part of it is lost, is the rest lost too? If this is true, how can we reconcile between this claim and the fact that iman is subject to increase and decrease?

A: Iman is divisible, as it increases and decreases. Allah (Exalted be He) says: ﴿and when His Verses (this Qur'ân) are recited unto them, they (i.e. the Verses) increase their Faith; and they put their trust in their Lord (Alone)﴾ Allah (Exalted be He) also says: ﴿And Allâh increases in guidance those who walk aright.﴾ Loosing some of your Iman does not mean losing all of it; because the opinion that inclines to the loss of all of one's Iman due to the loss of part of it is the doctrine of Khawarij (separatist group that believes committing a major sin amounts to disbelief). Verily, it is an incorrect opinion because Allah (Exalted be He) says: ﴿And if two parties or groups among the believers fall to fighting﴾ Here He describes them both as believers even though there is a fight between them. Allah (Exalted be He) also says: ﴿But if the killer is forgiven by the brother (or the relatives, etc.) of the killed against blood-money, then adhering to it with fairness and payment of the blood-money to the heir should be made in fairness.﴾ Here, Allah (Exalted be He) calls him a brother even though he is a killer.

The doctrine of Ahl-ul-Sunnah (those adhering to the Sunnah) is that a person can combine both Iman and Fisq (flagrant violation of Islamic law) and obedience and disobedience; as Iman increases with obedience and decreases with disobedience.

The first question of Fatwa no. 14465

Q 1: What is the difference between prophets and messengers?

A: The prophet is the one to whom Allah revealed Shar` (Law) but he was not commanded to convey it. The messenger is the one to whom Allah revealed Shar` (Law) and Allah sent him to the people to call them to the Shari`ah (Islamic laws) and rulings revealed to him.

Second question of Fatwa no. 18794

Q 2: Is there any difference between Prophets regarding their levels of knowledge, responsibility, or spiritual ability?

A: Yes, prophets were of different levels of knowledge. A prophet may have been knowledgeable of something which was not known to others. This is obvious in the story of Musa (Moses, peace be upon him) and Al-Khadir or Dawud (David, peace be upon him) and Sulayman (Solomon, peace be upon him). However, such differences do not decrease the merits of other prophets. Rather, all prophets and messengers were dignified though some of them have preference over others. Allah (Exalted be He) states: ﴿Those Messengers! We preferred some of them to others; to some of them Allâh spoke \(directly\); others He raised to degrees \(of honour\)﴾

(Part No. 2; Page No. 439)

He (Glorified and Exalted be He) also states: ﴿And indeed, We have preferred some of the Prophets above others﴾

On the other hand, all prophets are on the same level regarding conveying the Messages of Allah (Exalted be He) to people, teaching them, calling them to Ma`ruf (that which is judged as good, beneficial, or fitting by Islamic law and Muslims of sound intellect) and forbidding them from Munkar (that which is unacceptable or disapproved of by Islamic law and Muslims of sound intellect). All prophets have equal responsibility regarding the fulfillment of such a great trust. Nevertheless, our last Prophet Muhammad (peace be upon him) is superior to all other prophets in the matter of the perfection of the fulfillment of the duties of prophethood. Allah (Exalted be He) states: ﴿Muhammad \(صلى الله عليه وسلم\) is not the father of any of your men, but he is the Messenger of Allâh and the last \(end\) of the Prophets.﴾ Moreover, the Prophet (peace be upon him) stated: ﴿I will be the pre-eminent amongst the descendants of Adam on the Day of Resurrection, with no pride involved.﴾

A: That `Isa (Jesus, peace be upon him) was born to no father and that he was raised to heaven, does not mean that he is better than other prophets. The proof is the fact that the two friends of Allah, the Merciful, namely Ibrahim (i.e. Abraham) and Muhammad (peace be upon them) were not blessed with any such miracles. However, they are surely better than `Isa. In fact they are the best Prophets ever (may Allah's peace and blessings be upon them all).

Fatwa no. 18971

Please explain to me the difference between the last of all prophets and messengers, Muhammad (peace be upon him), `Isa (Jesus - peace be upon him), and Mirza Ghulam Ahmad. There is great confusion concerning these three people among the residents of the Central Area in our country; and I want to know the truth as soon as possible to inform my community about it and guide the people to it.

A: The question is about `Isa and Muhammad (peace be upon them) and Ghulam Al-Qadyany, the liar. `Isa (peace be upon him) is `Isa ibn Maryam (Mary), a Servant and Messenger of Allah, His Word which He bestowed on Maryam, and a spirit created by Him. Allah sent `Isa to the Children of Israel, confirming the Tawrah (Torah) that had come before him and bearing the glad tidings of the Prophethood of Muhammad (peace be upon him) after him. He called to Allah and delivered his message, but the Jews disbelieved him and even attempted to kill and crucify him. Allah saved him from them and raised him to heaven.

Muhammad (peace be upon him) is the last of all prophets; he is Muhammad ibn `Abdullah ibn `Abdul-Muttalib ibn Hashim, who belongs to the progeny of Isma`il ibn Ibrahim, the friend of Allah (peace be upon them). Allah sent him to all mankind as a bearer of glad tidings, a warner, a caller to Allah by His Leave, and a lamp spreading light. Allah has obligated all the people to obey and follow Prophet Muhammad. Whoever does not follow him and believe in him is a Kafir (disbeliever) who shall dwell in Hell Fire forever, even if they are Jewish or Christian. This is because Allah abrogated all the other religions when Islam was revealed and obligated all mankind to obey Prophet Muhammad until the Day of Resurrection. No prophet will come after him because he is the last of all prophets.

As for Ghulam Ahmad Al-Qadyany, he was a liar who claimed to be a prophet. Unfortunately, some people believed his lies and followed him; that was why the Muslims regarded him and whoever followed him as Kafirs, and called them Qadyaniyyah. Also, Muslims have ruled that Islam is free of this order and its followers, because there is no prophet after Muhammad (peace be upon him).

Q 1: Why do we find in the Gospel that the genealogy of Prophet Is-haq (Isaac), the second son of Prophet Ibrahim (Abraham peace be upon him), has been detailed till the birth of the Messiah, while that of Prophet Isma`il (Ishmael), the first son of Prophet Ibrahim (peace be upon him), has not?

A: all prophets of the Children of Israel are all from the offspring of Is-haq, the son of Ibrahim (peace be upon them both) and the last of them is Jesus, the son of Mary (peace be upon him). Israel is the nickname of Ya`qub (Jacob), the son of Is-haq (peace be upon them both). As for the offspring of Isma`il (peace be upon him), they are the Arabs who adopted the faith of their father Ibrahim (peace be upon him), until polytheism was spread among them by `Amr ibn Luhai Al-Khuza`i. At that point, Allah sent the seal of prophets and the finest; Muhammad (peace be upon him) and made his mission general for both Jinn and mankind. A: ruh-ul-Qudus (The Holy Spirit) is the name of Jibril (may peace be upon him). `Isa (peace be upon him) is Allah's Servant, Messenger and Word, which Allah bestowed upon Maryam (Mary) and a spirit created by Allah. `Isa was called Ruh (Spirit) because Allah created him without a father. In fact Allah created him with the mere word 'Be' from the Spirit which the angel blew into Maryam (Mary) without a father.

The fifth question of Fatwa no. 19219

Q 5: do the Prophets' bodies decompose in graves?

A: Allah prohibited the earth to decompose dead bodies of prophets and messengers. Therefore the dead bodies of prophets never decompose; they stay alive in their graves and lead another life in Barzakh (period between death and the Resurrection). Allah Alone knows about such a life. Such a life is different from life in this world. The souls of prophets are in Paradise and the same applies to the souls of believers and our Prophet Muhammad whose soul is with the Higher Companion in Paradise according to the Hadith narrated by Imam Ahmad in his Musnad, Vol. 4 p.8, from Aus ibn Abu Aus in the end of which he mentioned: \(Allah, the Exalted, has prohibited the earth from consuming the bodies of Prophets \(peace be upon them\).\) Narrated by Abu Dawud, Ibn Majah in their Sunan with a similar wording but an authentic Isnad (chain of narrators). However it is not permissible to invoke the prophets, seek succor and Help from them and make vows for them. In fact all these acts are acts of Shirk (associating others with Allah in His Divinity or worship) according to the Saying of Allah (Exalted be He): \(And the mosques are for Allâh \(Alone\): so invoke not anyone along with Allâh.\) and the Saying of Allah (Glorified be He): [\(And whoever invokes \(or worships\), besides Allâh, any other ilâh \(god\), of whom he has no proof; then his reckoning is only with his Lord. The second question of Fatwa no. 17867

Q 2: was Ya`qub (Jacob) a prophet or a pious servant of Allah?

A: Ya`qub (peace be upon him) is one of the prophets of the Children of Israel. Allah (may He be exalted) states: ﴿Say (O Muhammad صلى الله عليه وسلم): "We believe in Allâh and in what has been sent down to us, and what was sent down to Ibrâhîm (Abraham), Ismâ'il (Ishmael), Ishâq (Isaac), Ya'qûb (Jacob)﴾ The Ayah confirms that revelation was sent to him, so he was one of the prophets. Allah (Exalted be He) states: ﴿Verily, We have sent the revelation to you (O Muhammad صلى الله عليه وسلم) as We sent the revelation to Nûh (Noah) and the Prophets after him; We (also) sent the revelation to Ibrâhîm (Abraham), Ismâ'il (Ishmael), Ishâq (Isaac), Ya'qûb (Jacob), and Al-Asbât [the offspring of the twelve sons of Ya'qûb (Jacob)]﴾

The fourth question of Fatwa no. 18794

Q 4: did Prophet `Eisa (peace be upon him) foretell the coming of Prophet Muhammad (peace be upon him)?

A: Yes, he did. Prophet `Eisa (peace be upon him) gave glad tidings of the coming of Prophet Muhammad (peace be upon him), as Allah (Glorified be He) says in the Qur'an: [﴿And \(remember\) when 'Isâ \(Jesus\), son of Maryam \(Mary\), said: "O Children of Israel! I am the Messenger of Allâh unto you, confirming the Taurât \[\(Torah\) which came\] before me, and giving glad tidings of a Messenger to come after me, whose name shall be Ahmad. Fatwa no. 17884

Q: In his Friday Khutbah (sermon), a preacher stood on the Minbar (pulpit) and said that the Prophet Muhammad (peace be upon him) spoke immediately after he was born, but he (the preacher) could not remember what he said. Then he claimed that during her first month of pregnancy, Adam (peace be upon him) came to the mother of the Prophet Muhammad and gave her the glad tiding that her son is to be the prophet of the Ummah (nation based on one creed). In the second month, Nuh (Noah (peace be upon him)) came, and in the third Idris (Enoch (peace be upon him)), Hud (peace be upon him) in the fourth, Salih (peace be upon him) in the fifth, Ibrahim (Abraham (peace be upon him)) in the sixth, Isma`il (Ishmael peace be upon him) in the seventh, Musa (Moses (peace be upon him)) in the eighth and `Isa (Jesus (peace be upon him)) in the ninth. During his speech, he said more than once "Aminah bint Wahb (may Allah be pleased with her)"; is she a Mu'minah (believer)?

A: the Prophet (peace be upon him) was born like all humans who have parents. It was not authentically reported that he spoke in the cradle but this is a lie. Likewise, the claim that the prophets came to the mother of Prophet Muhammad (peace be upon him) is a lie and falsehood.

Allah took from the prophets (peace be upon them) their covenant that they must believe in Muhammad (peace be upon him) when he is sent and so did the prophets; they took the covenant of their people to believe in him. Allah (Exalted be He) says: (And (remember) when Allāh took the Covenant of the Prophets, saying: "Take whatever I gave you from the Book and Hikmah (understanding of the Laws of Allāh), and afterwards there will come to you a Messenger (Muhammad صلى الله عليه وسلم) confirming what is with you; you must, then, believe in him and help him." Allāh said: "Do you agree (to it) and will you take up My Covenant (which I conclude with you)?" They said: "We agree." He said: "Then bear witness; and I am with you among the witnesses (for this).") The last prophet who gave the glad tidings of the coming of Prophet Muhammad (peace be upon him) was `Isa ibn Maryam (Mary) as Allah (Exalted be He) says: (and giving glad tidings of a Messenger to come after me, whose name shall be Ahmad.)

The mother of the Prophet (peace be upon him) died before his mission. He (peace be upon him) asked Allah to visit her grave and Allah gave him the permission. He (peace be upon him) asked Allah to forgive her, but Allah did not agree. This gives evidence to the fact that the Prophet's (peace be upon him) mother died while she was not Muslim. And Allah knows best.

May Allah grant us success! May peace and blessings be upon our Prophet Muhammad, his family and Companions!

Fatwa no. 12232

Q: Your Eminence, I have a question related to the `Aqidah (creed) of Muslims. A debate took place between a Muslim and a Christian on their `Aqidah. One of the suspicions, which the Christian attached to Islam is that the Qur'an mentions that `Eisa (Jesus peace be upon him) ibn Maryam (Mary) gave the glad tidings of the coming of a messenger after him whose name is Ahmad, while the Muslims' Prophet is called Muhammad; hence this entails contradiction in the Muslims' Book. Your Eminence, how can you refute this argument to defend our lenient `Aqidah? May Allah protect you!

A: ahmad is one of the names of Prophet Muhammad (peace be upon him). He had many names.

May Allah grant us success! May peace and blessings be upon our Prophet Muhammad, his family and Companions!

The first question of Fatwa no. 19272

Q 1: We found a copy of a Mus-haf (Arabic Qur'an) in the first two pages of which were written the well-known Ninety-Nine Names of Allah; what is really peculiar is the last two pages, as they have ninety-nine names or attributes of the Prophet (peace be upon him) written on them and with the same style in which the well-known Names of Allah were written.

Is that permissible? Are there really ninety-nine name for the Prophet (peace be upon him)? The Mus-haf is printed in Pakistan. I hope you can clarify this point for me, and preferably in a message to the publishing house that prints this edition of the Qur'an, or even publishing it in a newspaper. We hope that you will answer us in this regard. Thank you.

A: Firstly, the Prophet (peace be upon him) has only five names mentioned in the authentic Hadith (I have five names: I am Muhammad, and I am Ahmad, and I am Al-Mahy (the Eraser) through whom Allah erases disbelief, and I am Al-Hashir (the Gatherer) after whom the people will be gathered (on the Day of Resurrection), and I am Al-`Aqib (i.e., the Last of the Prophets, there will be no prophet after me). Related by Al-Bukhari in his Sahih. Any names that are added to these five are unauthentic, or rather come under the attributes of the Prophet (peace be upon him) and not names. It is impermissible to ascribe certain names to the Prophet (peace be upon him) other than these five without an authentic Hadith.

Secondly, writing down the said names at the beginning or the end of the Mus-haf is impermissible, rather it is prescribed to omit any writings other than the Ayahs of the Qur'an, as was practiced by the Salaf (righteous predecessors) (may Allah be pleased with them) and to keep the Qur'an clean from any irrelevant additions.

The sixth question of Fatwa no. 16402

Q 6: In the story of Al-Isra' (night journey), it was narrated that the Messenger (peace be upon him) led the prophets in Salah (prayer); how did this take place while they were already dead?

A: his leading other prophets in Salah during Al-Isra' is authentically proven and we should believe in it. As to how they attended, it is of the knowledge of Ghayb (Unseen) that no one knows but Allah, and He is able to do all things.

The sixth question of Fatwa no. 17882

Q 6: It is said that when the Messenger (peace be upon him) spoke to Allah during Al-Isra' (Night Journey) and Mi`raj (Ascension to Heaven), he did so through an angel whom Allah inspired.

A: This is not correct, because the Prophet (peace be upon him) was taken to

(Part No. 2; Page No. 452)

Bait-ul-Maqdis (Jerusalem) then ascended to the heaven. Allah spoke to His Prophet Muhammad (peace be upon him) directly without a mediator and prescribed on him the performance of Salah (Prayer). The Prophet (peace be upon him) continued to ask His lord to reduce the number of Salahs until they were made five Salahs in number but equaling fifty in reward. Allah (Glorified and Exalted be He) states in Hadith Qudsy (Revelation from Allah in the Prophet's words): (I have carried on My Decree and I have reduced the burden on My Servants.) This Hadith is authentically reported from the Prophet (peace be upon him) and is even ranked as Mutawatir (a Hadith reported by a significant number of narrators throughout the chain of narration, whose agreement upon a lie is impossible). Allah (Praised be He) spoke to Musa (Moses, peace be upon him) truly and He did speak to Muhammad (peace be upon him) when he ascended to the heavens, and the Five Obligatory Daily Salahs were prescribed on him. He (Exalted be He) speaks when He wills, with Words the befit His Majesty and that is not similar to any quality of His creation just as He (Exalted be He) states: (There is nothing like Him; and He is the All-Hearer, the All-Seer.)

First question of Fatwa no. 19048

Q 1: I read in the book of Fatawa Shaykh-ul-Islam Imam Ibn Taymiyyah (may Allah be merciful with him) that whoever denies

one letter of the Qur'an is a Kafir (disbeliever). Thus they have to be advised to make Tawbah (repentance to Allah) and give up such denial or they are to be killed. What then is the ruling on a man who denies the incident of Isra' (Night Journey) and Mi'raj (ascension to Heaven) and brags in front of people saying that such an incident is impossible bearing in mind that Allah (Exalted be He) says: ﴿Say: "Was it at Allâh (عز وجل), and His Ayât (proofs, evidence, verses, lessons, signs, revelations) and His Messenger (صلى الله عليه وسلم) that you were mocking?"﴾

A: The incident of Isra' and Mi'raj is proven both in the Qur'an and Sunnah. Allah (Exalted be He) says: ﴿Glorified (and Exalted) be He (Allâh) [above all that (evil) they associate with Him] Who took His slave (Muhammad صلى الله عليه وسلم) for a journey by night from Al-Masjid-al-Harâm (at Makkah) to Al-Masjid-al-Aqsâ (in Jerusalem)﴾ On the other hand, there are some Hadith Mutawatir (Hadith reported by a significant number of narrators throughout the chain of narration, whose agreement upon a lie is impossible) to the effect that the Prophet (peace be upon him) was taken on the concerned journey by his soul and body while he was awake not asleep. Undoubted proofs were established for the truthfulness of Prophet Muhammad (peace be upon him) regarding what he said about the journey in question. Consequently, Muslims of Ahl-ul-Sunnah wal-Jama'ah (those adhering to the Sunnah and the Muslim main body) agreed on believing in Isra' and Mi'raj and all that they involved, while atheists and heretics did not. In addition, the Kafirs (disbelievers) denied Isra' and Mi'raj because of their arrogance and stubbornness. Allah (Exalted be He) says: ﴿They intend to put out the Light of Allâh (i.e. the Religion of Islâm, this Qur'ân, and the Prophet Muhammad صلى الله عليه وسلم) with their mouths. But Allâh will bring His Light to perfection even though the disbelievers hate (it).﴾ Whoever thus denies Isra' and Mi'raj disbelieves in what was revealed to Prophet Muhammad (peace be upon him) and denies what has been revealed to him. This is because denying Isra' and Mi'raj is tantamount to denying the Ayahs (Qur'anic verses) talking about them such as Allah's saying: ﴿Glorified (and Exalted) be He (Allâh) [above all that (evil) they associate with Him] Who took His slave (Muhammad صلى الله عليه وسلم) for a journey by night from Al-Masjid-al-Harâm (at Makkah) to Al-Masjid-al-Aqsâ (in Jerusalem), the neighbourhood whereof We have blessed﴾ and: ﴿And indeed he (Muhammad صلى الله عليه وسلم) saw him [Jibrîl (Gabriel)] at a second descent (i.e. another time).﴾ ﴿Near Sidrat-ul-Muntaha (a lote-tree of the utmost boundary over the seventh heaven beyond which none can pass).﴾ ﴿Near it is the Paradise of Abode.﴾ Since whoever denies one Ayah (Qur'anic verse), word, or letter of the Qur'an is considered a Kafir; whoever denies the incident of Isra' and Mi'raj is more deserving to be considered Kafir. This is also because denying the incident of Isra' and Mi'raj is tantamount to denying the obligation of performing the five daily Salahs (Prayers) which is plain Kufr (disbelief) that takes a person outside the fold of Islam. This is because Salah (Prayer) was made obligatory on both the Prophet and his Ummah (nation) without mediators during the journey in question. There are Mutawatir Hadiths (Hadith reported by a significant number of narrators throughout the chain of narration, whose agreement upon a lie is impossible) to that effect. Consequently, whoever denies Isra' and Mi'raj is undoubtedly a Kafir who goes out of the fold of Islam. May Allah protect us all! Allah (Exalted be He) says:

(Part No. 2; Page No. 455)

﴿Then do you believe in a part of the Scripture and reject the rest? Then what is the recompense of those who do so among you, except disgrace in the life of this world, and on the Day of Resurrection they shall be consigned to the most grievous torment.﴾

The second question of Fatwa no. 20845

Q 2: Your Honor, it is said that the prophets (peace be upon them) can hear and see after their death; is there any proof to support this claim? Could you kindly advise? May Allah reward you!

A: in general, the dead including the prophets (peace be upon them) cannot hear those who call upon them. They cannot respond to the caller or implement commands or prohibitions. This is confirmed by Allah in His statement: ﴿So verily, you (O Muhammad صلى الله عليه وسلم) cannot make the dead to hear (i.e. the disbelievers)﴾ As for what has been related in Sahih Al-Bukhari and Sahih Muslim about when the dead are placed in their graves, that the Prophet (peace be upon him) stated: ﴿He hears the sounds of their shoes when they depart from him,﴾ and what the Prophet (peace be upon him) said to the polytheists who were killed on the Battle of Badr when they were dragged and thrown in the graves of Badr, he said to them: ﴿Have you found what your Lord promised true?﴾ and: ﴿They now hear what I say.﴾ Also, the dead hearing the voices of the two angels when asked about his faith and his Prophet...etc. In all these cases, the dead hear in a special way; which only Allah knows of. It is not continuous hearing, but they hear in special conditions. Hearing in the grave is unlike hearing in the world; it is special for the conditions of the Barzakh (period between death and the Resurrection). None can know how it occurs but Allah and the living will not be affected by the dead; whether benefit or harm because none is able to do this except Allah. As for what is mentioned that the Prophet (peace be upon him) said: ﴿Whenever someone greets me, Allah returns the soul to my body (in the grave) and I return his greeting,﴾ it is a special gift for the Prophet (peace be upon him), and this does not mean that the Prophet (peace be upon him) can benefit or harm the living except by the reward which a person gets from Allah when they send their peace and blessings upon him. People should not call on the Prophet (peace be upon him) after his death as he was spoken to in his life, such as fulfilling the needs and resolving problems. The Companions (may Allah be pleased with them) did not ask anything from him because they knew that it was impossible.

May Allah grant us success! May peace and blessings be upon our Prophet Muhammad, his family and Companions!

The first question of Fatwa no. 20482

Q 1: The Khatibs (preachers) often describe the Prophet (peace be upon him) as "The One Lifting the Grief". Is it permissible to describe the Messenger of Allah (peace be upon him) as such?

A: it is permissible to describe the Prophet as "The One Lifting the Grief". Allah has saved people by him from Hell-fire and led them from the darkness of disbelief and polytheism to the belief in His Oneness. Describing His Prophet (peace be upon him), Allah (Glorified be He) says: ﴿Alif-Lâm-Râ. [These letters are one of the miracles of the Qur'ân, and none but Allâh (Alone) knows their meanings]. (This is) a Book which We have revealed unto you (O Muhammad صلى الله عليه وسلم) in order that you might lead mankind out of darkness (of disbelief and polytheism) into light (of belief in the Oneness of Allâh and Islâmic Monotheism) by their Lord's Leave to the Path of the All-Mighty, the Owner of all Praise.﴾ and: ﴿Indeed Allâh conferred a great favour on the believers when He sent among them a Messenger (Muhammad صلى الله عليه وسلم) from among themselves, reciting unto them His Verses (the Qur'ân), and purifying them (from sins by their following him), and instructing them (in) the Book (the Qur'ân) and Al-Hikmah [the wisdom and the Sunnah of the Prophet صلى الله عليه وسلم (i.e. his legal ways, statements, acts of worship)], while before that they had been in manifest error.﴾ However, "The One Lifting the Grief" does not mean that he (peace be upon him) removes distress. People must not seek his help instead of or along with Allah as this is regarded as major Shirk (associating others with Allah in His Divinity or worship), which Muslims should be aware of.

The Sahabah

(Part No. 2; Page No. 460)

The second question of Fatwa no. 19378

Q 2: Some people among us have deviant opinions and different creeds. These people revile some of the Companions of the Prophet (peace be upon him), abase them, and claim that some of them were dissolute. They even stay away from acting in accordance with their narrations (of the Hadiths). They also claim that the honorable Sahaby (Companion of the Prophet), Al-Mughirah ibn Shu`bah is one of those dissolute Sahabah, I seek refuge in Allah from this, as they say, may Allah curse them, that four of the Sahabah had testified that he committed Zina (premarital sexual intercourse and/or adultery) in front of `Umar (may Allah be pleased with him). This is some of their worst claims.

A: First: the Companions of the Messenger of Allah (peace be upon him) are the best of believers. Allah has praised them in many Ayahs (Qur'anic Verses) that are recited until the Day of Resurrection. These Ayahs include the saying of Allah (Exalted be He): ﴿And the foremost to embrace Islâm of the Muhâjirûn (those who migrated from Makkah to Al-Madinah) and the Ansâr (the citizens of Al-Madinah who helped and gave aid to the Muhâjirûn) and also those who followed them exactly (in Faith). Allâh is well-pleased with them as they are well-pleased with Him. He has prepared for them Gardens under which rivers flow (Paradise), to dwell therein forever. That is the supreme success.﴾ and:

﴿Muhammad (صلی الله علیه وسلم) is the Messenger of Allâh. And those who are with him are severe against disbelievers, and merciful among themselves. You see them bowing and falling down prostrate (in prayer), seeking Bounty from Allâh and (His) Good Pleasure. The mark of them (i.e. of their Faith) is on their faces (foreheads) from the traces of prostration (during prayers). This is their description in the Taurât (Torah). But their description in the Injeel (Gospel) is like a (sown) seed which sends forth its shoot, then makes it strong, and becomes thick and it stands straight on its stem, delighting the sowers, that He may enrage the disbelievers with them. Allâh has promised those among them who believe (i.e. all those who follow Islâmic Monotheism, the religion of Prophet Muhammad (صلی الله علیه وسلم) till the Day of Resurrection) and do righteous good deeds, forgiveness and a mighty reward (i.e. Paradise).﴾ The Messenger of Allah (peace be upon him) also praised them and bore witness that they are the best of all people when he said: ﴿The best people are those living in my generation, and then those who will follow them, and then those who will follow the latter.﴾ Agreed upon by Al-Bukhari and Muslim. It was also related by Muslim on the authority of `Aishah (may Allah be pleased with her) that she said: ﴿A person asked Allah's Messenger (peace be upon him) saying: Who are the best people? He said: The generation to which I belong, then the second generation (generation subsequent to my generation), then the third generation (generation subsequent to the second generation).)

Second: It is impermissible for a Muslim who believes in Allah and in the Day of Resurrection to curse any of them, for the Prophet (peace be upon him) said in the Hadith related by Al-Bukhari in his Sahih on the authority of Abu Sa'id (may Allah be pleased with him): (Do not revile my companions, for if one of you were to spend the equivalent of Uhud in gold, it would not amount to a mudd (a weight that equals a handful) of one of them, or even half of it.) It was also related by Muslim in his Sahih on the authority of Abu Hurayrah (may Allah be pleased with him) that the Messenger of Allah (peace be upon him) said: (Do not revile my companions, for by the One in Whose hand is my soul, if one of you were to spend the equivalent of Uhud in gold, it would not amount to a mudd (a weight that equals a handful) of one of them.)

Moreover, it has been reported that Ibn 'Umar (may Allah be pleased with them both) said: "Do not revile the Companions of Muhammad (peace be upon him) for an hour of their sitting (he means with the Messenger of Allah (peace be upon him)) is better than the deeds of any of you for forty years". In another narration related by Waki', the Prophet (peace be upon him) said: (is better than the deeds of any of you in their whole life).

Therefore, whoever curses any of the Sahabah (may Allah be pleased with them all) of the Messenger of Allah (peace be upon him) will be entitled to a serious punishment according to the consensus of Muslim scholars. However, they (Muslim scholars), disagreed on whether they should be sentenced to death or not.

Third: The Sahabah of the Messenger of Allah (peace be upon him) are all upright since Allah has rendered them so, praised them, and recommended them, in addition to His Messenger's recommendation to them, what a great recommendation! Al-Khatib Al-Baghdady (may Allah be merciful with him) said: Every Hadith whose chain of narrators has been connected to the Prophet (peace be upon him) is not to be put into action except after the confirmation of the uprightness of its narrators, for they should be considered, except for the Sahaby who reported it from the Messenger of Allah because the uprightness of the Sahabah is confirmed and recognized by Allah's Confirmation, and declaration of their purity as well as His Selection to them in the text of the Qur'an. Then he cited some Ayahs and Hadiths indicating their merits. Afterwards, he said: If Allah and His Messenger have not mentioned any of what we have said in their regard, it would suffice that they had practiced Hijrah (a believer's migration to an Islamic land), Jihad (fighting/striving in the Cause of Allah), provided support (to the Prophet), exerted money and effort, had their parents and children killed (for the sake of Allah), exchanged advice in religion, and had strong Iman (faith) and Yaqin (certainty) to approve their uprightness and virtuousness, so they are the best of all upright and recommended people and of those who would ever succeed them. It is also narrated on the authority of Abu-Zar'ah (may Allah be merciful to him) that he said: If you see a man slandering any of the Companions of the Messenger of Allah (peace be upon him), you should know that this man is disbeliever. The Messenger of Allah is true, the Qur'an is also true, and both were driven to us by the Companions of the Messenger of Allah

(peace be upon him). However, those (who do such act) want to transgress our witnesses (the Companions) to nullify the Book and the Sunnah. Thus, they are the ones who should be transgressed and they are the disbelievers.

Many scholars had reported the consensus on their uprightness, truth in addition to the credibility of their narrations, Praise be to Allah, such as, Al-Khatib Al-Baghdady, Ibn `Abdul-Barr, Ibn Al-Salah, Al-Nawawy, Ibn Kathir, Al-`Iraqy and Ibn Hajar Al-Sakhawy (may Allah be merciful to all of them).

Fourth: Ibn Taymiyah (may Allah be merciful to him) said in his book Al-`Aqidah Al-Wasatiyyah: "And of the fundamentals of Ahl-ul-Sunnah wal-Jama`ah is the soundness of their hearts and tongues towards the Companions of the Messenger of Allah (peace be upon him), as Allah has described them in His saying: ﴿And those who came after them say: "Our Lord! Forgive us and our brethren who have preceded us in Faith, and put not in our hearts any hatred against those who have believed. Our Lord! You are indeed full of kindness, Most Merciful.﴾ and to obey the Prophet (peace be upon him) in his saying: ﴿Do not revile my Companions...﴾ They should also accept whatever is mentioned in the Qur'an, Sunnah and by consensus with regard to their merits and ranks. He (Ibn Taymiyah) also added:

They should disavow the approach of Al-Rawafid (A deviant Islamic sect slandering the Companions and the wives of the Prophet), who hate the Sahabah and revile them. They should also hate the approach of Al-Nawasib (A deviant Islamic sect slandering `Aly ibn Abu-Talib and the family of the Prophet), who harm Ahl-ul-Bayt (members of the Prophet's extended Muslim family) with words or acts.

They should not comment on what had happened between the Sahabah, because all the stories related with regard to their disadvantages include some fabrication, either by addition, diminution or distortion.

As to the authentic narrations, they are excused in them, for they were Mujtahidun (Scholars qualified to exercise juristic effort to infer expert legal rulings); some of their acts were correct, and the others were not and their mistakes would be excused. However, Ahl-ul-sunnah wal-Jama`ah do not believe that all the Sahabah are infallible; rather they were subjected to committing sins, except that they had other merits and initiatives that entail forgiving their sins, if they committed any. They would be forgiven as much as those who succeed them, since their good deeds are much more than those of their successors. It is authentically proven that the Messenger of Allah (peace be upon him) witnessed for them to be the best of generations, and that the Mudd donated by any of them is better than the mount of Uhud weighed in gold donated by any of their successors. Moreover, if any of them committed sins, they would have repented of it, replaced them with good deeds, or being forgiven for their precedence, or by the intercession of Muhammad (peace be upon him), for they are the most entitled to it. In addition to this, if any of them was inflicted in the Worldly Life, this would be a Kaffarah (expiation) for their sins. Had this been the case with regard to the certain sins, what would be the case with regard to the things in which they practiced Ijtihad; where if they were right they would have double reward, and if they were not, they would be rewarded as well, and their mistakes would be forgiven. Besides, the size of their sins is incomparable to their merits and virtues such as their Iman in Allah and His Messenger, practicing Jihad (striving in the cause of Allah), offering Hijrah and providing support, having beneficial knowledge and virtuous deeds. Thus, whoever considers their history with knowledge and insight and sees what Allah has bestowed upon them of merits will know that they are the best people after the prophets, and that no one will ever resemble them, for they are the elite of the generations of this Ummah (nation), which is the best of all nations and the most honored by Allah."

Fifth: Based on what was previously mentioned, it is the duty of all Muslims to believe in the merits and grace of the Sahabah of the Messenger (peace be upon him) and their superiority over others, to love and supplicate for them, and mention them in a good manner. In addition, Muslims should love them and ward off whoever hates them or mentions them in a bad manner, for this is one of the essentials for sound Iman and Din (the religion of Islam). Imam Abu Ja`far Al-Tahawy (may Allah be merciful to him) said in clarifying the `Aqidah of Ahl-ul-Sunnah wal-Jama`ah: "And we love the Sahabah of the Messenger of Allah (peace be upon him) and never hate or disavow any of them. On the other hand, we hate whoever hates them, and mentions them badly, for we only mention them in a good manner. Loving them is one of the forms of Iman and Ihsan (the perfection of Faith), while hating them is an act of hypocrisy and oppression."

May Allah grant us success! May peace and blessings be upon our Prophet Muhammad, his family, and Companions!

The tenth question of Fatwa no. 20619

Q 10: one of the beliefs of Al-Zaydiyyah is that the caliphate was for Ali ibn Abu Talib (may Allah be pleased with him), but the Companions wronged him and usurped his right to the caliphate, and that the Messenger (peace be upon him) willed the caliphate for him after his death.

A: After the death of the Prophet (peace be upon him), the caliphate was the right of Abu Bakr then `Umar then `Uthman then `Aly (may Allah be pleased with them all) according to a general consensus of Muslim scholars. Whoever opposes the caliphate of any one of them goes against the beliefs of Ahl-ul-Sunnah wal-Jama`ah (those adhering to the Sunnah and the Muslim main body) from the Companions (may Allah be pleased with them), and their followers with good conduct.

The eighth question of Fatwa no. 17882

Q 8: It is claimed that islam was spread by the sword of `Ali and the wealth of Khadijah. Is this true?

A: Firstly, `Ali ibn Abu Talib (may Allah be pleased with him) fought in Jihad (striving in the Cause of Allah) with the Messenger of Allah (peace be upon him) and participated in all the battles except the Battle of Tabuk. The Sahabah (Companions of the Prophet - may Allah be pleased with them), other than `Ali, participated in Jihad as well, such as Abu Bakr, `Umar, `Uthman, Khalid ibn Al-Walid, and others.

Secondly, Khadijah (may Allah be pleased with her) was the first woman to embrace Islam. The Messenger (peace be upon him) held her in high esteem and she used to console him, relieve his distresses, and support him. Jibril (peace be upon him) revealed that the Lord of the worlds sent her greetings. Also, the Prophet (peace be upon him) gave her the glad tidings of having a house in Jannah (Paradise) where there will be neither disturbance nor fatigue. The claim that Islam spread by the wealth of Khadijah is false. Spending for the Cause of Allah was only prescribed after Hijrah (the Prophet's migration to Madinah) and Khadijah (may Allah be pleased with her) died before Hijrah. Examples of Muslims who gave their wealth in the Cause of Allah are Abu Bakr Al-Siddiq, `Umar, `Uthman ibn `Affan (may Allah be pleased with them) and other Sahabah from among the Muhajirun (Emigrants from Makkah to Madinah) and the Ansar (Helpers, inhabitants of Madinah who supported the Prophet) (may Allah be pleased with the Sahabah).

The second question of Fatwa no. 20530

Q 2: We heard a Hadith stating that people will enter paradise at a young age. However, it is always mentioned in Jumu`ah (Friday) Prayer that Fatimah, the daughter of our Prophet (peace be upon him), will lead women while Al-Hasan and Al-Hussein (may Allah be pleased with them) will lead the youth to Paradise. If this Hadith is true, does it not contradict the Ayah (Qur'anic verse) in Surah Al-`Imran that describes the status of Maryam? I believe that this Hadith was fabricated by the Shiites. What is your opinion, Your Eminence?

A: To show Maryam's status and her superiority over other women, Allah (Exalted be He) says: ﴿and (remember) when the angels said: "O Maryam (Mary)! Verily, allâh has chosen you, purified you (from polytheism and disbelief), and chosen you above the women of the 'alamîn (mankind and jinn) (of her lifetime).">﴾ In his book Al-Bidayah wa Al-Nihayah, Ibn Kathir (may Allah be merciful with him) said: The Ayah which reads: ﴿and chosen you above the women of the 'Alamîn (mankind and jinn) (of her lifetime).">﴾ implies women of her lifetime as when He said to Musa (Moses): ﴿I have chosen you above men﴾ and His saying about the children of Israel: ﴿And We chose them (the Children of Israel) above the 'Alamîn (mankind and jinn) [during the time of Mûsâ (Moses)] with knowledge﴾

It is well known that Ibrahim (Abraham peace be upon him) is better than Musa (Moses peace be upon him), and that Muhammad (peace be upon him) is better than both of them. Likewise, this Ummah (nation) is better than the previous nations. It is also more in number, better in knowledge and work than the children of Israel and others.

His saying: ﴿and chosen you above the women of the 'Alamîn (mankind and jinn) (of her lifetime).">﴾ might also imply women in general. Therefore, Maryam is the best of the women who were before and after her.

It was reported in the Sunnah what supports the second view; that Maryam is the best of women until the Day of Resurrection, and not only women of her lifetime, except for Fatimah (may Allah be pleased with her), the daughter of the Messenger of Allah (peace be upon him). On the authority of Anas ibn Malik (may Allah be pleased with him) that the Messenger of Allah (peace be upon him) said: ﴿Sufficient for you among the women of the world, Maryam bint `Imran, Khadijah bint Khuwaylid, Fatimah bint Muhammad and Aasiya, the wife of Pharoah.﴾ This Hadith was ranked as Sahih (authentic) by Al-Tirmidhy, Al-Hakim, and others. Al-Nasa'iy recorded with a Sahih Sanad (authentic chain of narrators) on the authority of Ibn `Abbas (may Allah be pleased with them both) that the Messenger of Allah (peace be upon him) said: \("The best of the women of Paradise are Khadijah Bint Khuwaylid, Fatimah bint Muhammad, Maryam bint `Imran, and Asiya bint Muzahim the wife of Pharoah." \).

In his book Al-Bidayah wa Al-Nihayah, Al-Hafiz Ibn Kathir said: Abu Al-Qasim Al-Baghawiy reported that Wahb ibn Munabbih reported that Khalid ibn `Abdullah Al-Wasiti narrated from Muhammad ibn `Amr from Abu Salamah on the authority of `Aishah that she asked Fatimah: "What made you cry and laugh when you drew to the Messenger of Allah (peace be upon him)? She replied: The first time, he disclosed to me that he would not recover from his illness and I wept. Then he told me that I would be the first of his family to join him and he gave me glad tidings that I am the best of the women of Paradise except Maryam bint `Imran, so I laughed." The meaning of this Hadith is related in Sahih Al-Bukhari and the chain of narration is according to the conditions of narration set by Muslim. This Hadith means that Maryam and Fatimah are the best of the four mentioned women. It is recorded by Al-Imam Ahmad that `Uthman ibn Muhammad related that Jarir related from Yazid ibn Abu Ziyad from `Abdul Rahman ibn Abu Na`am on the authority of Abu Sa`id that the Messenger of Allah (peace be upon him) said: \("Fatimah is the leader of the women of Paradise except for Maryam bint `Imran.) Its Sanad (chain of narrators) is Hasan (a Hadith whose chain of narration contains a narrator with weak exactitude, but is free from eccentricity or blemish). It is also ranked as Sahih (authentic) by Al-Tirmidhi and did not report it. There is another Hadith to the same effect which was narrated on the authority of `Aly ibn Abu Talib (may Allah be pleased with him) but it includes weakness in the chain of narration. This indicates that Maryam and Fatimah are the best of the four women. This might imply that Maryam is better than Fatimah or that both have the same rank. However, there is a Hadith that supports the first view. It is reported by Al-Hafiz Abu Al-Qasim ibn `Asakir that Abu Al-Hasan ibn Al-Fira' Abu Ghalib and Abu `Abdullah the two sons of Al-Banna reported that Abu Ja`far ibn Al-Maslamah reported that Abu Tahir Al-Mukhallis reported that Ahmad ibn Sulayman said that Al-Zubayr, Ibn Bakkar said that Muhammad ibn Al-Hasan said that `Abdul-`Aziz ibn Muhammad said that Musa ibn `Uqbah said that Kurayb reported on the authority of Ibn `Abbas that the Messenger of Allah (peace be upon him) said: \("The best of the women of Paradise are Maryam bint `Imran, then Fatimah, then Khadijah, then Asiya, the wife of Pharoah." \) In this Hadith, if the word "then" means "next", this points out one of the two possibilities indicated by exception; and it is to be given priority over the other wordings that included the coordinating conjunction "and" which neither implies nor negates sequential order. Allah knows best!

This Hadith Marfu` (a Hadith narrated from the Prophet with a connected or disconnected chain of narration) was narrated by Abu Hatim Al-Razy from Dawud Al-Ja`fary from `Abdul-`Aziz ibn Muhammad, Al-Darawardy from Ibrahim ibn `Uqbah from Kurayb on the authority of Ibn `Abbas using the conjunction "and" and not with "then" which implies sequential order. So, his Isnad and text was different. Allah knows best!

To sum up, Maryam (peace be upon her) is the best of all women according to the general meaning of the Ayah, except for Fatimah the daughter of the Messenger of Allah (peace be upon her). This might be because Maryam is better or that both enjoy the same status. May Allah grant us success!

May Allah grant us success! May peace and blessings be upon our Prophet Muhammad, his family, and Companions!

Issues related to the People of the Book

The second question of Fatwa no. 13167

Q 2: Can we believe in what we hear from Christians from what is mentioned in their Injil (Gospel)?

A: the Injil (Gospel) of today is not the same that Allah, may He be Glorified and Exalted, sent down. Many distortions, lies, additions, omissions, and blasphemous statements are included. Allah states this fact in the Qur'an in His statement, ﴿And verily, among them is a party who distort the Book with their tongues \(as they read\), so that you may think it is from the Book, but it is not from the Book, and they say: "This is from Allâh," but it is not from Allâh; and they speak a lie against Allâh while they know it.﴾ Furthermore, He, the Exalted, states ﴿Then woe to those who write the Book with their own hands and then say, "This is from Allâh," to purchase with it a little price! Woe to them for what their hands have written and woe to them for that they earn thereby.﴾ A Muslim should not read any of the Jewish or Christian books. The Prophet (peace be upon him) admonished `Umar when he saw him with a paper from the Tawrah (Torah), then the Prophet (peace be upon him) said, ﴿Are you confused about it \(Islam\), O Ibn Al-Khattab! By Him in Whose Hands is my soul, I have brought unto you

The fifth question of Fatwa no. 16953

Q 5: What is the evidence on the invalidity of the Christian `Aqidah (creed)?

A: All religions, whether Christianity or any other, should not be followed after the mission of the Prophet (peace be upon him); everyone should embrace Islam and follow Prophet Muhammad (peace be upon him), according to Allah's saying, ﴿Say (O Muhammad صلى الله عليه وسلم to mankind): "If you (really) love Allâh then follow me (i.e. accept Islâmic Monotheism, follow the Qur'ân and the Sunnah), Allâh will love you and forgive you your sins.﴾ He (Exalted be He) also says, ﴿Say (O Muhammad صلى الله عليه وسلم): "O mankind! Verily, I am sent to you all as the Messenger of Allâh - to Whom belongs the dominion of the heavens and the earth. Lâ ilâha illa Huwa (none has the right to be worshipped but He). It is He Who gives life and causes death. So believe in Allâh and His Messenger (Muhammad صلى الله عليه وسلم), the Prophet who can neither read nor write (i.e. Muhammad صلى الله عليه وسلم), who believes in Allâh and His Words [(this Qur'ân), the Taurât (Torah) and the Injeel (Gospel) and also Allâh's Word: "Be!" - and he was, i.e. 'Isâ (Jesus) son of Maryam (Mary), عليهما السلام], and follow him so that you may be guided.﴾ In addition, Christianity was distorted and beliefs of Shirk (associating others with Allah in His Divinity or worship) invaded it, such as believing that Jesus Christ is Allah's Son, Allah Himself, or the third Ilah (God). It is a false religion.

Punishment in the grave: Physical or psychological?

The fifth question of Fatwa no. 10719

Q 5: What is the punishment in the grave? Is it physical or spiritual? Does it afflict the body, the soul or both?

A: A person physically experiences the punishment in the grave, although the living people do not notice it. It is for both the body and the soul, as proven by the apparent textual meanings contained in the Qur'an and Sunnah. Allah (Exalted be He) says: [﴿The Fire, they are exposed to it, morning and afternoon. And on the Day when the Hour will be established \(it will be said to the angels\): "Cause Fir'aun's \(Pharaoh\) people to enter the severest torment!">﴿The Fire, they are exposed to it, morning and afternoon. The first question of Fatwa no. 11365

Q 1: What is the question asked to a dead person after being placed in the grave?

A: Hadiths ranked as Sahih (authentic) and Mutawatir (reported by a significant number of narrators throughout the chain of narration, whose agreement upon a lie is impossible) confirm that a dead person is questioned by two angels after burial about some of their beliefs. It is reported in the Sahih Books of Al-Bukhari,

Muslim and others, on the authority of Anas ibn Malik (may Allah be pleased with him) that the Messenger of Allah (peace be upon him) said: «When a human is laid in the grave and their companions leave, while they can still hear their footsteps, two angels come to them, make them sit and ask them, 'What did you used to say about this man, Muhammad \(peace be upon him\)?' A Mu'min \(believer\) will say, 'I testify that he is the Servant of Allah and His Messenger.' It will be said to them, 'Look at your place in Hellfire; Allah has given you a place in Paradise instead.' The dead person will see both their places.» Qatadah said: "It was mentioned to us that a Mu'min's grave is made spacious." He then continues the Hadith of Anas who said: «Whereas a hypocrite or a Kafir \(disbeliever\) will be asked, 'What did you used to say about this man?' They will reply, 'I do not know; I used to repeat what the people used to say.' It will be said to them, 'Neither did you know nor did you follow those who know.' They will be hit with iron hammers once; they will send such a cry that everything near them will hear it, except Jinn and mankind.»

It is also reported in the Two Sahih Books of Hadith (i.e. Al-Bukhari and Muslim), on the authority of Al-Bara' ibn `Azib (may Allah be pleased with him) that the Messenger of Allah (peace be upon him) said: «A Muslim when questioned in the grave, testifies that there is no god but Allah and that Muhammad is the Messenger of Allah. This is the Saying of Allah: «Allâh will keep firm those who believe, with the word that stands firm in this world, and in the Hereafter.»»

It is also reported in the Sahih Book of Muslim on the authority of Al-Bara' ibn `Azib that the Prophet (peace be upon him) said: "The Ayah (Qur'anic verse):

(Part No. 2; Page No. 479)

««Allâh will keep firm those who believe, with the word that stands firm in this world, and in the Hereafter»» was revealed about the punishment in the grave. A person is asked, 'Who is your Lord?' They reply, 'My Lord is Allah, and my Prophet is Muhammad (peace be upon him).' This is the Saying of Allah (Glorified and Exalted be He): «Allâh will keep firm those who believe, with the word that stands firm in this world, and in the Hereafter.»»

May Allah grant us success. May peace and blessings be upon our Prophet Muhammad, his family and Companions.

Q: The noble Messenger (peace be upon him) said: \(The grave is either a garden of Paradise or a pit of Hellfire.\) Whether the person is destined to enter Paradise or Hellfire, all we know is that the body decomposes in the earth and worms eat it. In the Hadith our noble Messenger (peace be upon him) stated that Allah forbade the earth to decompose the remains of Prophets. Is this regarding the Prophets only? If the person is destined to Paradise, does their body decompose in the grave, or does it remain and can enjoy the fragrance of Paradise? We hope you will explain this.

A: It is authentically reported that the Prophet (peace be upon him) said: \(When one of you dies, they are shown their place \(in the Hereafter\) morning and evening; if they are among the people of Paradise, they are \(shown their place\) among the people of Paradise; and if they are among the denizens of Hell, they are \(shown their place\) among the denizens of Hell, and it will be said to them, 'That is your abode until Allah raises you on

the Day of Resurrection.') (This is the wording of Al-Bukhari) It is one of the basic tenets of Ahl-ul-Sunnah wal-Jama`ah (adherents to the Sunnah and the Muslim mainstream) that bliss and punishment are experienced by the soul, and that the body undergoes the same during Barzakh (period between death and the Resurrection), also, that bliss and punishment are experienced by the person whether the body remains or decomposes. We do not know how this happens, because it is a matter that belongs to the realm of Ghayb (the Unseen) about which we know nothing. We just have to believe in this, based on the evidence from the Qur'an, the Sunnah (whatever is reported from the Prophet) and Ijma` (consensus of scholars).

People in Barzakh

Fatwa no. 18096

Q: Respected Shaykh, I would like Your Eminence to explain to me an issue that confuses me: It is authentically reported that when a human dies, their soul is taken to the heavens and shown its place, whether in Paradise or Hellfire, then it returns to the body and remains there till the Day of Judgment.

Also, it is authentically reported that during Isra' (Night Journey) and Mi`raj (Ascension to Heaven), the Messenger (peace be upon him) saw many people in Paradise and Hellfire. He (peace be upon him) even described what he had seen with his own eyes. How can we reconcile between all these Hadiths? May Allah reward you.

A: Basically, dead bodies are in the earth, whereas the souls in an abode, experiencing either bliss or punishment, yet they remain connected to the bodies.

What the Messenger of Allah (peace be upon him) saw is a Karamah (an extraordinary event caused by Allah for or through a pious person) with which Allah blessed him. Allah turned the souls into bodies for the Prophet to see Adam, Ibrahim (Abraham), Musa (Moses), and `Eisa (Jesus), peace be upon them all. Also, during Salat-ul-Kusuf (Prayer on a solar eclipse) he (peace be upon him) saw `Amr ibn Luhay `Amr ibn Luhay dragging his intestines in Hellfire and mentioned the story of the woman who imprisoned a cat till it died of hunger for which she was punished in Hellfire.

Reckoning on the Day of Resurrection

The six question of Fatwa no. 10719

Q 6: What will the reckoning on the Day of Resurrection be like? Will every Ummah (nation) be called to account using its own language, or what? What is the wisdom behind Resurrection, though it is well known that Allah is All-knowing of the affairs of His Creation?

A: Reckoning on the Day of Resurrection is for every person to know their good and bad deeds in worldly life by reading their own record of deeds, which they will receive either with the right or left hand, and acknowledge that there is nothing written in it that they have not done. Anyone who denies what is in the record of their deeds, their skin and organs will testify to what they have done. Allah (Exalted be He) says: ﴿On the Day when their tongues, their hands, and their legs (or feet) will bear witness against them as to what they used to do.﴾ And: ﴿This Day, We shall seal up their mouths, and their hands will speak to Us, and their legs will bear witness to what they used to earn.﴾ And: ﴿And (remember) the Day that the enemies of Allāh will be gathered to the Fire, then they will be driven [(to the Fire), former ones being withheld till their later ones will join them].﴾ ﴿Till, when they reach it (Hell-fire), their hearing (ears) and their eyes, and their skins will testify against them as to what they used to do.﴾ ﴿And they will say to their skins, "Why do you testify against us?" They will say: "Allāh has caused us to speak as He causes all things to speak: and He created you the first time, and to Him you are made to return."﴾ The wisdom behind the reckoning is:

The third question of Fatwa no. 16062

Q 3: Will a person be called to account for their inner thoughts?

A: Allah is Gracious and Merciful to His Servants. He, out of His Mercy, does not impose upon them what they cannot bear. No one will be called to account for their inner thoughts, based on the Hadith authentically reported on the authority of Abu Hurayrah (may Allah be pleased with him) that the Prophet (peace be upon him) said: \(Allah has forgiven my Ummah \(nation based on one creed\) whatever thoughts that occur to their minds, as long as they do not put them into action or utter them.\) In his book "Al-Musnad", Imam Ahmad said: `Affan told us that `Abdul-Rahman ibn Ibrahim told him that Al-`Ala' ibn `Abdul-Rahman told him on the authority of his father that Abu Hurayrah said: "When it was revealed to the Messenger of Allah (peace be upon him) the Ayah (Qur'anic verse) saying: \(To Allâh belongs all that is in the heavens and all that is on the earth, and whether you disclose what is in your own selves or conceal it, Allâh will call you to account for it. Then He forgives whom He wills and punishes whom He wills. And Allâh is Able to do all things\) the Sahabah (Companions of the Prophet) felt it hard. They came to the Messenger of Allah (peace be upon him), kneeled in front of him and said: "O Messenger of Allah! We were assigned deeds that we can perform, such as Salah (Prayer), Sawm (Fasting), Jihad (striving in the Cause of Allah) and Sadaqah (voluntary charity).

But we cannot bear this Ayah that was revealed to you." The Messenger of Allah (peace be upon him) said: \(Do you want to say as the people of the Book \(Jews and Christians\) said before you, 'We hear and disobey?' You should rather say, 'We hear and we obey; \(we seek\) Your forgiveness, our Lord! and unto You is the return.') When people acknowledged it and humbly recited it, Allah (Glorified and Exalted be He) revealed directly after it: \(The Messenger \(Muhammad صلى الله عليه وسلم\) believes in what has been sent down to him from his Lord, and \(so do\) the believers. Each one believes in Allâh, His Angels, His Books, and His Messengers. \(They say\), "We make no distinction between one another of His Messengers" - and they say, "We hear, and we obey. \(We seek\) Your Forgiveness, our Lord, and to You is the return \(of all\).") When they did, Allah (Blessed and Exalted be He) abrogated it and revealed instead: \(Allâh burdens not a person beyond his scope. He gets reward for that \(good\) which he has earned, and he is punished for that \(evil\) which he has earned. "Our Lord! Punish us not if we forget or fall into error.")

A: It is the shade of the `Arsh (Throne) of Allah, the Most Merciful (Blessed and Exalted be He). This explanation is based on the Hadith narrated by Salman (may Allah be pleased with him) in the Sunan (Hadith compilations classified by jurisprudential themes) of Sa`id ibn Mansur that states: \(Seven \(types of people\) whom Allah will shade with the Shade of His `Arsh...\) Al-Hafizh ibn Hajar (may Allah be merciful to him) ranked its Isnad (chain of narration) as Hasan (contains a narrator with weak exactitude, but is free from eccentricity or blemish); Al-Fath vol. 2, p.144.

Moreover, Al-Hafizh ibn Rajab (may Allah be merciful to him) said while concluding his explanation for the concerned Hadith mentioned in Sahih Al-Bukhari vol. 6, p. 51): Imam Ahmad and Al-Tirmidhy related this Hadith which Al-Tirmidhy ranked as Sahih (authentic) on the authority of Abu Hurayrah (may Allah be pleased with him) who narrated that the Prophet (peace be upon him) said: \(Anyone who gives respite to their debtor, or forgives the debt, will be in the shade of the `Arsh \(of Allah\) on the Day of Resurrection.\) This Hadith is another proof that the Shade of Allah refers to the Shade of His `Arsh.

Finally, Ibn Al-Qayyim (may Allah be merciful to him) mentioned the same explanation in his book Al-Wabil Al-Sayyib and at the end of his book Rawdat Al-Muhibbin.

Shafa`ah of the Prophet for serious sinners

The second question of Fatwa no. 11855

Q 2: I would like to ask about a Hadith which I heard, but I do not know whether it is Sahih (authentic), Hasan (good), or Mawdu` (fabricated). The Hadith says that the Prophet (peace be upon him) said: \(My Shafa`ah \(intercession\) will be for those among my Ummah who have committed major sins.\) May Allah reward you the best on behalf of us. As-salamu `alaykum warahmatullah wabarakatuh (May Allah's Peace, Mercy, and Blessings be upon you).

A: The Hadith mentioned above concerning the Prophet's Shafa`ah for the believers who have committed major sins is Sahih (authentic).

The fourth question of Fatwa no. 15920

Q 4: Do righteous people intercede on the Day of Resurrection, and for whom? How is the intercession carried out?

A: righteous people intercede, if Allah wills them to and if the ones interceded for are Muslims. Allah (Exalted be He) says: \(and they cannot intercede except for him with whom He is pleased.\) He (Exalted be He) also says: \(Who is he that can intercede with Him except with His Permission\)

Parents and children together in Paradise

Fatwa no. 12506

Q: Will we meet with our offspring in the Hereafter? I do hope so. Please clarify this for us and guide us to what is right. May Allah reward you.

A: Allah (Glorified and Exalted be He), out of His Grace and Generosity, has informed us that the offspring of believing parents will be elevated to their rank in Paradise, even if their deeds do not qualify them for such a higher rank. Allah (Glorified and Exalted be He) says: ﴿And those who believe and whose offspring follow them in Faith: to them shall We join their offspring, and We shall not decrease the reward of their deeds in anything. Every person is a pledge for that which he has earned.﴾ Ibn Kathir (may Allah be merciful to him) reported that Ibn `Abbas (may Allah be pleased with him and his father) said: "Indeed, Allah will raise the rank of a believer's offspring to join them, even if the offspring's deeds are less in order to please the believer." Then he recited the previous Ayah (Qur'anic verse).

May Allah grant us success. May peace and blessings be upon our Prophet Muhammad, his family, and Companions.

The first question of Fatwa no. 13958

Q 1: Allah (Exalted be He) stated, (And I (Allâh) created not the jinn and mankind except that they should worship Me (Alone).)

Allah's Messenger (peace be upon him) stated, ("All people will enter Paradise except those who refuse." Then it was asked, "O Messenger of Allah, who may ever refuse?" He said, "Whoever obeys me will enter Paradise, and whoever disobeys me will enter Hellfire.") We know that the Jinn and mankind worship Allah Who promised Paradise to those who worship Him. Then, why are not the Jinn mentioned here given that they worship Allah as well? We ask that Your Honor clarify this point substantiated by evidence.

A: The correct opinion is that the believing Jinn will enter Paradise. In this context, Allah (Exalted be He) said, (But for him who fears the standing before his Lord, there will be two Gardens (i.e. in Paradise).) Whoever meets this description by having firm faith and performing righteous deeds is a believer. Allah promised the believers to admit them into Paradise. He (Exalted be He) also stated, ("Verily those who believe (in the Oneness of Allâh - Islâmic Monotheism) and do righteous deeds, shall have the Gardens of Al-Firdaus (Paradise) for their entertainment.) He (Exalted be He) further stated, (O our people! Respond (with obedience) to Allâh's Caller (i.e. Allâh's Messenger Muhammad صلى الله عليه وسلم), and believe in him (i.e. believe in that which Muhammad صلى الله عليه وسلم has brought from Allâh and follow him). He (Allâh) will forgive you of your sins, and will save you from a painful torment (i.e. Hell-fire)) These verses indicate explicitly that those who respond to the call of their prophet and believe in Allah will be rewarded with forgiveness of their sins and salvation from punishment. Therefore, it is understood that they will enter Paradise, for there is nothing in the Hereafter except Paradise or Hell. So, those who will be saved from Hell will enter Paradise.

Fate of non-Muslim children

The first question of Fatwa no. 16466

Q 1: What is the ruling on non-Muslim children who die in childhood? Will they be admitted to Paradise or Hellfire?

A: The non-Muslim children in this world fall under the same ruling as their fathers; but as for the Hereafter, the correct scholarly opinions in this regard are two:

The first is that they will be put through the test of whether or not they will accept Islam. They will be called to embrace Islam; whoever accepts will be saved and admitted to Paradise, whereas those who refuse will dwell in Hellfire.

The second is that they will enter Paradise. It is related by Al-Bukhari in his Sahih on the authority of Samurah ibn Jundub that the Prophet (peace be upon him) saw them in a dream with Ibrahim (Abraham, peace be upon him) in a garden with the Muslim children. This is also because they died without committing any sins or being converted to Judaism, Christianity or Magianism. The Prophet (peace be upon him) said: «Every newborn is born in a state of Fitrah - \(according to another narration: born into no other than this religion\). Its parents then make it a Jew, a Christian or a Magian.» (Agreed upon by Al-Bukhari and Muslim) The knowledgeable scholar Ibn Al-Qayyim (may Allah be merciful to him) elaborated on this issue in the last part of Tariq Al-Hijratayn wa Bab Al-Sa`adatayn. Second question of Fatwa no. 20814

Q 2: Please clarify for us the authenticity and meaning of the following Hadith: On the authority of Abu Hurayrah (may Allah be pleased with him) who said: (A Bedouin came to the Prophet (peace be upon him). The Prophet asked him: 'Have you been afflicted by Um Maldam?' The Bedouin said: 'What is Um Maldam?' The Prophet answered: 'Hotness between skin and flesh i.e. fever.' The Bedouin replied: 'No.' The Prophet (peace be upon him) said: 'Have you ever had Sada`?' The Bedouin said: 'What is Sada`?' The Prophet (peace be upon him) said: 'Wind which gets in a person's head and harms the veins i.e. headache.' The man replied: 'No.' He (Abu Hurayrah) said: 'Who would like to see a man destined for Hell- fire" [i.e. the Bedouin].') This Hadith is related by Al-Bukhari in his book Al-Adab Al-Mufrad under the number 381 and it is declared as Sahih (authentic) by Al-Albani. However, Fu'ad `Abdul-Baqi commented on the Hadith: "It is not mentioned in any of the Six Hadith Compilers 'Al-Bukhari, Muslim, Abu Dawud, Al-Tirmidhi, Al-Nasa'i, and Ibn Majah'." My question is whether this Hadith means that whoever is not afflicted by these diseases will be amongst the dwellers of Hell-fire? Clarify the matter for us please. May Allah bless you.

A: This Hadith is not only related by Al-Bukhari in his book Al-Adab Al-Mufrad. Rather, it is related as well by Imam Ahmad in his book (Al-Musnad 'Hadith compilation' vol. 2 pp. 332-366), Al-Nasa'i in his Book (Al-Sunan Al-Kubra vol. 4 p. 749), Ibn Hibban in his (Sahih Book of Hadith vol. 7 p. 178 under the number 2916), Abu Ya`la in his book (Al-Musnad vol. 11 p. 432 under the number 6556), Al-Hakim in his book (Al-Mustadrak vol. 1 p. 347), Al-Bazzar in his book (Kashf-ul-Astar vol. 1 p. 369 under the number 369), and Hannad ibn Al-Sirry in his book (Al-Zuhd vol. 1 p. 246 under the number 426). The Hadith in question is classified as Sahih by Ibn Hibban. Moreover, Al-Hakim commented saying: "This Hadith is Sahih according to the criterion set by Imam Muslim though it is not related by him." Al-Haythami wrote in his book "Majma` Al-Zawa'id vol. 2 p. 294.": "Its Sanad 'chain of narrators' is Hasan 'good'."

After relating the Hadith in his Sahih Book of Hadith, Al-Hafizh Ibn Hibban explained: "The statement of the Prophet 'peace be upon him': (Let them who want to look at a man amongst the dwellers of Hell-fire look at this man.) is to reproach people who are proud of not being afflicted by diseases and those who are not patient when they become ill. It is worth mentioning that Allah (Glorified and Exalted be He) makes diseases, distresses, and sorrows that may afflict Muslims in this world a cause for their sins to be forgiven. The Hadith thus implies that people are not infallible and that whoever sins is subject to be punished in Hell-fire unless Allah forgives them. The Hadith signifies that diseases expiate some of a person's sins, but it does not state by any means that whoever is physically fit in this world will be punished in Hell-fire." Sheikh-ul-Islam Ibn Taymiyyah clarified reasons for which Allah pardons His believing servants saying: "When a believer commits a sin, he may be forgiven through ten means: Turning to Allah in Tawbah (repentance) which He accepts, for those whose Tawbah from a sin is accepted it is as if they had not sinned at all; making Istighfar (seeking forgiveness from Allah) so that Allah forgives them; performing good deeds that expiate bad ones; having believers offer Du`a' (supplication) and Istighfar on their behalf while they are living and after they pass away; having believers grant them the reward of some of their deeds so that Allah accepts their Shafa`ah 'intercession'; Allah accepting the Shafa`ah of His Prophet Muhammad 'peace be upon him' for them; Allah afflicting them with some calamities that expiate their sins; Allah sending upon them Sa`qah 'blast' during Barzakh (period between death and the Resurrection) so that their sins are expiated; Allah trying them by some of the terrors of the Day of Resurrection so that they are forgiven; or that Allah The Most Merciful grants them His mercy. Whoever is not entitled to receive any one of these reasons for forgiveness should blame no one but himself." (Majmu` Al-Fatawa vol. 10 p. 45).

In addition, it is stated by Al-Hafizh Ibn Rajab in his explanation of the Hadith which reads: \(Fever is a blow of Hell-fire, and when a believer has fever, this will expiate their portion of fire in the hereafter.\) "Thus the Hadith tells that fever is a blow of Hell-fire and that if a believer is afflicted by it, this expiates their portion of fire in the hereafter. This means, and Allah knows best, that when a believer is afflicted by fever in this world, it expiates their sins and purifies them until they meet with Allah on the Day of Resurrection sinless and deserving to dwell in Allah's Jannah (Paradise). This applies only to believers who have sincere faith in Allah and have only sins that can be expiated by fever. However, there are many Hadith Mutawatir (a Hadith reported by a significant number of narrators throughout the chain of narration, whose agreement upon a lie is impossible) to the effect that diseases and difficulties expiate sins...

The Prophet (peace be upon him) mentioned that not being afflicted by fever and headache is a sign that a person is subject to be punished in Hell-fire and visa versa. It is thus related in Musnad and Nasa'i on the authority of Abu Hurayrah that the Prophet (peace be upon him) said to a Bedouin: "Have you been afflicted by Um Maldam?..." The wording of the Hadith is thus not confusing. The Bedouin who is mentioned in the Hadith was subject to be punished in Hell-fire for committing sins which were not expiated in this world. This was a matter of Ghayb (the Unseen) about which Allah (Exalted be He) informed His Prophet (peace be upon him). And Allah knows best.

May Allah grant us success! May peace and blessings be upon our Prophet Muhammad, his family, and Companions!

Third question of Fatwa no. 18218

Q 3: Allah (Exalted be He) states in Surah (Qur'anic chapter) Hud regarding the dwellers of Hell-fire: (They will dwell therein for all the time that the heavens and the earth endure, except as your Lord wills. Verily, your Lord is the Doer of whatsoever He intends (or wills).) He (Exalted be He) then followed the Ayah (Qur'anic verse) by mentioning the dwellers of Jannah (Paradise): (abiding therein for all the time that the heavens and the earth endure, except as your Lord wills: a gift without an end.)

Would you please tell us what is meant by Allah's Will which is mentioned in the two Ayahs (Qur'anic verses)?

A: The phrase "as your Lord wills" in the two Ayahs does not mean that believers will not abide in Jannah forever, or that the Kafirs (disbelievers) will not abide in Hell-fire forever. However, the purpose of such a phrase is to confirm that the Will of Allah (Exalted be He) dominates in all cases without exception. This is why Allah (Exalted be He) concluded the first Ayah, which speaks about those who are wretched, stating: (Verily, your Lord is the Doer of whatsoever He intends (or wills).)

It is noteworthy that making Kafirs to abide eternally in Hell-fire and believers to abide eternally in Jannah is one example of Allah's doing whatsoever He wills. Thus, after mentioning the Will of Allah, He (Exalted be He) informs us regarding those who are blessed that they are given: (a gift without an end.) i.e. continuous and never-ending.

Another view is held to the effect that the phrase "as your Lord wills" is mentioned to signify that the disobedient amongst the believers in Tawhid (Oneness of Allah) will be taken from Hell-fire after entering it for sometime. They enter Hell-fire initially because they are wretched, but they are less evil than the Kafirs. However, those who are blessed will all have a lasting reward that will never end, and this is the meaning of eternity.

May Allah grant us success! May peace and blessings be upon our Prophet Muhammad, his family, and Companions!

Ahl-ul-Fatrah

The second question of Fatwa no. 16426

Q 2: is it correct that Ahl-ul-Fatrah (those to whom Da`wah has not reached in an uncorrupted manner) will be saved from Hell and that the parents of the Prophet (peace be upon him) were among them and will therefore be saved from Hell and enter Paradise? If this is not correct, how can we rebut this claim? What is the ruling of Islam on this claim? Please, advise!

A: Scholars held different opinions on Ahl-ul-Fatrah, and the preponderant opinion is that they will be tried on the Day of Resurrection; those who will respond to the order will be saved; and those who refuse will be doomed. This was authentically narrated on the authority of Al-Aswad ibn Sari` Al-Tamimi Al-Sa`di and others. Parents of the Prophet (peace be upon him) did not belong to Ahl-ul-Fatrah because the Arabs followed the faith of Ibrahim (peace be upon him), particularly the people in the lands of Hijaz. Later, Shirk (associating others with Allah in His Divinity or worship) reached them during the era of `Amr ibn Luhai Al-Khuza`i, but they were still practicing some rites of Ibrahim's faith, such as Hajj. For that reason, the Prophet's parents were not among Ahl-ul-Fatrah because this term refers to a people to whom the Da`wah of Allah's Messengers has not reached in an uncorrupted manner. It was authentically narrated that the Prophet (peace be upon him) replied to a man who asked him about the fate of his father, saying, \(My father and yours are both in Fire.\) Related by Muslim in his Sahih (authentic) Book of Hadith. It was authentically narrated that the Prophet (peace be upon him) asked the permission of Allah to visit his mother's grave, and he was granted it. He again asked permission to ask forgiveness for her, but it was not given to him. Allah (Glorified and Exalted be He) states, \(It is not \(proper\) for the Prophet and those who believe to ask Allāh's Forgiveness for the Mushrikūn \(polytheists, idolaters, pagans, disbelievers in the Oneness of Allāh\), even though they be of kin, after it has become clear to them that they are the dwellers of the Fire \(because they died in a state of disbelief\).\) This Ayah (Qur'anic verse) was revealed regarding Abu Talib and others who died in the state of Shirk after the start of Da`wah (the call to Islam).

May Allah grant us success! May peace and blessings be upon our Prophet Muhammad, his family and Companions!

Belief in the Divine Decree and Predestination

Fatwa no. 14657

Praise be to Allah, Alone. Peace and blessings be upon the Last Prophet.

The Permanent Committee for Scholarly Research and Ifta' has read the query submitted to His Eminence the General Mufty by His Excellency Secretary General of the Chamber of Commerce and Industry in Jeddah, and referred to the Committee by the Secretariat General of the Council of Senior Scholars. The query number is 1139 and dated 9/3/1411 A.H. The questioner asked the following question:

The Chamber of Commerce and Industry in the Kingdom plays a constructive role and exerts efforts in settling many commercial issues and problems through reconciling between the disputing parties without resorting to the judicial authorities. The Chamber undertakes this task based on the great principle of the Shari`ah, namely, 'reconciliation is best,' and for the purpose of sparing the judiciary some of the large number of issues submitted to them. The Chamber also seeks to maintain the trade relations among national businessmen or among them and other businessmen abroad based on friendliness and mutual consent.

Accidents sometimes cause financial losses or psychological harm to others. These incidents might take place deliberately or out of negligence. They may be done due to unknown reasons or due to reasons that man has no connection to or expects such as the foundering of a ship, the breaking out of fire in a storehouse of gas cylinders and storms, or heavy rains that damage the goods.

When similar accidents are referred to the Chamber or some authorities seeking their consultation, the reports made contain a phrase signifying that the accident took place according to the Divine Decree and Predestination. They write it considering that the Divine Will is above everything.

We would like, Your Eminence, to give us a clear answer to be a Shar`y evidence on writing the phrase stating that the accident happened according to the Divine Decree and Predestination, particularly that some people contested it. Should this phrase be used only with matters that man has no control over? Can it be used with all cases along with mentioning the apparent reason afterwards?

We appreciate your Eminence's enthusiasm for the cause of Islam and ask Allah (Glorified and Exalted be He) to reward you with the best.

As-salamu `alaykum warahmatullah wabarakatuh (May Allah's Peace, Mercy, and Blessings be upon you!)

After the Committee studied the query, it gave the following answer:

Everything happens according to the Divine Decree and Predestination, as Allah (Glorified be He) says, ﴿Verily, We have created all things with Qadar (Divine Preordainments of all things before their creation as written in the Book of Decrees Al-Lauh Al-Mahfûz).﴾

(Part No. 2; Page No. 503)

Also, the Prophet (peace be upon him) said, ﴿Every thing is decreed, even incapability and ability.﴾ Related by Muslim in his Sahih (authentic) Book of Hadith. Thus, there will be no blame if the reports contain a phrase signifying that a particular accident happened according to the Divine Decree and Predestination along with clarifying the direct reason, be it a human reason or any other reason. May Allah grant us success! May peace and blessings of Allah be upon our Prophet Muhammad, his family and Companions!

The fourth question of Fatwa no. 17882

Q4: If a person dies in an accident, is this his fate? Suppose a person was predestined to live seventy years, then had an accident and died at the age of thirty. Can this be considered his fate, or is this outside his fate? If this is his fate, why must the killer pay Diyah (blood money), or receive Had (ordained punishment for violating Allah's Law) in case of premeditated murder? If it is his fate, the person may kill anyone and if asked why they killed, they will say, it was the person's fate to die and all they mean is to relieve him of suffering the agonies of death.

A: a Muslim must believe in predestination. Whatever Allah wills happens, and all that He does not will, does not happen. Allah created all things, knew, predestined and willed everything. Man's fate in life has stages:

First: Fate is recorded in Al-Lawh Al-Mahfoudh (the preserved tablet).

Second: It is recorded in the phase of breathing the soul into the fetus during pregnancy.

Third: It is recorded on Laylat-ul-Qadr (the Night of Decree) and it conforms with what is recorded in Al-Lawh Al-Mahfoudh (the preserved tablet). The teacher's saying that a person's death in an accident contradicts predestination is wrong. That the person is killed whether intentionally or unintentionally does not mean his death contradicts predestination. It is Allah (Glory be to Him) Who predestined everything, whether murder or death, as Allah (Glorified be He) stated: ﴿No calamity befalls on the earth or in yourselves but it is inscribed in the Book of Decrees \(Al-Lauh Al-Mahfûz\) before We bring it into existence.﴾ and: ﴿Verily, We have created all things with Qadar \(Divine Preordainments of all things before their creation as written in the Book of Decrees Al-Lauh Al-Mahfûz\).﴾ and: ﴿Know you not that Allâh knows all that is in the heaven and on the earth? Verily, it is \(all\) in the Book \(Al-Lauh-al-Mahfûz\). Verily that is easy for Allâh.﴾

Also in the Two Sahih (authentic) Books of Hadith (i.e. Al-Bukhari and Muslim) it is reported from Ibn Mas'ud (may Allah be pleased with him) from the Prophet (peace be upon him) that he stated: ﴿A fetus's livelihood, death, deeds, fortune and misfortune are written down while in his mother's womb,﴾ and in Sahih Muslim from `Abdullah ibn `Amr ibn Al-`As (may Allah be pleased with them) from the Prophet (peace be upon him) that he said: ﴿Allah had ordained the measures \(of quality\) of the creation fifty thousand years before He created the heavens and the earth, as His Throne was upon water.﴾

The Ayahs (Qur'anic Verses) and Hadiths about fate are many, and the scholars of Ahl-ul-Sunnah wal-Jama'ah (those adhering to the Sunnah and the Muslim main body) agreed upon this. Only Mu'tazilites and Al-Rafidah, may Allah treat them with what they deserve, contradict this.

May Allah grant us success! May peace and blessings be upon our Prophet Muhammad, his family, and Companions!

The first question of Fatwa no. 19359

Q 1: Some women claim that they work to secure their future and that of their children in case they are divorced or become widowed, as none knows what the future holds in store for them. Does this negate a Muslim's belief in Divine Decree and Predestination?

A: a Muslim believes in Divine Decree and Predestination. They believe that Allah has recorded their sustenance when the soul was first breathed into them in their mothers' wombs and that this sustenance will surely come to them. It is reported on the authority of `Abdullah ibn Mas`ud (may Allah be pleased with him) who narrated that the Messenger of Allah (peace be upon him) stated, \("Indeed, humans are formed in the wombs of their mothers..." up till "Then Allah sends an angel who is ordered to record four things. He is ordered to record their \(i.e. the new creature's\) deeds, their term of life \(in this world\), their sustenance and whether they will be miserable or happy...") It is also related on the authority of Jabir ibn `Abdullah (may Allah be pleased with them both) who narrated that the Messenger of Allah (peace be upon him) said, \("O people! Fear Allah and be reasonable in seeking sustenance, for none will die before receiving their full sustenance, even if it is late. So fear Allah and be reasonable in seeking sustenance. Take that which is lawful and abstain from that which is unlawful."\) (Related by Ibn Majah in his "Sunan" book of Hadith, vol. 2, p. 725; and by Ibn Hibban in his "Sahih")

This belief does not contradict a Muslim's seeking livelihood and adopting the lawful means in their quest. However, a Muslim should not fully depend on them, but should sincerely believe that Allah Alone is the Provider of sustenance, Bestower of benefits and Protector from harm (Glorified be He).

People who claim they are securing their future and the future of their children are exceeding the proper limits by depending on themselves, their positions, and on the material world.

It is the duty of a Muslim to abstain from making these statements that negate their full reliance on Allah, hope from Him, and fear of Him. A Muslim should turn to Allah and supplicate to Him during adversity as well as prosperity, while adopting the lawful means of earning a living as the Messenger of Allah (peace be upon him) has commanded us.

May Allah grant us success! May peace and blessings be upon our Prophet Muhammad, his family, and Companions!

The first question of Fatwa no. 20109

Q 1: I was afflicted with a disease a year or more ago. Before that time, I was living with my family in our village, but I moved to Cairo, the capital where I work as an elementary school teacher. I was afflicted with typhoid fever and since my work provides health insurance, I was hospitalized. However, I did not receive the proper care and suffered as a result from a clot in my left leg. Later, my family members came to Cairo and accompanied me back to our village. Most of my fellow villagers received me saying that

I brought this upon myself and had I stayed home and not moved to Cairo, nothing would have happened to me. Now I am confused although I believe in Allah's Divine Decree and Predestination. Please clarify this matter for me. is it true that a person can bring harm upon themselves by doing a certain act, or is it their predestination? How can I answer those who claim I was the cause of what befell me?

A: This is Allah's Divine Decree and Predestination and you should endure and never become impatient, for these diseases and afflictions are for the benefit of a believer. It is confirmed that the Prophet (peace be upon him) said, "Amazing is the disposition of believers; for there is good for them in every affair; and this is not the case with anyone except a believer. If something good happens to them, they thank \(Allah\), thus there is good in it for them; and if they suffer an affliction, they endure patiently, and there is good in it for them." (Related by Muslim)

The Prophet (peace be upon him) also stated, "No disease, nor fatigue, nor affliction, nor grief, nor hurt, nor anguish befalls a Muslim, or even a prick from a thorn, without Allah expiating some of their sins for it." (Related by Al-Bukhari and Muslim).

Moreover, you have to seek the lawful means of treatment, while maintaining your relationship with Allah, mentioning Him often and turning to Him. May Allah grant you well-being and compensate you for your affliction.

May Allah grant us success! May peace and blessings be upon our Prophet Muhammad, his family, and Companions!

The first question of Fatwa no. 18959

Q 1: The Prophet (peace be upon him) answered Jibril (Gabriel, peace be upon him) when he asked about Iman (Faith) stating, ("Iman is to believe in Allah... and to believe in Predestination, whether it is good or bad.") (Related by Muslim). It is also reported in the Two Sahih (authentic) Books of Hadith (i.e. Al-Bukhari and Muslim) that the Prophet (peace be upon him) stated, ("Adam and Musa (peace be upon them) argued one another (in another narration 'There was an argument between Adam and Musa'). Musa said, 'O Adam! You are our father. You disappointed us and turned us out of Paradise.' Adam said to him: 'You are Musa. Allah favored you with His Speech (by talking directly to you) and wrote the Tawrah (Torah) for you with His own Hand. Do you blame me for something which Allah had ordained for me forty years before creating me?' This is how Adam confuted Musa, this is how Adam confuted Musa, this is how Adam confuted Musa.") In another narration by Imam Ahmad, he (peace be upon him) stated, "Adam confuted him."

How can we reconcile between, ("...and to believe in Predestination, whether it is good or bad,") and, ("You are our father. You disappointed us and turned us out of Paradise") and Adam mentioning Predestination when he said, ("Do you blame me for something which Allah had ordained for me forty years before creating me?") ?

The apparent meaning of the Hadith shows Musa's disbelief in Allah's Predestination and this is impossible. Please clarify the matter, and may Allah bless you!

A: Musa (peace be upon him) blamed Adam (peace be upon him) for the affliction that befell him and his offspring; which is driving them out of Paradise due to his sin. Musa did not blame Adam for committing the sin because Adam had performed Tawbah (repentance to Allah) and anyone who performs Tawbah is as pure as one who has not committed a sin. So Adam referred this affliction to Allah's Predestination which had taken place prior to the affliction. referring to Predestination as the reason for afflictions is permissible to prevent people from showing impatience and discontent. Allah (Exalted be He) states: (No calamity befalls on the earth or in yourselves but it is inscribed in the Book of Decrees (Al-Lauh Al-Mahfûz) before We bring it into existence. Verily, that is easy for Allâh.) (In order that you may not grieve at the things that you fail to get, nor rejoice over that which has been given to you.) Allah also states: (No calamity befalls, but by the Leave [i.e. Decision and Qadar (Divine Preordainments)] of Allâh, and whosoever believes in Allâh, He guides his heart [to the true Faith with certainty, i.e. what has befallen him was already written for him by Allâh from the Qadar (Divine Preordainments)].) `Alqamah said, "It refers to a Muslim who knows that the affliction that has befallen them is from Allah. So they are content and they submit themselves to Allah." The Prophet (peace be upon him) stated, ("Cherish that which benefits you (in the Hereafter), seek help from Allah, do not lose heart, and if anything afflicts you, do not say, 'If only I had done that it would have been this or that,' but say, 'Allah did that which He had ordained', because saying 'if' opens the (gate) for Satan's work.") (Related by Muslim in his "Sahih" book of authentic Hadith).

May Allah grant us success! May peace and blessings be upon our Prophet Muhammad, his family, and Companions!

Fatwa no. 17796

Q: Allah (Exalted be He) says: ﴿ "Say (O Muhammad peace be upon him): "I find not in that which has been revealed to me anything forbidden to be eaten by one who wishes to eat it..." unless it be Maitah (a dead animal) or blood poured forth (by slaughtering or the like), or the flesh of swine (pork); for that surely is impure or impious (unlawful) meat (of an animal) which is slaughtered as a sacrifice for others than Allâh (or has been slaughtered for idols, or on which Allâh's Name has not been mentioned while slaughtering)...﴾ This Ayah (Qur'anic verse) emphasizes that the only animal whose meat is forbidden to be eaten is the swine as this is repeated in many other Qur'anic Ayahs. However, there is a Hadith which states: ﴿Allah has prohibited the eating of all fanged beasts, all the birds having talons and domestic asses' meat.﴾ Is there a contradiction between what is mentioned in the Qur'an and this Hadith (if it is Sahih [authentic]), as Qur'anic Ayahs can only be abrogated by another Ayah and as I know this Ayah is not abrogated -Allah knows best? I hope Your Honor would clarify this matter for us. May Allah guide and reward you!

A: There is no contradiction between the Ayah and the Hadith, for the Hadith mentions more prohibited things that the sacred Ayah does not mention. Allah (Exalted be He) states: ﴿And whatsoever the Messenger (Muhammad صلى الله عليه وسلم) gives you, take it; and whatsoever he forbids you, abstain (from it).﴾

(Part No. 3; Page No. 7)

In another Ayah, He (Exalted be He) states: ﴿he allows them as lawful At-Tayyibât (i.e. all good and lawful as regards things, deeds, beliefs, persons, foods), and prohibits them as unlawful Al-Khabâ'ith (i.e. all evil and unlawful as regards things, deeds, beliefs, persons and foods)﴾ This is also not because of Naskh (abrogation) as you thought; rather, for clarification of the rulings that are not mentioned in the Qur'an.

The First and second questions of Fatwa no. 16492

Q 1: some people claim that there is a historical side to the revelation of the Qur'anic texts, i.e., the Ayahs (Qur'anic verses) were revealed in certain situations and came to an end by the end of these situations; therefore, it is not permissible to apply Qiyas (analogy) to them. If this is correct, what about Ayat-ul-Ahkam (Qur'anic verses containing legal rulings)? What is the ruling on those who make this allegation?

A: The Nas (Islamic text from the Qur'an or the Sunnah) and the Shari'ah rulings are general for all people and all problems till the Day of Resurrection, for Allah (Exalted be He) states with regard to the Qur'an: ﴿that I may therewith warn you and whomsoever it may reach.﴾ He (Exalted be He) also states:

(Part No. 3; Page No. 8)

﴿Say \(O Muhammad صلى الله عليه وسلم\): "O mankind! Verily, I am sent to you all as the Messenger of Allāh﴾ and: ﴿This \(Qur'an\) is a Message for mankind \(and a clear proof against them\), in order that they may be warned thereby, and that they may know that He is the only One Ilāh \(God - Allāh\) - \(none has the right to be worshipped but Allāh\) - and that men of understanding may take heed.﴾

This is an address to all people till the Day of Resurrection, for the Prophet (peace be upon him) stated: ﴿I am leaving you that which if you stick to you will not go astray: The Book of Allah and my Sunnah.﴾ There are so many other evidences. Accordingly, whoever restricts the Shari'ah to the past is considered Kafir (disbeliever) and Murtad (apostate).

Q 2: Some people claim that everyone is entitled to interpret the Ayahs (verses) of the Qur'an according to their understanding and according to the context. They claim that the text is sacred, but understanding it is not sacred. For example, Ayat-ul-Kursi (the Qur'anic Verse of Allah's Throne, Surah Al-Baqarah, 2:255) and the Ayahs that speak about the Throne and the Hand of Allah. If this claim is false, who is entitled to interpret the Qur'an, and what is the extent of the sacredness of such interpretation?

We ask that you give us the Tafsir (explanation/exegesis of the meanings of the Qur'an) for this Ayah of Surah Al-`Imran,

(Part No. 3; Page No. 9)

(it is He Who has sent down to you (Muhammad peace be upon him) the Book (this Qur'an). in it are Verses that are entirely clear, they are the foundations of the Book [and those are the Verses of Al-Ahkâm (commandments), Al-Fara'id (obligatory duties) and Al-Hudud (legal laws for the punishment of thieves, adulterers)]; and others not entirely clear. So as for those in whose hearts there is a deviation (from the truth) they follow that which is not entirely clear thereof, seeking Al-Fitnah (polytheism and trials), and seeking for its hidden meanings, but none knows its hidden meanings except Allâh. And those who are firmly grounded in knowledge say: "We believe in it; the whole of it (clear and unclear Verses) are from our Lord." And none receive admonition except men of understanding.)

We hope you will clarify for us what is meant by Mutashabihat "Verses that are allegorical," and Muhkamat "Ayahs that are decisively clear"? Who are "the firmly grounded in knowledge" whom Allah entrusts with interpreting it and guides them to do this?

A: It is not permissible to give Tafsir, except for the scholars who are knowledgeable in Tafsir. It is not permissible to give tafsir of the Qur'an based on ignorance and whims. The Prophet (peace be upon him) said, (Whoever interprets the Qur'an without knowledge, let him assume his seat in Hellfire.) Reported by Al-Tirmidhi. Only the scholars can comprehend these texts, and no one should depend on their own understanding while they lack the required knowledge, as this would be saying things about Allah without knowledge, which Allah regards as more grievous than Shirk (associating others with Allah in His Divinity or worship). Allah (Exalted be He) says, (Say (O Muhammad صلى الله عليه وسلم): "(But) the things that my Lord has indeed forbidden are Al-Fawâhish (great evil sins and every kind of unlawful sexual intercourse) whether committed openly or secretly, sins (of all kinds), unrighteous oppression, joining partners (in worship) with Allâh for which He has given no authority, and saying things about Allâh of which you have no knowledge.")

(Part No. 3; Page No. 10)

As for Ayat-ul-Kursy and the Ayahs that speak about the Throne and the Hand, these are considered of the matter of `Aqidah (creed) that accept no Ijtihad (juristic effort to infer expert legal rulings); rather, they are to be confirmed as they are without interpretation. The Mutashabihat are the general and absolute Ayahs, while the Muhkamat are those that explain in detail and specify them. As for "the firmly grounded in knowledge," they are scholars who are specialists in Shari`ah and in understanding the Nas (Islamic text from the Qur'an or the Sunnah).

Q: How do we reconcile the Hadith that states: Difference (of opinions) is a mercy (for the nation), and the Ayah that declares: (and do not dispute (with one another) lest you lose courage and your strength departs) However, I am not aware of the degree of the Hadith in terms of authenticity. May Allah reward you.

A: The Hadith is not Sahih (authentic). Differences of opinion are a trial and a test from Allah to His servants, not a mercy at all. Allah (Glorified and Exalted be He) states: (And He it is Who has created the heavens and the earth in six Days and His Throne was on the water, that He might try you, which of you is the best in deeds.)

(Part No. 3; Page No. 11)

Allah also states: (Verily! We have made that which is on earth as an adornment for it, in order that We may test them (mankind) as to which of them are best in deeds. [i.e. those who do good deeds in the most perfect manner, that means to do them (deeds) totally for Allâh's sake and in accordance to the legal ways of the Prophet صلى الله عليه وسلم].) Whoever exerts himself to reach the truth regarding debatable juristic matters and is scholarly and insightfully qualified to exercising Ijtihad (juristic effort to infer expert legal rulings) then arrives at the truth shall receive a double reward, but if the opinion is incorrect, then only one reward is received. However, whoever debates matters without knowledge following their desires is sinful and will not be rewarded. Thus, the proofs of the Qur'an, the Sunnah, and the juristic views are reconciled. Allah (Exalted be He) states: (but they will not cease to disagree.) (Except him on whom your Lord has bestowed His Mercy (the follower of truth)) The Prophet (peace be upon him) stated: (If a judge gives a verdict according to the best of his knowledge and his verdict is correct (i.e. agrees with Allah and His Apostle's verdict), he will receive a double reward, and if he gives a verdict according to the best of his knowledge and his verdict is wrong, (i.e. against that of Allah and His Apostle) even then he will get a reward.) (Agreed upon by Al-Bukhari and Muslim).

Fatwa no. 21069

Q: In our working field there is a department for teaching a set of subjects, such as military history, geography, management, research methods, etc.

This department is called the humanities department. Among the subjects taught are the Glorious Qur'an and Islamic culture. Is it permissible to include the Glorious Qur'an, which is the Divine Knowledge, as a subject among the courses of sciences of Humanities? I hope that you will enlighten us concerning this, may Allah reward you with the best reward.

A: The Noble Qur'an is the actual Word of Allah revealed to His Messenger Muhammad (peace be upon him) for the guidance of people to their Lord (Glorified be He). Allah (Exalted be He) said, ﴿Alif-Lâm-Râ. [These letters are one of the miracles of the Qur'ân, and none but Allâh (Alone) knows their meanings]. (This is) a Book which We have revealed unto you (O Muhammad صلى الله عليه وسلم) in order that you might lead mankind out of darkness (of disbelief and polytheism) into light (of belief in the Oneness of Allâh and Islâmic Monotheism) by their Lord's Leave to the Path of the All-Mighty, the Owner of all Praise.﴾ The Glorious Qur'an is from the knowledge of Allah which He bestows and teaches to His worshippers. This view is substantiated by one of the two interpretations of the following verse, ﴿But Allâh bears witness to that which He has sent down (the Qur'ân) unto you (O Muhammad صلى الله عليه وسلم); He has sent it down with His Knowledge﴾ This verse means that the Qur'an includes Divine Knowledge, Shari'ah rulings and foreseen information which are from Allah's Knowledge that He informed His worshippers of.

Consequently, it is not allowable to include the Qur'an within the sciences of Humanities; for this gives the sense that the Noble Qur'an is from the work of humans, which entails putting it on equal footing with other secular sciences.

May Allah grant us success! May peace and blessings be upon our Prophet, his family and Companions!

claiming that The Qur'an was created

The first question of Fatwa no. 11864

Q 1: Some people say the Qur'an was created while others say that it is the Word of Allah. Two Muslim scholars differed concerning this issue; one of them argued that it is created while the other holds that it is the Word of Allah. I was not convinced with what I found in the book entitled Al-Haydah; would you kindly elaborate?

A: The Qur'an is the Word of Allah with its letters and meaning and it is not a creature. From Him it began and to Him it shall return. Allah (Exalted be He) stated: ﴿That (this) is indeed an honourable recitation (the Noble Qur'ân).﴾ ﴿In a Book well-guarded (with Allâh in the heaven i.e. Al-Lauh Al-Mahfûz).﴾ ﴿Which (that Book with Allâh) none can touch but the purified (i.e. the angels).﴾ ﴿A Revelation (this Qur'ân) from the Lord of the 'Alamîn (mankind, jinn and all that exists).﴾ and He also stated: ﴿Alif-Lâm-Mîm. [These letters are one of the miracles of the Qur'ân, and none but Allâh (Alone) knows their meanings].﴾ ﴿The revelation of the Book (this Qur'ân) in which there is no doubt is from the Lord of the 'Alamîn (mankind, jinn and all that exists)!﴾ Moreover, Allah (Exalted be He) states: ﴿And truly, this (the Qur'ân) is a revelation from the Lord of the 'Alamîn (mankind, jinn and all that exists),﴾ ﴿Which the trustworthy Rûh [Jibrîl (Gabriel)] has brought down﴾ ﴿Upon your heart (O Muhammad صلى الله عليه وسلم) that you may be (one) of the warners,﴾ ﴿In the plain Arabic language.﴾ and: ﴿And if anyone of the Mushrikûn (polytheists, idolaters, pagans, disbelievers in the Oneness of Allâh) seeks your protection, then grant him protection so that he may hear the Word of Allâh (the Qur'ân)﴾ The Prophet (peace be upon him) would have them listen to the Qur'an.

The first question of Fatwa no. 17521

Q 1: Imam Ahmad Ibn Hanbal stated in his book [Al-Sunnah]: "The Qur'an is the word of Allah, not created. So, whoever claims that the Qur'an is created is a Jahmite, i.e. a follower of the heretic sectarian Jahm ibn Safwan, and disbeliever." I would like to know from Your Honor why those who claim the Qur'an is created' are considered disbelievers and judged as so by Imam Ahmad (may Allah have mercy on him)?

A: The Qur'an is truly the word of Allah. It was sent down to our Prophet Muhammad (peace be upon him) as a revelation. Allah states: ﴿And if anyone of the Mushrikûn (polytheists, idolaters, pagans, disbelievers in the Oneness of Allâh) seeks your protection, then grant him protection so that he may hear the Word of Allâh (the Qur'ân)﴾ and: ﴿And this is a blessed Book (the Qur'ân) which We have sent down, so follow it and fear Allâh (i.e. do not disobey His Orders), that you may receive mercy (i.e. be saved from the torment of Hell).﴾ He (Exalted be He) also states: ﴿And (it is) a Qur'ân which We have divided (into parts), in order that you might recite it to men at intervals. And We have revealed it by stages (in 23 years).﴾ and there are many Ayahs in this context.

So the Qur'an is the word of Allah that is not created, and whoever says, 'it is created', is a disbeliever because the word of Allah is one of His Attributes and whoever claims that one of His Attributes is created is a disbeliever because the Attribute expresses the reality of the Self. Moreover, this false claim necessitates assimilation, i.e. likening Allah to His creation. Human beings did not speak until Allah created the faculty of speech in them. so whoever claims that the word of Allah is created likens Allah to His creation, Exalted is Allah above what they ascribe to Him! Allah is infinitely articulate according to His Will. We do not say that He did not speak until He created speech, nor was void of knowledge until He created knowledge. Evidently, the matter is clear for seekers of truth when Allah guides them.

May Allah grant us success! May peace and blessings be upon our Prophet Muhammad, his family, and Companions!

The first question of Fatwa no. 19022

Q 1: what is difference between one who says: 'My articulation of the Qur'an is created' and one who says: 'The Qur'an is created'?

A: The difference between the two declarations is that claiming that the Qur'an is created is a statement of disbelief which takes one out of the fold of Islam. So the authoritative Muslim ruler must ask him to repent; if he repents and desists from saying this, he is forgiven; otherwise, he is subject to capital punishment after presenting the truth to him. Whoever claims this is similar to the heretics of pantheism, unionism, Jahmiyyah (a deviant Islamic sect denying some Attributes of Allah, claiming they are ascribed to people and cannot be ascribed to Allah) and Mu`tazilah (A deviant Muslim sect founded by Wasil ibn 'Ata') who claimed the creation of the Qur'an. Indeed, the Qur'an is the word of Allah, for articulation is one of Allah's Attributes. He (Glorified be He) is characterized with all Perfect Attributes and His Attributes are inherently inseparable from Himself.

(Part No. 3; Page No. 17)

Thus, there exists no separation between Himself and His Attributes. Like His Self, His attributes differ from those of His creatures and so the speech of the Creator of mankind is unlike the speech of mankind. According to the consensus of scholars of the Predecessors, one who claims this false statement is a disbeliever.

Imam Ahmad ibn Hanbal (may Allah be merciful with him) said: 'Whoever claims that the Qur'an is created is a disbeliever, for the Qur'an is part of Allah's Knowledge and includes the Names of Allah. Thus, when a person says that knowledge is created, he is a disbeliever because he claims that Allah did not have knowledge until He created it.

Sufyan Al-Thawri (may Allah be merciful with him) said: Whoever claims that the saying of Allah ﴿O Mûsâ (Moses)! Verily it is I, Allâh, the All-Mighty, the All-Wise.﴾ is created, is a disbeliever and must be sentenced to capital punishment.

Similarly, Imam Malik, Ibn `Uyaynah, Yahya ibn Ma`in and others maintain that he is a disbeliever.

As for those who say the articulation of the Qur'an is created, it is an ambiguous statement that should be examined. If they mean the voice, it will be accepted; however, if they mean the words uttered, i.e. the Qur'an, it is falsehood. This is the doctrine of Al-Jahmiyyah and Al-Mu`tazilah. So, one must refrain from this general expression and be precise in order to avoid falling into what the heretics have fallen into.

Fatwa no. 18880

Praise be to Allah, after studying and carefully examining some books I have come to know that the Qur'an is the Word of Allah and was not created, contrary to the doctrine of some groups such as Mu`tazilah (a deviant Islamic sect claiming that those who commit major sins are in a state between belief and disbelief). But, I found a very deceitful misconception that I did not know how to refute. I read one of the books of Ibn Al-Qayyim but I could not understand. This misconception is concerning Allah's (Glorified and Exalted be He) saying, \(Allāh is the Creator of all things\) The Noble Qur'an is a "thing" and they say that it is included in this verse. I hope that your Eminence could explain the purport of this Ayah (verse) and explain how to refute the misconceptions of those Bid`ah (innovation in religion) mongers. I appreciate your answer; may Allah reward you with the best.

A: The Noble Qur'an is not intended in this Ayah \(Allāh is the Creator of all things\) This is because the Glorious Qur'an is the Word of Allah and the words of Allah represent one of His Attributes which is not created; for the attributes follow the attributed. Allah, along with His Attributes including His Words, is the Creator of all things and anything other than Him is created. This is supported by the noble Ayah, \(Surely, His is the Creation and Commandment.\)

(Part No. 3; Page No. 19)

Here, Allah (Glorified be He) separated between creation and commandment as indicated by the conjunction which [in Arabic] denotes difference; the commandment is carried out by words. Allah (Exalted be He) said, \(Verily, His Command, when He intends a thing, is only that He says to it, "Be!" - and it is!\) At this point, the misconception should be removed, In sha'a-Allah (if Allah wills).

Fatwa no. 18046

Praise be to Allah Alone and peace and blessings be upon the last Prophet.

The Permanent Committee for Scholarly Research and Ifta' reviewed the Fatwa request submitted to His Eminence the Mufti from the Undersecretary of the Ministry of Education, which was referred to the Committee from the Secretariat General of the Council of Senior Scholars with the number (3050) on 26/6/1416 A.H. The following question was posed:

Enclosed is the query submitted from the Education Department in Al-Bahah about the permissibility of considering Qur'an a "subject" among other curricula subjects that students study and which is often mentioned in the memos issued by the ministries and education departments.

We would like Your Eminence to indicate if it is permissible to refer to the Qur'an as an academic subject for study. What alternatives do you suggest for it? May Allah safeguard you!

The query of the Education Department of Al-Bahah reads: "The Ministry of Education and some education departments often send us memos which refer to the Qur'an as an academic subject. Since the word 'subject' refers to a created thing while the Qur'an represents the Words of Allah (Glorified be He), which are not created, it is considered to be inappropriate to use the word 'subject' when referring to it. Is it permissible to refer to the Qur'an in this way?"

After studying the query, the Committee answered:

There is no problem if you refer to the Qur'an as an academic subject when talking about curricula, because the word "subject" in the context of education refers to the branch that students study. For instance, we may say "subject of Tafsir (explanation/exegesis of the meanings of the Qur'an)," "subject of Hadith," and "subject of Al-Qur'an Al-Karim". In this sense, it does not mean the created item as said above. Thus, there is no blame on using it - all praise be to Allah.

The second question of Fatwa no. 20053

Q 2: Imam Ahmad (may Allah be merciful with him) said in his Book "Al-Sunnah", "Anyone who says that our voices when reciting the Qur'an are created is a member of Jahmiyyah (a deviant Islamic sect denying some Attributes of Allah, claiming they are ascribed to people and cannot be ascribed to Allah)." However, Imam Abu Hanifah (may Allah be merciful with him) said in his book "Al-Fiqh Al-Akbar", "Our voices when reciting the Qur'an are created." Although scholars from among the Salaf (righteous predecessors) agreed that the Qur'an is the Speech of Allah and that it is not created, they differed on the voice of the person reciting the Qur'an; whether it is created (even though the servants' voices are created) or not created (even though the Qur'an, the Speech of Allah, is not created). I would like to know the truth as regards this issue and I need an explanation of the view of Shaykh-ul-Islam Ibn Taymiyyah and his scholar, Ibn Al-Qayyim (may Allah be merciful with them).

A: A Muslim's belief as regards the Qur'an should be the same as the belief held by Ahl-ul-Sunnah wal-Jama'ah (those adhering to the Sunnah and the Muslim main body) and conform with the proof contained in the Qur'an and Sunnah (whatever is reported from the Prophet). A Muslim should believe that the Qur'an is the Speech of Allah in effect, letters, and meanings, and is revealed by Allah (Exalted be He), not created. It came from Allah (Exalted be He) and to Him it shall return. The Qur'an is the Speech of Allah (Exalted be He) wherever it is recited or recorded. Allah (Exalted be He) says:

﴿(It is) in Records held (greatly) in honour (Al-Lauh Al-Mahfûz),﴾ ﴿Exalted (in dignity), purified,﴾ Allah (Glorified be He) also says:

(Part No. 3; Page No. 22)

﴿A Messenger (Muhammad صلى الله عليه وسلم) from Allâh, reciting (the Qur'ân) purified pages [purified from Al-Bâtîl (falsehood)].﴾ ﴿Wherein are correct and straight laws from Allâh.﴾ The Qur'an we recite is the Speech of Allah (Exalted be He). We recite it with our voices, but its Words are the Words of Allah and the voices are the voices of those who recite it.

Fatwa no. 12465

Q: does Naskh (abrogation) exist in the Qur'an? What does it mean? is it permissible to abrogate the Qur'an by the Sunnah? What is the difference between Naskh and Bada' (Initiation)? What is the meaning of the saying of Al-Zamakhshary: "They are only things which He reveals, but does not initiate"? Is every exception considered Naskh and vice versa?

A:

First: Naskh is permissible and has already taken place. Allah (Exalted be He) states: ﴿Whatever a Verse \(revelation\) do We abrogate or cause to be forgotten, We bring a better one or similar to it.﴾.

Second: Naskh is defined as: "The elimination of a legal ruling by subsequent legal evidence".

Third: It is permissible to abrogate Qur'an by Sunnah, for both are revelations from Allah (Glorified and Exalted be He).

Allah (Exalted be He) states: ﴿Nor does he speak of \(his own\) desire.﴾ ﴿It is only a Revelation revealed.﴾

Fourth: Al-Bada' means: The emergence after disappearance, or the initiation of an opinion that did not exist before. However, it is impossible to attribute both meanings to Allah (Glorified and Exalted be He), for they entail the existence of previous ignorance then the occurrence of knowledge, while Allah encompasses all things in (His) Knowledge. He (Exalted be He) states: ﴿No calamity befalls on the earth or in yourselves but it is inscribed in the Book of Decrees \(Al-Lauh Al-Mahfûz\) before We bring it into existence. Verily, that is easy for Allâh.﴾ When Allah (Glorified be He) abrogated some of His rulings by others, He was not subject to a sudden awareness of what was hidden from Him, or even established a new opinion, for He knows the abrogated and abrogating rulings even before prescribing them to His servants.

Furthermore, by Naskh Allah (Exalted be He) revealed to His servants what He already knew and not knowing something new according to the Phrase: "They are only things which He reveals, but does not initiate".

May Allah grant us success! May peace and blessings be upon our Prophet Muhammad, his family, and Companions!

respecting the Noble Qur'an

Fatwa no. 21889

Q: We would like you to instruct as to what our duties toward the Mus-haf (Arabic Qur'an) are and how we should respect it. What is the ruling on stretching one's leg towards it whether in the Masjid (mosque) or elsewhere?

A: It is obligatory to respect the honorable Mus-haf and it is prohibited to disrespect it in any way, such as entering the toilet while carrying it, placing it in an impure place, making it a pillow, stretching one's leg towards it, writing any part of it or hanging it in dirty or unrespectable places, writing it in newspapers as they are usually discarded carelessly, traveling with it to an enemy country, or giving it to a Kafir (disbeliever). If a part of the Mus-haf is worn out, it should be burnt or buried in a pure place.

Q 2: What is the ruling on writing Ayahs (Qur'anic verses) in the form of toys, for example?

A: writing Ayahs in the form of toys, birds, trees, or the like, writing them on decoration boards or plates, or writing them as a promotion of one's goods is prohibited and the person who does this is sinful. Actually, this involves disrespecting the Qur'an and making a sport with it. This also involves despising the Qur'an and making it liable to be thrown in inappropriate places once the things on which it is written are worn out after a long period of usage. These things might also be lost on being transferred from one place to another. Actually, Allah (Exalted be He) has not prescribed doing so as an act of worship. Moreover, Allah (Exalted be He) sent down the Qur'an to be a source of preaching, guidance, and a cure for inner diseases, and so that people might act in accordance with its rulings, believe in it, and recite it all day and all night. By doing so, they might increase their Iman (Faith) and have higher degrees in the Sight of their Lord.

Q: We would like to inform you that we are about to import thermal papers on which Qur'anic Ayahs (verses) and pictures of the Sacred Masjids are pictured in order to be posted on pottery produced by our factories as shown in the attached sample. Kindly, examine them and express your opinion on this.

A: It is not permissible to post Qur'anic Ayahs, any of Allah's Most Beautiful Names or pictures of the two Sacred Masjids on pottery or any other decorative products. In fact, it entails many potential dangers, including making Ayahs and Allah's Names liable to disrespect through putting them in inappropriate places. Likewise, people might seek their blessings and help and not seek Allah's. In addition, it is an innovated behavior that was never practiced by the Salaf (righteous predecessors) of the Ummah. Moreover, glorifying religious rituals stems from the heart whose effect appears on organs in the form of exerting efforts to put Shari'ah (Islamic law) into practice, establishing acts of worship and feeling angry when forbidden acts are committed, not in the form of inscriptions on walls or vessels.

Fatwa no. 19535

Q: What is the legal decision on the decorations and ornaments where the Glorious Name "Allah" and the name of the Prophet "Muhammad" are engraved? I work in business and I have dealings with some Muslim brothers in some countries. They want to know whether the Glorious Name "Allah" should be written on the right side and the name "Muhammad" on the left side or not?

You will find three forms attached to this letter which I want to ask about. Is it permissible to imprint them on the excellent crystal and other ornaments? Please, advise. May Allah reward you.

A: It is not permissible to write "In the name of Allah, Most Gracious, Most Merciful" on ornaments and other decorative items, for the phrase "In the name of Allah, Most Gracious,

(Part No. 3; Page No. 27)

Most Merciful" is an Ayah. To write it on such things exposes it to humiliation.

Also, it is not permissible to write the Glorious Name "Allah" on such things, because this may expose it to humiliation. Likewise, the name of the Prophet (peace be upon him) should not be imprinted on these things to protect it from degradation and prevent the overestimation prohibited by the Prophet (peace be upon him).

Q: Some of the typographic workers print the Basmalah (Bismillah Al-Rahman Al-Rahim, i.e. In the Name of Allah, Most Gracious, Most Merciful) in the shape of an ostrich or other shapes. What is the ruling on this? Please, present your direction and advice regarding this. May Allah reward you with the best.

A: This mentioned act; i.e. writing the Basmallah (Bismillah Al-Rahman Al-Rahim) or other invocations in the shape of an ostrich or other birds is Munkar (disapproved of by Islamic law) for it involves disparagement of Allah (Glorified be He). So, people are not allowed to approve it or keep silent before it owing to a variety of things:

First: it includes picturing objects that have souls which is prohibited.

Second: it implies offense and abuse of Allah's Names and Attributes.

Third: this is a kind of playing with and belittlement of an Ayah (verse) from the book of Allah, namely Bismillah

People hang these paintings on walls. Is it permissible to possess and hang these paintings in houses? What is the ruling on buying, selling and making them?

Fatwa no. 21605

Praise be to Allah Alone, and peace and blessings be upon the Last Prophet, Muhammad.

(Part No. 3; Page No. 29)

To proceed:

The Permanent Committee for Scholarly Research and Ifta' has looked into the issue sent to His Honor the General Mufti from His Excellency the General Director of Awareness and Guidance Department under the General Presidency of the Committee for the Propagation of Virtue and the Prevention of Vice (CPVPV), no. 9/2801, dated 1/6/1421A.H. The query which has been passed to them by the General Secretariat of the Council of Senior Scholars, no. 3291, dated 18/6/1421. His Honor was asked the following:

As for the letter sent by the head of the authority in Jeddah concerning the spread of decorative models in the form of Qur'anic Ayahs that are placed in some plazas of the city of Jeddah; needless to mention that these models are exposed to many kinds of degradation, let alone the misuse of the sacred Ayahs of the Qur'an for a purpose which they were not revealed. I would like to acquaint you with a previous Fatwa issued from the Permanent Committee in this regard, no. 2078.

Due to its critical importance, we hope that this issue will be referred to His Honor, the General Mufti, for a final decision, and all necessary procedures will be taken accordingly.

A: It is impermissible to make three-dimensional models of the Ayahs of the Qur'an, either for placing them in houses, offices or public squares, for many reasons:

Firstly, this was never done by the Prophet (peace be upon him) or any of his Sahabah (Companions of the Prophet) (may Allah be pleased with them).

(Part No. 3; Page No. 30)

Furthermore, it was authentically reported that the Prophet stated, \(Whoever performs an act which is not based on our Sharia'h, it is to be rejected.\)

Secondly, this act undoubtedly entails the degradation and abuse of the Ayahs of Qur'an, and not taking the Qur'an seriously. Indeed, this is the act of those who are the greatest losers in respect to their deeds.

Thirdly, this is a misuse of the Qur'an and the purpose for which it was revealed, i.e. reciting, and acting upon its teachings, as well as a means of guidance to the righteous path.

Therefore, it is obligatory to cease production of such models in order to glorify the Qur'an and avoid what the sanctified Shar` (Law) has forbidden.

May Allah grant us success! May peace and blessings be upon our Prophet Muhammad, his family and Companions!

The first question of Fatwa no. 21607

Q1: I enclosed for Your Honor a clipping from a newspaper called Al-Madinah Al-Munawwarah published last week. I noticed that one of the owners of a supermarket in Jeddah advertised the opening of a new branch quoting a verse from the Holy Qur'an. It is Ayatul-Fatah (literally the verse of the opening: the first verse of Surah Al-Fatah). I think that this is a misuse of the Qur'an (the Speech of Allah, may He be Glorified and Exalted). I hope you will have a look at it in order to advise and guide legal authorities in particular, and companies and agencies in general, not to use Qur'anic Verses in advertisements in the future, if my opinion is correct.

A: It is not permissible to use the Glorious Qur'an in marketing and advertisement materials to promote the sale of goods etc., because this is considered abuse of the Qur'an and using it in other than the purpose for which Allah revealed it. It may also involve misrepresentation of the meanings of the Holy Qur'an and misquotation as mentioned in the question. This verse was revealed regarding Al-Hudaybiyah Treaty, and not to celebrate opening new shops and supermarkets. We must glorify the Noble Qur'an by reciting, contemplating, understanding, and acting by it and avoiding abusing it and using it for commercial purposes.

May Allah grant us success! May peace and blessings be upon our Prophet Muhammad, his family, and Companions!

The first question of Fatwa no. 18000

Q: What is the ruling when a certain topic is raised or a specific dialog runs during which some relevant Qur'anic Ayahs (verses) are cited? For example, a teacher may face a problem and when a student asks what has happened, she answers citing Allah's saying, ﴿No calamity befalls, but by the Leave [i.e. Decision and Qadar (Divine Preordainments)] of Allāh﴾ Is there any sin in this?

A: The majority of jurists deemed it permissible in general to quote Qur'anic Ayahs in one's words in order to make them sound better. This only applies as long as they are used for a purpose that does not go beyond the limits of Shari`ah. But, if it is a prohibited or detestable saying, it will not be permissible to cite Qur'anic Ayahs, such as the speaking of Bid`ah (innovation in religion) mongers and those who indulge in obscene talk.

More elaborately, quoting Qur'anic Ayahs can fall into one of three possible cases, as mentioned by Al-Suyuty:

The first: acceptable citation, in the case of sermons, preaching and agreements.

The second: allowable, in the case of messages and stories

The third: rejected, which is again of two types:

First: quoting words which Allah ascribed to Himself, then the speaker ascribes them to himself,

Second: including an Ayah in an inappropriate or immoral context.

Al-Suyuty said, "This classification is right and I advocate it."

May Allah grant us success! May peace and blessings be upon our Prophet, his family and Companions!

Q: Enclosed with this Fatwa request are stories sold in the markets and bookshops. After looking into them, we found that characters of animals and insects are presented as reciting Ayahs (Qur'anic verses). This is a deliberate distortion of the Ayahs as you will notice in the stories. I hope you will explain the ruling on such stories and express your disapproval of their distribution. The two stories titled (Invasion of Germs) and (Immigration of Starlings) were referred to the Publishing and Translation Department in the Chairmanship for revision and were sent back with letter number 871/11 on 5/8/1413 A.H. which reads as follows:

The mentioned stories were revised and the following was found: The two stories are from a series especially written for children between the age of seven and twelve and they teach physical sciences. The copy rights are reserved for the company (Medlevant) located in Switzerland. Although the two mentioned stories include useful information for children, it is noticed that they present germs and birds reciting the Ayahs and this is considered abuse of the Glorious Qur'an. This may imply to children that it is permissible to play with the words of the Qur'an in daily life situations. It may also alienate them from the world of reality when they believe that such creatures can speak. Since the publishing company is a non-Muslim company, it is possible that they may have the evil intention of deliberately distorting the Ayahs of the Qur'an.

A: After examining the information mentioned above about the two mentioned stories, one of which titled (Immigration of Starlings) and the other (Invasion of Germs), and after reading the texts of the two stories, the Committee found that in some of their chapters animals, germs, and birds are presented reciting Ayahs. This involves lying and showing contempt and disrespect of Allah's Speech, violating His Rulings overtly, encouraging younger generations to do this, raising doubts in their hearts, and the like of such evil purposes. Allah (Glorified be He) revealed the Glorious Qur'an in a clear Arabic tongue to His Prophet (peace be upon him) in order to guide both humans and Jinn (creatures created from fire). Allah has ordered them to act upon the Qur'an, and recite and listen to it. Subsequently, writing, recording, marketing, and circulating these stories are abominable acts that are not permissible. It is the duty of Muslim rulers to prevent such stories in order to protect the Qur'an from abuse and save Muslims' `Aqidah (creed) from any possible distortions.

May Allah grant us success! May peace and blessings be upon our Prophet Muhammad, his family, and Companions!

The first question of Fatwa no. 19420

Q 1: We want to make some notebooks and write Ayat-ul-Kursy (the Qur'anic Verse of Allah's Chair, Surah Al-Baqarah, 2:255) or some Adhkar (invocations and Remembrances said at certain times on a regular basis) on their covers. These notebooks will be sold to students. Is this permissible?

(Part No. 3; Page No. 35)

A: It is not permissible to write the Qur'an in a way that exposes it to insult, and writing an Ayah (Qur'anic verse) on the covers of the students' notebooks involves belittling the Qur'an and exposing it to insult. These notebooks may be thrown away and end up in the trash or similar evil actions. Thus, it is not permissible for you to do so.

Fatwa no. 19691

Q: Some calligraphers write the Exalted Name over the back of the cars which are subjected to be covered in dirt. Please, give us a Fatwa on that so that we may know the truth.

A: It is not permissible for calligraphers, painters or others to write the Exalted Name of Allah or one of His beautiful Names and Attributes on the back of the car or whatsoever. Similarly, the owner of the car is not permitted to do that under any pretext, such as decoration, seeking blessing, using it as a means of reminding and admonition or for any other purposes the common and ignorant people think of. This is an act of Bid'ah (innovation in religion) that has no origin in the Qur'an or Sunnah, and Allah does not make it an act of worship. Moreover, writing Qur'an in that way entails insult to the Names and Attributes of Allah and not keeping them above inappropriate handling. Perhaps, this leads the person to Shirk (associating others with Allah in His Divinity or worship) when he uses it as an amulet that brings about good and wards off evil merely by writing it.

Allah does not teach us his Names and Attributes to be written on sets, notices or cars. Had this been permissible, Allah's Messenger (peace be upon him) would have guided us to it.

Rather, Allah (Glorified and Exalted be He) revealed His Names and Attributes to inform His slaves of Him so that they affirm them as He revealed in the Qur'an or to His Messenger (peace be upon him) and believe in all perfection and majesty they convey. Muslims should also give Allah His due praise and supplicate to Him in easy and hard times by virtue of His Names and Attributes.

Every Muslim must believe in these Names, realize them in their creed and work and keep them in letter and spirit. A Muslim should attribute them to Allah properly without Tahrif (distortion of the meaning), Ta'til (denial of Allah's Attributes), Tamthil (likening Allah's Attributes to those of His Creation), Takyif (questioning Allah's Attributes) or Tashbih (comparison), and guard their sanctity against abuse and inappropriate things. Allah (Exalted be He) says, (And (all) the Most Beautiful Names belong to Allâh, so call on Him by them, and leave the company of those who belie or deny (or utter impious speech against) His Names. They will be requited for what they used to do.)

Q: I own a series of stores in Khamis Mushait. We have printed our trade name, "The family of `Abdul-Rahman" on the plastic bags. However, a seeker of knowledge told us that this is not permissible as these bags might be thrown in unsuitable places. He also added that this is an act of Kufr (disbelief). Alhamdu lillah [All praise is due to Allah], we did not mean to desecrate Allah's Name. On the contrary, we did this with good intentions as this has been our trade name since a long time ago. If this is an act of Kufr, we repent to Allah from such an act.

We agreed to write to you seeking your opinion in this regard for we trust your knowledge.

A: You should change the trade name printed on the plastic bags because it includes one of the Exalted Names of Allah which is Al-Rahman (the Most Merciful). Keeping the Name of Allah as a trade name subjects it to desecration. It would be better for you to find another name that is free from this. May Allah grant you success!

Q: This is a flier which I doubt its validity for publication. I got it from some Muslim brothers and I found in it some sentences that, according to me, make fun of the Din (religion) of Islam. Therefore, I refer it to you to know your opinion concerning it. I know that this flier is distributed among people; hence, I hope you could publish the reply in Al-Buhuth Al-Islamiyyah Magazine as soon as possible. May Allah protect you! I hope you may also direct a message to the publisher. As-salamu `alaykum warahmatullah wabarakatuh (May Allah's Peace, Mercy, and Blessings be upon you!)

A: The Committee has studied the said report, published by the collection office of Mr. Talal ibn Hasan Al-Iskandrany, in Dammam, which includes on one cover promotional phrases for the office and on the other cover the title "Favorite Dish". It reads as follows: Favorite Dish: Ingredients: one kilo of humility, one liter of forbearance, pieces of good judgment and patience.

Preparation: Prepare yourself to be clean from hatred and grudge, and full of faith and good deeds.

Put the "plate" of piety and faith in front of your eyes with regard to your dealings with those around you.

"Mix" fear and god-consciousness together, then "pour" patience and forbearance on the mixture.

Do not forget to put forgiveness when having the upper hand and tolerance at the end of the "mixture."

Put the mixture in the "oven" of self-control, preferably "simmer" them.

Lighten the "fire" of anger, for a blazing fire may burn the value of faith.

Wait for one hour in seclusion and count yourself for what you did.

"Spice" this with goodwill and repentance, so that the "meal" will be free from impurities.

Note: You could remove unpleasant smells by Dhikr (Remembrance of Allah). After an hour, get the "food" out of the "oven", and you will find it heavy in Mizan (the Scales for weighing deeds).

The Committee's answer was as follows: The owner of the said office should remove the writings on the second cover under the name of "Favorite Dish", for this implies contempt of Dhikr and Shari`ah proprieties. This may lead to ridiculing Islam. This way has nothing to do with the way the Salaf (righteous predecessors) used to call to goodness. Accordingly, the owner of the shop and whoever gets a copy of this flier should destroy it.

Q: Expired pre-paid phone cards are thrown on the streets. Sometimes, these cards are trodden on although they bear the testimony of Tawhid (monotheism). What is the legal ruling in this regard?

A: The deliberate disrespect or abuse of these cards on which any kind of Allah's dhikr (Remembrance of Allah), Ayahs (Qur'anic verses), or Names are written and throwing them away to be trodden upon is emphatically Haram.

This may amount to Kufr (disbelief), because it is obligatory to glorify Allah (Exalted be He), His Qur'an and Names. Allah (Glorified be He) states: [﴿Thus it is \[what has been mentioned in the above said Verses \(27, 28, 29, 30, 31\) is an obligation that mankind owes to Allâh\] and whosoever honours the Symbols of Allâh, then it is truly from the piety of the hearts.﴾](#) Allah also states concerning those who mock and offend Islam, ﴿If you ask them \(about this\), they declare: "We were only talking idly and joking." Say: "Was it at Allâh \(عز وجل\), and His Ayât \(proofs, evidence, verses, lessons, signs, revelations\) and His Messenger \(صلى الله عليه وسلم\) that you were mocking?﴾ ﴿Make no excuse; you disbelieved after you had believed.﴾ In light of this, it is impermissible to write any words of Allah's Dhikr on such cards that are commonly liable to degradation. Whoever does this should be punished in order to honor that which Allah has made sacred.

Q: My friend owns a printing press and he has a non-Muslim employee working for him. Sometimes, the clients ask the non-Muslim employee to photocopy some Ayahs (Qur'anic verses) to be placed in their books. So, my friend pulled out a part from the Mus-haf (Arabic Qur'an). Is it permissible for the non-Muslim employee to touch a page from the Mus-haf? It is worth mentioning that he touches a page and not the whole Mus-haf. If this is not permissible, what should my friend do if the clients insist on photocopying the Ayahs while it is not permissible for a non-Muslim to touch the Mus-haf? May Allah safeguard you and keep you in good health! Amen!

A: It is not permissible for a non-Muslim to touch the Mus-haf to photocopy some of its pages for the clients.

Q 35: Is it permissible to give a non-Muslim a translated version of the Qur'an that has the Arabic text on the opposite page?

A: There is nothing wrong with giving non-Muslims a version of the translation of the Qur'an, for the ruling applies to the translation, not the Arabic text. Moreover, this is a way of conveying and imparting the message of Islam.

Q 2: Is it permissible to give a non-Muslim who is interested in Islam, but has not yet embraced it, a copy of the translation of the Noble Qur'an along with a copy of the entire Qur'an such as those published at the King Fahd Qur'an Printing Complex?

A: There is nothing wrong with giving a non-Muslim expected to convert to Islam the books of Tafsir (explanation/exegesis of the meanings of the Qur'an) and the translation of the Qur'an in his language, even if the Qur'an is separated from the tafsir and translation, as the ruling in this case is associated with the Tafsir and Translation.

Fatwa no. 14588

Q: As you know, we have a special place reserved for bookshops where religious and literary books are sold. During this period, the sales of the Noble Qur'an to members of the American army have increased. The question is: is it permissible to sell the Book of Allah to those people despite the fact that around 99% of them are non-Muslims. When I asked them what they purchased the Qur'an for, some of them said they bought it for their Muslim friends in the USA while others took it as a souvenir. I hope you will tell me whether it is permissible to sell the Book of Allah to them or not. Answer me, may Allah benefit you.

A: It is not permissible to sell a copy of the Qur'an to disbelievers for it was authentically reported on the authority of `Abdullah ibn `Umar (may Allah be pleased with them) that Allah's Messenger (peace be upon him) \(Forbade traveling with \(a copy of the\) Qur'an to the land of the enemy.\) According to another narration, the Prophet (peace be upon him) said, [\(That is out of fear that the enemy will get hold of it \[and tamper with it\].\)](#) In another narration he (peace be upon him) said, [\(I am afraid that it might fall into the hands of the enemy \[and they tamper with it\].\)](#) Al-Fadl ibn Ziyad said, "I asked Abu `Abdullah, meaning Imam Ahmad, about pawning a Mus-haf (Arabic Qur'an) to Dhimmys (protected non-Muslims living under Islamic rule). He said, "No, \(the Messenger of Allah \(peace be upon him\) forbade traveling with \(a copy of the\) Qur'an to the land of the enemy, lest it should fall into their hands.\)" Imam Al-Nawawy said, "Our companions said, 'Disbelievers should not be prevented from hearing the Qur'an but they should be prevented from touching it.'" As for teaching them the Qur'an, there are two opinions. The second of these opinions is that it is not lawful. Moreover, it is not permissible to sell a Mus-haf to them even if they are expected to embrace Islam. In his book Tarh Al-Tathrib (Removing the Reproach) Imam Al-Nawawy stated that it is forbidden to sell a Mus-haf to disbelievers lest they should degrade it. There is no difference among scholars over the prohibition of that. It is stated in Al-Mughny by Ibn Qudamah that it is not permissible to make it possible for the disbelievers to purchase a Mus-haf, books of Hadith of the Messenger of Allah (peace be upon him) or books of Fiqh (Islamic jurisprudence). If this happens, the purchase is invalid because it involves disparagement of the Qur'an.

(Part No. 3; Page No. 47)

My question is: Should I let him touch the Mus-haf and travel to Allah's Sacred Land, or wait a year or more until he becomes a true Muslim, and I am sure that has sincerely embraced Islam?

A: If you are sure concerning his Islam, it is permissible for you to give him a Mus-haf to read and accompany him to perform Hajj or `Umrah. You will be rewarded for this Insha'a Allah, for the Prophet (peace be upon him) stated: ﴿"Whoever calls others to follow guidance, their reward will be equivalent to those who shall follow them \(in righteousness\)﴾ And ﴿Allah helps His servant as long as the servant helps their fellow brothers﴾.

Q 3: What should a person do with the Mus-haf (Arabic Qur'an) from which they recite the Qur'an when its pages are torn, especially that it cannot be thrown into a dustbin? Should it be buried or burnt? Please substantiate your answer with evidence.

A: It is not permissible to throw the Mus-haf in the dustbin when its pages are torn. It should be buried in a clean place or burnt so that it might not be subjected to desecration. This is what the Sahabah (Companions of the Prophet (may Allah be pleased with them)) did during the caliphate of `Uthman (may Allah be pleased with him) when they gathered the original Mus-hafs which `Uthman (may Allah be pleased with him) distributed throughout the Islamic countries and burnt the other copies.

Fatwa no. 20067

Q: We, your sons at Al-Muntada Al-Islami (The Islamic Forum) would like to print copies of the Qur'an as one of our da`wah and educational activities in Africa and distribute them to Muslims there, as the number of copies of the Qur'an is so scarce that one may find only one copy of the Qur'an in a whole Muslim village.

(Part No. 3; Page No. 49)

Most people read from wooden slates on which the Qur'an is written. We would also like to distribute some teachings of the Salafi `Aqidah (creed) and important legal rulings in different languages, as their knowledge of Arabic is limited. This will help much in spreading Shari`ah teachings that are useful for Muslims in these countries, because they will be printed along with the copies of the Qur'an that most Muslims seek to own. Thus, it will also help in spreading and being accepted by the largest possible number of people. It is the habit of some publishers to attach Al-Qa`idah Al-Bagdadiyyah, some rulings of Tajwid (The study of the rules and principles of reciting the Qur'an in accordance with the established rules of pronunciation and intonation) and the supplication upon finishing recitation of the Qur'an at the end of the Mus-haf.

However, there are two problems that we fear:

First: Opening the door for other institutions that may spread Bid`ah (religious innovation) to do the same and place instructions and rulings against the Sunnah. By doing this, we will open a door to evil.

Second: Some ignorant reciters may believe that these instructions are part of the Mus-haf, as they are printed at the end of the Mus-haf. To deal with this problem, we will print these instructions in another color and place a separator to show that the following instructions are not part of the Mus-haf. Perhaps, this will help people to distinguish these instructions from the Mus-haf.

Our question is: What is the permissibility of this project? Is it included in the Prophetic prohibition of writing down the Sunnah lest it is mixed with the Qur'an? Do you encourage the beginning of such useful and positive projects for Muslims, bearing in mind the necessary precaution for protecting Allah's Book against deviation? Please, advise.

A: The general rule adopted by the entire Ummah, i.e. Muslim Community, is to avoid adding any additions to the Book of Allah whether introductions, additions, or anything else to maintain the Mus-haf in its original form without any change, alteration, or addition. Therefore, we advise you not to do what you have mentioned.

Arabic script of the Mus-haf

Fatwa no. 16709

Q: Allah (Exalted be He) says: ﴿If then they answer you not, know then that it [the Revelation (this Qur'ân)] is sent down with the Knowledge of Allâh and that Lâ ilâha illa Huwa: (none has the right to be worshipped but He)! Will you then be Muslims (those who submit in Islâm)?﴾

In the Arabic text of this Ayah (Qur'anic verse) the words (قَالَمْ) [according to standard modern Arabic, they are written قَالَن لَمْ] are written with the letter (ن) dropped by merging it into the first letter of the subsequent word (ج), which is not the case in other occurrences throughout the Qur'an. I would like your Eminence to comment on the reason of omitting that letter from such an Ayah in particular.

A: Muslim scholars unanimously agreed on the obligation of recording the Mus-haf in the `Uthmany script, and it is not permissible to write it in different scripts. Therefore, scholars paid meticulous care to the rules and criteria of calligraphy in separate chapters of books dealing with the sciences of the Qur'an such as Al-Itqan by Al-Suyuty (may Allah be merciful with him) and in whole books authored on the topic such as Iqadh Al-A`lam bi Wujub Itiba` Rasm Mus-haf `Uthman Al-Imam by Muhammad Al-Khadir Al-Maliky (may Allah be merciful with him). These rules of the `Uthmany script include the rule of separation and succession that applies to the Ayah no.14 in Surah Hud, which reads: ﴿If then they answer you not﴾ The Arabic text of this Ayah is written without the letter (ن) - a case which is not available elsewhere in the Qur'an.

(Part No. 3; Page No. 52)

Scribes of the Mus-haf (Arabic Qur'an) unanimously agreed on that way, as stated in the book entitled Al-Masahif by Ibn Abu Dawud (may Allah be merciful with him).

Scholars of Qira'at (recitation styles) tried to find some secrets behind the different ways of scribing the Qur'an, but the researching competent scholars of Qira'at held that we should abide by these rules without endeavoring to discover the secrets. That is because Qur'an is miraculous in letter and spirit, and this difference pertains to miracles of the Qur'an in letter.

Fatwa no. 18618

Q: We are a group of students who want to study the rules of recitation according to the Reading of Warsh from the narration of Al-Azraq. The Mus-hafs we have contain the rules of this recitation. However, during our study we need to write down some rules on the margins of the Mus-haf in order to remember them instantly while reciting the Qur'an in the manner it was revealed, as Allah (Exalted be He) says, ﴿And recite the Qur'ân \(aloud\) in a slow, \(pleasant tone and\) style.﴾ For example, Allah says, ﴿Why do you not trust us with Yûsuf \(Joseph\)﴾ We underline the word [Ta'mannah i.e. (trust us)] and beside it in the margin we write that the said word contains the rule of Ishmam (moving one's lips in a voiceless manner Dammah while reciting certain words in the Qur'an) and Al-Rawm (uttering only part of the letter sound at stoppage).

(Part No. 3; Page No. 53)

1. Is it permissible to write on the margins of the Qur'an?

It should be noted that we read in the endnote written by Shaykh Al-Hudhayfy in the Mus-haf distributed by King Fahd Complex that there is Ijma` (consensus) among the early Muslim generations that nothing should be written down in the Mus-haf except the Ayahs (Qur'anic verses) of the Qur'an.

We have noticed in this Mus-haf that the number of the Ayahs is not written for the previous reason. Taking the impermissibility of this matter for granted, what is the suggested way whereby we can learn the rules of recitation according to the narration of Warsh?

2. Is it permissible to write down briefly the causes of the revelation of some Ayahs and their Tafsir (explanation/exegesis) on the margin of the Mus-haf or not?

3. Is it permissible to write the verse number of some Ayahs for the sake of counting or clarifying the archaic words in terms of the way they are written and uttered?

As in the case of placing the number 3 above the word (Ayah) of the Ayah (Qur'anic verse): ﴿We shall attend to you, O you two classes \(jinn and men\)!﴾ as an example of it being mentioned three times in the Qur'an.

A: The general rule adopted by the Ummah i.e. Muslim nation, since the early Muslim generation is to save the Qur'an from any additions and preserve its script known to all Muslims without any additions or omissions.

We advise you, accordingly, to abandon writing anything on the margins of the Mus-haf. You may record your notes on separate papers with the name of the Surah and the number of the Ayah. In this way, you honor the Book of Allah and record what benefits and helps you understand the rules of recitation.

Fatwa no. 16787

Q: a person attached a piece of paper to the Noble Qur'an. The following is written on it: How to perform Sujud-ul-Tilawah (Prostration of Recitation). It is permissible to say Takbir (saying: "Allahu Akbar [Allah is the Greatest]") before performing Sujud-ul-Tilawah, because there is a Hadith that is authentically reported from Ibn `Umar (may Allah be pleased with them) which confirms this. It does not mention saying Takbir nor Taslim (salutation of peace ending the Prayer) when rising from Sujud-ul-Tilawah. However, if the person performs Sujud-ul-Tilawah in Salah (Prayer), they must say Takbir before prostration and before rising from it, because the Prophet (peace be upon him) used to do so in Salah every time he prostrated or rose from prostration. During Sujud-ul-Tilawah, it is permissible to say any Du`a' (supplication) that is permissible to be said during prostration in Salah due to the generality of the Hadith which indicate this. For example, you can say: ﴿O Allah! It is to You that I prostrate myself and it is in You that I affirm my faith, and I submit to You. My face is submitted before One Who created and shaped it, and opened his faculties of hearing and sight with His Might and Power. Blessed is Allah, the Best of Creators.﴾ (Muslim related in his Sahih (authentic) Book of Hadith that the Prophet (peace be upon him) used to say this Du`a' during prostration in Salah.)

(Part No. 3; Page No. 55)

A: It is not permissible to attach anything to the Qur'an, because the basic rule is that nothing should be attached to it. The copies of the Qur'an that have been passed down to us from earlier Muslim generations have nothing attached to them. Therefore, you have to remove the attached paper from the copies of the Qur'an that you mentioned.

In our institute, the tutor starts to recite some Ayahs of the Qur'an, then the students complete reciting one after another in order to teach them and correct their recitation; is this a kind of Idarah Al-Qur'an?

A: It is a good act to teach the Noble Qur'an and supervise this affair. Great reward is expected for those who observe it. However, Idarah Al-Qur'an as defined by Imam Al-Nawawy signifies the gathering of a group together and reciting the Qur'an successively one after another i.e. one of them recites a tenth or a portion of the Qur'an and then stops and another resumes recitation and so on. Fatwa no. 21652

Q: It is well known that it is the duty of every Muslim to stand up to anyone who tries to defame Islam as much as they can. Thus, a Muslim should not accept any degradation or contempt to Allah's Book, for the Noble Qur'an is the Word of Allah (Glorified and Exalted be He) revealed to His Messenger (peace be upon him). It is not a kind of poetry. Therefore, a Muslim can never accept the comparison of the Qur'an to poetry.

I would like to inform you that two years ago Professor Baha' Al-Din Salim `Ayish, a Palestinian professor and a member of the Board of Teaching at the Arabic Language department at the Faculty of Teachers, Riyadh, was entrusted with teaching the prosody course at the faculty. He compiled a book on the subject and sold it to the students despite that there are plenty of good available books in this regard at bookstores. However, this book has a serious defect, for the writer mentions the poetic measurement in his book and gives examples of it with some Ayahs of the Noble Qur'an that match with the rhythm claiming that Allah's Words (Glorified and Exalted be He) are poetry. He teaches and implants this in the students' minds imitating the sayings of the Kuffar (disbelievers) of Quraysh mentioned by Allah, ﴿Or do they say: "(Muhammad صلى الله عليه وسلم) is a poet! We await for him some calamity by time!"﴾ Allah (Glorified and Exalted be He) cleared His Prophet and His Word from the charge of poetry. He says, ﴿And We have not taught him (Muhammad صلى الله عليه وسلم) poetry, nor is it suitable for him. This is only a Reminder and a plain Qur'ân.﴾

(Part No. 3; Page No. 58)

The writer of the book might not be blamed due to his lack of religious awareness. However, the head of the Department is to blame for assigning the teaching of this subject to this teacher despite the existence of a brilliant Saudi professor in this field.

Defending Allah's Book and caring for our children, I put this matter before your Eminence hoping that you will take the necessary measures towards the head of the Department and the book.

A: All Muslims are in agreement that the Prophet (peace be upon him) is the most eloquent among the sons of Adam, and that he (peace be upon him) was denied saying poetry for Allah says, ﴿And We have not taught him (Muhammad صلى الله عليه وسلم) poetry, nor is it suitable for him.﴾ They are also in agreement that the lofty eloquence of the Noble Qur'an is a miracle given to him (peace be upon him), which affirms the truth of his Prophethood. They are also in agreement that the Noble Qur'an is free from poetry. Allah says, ﴿It is not the word of a poet﴾ The Qur'an does not include a single complete Ayah that has a complete metrical line of verse. However, reading the mentioned book "Al-Tatbiq Al-`Arudhy" (Rhythmic Application), I found on pages (36, 40, 45, 49, 53, 57, 61, 68), that some parts of Ayahs are in correspondence with a hemistich of some meters, not a perfect line of verse. Again, on page (71), an Ayah is given as an example for hemistich of verse line. Moreover, on page (65), an Ayah is given as an example for Al-Mutaqarib meter. However, he adds to the Ayah an extra letter that does not belong to it.

Citing these examples, the writer says: "It is strange to find this meter in some Ayahs of the Qur'an such as His Saying: ...etc."

To summarize, what the author mentions is but part of an Ayah that only corresponds with a half line of verse, not a complete one. Allah (Glorified be He) revealed His Book with all of his Surahs and Ayahs but no Surah or Ayah is found in rhyme with a complete line of verse. Indeed, this is one of the forms of the inimitability of the Qur'an.

Thus, the book is a source of confusing the minds of readers in general and students in particular. So, the Committee recommends prohibiting the circulation of the mentioned book. Furthermore, it is not permissible to teach it to the students, out of preserving Allah's Book (Exalted be He) and protecting the `Aqidah (creed) of Muslims from delusion and doubt. Moreover, the author should omit the parts concerned with the previous matter from the book and not be deluded by those who did the same before and their acts were discarded by scholars.

May Allah grant us success! May peace and blessings be upon our Prophet Muhammad, his family and Companions!

Q 1: Allah (Glorified and Exalted be He) says: ﴿Verily, We have sent it (this Qur'ân) down in the night of Al-Qadr (Decree).﴾ The Prophet (peace be upon him) informed us that Laylat-ul-Qadr (the Night of Decree) is sought during the last ten days of Ramadan, when he said, ("Look for it (Laylat-ul-Qadr) in the last ten (nights).") Taking this into account, why do some people say that the Qur'an was revealed during the 17th night of Ramadan?

A: the Qur'an as a whole was sent down to Bayt Al-`Izzah (the House of Glory) in the lowest heaven during Laylat-ul-Qadr in Ramadan. Allah (Exalted be He) says: ﴿The month of Ramadan in which was revealed the Qur'ân, a guidance for mankind﴾ He also says: ﴿Verily, We have sent it (this Qur'ân) down in the night of Al-Qadr (Decree).﴾ Then the Qur'an was revealed to the Prophet (peace be upon him) in portions according to the situations and conditions throughout 23 years. It is related by Imam Ahmad with his Sanad (chain of narrators) on the authority of Wathilah ibn Al-Asqa` (may Allah be pleased with him) who narrated that the Messenger of Allah (peace be upon him) said, ﴿The scriptures of Ibrahim (peace be upon him) were sent down on the first night of Ramadan, Tawrah (Torah) was sent down on the sixth of it, the Injil (Gospel) on the thirteenth of it, and Allah sent down the Qur'an on the twenty-fourth of Ramadan.﴾ It is also related by Al-Bukhari on the authority of Ibn `Abbas (may Allah be pleased with them both) that the Messenger of Allah (peace be upon him) said, ﴿Look for it (Laylat-ul-Qadr) in the last ten (nights); on the night when nine, seven or five nights remain out of the last ten nights (i.e. 21, 23, 25, respectively).﴾ In addition, it is related in the (Sahih) book of authentic Hadiths by Muslim that it was revealed during the 27th night of Ramadan. Some people say that Laylat-ul-Qadr is the 17th night of Ramadan, since it was the day when they fought the Battle of Badr. It is related by Abu Dawud in his "Sunan" on the authority of Ibn Mas`ud (may Allah be pleased with him) that the Messenger of Allah (peace be upon him) said, ﴿Look for it (Laylat-ul-Qadr) in the 17th night of Ramadan.﴾ However, this Hadith is debatable because the Sanad has Hakim ibn Sayf. The soundest opinion is that Laylat-ul-Qadr is sought during the last ten nights of Ramadan and preferably the odd ones.

Is it right that the Glorious Qur'an was revealed in seven different ways and why?

A: Yes, it is right that the Glorious Qur'an was revealed in seven different ways.

It was authentically reported on the authority of `Umar ibn Al-Khattab (may Allah be pleased with him) that the Prophet (peace be upon him) said, \(This Qur'an has been revealed in seven different ways, so recite of it whichever \(way\) is easier for you \(or read as much of it as may be easy for you\)\). Related by Imam Ahmad, Al-Bukhari, Muslim, Abu Dawud, Al-Nasa'y and Al-Tirmidhy. The first question of Fatwa no. 11003

Q 1: Which of those two Ayahs (Qur'anic verses) ﴿This day, I have perfected your religion for you, completed My Favour upon you, and have chosen for you Islâm as your religion.﴾ (Surah Al-Ma'idah, 5: 3) and ﴿And be afraid of the Day when you shall be brought back to Allâh. Then every person shall be paid what he earned, and they shall not be dealt with unjustly.﴾ (Surah Al-Baqarah 2: 281) was the last to be revealed to the Messenger of Allah (peace be upon him)?

A: The last Ayah revealed was Allah's Saying: ﴿And be afraid of the Day when you shall be brought back to Allâh.﴾ It was related by Al-Nasa'iy on the authority of Ibn `Abbas (may Allah be pleased with them) that the last Ayah revealed was ﴿And be afraid of the Day when you shall be brought back to Allâh. Then every person shall be paid what he earned, and they shall not be dealt with unjustly.﴾

As for His Saying: ﴿This day, I have perfected your religion for you﴾ it was revealed during the Farewell Hajj on the Day of `Arafah (9th of Dhul-Hijjah). It was related by Al-Bukhari, when commenting on this Ayah, from Qays on the authority of Tariq ibn Shihab who said: ﴿The Jews said to `Umar: You recite an Ayah which, if it had been revealed in relation to us, we would have taken that day as a feast. Thereupon, `Umar said, "I know the day on which it was revealed and where it was revealed and where the Messenger of Allah (peace be upon him) was when it was revealed. It was revealed on the Day of `Arafah when we were in `Arafah."﴾

Q: Please be advised that we are going to make New Year calendars that include Ayahs (Qur'anic verses). They are going to be distributed in every country around the world. Please advise whether it is permissible to write Ayahs on the calendars or not.

A: It is not permissible to write Ayahs on calendars. This exposes them to degradation, as the papers are eventually thrown on the ground or in the wastebasket.

in addition to Allah's Saying: ﴿Verily, Allâh commands that you should render back the trusts to those to whom they are due﴾ It is written in the form of a logo, and Allah's Name and the Ayah (Qur'anic verse) are written inversely in an ornamented style.

Is it permissible in Shari`ah (Islamic law) to use the Ayahs and Names of Allah in this way? If it is not permissible, please warn the companies against writing the Ayahs in this way and using them for commercial or personal purposes. May Allah reward you with the best!

A: It is not permissible to use a Qur'anic Ayah as a company's logo. The Qur'an cannot be used as a title for a shop, as this entails disrespecting it.

A: It is permissible for a person who is Junub to mention Allah (Glorified and Exalted be He) without reciting the Qur'an. It was authentically reported that the Prophet (peace be upon him) used to mention Allah (Exalted be He) at all times. Only a Junub person is prevented from reciting the Qur'an. (Part No. 3; Page No. 68)

A: It is permissible for a person to recite the Qur'an in the bedroom and while lying on one's bed unless they are Junub (in a state of major ritual impurity). A person can also recite the Qur'an in the bedroom provided that they have performed Wudu' (ablution).

Q: We teach religion to first year primary students who are six or seven years old. In the Qur'an lesson, the pupils hold the Mus-haf (Arabic Qur'an) to follow up, so that they learn the alphabetic letters. Should all of them perform Wudu' (ablution) before the Qur'an lesson or only those who have reached the age of seven? Please advise in detail and mention the evidence on this. May Allah protect you.

A: Those who have reached the age of seven should be asked to perform Wudu' to hold the Mus-haf. As for those who are under the age of seven, they should not hold the Mus-haf according to the saying of the Prophet (peace be upon him), \(None should touch the Qur'an except one who is Tahir \(ritually pure\).\) There is no harm in writing Ayahs of the Qur'an for them on a board for the purpose of learning.

The third question of Fatwa no. 21173

Q 3: We know that touching the Mus-haf (Arabic Qur'an) without having performed Wudu' (ablution) is not permissible for it is mentioned in the Noble Qur'an that (Which (that Book with Allâh) none can touch but the purified (i.e. the angels).) Yet, some people say that a Muslim is Tahir (ritually pure); so it is permitted for them to touch the Mus-haf and recite it without having performed Wudu'. Likewise, students at school can recite it without having performed Wudu'. Please answer us. May Allah reward you best with the best!

A: The correct opinion is that it is not permissible to touch the Mus-haf unless after having Taharah (ritual purification). This is because of Allah's Saying: (Which (that Book with Allâh) none can touch but the purified (i.e. the angels).) In the letter which the Prophet (peace be upon him) wrote to `Amr ibn Hazm, it was mentioned that (No one should touch the Qur'an unless they are Tahir...) This is the opinion of the Four Imams (Abu Hanifah, Malik, Al-Shafi`y, and Ahmad) and other scholars. School students are included in this ruling and if they are too young, they should be taught this behavior with the Qur'an so as to be accustomed to respecting the Qur'an.

Q 1: To show the high status of the Qur'an, Allah (Exalted be He) says: ﴿Which \(that Book with Allâh\) none can touch but the purified \(i.e. the angels\).﴾ Is it prohibited to touch the Mus-haf (Arabic Qur'an) without performing Wudu' (ablution)?

A: It is not permissible to touch the Mus-haf with no barrier unless the person is in a state of Taharah (ritual purification), whether of major or minor ritual impurity. The Prophet (peace be upon him) said: ﴿None should touch the Qur'an except one who is Tahir \(ritually pure\).﴾

It is not permissible for a person who is Junub (in a state of major ritual impurity) to recite the Qur'an from a Mus-haf or by heart because the Prophet (peace be upon him) did not recite the Qur'an while he was in this state.

Q: Is it permissible to recite the Qur'an without having performed Wudu' (ablution)? Is it permissible to carry the Mus-haf (Arabic Qur'an) or search for any Ayah (Qur'anic verse) in it without having performed Wudu' (ablution)?

A: First, it is not permissible for a person who has not performed Wudu' to recite from the Mus-haf. According to a Hadith Marfu' (a Hadith narrated from the Prophet with a connected or disconnected chain of narration) which was narrated on the authority of `Amr ibn Hazm, the Prophet (peace be upon him) said: \("No one should touch the Qur'an except one who is Tahir \(ritually pure\)."\)

Q 2: In his book: The Bride's Boon, p. 389, the author Mahmud Mahdy Al-Istanbuli mentions in the footnote placed on line twelve [in the Arabic edition]: "As for touching the Qur'an, it is not Haram (prohibited) for a person who is Junub (in a state of major ritual impurity) or a menstruating woman to touch. However, it is preferable to touch it while in a state of Taharah (ritual purification). As for Allah's saying,

(Part No. 3; Page No. 72)

﴿That (this) is indeed an honourable recitation (the Noble Qur'ān).﴾ ﴿In a Book well-guarded (with Allāh in the heaven i.e. Al-Lauh Al-Mahfūz).﴾ ﴿Which (that Book with Allāh) none can touch but the purified (i.e. the angels).﴾ the pronoun in "Yamassuhu" i.e. touch it, refers to the Al-Lawh-ul-Mahfuzh (the Preserved Tablet), not the holy Qur'an and THE PURIFIED refers to the angels. As for the Hadith that states, ﴿None should touch the Qur'an except one who is pure﴾, it refers to Al-Mu'min (the believer). According to a report narrated in the Sahih of Al-Bukhari: ﴿Verily, a believer is never defiled.﴾ Kindly provide us with the answer regarding the opinion mentioned above.

A: What is mentioned in the said book concerning the permissibility of touching the Qur'an by ritually impure persons is not true, because it contradicts the direction the Prophet (peace be upon him) dedicates in his teachings written to `Amr ibn Hazm where he states: ﴿None should touch the Qur'an except one who is [ritually] pure.﴾ Moreover, the well versed Imams unanimously agreed on that as related by Shaykh-ul-Islam Ibn Taymiyyah (may Allah be merciful with him).

Q 3: If I am reciting the Qur'an from the Mus-haf (Arabic Qur'an) and I feel some intestinal gases, should I expel them while holding the Mus-haf or should I put the Mus-haf aside and stop reciting?

A: Passing wind nullifies Wudu' (ablution) according to the Ijma' (consensus of scholars). Thus, if you do so while reciting the Qur'an, your Wudu' is nullified and you are no longer in a state of Taharah (ceremonial purification). Consequently, you are not permitted to continue holding the Mus-haf; instead you should put it in a Tahir (ceremonially pure) place and it is not lawful for you to touch it until when you are in a state of complete Taharah from major and minor ceremonial impurity. This is because Allah (Exalted be He) states: «Which \(that Book with Allâh\) none can touch but the purified \(i.e. the angels\).» Also, it was authentically reported from the Prophet (peace be upon him) that he said: «None should touch the Qur'an except one who is Tahir.» You are permitted to recite the Qur'an by heart without touching the Mus-haf if you are not Junub (in a state of major ceremonial impurity). Fatwa no. 18676

Q: What are the etiquettes of reciting the Glorious Qur'an?

A: Etiquettes of reciting the Qur'an include:

1. A Muslim should recite the Qur'an for the sake of Allah without Riya' (showing-off) or seeking a reputation. He should not request money for his recitation since he dedicates his worship to Allah.
2. He should seek refuge with Allah from the accursed Satan

(Part No. 3; Page No. 74)

when he starts reciting the Qur'an and say "Bismillah Al-Rahman, Al-Rahim [In the Name of Allah, the Most Gracious, the Most Merciful]" when his recitation starts from the beginning of the Surah (Qur'anic chapter). Surah Al-Tawbah is an exception.

3. It is recommended for the person who recites the Qur'an to be in the state of Wudu' (ablution). Wudu' becomes obligatory when he recites the Qur'an from a Mus-haf (Arabic Qur'an). The Prophet (peace be upon him) said, [\(None should touch the Qur'an except one who is \[ritually\] pure.\)](#)

4. It is preferable for the person who recites the Qur'an to be in a proper sitting position and wear proper clothes, and his face should be towards the direction of Qiblah. He should choose a proper place that suits the Qur'an.

5. It is preferable for the Muslim to recite the Qur'an with submission, humbleness, carefulness and reflection on its Ayahs (Qur'anic verses). He should recite it totally pondering on what he reads without interrupting his recitation by unnecessary talk.

6. It is recommended that a Muslim recites the Qur'an in a beautiful tone and clear pronunciation of the letters and diacritical marks, paying attention to the rules of Tajwid (art of Qur'anic recitation) as much as possible.

7. One should not disturb people in or outside Salah (prayer) by reciting the Qur'an very loudly.

8. One should not recite the Qur'an very rapidly to the extent that the listener can not understand the recitation or excessively lengthen its vowels in a way that spoils the utterances. This is not the purpose of reciting the Qur'an; so one should adopt a moderate way.

9. While reciting the Qur'an one should not copy singers, recital of Christians or the wailing of priests - all these are not permissible.

(Part No. 3; Page No. 75)

10. One should stop his recitation when yawning until he closes his mouth out of respecting Allah. That is because a Muslim who recites the Qur'an is talking to his Lord, while yawning comes from Satan.

11. Whenever one comes to an Ayah that talks about mercy, he should stop and ask Allah of His bounty. Whenever he comes to an Ayah that conveys punishment and threat, he should stop and seek refuge with Allah from that. Whenever he comes to an Ayah that implies Tasbih (glorification of Allah), he should stop and glorify Allah. This is done when a Muslim recites Qur'an outside the obligatory Salah.

Q 3: Praise be to Allah, I am well-versed in reciting the Qur'an in compliance with the rules of recitation of the Qur'an so much that people who hear my recitation may say that it is the first time they hear the Qur'an out of admiration of my recitation. Is it permissible for me to recite the Qur'an in this way taking into account that it does not sound like the forbidden songs at all?

A: It is allowable for a man to beautify his voice when reciting the Qur'an and likewise a woman if she is not heard by Ajanib (men lawful for the woman to marry). However, it is not permissible to recite the Qur'an the same way as Islamic songs even if it does not sound like the forbidden songs.

The first question of Fatwa no. 18611

Q 1: I read in Ibn Qudamah's book "Mukhtasar Minhaj Al-Qasidin" that Amir Al-Mu'minin (The Commander of the Believers), `Uthman ibn `Affan, used to recite the whole Qur'an in one Rak`ah (unit of Prayer). It also states that Imam Al-Shafi'i used to complete the recitation of the whole Qur'an twice a day. Furthermore, I have read that the Messenger of Allah (peace be upon him) did not allow `Abdullah ibn `Amr ibn Al-`As to complete the recitation of the Qur'an in less than three days. Are these narrations authentic?

(Part No. 3; Page No. 79)

A: It is confirmed that the Prophet (peace be upon him) forbade reciting the whole Qur'an in less than seven, five or three nights. It is related that some of the Salaf (righteous predecessors) used to finish the recitation of the whole Qur'an in less than that, and scholars hold different views regarding the prohibition. Al-Nawawi (may Allah be merciful with him) said, "It depends on the person. It is permissible for anyone who has a good understanding and intellect to finish the recitation during the period that allows them to contemplate the Qur'an and reflect upon its meanings. The same applies to those who have knowledge such as scholars and those responsible for Islamic and public affairs of Muslims. It is permissible for them to finish the recitation of the Qur'an during the period that does not hinder understanding it. However, anyone else who does not have as much knowledge, it is better for them to increase the period of recitation as much as they can without becoming bored or reciting hastily without understanding".

Other scholars consider the prohibition refers to making it a habit of reciting the whole Qur'an in less than three days. Al-Hafizh Ibn Rajab (may Allah be merciful with him) said, "The prohibition refers to continuously reciting the whole Qur'an in less than three days. As for blessed times, such as during Ramadan and especially the nights when Laylat-ul-Qadr (the Night of Decree) is sought, and blessed places such as Makkah for those who enter it other than its residents, it is desirable to recite as much Qur'an as possible to benefit from the time and place. This is the opinion adopted by Imam Ahmad, Ishaq and other Imams (founders of a School of Jurisprudence). It is also supported by the conduct of other scholars".

Q 5: When a person comes to the Masjid (mosque) before Adhan (call to Prayer), offers the obligatory Salah (prayer), sits to recite the Qur'an and the Mu'adhin (a caller for prayer) calls for Salah while he is reciting; which is better to recite subvocally while the Mu'adhin calls for prayer until he ends the fourth time of Takbir (saying: "Allahu Akbar" i.e. Allah is the Greatest) of the first part of Adhan, then he stops reciting and follows the Mu'adhin from the beginning except when the Mu'adhin says: "Hay `Ala Al-Salah" and "Hay `Ala Al-Falah". He would then follow the Mu'adhin until he completes Adhan to get the two rewards: the reward of following the Mu'adhin and that of the recitation done at the beginning of Adhan? or should a person follow the Mu'adhin in Adhan and stop recitation?

A: It is an act of Sunnah to stop recitation and repeat after the Mu'adhin word by word. The Prophet (peace be upon him) says: "When you hear the Mu'adhin, repeat what he says" (Agreed upon by Bukhari and Muslim).

Q: Thanks and praise are due to Allah Who helps a person continue to recite the Qur'an and most times a person may read all of the Qur'an every week or every two weeks. However, if a person concludes reading the Qur'an on Tuesday or Thursday, they stop at the Al-Mu`awwidhatayn (two last Surahs of the Qur'an) and begin with surah Al-Fatihah and Al-Baqarah. Then, on the night of Friday (i.e. Thursday night) after Maghrib (Sunset) Prayer they read Al-Mu`awwidhatayn and say the supplication of concluding reading the Glorious Qur'an so as to obtain the virtues of Thursday and the night of Friday and, if Allah wills and with His Mercy, the supplication of the Angels on the night of Friday as related in the Hadith. The question now is: What about delaying concluding reading the Qur'an until Thursdays and Fridays? Is it an act of Bid`ah (innovation in religion) and are a person's intentions and Ijtihad (juristic effort to infer expert legal rulings) null and void? Answer me, may Allah reward you with the best of this world and the blessings of the Hereafter!

A: The act of Sunnah in this case is to conclude reading the Qur'an and not delay reading Al-Mu`awwidhatayn to Friday or any other day. So, he should conclude his reading until he reaches the last Surah of the Qur'an then he can invoke Allah with the supplications included in the Qur'an after praising Allah and His Messenger (peace be upon him). This is correspondent to the way of Salaf (Righteous Predecessors -may Allah confer mercy upon them). Then, he starts again from Al-Fatihah and so on.

Q 8: If a Muslim enters the Masjid (mosque) and offers Tahiyat-ul-Masjid (two-unit-Prayer to greet the mosque), and then finds, near his right or left side, a man reciting the Qur'an; should he greet him or not? He fears disturbing the reciter by greeting him and thus committing a sin. Yet, if he does not greet him, the latter may harbor ill feelings. The Prophet (peace be upon him) said, «Spread the greeting 'Al-Salamu alaykum \(Peace be unto you\)' among you.» as related in the Hadith. The reciter may not know that the person has not greeted him out of fear of disturbing him. So, which is better; to greet the reciter at once or wait until the Iqamah (call to start the Prayer) is called? May Allah reward you with the best of this world and the Hereafter, and may He extend your life! Amen.

A: The Sunnah practice (whatever is reported from the Prophet) is to greet the reciter at once, according to what is mentioned in the Sahih (authentic) Hadith talking about the merit of greeting and shaking hands with Muslims upon meeting them.

Q 2: I heard from seekers of Islamic knowledge that anyone who recites the Qur'an without knowing its Tafsir (explanation/exegesis) is a sinner. Your Eminence, what is your opinion concerning this, given that I do not know Tafsir?

A: Reciting the Qur'an, even without understanding its meaning, is considered of the righteous deeds which are rewarded. However, when the Muslim reflects upon what he recites and thinks deeply about the meanings of Allah's Words, his reward is greater and he is going to be more affected by it. The claim of the said person is a clear fault from which he should repent to Allah (Exalted be He).

Q 2: is the reward for reciting the Qur'an and Dhikr (Remembrance of Allah) based on contemplating it or just on recitation without understanding or contemplation?

A: Reciting the Qur'an along with contemplating it is greater in reward, for this combines a reward for recitation and a reward for contemplation. Allah (Exalted be He) says, ﴿that they may ponder over its Verses﴾ When a Muslim recites it without understanding or contemplating its meaning, he will get a reward for the recitation. (Tafsir At-Tabari).﴾ Does the command to listen to Qur'an in this Ayah (Qur'anic verse) imply obligation or encouragement?

A: It is legislated for every Muslim that when hearing the Qur'an outside the Salah (Prayer) to listen to it and be silent in order to receive the mercy of Allah (Glorified be He) and to be aware of the admonitions from the Qur'an as Allah (Exalted be He) states: ﴿So, when the Qur'ân is recited, listen to it, and be silent that you may receive mercy. [i.e. during the compulsory congregational prayers when the Imâm (of a mosque) is leading the prayer (except Sûrat Al-Fâtihah), and also when he is delivering the Friday-prayer Khutbah]. (Tafsir At-Tabari).﴾ A Muslim must not abandon listening to the Qur'an and busying one's self with other things while one is able to listen to it. Doing so deliberately exposes one to being described as one who has the characteristics of Kafirs (disbelievers) whom Allah (Glorified be He) mentions their turning away from the Qur'an saying: ﴿Listen not to this Qur'ân, and make noise in the midst of its (recitation) that you may overcome.﴾

However, while in Salah it is Wajib (obligatory) on a Ma'mum (a person being led by an Imam in Prayer) to listen and be silent when the Imam (the one who leads congregational Prayer) recites Qur'an in the Jahri Salah (Prayer recited out loud), in Jumu`ah (Friday) Prayer, during Khutbah (sermon), in the Two `Eid Prayers, etc. Evidence for this is the Ayah mentioned above and the Hadith that is related by Imam Muslim in his Sahih (authentic) Book of Hadith on the authority of Abu Musa Al-Ash`ari (may Allah be pleased with him) who said that the Messenger of Allah (peace be upon him) stated: ﴿Imam is appointed only to be followed; so when he recites takbir, you should also recite that, and when he recites (the Qur'an), keep silent.﴾ It is noteworthy to mention that Ashab-ul-Sunan (authors of Hadith compilations classified by jurisprudential themes) related a Hadith similar to it on the authority of Abu Hurayrah (may Allah be pleased with him). However, a Ma'mum must recite Surah Al-Fatihah in the Jahri Salah even if the Imam is reciting Qur'an for it is Wajib on the Imam, Ma'mum, and Munfarid (a person who performs Prayer alone) to recite Al-Fatihah. This is proven by a Sahih Hadith that is reported from the Prophet (peace be upon him) who stated: ﴿The prayer of whoever does not recite Surah Al-Fatihah is invalid.﴾ The generality of this Ayah is made specific by this Hadith and the Hadith quoted earlier for the obligation of listening to the recitation of the Imam. This is a way of reconciling between the Sahih established proofs as it is also narrated by `Ubadah ibn Al-Samit (may Allah be pleased with him) that he said: ﴿We were behind the Messenger of Allah (peace be upon him) at the Fajr (Dawn) Prayer, and he recited (the passage), but the recitation became difficult for him.

(Part No. 3; Page No. 90)

Then when he finished, he said: 'Perhaps you recite behind your imam?' We replied: 'Yes, it is so'.

He said: 'Do not do so except when it is Fatihat al-Kitab 'Surah Al-Fatihah' for he who does not recite it is not credited with having prayed'. ﴿ (Related by Al-Imam Ahmad, Al-Tirmidhi, and Abu Dawud with a good chain of narrators).

The fifth question of Fatwa no. 21139

Q 5: does an unlettered person who hears the Qur'an from the radio get the same reward of the reciter?

A: Reciting and hearing the Qur'an are among the duties of believers in this world and they are of the best acts of worship. Many Ayahs and Hadith exhort Muslims to either recite the Qur'an themselves or listen to it being recited by others. A person may listen to the Qur'an from a reciter, radio broadcasting, or a recorded tape. All these forms of listening are rewarded. The listener should reflect and be humble at listening to the Qur'an and act accordingly. This is the main goal of revealing the Qur'an, not just listening as many people do. Allah commands us to recite the Qur'an, listen to it, contemplate it and act according to it. However, if the people around do not listen to the Qur'an due to any reason while being recited, it will not be permissible for the reciter to raise his voice when reciting the Qur'an. Q: Praise be to Allah Alone and peace and blessings be upon the Last Prophet. To commence:

The Permanent Committee for Scholarly Research and Ifta' has reviewed the letter submitted to the General Mufti from his Excellency, the director of the Islamic University in Madinah no. 301 on 18/1/1417 A.H. and referred to the Committee by the Secretariat General of the Council of Senior Scholars no. 626 on 29/1/1417 A.H. The question is as follows:

Attached to the letter a query sent by Al-Nu`man ibn `Abdullah Zubayr about a recitation of the Qur'an according to Warsh style, that he heard an Imam reading in the Masjid of the University. He attributed to your Eminence a comment on some Qira'at (recitation styles) that states: "In lectures, Salahs and people's gatherings, the reciter should read the Qur'an in the recitation style of Hafs. It is enough for the person to learn the art of Qira'at in educational institutions, circles of the Qur'an or the like."

The issue was referred to the Dean of the Student Affairs Dr. `Awad ibn Ahmad Sultan Al-Shihry with his comments attached to it. I wish your Eminence will read this and give us your point of view.

A: After the Committee studied the query, it gave the following answer:

It is not permissible for the Imam of the Masjid or the reciter to recite the Qur'an in Salah or people's gatherings except in the common recitation style that people know in the relevant locality, whether people of that locality read the Qur'an according to Hafs, Warsh, Qalun or any other recitation style transmitted by Tawatur (a significant number of narrators whose agreement upon a lie is impossible). That is to avoid distracting and confusing the common people. However, if a man recites the Qur'an in one of the various recitation styles when he is alone or in circles of knowledge for the purpose of learning and teaching this art, it will be good and enough.

May Allah grant us success! May peace and blessings be upon our Prophet Muhammad, his family and Companions!

Q 3: should a person who recites from the middle of a surah say Basmalah i.e. Bismillahi Al-Rahman Al-Rahim (in the name of Allah, Most Gracious, Most Merciful) or just say: Isti`adhah i.e. A`udhu Billahi Min Al-Shaytan Al-Rajim (I seek refuge with Allah from the outcast Satan)?

A: Anyone who recites the Qur'an beginning with the middle of a Surah should start with Isti`adhah and recite without Basmalah. Allah, the Exalted, says, ﴿So when you want to recite the Qur'ân, seek refuge with Allâh from Shaitân \(Satan\), the outcast \(the cursed one\).﴾

As for a person who recites from the beginning of a Surah, he should say Isti`adhah and Basmalah except in the beginning of Surah Al-Tawbah where Basmalah should not be said.

Q 4: What is the opinion of Your Eminence regarding qira'at (recitation style) Hadr (reciting the qur'an rapidly yet following the rules) that is widespread in Saudi Arabia and the melodious recitation that is widespread in Egypt and which is characterized by protraction?

A: It is a prerequisite to recite the Qur'an in the proper and right way at a slow pace. It is also recommended to recite it in a good voice. Actually, Hadr is a good style for reciting the Qur'an. However, melodious and very slow paced recitation is not permissible as it resembles singing. In fact, the Qur'an should be far above from being recited as such.

Is it permissible to recite the Qur'an inversely in Salah (Prayer), outside Salah or when memorizing the Qur'an?

A: It is not permitted to recite the Ayahs or the words of the Ayah of the Qur'an inverted; rather they must be recited as ordered in words and place between other Ayahs as they are in the Glorious Qur'an. The order of the Ayahs of the Qur'an is Tawqifi (bound by a religious text and not amenable to personal opinion) as related from Allah's Messenger (peace be upon him). The Sahabah (Companions of the Prophet), may Allah be pleased with them, received Q 6: Is the form of Du`a' (supplication) upon completing the recitation of the Qur'an that is ascribed to Ibn Taymiyyah valid? According to the Sunnah, what should be done upon completing the recitation of the Noble Qur'an?

A: We know of no authentic foundation for ascribing this Du`a' to Shaykh-ul-Islam Ibn Taymiyyah. Furthermore, we did not read it in any of his books. However, it is widely ascribed to him. There is nothing wrong with it. It is also permissible for a Muslim to say other supplications, for there is no evidence in respect of singling out a certain Du`a' to be said upon completing the recitation of the Qur'an.

Q 1: upon completing reciting the entire Qur'an, I gather my family and say the known supplication of concluding the recitation of the Qur'an while they say "Amen." After finishing this collective supplication, each one supplicates to Allah for himself. Is this act Mustahab (desirable), which I should keep doing or is it a Bid`ah (innovation in religion), which I should leave? Should I say the supplication of concluding the recitation of the Qur'an for myself only? Or should I give up the supplication of concluding the recitation of the Qur'an and recite the Qur'an only?

Enlighten us with your Fatwa, may Allah reward you with the best!

A: The Glorious Qur'an is the best Dhikr (Remembrance of Allah) for it is the Word of Allah (Glorified and Exalted be He). Allah commands us to recite the Qur'an, contemplate it and act according to it. Supplicating to Allah after performing Dhikr makes it more likely for the invocations to be answered. Many of the Salaf (the Righteous Predecessors) used to do this including Anas ibn Malik (may Allah be pleased with him). Thus, there is no blame in gathering one's family and saying the supplications as this makes it more likely for the invocations to be answered.

Q 4: is it permissible for a Muslim not to memorize anything but Surah Al-Fatihah and Al-Mu`awwidhatayn (Surahs Al-Falaq and Al-Nas) without any attempt to memorize more Surahs?

Fatwa no. 15360

Q: What is the legal ruling on a Muslim youth who wants to memorize the Qur'an but can not do it except in the following manner: he stays up late after performing `Isha' (Night) Prayer until Fajr (Dawn) Prayer, then he continues memorizing until nine o'clock and then sleeps. Thus, he misses Zhuhr (Noon) congregational Prayer that he sometimes offers at two or three o'clock in the afternoon or combines with `Asr (Afternoon) Prayer at the time of the later one. As for the rest of the Salahs, he performs them in congregation and never goes late. This manner of memorization had effective results, so he managed to memorize sixteen Juz's (a Juz' represents 30th part of the Qur'an) during six months only. He wants to continue until he completes the memorization of the Qur'an. I denied his neglect of the congregational Zhuhr prayer and delaying it beyond its due time. However, he argued that when he sleeps at night, he can not memorize during the daytime as he is so preoccupied. Moreover, he says that his memorization is even better when he performs Qiyam-ul-Layl (standing for optional Prayer at night) reciting the memorized Surahs as well as performing Fajr prayer in congregation. He tried so many times to memorize during the daytime but to no avail. He also said that he only resorted to this method for the purpose of memorizing the Qur'an. We know that his intention is good but what is the legal ruling in this regard?

A: Memorizing the Qur'an is a remarkable deed that is required from all Muslims in general and from the seekers of knowledge in particular. Indeed, it is very easy for anyone who has a sincere intention. As for what the questioner said that this Muslim youth stays up late to memorize the Qur'an in addition to some hours of the day after which he sleeps and accordingly misses Zhuhr Prayer and sometimes delays it until the time for `Asr Prayer is due, this is not permissible. He is only making things harder for himself and neglects obligations i.e. performing Salah at its due time. Indeed, memorizing the Qur'an is a recommended act and the obligations should not be overlooked for the attainment of recommended acts. Instead, he may dedicate certain times during the night or daytime in a way that does not conflict with the performance of the obligatory acts. Furthermore, staying up the whole night is a Makruh (reprehensible) matter and contradictory to the Sunnah of the Prophet (peace be upon him) who said, \(By Allah, I am more submissive to Allah and more afraid of Him than you; yet, I do pray and sleep, I fast and break my fast and I also marry women. So anyone who does not follow my tradition in religion is not from me \(not one of my followers\).\) (Agreed upon by Al-Bukhari and Muslim)

Fatwa no. 16302

Q: I heard a Hadith reported from the Messenger (peace be upon him), which states what means that anyone who memorizes the whole of the Ever-Glorious Qur'an shall intercede with Allah for seven people of their family. Is this a Sahih (authentic) or Da'if (weak) Hadith?

I heard such Hadith from an Imam (the one who leads congregational Prayer) in a Masjid (mosque). This urged me to memorize the Qur'an, due to the death of a dear person, hoping that Allah would avail us of what He has taught us. Allah is the One Who guides to the Straight Path. Please guide me in this regard. May Allah reward you with the best!

A: This is a Hadith Marfu' (a Hadith narrated from the Prophet with a connected or disconnected chain of narration) reported on the authority of 'Aly ibn Abu Talib (may Allah be pleased with him) and reads as follows: "Anyone who recites and memorizes the Qur'an and regards what it makes lawful as lawful and its unlawful as forbidden (i.e. they act according to it), Allah will admit them into Jannah (Paradise) and will accept their intercession on behalf of ten such persons of their family who are doomed to enter the Fire." (Related by Ahmad in his Musnad (Hadith compilation), Al-Tirmidhy, and Ibn Majah)

The source of its Sanad (chain of narrators) according to them is Abu 'Umar ibn Sulayman, the reciter of the Qur'an and the scholar of 'Asim. However, he is Matruk (a narrator whose Hadith transmission was discarded due to unreliability) although he is a leading scholar in the science of Qira'at (recitation styles). Thus, this Hadith is not authentically reported from the Prophet (peace be upon him).

There are many texts of the Sunnah that are Sahih and are authentically reported from the Prophet (peace be upon him) with regard to the merits of the Ever-Glorious Qur'an and of reciting it, the great rewards which Allah (Exalted be He) has promised for those who recite it, and the etiquettes of its recitation. Many scholars wrote several books about this subject. May Allah make us of the memorizers of the Qur'an who abide by its teachings! Amen.

Q: which is better; to listen to the Qur'an or to recite it? What is the ruling in this regard?

A: Both reciting the Ever-Glorious Qur'an and listening to it are of the good deeds. The Prophet (peace be upon him) heard the Qur'an from Ibn Mas'ud and others. However, reciting the Ever-Glorious Qur'an is greater, for the Prophet (peace be upon him) said: «Anyone who recites a letter from the Book of Allah will receive a Hasanah \(good deed\), and the Hasanah is multiplied by ten. I do not say that Alif-Lam-Mim is \(considered as\) a letter, rather Alif is a letter, Lam is a letter, and Mim is a letter.»

The first question of Fatwa no. 18849

Q 1: is it Fard (obligatory) to memorize the Ever-Glorious Qur'an?

A: Memorizing the Ever-Glorious Qur'an is a collective obligation. It is not obligatory upon every individual in the Ummah (Muslim nation) to memorize it. However, memorizing the Qur'an is one of the best deeds that draw a person closer to Allah. In addition, it is greatly rewarded provided that the Muslim acts upon its rulings and abides by its Hudud (limits).

Q 2: I hope I could memorize the Ever-Glorious Qur'an; but I can not because I have many problems so I do not have time for reciting; what should I do?

A: Allah (Exalted be He) has made easy the means that help memorizing His Ever-Glorious Qur'an, so you should follow such means. The best means is to learn the Qur'an at the hands of one of the trustworthy scholars, who can instruct you, correct your mistakes and point out the meaning to you. We advise you to recite the Qur'an as much as possible, for this entails a great reward and guides you to all goodness, as Allah (Glorified be He) says, \(Verily, this Qur'ân guides to that which is most just and right\)

A: Muslims are required to memorize the Qur'an in a way that is free from Lahn (incorrect recitation due to mispronunciation of letters or grammatical mistakes). However, memorizing the Qur'an according to the rules of Tajwid (art of Qur'anic recitation) is recommended, if possible.

Q2: What is your advise in order for us to remember what we have unfortunately forgotten of the Qur'an due to preoccupation with worldly affairs? is the reward of listening to the Qur'an on a cassette player equal to the reward of reciting it oneself?

A:

First: One of the most important means that helps in memorizing the Qur'an is repetition of the sections of the Qur'an, studying them, reciting them often, invoking Allah (Glorified be He) to help one do this, and doing good deeds and abandoning sin.

Second: Listening to the Qur'an, whether from someone reciting it or from recorded tapes, Q: I am a teacher of Qur'an in a circle for memorizing the Qur'an in a Masjid (mosque) in Makkah Al-Mukarramah. I have a question which I wish your Eminence to send its answer to the Islamic Propagation Office in Makkah Al-Mukarramah. The question is: i teach children the short Surahs (Qur'anic Chapter) of the Qur'an. They say what they memorize from memory in the following order; Surah Al-Nas then Surah Al-Falaq then Surah Al-Ikhlās and so on until Surah Al-Duha for example. Q 2: the people in charge of Qur'an memorization lessons at a charitable school give prizes as incentives. They reward the students with tapes of scholars' lectures or Mus-haf (Arabic Qur'an) to encourage them to memorize the Qur'an. What is the ruling on such gifts? It is worth mentioning that some people claim that students only memorize the Qur'an for the sake of gaining these prizes, and this leads to not being sincere to Allah with regard to their intention. Please advise, may Allah reward you the best!

A: It is permissible to offer monetary prizes to students to encourage them to memorize the Qur'an. However, the students' attention should be directed to the necessity of having sincere intentions with regard to memorizing the Qur'an and then they can think of the prizes. Accordingly, receiving these gifts should not be the reason for memorizing the Qur'an.

What is the degree of authenticity of the previous Hadith? Am I excused or not?

A: we know of no evidence supporting the authenticity of this Hadith mentioned in the question threatening those who forget the Qur'an or parts of it or relating it from the Prophet (peace be upon him). Yet, it is necessary to revise the Qur'an regularly and recite it often, for the Prophet (peace be upon him) encouraged and exhorted doing this.

The problem is that my mother reproached me saying I have nothing to do with others as long as I offer my prayers and rely on Allah. She asked me to leave other people's children alone. So I explained to her the great reward of teaching the Qur'an, but she was not convinced. She asked me why I wanted to sit with young children and be seen with them giving people reason to laugh at me. She said that people will go around saying I was sitting with the children of so-and-so. What should I do? Please enlighten me, and may Allah enlighten you!

A: teaching the Glorious Qur'an to children in the Masjid is a noble deed and you should be praised for doing it. It is confirmed that the Prophet (peace be upon him) stated, ﴿"The best among you are those who learn the Qur'an and teach it."﴾ So continue your efforts to teach children having a sincere intention. but they insist I take it saying that it is only a gift. I truly seek the reward of Allah, but they send the money with their children as a fixed salary even though I do not ask them to do so. Could you please tell me what the ruling on this is? May Allah reward you.

A: The basic ruling is that it is permissible to receive a fee for teaching the Qur'an. This is because of the generality of the Hadith of the Prophet (peace be upon him): \(You are most entitled to take wages for availing others of Qur'an.\) (Related by Al-Bukhari in his Sahih 'authentic' Book of Hadith).

Accordingly, it is permissible for you to accept the money which is given to you by the guardians of the children as a sort of a gift for teaching and helping the children memorize the Qur'an. Doing so will not deprive you of the abundant and great reward of Allah for your concerned efforts, so long as you have a faithful intention to act sincerely in the cause of Allah (Exalted be He) and are keen to teach the children virtuous manners.

A: This is an act of Bid`ah (innovation in religion) that has no origin in the Qur'an and the Sunnah. It is obligatory to quit it and warn people against it. The Prophet (peace be upon him) said, «Anyone who does an action which is not in accordance with this matter of ours \(Islam\), will have it rejected.» and: «Every novelty \(introduced to religion\) is a Bid`ah and every Bid`ah is an error.» Related by Muslim in his Sahih book of Hadith.

in the era of the Prophet (peace be upon him) or was it introduced by the later generations?

A: reciting the Qur'an for the souls of the dead or reciting it in the graves or hiring someone to recite it is an act of Bid`ah (innovation in religion) and is not permissible. Neither the Prophet (peace be upon him) nor his Companions did so. It was authentically narrated that the Prophet (peace be upon him) used to extend Salam and ask forgiveness for the dead, and Muslims are commanded to imitate him. The Prophet (peace be upon him) said, «Do not make your houses graves, for verily Satan flees from the house in which Surah Al-Baqarah is recited.» This Hadith signifies that Qur'an should not be recited in the graves. Similarly, people's gathering to visit the graves following forty days or one year after someone's death is also an act of Bid`ah that has no origin in the Islamic Shari`ah. In fact, this habit took place at the time when the Ummah (Muslim nation) was ignorant and weak.

The third question of Fatwa no. 18224

Q 3: In Morocco, most of the memorizers of the Qur'an say supplications in behalf of some people in return for a sum of money. They may also recite the Qur'an in behalf of the dead and on occasions, such as wedding ceremonies, in return for money. Moreover, the number of supplications and Ayahs they say and recite depends on the money they receive. What advice should be given to these people? Indeed, they have gone astray and have led others astray, for on some occasions Dhikr (Remembrance of Allah) may be combined with the beating of drums and the playing of pipes. What is the ruling on those who invite them to attend their weddings?

A: It is not permissible to recite the Qur'an in return for a payment and have this as a profession. This is because recitation of the Qur'an is an act of worship and a pious act that brings the person closer to Allah (Exalted be He). Acts of worship are not to be a means for obtaining worldly gains. Allah (Exalted be He) says: ﴿Whosoever desires the life of the world and its glitter, to them We shall pay in full \(the wages of\) their deeds therein, and they will have no diminution therein.﴾ ﴿They are those for whom there is nothing in the Hereafter but Fire﴾ In addition, it is not permissible to combine Dhikr with the sounds of Duff (a tambourine-like instrument without bells), musical instruments, and pipes since this involves disparagement of Dhikr and combining it with forbidden matters. Such habits are ascribed to the Sufis who have gone astray from the right path.

Q: I am a Qur'an reciter and I participate in evening shows during Ramadan. The fee that I receive is not more than twenty Egyptian pounds for one show, including the expenses of the speaker. However, one of my colleagues told me that the recitation that I do is Haram (prohibited) and accordingly the fee that I receive is Haram. He quoted the Hadith of the Prophet (peace be upon him): \(Recite the Qur'an and do not ask for worldly benefits through it, and do not make it as a way of earning your living\) in support of his view.

- What is the ruling on this?
- Is the Hadith referred to above Sahih (authentic)?
- What is the ruling on reciting on condition that one receives a certain fee?
- What is the ruling on reciting Qur'an on evening shows which are held in Ramadan?
- Is the reciter considered sinful for participating in such shows?

A: This act that you do is impermissible. This is because it is considered Bid`ah (innovation in religion) and a way of helping others in sin and transgression. Moreover, it is Haram to receive a fee for reciting Qur'an on such shows of Bid`ah, or on behalf of deceased people.

(Part No. 3; Page No. 117)

As for the hadith in question, Al-Hafizh in his Book Al-Fath declared it as being related by Ahmad, and Abu Ya`la with a good chain of narrators.

Therefore, you must make Tawbah (repentance to Allah), give up reciting Qur'an in such shows, and draw closer to Allah by reciting Qur'an in the Mashru` (Islamic legal) way. The first question of Fatwa no. 21039

Q 1: You advised us that saying "Sadaqa Allahu Al-`Azim" (Allah the Greatest is the Most Truthful) at the end of recitation of the Qur'an is a Bid`ah (innovation in religion) and that it was not practiced at the time of the Prophet (peace be upon him). All this is clear; may Allah reward you with the best. However, what about writing this phrase in the Mushaf (Arabic Qur'an) which, we know, have been printed under the supervision of learned scholars in religion and language? Did not they know that this phrase is written in the end of the Mus-haf? We appreciate your advice. May Allah reward you with the best!

A: The reference in religious matters is the evidence whether mentioned in the Qur'an or the Sunnah (whatever is reported from the Prophet) directly or indirectly. As for the attempts of Ijtihad (juristic effort to infer expert legal rulings) made by religious scholars in which they contradict clear evidence of the Qur'an and Sunnah because of not knowing them or considering them unauthentic or misinterpreting them or such reasons, they cannot be considered legal excuses for any person to depart from authentic religious evidence and adopt those scholars' views. In fact, a person has to accept religious evidence and ignore any other contradicting views, with all due respect to religious scholars for whom we should make Du`a' (supplication) and whom we should avoid defaming. We advise you to read the book

(Part No. 3; Page No. 118)

(Raf`u Al-Malam `An Al-A'imah Al-A`lam) by Shayk-ul-Islam Ibn Taymiyyah (may Allah be merciful with him). Accordingly, writing "Sadaqa Allahu Al-`Azim" at the end of the Mus-haf is a Bid`ah introduced to religion and there is no origin for it. Q: Some education departments are asking about the possibility of tape-recording the Noble Qur'an in an ascending order. This means to tape-record the Qur'an starting with

(Part No. 3; Page No. 119)

Al-Fatihah, since it is the opening chapter of the Qur'an, and then Surahs Al-Nas, Al-Falaq, Al-Ikhlās, Al-Masad, Al-Nasr, Al-Kafirun, and so on until reaching Surah Al-Baqarah. Each tape should include the curriculum of one class. This idea has originated because of some teachers' concern to make the Qur'an available on tapes so that the students would be able to listen to it during their leisure times. Another reason for this idea is to enable the family to follow up their children's curricula (whenever they need to), for they can then listen to the correct recitation accompanied by Tajwid (art of Qur'anic recitation) and Tartil (slow recitation of the Qur'an), which also takes into consideration the students' capabilities and readiness to learn. Respected shaykh, as you may know, formal schools, Qur'an memorization centers, and the Halaqah (learning circles) of shaykhs and scholars teach the Qur'an by starting with the short Surahs and going on in an ascending order until Surah Al-Baqarah. We all memorized the Qur'an as such and we never heard of an honorable scholar who objected to this teaching method. However, while discussing this issue with some colleagues (may Allah reward them the best), they objected and justified their point of view by stating that teaching the Qur'anic Surahs in an ascending order is a self-imposed reality because this is more beneficial for the students and because there is no other option. It is difficult, and almost impossible, to start memorizing the Qur'an from its very beginning. On the other hand, tape-recording the Qur'an is not necessary and the students' benefit is not dependable on it. In fact, it is only a means to help them in their study. After many deliberations, we thought of presenting the issue to Your Eminence to tell us your opinion on the permissibility of tape-recording the curriculum of each class in an ascending order because of the reasons already detailed. We regard these reasons as the best means to enroot the love of Qur'an in the students and their families and also to help them perfect its recitation and contemplate its meanings.

May Allah grant success to us all!

A: It is not permissible to tape-record the Qur'an in a reverse Surah order, by starting with Surah Al-Nas and ending with Surah Al-Baqarah, because the Surahs were given the current order due to the efforts exerted by the Sahabah (Companions of the Prophet (may Allah be pleased with them)) during the era of `Uthman (may Allah be pleased with him). Muslims have been using this order since then, even when teaching the Qur'an to their children. This order is fixed and it will not change even if we memorize the Qur'an starting with the short Surahs of the Mufassal (the last 65-70 chapters of the Qur'an). Accordingly, tape-recording the Qur'an in a reverse order opposes what the Sahabah and their successors used to do and may lead to other risks. It is, thus, obligatory to keep the Qur'an in the same order of its Ayahs (Qur'anic verses) and Surahs, as passed from one Muslim generation to another, whether when writing or tape-recording it.

May Allah grant us success! May peace and blessings be upon our Prophet Muhammad, his family and Companions!

Q 6: A friend told me that anyone who reads the meanings of the Qur'an in English will have no reward, is this true?

A: The Qur'an can only be recited in Arabic, the language in which it was revealed, because it is miraculous and no other language has its equivalent vocabulary. There is nothing wrong with translating the meanings of its words to those who need it and the translation shall take the same ruling as Tafsir (explanation/exegesis of the meanings of the Qur'an).

Q: What is the ruling on some people who sway from right to left and backwards and forwards whilst reciting the Qur'an? Please advise, may Allah reward you!

(Part No. 3; Page No. 122)

A: swaying whilst reciting the Qur'an is one of the habits which should be abandoned. It contradicts the etiquettes required when reciting the Qur'an. When reciting or listening to the Qur'an, a person should listen carefully and not play with things so that the listener and the reciter ponder over the meanings of the Qur'an and their hearts be attuned to Allah (Glorified and Exalted be He). Scholars mentioned that this is one of the habits of the Jews when reciting their Book and we are forbidden to imitate them.

The second question of Fatwa no. 13445

Q 2: Is it permissible for Muslims to read the Injil (Gospel) to know how far it is distorted?

A: It is not permissible for a believer to read the Tawrah (Torah) and Injil, even though they were distorted and changed and Allah (Glorified be He) has given Muslims what is best, which is the Noble Qur'an that has been preserved from any change or distortion. Moreover, the Shari'ah (Islamic law) has abrogated all other earlier laws, and it is the perfect, the greatest, and the most useful to the Servants of Allah. Allah (Exalted be He) states: ﴿This day, I have perfected your religion for you, completed My Favour upon you, and have chosen for you Islâm as your religion.﴾

Allah (Glorified be He) addressed His Prophet (peace be upon him) stating: [﴿Then We have put you \(O Muhammad صلى الله عليه وسلم\) on a \(plain\) way of \(Our\) commandment \[like the one which We commanded Our Messengers before you \(i.e. legal ways and laws of the Islâmic Monotheism\)\]. So follow you that \(Islâmic Monotheism and its laws\), and follow not the desires of those who know not. \(Tafsir At-Tabarî\).﴾](#) It was authentically reported from the Prophet (peace be upon him) that he saw `Umar ibn Al-Khattab holding some pages of the Tawrah. He, thus, became angry and said: ﴿Are you doubtful regarding it \(Islam\) O Ibn Al-Khattab? By Him in Whose Hand is my life, I have brought it to you plain and pure... By Him in Whose Hand is my life, if Musa \(Moses\) was alive he would have followed me.﴾ (Related by Imam Ahmad in his Musnad (Hadith compilation)).

We, thus, advise you to increase your recitation of the Qur'an, take care of it, and act according to its teachings, for it will definitely suffice you from reading the earlier books revealed by Allah.

The first question of Fatwa no. 20703

Q 1: The Messenger of Allah (peace be upon him) said: ("It would be said to the reciter of the Qur'an, 'Recite and ascend; recite here as you did in the worldly life, for your position (in Paradise) is determined by the last Ayah (Qur'anic verse) you recite.'")

On the authority of `Aly ibn Abu Talib (may Allah be pleased with him) who narrated that the Messenger of Allah (peace be upon him) said: ("Anyone who recites the Qur'an and memorizes it and regards what it makes lawful as lawful and its unlawful as forbidden (i.e. they act according to it), Allah will admit them into Jannah (Paradise) and will accept their intercession on behalf of ten such persons of their family who are doomed to enter the Fire.") Regarding the first Hadith, when would it be said to the reciter of the Qur'an "recite;" would it be in this world or on the Day of Resurrection? Would the reward which is mentioned in the two Hadith be given only to those who know the Qur'an by heart or would it be given to every Qur'an reciter even if they do not know the Qur'an by heart?

A: The first Hadith was related by Imam Ahmad, Abu Dawud, and Al-Tirmidhy on the authority of `Abdullah ibn `Amr (may Allah be pleased with them both). Al-Tirmidhy commented, "This is a Hadith Hasan Sahih (authentic Hadith whose chain of narration contains a narrator with weak exactitude, but is free from eccentricity or blemish)." However, it would be said to the reciter of the Qur'an "Recite and ascend" on the Day of Resurrection when they enter Jannah.

The second Hadith was related by Imam Ahmad and Al-Tirmidhy also with a wording similar to that which is mentioned in the question. Al-Tirmidhy commented on this latter Hadith by saying, "It is a Hadith Gharib (a Hadith with a single narrator usually at the beginning of the chain of narration) and we know of it only through this narrator. Its Sanad (chain of narrators) is not Sahih. Moreover, Hafs ibn Sulayman, who is one of the narrators of this Hadith, is a Da`if (weak) narrator." Besides, the same Hadith was related by Ibn

(Part No. 3; Page No. 125)

Al-Jawzy in his book Al-`Ilal Al-Mutanahiyah as being narrated on the authority of `Aishah. Al-Jawzy then said that Al-Khatib said, "All the narrators of this Hadith are trustworthy except Al-Saqty and it is a Hadith Munkar (rejected Hadith reported by a weak narrator whose narration conflicts with an authentic Hadith)." In addition, the concerned Hadith was related by Al-Dhahaby in his book Al-Mizan while mentioning the biography of Ahmad ibn Muhammad ibn Al-Husayn Abi Hanash Al-Saqty. Al-Dhahaby said: "It was said that he fabricated a Hadith." Al-Dhahaby then quoted the concerned Hadith with the same Sanad mentioned above. Also, Ibn Hajar said in his book Al-Taqrīb regarding Hafs who is included in the Sanad of the Hadith, "He is Hafs ibn Abu Dawud Al-Qary, the companion of `Asim. He is also called Hafis and he is Matruk (a narrator whose Hadith transmission was discarded due to unreliability) though he is versed in the rulings of recitation of the Qur'an."

Since the Hadith is not Sahih as mentioned above, we do not need to explain its words. Undoubtedly, anyone who recites the Qur'an, acts perfectly upon it, and keeps on doing so will win the pleasure of Allah (Exalted be He) and His Jannah and be in the higher ranks of Jannah with the pious and honorable angels. The Qur'an will also be an intercessor for anyone who acts upon it, whether they know the Qur'an by heart or not. A proof for the foregoing is a Hadith which was related by Imam Muslim and Ahmad on the authority of Abu Umamah Al-Bahily who said that he heard the Messenger of Allah (peace be upon him) saying: ﴿"Recite the Qur'an, for on the Day of Resurrection it will be an intercessor for those who recite it."﴾

Fatwa no. 20878

Q: In kindergarten, female teachers teach the children some short Surahs (Qur'anic chapters) and explain the meaning of some ayahs (Qur'anic verses) using sensory means to illustrate the meaning. For instance:

- In Surah Al-Qari`ah for the Ayah in which Allah (Exalted be He) says, (like carded wool.) we show the children some wool.
- In Surah Al-`Adiyat, we show the children pictures of some horses.
- In Surah Al-Zalzalah, we bring the children a piece of wood on which we put some grains of sand and shake them in order to explain the meaning of Al-Zalzalah (earthquake).
- In the story of Adam's creation (peace be upon him) from clay, we show the children a lump of clay.

Is it permissible for us to do that knowing that most of the female teachers have little knowledge about Tawhid-ul-Asma' wal-Sifat (Oneness of Allah's Names and Attributes)? Please advise.

(Part No. 3; Page No. 127)

May Allah reward you with the best!

A: You must stop explaining the meaning of the Qur'an in the way mentioned above for the following reasons:

First: Muslims in the past and present did not adopt that way in explaining the Glorious Qur'an. Scholars unanimously held that the Qur'an is to be explained through writing and orally, which were proved to be sufficient for the person whom Allah willed to guide and benefit.

Second: Using pictures of animates is not permissible in the first place, so what will the case be if they are used to explain the words of Allah (Exalted be He)?

Third: This action involves belittling the sanctity of the Qur'an and taking its sublime meanings lightly. Moreover, it is a link to playing games with the explanation of the meaning of the Qur'an through using new ways that Allah (Glorified be He) did not ordain.

May Allah grant us success! May peace and blessings be upon our Prophet Muhammad, his family and Companions!

Q 3: The Messenger of Allah (peace be upon him) said: ("Do not make your houses graves, for verily Satan does not enter a house in which Surah Al-Baqarah is recited.") Does this refer to reciting Surah Al-Baqarah only once when a person buys a new house, or each year, or each night? Is it sufficient to listen to the recitation on a cassette recorder?

(Part No. 3; Page No. 128)

A: There is no specified number of times for reciting Surah Al-Baqarah, but the Hadith indicates the permissibility of performing Salah (Prayer) and the recitation of the Qur'an in houses so as to protect them from Satan who does not approach houses in which Surah Al-Baqarah is recited. Furthermore, not fixing a certain number of times for reciting this Surah signifies the desirability of reciting it frequently so as to ward off Satan and seek the great reward associated with that, as you will earn a good deed for every letter you recite, and a good deed gets a tenfold reward, as mentioned in another Hadith.

A: The Hadith referred to is narrated by Imam Al-Bukhari and is attributed to Ibn Mas'ud (may Allah be pleased with him) as a Hadith Mawquf (words or deeds narrated from a Companion of the Prophet that are not attributed to the Prophet). He (Ibn Mas'ud) said regarding Surahs of Banu Israel, Al-Kahf and Maryam: (They

Q 1: Is it true that reciting some Surahs of the Qur'an and contemplating them such as Surah Ya-Sin has a great reward and benefit than other Surahs? What are these benefits?

A: different superiority of the Ayahs and Surahs of the Qur'an is well confirmed in the Sunnah such as the virtue of Surah Al-Fatihah, Ayat-ul-Kursy (the Qur'anic Verse of Allah's Chair, Surah Al-Baqarah, 2:255), Surah Al-Ikhlās and others taking into account that all these Surahs are the Word of Allah. The superiority of some individual Surahs and Ayahs is attributed to their respective virtues and because of the confirmation of their excellence by the Sunnah. This superiority must be taken for granted and there is no room for Ijtihad (exerting efforts to reach the truth). As for the excellence of Surah Ya-Sin, we do not know a Sahih (authentic) Hadith reported from the Prophet (peace be upon him) in this regard. Allah knows best.

The first question of Fatwa no. 18565

Q 1: I have read a Hadith narrated on the authority of Abu Hurayrah (may Allah be pleased with him) that (anyone who recites Surah al-Dukhan every night, seventy thousand angels will ask forgiveness for him until the morning.) Related by Al-Tirmidhy and Al-Asbahany. I have also read a Hadith on the merits of Surah Al-Waqi`ah. So, I observe reading them every night. What is the ruling on this matter? I am afraid that those two Hadith are Da`if (a Hadith that fails to reach the status of Hasan, due to a weakness in the chain of narration or one of the narrators).

A: It was authentically reported that a person should recite Ayat-ul-Kursy (the Qur'anic Verse of Allah's Chair, Surah Al-Baqarah, 2:255) once, Surah Al-Ikhlās, and Al-Mu`awwidhatayn (Surahs Al-Falaq and Al-Nas) three times before going to sleep. This should be done along with Tasbeeh (saying: "Subhan Allah [Glory be to Allah]"), Tahmid (saying: "Alhamdu lillah [All praise is due to Allah]") thirty three times and also Takbir (saying: "Allahu Akbar [Allah is the Greatest]") thirty four times. In Sha'a-Allah (if Allah wills), this will suffice.

As to the hadith pertaining to the daily recitation of Surah Al-Dukhan and Surah Al-Waqi`ah, they are all Da`if and Mawdu` (fabricated Hadith). They were narrated on the authority of `Umar ibn `Abdullah ibn Abu Ja`tham who used to fabricate the Hadith and attribute them to the trustworthy narrators.

They were also reported on the authority of Hisham ibn Ziyad Abu Al-Miqdam who used to fabricate Hadith and cannot be taken as proof. They were also reported from Fadalāh ibn Jubayr on the authority of Abu Umamah. In fact, Fadalāh did not receive Hadith from Abu Umamah and he reported a Hadith which Abu Umamah did not narrate.

Moreover, they were reported from Tarif Al-Sa`dy who is a weak narrator. In addition, they were reported on the authority of Ahmad Al-Yamamy who was a liar,

(Part No. 3; Page No. 132)

`Abdul-Qudus ibn Habib who was Matruk (a narrator whose Hadith transmission was discarded due to unreliability), Muhammad ibn `Abdul-Rahman Al-Qurashy Al-Jad`any whose report is rejected. Therefore, these Hadith cannot be taken as proof and it is not permissible to act according to them.

The second question of Fatwa no. 18623

Q 2: After reading some Hadith on the merits of reciting Surah Al-Waqi`ah and Al-Hadid in which the first wards off poverty and the second brings about the peace and blessings of angels, I committed myself to recite them. Is there any wrong with this practice?

A: Reciting the Glorious Qur'an is permissible anytime. however, specifying certain Surah to be recited every night requires specific legal evidence. Thus, when reliable evidence is found, it is permissible. This is the case with reading Ayat-ul-Kursi (the Qur'anic Verse of Allah's Chair, Surah Al-Baqarah, 2:255), Surah Al-Ikhlās, and Al-Mu`awwidhatayn (Surahs Al-Falaq and Al-Nas) after every prayer and before sleeping, and the repetition of Surah Al-Ikhlās and Al-Mu`awwidhatayn thrice after Al-Maghrib (Sunset) and Fajr (Dawn) prayers and before sleeping.

As for the merits of Surah Al-Waqi`ah and Al-Hadid, it is narrated that \(Whoever recites Surah al-Waqiah every night will never be afflicted with poverty.\) However, it is a fabricated report narrated from Ahmad Al-Yamami from Ibn `Abbas. Al-Suyuti wrote it in his book: "Dhayl Al-Ahadith Al-Mawdu`ah": Ahmad Al-Yamamy is a liar. The Hadith was also narrated from Abu Shuja` from Ibn Mas`ud who is a weak narrator. Al-Dhahabi wrote: Its chain of transmission contains Abu Shuja` who is an unknown narrator.

As for the claim that reciting Surah Al-Hadid brings about peace and blessings from the angels, this is not true. In fact, there is no reliable report from the Prophet (peace be upon him) in this regard. A Muslim should recite the Qur'an frequently, for each letter has its due reward. According to the authentic report of Al-Tirmidhi in his Jami` on the authority of Ibn Mas`ud (may Allah be pleased with him) who said, the Prophet (peace be upon him) stated: \(Whoever reads a letter from the Qur'an will receive a hasanah \(good deed\) for it \(i.e. its recitation\), and the hasanah is multiplied by ten. I do not say that Alif-Lam-Meem is one letter but Alif is a letter, Lam is a letter, and Meem is a letter.\)

Anyone who recites it on Friday before the Salah (Prayer)

three times, Allah will add to the record of his good deeds the number of those who perform Jumu`ah Prayers on that day.) Some other merits were also mentioned, but no more will be mentioned here. May you explain the meaning of the Hadith, if authentic? When should the Surah be read exactly; before Fajr (Dawn) Prayer or before any Salah?

A: Al-Kinany mentioned this Hadith completely in his book Tanzih Al-Shari`ah on the authority of `Aly (may Allah be pleased with him) and commented: "Muhammad ibn Ahmad ibn Ibrahim Abu Al-Tayyib Al-Makhramy is Al-Baghdadi Al-Shafi`y who is mentioned in the book Al-Mizan and Lisan Al-Mizan, who had gone to Morocco and declared the ideology of Al-Mu`tazilah (a deviant Islamic sect claiming that those who commit major sins are in a state between belief and disbelief) that ended with him in exile, otherwise, he is an unknown narrator. The Hadith was also narrated on the authority of Muhammad ibn Humayd Al-Kharraz who is a Da`if (weak) narrator from Al-Hasan ibn `Aly ibn Abu Sa`id Al-`Adawy who is a liar and from Muhammad ibn Sadaqah who is an unknown narrator.

Thus, the Hadith is not Sahih (authentic) because its Sanad (chain of narrators) includes the narrators mentioned above.

Fatwa no. 20917

The questioner raises some questions about the virtues and merits of some Ayahs (Qur'anic verses) and Surahs of the Qur'an. His questions come as follows:

Q 1: is Al-Fatihah the heart of the Qur'an, the greatest of its Surahs and the Al-Sab`-ul-Mathany (Seven Oft-repeated Verses) and the glorious Qur'an?

A: It has been authentically reported in Sahih Al-Bukhari and other books on the authority of Abu Sa`id ibn Al-Mu`alla, (may Allah be pleased with him) that he said: ﴿I was performing the Salah \(prayer\) when the Prophet \(peace be upon him\) passed by and called me, but I did not go to him until I had finished my Salah. When I went to him, he said, "What prevented you from coming?" I said, "I was performing Salah." He said, "Did Allah not say: ﴿Answer Allāh \(by obeying Him\) and \(His\) Messenger when he \(صلى الله عليه وسلم\) calls you to that which will give you life﴾ Then he added, "Shall I tell you of the most superior Surah in the Qur'an before I leave the Masjid \(mosque\)?" When the Prophet \(peace be upon him\) was about to go out,

(Part No. 3; Page No. 136)

I reminded him. He said, "It is Al-Hamdu-Lillahi Rabbi-l-`Alamin i.e. All praise and thanks are Allāh's, the Lord of the `Alamîn \(mankind, jinn and all that exists\). It is the seven Mathany i.e. frequently repeated verses, and the Grand Qur'an given to me.﴾

As for saying that the Fatihah is the heart of the Qur'an, we do not know any legal evidence from the Sunnah to support this.

Q 2: surah Al-Baqarah was revealed from under the `Arsh (Allah's Throne). Anyone who recites it in their house at a night, Satan will not enter (the house) for three nights. Is this right?

A: It is authentically reported in Sahih Muslim and other books of Hadith on the authority of Abu Hurayrah (may Allah be pleased with him) that Allah's Messenger (peace be upon him) said, «Do not make your houses (like) graves, for verily Satan stays away from a house in which Surah Al-Baqarah is recited (according to another wording of the Hadith; flees from the house in which Surah Al-Baqarah is recited)» According to another narration: «The house where it (Surah Al-Baqarah) is read is not entered by Satan.» With regard to this Surah being revealed from under Al-`Arsh, there is no proof on this.

Q 3: ayat-ul-Kursi (the Qur'anic Verse of Allah's Chair, Surah al-Baqarah, 2:255) is the best ayah in the Book of Allah. It is equivalent to reciting one quarter of the Qur'an and whoever recites it after each Salah, will be admitted to Jannah (Paradise).

A: According to the report of Muslim in his Sahih on the authority of Ubay ibn Ka'b (may Allah be pleased with him) the Messenger of Allah (peace be upon him) stated: ﴿O Abu Al-Mundhir, do you know which Ayah in the Book of Allah is the greatest? I said: Allah and His Messenger know best. The Prophet said: O

(Part No. 3; Page No. 137)

Abu Al-Mundhir, do you know which Ayah in the Book of Allah is the greatest? I said: ﴿Allâh! Lâ ilâha illa Huwa (none has the right to be worshipped but He), Al-Hayyul-Qayyum (the Ever Living, the One Who sustains and protects all that exists).﴾ Upon that, the Prophet (peace and blessings of Allah be upon him) said, "Congratulations on your knowledge, O Abu Al-Mundhir! ﴿

According to the report classified as authentic by a group of scholars and narrated by Al-Nasa'i, Al-Tabarani, Al-Dia' Al-Maqdesi in his collection "Al-Ahadith Al-Mukhtarah" i.e. the Chosen Hadiths, and others on the authority of Abu Umamah, may Allah be pleased with him, that the Messenger of Allah (peace be upon him) stated: ﴿Whoever recites Ayat-ul-Kursy (Ayah no. 255 of Surat Al-Baqarah) after every obligatory Salah will have nothing to prevent him from entering Paradise but his death﴾

As for Ayat-ul-Kursy equaling one quarter of the Qur'an in reward, we know of no legal evidence for that.

Q 5: It is said that the Messenger of Allah (peace be upon him) used to recite, every night, the two Ayahs (Qur'anic verses) 189 and 200 of Surah (Qur'anic chapter) Al `Imran. Al-Darimy reported on the authority of `Uthman ibn `Affan that he said: Anyone who recites the end of Al `Imran at night, it is as if he makes Qiyam-ul-Layl (standing for optional Prayer at night). What is your opinion in this regard?

A: We know of no basis affirming that the Prophet (peace be upon him) used to recite the two Ayahs 189 and 200 of Surah (Qur'anic chapter) Al `Imran every night.

What was narrated on the authority of `Uthman (may Allah be pleased with him) was recorded by Al-Darimy in his Sunan as Mawquf (Hadith narrated from a Companion of the Prophet that are not attributed to the Prophet). Al-Darimy said that Is-haq ibn `Eisa narrated this Hadith from Ibn Lahi`ah from Yazid ibn Abu Habib from Abu Al-Khayr on the authority of `Uthman. Ibn Lahi`ah is not a reliable narrator. The Isnad (chain of narrators) of the Hadith is Da`if (weak).

Q 6: On the authority of Ibn Mas`ud that the Messenger of Allah (peace be upon him) said, ( anyone who offers Fajr (Dawn) Prayer in congregation, sits in his Musalla (a place for Prayer) and recites the first three ayahs (Qur'anic verses) of Surah (Qur'anic chapter) al-an`am, allah appoints seventy angels to do Tasbih (saying: "Subhan allah [Glory be to allah]") on his behalf and to ask Allah's Forgiveness for him until the Day of Resurrection.) What is the degree of authenticity of this Hadith?

A: This Hadith is attributed by Al-Suyuty in Al-Dur Al-Manthur to Al-Daylami. We could not find it to consider its Sanad (chain of narrators). Therefore, Allah knows best its validity.

Q 7: (Anyone who memorizes the first ten Ayahs (Qur'anic verses) of Surah Al-Kahf will be protected from the trials of the Dajjal (the Antichrist).) Reported by Muslim. (Anyone who reads the last ten Ayahs of Surah Al-Kahf will be protected from the trials of the Dajjal.) Reported by Al-Nasa'y. Another Hadith was reported by Al-Hakim and considered as Sahih (authentic) on the authority of Abu Sa'id that the Prophet (peace be upon him) said, (anyone who reads Surah al-Kahf on Friday, there will be light for him between this Friday and the next one.)

What are the degrees of authenticity of these Hadith?

A: The well known narration is "Anyone who memorizes the first ten Ayahs of Surah Al-Kahf." As for the other narration about the last ten Ayahs of Surah Al-Kahf, it is Shadh (a Hadith narrated by a trustworthy narrator, not in line with the narration of other trustworthy narrators in terms of wording, chain of narrators, or both).

As for the Hadith of Abu Sa'id (may Allah be pleased with him), it is Hadith Hasan (a Hadith whose chain of narration contains a narrator with weak exactitude, but is free from eccentricity or blemish), and considered Sahih by Al-Hakim.

3. (Recite (Surah) Ya-Sin over your dead.)

4. (I wish that it (Surah Ya-Sin) is instilled in the heart of every person in my Ummah (Muslim nation).) What is the degree of authenticity of these Hadith?

A: 1. The first Hadith is reported by Al-Tirmidhy, Al-Darimy and Al-Bayhaqy. It is ranked as Da`if (weak) by Al-Tirmidhy who said: This is Hadith Gharib (a Hadith with a single narrator usually at the beginning of the chain of narration).

2. The second Hadith is very Da`if, reported by Abu Ya`la, Al-Darimy and Al-Bayhaqy in Shu`ab Al-Iman.

A: This is a fabricated Hadith narrated by Ibn `Adi in Al-Kamil and Al-Baihaqi in Al-Shu`ab on the authority of Sulaym ibn `Uthman Al-Fawzi from Muhammad ibn Ziyad Al-'Alhani from Abu 'Umamah. Ibn `Adi said in the biography of Sulaym ibn `Uthman: He reported from Muhammad ibn Ziyad Al-'Alhani Hadiths Munkar (rejected Hadiths reported by a weak narrator whose narration conflicts with an authentic Hadith).

Fatwa no. 18720

Q: Please, give us a Fatwa (legal opinion issued by a qualified Muslim scholar) on the meaning of the following Ayah (Qur'anic verse): ﴿And (remember) when your Lord said to the angels: "Verily, I am going to place (mankind) generations after generations on earth.﴾ Would you please explain the meaning of the phrase "generations after generations on earth"? How can we match the previous Ayah and the following one: ﴿And I (Allâh) created not the jinn and mankind except that they should worship Me (Alone).﴾

(Part No. 3; Page No. 146)

Actually, I have been confused regarding the goal for which humankind is created. Which is given priority; is it worshipping Allah, populating the earth, or both? What is the relationship between worshipping Allah (Exalted be He) and populating the earth?

A: Allah's Saying: ﴿Verily, I am going to place (mankind) generations after generations on earth.﴾ means a species who will live in succeeding generations and centuries. In the same regard, Allah (Exalted be He) says: ﴿And it is He Who has made you generations coming after generations, replacing each other on the earth.﴾ He (Glorified be He) also says: ﴿and makes you inheritors of the earth﴾ Moreover, He says: ﴿And if it were Our Will, We would have [destroyed you (mankind) all, and] made angels to replace you on the earth. [Tafsir At-Tabarî].﴾ This is in addition to other Ayahs to the same effect.

As for Allah's Saying: ﴿And I (Allâh) created not the jinn and mankind except that they should worship Me (Alone).﴾ it means that Allah have created them only in order to worship Him. Therefore, Allah tests them through His Commandments and then rewards them with good for the good deeds they do and punishes them for the evil deeds they do.

Having known the meaning of both Ayahs, your confusion can easily be removed. The first Ayah indicates that the human species will live in succeeding generations on earth. However, the second Ayah highlights the goal for which Jinn (creatures created from fire) and humans are created, that is, to worship Allah Alone. Accordingly, the wisdom behind creating them is to worship Allah (Exalted be He) and to live in succeeding generations.

May Allah grant us success! May peace and blessings be upon our Prophet Muhammad, his family, and Companions!

The second question of Fatwa no. 18424

Q 2: What is the tafsir (explanation/exegesis) of the following Ayah: ﴿Enjoin you Al-Birr (piety and righteousness and each and every act of obedience to Allâh) on the people and you forget (to practise it) yourselves, while you recite the Scripture [the Taurât (Torah)]! Have you then no sense?﴾

A: This Ayah was revealed concerning the children of Israel, as indicated by the previous Ayahs. This verse is addressed to them as Allah reprimanded them for their deviant behavior and malicious wrongdoings. The Jews claimed belief in the Torah and acting accordingly. They called for following the goodness it preaches and for the obligation of obeying Allah (Exalted be He) and avoiding sins. Nevertheless, they acted contrary to what they were calling to. The Qur'an stresses their scorn by ascribing them figuratively to forgetfulness as a way of showing their utter heedlessness and indifference. Truly, a person never deprives himself of good or likes that others win it before him. So, if the Jews had followed the guidance of the Torah, they would have believed in the Message of Muhammad

(Part No. 3; Page No. 148)

(peace be upon him), because his description and the tidings of his Prophethood are mentioned therein. They rejected these Ayahs out of arrogance and envy, and altered their meanings, although they recognized him (peace be upon him) as they recognized their own children due to the knowledge they had.

It is also said that this Ayah was revealed concerning the Jewish rabbis who used to advise people secretly to believe in the Message of our Prophet (peace be upon him), but they would not do so themselves. Thus, they enjoined good on people and willfully neglected it.

As for the Tafsir of His statement: ﴿while you recite the Scripture [the Taurât (Torah)]!﴾, it means that they knew of its teachings which others whom they enjoined to follow Muhammad did not know. There is a great difference between those who act out of ignorance of its benefit and others who neglect an act while knowing the benefit of what they abandon.

Regarding Allah's statement, "Have you then no sense?" it means: Have you no reason to prevent you from the foul course you adopt which leads to evil consequences. Indeed, whoever has the least amount of sense will not claim the perfect knowledge of the book and guide people to follow its directions and then himself forsake following and holding fast to its commandments and prohibitions.

This address, even though it is directed to the Jews, is a lesson for others to be on guard, lest they should meet with a similar end.

(Part No. 3; Page No. 149)

May Allah grant us success! May peace and blessings be upon our Prophet Muhammad, his family, and Companions!

The second question of Fatwa no. 19146

Q 2: Could you please explain the following Ayah (Qur'anic verse): ﴿ verily, those who believe and those who are Jews and Christians, and Sabians, whoever believes in Allâh and the Last Day and does righteous good deeds shall have their reward with their Lord, on them shall be no fear, nor shall they grieve. ﴾ ?

A: After explaining the conditions of those who oppose Allah's Commands and commit sins and the punishment that Allah (Glorified be He) has promised them in the Ayahs that preceded this one, Allah (Exalted be He) tells in this Ayah that anyone who did good deeds from amongst the past nations and obeyed Him will be rewarded. The same will apply to all people until the Day of Resurrection; anyone who follows the illiterate Messenger and Prophet Muhammad (peace be upon him) will attain happiness and eternal reward in Jannah (Paradise). They will neither have any fear of what they will have in the future, nor will they grieve for what they leave behind. To gain more beneficial knowledge regarding the concerned Ayah, you may refer to Tafsir (exegesis of the meanings of the Qur'an) of Ibn Kathir and other books of Tafsir.

The fourth question of Fatwa no. 21025

Q 4: Allah (Exalted be He) said, (thus We have made you a Wasat (just) (and the best) nation, that you be witnesses over mankind) What is the kind of witness the Muslim Ummah (nation based on one creed) will bear before its Creator on the Day of Resurrection? What is its form and how can it be carried out?

A: The Noble Ayah means that Allah (may He be exalted) chooses this Ummah and makes it just and benevolent. He, glory be to Him, bestows on it such knowledge, discretion, justice and kindness as were not endowed on any other Ummah. Thus, the Muslim Ummah bears witness over other nations due to its impartiality and adherence to justice. Only the Muslim Ummah can validate or invalidate people of other religions. The one it deems as acceptable will be accepted and the one it deems as rejected will be rejected. On the Day of Resurrection, Allah will ask His Messengers (peace be upon them) about the proclamation of the Divine messages revealed to them and likewise the aberrant nations whether their Prophets conveyed the messages to them. These nations will claim that their Prophets did not convey the Divine messages. In this time, prophets (peace be upon them) will ask the Muslim Ummah to witness in their favor. The Muslim Ummah will witness that the prophets conveyed their messages. This is authentically reported

Q 3: I would like to know the interpretation of the blessed Ayah (Qur'anic Verse): (and if it were not for allah checking [some] people by means of others, the earth would have been corrupted)

A: The Ayah means that were it not that Allah makes the proponents of truth resist the proponents of falsehood, and the righteous resist the immoral, the immoral people and followers of falsehood would have dominated the earth and would have tyrannize the righteous. So it is by Allah's Grace and Blessings for the two Worlds of man and Jinn that He made it lawful for followers of His true religion who reform the earth to fight against the immoral ones such unbelievers, tyrants and transgressors. Therefore the proponents of truth fight the proponents of falsehood all the time and Allah will grant them victory as long as they defend the truth and want to reform the earth.

The first and second questions of Fatwa no. 10701

Q 1: The Tafsir of Ibn Kathir comments on the statement of Allah: ﴿ and (remember) when Ibrâhîm (abraham) said, "My Lord! Show me how You give life to the dead..." ﴾ that Al-Bukhari recorded a Hadith Sahih (authentic Hadith) in which the Prophet (peace be upon him) stated: ﴿ "We are more liable to be in doubt than Ibrahim (Abraham - peace be upon him)." ﴾ Would you please explain what is meant by this Hadith? In the explanation of this Hadith, it is said that the Prophet (peace be upon him) denied that Ibrahim had doubts. How can this be although the Ayah means that Ibrahim was experiencing a phase of doubt before attaining perfect Iman (Faith)?

A: This Hadith denies that Ibrahim (Abraham - peace be upon him) had doubts as mentioned by the great scholar Ibn Kathir as well as others commentators of the Hadith. This Hadith means that if Ibrahim (Abraham) was in doubt, we would be more apt to be in doubt; however, we were not in doubt. Therefore, Ibrahim was more apt to be in doubt. This is supported by Ibrahim's reply when Allah (Glorified be He) asked him: ﴿ "Do you not believe?" He [Ibrâhîm (Abraham)] said: "Yes (I believe), but to be stronger in Faith." ﴾ Allah (Exalted be He) confirmed the saying of Ibrahim that he is a Mu'min (believer). However, he asked so to satisfy his heart and strengthen his faith. Scholars have used this Ayah as evidence to support the opinion that Iman increases and decreases by performing more acts of obedience. The Iman which is based on tangible evidence and observation is stronger than that which is based on logical and audible evidence. It is therefore evident from the Ayah and the Hadith that Ibrahim (peace be upon him) had no doubts.

Q 2: Ibn Kathir mentioned in the same page while giving the Tafsir (explanation of the meanings) of Ayah (Qur'anic verse) no. 260 a Hadith in which the Prophet (peace be upon him) says, (if i had been in prison for as long as Yusuf (Joseph, peace be upon him) had, i would have answered the caller.) According to our understanding, the caller meant in the story of Prophet Yusuf is the wife of Al-`Aziz; does this mean that the foregoing saying of the Prophet means that had Prophet Muhammad (peace be upon him) been imprisoned as Prophet Yusuf had, he would have responded to her request? Please tell us about your opinion regarding the Hadith in question?

A: The wife of Al-`Aziz is not the "caller" intended in the concerned Hadith. Rather, the caller meant by the Hadith is the messenger of the king who is mentioned in Allah's saying, (and the king said: "Bring him to me." But when the messenger came to him, [Yûsuf (Joseph)] said: "Return to your lord and ask him, "What happened to the women who cut their hands?)

This happened after Prophet Yusuf had been imprisoned and interpreted the dream of the king, and there were strong reasons for his release from the prison.

As for the story of Prophet Yusuf with the wife of Al-`Aziz and her call to him to commit evil, this happened before Prophet Yusuf was imprisoned. Consequently, the meaning of the concerned Hadith: (I would have responded to the caller) is: I would have responded to the messenger of the king when he asked me to leave the prison and come to the king. This is because Prophet Yusuf was imprisoned unjustly and it is not wrong for prophets (peace be upon them all) to seek to get rid of injustice through whatever means that Allah sets up for them.

May Allah grant us success! May peace and blessings be upon our Prophet Muhammad, his family and Companions!

And He has sent you the angel in charge of the mountains to order him to do to them what you wish.' Then the angel of the mountains called me, greeted me and said, 'O Muhammad, Allah listened to what your people had said to you. My Lord has sent me to you so that you may give me your orders. (I will carry out your orders). If you wish I will bring together the two mountains that stand opposite to each other at the extremities of Makkah to crush them in between.' But the Messenger of Allah (peace be upon him) said, "I rather hope that Allah will raise from among their descendants people as will worship Allah and will not ascribe partners to Him (in worship)."> ?

A: There is no contradiction between the Ayah and Hadith which are quoted in the question. This is because the Ayah implies a threat that if the Prophet (peace be upon him) had the torment that the disbelievers were impatiently asking for, the matter would have been settled at once between him and them.

At the same time, Allah (Glorified be He) knows that His Prophet does not like that the two mountains that stand opposite to each other at the extremities of Makkah are brought together to crush the people of Makkah in between for Allah (Exalted be He) sent His Prophet Muhammad only as a mercy for the whole universe. Thus, the Messenger (peace be upon him) said to the angel, "I rather hope that Allah will raise from among their descendants people as will worship Allah and will not ascribe partners to Him (in worship)."

May Allah grant us success! May peace and blessings be upon our Prophet Muhammad, his family, and Companions!

The second question of Fatwa no. 20703

Q 2: allah (Exalted be He) says: \(and follow not the footsteps of Shaitan \(Satan\)\). What are the footsteps of Satan? Is looking at non-Mahram women (not a spouse or unmarriageable relatives) in real life or on satellite channels or talking to them on the phone or in the markets or flirting with them considered as following the footsteps of Satan? Is reading romantic books and art and fashion magazines with pictures of actresses and beautiful and charming celebrities considered as following the footsteps of Satan? What is our duty towards a person who does so? May Allah benefit us and you!

A: Following the footsteps of Satan as Ibn Kathir mentioned in his book in which he explained the meanings of the Qur'an (Tafsir Ibn Kathir vol. 1, p. 204) that Qatadah and Al-Suddy said, "All sins are footsteps of Satan." `Ikrimah said, "They are the incitements of Satan." Mujahid said, "Satan's footsteps are his mistakes and sins." Abu Mijlaz said, "Satan's footsteps are vows involving sins." Al-Qurtuby (in Tafsir Al-Qurtuby vol. 1, P. 308) said, "I said: The correct view is that the utterance is general and covers all the sins and Bid`ahs (innovations in religion) but not the acts of Sunnah (commendable acts) nor the rulings of Shari`ah (Islamic law)."

Subsequently, it is clear that the footsteps of Satan apply to all the acts that involve disobedience to Allah (Exalted be He). So, whoever disobeys the orders of Allah (Exalted be He) and His Messenger (peace be upon him), violates the rulings of Shari`ah, and commits things which Allah (Exalted be He) has prohibited is disobeying Him. All that is mentioned in the question is considered as footsteps and tricks of Satan about which Allah (Exalted be He) says: [\(He \[Shaitân \(Satan\)\] commands you only what is evil and Fahshâ \(sinful\), and that you should say against Allâh what you know not.\)](#) Anyone who commits any such sins has to turn to Allah (Exalted be He) in sincere repentance and never do any such evil deeds again. Whoever knows any person who commits any such deeds has to advise them gently and leniently and explain the evil consequences of their bad deeds and encourage them to do good deeds and draw closer to Allah (Exalted be He) through supererogatory acts of worship and performance of Salah (Prayer) in congregation as Allah (Exalted be He) and His Messenger have ordered; because Salah prohibits immorality and wrongdoing.

The fifth and eleventh questions of Fatwa no. 19283

Q 5: What is the meaning of the statement of Allah (Exalted be He): ﴿ and recite (O Muhammad peace be upon him) to them the story of him to whom We gave Our ayât (proofs, evidences, lessons, signs, etc.), but he threw them away; so Shaitân (Satan) followed him up, and he became of those who went astray. ﴾ ?

A: This Ayah (Qur'anic verse) describes a man from the children of Israel whom Allah had taught the Tawrah (Torah) but he did not act according to it. This Ayah can also be applied to those who do not act according to Allah's teachings.

Q 11: What is the meaning of the saying of Allah (Exalted be He), ﴿allah wishes only to remove al-Rijs from you, O members of the family (of the Prophet), and to purify you with a thorough purification.﴾?

A: The Noble Ayah is a discourse to the wives of the Prophet (peace be upon him) for Allah commanded them with certain matters and forbade other matters on them. Allah explains this with His saying, ﴿Allâh wishes only to remove Ar-Rijs (evil deeds and sins) from you﴾ Al-Rijs refers to the evil sayings and deeds.

Q 1: Is Tha`labah about whom the Ayah (Qur'anic verse) ﴿ and among them are those who made a covenant with Allah, [saying], "If He should give us from His bounty... ﴾ was revealed the same Tha`labah who took part in the Battle of Badr? Did Allah accept his Tawbah (repentance to Allah) or not?

A: The mentioned Ayah was revealed about one of the hypocrites, as Allah (Exalted be He) says about them: "And among them (i.e. the hypocrites)..."

As for the Hadith that states it was revealed about Tha`labah ibn Hatib, it is

Fatwa no. 18091

Q: Al-Ittihad Journal published in its special edition of Ramadan under a competition entitled "Names to remember in the Qur'an", question no.22 which reads as follows: A Sahabi (Companion) asked the Prophet (peace be upon him) to supplicate to Allah to provide him with wealth but when he became wealthy, the Messenger (peace be upon him) asked him to pay Zakah but he refused to pay. After the death of the Prophet (peace be upon him), this Sahabi sent Zakah to Abu Bakr but he did not accept it. Again he sent it in the caliphate of `Umar but he did not accept it either. Later on, he died in the caliphate of `Uthman.

What is the true story of this Sahabi? Should we not issue a Fatwa (legal opinion issued by a qualified Muslim scholar) to deny or confirm it?

A: Tha`labah ibn Hatib or ibn Abu Hatib Al-Awsy Al-Ansary is one of the Prophet's Sahabah (Companions) who witnessed the Battles of Badr and Uhud. He (may Allah be pleased with him) is innocent of what has been ascribed to him. According to a false story, he came to the Prophet (peace be upon him) to supplicate to Allah for him to provide him with wealth. The Prophet (peace be upon him) supplicated to Allah for him and Allah made him wealthy but he refused to pay Zakah and thus the Ayah of Surah Al-Tawbah was revealed.

(Part No. 3; Page No. 161)

This story was narrated by Al-Tabarany in his book Al-Mu`jam Al-Kabir vol. 8, p. 260, Hadith no.7873 on the authority of Mu`an ibn Rifa`ah from `Aly ibn Yazid Al-Ilhany from Al-Qasim ibn `Abdul-Rahman from Abu Umamah that Tha`labah ibn Hatib ... and mentioned the whole story.

From this chain of narration, Ibn Jarir mentioned the story in his Tafsir (Qur'anic interpretation) and his book Al-Tarikh (history) and those who came after him narrated the whole story in positions and abridged it in the reason of revelation of this Ayah: \(and of them are some who made a covenant with allâh \(saying\): "If He bestowed on us of His Bounty..." \)

Some narrators mentioned the story but did not comment on its chain of narration such as, Ibn Kathir (may Allah be merciful with him) in his Tafsir while others commented on the invalidity of its chain of narration such as, Al-Qurtuby in his Tafsir vol. 8, p. 209 who said: Tha`labah is one of those who witnessed the Battle of Badr, for whom Allah and His Prophet (peace be upon him) witnessed with (good) faith. Therefore, what has been ascribed to him is not true. It is reported that Ibn `Abdul-Barr commented on the narration and said: It is not true.

Al-Bayhaqy said in his book Dala'il Al-Nubuwwah: The chain of narration of this Hadith is doubtful although it is commonly known among the people of Tafsir.

Ibn Hajar said in his book Al-Isabah, "Claiming that the person who is mentioned in the narration (if the story is true and I do not think it is true) is the famous Sahabi who witnessed the Battle of Badr, is a doubtful matter.

It is authentically reported that the Prophet (peace be upon him) said: None of those who witnessed the Battle of Badr and Al-Hudaybiyah will be admitted into Hellfire. He also reported that His Lord says to the people of Badr: ﴿Do what you like for I have forgiven you.﴾ How can a person with that status be afflicted by Allah with hypocrisy in his heart and have an Ayah revealed about him! It seems that the Ayah refers to someone else; Allah knows best." (vol. 1, p. 198).

Al-Zamakhshary said while providing Takhrij of Hadith of his Al-Kashaf: This is a very weak chain of narration. Al-Bukhari said in his book Fath Al-Bary: Ibn Al-Athir confirmed in his book Al-Tarikh that the beginning of the obligation of Zakah was in the ninth year. Some scholars confirmed what Ibn Al-Athir believed concerning the long story of Tha`labah ibn Hatib. However, it is a weak Hadith and can not be taken as proof.

Ibn Hazm judged it to be an invalid narration in his book Al-Muhalla vol. 11, pp. 207- 208.

Al-Dhahaby said in his book Tajrid Asma' Al-Sahabah vol. 1, p. 66 in the biography of Tha`labah Ibn Hatib and after referring to this story, "This is a Munker (rejected Hadith reported by a weak narrator whose narration conflicts with an authentic Hadith) Hadith.

Afterwards, Al-Tabary mentioned the story in his book Al-Tarikh vol. 3, p. 124 on the authority of Ibn `Abbas from Muhammad ibn Sa`d Al-`Awfy from his father from his uncle from his uncle's father from his uncle from his father, `Atiyah ibn Sa`d Al-`Awfy who is a weak narrator.

To sum up, this story is invalid and not true. Moreover, there is proof in its wordings to its invalidity which is: The Prophet's Sunnah is to take Zakah from the withholder forcibly in addition to Ta`zir (discretionary punishment). It is authentically reported that the Prophet (peace be upon him) said on the authority of Bahz ibn Hakim from his father from his grandfather: [﴿For every forty pasturing camels, one she-camel in her third year should be given \[in Zakah\]. The camels are not to be separated from reckoning. He who pays Zakah with the intention of getting reward will be rewarded. He who evades it, we shall take it \[forcibly from him\] as well as half of his property as a due from the dues of our Lord. There is no share in it \(Zakah\) to the family of Muhammad \(peace be upon him\).﴾](#) Related by Ahmad, Abu Dawud and Al-Nasa'y.

The context of the above story contradicts this policy; therefore, it is invalid with regard to its chain of narration and its content.

May Allah grant us success! May peace and blessings be upon our Prophet Muhammad, his family and Companions!

Fatwa no. 18257

Q 1: Allah (Glorified and Exalted be He) says: Bismillah Al-Rahman, Al-Rahim [In the Name of Allah, the Most Gracious, the Most Merciful] (the Commandment (the Hour or the punishment of disbelievers and polytheists or the Islamic laws or commandments) ordained by Allah will come to pass, so, seek not to hasten it.)

(Part No. 3; Page No. 164)

It is known that the verb "ata" in Arabic is a past tense, while "fala tasta`jiluh" denotes the present. We would like Your Eminence to explain this Ayah (Qur'anic verse) for us to understand it.

A: The following Ayah (The Event (the Hour or the punishment of disbelievers and polytheists or the Islâmic laws or commandments) ordained by Allâh will come to pass) means that the Day of Resurrection is drawing near. This meaning was expressed in the past tense in Arabic (the translation above solved the problem by rendering it in the future tense) to stress that the Day of Resurrection will undoubtedly take place. The imminence of the Day of Resurrection which is stated in this Ayah mentioned above was also stressed in other Ayahs. For example, Allah (Exalted be He) says, (Draws near for mankind their reckoning, while they turn away in heedlessness.) Allah (Glorified and Exalted be He) also says, (The Hour has drawn near, and the moon has been cleft asunder (the people of Makkah requested Prophet Muhammad صلى الله عليه وسلم to show them a miracle, so he showed them the splitting of the moon).)

Using the past tense to indicate a future event to stress the imminence of this event can be found in many Ayahs in the Qur'an. For example, Allah (Exalted be He) says, (And the Trumpet will be blown, and all who are in the heavens and all who are on the earth will swoon away, except him whom Allâh wills.) Allah also says, (And the dwellers of Paradise will call out to the dwellers of the Fire (saying):) Also, Allah says, (And the earth will shine with the light of its Lord (Allâh, when He will come to judge among men): and the Book will be placed (open); and the Prophets and the witnesses will be brought forward; and it will be judged between them with truth, and they will not be wronged.) (And each person will be paid in full of what he did; and He is Best Aware of what they do.) (And those who disbelieved will be driven to Hell)

Q 2: Allah (Glorified and Exalted be He) orders us to measure weights fairly and not tamper with the scales. I work in a bakery where my job is to knead the dough. I have no other skill and it is my only source of income. Most of the employers in this field order us to reduce the weight of bread. Indeed, I witness this crime and participate in it. I must mention that I do so to follow the orders of the owner of the bakery. In addition, we mix some materials with the flour. Should I quit this job which is my only source of sustenance, or what should I do?

Q: Allah (Exalted be He) prohibits us to tamper with weights and measures by reduction and decrease. Allah (Exalted be He) states: ﴿Woe to Al-Mutaffifūn \(those who give less in measure and weight\).﴾ ﴿Those who, when they have to receive by measure from men, demand full measure,﴾ ﴿And when they have to give by measure or weight to \(other\) men, give less than due.﴾ ﴿Do they not think that they will be resurrected \(for reckoning\),﴾ ﴿On a Great Day?﴾ ﴿The Day when \(all\) mankind will stand before the Lord of the 'Alamīn \(mankind, jinn and all that exists\)?﴾ .

Therefore, you must weigh accurately and comply with the command of Allah (Exalted be He). Do not obey those who order you to tamper with the scales, even if they dismiss you. Whoever abandons something for the Sake of Allah (Exalted be He), He will recompense him with something better.

(Part No. 3; Page No. 166)

You should advise those who order you to do this and remind them of Allah (Exalted be He); perhaps He will guide them because of your advice.

Q: A man began recitation of the Qur'an with Allah's saying, « and upon allah is the responsibility to explain the Straight Path but there are ways that turn aside. » (Surah Al-Nahl) on the grounds that the sentence is dependent and the pronoun in the word Minha (i.e. of it) refers to Al-Sabil (i.e. the straight path). But another man objected to the man and blamed him for beginning with this verse on the basis that the conjunction in the beginning of the Ayah and the pronoun goes back to the beginning of the Surah. We hope that you will illustrate the intended meaning of the Ayah for the serious importance since this is related to the book of Allah. I invoke Allah to guide you along the way and help you in the service of the Qur'an and Islam.

Note: I hope that your answer will illustrate whether it is permissible to begin with the verse or not.

(Part No. 3; Page No. 167)

A: The pronoun in Allah's saying, «there are ways that turn aside (such as Paganism, Judaism and Christianity).» refers to the word Al-Sabil (i.e. the straight path)

The meaning is that the ways are of two kinds; that which is straight and just and leads to Allah and His Paradise and complies with what is revealed to Messengers and mentioned in the revealed books, whereas the other kind is the way that is deviated from the right path, that goes against the way of Allah's Messengers and confirms to the way of the stray people.

Q 2: What is the meaning of the statement of Allah (Exalted be He): ﴿ and your Lord has decreed that you worship none but Him. and that you be dutiful to your parents. If one of them or both of them attain old age in your life, say not to them a word of disrespect, nor shout at them but address them in terms of honour.﴾ (And lower unto them the wing of submission and humility through mercy, and say: "My Lord! Bestow on them Your Mercy as they did bring me up when I was young."﴾ ?

A: Allah (Glorified and Exalted be He) orders His servants to worship Him Alone and be dutiful to parents, especially when they reach old age, and forbids us to mistreat them. He also commands us to be obedient and lenient with them and offer Du`a' (supplication) for them because of their having been kind towards us.

(Part No. 3; Page No. 168)

In many Ayahs (Qur'anic Verses), Allah (Glorified be He) associates His right with the rights of parents to express the great rights they have on us.

A: The Saying of Allah (Glorified and Exalted be He): ﴿and recite the Qur'ân in the early dawn (i.e. the morning prayer). Verily, the recitation of the Qur'ân in the early dawn is ever witnessed (attended by the angels in charge of mankind of the day and the night).﴾ refers to the Fajr (Dawn) Prayer. Imam Ahmad related in the Musnad (Hadith compilation) on the authority of Abu Hurayrah (may Allah be pleased with him): ﴿The Prophet (peace be upon him) said about the Ayah which reads: ﴿and recite the Qur'ân in the early dawn (i.e. the morning prayer). Q: Allah (Glorified and Exalted be He) says: ﴿Wealth and children are the adornment of the life of this world.﴾ Why does Allah mention wealth before children in this Ayah (Qur'anic verse)? What is the wisdom behind this?

A: Allah (Glorified and Exalted be He) mentions wealth before children in the ayah which reads: ﴿Wealth and children are the adornment of the life of this world.﴾ though children are mostly more beloved than wealth, because the latter is deep-rooted in adornment and provision. Wealth is also more general than children as a person may have wealth at any age while only married people may have children. Moreover, wealth safeguards life while children maintain the continuity of the human species. Also, the need for wealth is more than the need for children; and wealth is more effective in life than children. Finally, wealth that is not combined with children is an adornment while a person who has children but not wealth lives in suffering.

Q 1: What is the correct explanation of the following Ayah (Qur'anic verse): ﴿"Verily! I seek refuge with the Most Gracious (Allâh) from you, if you do fear Allâh."﴾ ?

A: The explanation of this Ayah ﴿She said: "Verily! I seek refuge with the Most Gracious (Allâh) from you, if you do fear Allâh."﴾ was stated by the general Mufasssirs (exegetes of the Qur'an), among whom were Al-Hafizh Ibn Kathir (may Allah be merciful with him) who said in his Tafsir vol. 3, p. 115, "When the angel took a human form and appeared to her while she was in a secluded place away from her people, she thought that he wanted her for himself. She, thus, said, ﴿"Verily! I seek refuge with the Most Gracious (Allâh) from you, if you do fear Allâh."﴾"

(Part No. 3; Page No. 171)

This means that she reminded him of Allah, if he really feared Him. It is prescribed to ward off evil by the easiest means first and that was why she tried to frighten him by Allah (Glorified and Exalted be He). Ibn Jarir said: On the authority of Abu Kurayb who reported from Abu Bakr from `Asim who said, "Abu Wa'il related the story of Maryam (Mary) and explained, 'She knew that the person who fears Allah has a mind which prohibits them from committing evil acts, and that was why she said, ﴿"Verily! Q 1: We hope to know the explanation of the following Ayah (Qur'anic verse) in which Allah says: ("Then, there has succeeded them a posterity who have given up As-Salat (the prayers) and have followed lusts. So they will be thrown in Hell.")

A: The Ayah means that there is a severe threat for those who delay offering Salah (Prayer) until its time passes for no legal excuse. It is similar to the Saying of Allah (Exalted be He): (So woe unto those performers of Salât (prayers) (hypocrites),) (Those who delay their Salât (prayer from their stated fixed times).) Fatwa no. 18470

Q: What is the meaning of the saying of the sorcerers of Pharaoh as Allah related about them: (the magic to which you did compel us.) ?

A: The apparent meaning of the Ayah (and the magic to which you did compel us.) is that Pharaoh compelled the magicians to do their black magic. However, there are other Ayahs (verses), which indicate that the sorcerers did it willingly. For example, Allah (may he be Praised) says, (they said to Fir'aun \(Pharaoh\): "Will there surely be a reward for us if we are the winners?") (He said: "Yes, and you shall then verily be of those brought near \(to myself\).") in addition to other Ayahs to the same effect.

To reconcile between these Ayahs, the scholars had three interpretations. The first of which is that compulsion happened in respect of attendance of the magicians to challenge Musa (Moses) with their magic and when Pharaoh commanded them to perform their magic they performed it with their free will. Thus, compulsion happened at first then they did their magic willingly after that. By this, the meaning of the Ayahs becomes clear and the contradiction is removed.

The first question of Fatwa no. 21677

Q 1: Allah (Glorified and Exalted be He) says, ﴿Have they not travelled through the land, and have they hearts wherewith to understand and ears wherewith to hear? Verily, it is not the eyes that grow blind, but it is the hearts which are in the breasts that grow blind.﴾ Allah (Glorified be He) says in another Ayah (Qur'anic verse), ﴿This \(Qur'an\) is a Message for mankind \(and a clear proof against them\), in order that they may be warned thereby, and that they may know that He is the only One Ilâh \(God - Allâh\) - \(none has the right to be worshipped but Allâh\) - and that men of understanding may take heed.﴾ In the first Ayah, which is from Surah Al-Hajj, Allah says that the heart represents the source of reasoning, but in the second Ayah He (Glorified and Exalted be He) says that heedfulness can only be given by men of understanding, that is, by reason.

Why is there a difference between the heart and the mind? Some people take understanding, which Allah attributes to reason as mentioned in the Ayah, as a pretext for refuting Hadith Sahih (authentic Hadith) and making Ta'wil (allegorical interpretation) of them - although they are clearly expressed sometimes and often inconclusive - on the pretext of seeking the rule of reason since Allah has praised those who apply reason in many Ayahs. They even claim that accepting the apparent meanings of the Sahih Hadith denote drifting from the truth.

Please advise us by explaining the role of reason in understanding the Ayahs of Allah (Glorified and Exalted be He).

A: There is no contradiction between both Ayahs because the source of reason is the heart and it is connected to the brain, as has been declared by the verifying scholars. Sound reason does not contradict with correct Naql (primary Islamic source texts: Qur'an and Hadith). In case there is a contradiction between them, then there is something wrong regarding one of them. Also, everything that is stated in the texts is understood by reason. Thus, it is obligatory to give precedence to Naql because it is infallible whereas reason is defective and fallible.

The third question of Fatwa no. 18776

Q 3: Allah (Exalted be He) states, ﴿ and the Trumpet will be blown, and all who are in the heavens and all who are on the earth will swoon away, except him whom allâh wills. ﴾ Another Ayah states, ﴿ everything will perish except His Face. ﴾ Please interpret these two Ayahs.

(Part No. 3; Page No. 175)

A: Allah's statement, ﴿And (remember) the Day on which the Trumpet will be blown - and all who are in the heavens and all who are on the earth, will be terrified except him whom Allâh will (exempt). And all shall come to Him, humbled.﴾ is about the terrifying sounding of the Trumpet at the end of time. It will be the swooning blow of Israfil (peace be upon him) who will sound the Trumpet by Allah's order, so that everyone in the heavens and the earth will die except those whom Allah (Glorified be He) excludes. This blow is the swooning sound, when all people will die. Then, the second blowing will cause the dead to rise from their graves, according to Allah's statement, ﴿And the Trumpet will be blown, and all who are in the heavens and all who are on the earth will swoon away, except him whom Allâh wills. Then it will be blown a second time, and behold they will be standing, looking on (waiting).﴾

Allah (Exalted be He) also states, ﴿Everything will perish save His Face. His is the Decision, and to Him you (all) shall be returned.﴾ He (Glorified and Exalted be He) tells us that He is the Ever-Living and the Everlasting One, and that everything else will perish, according to Allah's statement, ﴿He is the First (nothing is before Him) and the Last (nothing is after Him)﴾ He is the First One before everything, and the Last One after everything.

Q: What is the Tafsir (explanation/exegesis) of Allah's statement: ﴿ and consult them in the affairs. Then, when you have taken a decision, put your trust in allah ﴾ May Allah protect and support you!

A: The word Shura linguistically means the act of exchanging opinions and ideas on certain matters. It is defined as taking decision after exchanging and reviewing different opinions. It is taken from the term, "Shurt-ul-`Asal (I collected the honey), that is to say taking it from its honeycomb. Al-Qurtubi commented in his Tafsir that Shura is based upon the divergence of opinions, and the person who is consulted scrutinizes them to arrive at what is in accordance with the Qur'an and the Sunnah, as best possible. If he decides upon a certain opinion, by the guidance of Allah, he resolves to act according to it putting his trust in Allah and relying on his effort to infer the legal ruling. This is what Allah ordered His Prophet to do as mentioned in this Ayah.

Ibn Kathir commented: This is why the Prophet (peace be upon him) used to consult his Sahabah (Companions of the Prophet) when issues would arise. It served as a means to please and encourage them to be more active in their affairs, as he consulted them on the day of the Battle of Badr

Q: Attached to my letter is an image of a star that exploded in space three thousand light-years ago. As you see, the shape of the explosion looks like a red flower. The following Ayahs (Qur'anic verses) are thus written behind the image: then when the heaven is rent asunder, and it becomes rosy or red like red-oil, or red hide (Then which of the Blessings of your Lord will you both (jinn and men) deny?) The English translation of these Ayahs and their following commentary state: "Now we are in the year 2000 A. D. and the Qur'an told of this one thousand and four hundred years ago according to the Muslim calendar. This image was taken by NASA Hubble Space Observatory through the Nebula Telescope. The image is of a star that exploded three thousand light-years ago. It would be better to call it 'Red-oil Rose' as Allah (Glorified be He) names it in Surah (Qur'anic chapter) Al-Rahman."

(Part No. 3; Page No. 178)

Could you please give me the correct Tafsir (explanation) of the Ayahs mentioned above? It may be worth mentioning that this image was used in a lecture that was given in English by one Da'y (caller to Islam) who displayed it while explaining to Muslims and non-Muslims the miraculous aspects of the Qur'an regarding this matter. The lecture was given to the communities of Al-Khubar in the eastern region. May Allah reward you with the best.

A: Such a comment is tantamount to saying about Allah that which a person does not know and giving the Holy Qur'an a wrong Tafsir. This is because the Ayahs in question refer to the splitting of the heavens in the Hour of Resurrection. They do not refer to stars, changes and meteors' falling to this world. And Allah knows best.

The second question of Fatwa no. 21677

Q 2: Allah (Glorified and Exalted be He) states: ﴿allah does not forbid you to deal justly and kindly with those who fought not against you on account of religion nor drove you out of your homes. Verily, allah loves those who deal with equity.﴾ We are ordered in many Ayahs of the Qur'an like Ayah no. 4 in Surah Al-Mumtahanah not to show affection to the disbelievers. Moreover, showing opposition to disbelievers is among the prerequisites of the belief in hating for the sake of Allah and disassociation from Shirk (associating others in worship with Allah) and those who fall in it. We ask you, may Allah confer His Mercy on you, to elaborate on what is intended by the words Qist and Birr (dealing justly and kindly) mentioned in Ayah no. 8 of Surah Al-Mumtahanah and the proper way to apply the intended meaning of the Ayah, while resenting and disassociating ourselves from disbelievers.

A: It is obligatory to show opposition to disbelievers for they are the adversaries of Allah, His Messenger and the Muslims. Allah (Exalted be He) stated: ﴿O you who believe! Take not My enemies and your enemies (i.e. disbelievers and polytheists) as friends﴾ And: ﴿You (O Muhammad صلى الله عليه وسلم) will not find any people who believe in Allâh and the Last Day, making friendship with those who oppose Allâh and His Messenger (Muhammad صلى الله عليه وسلم), even though they were their fathers or their sons﴾ Dealing justly and kindly with them is conditional on their not being hostile to Muslims, driving them out of their homes, or helping to drive them out. In this case, it is considered good dealings and gratefulness and not love and affection towards them.

May Allah grant us success! May peace and blessings be upon our Prophet Muhammad, his family and Companions!

Q 2: We hope to know the explanation of Allah's Saying: ﴿It is Allâh Who has created seven heavens and of the earth the like thereof (i.e. seven).﴾

Does this mean there are seven earths, or does it refer to the layers of the earth?

A: Allah (Glorified be He) tells us that He has created seven heavens and seven earths in His Saying: ﴿It is Allâh Who has created seven heavens and of the earth the like thereof (i.e. seven).﴾ It is mentioned in the Two Sahih (authentic) Books of Hadith (i.e. Al-Bukhari and Muslim) that the Prophet (peace be upon him) said: ﴿"If a person takes a span of land undeservedly, their neck shall be encircled with it down seven earths."﴾ This is a proof of Allah's Absolute Power (Glorified and Exalted be He).

Q: allah (Exalted be He) says: (And when the female (infant) buried alive (as the pagan Arabs used to do) is questioned:) What is the linguistic and Shar`y (Islamic legal) meaning of Wa'd? May Allah reward you with the best!

A: Wa'd is burying the female infant alive. The Ayah (Qur'anic verse) mentioned in the question refers to what the pagan Arabs of Jahiliyyah (pre-Islamic time of ignorance) used to do by burying their female infants alive because of their hatred of girls. Thus, on the Day of Resurrection, the Maw'udah (female infant buried alive) will be questioned about the fault she did to be killed. This is a way of threatening the murderer for if the wronged person is asked, what then will happen to the wrongdoer? It is worth mentioning that the same Ayah is read as well: "And when the Maw'udah shall question," which means she will require to avenge herself on the killer.

The second and third questions of Fatwa no. 19497

Q 2: What is meant by, "everything" in Allah's statement, \(Destroying everything by the Command of its Lord\) ?

A: The word, "everything" in Allah's statement, \(Destroying everything by the Command of its Lord\) means all that Allah ordered to be destroyed with respect to the people of `Ad when they insolently defied the Command of their Lord. Ibn Jarir Al-Tabari said in his book of Tafsir (vol. 22, p. 29): Allah (Exalted be He) states that the storm wreaked havoc upon everything and turned things upside down. He means it destroyed all that Allah ordered should be destroyed, because it did not destroy Hud and those who believed him.

Ibn Kathir said in his book of Tafsir (vol. 4, p. 160): \(Destroying everything\) means ruining everything in their city. Al-Qurtubi said in his book of Tafsir (vol. 8, p. 206): \(Destroying everything\) means killing the people of `Ad and destroying their wealth. Ibn `Abbas (may Allah be pleased with him) said that it means destroying everything it was sent for.

Q 3: Ibn `Abbas (may Allah be pleased with him) said about Wud, Suwa`, Yaghuth, Ya`uq and Nasr that they were righteous men among the people of Nuh (peace be upon him).

How can they be among the people of Nuh while the message of Nuh was directed at destroying idols? Can they not be the names of righteous men among the people of Adam and Idris and when they died and knowledge was forgotten, the people of Nuh made idols in their likeness and began worshipping them? How can (knowledge be forgotten) in the words of Ibn `Abbas, while Nuh rebuked them day and night, in private and in public?

A: The Jumhur (dominant majority of scholars) agreed that Wud, Suwa`, Yaghuth, Ya`uq and Nasr were idols of righteous people who were worshipped by the people of Nuh in the era of Nuh, and then by all the Arabs. This is the opinion of Ibn `Abbas (may Allah be pleased with him).

As for the righteous people, scholars disagreed about them.

The first opinion is that of Ibn Jarir who said that Ibn Humayd told them that Mihran said on the authority of Sufyan, from Musa from Muhammad ibn Qays : (ya`uq and Nasr ) He said, "They were righteous people from Banu Adam (descendents from Prophet Adam), and they had followers who used to imitate them. When they died, their followers said 'if we make statues of them, it will urge us to perform `Ibadah (worship) as we will always remember them. When those followers died, the following generation was misled by Iblis (Satan). He convinced them that they used to worship the idols and that they brought rain. This was the beginning of idol worship. When Allah sent Nuh, they asked the people not to forsake their gods: Wud, Suwa`, etc.

Sufyan said on the authority of his father, from `Ikrimah (may Allah be pleased with him), "There were ten generations between Adam and Nuh, all of whom were Muslims." (See the Tafsir (explanation of the meanings of the Qur'an) of Al-Tabari, volume 23, p. 639; Tafsir Al-Qurtubi, volume 9, p. 307-308; and Tafsir Ibn Kathir, volume 4, p. 426).

The second opinion narrated from Ibn `Abbas (may Allah be pleased with him) is that these idols were righteous men from the people of Nuh. In his Sahih (authentic) Book of Hadith, Al-Bukhari narrated on the authority of `Ata', from Ibn `Abbas (may Allah be pleased with him) that he said, "The idols that used to be worshipped among the people of Nuh came to be worshipped by all the Arabs. As for Wud, it was worshipped by Kalb in Dawmat Al-Jandal; as for Suwa`, it was worshipped by Hudhayl; as for Yaghuth, it was worshipped by Murad and then by Banu Ghutayf in Al-Jaraf near Saba'; as for Ya`uq, it was worshipped by Hamadan; as for Nasr, it was worshipped by Himyar, the people of Dhul-Kila`. These were the names of righteous men among the people of Nuh (peace be upon him). When they died,

Satan whispered to their people to make idols of them in the places where they used to sit and gave them their names. They did, but they were still not worshipped. When those people died and knowledge was abrogated, these idols were worshipped." This was also narrated by `Ikrimah, Al-

Dahhak, Qatadah and Ibn Is-haq. (See the Tafsir of Ibn Kathir, volume 4, p. 426, and the Tafsir of Al-Qurtubi, volume 9, p. 308).

Thus, the interpretation of the statement of Ibn `Abbas (may Allah be pleased with him) is that those idols were of righteous men among the people of Nuh, i.e. the people to whom Nuh was sent, who were upon Islam before Nuh was sent to them. When they died and their people made idols of them to remember and follow them, they were not worshipped in the beginning. When those people died and knowledge was abrogated, the idols were worshipped and Shirk (associating others with Allah in worship) spread. Allah sent Nuh (peace be upon him) to resist this and to call them to worship Allah alone.

May Allah grant us success! May peace and blessings be upon our Prophet Muhammad, his family and Companions!

A: The following are some of the important books of Tafsir: "Tafsir Ibn Jarir Al-Tabary," "Tafsir Al-Baghawiy," and "Tafsir Ibn Kathir." In Hadith: "Fat-h-ul-Bary" by Ibn Hajar Al-`Asqalany, which is the commentary on the Sahih (authentic) Book of Hadith of Al-Bukhari and "Sharh Al-Nawawiy for Sahih Muslim." The fifth question of Fatwa no. 19378

Q 5: There are those who claim that some of the Hadiths in the books of Sunnah (whatever is reported from the Prophet) such as Al-Bukhari, Muslim and others contradict the Ever-Glorious Qur'an. These Hadiths include the Hadith on the Mahdi (a man named after the Prophet, who will appear as a sign of the Hour and rule according to Islamic law), the descent of `Eisa (Jesus - peace be upon him), the Hadith on Shafa`ah (intercession) and many others. What is your opinion concerning this issue?

A: The Shar`i (Islamic legal) texts are from One Who is All-Wise, Well-Acquainted (with all things), and there could never be any contradiction or conflict between them. The claim that some of the Hadiths reported by Al-Bukhari, Muslim and others which are authentically attributed to the Prophet (peace be upon him) contradict the Qur'an is false and utterly baseless. However, all that may appear to be contradictory on the surface is textually reconcilable. After considering and looking into the general Shar`i texts, all doubts and ambiguity are removed.

As for what you mentioned concerning the Mahdi, the descent of `Eisa (peace be upon him) near the end of time, and the Shafa`ah of our Prophet Muhammad (peace be upon him), these Hadiths are authentic and should be believed in; they do not contradict the Qur'an.

The eleventh question of Fatwa no. 21672

Q 11: We often read at the end of a Hadith that it is Hadith Marfu` and Muttafaq `alaih (agreed upon); what do these terms mean? Who traces the Hadith that is said to be Marfu` to the Prophet? With regard to Muttafaq `Alaih, what is meant by it? Does it mean that the scholars of Hadith agreed on its authenticity or weakness?

A: The meaning of Hadith Marfu` is that the companion attributed the Hadith to the Prophet (peace be upon him).

Muttafaq `Alaih indicates that it is related by Al-Bukhari and Muslim on the authority of the Companion who narrated the Hadith from the Prophet (peace be upon him) and both of them, i.e. Al-Bukhari and Muslim, agreed on the authenticity of the Hadith.

The second question of Fatwa no. 18444

Q 2: do the Books of Hadith explain the Qur'an? Is it true that there is no Sunnahs (supererogatory acts of worship following the example of the Prophet) in Islam and that a person has to adhere only to Faridahs (obligatory acts)? Is it correct that to be saved from punishment in the Hereafter we have to abandon Sunnah (whatever is reported from the Prophet) and rely only on the Qur'an?

A: According to Ijma' (consensus of scholars), the purified Sunnah is the second source of evidence in Islam. The Sunnah explains the Qur'an. Anyone who denies the authenticity of the Sunnah is a Kafir (disbeliever) because they deny one of the agreed-upon principles of Islam. Allah (Exalted be He) says: ﴿And whatsoever the Messenger \(Muhammad صلى الله عليه وسلم\) gives you, take it; and whatsoever he forbids you, abstain \(from it\).﴾ Allah (Glorified be He) also says: [﴿And We have also sent down unto you \(O Muhammad صلى الله عليه وسلم\) the Dhikr \[reminder and the advice \(i.e. the Qur'ân\)\], that you may explain clearly to men what is sent down to them﴾](#)

The first question of Fatwa no. 20374

Q 1: What is the meaning of the scholars' saying, "This Hadith is weak and not authentic yet it should be acted upon" and "This Hadith is authentic but it should not be acted upon"?

A: The meaning of the saying, "This Hadith is weak and not authentic yet it should be acted upon," is that a Hadith may be weak in terms of Matn (text of a Hadith) or Sanad (chain of narrators). In other words, one of its narrators may be weak regarding his memorization or Irsal (narrating a Hadith with no Companion of the Prophet in its chain of narration), or because of being a Mudallis (a Hadith narrator who provides misleading information about his shaykh or the chain of narration), or an unknown narrator, or because the Hadith may contain any such aspects of weakness. In this case, the weak Hadith itself cannot be considered as self-evident proof. However, it can be acted upon if there are other similar narrations that are free from aspects of weakness or if there are authentic proofs from the Qur'an, authentically reported Sunnah (whatever is reported from the Prophet), the practices of the Sahabah (Companions of the Prophet), or Ijma' (consensus of scholars) with the same meaning or ruling conveyed in the weak Hadith. Only then can a weak Hadith be acted upon. An example of this is the Hadith related by Al-Tirmidhy in his book "Jami' Al-Tirmidhy" from Ibn 'Abbas (may Allah be pleased with them) that the Prophet (peace be upon him) said: "Anyone who combines two Prayers without a valid excuse, they have approached one of the doors of major sins." Reporting this Hadith directly from the Prophet (peace be upon him) is questionable. However, Al-Tirmidhy commented on it saying, "Scholars have agreed on acting upon this Hadith." This means that combining two Prayers without a legal excuse is unlawful and is considered one of the major sins; because it was reported from some Sahabah such as 'Umar (may Allah be pleased with him) and because Allah (Exalted be He) says: "Then, there has succeeded them a posterity who have given up As-Salât (the prayers) [i.e. made their Salât (prayers) to be lost, either by not offering them or by not offering them perfectly or by not offering them in their proper fixed times] and have followed lusts. So they will be thrown in Hell."

and: "So woe unto those performers of Salât (prayers) (hypocrites), (Those who delay their Salât (prayer from their stated fixed times)." Another example is the Hadith narrated on the authority of Abu Umamah Al-Bahily (may Allah be pleased with him) that Allah's Messenger (peace be upon him) said: "Water does not become impure by anything unless it is something that clearly changes its smell, taste, or color." (Related by Ibn Majah and others) According to the great scholars of Hadith, this is a weak Hadith, yet its ruling and meaning are authentic and are acted upon.

Al-Nawawy said, "The Muhaddiths (Hadith scholars) agree that this Hadith is weak." This means it is the exception mentioned in the Hadith that is ranked as weak, not the basic meaning of the Hadith; because this basic meaning was confirmed to be authentic from the Hadith on the well of Buda'ah. Yet, the scholars have agreed on acting upon the ruling stated in the weak part of the narration. Ibn Al-Mundhir said, "Muslim scholars have unanimously agreed that if some impurity falls in water, no matter how little or much the water is, causing its smell, taste, or color to change, the water is considered impure water." Therefore, the Ijma` represents a proof that this water gets impure because of the mentioned reasons; a proof that is not deduced from the exception mentioned in the Hadith.

As for the saying, "this Hadith is authentic but it should not be acted upon," it means that this Hadith is either abrogated by an authentic Hadith that has been revealed after it or there is a conflict between this Hadith and a more authentic one and both cannot be acted upon together or it is difficult to reconcile them through well-known means of reconciliation between conflicting proofs. In such cases, the scholars of Hadith prefer one Hadith to the other based on legal reasons, such as the Sahabah's acting upon it, the multitude of its narrators, etc. The disregarded Hadith is considered a Hadith Shadh (a Hadith narrated by a trustworthy narrator, not in line with the narration of other trustworthy narrators in terms of wording, chain of narrators, or both) because there is a more authentic one.

May Allah grant us success! May peace and blessings be upon our Prophet Muhammad, his family, and Companions!

Fatwa no. 19867

Q1: (whoever dies without knowing the Imam of his time would die the death of one belonging to the days of Jahiliyya (i. e. would not die as a Muslim)) What is the degree of authenticity of this Hadith?

A1: The Hadith in this wording was fabricated by the Shiites and falsely ascribed to the Prophet (peace be upon him). Sheikhul-Islam Ibn Taymiyyah wrote in his book Minhaj Al-Sunnah: "By Allah, the Messenger (peace be upon him) could not have said it in this wording. In fact the well known narration was reported by Imam Muslim that Ibn `Umar came to `Abdullah ibn Muti` when the incident of Al-Harrah took place he said: 'Prepare a pillow for Abu Abdur-Rahman to lean on', but `Abdullah ibn `Umar said to him: 'I did not come to sit, but to tell you that I heard the Messenger of Allah (peace be upon him) say: ("One who withdraws his hand from obedience (to the Amir) will find no argument (in his defence) when he stands before Allah on the Day of Judgment, and one who dies without having bound himself by an oath of allegiance (to an Amir) will die the death of one belonging to the days of Jahiliyya (will die as a pagan)".) See (Mukhtasar Al-Minhaj) P.30

Q2: What do you say about the people who deny the Hadiths

of the Messenger (peace be upon him)?

A2: The Sunnah is the second source for the Islamic Shari`ah after the Qur'an according to the Statement of Allah (Exalted be He): (And whatsoever the Messenger (Muhammad صلى الله عليه وسلم) gives you, take it; and whatsoever he forbids you, abstain (from it).) and: (He who obeys the Messenger (Muhammad صلى الله عليه وسلم), has indeed obeyed Allāh) All Muslim scholars agree by general consensus on the obligation of acting upon the Sunnah (whatever is reported from the Prophet). As for the person who denies acting upon the Sunnah, he is considered a Kafir (disbeliever); because they disbelieve Allah and His Messenger and deny the consensus of Muslim scholars.

The third question of Fatwa no. 19378

Q 3: Some people deny some authentically reported Hadith and claim that there are Da`if (weak) and Munkar (rejected Hadith reported by a weak narrator whose narration conflicts with an authentic Hadith) Hadith in "Sahih Al-Bukhari". For example, they deny the Hadith narrated on the authority of Abu Hurayrah (may Allah be pleased with him) regarding the ruling in case a fly falls into a drink. They further contest the reliability of the narrator on the pretext that he was a poor person begging people for food.

A: First, it is not permissible for a Muslim to deny Hadith judged to be Sahih (authentic) by Hadith scholars, for believing in them is a fundamental part of Iman (Faith).

Second, "Sahih Al-Bukhari" is the most trustworthy compilation of the Hadith of Allah's Messenger (peace be upon him). This is applicable to Musnad (Hadith with a sound chain of narration) and Muttasil (Hadith with a continuous chain of narration to a Companion of the Prophet or Follower; the generation after the Prophet's Companions) Hadith. As for Hadith Mu`allaq (Hadith missing link in the chain of narration, reported directly from the Prophet), they include both Sahih and Da`if.

Third, the Hadith narrated on the authority of Abu Hurayrah regarding the ruling in case a fly falls into a drink is a Sahih Hadith whose authenticity is irrefutable. Thus proved, it is obligatory for a believer to believe in it. Moreover, facts attest to its authenticity and thus it may not be denied.

May Allah grant us success! May peace and blessings be upon our Prophet Muhammad, his family, and Companions!

Questions about the meanings of some Hadith

The first question of Fatwa no. 15129

Q 1: Please explain the Hadith in which the Prophet (peace be upon him) said: ﴿Souls are troops collected together...﴾

A: It was authentically reported from Abu Hurayrah (may Allah be pleased with him) that Allah's Messenger (peace be upon him) said: ﴿"Souls are troops collected together and those who are familiarized with each other (in the heaven from where they come) would have affinity with one another (in the world) and those amongst them who are opposite to each other (in the heaven) would also be divergent (in the world).﴾ (Related by Al-Bukhari and Muslim)

In this Hadith, the Prophet (peace be upon him) stated that souls are inherently either familiarized with each other or opposed to each other, exactly like conflicting troops in a confrontation. This is based on the nature of the souls which they are destined to be, i.e. either good or evil. Thus, souls are familiarized with or opposed to other souls based on unity or difference of natures. Therefore, good humanitarian souls love and draw closer to others of similar nature while evil souls feel inclined to others of similar nature and both parties feel disinclined to those opposite to them.

The author of "Al-Fath" quoted Al-Khattaby as saying: This may refer to their similarity as regards good or evil, righteousness or corruption. Good people are inclined to other good people, while evil people are similarly inclined to other evil people. Actually, souls feel affinity with others according to the nature on which they have been created, i.e. good or evil. Thus, if the natures of souls are similar, they will get along; otherwise they will be disinclined to one another.

May Allah grant us success! May peace and blessings be upon our Prophet Muhammad, his family, and Companions!

The first question of Fatwa no. 17340

Q 1: In the Hadith of the Prophet (may peace be upon him): (none of you will have faith till he loves me more than his father, his children and all mankind.) What is meant by love in this Hadith?

A: The Hadith means that it is obligatory upon a Muslim to give priority to the obedience of Allah and His Messenger over the obedience of anyone else, whether offspring, parent or any person. It also explains the importance of following and emulating the Prophet (peace be upon him) in all matters.

(Part No. 3; Page No. 200)

The Hadith indicates that Iman (faith that every Muslim must have) is not perfect except by achieving this.

Fatwa no. 17555

Q: Would you please explain what is meant by the following Hadith: (none of you (truly) believes until his desire is in accordance with what I have brought.) ? May Allah bless, protect, and enlighten you!

A: The Hadith means that the Iman (Faith) of a person is never complete unless their desires and inclinations are in conformity with what the Prophet (peace be upon him) came with. Allah (Glorified and Exalted be He) said that obeying the Messenger of Allah (peace be upon him) is the reason that the rewards for good deeds will not decrease. Allah (Exalted be He) says, (But if you obey Allâh and His Messenger (صلى الله عليه وسلم), He will not decrease anything in reward for your deeds.)

When Allah and His Messenger have decided a matter, a believer should not have any choice; they should rather submit and surrender. Allah (Exalted be He) says, (It is not for a believer, man or woman, when Allâh and His Messenger have decreed a matter that they should have any option in their decision.)

Fourth question of Fatwa no. 20145

Q 4: Is the following Hadith considered Sahih (authentic): \(There is no submission 'to any human being' in matters involving Allah's disobedience or displeasure.\) ? Please tell me about the narrator and Sanad (chain of narrators) of the Hadith?

A: The Hadith which is mentioned in the question is Sahih and mentioned in the renowned Books of Sunnah. It is worth mentioning that there are similar wordings of the same Hadith that all give the same meaning. However, the wording which is quoted above was related by Imam Ahmad in his Musnad (Hadith compilation). In addition, it was related by Al-Bukhari and Muslim on the authority of `Ali (may Allah be pleased with him) that the Prophet (peace be upon him) said: \(There is no submission to any human being in matters involving Allah's disobedience or displeasure. Submission is due only in what is good.\)

The first question of Fatwa no. 18424

Q1: What is the interpretation of the Hadith: (there must be neither harming nor return of harm.) ?

A: Al-Darar (harm) is a noun and Al-Dirar (harming) is the action of inflicting harm in the present participle. So the meaning of (There must be neither harming) is that people should not cause harm to others nor to themselves and the meaning of (nor return of harm) is that people should not be taken by the mistakes of others.

This Hadith includes one of the great Islamic rulings under which many Jurisprudential issues and rules are classified.

The second question of Fatwa no. 14535

Q 2: What is the meaning of the Prophet's statement: ﴿When Allah wills good for His servant, He puts him to His service.﴾

A: It is related by Al-Tirmidhi and others on the authority of Anas, may Allah be pleased with him, that the Prophet (peace be upon him) said: ﴿When Allah wills good for His servant, He puts him to His service.﴾ They said, "How does He put someone to His service?" He said, "He guides him to do good deeds before death.﴾

(Part No. 3; Page No. 203)

Al-Tirmidhi commented: It is a Hasan Sahih Hadith. This Hadith indicates that a person is judged according to his final deeds, and that a Muslim should adhere to obeying Allah (Exalted be He) by doing what He enjoins and refraining from what He forbids. Furthermore, he should increase his good deeds, hoping that Allah may end his life in a good way.

The first question of Fatwa no. 13619

Q 1: What is the meaning of the Hadith: (verily, Allah helps this religion (Islam) even through a sinful person.) What is its significance?

A: This Hadith is recorded in the Two Sahih (Sahih Al-Bukhari and Muslim) Books. The wording of Al-Bukhari is: On the authority of Abu Hurairah (may Allah be pleased with him) who said: (Abu Hurairah, may Allah be pleased with him, reported: We participated in the Battle of Hunain along with the Messenger of Allah (peace be upon him). He (the Prophet) said about a man who claimed to be a Muslim that he was one of the denizens of the Fire (of Hell). When we were in the thick of the battle, that man fought strongly and was wounded. It was said: Messenger of Allah, the person whom you at first said was from among the denizens of Fire fought strongly and died.

(Part No. 3; Page No. 204)

Upon this the Messenger of Allah (may peace be upon him) remarked: He was doomed to the Fire (of Hell). Some men were on the verge of doubt (about his fate). Meanwhile it was said that he was not dead but fatally wounded. When it was night he could not stand the (pain of his) wound, and killed himself. The Messenger (may peace be upon him) was informed of that. He (the Prophet) said: Allah is the Greatest, I bear testimony to the fact that I am the servant of Allah and His Messenger. He then commanded Bilal to announce to the people that none but a Muslim would enter Paradise. Verily Allah helps this faith even through a sinful person.) The Hadith means that Allah protects Islam and enables it even with wicked and unjust persons.

The ninth question of Fatwa no. 3122

Q 9: It is reported that (a strong believer is better than a weak believer.) Is this about physical or spiritual strength and is it the same with regard to wealth and poverty?

A: The Hadith refers to the strength of faith. A believer who has strong faith is far better than a believer who has weak faith. With regard to physical strength, if it does not make the person do good deeds, it will not be good at all.

Q 1: The Prophet (peace be upon him) said, « what I command you to do, perform of it as much as you can and what I forbid you to do, abandon it. » Your Eminence, I hope you can explain this Hadith in brief. What is its significance? Some of the laypeople claim that this Hadith is a Rukhsah (concession), so we can do whatever we can and leave whatever we cannot do. Moreover, this opens the door for abandoning the Sunnah (non-compulsory acts of worship).

A: The Prophet (peace be upon him) means, when saying, «When I command you to do anything, perform of it as much as you can,» the ability to do a thing without any hardship involved. For example, a person is commanded to stand while offering Salah (prayer); however, if he can not pray while standing, he may pray while sitting down. Likewise, anyone who witnesses Ramadan while he is Mukallaf (person meeting the conditions to be held legally accountable for their actions) should observe Sawm (Fast); however, if he can not fast because of illness, he will be allowed to break his fast and make up for the days he missed later on.

Some questionable Hadith

Fatwa no. 15837

A: We do not know this to be a Hadith Sahih (authentic). Al-`Ajluny mentioned similar wording: "The Mu'mins are sweet-eaters." He graded the report: "The Mu'min is sweet and is a sweet-eater" as Mawdu' (fabricated).

Q: What is the opinion of Hadith scholars on the following Athar (narration from the Companions): "Rajab is the Month of Allah, Sha'ban is my month and Ramadan is the month of my Ummah (nation based on one creed)"? And is this a Hadith Sahih (authentic Hadith): "O Allah! To You do I complain of my weakness, my helplessness, and disregard of people towards me..."?"

A: Firstly: The narration, "Rajab is the Month of Allah, Sha'ban is my month and Ramadan is the month of my nation" is a Hadith Mawdu' (fabricated Hadith). The Sanad (chain of narrators) includes Abu Bakr ibn Al-Hasan Al-Naqqash who is accused of fabrication, and Al-Kisa'y who is unknown and his name was mentioned in "Al-La'ali' fy Al-Mawdu'at" book about fabricated Hadiths.

(Part No. 3; Page No. 208)

Secondly: The Hadith: ﴿O Allah! To You do I complain of my weakness, and my helplessness, and disregard of people towards me. O Most Merciful of the merciful! You are the Lord of the oppressed, and You are my Lord. To whom do You entrust me? Is it to a stranger, who would frown on me? Or is it to an enemy, to whom You have given mastery over me? If You are not angry with me, then I do not care. But Your Protection is the more all-embracing for me. I seek refuge in the Light of Your Face, whereby all darkness has shone, and whereby the affairs of worldly life and the Hereafter have been set right, lest You should send down upon me Your Anger, or Your Wrath should befall me. Yours Alone is the right to blame until You are Content, and there is neither power nor might except with You.﴾ This Hadith is Da'if (weak; a Hadith that fails to reach the status of Hasan) due to a weakness in the Sanad.

Q: I read in the book entitled Al-Siraj Al-Munir Sharh Al-Jami` Al-Saghir (vol. 2 p. 180), a Hadith which reads: (three signs when seen, the Last Day is due: When the populated land grows uninhabited and the uninhabited becomes populated, the virtues are seen as vices and the vices as virtues, and men manipulate their trusts dishonestly and nonchalantly.) Please help me regarding the authenticity of this Hadith.

(Part No. 3; Page No. 209)

A: This Hadith is related by Al-Tabarany. It was also mentioned by Al-Suyuty in his book Al-Jami` Al-Saghir who ascribed this Hadith to Tarikh Ibn `Asakir and ranked it as Da`if (weak). Q: It is reported from the Messenger of Allah (peace be upon him) that he said, "Anyone who misses some Salahs (Prayers) without making them up may pray four Rak`ahs (units of Prayer) with only one Tashahhud (a recitation in the sitting position in the second/last unit of Prayer). They should recite in each Rak`ah Surah Al-Fatihah then Surah Al-Qadr and Surah Al-Kawthar fifteen times. They should say while making the intention for Salah (Prayer): 'I intend to pray four Rak`ahs as a Kaffarah (expiation) for the Salahs that I missed.' Abu Bakr said, "I heard the Messenger of Allah (peace be upon him) say, 'It is a Kaffarah for the missed Salahs of four hundred years.' Whereupon `Aly (may Allah honor him) said, 'It is a Kaffarah for the missed Salahs of one thousand years.' He thus was asked, 'For whom will the extra number of Salahs be counted?' He (`Aly) said, 'For a person's parents, wife, children, relatives, and the inhabitants of their town.' When a person finishes offering such a Salah, they should send peace and blessings on the Prophet (peace be upon him) one hundred times in any form they like then they should make the following Du`a' (supplication) three times: 'O Allah! As my obedience does not benefit You in any way and my disobedience does not harm You in any way, accept from me what does not benefit You in any way and forgive for me what does not harm You in any way. O Allah! You are the One Who fulfills His Promises and forgives people after committing what makes them liable for punishment. Forgive thus

Your slave who wronged themselves. I seek refuge with You from the ungratefulness of wealth and the hardship of poverty. O Allah, You created me after I had been nothing. You gave me provision after I had owned nothing. Then I committed sins. I acknowledge all my bad deeds. If You forgive me, Your kingdom will not decrease in any way. If You punish me, Your kingdom will not increase in any way. O Allah, You can find other people than me to punish but I can not find any one other than You to be merciful with me. O Most Merciful, forgive for me what is between me and You and forgive for me what is between me and people. O Hope of the supplicant and Security of the scared! Grant me Your great Mercy. You are the Most Merciful O Lord of the whole universe. O Allah! Forgive the believing men and women and the Muslim men and women and help us to extend their good deeds. O my Lord! Forgive me and bestow me Your mercy for You are the Best of those who show mercy... Peace and blessings of Allah be upon Prophet Muhammad, his family, and Companions."

A: The above Hadith is fabricated for it is not mentioned in the recognized Books of Hadith. Moreover, it is well-established that anyone who misses a Salah, has to hasten to make it up once they remember it. This is because it is authentically reported that the Prophet (peace be upon him) said, \(Anyone who misses a Salah because they sleep or forget it, they have to offer it when they remember it, there is no expiation for it except this.\)

As for the Salah which is mentioned in the question and in which Surahs Al-Qadr and Al-Kawthar are to be repeated fifteen times, it is a Bid`ah (innovation in religion) Salah that opposes the ordained Salah.

Besides, the Du`a' to be read after the Salah mentioned in the question comprises some unsuitable phrases such as "O Allah! You can find other people than me to punish" and "O Security of the scared!" Consequently, offering such a Salah is not permissible for it is a Bid`ah Salah.

May Allah grant us success! May peace and blessings be upon our Prophet Muhammad, his family and Companions!

Fatwa no. 16113

Q: There is a Hadith that reads: "Difference among my Ummah (nation based on one creed) is a mercy..." Is it an authentic Hadith or not? Most scholars say that the meaning of the difference among the Ummah is the difference among Juristic Schools. Most orators mention this Hadith on pulpits. What is your view on the authenticity of this Hadith and acting upon it? What about the scholars and orators who mention it? Each one of them follows a different Juristic School and acts upon its views. They say they follow the view of their Juristic school.

A: The saying that is commonly used by people i.e. (Difference among my Ummah is a mercy), has no origin. That is, it has no Isnad (chain of narrations). So it is not permissible to ascribe this saying to the Messenger of Allah (peace be upon him). Perhaps the first to relate it without Isnad was Al-Bayhaqy (may Allah be merciful to him) in (Al-Risalah Al-Ash`ariyyah) as in (Tabiyin Kadhhib Al-Muftary) by Ibn `Asakir (may Allah be merciful to him) p.106. Many Hadith scholars held the same view.

(Part No. 3; Page No. 212)

In his book (Al-Jami` Al-Saghir), Al-Suyuty (may Allah be merciful to him) could not identify a narrator reporting this Hadith with Isnad (a chain of narrations). Al-Manawy albeit writing an extensive commentary on it in (Fayd Al-Qadir vol. 1, p. 209-212), did not mention its origin.

Consequently, it is not permissible to ascribe this saying to the Prophet (peace be upon him) nor mention it as religious proof. Anyone who ascribes it to the Prophet (peace be upon him) should be notified of this. The difference among scholars on religious issues should be supported by evidence from the Qur'an and Sunnah (whatever is reported from the Prophet) as in them, there is mercy, guidance and light. A mistaken scholar is rewarded once and a right scholar is rewarded twice.

May Allah grant us success! May peace and blessings be upon our Prophet Muhammad, his family and Companions!

Q: The Messenger of Allah (peace be upon him) said, "There is many a reciter of the Qur'an whom the Qur'an curses."

My question: I would like Your Eminence to indicate the meaning of this honorable Hadith, as I conversed with a Muslim brother regarding it, and he told me that the people concerned in the Hadith are those who read the Ayah warning against Riba (usury) and yet indulge in usurious dealings, or read the Ayah of showing dutifulness towards one's parents, and yet they are undutiful to them, and many other cases. Is this what the honorable Ayah suggests? Or is it applicable to those who recite the Qur'an without pondering over its meanings or Ayahs?

(Part No. 3; Page No. 213)

I would like Your Eminence to elaborate on this matter.

A: This is a statement reported from Maymun ibn Mahran, not a Hadith attributed to the Prophet (peace be upon him). It warns Muslims who recite the Qur'an against the neglect of acting according to its teachings. Some servants may recite the Qur'an and pass over its prohibitions heedlessly. For example, they read the prohibitions of Riba, injustice, and Ghibah (backbiting) and yet indulge in usurious dealings, injustice, and Ghibah, and so on.

Was this Hadith authentically reported from the Prophet (peace be upon him)?

A: Al-Nasa'y and Ibn Hibban related on the authority of Abu Umamah (may Allah be pleased with him) that the Prophet (peace be upon him) said: ("Anyone who recites Ayat-ul-Kursy after each obligatory Salah, there is nothing between them and their entrance into Jannah except their death.")

The meaning of the Hadith is that Allah places the servant in a rank that befits Allah's place in the servant's heart. The fourth question of Fatwa no. 12464

Q 4: I heard a Hadith which was always repeated on the television during Ramadan of the year 1993. It was the first time for me to hear of it and I did not find it in any reference. Some brothers told me that it has no origin. The following is its wording: the Messenger of Allah (peace be upon him) said, "My Sahabah (Companions of the Prophet) are like (guiding) stars; whomever you follow, you will be guided (to the right path)." Is this a Hadith Sahih (authentic)? If it is so, who are its narrators?

(Part No. 3; Page No. 217)

A: This Hadith is Mawdu` (fabricated), and it was narrated by Ibn `Abdul-Bar in (Jami` Al-`Ilm) on the authority of Sallam ibn Sulaym who said, "This Hadith was reported as Marfu` (a Hadith narrated from the Prophet with a connected or disconnected chain of narration) on the authority of Al-Harith ibn Ghasin from Al-A`mash from Abu Sufyan from Jabir. Ibn `Abdul-Bar said, "This Sanad (chain of narrators) does not serve as evidence, because Al-Harith ibn Ghasin is Majhul (unknown)." However, its `Illah (defective cause) is graver because Sallam ibn Sulaym was one of the narrators. He was Sallam ibn Sulaym Al-Tawil; and he was known as Ibn Sulayman and Ibn Sulaym. Imam Ahmad said about him, that the Hadith he used to narrate were Munkar (rejected Hadith reported by a weak narrator whose narration conflicts with an authentic Hadith). Ibn Hibban said about him that he narrated Mawdu` Hadith. The Hadith was reported by Ibn Hazm in Al-Ahkam and he commented on it, saying, "It is an invalid narration, because Abu Sufyan is Da`if (there is weakness in his narration), Al-Harith ibn Ghasin is Abu Wahb Al-Thaqafy, and Sallam ibn Sulayman used to narrate Mawdu` Hadith and this is definitely one of them."

May Allah grant us success! May peace and blessings be upon our Prophet Muhammad, his family and Companions!

The second question of Fatwa no. 18721

Q 2: the Messenger of Allah (peace be upon him) said, "I am the best person for the wicked people of my Ummah (nation based on one creed)." The Sahabah (Companions of the Prophet - may Allah be pleased with them) said, "You are for their wicked ones, what about their good people?" The Prophet (peace be upon him) said, "Their good people will enter Jannah (Paradise) with their deeds and their wicked ones will enter Jannah with my intercession." Is this Hadith Sahih (authentic)?

A: The mentioned Hadith was not authentically reported from the Prophet (peace be upon him) because

(Part No. 3; Page No. 218)

Yahya ibn Bastam was the only narrator of this Hadith and he was a weak narrator. Ibn Hibban said: It is not permissible to relate from him because he is one of the callers to the Qadariyyah (a deviant sect that claims Allah has no power over His Creation and humans are independent of Him). This has been mentioned in the book of "Al-Jarh wal-Ta'dil". Also, Jumay' ibn Thawb is one of the narrators of this Hadith whom the author of "Lisan Al-Mizan" has described as Matruk (a narrator whose Hadith transmission was discarded due to unreliability). Al-Bukhari, Al-Daraqutny, and others said that his narrations were rejected.

May Allah grant us success! May peace and blessings be upon our Prophet Muhammad, his family, and Companions!

The first, third, fourth, fifth, and sixth questions of Fatwa no. 18710

Q 1: It is related by Imam Muslim that the Prophet (peace be upon him) said, «Every one of the children of Adam is created with three hundred and sixty joints; so he who celebrates Allah by Takbir (saying: "Allahu Akbar [Allah is the Greatest]"), Tasbih (saying: "Subhan Allah [Glory be to Allah]"), Istighfar (seeking forgiveness from Allah) and removes [harmful] stones or bones from people's path, or enjoins what is good and forbids what is evil - equal to the number of those three hundred and sixty, will walk that day having removed himself from Hell.»

A: This Hadith is related by Muslim in his Sahih on the authority of `Aishah (may Allah be pleased with her). Its exact wording is as follows: «The Messenger of Allah (peace be upon him) said, "Every one of the children of Adam is created with three hundred and sixty joints; so anyone who celebrates Allah by Takbir (saying: "Allahu Akbar [Allah is the Greatest]"), Tahmid (saying: "Alhamdu lillah [All praise is due to Allah]"), Tahlil (saying: "La ilaha illa Allah [There is no god except Allah]"), Tasbih (saying: "Subhan Allah [Glory be to Allah]"), Istighfar (seeking forgiveness from Allah) and removes a stone, thorn, or bone from people's path, and enjoins what is good and forbids what is evil, to the number of those three hundred and sixty, will walk that day having removed himself from Hell.» It is also narrated by Imam Muslim in his Sahih on the authority of Abu Dhar, (may Allah be pleased with him) that the Prophet (peace be upon him) said, «By every morning, charity is due from every bone in the body of every one of you; every utterance of Allah's glorification i.e. subhana Allah, is an act of charity, every utterance of praise i.e. alhamdu lillah, is an act of charity, every utterance of profession of His Oneness i.e. la ilaha illa Allah, is an act of charity, every utterance of profession of His Greatness i.e. allahu akbar, is an act of charity, enjoining right is an act of charity, and forbidding wrong is an act of charity. It is enough to pray two Rak`ahs instead of all these required charities.»

Q 3: The Prophet (peace be upon him) said to `Aishah (may Allah be pleased with her), "Continue knocking on the gates of Jannah (Paradise)." She said, "By doing what?" He (peace be upon him) said, "By hunger."

A: This Hadith was mentioned by the author of Ihya' `Ulum Al-Din. Al-Hafizh Al- `Iraqy said in its Takhrij (referencing) that it has no origin.

Q 4: The Prophet (peace be upon him) said, (travel often so that you may get healthy.)

A: This Hadith was narrated by Imam Ahmad, Al-Tabarany, Abu Nu`aym and others. It is Da`if (a Hadith that fails to reach the status of Hasan, due to a weakness in the chain of narration or one of the narrators).

Q 5: What is the degree of authenticity of this Hadith: The Messenger of Allah (peace be upon him) said: (the (true) Mujahid (one striving/ fighting in the Cause of Allah) is one who struggles against his desires for the sake of Allah)

A: This Hadith is related with similar wordings; it is related by Imam Ahmad on the authority of Fadalāh ibn `Ubayd with the wording: (The (true) Mujahid is one who struggles against his desires in the obedience of Allah.) In another wording, "...in the way of Allah."

It was also narrated by Al-Tirmidhi with the wording: (The true Mujahid is one who struggles against his desires.) He (Al-Tirmidhi) said: There is another narration of the Hadith on the authority of `Uqbah ibn `Amir and Jabir. The Hadith narrated by Fadalāh is Hasan (good Hadith) and Sahih (authentic).

Also, the Hadith is related by Ibn Hibban in his Sahih (Compilation of Authentic Hadiths) with two wordings. One of them is the same as the first wording related by Imam Ahmad, and the other is related with the wording: (The (true) Mujahid is one who struggles against his desires for the sake of Allah the Glorified, the Exalted.) The Hadith is also narrated by Al-Hakim with the wording that reads: (The (true) Mujahid is he who struggles against his desires through acts of obedience (to Allah)) Al-Hakim deemed this Hadith as authentic in accordance with the stipulations of the Two Sheikhs (Al-Bukhari and Muslim).

and all their organs."

A: After researching, we have not found this Hadith which is most likely a Hadith Munkar (rejected Hadith reported by a weak narrator whose narration conflicts with an authentic Hadith). It seems to be a Hadith Mawdu' (fabricated Hadith).

The second question of Fatwa no. 18734

Q 2: What is the degree of authenticity of these two Hadith: (the worst among you is the one who does not get married.) and (Anyone who has the means to marry but he does not do so is not of my followers.) ?

A: The Hadith reported from the Messenger of Allah (peace be upon him) with the wording "The worst among you is the one who does not get married" is part of a long Hadith reported by Abu Ya`la and Al-Tabarani on the authority of Abu Hurayrah with a Sanad (chain of narrators) which includes Khalid ibn Isma`il Al-Makhzumy who is Matruk (a narrator whose Hadith transmission was discarded due to unreliability). They reported the Hadith through another Da`if (weak) Sanad on the authority of `Atyyiah ibn Bishr Al-Maziny as Hadith Marfu` (a Hadith narrated from the Prophet with a connected or disconnected chain of narration). Ibn Al-Jawzy reported it in his book Al-Mawdu`at (fabricated Hadith), and Al-`Aqily reported it in his book Al-Du`afa' (Weak narrators). Ibn Mandah said that the Sanad of this Hadith includes Mu`awiyah ibn Yahya who is a weak narrator and Baqiyyah ibn Al-Walid and Muslim ibn Al-Walid who are Mudallis (a Hadith narrator who provides misleading information about his shaykh or the chain of narration). In his book Al-Isabah, Al-Hafizh Ibn Hajar said that this Hadith has many Sanads which are all weak.

As for the Hadith: (Anyone who has the means to marry but remains single is not of my followers.) Ibn Ma`in said that it is reported by Al-Tabarani in Al-Awsat and Al-Kabir, with a Sanad that is Mursal (with no Companion of the Prophet in the chain of narration) and Hasan (good).

In his book Al-Targhib and Al-Tarhib, Al-Mundhiri said that this Hadith is reported by Al-Tabarani with a Sanad that is Hasan and by Al-Bayhaqi and that it is Mursal. Ibn Hajar said in Al-Fat-h that this Hadith is reported by Al-Darimy and Al-Bayhaqi on the authority of Ibn Abu Najih. Ibn Hajar affirmed that this Hadith is Mursal. It is also mentioned by Al-Baghawiy in Mu`jam Al-Sahabah.

The Mursal is like the Da`if, and so can not be taken as an evidence.

A: This Hadith is Sahih (authentic) and related in the Two Sahih Books of Hadith (i.e. Al-Bukhari and Muslim) and others. It is part of the Hadith narrated by `Aly (may Allah be pleased with him), which is known as the Hadith of

Q 3: What is the degree of authenticity of the following Hadith: (We have come back from the lesser Jihad (fighting/striving in the Cause of Allah) to the greater one.) What does this Hadith mean especially that some people interpret it according to their own inclinations to turn Muslims away from Jihad against the enemies of Islam and direct them to mild Jihad against oneself, money, desires and temptations?

A: According to this Hadith: (We have come back from the lesser Jihad to the greater one.) The lesser Jihad means fighting against the Kafirs (disbelievers) while the greater one means striving against oneself. This Hadith was not authentically reported from the Prophet (peace be upon him). In fact, it is Da`if (weak) according to the views of Hadith scholars.

A: We know of no origin of this Hadith with this wording but there are Sahih Hadith confirming the meaning that those four women mentioned in the Hadith along with `Aishah, the Prophet's wife (may Allah be pleased with her), are the best women of Jannah (Paradise) (may Allah be pleased with them).

A: The Hadith that reads: (Dissension is asleep \(dormant\). May Allah curse the one who awakens \(activates\) it.) is mentioned by, Al-`Ajluny, the author of Kashf Al-Khafa' who mentioned that Al-Najm said, "Al-Rafi`y related it in His book Al-Amaly from Anas." It was also related by Al-Suyuty in Al-Jami` Al-Saghir who hinted to its weakness.

The Hadith that reads: "Stay a way from Khadra' Al-Diman." is related by Al-Daraqutny, Al-`Askary, Ibn `Ady and Al-Quda`y and others. Al-Daraqutny said: "There is no authentic narration of it."

Q: Could you kindly advise whether the attached paper to this letter is authentic or not? May Allah reward you with the best for serving the Muslims! The attached paper is a copy of the letter which is claimed that the Prophet (peace be upon him) sent to Al-Mundhir ibn Sawa.

A: This letter with the mentioned wordings was stated by historians, such as Ibn Al-Qayyim in "Zad Al-Ma`ad" (3/962), Ibn Sayyid Al-Nas in his book "Uyun Al-Athar," Ibn Al-Athir in "Al-Tarikh," and others. We do not have any evidence to prove that the attached letter was written in the same handwriting which the Prophet (peace be upon him) dictated.

The first question of Fatwa no. 16316

Q 1: What is your opinion concerning the following Hadith, and what is its degree of authenticity? Is it eligible to be taken as evidence by anyone who adheres to acting according to it? The Messenger of Allah (peace be upon him) said: (anyone who says thrice when they wake up (He is Allâh, beside Whom Lâ ilâha illâ Huwa (none has the right to be worshipped but He) the All-Knower of the unseen and the seen. He is the Most Gracious, the Most Merciful.) (He is Allâh beside Whom Lâ ilâha illâ Huwa (none has the right to be worshipped but He), the King, the Holy, the One Free from all defects, the Giver of security, the Watcher over His creatures, the All-Mighty, the Compeller, the Supreme. Glory be to Allâh! (High is He) above all that they associate as partners with Him.) (He is Allâh, the Creator, the Inventor of all things, the Bestower of forms. To Him belong the Best Names. All that is in the heavens and the earth glorify Him. And He is the All-Mighty, the All-Wise.) Allah will make seventy thousand angels ask forgiveness for them until the night; and if they die that day, they would be a martyr.)

(Part No. 3; Page No. 228)

A: Al-Shawkany said in "Tuhfat Al-Dhakhirin" that the Hadith was related by Al-Tirmidhy who ranked it as Hadith Hasan Gharib (a good Hadith that is strange to come from this chain of narration) and commented that he knew of it only through this narrator. The Hadith was also related by Al-Darimy and Ibn Al-Sunny. Al-Nawawwy commented that its Sanad (chain of narrators) was Da`if (weak). Also, this Hadith was related by Imam Ahmad in his "Musnad (Hadith compilation)".

Its Sanad is Da`if, as said by Al-Nawawwy, because it includes Khalid ibn Tahman who was afflicted with impaired memory in his old age. The Sanad of the Hadith also includes Nafi` ibn Abu Nafi` and many scholars were confused concerning his true identity, but it was said that he was Nafi` Al-A`ma who was classified as Matruk (a narrator whose Hadith transmission was discarded due to unreliability) in "Al-Taqrîb".

Fatwa no. 18862

Q: We would like to know whether the following Hadith are Sahih (authentic) or not:

In the first Hadith, the Messenger of Allah (peace be upon him) said, (anyone who is able to die in Madinah, let them die there.) The Hadith is mentioned in the book entitled "Al-Targhib wal-Tarhib" (Exhortation and Intimidation) for Imam Al-Mundhiry.

In the second Hadith, the Messenger of Allah (peace be upon him) said, (if a Muslim commits a sin, then performs Wudu' (ablution) and does it properly, then offers two Rak`ahs (unit of Prayer), and then asks for Allah's Forgiveness, they will be granted forgiveness. ) The Hadith was related by Abu Dawud. Also refer to Sahih Al-Jami`.

(Part No. 3; Page No. 229)

A: The first Hadith was related by Imam Al-Tirmidhy in Al-Jami` with the wording mentioned above. He then said, "There is another Hadith under the same topic, which was narrated by Subay`ah bint Al-Harith Al-Aslamiyyah who reported that the Messenger of Allah (peace be upon him) said, (Anyone who is able to die in Madinah, let them die there, for verily I will be the intercessor or the witness for anyone who dies there on the Day of Resurrection.)" He commented, "This Hadith is Hasan Sahih Gharib (a good and authentic Hadith that is strange to come from this chain of narration) reported from Ayyub Al-Sikhtiyany."

The Hadith was also related by Imam Ahmad in his Musnad (Hadith compilation - volume 2, pages 274 and 104); Ibn Majah in Al-Manasik (vol. 2, p. 1039, no. 3112); and was ranked as Sahih by Ibn Hibban in his Sahih (vol. 9, p. 57).

Moreover, Al-Haythamy said in Majm` Al-Zawa'id (vol. 3, p. 306) that the Hadith was related by Al-Tabarany in Al-Kabir and its narrators were Rijal Al-Sahih (narrators of Hadith compiled by Al-Bukhari and/or Muslim) except `Abdullah ibn `Ikrimah, who was mentioned by Ibn Abu Hatim and some narrators related from him and no one talked badly about him.

There are a lot of narrations for this Hadith, all of which support it. For example, Muslim listed many narrations in Kitab Al-Hajj (Book of Pilgrimage), chapter of Encouraging life in Madinah and enduring its hardships (vol. 2, pp. 1003-1004), such as: On the authority of `Abdullah ibn `Umar who narrated: I heard the Messenger of Allah (peace be upon him) say: (Anyone who patiently endures the hardships and rigors of this city, I would be their witness and intercessor on the Day of Resurrection.) He meant Madinah. In some other narrations related by him, he added: (...if they are Muslims.)

The second Hadith is Sahih and it was related by Al-Tirmidhy in

Al-Jami` under nos. 406 and 3006), and he commented: It is a Hadith Hasan (a Hadith whose chain of narration contains a narrator with weak exactitude, but is free from eccentricity or blemish). It was also related by Imam Ahmad in his Musnad vol. 5, p. 167; Ibn Majah in his Sunan (under no. 1395);

Abu Dawud in his Sunan (under no. 1521); and Al-Tabarany in Al-Du`a'.

Furthermore, it was related by Al-Baghawyy in Sharh Al-Sunnah (under no. 1015), who commented: This is a Hasan Hadith which is not known to be narrated except on the authority of `Uthman ibn Al-Mughirah on whose authority Shu`bah, Mis`ar and many others related Hadith. It was also related by Ibn Abu Shaybah vol. 2, p. 387.

May Allah grant us success! May peace and blessings be upon our Prophet Muhammad, his family and Companions!

The first question of Fatwa no. 18860

Q 1: What is the meaning of the following Hadith which was reported from the Messenger of Allah (peace be upon him), charity extinguishes the wrath of Allah and saves from an evil death. Who narrated this Hadith? Is it Sahih (authentic) or not? Would you please explain it? What is meant by an "evil death"? Is the person who neglects offering Salah included in this or is his sin much greater?

A: Sadaqah (voluntary charity), which is given for the sake of Allah, is a reason for His becoming pleased with His slave. Since pleasure is the opposite of anger, then Sadaqah extinguishes the Wrath of Allah, like water puts out fire.

(Part No. 3; Page No. 231)

"Evil death" means to die while disobeying Allah, Allah forbid! This is because an "evil death" is a punishment from Allah and shows His anger. Therefore, if those who neglect offering Salah (Prayer) do not repent, they will be included in this threat.

according to the soundest of the two opinions of scholars, anyone who abandons Salah is a Kafir (disbeliever). The Prophet (peace be upon him) said, «Verily, between a man and Shirk \(associating others with Allah in His Divinity or worship\) and Kufr \(disbelief\) is the negligence of prayer.» Related by Muslim in his Sahih (authentic Book of Hadith). He (peace be upon him) also said, «The covenant that distinguishes between us and them \(the hypocrites\) is Salah. Anyone who abandons it is a Kafir \(disbeliever\).» Related by Imams Ahmad, Abu Dawud, Al-Tirmidhy, Al-Nasa'y and Ibn Majah with a Sahih (authentic) Isnad (chain of narrators). A person can ward off an evil death by paying Sadaqah out of lawful means sincerely for Allah's sake, performing the obligatory acts, and avoiding the prohibitions. These will only be fulfilled by the guidance of Allah to the person to follow the right path and obey Him until he meets Allah while He is pleased with him, In sha'a-Allah (if Allah wills). Sadaqah removes affliction as it expiates the sins that brings about Allah's anger and punishment.

As for the Hadith that is mentioned in the question, it is recorded by Al-Tirmidhy in Al-Jami` Al-Sahih, vol. 3, p. 52, Hadith no. 664, Kitab Al-Zakah (Book of Zakah) with the wording, «Charity extinguishes the wrath of Allah and saves from an evil death.» Al-Tirmidhy ranked this Hadith as Hasan Gharib (a good Hadith that is strange to come from this chain of narration).

It is recorded by Ibn Hibban in his Sahih (authentic book of Hadith), vol. 8, p. 104, Hadith no. 3309. It is also recorded by Al-Tabarani in Al-Mu`jam Al-Kabir, Hadith no. 8014 and 1018. He classified the Isnad (chain of narrators) as good. He also recorded it in Al-Mu`jam Al-Awsat nos. 943 and 3450 and in Al-Mu`jam Al-Saghir, vol. 1, p. 255. Al-Baghawiy stated this Hadith in Sharh Al-Sunnah, vol. 5, p. 133, Hadith no. 1634. Al-Haythami also recorded it in Majma` Al-Zawa'id, vol. 3, p. 115. He classified the Isnad (chain of narrators) as good. Al-Mundhiri, examining its chain of narrators, said in Al-Targhib wa Al-Tarhib, vol. 2, p. 31, on the authority of Mu`awiyah ibn Haydah and said that its chain includes Sadaqah ibn `Abdullah Al-Samin who is acceptable in the circumstantial supporting reports. It is recorded by Al-Hakim in Al-Mustadrak and by Ibn Abu Al-Dunya in Qada' Al-Hawa'ij.

This Hadith was narrated in different ways with the same wording either in full or in brief from `Abdullah ibn Ja`far, Abu Sa`id Al-Khudry, `Abdullah ibn `Abbas, `Umar ibn Al-Khattab, `Abdullah ibn Mas`ud, Abu Umamah, Anas ibn Malik, and Mu`awiyah ibn Haydah. According to the commentators of Hadith, some of these narrations are not free from weakness. However, the report has various supporting accounts that strengthen and affirm its reliability, so it is at least a Hasan Hadith (good Hadith).

May Allah grant us success! May peace and blessings be upon our Prophet Muhammad, his family and Companions!

The second question of Fatwa no. 18224

Q 2: what is your opinion of the book entitled "Samir Al-Mu'minin" (The Entertainer of Believers) written by Muhammad Al-Hajjar? Is the Hadith that states, "Surah Ya-Sin serves for the purpose it is recited for" Sahih (authentic)?

A: We know nothing about the mentioned book or its writer. As for the mentioned Hadith, the author of "Al-Maqasid Al-Hasanah" said about it, "This wording is groundless."

Fatwa no. 19265

Q: Your Eminence, I hope you would advise about the authenticity of the Hadith which was narrated on the authority of `Aishah (may Allah be pleased with her) that the Prophet (peace be upon him) said: ("Neither the testimony of a deceitful person, whether a man or a woman, nor that of Dhu Ghimr is accepted.")

What is the meaning of Dhu Ghimr? We resorted to you because Allah (Exalted be He) says: (So ask the people of the Reminder, if you do not know.)

A: This Hadith was related from different narrations, one of which was narrated on the authority of `Aishah (may Allah be pleased with her) from the Prophet (peace be upon him) with the following words: ("The testimony of a deceitful person, whether man or woman, or Dhu Ghimr against their brother is not accepted nor that of a person whose lineage is suspected.") Al-Tirmidhy related this Hadith in his book "Jami'", vol. 2, p. 48 and commented, "Its is not Sahih (authentic)" in terms of its Sanad (chain of narrators)." The Hadith was also related by Al-Bayhaqy in his book "Al-Sunan Al-Kubra", vol. 10, p. 155 and he commented, "It is Da`if (weak)." Al-Daraqutny (529) related the Hadith and commented that it was Da`if and cannot be taken as a proof.

Another narration was made on the authority of `Amr ibn Shu`ayb from his father from his grandfather from the Prophet (peace be upon him) with the following wording: ("The testimony of a deceitful man or woman and Dhu Ghimr against their brother is not accepted.") It was related by Imam Ahmad in his "Musnad (Hadith compilation)", vol. 2, p. 204, 225-226; Abu Dawud in his "Sunan (Hadith compilations classified by jurisprudential themes)", no. 3600, 3601; Al-Bayhaqy in "Al-Sunan Al-Kubra", vol. 10, p. 200; and Al-Daraqutny (528). Al-Hafizh Ibn Hajar said in "Al-Talkhis," vol. 4, p. 198, "Its Sanad is strong. Thus, the Hadith from this narration is Sahih and can be taken as a proof."

The meaning of Dhu Ghimr in the Hadith was mentioned in "Al-Fath Al-Rabbany," vol. 5, p.220, as follows: The saying (and Dhu Ghimr) means the one who has hard feelings and enmity. Al-Khattaby said: It is the person who has manifest enmity against the accused.

The deceit mentioned in the Hadith does not only mean the breach of trust, but it gives a general meaning referring to every person who abandons what Allah (Exalted be He) and His Prophet (peace be upon him) have commanded people to do, or commits what Allah (Exalted be He) and His Messenger (peace be upon him) have prohibited. In this case, they are regarded as untrustworthy and their testimony shall not be accepted because of Allah's Saying:

(O you who believe! Betray not Allâh and His Messenger, nor betray knowingly your Amânât (things entrusted to you, and all the duties which Allâh has ordained for you).)

Q 1: A friend of mine told me that, "Light surrounds the person who performs Wudu' (ablution)." Is this a Hadith or a common saying? I hear some people who talk during Wudu'.

A: This saying is groundless and not attributed to the Prophet (peace be upon him).

Q 5: Is the following Hadith "The best among you is the one whose first child is a girl" Sahih (authentic)?

The first question of Fatwa no. 19292

Q 1: On the authority of Abu Musa (may Allah be pleased with him) that the Prophet (peace be upon him) said, (three people invoke Allah, but their supplications are not answered And a man who lent another person some money without bringing a witness to it.) Related by Al-Hakim in his book Al-Mustadrak and it is in Sahih Al-Jami`. What is meant by this part of the Hadith?

A: This Hadith must not be ascribed to the Prophet (peace be upon him) and its Matn (text of a Hadith) is rejected according to Al-Hafizh Al-Dhahaby (may Allah be merciful to him).

May Allah grant us success! May peace and blessings be upon our Prophet Muhammad, his family and Companions!

The first question of Fatwa no. 19326

Q 1: There is a Hadith that states, (it is not permissible for a person leading people in Salah (Prayer) to have the advantage of invocation for himself excluding them. if he does, he has betrayed them.)

First, what is the degree of authenticity of this Hadith?

(Part No. 3; Page No. 237)

Second, if the Hadith is Sahih (authentic), does it not contradict the rest of the Hadith of the Prophet (peace be upon him) about Salah? The Imam (the one who leads congregational Prayer) says Du`a' (supplication) in the singular form, such as Du`a'-ul-Istiftah (opening supplication when starting the Prayer) and after Tashahhud (a recitation in the sitting position in the second/ last unit of Prayer).

A: The mentioned Hadith was related by Imam Ahmad in his Musnad (Hadith compilation) (5/280), Abu Dawud in his Sunan (Hadith compilations classified by jurisprudential themes), Kitab Al-Salah (Book of Salah), and Al-Tirmidhy in his Jami`, Kitab Al-Salah, Chapter 148. Al-Tirmidhy said this Hadith is Hasan (a Hadith whose chain of narration contains a narrator with weak exactitude, but is free from eccentricity or blemish).

This Hadith does not contradict what you mentioned; the prohibition is specific to the Du`a' of the Imam in the Witr (Prayer with an odd number of units) or any collective Du`a' where people say "Amen". It does not mean Du`a'-ul-Istiftah, Ruku` (bowing) or such parts of Salah.

May Allah grant us success! May peace and blessings be upon our Prophet Muhammad, his family and Companions!

The third question of Fatwa no. 19042

Q 3: Is this a Sahih (authentic) Hadith? What is its significance? `Abdullah ibn `Umar (may Allah be pleased with them both) narrated on the authority of his father that the Messenger of Allah (peace be upon him) said, a time will come unto people where most of them have the faces of human beings and the hearts of ravening wolves. They are bloodthirsty and do not watch over their actions. When they make a pledge with you, they equivocate you; when they talk, they lie; when they are entrusted, they betray; when you leave them, they backbite you. Their young are reckless, their youth are highwaymen and their aged people are corrupt. They do not enjoin Ma`ruf (that which is judged as good, beneficial, or fitting by Islamic law and Muslims of sound intellect) and do not forbid Munkar (that which is unacceptable or disapproved of by Islamic law and Muslims of sound intellect). Intermixing with them entails humiliation and asking them entails poverty. The tolerant among them is a seducer and the seducer is tolerant. For them, the Sunnah (whatever is reported from the Prophet) is Bid`ah (innovation in religion) and the Bid`ah is Sunnah. According to them, the enjoiner of Ma`ruf is accused and the Fasiq (someone flagrantly violating Islamic law) is honored. The Mu'min (believer) is oppressed among them. When those people do so, Allah will give other people power over them, who will kill them if they talk and will transgress on them if they keep silent. They will take hold of them through their spoils and will oppress them in judgment.

A: This Hadith should not be attributed to the Prophet (peace be upon him). It is mentioned by Al-Hafizh Al-Suyuty in Al-La'ali' Al-Masnu'ah Fi Al-Ahadith Al-Mawdu'ah vol. 2, p. 385.

May Allah grant us success! May peace and blessings be upon our Prophet Muhammad, his family and Companions!

The second question of Fatwa no. 19623

Q 2: This question relates to the Hadith related by Al-Tirmidhy and Abu Dawud which says that Abu Bakr Al-Siddiq (may Allah be pleased with him) gave all his money to the Messenger of Allah (peace be upon him) on the occasion of the battle of Tabuk and that the Messenger of Allah (peace be upon him) asked him: "What did you leave for your family?" "I left Allah and His Messenger for them." Abu Bakr replied.

(Part No. 3; Page No. 239)

To get straight to the point, there is an addition to the concerned Hadith that the Prophet (peace be upon him) said, "O Abu Bakr: Verily, Allah is pleased with you. Are you thus pleased with Him?" He replied while dancing in front of the Messenger of Allah (peace be upon him) out of being emotionally excited by great delight and love, "How can I not be pleased with Allah?"

The question is whether such addition is Sahih (authentic) and that Abu Bakr (may Allah be pleased with him) really started to dance in front of the Prophet (peace be upon him)?

A: The Hadith which is related by Abu Dawud and Al-Tirmidhy is Sahih. The same Hadith is also related by Al-Hakim in his Book Al-Mustadrak where he declares the concerned Hadith as Sahih; such a view is supported by Al-Dhahaby.

On the other hand, no origin is known for the addition which is mentioned in the question and its Matn (text) is unacceptable.

May Allah grant us success! May peace and blessings be upon our Prophet Muhammad, his family and Companions!

(Part No. 3; Page No. 240)

what I want shall be." Is there any explanation for the meaning of this Hadith?

A: As for this wording, it has no origin in any Hadith authentically reported from the Prophet (peace be upon him).

May Allah grant us success! May peace and blessings be upon our Prophet Muhammad, his family, and Companions!

Fatwa no. 20051

Q: the following relates the story of the millstone and Fatimah Al-Zahra' (may Allah be pleased with her). On the authority of Abu Hurayrah (may Allah be pleased with him) who narrated that the Messenger of Allah (peace be upon him) went to his daughter Fatimah Al-Zahra' (may Allah be pleased with her) and found her grinding barley while weeping, whereupon he said to her: What makes you cry, Fatimah? She said: Because of the household chores and the grinding. If you ask Imam `Aly (may Allah be pleased with him) to hire a servant, he will be greatly rewarded. When the Prophet (peace be upon him) heard that, his heart softened for her and his eyes moved to tears. He, accordingly, sat beside the millstone, took a handful of barley with his blessed hand, and said: Bismillah Al-Rahman, Al-Rahim [In the Name of Allah, the Most Gracious, the Most Merciful], and started throwing barley in the millstone. When it started turning on, the Prophet (peace be upon him) heard it glorifying Allah (Glorified and Exalted be He) with eloquent words and a beautiful sound, and he continued like that until the barley ran out. The Prophet (peace be upon him) ordered the millstone to stop grinding, but Allah (Exalted be He) Who causes all things to speak made it speak to say to the Prophet (peace be upon him): By Him Who has sent you with Al-Haqq (the Truth), I would not stop grinding until you supplicate to Allah that I be admitted into Jannah (Paradise) and saved from the Fire.

(Part No. 3; Page No. 241)

Upon that, the Prophet (peace be upon him) said: You are a stone, and fear the Fire. The millstone said: O Messenger of Allah! It is mentioned in the Qur'an: ﴿O you who believe! Ward off yourselves and your families against a Fire \(Hell\) whose fuel is men and stones, over which are \(appointed\) angels stern \(and\) severe, who disobey not, \(from executing\) the Commands they receive from Allāh, but do that which they are commanded.﴾ The Prophet (peace be upon him), thus, supplicated to Allah (Exalted be He) for it. When he finished, the trustworthy Jibril (Gabriel - peace be upon him) descended and said: O Muhammad, your Lord (Glorified and Exalted be He) sends you greetings and gives you special salutation and honor. He says to you, "Give glad tidings to this stone that Allah (Glorified and Exalted be He) has saved it from the Fire and made it a stone in the palace of Fatimah Al-Zahra' in Jannah, and its light will be like that of the sun in this world." He (i.e. the Prophet) gave it the glad tidings then turned to Fatimah (may Allah be pleased with her) and said: O Fatimah! If Allah wills, the millstone will grind barley everyday by itself, but Allah (Glorified and Exalted be He) will grant you good deeds and raise your rank (in Jannah) when you bear such difficulties. O Fatimah! No woman sweats while baking but Allah will make between her and the Fire seven trenches; the distance between each trench and the other is like the distance between the heaven and the earth. O Fatimah! No woman chops onions until her eyes shed tears but Allah will grant her a reward equal to that given to those who weep for fear of Allah (Exalted be He). O Fatimah! No woman stitches with her hands but Allah will grant her a good deed and abolish one of her sins for every thread she stitches. O Fatimah! No woman spins but her spinning will be an echo under the Throne on the Day of Resurrection. O Fatimah! No woman sews clothes for her children but that Allah will grant her the reward of feeding one thousand hungry persons and clothing one thousand unclothed persons. O Fatimah! No woman oils and tidies her children's hair and washes their clothes and dresses them properly but Allah will grant her a good deed and obliterate a sin for each hair and make her beautified in people's eyes. O Fatimah! No woman shares some of her food and drink with her neighbors but Allah will make her rejoice with drinking from the river of Al-Kawthar (a river in Paradise) on the Day of Resurrection. O Fatimah! There are five things which should not be forbidden: Water, fire, fermented bread, millstones, and needles. And there is a reward for each one of these. O Fatimah! Anyone who refuses to give water to whoever needs it, Allah will afflict them with enmity between them and their family; and anyone who refuses to give a millstone, Allah will afflict them with diseases. O Fatimah! The best deed that makes you attain Allah's Pleasure is to please your husband. O Fatimah! Any woman whose husband dies while being pleased with her, Allah will give her a reward for every hair on his body, and she will not die until she sees her place in Jannah, and her soul will not depart her body unless her Lord is satisfied with her. O Fatimah! No woman dies while she has been obedient to her husband but Allah will grant her one thousand good deeds. O Fatimah! A woman without a husband is like a fruitless tree. O Fatimah! If a man looks into his wife's face, Allah will reward him with one hundred good deeds. If he has intercourse with her, he will be granted one good deed for each hair on his body. If he has Ghusl (ritual bath following major ritual impurity),

(Part No. 3; Page No. 243)

Allah (Exalted be He) will create from each drop of water an angel to glorify Allah (Exalted be He) and ask forgiveness for that husband until the Day of Resurrection. O Fatimah! If the wife becomes pregnant, the angels in the heavens and the whales in the sea will keep asking Allah to forgive her, and Allah will grant her one thousand good deeds and abolish one thousand sins for each day of her pregnancy, and this equals the reward of those who strive in the Cause of Allah (Exalted be He). When the woman gives birth, all her sins will be obliterated like the day she was born, and Allah will grant her the reward of seventy accepted times of Hajj. If she breast-feeds her baby, Allah will grant her a good deed and abolish one of her sins for every drop of milk, and Al-Hur-ul-`Ayn (women of Paradise with large black eyes) will ask Allah to forgive her in Jannah. O Fatimah! No woman frowns at her husband but she will incur the Wrath of Allah and that of the angels and mankind. If she refuses to give him his right as a husband, she will be cursed by everything that is fresh and dry. O Fatimah! No woman says to her husband a word of disrespect but she will incur the Curse of Allah (Exalted be He) and that of the angels and mankind. O Fatimah! No woman eases her Mahr (mandatory gift to a bride from her groom) for her husband but Allah will reward her with a palace in Jannah for every dirham. O Fatimah! No woman causes her husband to be furious and does not seek to please him but she will incur the Wrath of Allah. O Fatimah! No woman dresses beautifully and goes out of her house without her husband's permission but she will incur the curse of everything that is fresh and dry until she returns to her house. No woman looks at her husband without smiling at him but she will incur the Wrath of Allah and that of the angels and mankind. O Fatimah! No woman unveils her face before other than her husband but

Allah will throw her on her face in the Fire. O Fatimah! No woman lets in her house whatever her husband dislikes but Allah will punish her with seventy scorpions of the Fire to sting her on the Day of Resurrection. O Fatimah! No woman observes Sawm (Fast) without her husband's permission but her Sawm will not be accepted and no compensation on her part will be accepted. O Fatimah! No woman steals from her husband but she will be given the sin of committing seventy thefts in return for this one theft. And Allah knows best.

I read this story in a booklet when I was young, but I do not know the degree of authenticity of that Hadith. Is this the right wording of the Hadith or it is just a preaching lesson. Please advise. May Allah benefit us and you!

A: This Hadith is Mawdu` (fabricated Hadith) and falsely attributed to the Prophet (peace be upon him). It is groundless and none of the trustworthy scholars mentioned it.

May Allah grant us success! May peace and blessings be upon our Prophet Muhammad, his family, and Companions!

Q 1: I heard that Allah's Messenger (peace be upon him) said in a Hadith: (love the Arabic language for three (reasons): It is the language of the Qur'an, the language of Paradise and my mother tongue.) Is this Hadith Sahih (authentic)?

Q: The Hadith you ask about was not related in this wording, but it was related in the wording: (Love Arabs for three (reasons): I am an Arabian, Qur'an was (revealed in) Arabic, and the language of people of Paradise is Arabic.) It was narrated by Al-Tabarani in his book Al-Mu`jam Al-Kabir and Al-Mu`gam Al-Awsat on the authority of Ibn `Abbas (may Allah be pleased with them both). It was also related by Al-Suyuti in his book Al-Durar Al-Muntathirah. However, this Hadith is extremely weak and some scholars of the science of Hadith deemed it as Mawdu` (fabricated) such as Abu Hatim, Al-`Uqayly, Ibn Al-Jawzi in his book Al-Mawdu`at. Al-Haythami mentioned the Hadith in his book Majma` Al-Zawa'id and commented: It is related by Al-Tabarani in Al-Mu`gam Al-Kabir and Al-Mu`gam Al-Awsat but he used: "The language of the people of Paradise is Arabic." The Sanad (chain of narrators) of this Hadith includes Al-`Ala' ibn `Amr Al-Hanafi who is a weak narrator as unanimously agreed by scholars. Al-Dhahabi said in his book Al-Mizan: Al-`Ala' ibn `Amr is Matruk (a narrator whose Hadith transmission was discarded due to unreliability). Ibn Hibban said: He is not to be taken as a proof at all. Ibn Hibban mentioned the narration of Al-`Aqily of the Hadith referred to and said: This Hadith is Mawdu` (fabricated). Moreover, Al-`Aqily mentioned the chain of transmission of this Hadith and said: It is Munkar (rejected Hadith reported by a weak narrator whose narration conflicts with an authentic Hadith), of unconformable text and has no reference.

Therefore, this Hadith is extremely weak and is not permissible to be taken as a proof or reference.

Q 2: The Messenger of Allah (peace be upon him) said, « i was created as the first of the prophets and i was the last one to be sent. » Is this Hadith Sahih (authentic)?

A: The mentioned Hadith was narrated on the authority of Abu Hurayrah (may Allah be pleased with him) with the following wording: « I was the first of the Prophets in creation and the last of them to be sent. » In some narrations, there is the addition, « I was the first one. » This Hadith is Da`if (a Hadith that fails to reach the status of Hasan, due to a weakness in the chain of narration or one of the narrators). It was mentioned by

(Part No. 3; Page No. 246)

Tammam in his "Fawa'id", Abu Nu`aym in "Dala'il Al-Nubuwwah" and Al-Tha`laby in his "Tafsir". Its Sanad (chain of narrators) includes Baqiyyah and Sa`id ibn Bishr who are both weak narrators. It was also mentioned by Al-Suyuty in "Al-Durar Al-Muntashirah fi Al-Ahadiith Al-Mushtahirah." Al-Dhahaby mentioned this Hadith among the Gharib Hadith (a Hadith with a single narrator usually at the beginning of the chain of narration) narrated by Sa`id ibn Bishr. It was narrated as Mursal (a Hadith with no Companion of the Prophet in the chain of narration) by Qatadah on the authority of Abu Hurayrah.

Thus, this Hadith cannot be cited. There is no authentic evidence that the Prophet (peace be upon him) is the first of creation like what some people think.

May Allah grant us success! May peace and blessings be upon our Prophet Muhammad, his family and Companions!

The first question of Fatwa no. 20355

Q 1: "May Allah be merciful with one who knows their own limits," "Much laughter kills the heart"; are the foregoing two Athars (narrations from the Companions) or Hadith? Who are their narrators and to what extent are they Sahih (authentic)?

A: Research and verification show that the phrase that you have mentioned in the question reading: "May Allah be merciful with one who knows their own limits" has no origin in any of the variant narrations. As far as we know, such a phrase is not found in the authentic Books of Hadith scholars and it is not narrated by any of the Sahabah (Companions of the Prophet) or the Tabi'un (Followers, the generation after the Companions of the Prophet). It is a commonly used phrase whose sayer is unknown.

(Part No. 3; Page No. 247)

On the other hand, the Hadith which is quoted as reading: "Much laughter kills the heart" is related by Ibn Majah in his Sunan (Hadith compilations classified by jurisprudential themes) on the authority of Abu Hurayrah (may Allah be pleased with him) as reading: The Messenger of Allah (peace be upon him) said, «Do not laugh a lot for much laughter kills the heart». Al-Busiry said in his book Al-Zawa'id, "The Sanad (chain of narrators) of this Hadith is Sahih and its narrators are Thiqah (trustworthy)." Moreover, Al-Quda'y and Al-Tabarani related a Hadith similar to it which is related as well by Ibn Majah on the authority of Wathilah ibn Al-Asqa' from Abu Hurayrah who said that the Messenger of Allah (peace be upon him) said, «O Abu Hurayrah, be righteous and you will be the most devoted worshipper, be satisfied and you will be the most thankful person, love for people what you love for yourself and you will be a true believer, do good to your neighbors and you will be a perfect Muslim, and laugh only a little for much laughter kills the heart.» Al-Busiry commented in his book Al-Zawa'id: "This Hadith has a good Sanad."

Imam Ahmad, Al-Tirmidhy, Al-Bayhaqy, and others related a Hadith similar to the foregoing but Al-Tirmidhy said: "It is a Hadith Gharib (a Hadith with a single narrator usually at the beginning of the chain of narration)."

The concerned Hadith has many other Sanads (chains of narrators) and it is consequently at least a Hadith Hasan (a Hadith whose chain of narration contains a narrator with weak exactitude, but is free from eccentricity or blemish).

Fatwa no. 20478

Q: A friend of mine told me a Hadith and I could not find its Takhrij (referencing), as we have a lack of references. The Hadith states, (when my servant becomes forty years old, I will guard them against three afflictions: madness, leprosy and vitiligo. When they become fifty years old, I will give them an easy reckoning. When they become sixty years old, I will make them love returning to Me. When they become seventy years old, angels will love them. When they become eighty years old, their good deeds will be written and their bad deeds will be abolished. When they become ninety years old, the angels will call them Allah's prisoners on earth, so they are forgiven their past and future sins, and they intercede for their families. When they reach senility, the same good deeds they used to do when they were healthy will be written for them, and the evil deeds will not be written for them.) Please advise concerning whether this Hadith is Sahih (authentic) or not.

A: The mentioned Hadith is Da`if (a Hadith that fails to reach the status of Hasan, due to a weakness in the chain of narration or one of the narrators). It is even ranked by some Hafizh (scholars who are well-versed in Hadith and its sciences) as Maudu` (fabricated Hadith), such as in the book entitled "Al-La'ali' Al-Masnu`ah Fi Al-Ahadith Al-Mawdu`ah" by Al-Suyuty (1/138). Thus, it is not permissible to attribute it to the Prophet (peace be upon him).

The second question of Fatwa no. 20767

Q2: What is the degree of authenticity of the Hadith, "Women's reasoning and worship are weak"?

A: It is authentically related in the Two Sahih (authentic) Books of Hadith (i.e. Al-Bukhari and Muslim) and others from the Hadith reported by Abu Sa'id Al-Khudri (may Allah be pleased with him) that he said: ﴿Once Allah's Messenger (peace be upon him) went out to the prayer place (to offer the prayer) of 'Id-al-Adha or Al-Fitr prayer. Then he passed by the women and said, "O women! Give alms, as I have seen you (women) as the majority of the dwellers of Hell-fire." They asked, "Why is it so, O Allah's Messenger?" He replied, "You curse frequently and are ungrateful to your husbands. I have not seen anyone more deficient in reasoning and worship than you. A cautious sensible man could be led astray by some of you." The women asked, "O Allah's Messenger! What is deficient in our reasoning and faith?" He said, "Is not the testimony of two women equal to the testimony of one man?" They replied in the affirmative. He said, "This is the deficiency in her reasoning . Isn't it so that a woman can neither pray nor fast during her menses?" The women replied in the affirmative. He said, "This is the deficiency in her worship."﴾ Muslim related the Hadith reported by Ibn `Umar (may Allah be pleased with them) that he said, Allah's Messenger (peace be upon him) said: ﴿O women, give in charity and seek forgiveness, for I have seen that most of you are fuel to Hell. The Hadith has been transmitted in the same wordings but he said: "A woman refrains from prayer for some days and breaks the fast in Ramdan (i.e. because of menses); this is the deficiency of religion.﴾ As for the following Hadith, which is mentioned in some books with the wording: ﴿I have not seen anyone more deficient in reasoning and worship than you. A cautious sensible man could be led astray by some of you. The deficiency in reasoning is that the testimony of two women is equal to the testimony of one man. The deficiency in her worship is that throughout half of her life she does not perform prayer.﴾ it has no origin with the word "half" included. Many scholars held this view such as Ibn Al-Juzi, Al-Zayla`y, Ibn Hajar, and others. Therefore, it is the Hadiths that are mentioned above that are authentically reported in the Two Sahih (authentic) Books of Hadith (i.e. Al-Bukhari and Muslim).

May Allah grant us success! May peace and blessings be upon our Prophet Muhammad, his family, and Companions!

Fatwa no. 20803

Q: I found a paper including the merit of the first ten days of Dhul-Hijjah. It reads as follows: On the authority of Ibn `Abbas who narrated that the Prophet (peace be upon him) said: the day on which Allah forgave Adam (peace be upon him) was the first day of Dhul-Hijjah; so anyone who observes Sawm (Fast) on this day, Allah will forgive all their sins. On the second day, Allah answered the Du`a' (supplication) of Yunus (Jonah - peace be upon him) and took him out of the belly of the whale; so anyone who observes Sawm on this day is like a person who observes `Ibadah (worship) for a year without disobeying Allah for an instant. On the third day, Allah answered the Du`a' of prophet Zakariyya (Zechariah - peace be upon him); so anyone who observes Sawm on this day, Allah will answer their Du`a'. On the fourth day, `Eisa (Jesus - peace be upon him) was born; so anyone who observes Sawm on this day, Allah will save them from suffering and poverty and they will be with the noble, upright, and righteous angels on the Day of Resurrection. On the fifth day, Musa (Moses - peace be upon him) was born; so anyone who observes Sawm on this day will be saved from hypocrisy and the punishment in the grave. On the sixth day, Allah granted His Prophet (peace be upon him) favor; so anyone who observes Sawm on it, Allah will look at them with His Mercy and will never torture them. On the seventh day, the gates of the Fire are closed until the end of the ten days; so anyone who observes Sawm on it, Allah will close for them thirty gates of hardship and open for them thirty gates of ease. The eighth day is called the Day of Tarwiyah (8th of Dhul-Hijjah); so anyone who observes Sawm on it will be rewarded so greatly that no one but Allah (Exalted be He) knows about it. The ninth day is the Day of `Arafah (9th of Dhul-Hijjah); so anyone who observes Sawm on it, it will be Kaffarah (expiation) for the sins they committed in the past year and the sins they would commit in the following year. It is the day when Allah revealed His Saying: \(This day, I have perfected your religion for you, completed My Favour upon you, and have chosen for you Islâm as your religion.\) The tenth day is the first day of `Eid-ul-Adha (the Festival of the Sacrifice); so anyone who offers Ud-hiyah (sacrificial animal offered by non-pilgrims), Allah will forgive their sins and that of their children. Besides, anyone who feeds a Mu'min (believer) or gives a Sadaqah (voluntary charity) on this day, Allah (Exalted be He) will resurrect them on the Day of Resurrection as safe and their Mizan (the Scales for weighing deeds) will outweigh the mountain of Uhud.

A: We do not know of any origin for this Hadith. the merit of performing good deeds during the first ten days of Dhul-Hijjah is authentically reported in many Hadith, such as the Hadith narrated on the authority of Ibn `Abbas (may Allah be pleased with them both) that Allah's Messenger (peace be upon him) said, "There are no days during which pious deeds are more loved by Allah (Glorified and Exalted be He) more than these (ten) days." They said, "O Messenger of Allah! Not even Jihad (striving in the Cause of Allah)?" He (peace be upon him) said, "Not even Jihad, except if a man goes out with his life and his wealth and does not return with anything." Al-Majd said in "Al-Muntaqa" that this Hadith was related by the Six Compilers of Hadith (Al-Bukhari, Muslim, Abu Dawud, Al-Tirmidhy, Al-Nasa'iy, and Ibn Majah) except Muslim and Al-Nasa'iy.

May Allah grant us success! May peace and blessings be upon our Prophet Muhammad, his family, and Companions!

Q: I would like to ask about the Hadith which the author of the book (Riadh Al-Tawheed) mentioned, which says: On the authority of Ibn Al-`Abbas (may Allah be pleased with them) that he said: "We were with the Messenger of Allah (peace be upon him) in the house of one of Al-Ansar (Helpers, inhabitants of Madinah who supported the Prophet) among a group of people, then someone called: 'O people of the house, shall I come in for you need something from me'. Allah's Messenger (peace be upon him) said: (Do you know who is the caller?) They said: Allah and His Messenger know best. Allah's Messenger (peace be upon him) said: (This is Iblis (Satan), may Allah curse him). `Umar ibn Al-Khattab (may Allah be pleased with him) said: (Allah's Messenger, will you allow me to kill him)? The Messenger (peace be upon him) said: (Wait `Umar! Do you not know that he (Satan) is one of those given respite to a specified day? Open the door for him as he is ordered, just understand what he will say and listen to him. When they opened, they found a one-eyed old man)"

A: This Hadith has no origin as far as we know and the source from which it is quoted is unknown, so you must abandon it and not mention it to people.

The second question of Fatwa no. 21121

Q 2: Al-Harith ibn Muslim Al-Tamimi (may Allah be pleased with him) said: The Messenger of Allah (peace be upon him) said to me: (after you perform Fajr (Dawn) Prayer and before you talk say: "O Allah, protect me from Hell" seven times; for if you die that day, protection from it will be recorded for you. And when you conclude the Maghrib (Sunset) Prayer, repeat this supplication, for if you recite this and die that night, protection from it will be recorded for you.)

Related by Al-Nasa'i. It is also related by Abu Dawud from Al-Harith ibn Muslim from his father Muslim ibn Al-Harith. (Al-Tarhib Wa Al-Tarhib, vol.1, p.303-304). Is this Hadith Sahih (authentic) or Da'if (weak)?

A: This Hadith is related by Abu Dawud, Ibn Hibban in his Sahih book, Ibn Al-Sunni and Al-Nasa'i in his book `Amal Al-Yawm wa Al-Laylah.

(Part No. 3; Page No. 254)

Faruq Hamadah, the verifier, said about it: The Hadith is Hasan (Good) In sha'a-Allah.

The thirty fifth and thirty sixth questions of Fatwa no. 18612

Q35: It is true that: (the water of Zamzam is for whatever it is drunk for.) and "Surah Ya-Sin is for whatever it is recited for", are these authentic Hadiths?

A: First: The Hadith: ("The water of Zamzam is for whatever it is drunk for.") is Hadith Mashhour (Well-known Hadith: A hadith reported by three or more narrators in each stage of its chain of transmission) related by Imam Ahmad, Ibn Majah, Al-Bayhaqi, and others from the Hadith reported from Jabir ibn `Abdullah (may Allah be pleased with them) in a Hadith Marfu` (a Hadith narrated from the Prophet with a connected or disconnected chain of narration). A more authentic Hadith is that related by Muslim in (his Sahih) from Abu Dharr (may Allah be pleased with him) that the Prophet (peace be upon him) said about the water of Zamzam: (It is a blessed \(water\) and it also serves as food.) and Abu Dawud related it in an authentic Isnad (chain of narrations) adding: (and a cure of illnesses.) .

Second: The Hadith: "Surah Ya-Sin is for whatever it recited for" has no origin.

Q 36: (a time will come when people will observe only one-tenth of Iman (Faith), but Allah will be pleased with them. However, if you neglect one-tenth of Iman, Allah will bring you to account.) Is this meaning correct? Is it a Hadith?

A: This Hadith was related by Al-Tirmidhy at the end of Kitab Al-Fitan (the Book of Tribulations) on the authority of Ibrahim ibn Ya`qub Al-Jawzjany from Nu`aym ibn Hammad as follows: (You are living at a time when if any one of you neglects one-tenth of what they have been ordered to do, they will be ruined. However, a time will come when if anyone (of those living in such a time) observes one-tenth of what they have been ordered to do, they will be saved.)

Al-Tirmidhy said: This is a Hadith Gharib (a Hadith with a single narrator usually at the beginning of the chain of narration), which we only heard of from Nu`aym ibn Hammad from Sufyan ibn `Uyaynah.

Al-Dhahaby said in Al-Siyar, "Nu`aym was the only narrator of this Hadith Munkar (rejected Hadith reported by a weak narrator whose narration conflicts with an authentic Hadith). I do not know where Nu`aym brought this narration from. Nu`aym said: They reject this Hadith, but when I was in the company of Sufyan, something happened and he rejected it and then told me of this Hadith." Al-Dhahaby commented, "He was telling the truth when he said that he heard the wording of the Hadith from Sufyan. It seems that Sufyan said this Hadith without Sanad (chain of narrators). In fact, he mentioned the Sanad of another Hadith which he wanted to narrate, but when he saw something Munkar (that which is unacceptable or disapproved of by Islamic law and Muslims of sound intellect), he interrupted what he was saying to reject what he saw and comment on it and then stated the Hadith mentioned above. Nu`aym mistakenly thought that the Sanad which Sufyan stated at first was that of the Hadith mentioned above and Allah knows best."

This saying was stated by Ibn Al-Jawzy in Al-Wahiyat. He said, "Al-Nasa'y said that it is a Hadith Munkar which was narrated by Nu`aym ibn Hammad, who is not a Thiqah (trustworthy) narrator."

May Allah grant us success! May peace and blessings be upon our Prophet Muhammad, his family and Companions!

Fifth question of Fatwa no. 18637

Q 5: Is the following Hadith considered Sahih (authentic): (allah loves that when a person does a labor that they perfect it) ?

A: This Hadith is mentioned by Al-Suyuty in his book Al-Jami` Al-Saghir where he said that the Hadith is related by Al-Bayhaqi in his book Al-Shu`ab. Al-Suyuty regarded the Hadith in question as Da`if (weak) as its Sanad (chain of narrators) contains Bishr ibn Al-Sirry who is declared by Al-Suyuty as belonging to Jahmiyyah (a deviant Islamic sect denying some Attributes of Allah, claiming they are ascribed to people and cannot be ascribed to Allah).

Moreover, it is mentioned in the book of Majma` Al-Zawa'id: This Hadith is related by Abu Ya`la on the authority of `Aishah. Its Sanad contains Mus`ab ibn Thabit whom is considered a Thiqah (trustworthy) narrator by Ibn Hibban though some other scholars of Hadith regard as Da`if.

In the book of Al-Taqrib, the narrator mentioned above is declared as not being consistently accurate.

However, the meaning of the Hadith is correct for it is Mustahab (desirable) for Muslims to perfect their labors and Shar`i (Islamic legal) acts such as Salah (Prayer), Sawm (Fast), etc.

May Allah grant us success! May peace and blessings be upon our Prophet Muhammad, his family, and Companions!

The first question of Fatwa no. 21368

Q 1: I found two papers that contain some Hadiths of the Messenger of Allah (peace be upon him) concerning the merits of some Qur'anic Surahs. In one of these Hadiths, the Prophet (peace be upon him) said: ten prevents ten:

1- Surah Al-Fatihah prevents Allah's Wrath.

(Part No. 3; Page No. 257)

2- Surah Ya-Sin prevents thirst on the Day of Resurrection.

3- Surah Al-Insan keeps one safe from the horrors of the Day of Resurrection.

4- Surah Al-Waqi'ah protects against poverty.

5- Surah Tabarak wards off the punishment in the grave.

6- Surah Al-Kawthar eliminates dissensions.

7- Surah Al-Kafirun guards against (having) disbelief upon death.

8- Surah Al-Ikhlās protects against hypocrisy.

9- Surah Al-Falaq protects against envy.

10- Surah Al-nas protects against the insinuations (of the Satan).

The second paper contains the following:

In the first Hadith, Allah's Messenger (peace be upon him) said: o `Ali, do not sleep at night except after doing five (things):

1- Reciting the whole Qur'an.

2- Giving four thousands Dirhams.

3- Visiting the honorable Ka`bah

4- Reserving your place in Paradise.

5- Satisfying your opponents.

He (`Ali - may Allah honor his face) said: How? O Allah's Messenger. The Prophet (peace be upon him) said:

1- Do you not know that if you recite Qul Huwa Allahu Ahad (i.e. Surah Al-Ikhlās) three times, you will receive the reward of reciting the entire Qur'an?

2- And if you recite Surah Al-Fatihah, you will receive the reward of giving four thousands Dirhams.

3- And if you say, "La Ilaha Illa Allah Wahdahu La Sharika Lahu Lahu Al-Mulk Wa Lahu Al-Hamd Yuhiy Wa Yumit Wa Huwa `Ala Kul Sahy'in Qadir" (i.e. None is worthy of worship except Allah Who has no partner, for Him is authority and all praise, He gives life and causes death and He is able to do everything" ten times, you will take the reward of performing `Umrah (minor pilgrimage) or Hajj (pilgrimage).

4- And if you say La Hawla Wa-La Quwata Illa Billah Al-`Aly Al-`Azim (i.e. there is neither might nor power except with Allah, the Most High and the Most Great) ten times, you will secure your place in Paradise.

5- And if you say, "I ask Allah, the Most Great, None is worthy of worship except Him, He is the Living and the Self-Subsisting, forgiveness and I repent to Him; you will satisfy your opponents.

In the second Hadith, Allah's Messenger (peace be upon him) said:

whoever does not perform Fajr (Dawn) Prayer, his/her face has no light.

He who does not perform Zhuhr (Noon) Prayer, his Rizq (Sustenance) has no blessings.

He who does not perform `Asr (Afternoon) Prayer, his life will have no good.

He who does not perform Al-Maghrib (Sunset) Prayer, his offspring will be useless.

He who does not perform Al-`Isha' (Night) Prayer, he will not have peaceful sleep.

In the third Hadith, the Prophet (peace be upon him) said: "(There will be a time when) my nation will love five (things) and forget five (things):

1- They will love creatures and forget the Creator.

(Part No. 3; Page No. 259)

2- They will love wealth and forget Reckoning.

3- They will love evil deeds and forget repentance.

4- They will love (magnificent buildings like) palaces and forget the grave.

5- They will love worldly life and forget the Hereafter.

Your Honor, are these Hadiths authentic? It is worth mentioning that they are widely distributed from time to time, especially in Al-Masjid Al-Haram (The Sacred Mosque) in Makkah, may Allah protect it. I hope that you will clarify this, may Allah reward you!

A: These Hadiths are not found in any of the Hadith books and we do not know any reference to it. Therefore, these Hadiths should not be circulated or distributed.

May Allah grant us success! May peace and blessings be upon our Prophet Muhammad, his family and Companions!

Fatwa no. 21278

Q: The Prophet (peace be upon him) said: ("Get your food from lawful means and your Du`a' (supplication) will always be answered.") Is this Hadith Sahih (authentic)? Who narrated it?

A: This is part of the Hadith narrated on the authority of `Abdullah ibn `Abbas (may Allah be pleased with them) which reads as follows: (This Ayah (Qur'anic verse) was recited before the Prophet (peace be upon him) (O mankind! Eat of that which is lawful and good on the earth))

(Part No. 3; Page No. 260)

Thereupon, Sa`d ibn Abu Waqqas (may Allah be pleased with him) stood up and said, 'O Messenger of Allah! Make Du`a' to Allah so that my Du`a' will always be answered.' So, he (the Prophet) said, "O Sa`d! Get your food from lawful means and your Du`a' will always be answered. By the One in Whose Hand is the life of Muhammad, a servant would put an unlawful morsel in their stomach, and their actions will not be accepted for forty days. Whenever a person develops a potbelly from ill-gotten means and usury, they will be admitted into the Fire." (Related by Al-Tabarani in his book "Al-Awsat") It is a Da`if (weak) Hadith. The meaning of this Hadith is confirmed in another Hadith, such as the one related in Sahih Muslim (may Allah be merciful with him) on the authority of Abu Hurayrah (may Allah be pleased with him) who said: (...then he (the Prophet) mentioned a man who goes on a long journey, unkempt, full of dust, his food and clothes are ill-gotten, and he is fed from ill-gotten food. He stretches his hands to the sky (supplicating), 'O Lord, O Lord,' how could his Du`a' be answered?)

May Allah grant us success! May peace and blessings be upon our Prophet Muhammad, his family, and Companions!

The first question of Fatwa no. 21683

Q1: Following are some Prophetic Hadith for which I would like to know their degree of authenticity:

(Part No. 3; Page No. 261)

1- Qutaybah and Sufyan ibn Waki` reported that Humayd ibn Abdur-Rahman Al-Rawasi reported from Al-Hasan ibn Salih from Harun Abu Mohamed from Muqatil ibn Hayyan from Qatadah from Anas that he said, "The Prophet (peace be upon him) said: "Everything has a heart, and the heart of the Qur'an is Surah Ya-Sin. He who recites Surah Ya-Sin, will be rewarded by Allah for reciting it, as if he had recited the Holy Qur'an ten times. Abu `Eisa said: "This is a Hadith Gharib (a Hadith with a single narrator usually at the beginning of the chain of narration) which we do not know except from the narration reported by Humaid ibn `Abdul-Rahman and in Al-Basrah and they do not know the Hadith reported by Qatadah except from this narration. In addition, Harun ibn Mohamed is an unknown shaykh. Abu Musa Muhammad ibn Al-Muthanna reported that Ahmad ibn Sa`id Al-Darimi reported that Qutaybah reported from Humaid ibn `Abdul-Rahman a similar narration. In the same chapter it is reported from Abu Bakr Al-Siddiq, but it is not authentic because of its Sanad (chain of narrators) as it is weak. In the same chapter it is also reported from Abu Hurayrah from (Sunan Al-Tirmidhi) and there are no similar narrations of the Hadith.

2 - Sufyan ibn Waki` reported that Zaid ibn Habbab reported from `Umar ibn Abu Khath`am from Yahya ibn Abu Kathir from Abu Salamah from Abu Hurayrah that he said: Allah's Messenger (peace be upon him) said: "Whoever recites Ha-Mim (Surah Al-Dukhan) at night, seventy thousands angels will seek Allah's Forgiveness for him till the morning." Abu `Eisa said, "This is a Hadith Gharib (a Hadith with a single narrator usually at the beginning of the chain of narration) which we do not know except from this narration, and `Umar ibn Abu Khath`am is a weak narrator." Mohamed said, "He reports Hadith Munkar (rejected Hadith reported by a weak narrator whose narration conflicts with an authentic Hadith)

(Part No. 3; Page No. 262)

(Al-Tirmidhi alone narrated it)

3- Nasr ibn Abdur-Rahman Al-Koufi reported that Zaid ibn Habbab reported from Hisham Abu Al-Miqdam from Al-Hasan from Abu Hurayrah that he said, "Allah's Messenger (peace be upon him) said: 'Whoever recites Ha-Mim (Al-Dukhan) on Thursday nights Allah will forgive him.' Abu `Eisa said, "This is a Hadith which we do not know except from this narration, and Hisham ibn Al-Miqdam is a weak narrator; he did not hear from Al-Hasan from Abu Hurayrah. So said Ayyub and Yunus ibn `Ubayd and Ali ibn Yazid (Al-Tirmidhi alone narrated it).

4- Muhammad ibn Bashshar reported that Muhammad ibn Ja`far reported that Shu`bah reported from Qatadah from `Abbas Al-Jushami from Abu Hurayrah from the Prophet (peace be upon him) who said, (a surah of the Book which only has thirty verses intercedes for a man till his sins are forgiven – Surah Tabarak) Abu `Eisa said: "This is a Hadith Hasan (good Hadith) from (Sunan Al-Tirmidhi).

5 - Huraym ibn Mis`ar Al-Tirmidhi reported that Al-Fudayl ibn `Iyad reported from Layth from Abu Al-Zubayr from Jabir that (The Prophet (peace be upon him) would not go to bed till he recited Surah Al-Sajdah and Surah Al-Mulk) Abu `Eisa said, "This is a Hadith reported by many narrators from Layth ibn Abu Sulaym in similar wording and is narrated by Mughirah ibn Muslim from Abu Al-Zubayr from Jabir from the Prophet (peace be upon him) with a similar wording. Zuhayr reported it saying, "I said to Abu Al-Zubayr:

"I heard from Jabir then mentioned the Hadith." Then Abu Al-Zubayr said, "It is Safwan or Ibn Safwan who told me about it as if Zuhayr denied that this Hadith is reported from Abu Al-Zubayr from Jabir from `Inad who told us that Abu Al-Ahwas from Layth, Abu Al-Zubayr from Jabir from the Prophet (peace be upon him) with a similar wording. He said: "Huraym ibn Mis`ar reported that Fudayl reported from Layth from Tawus who said, "They exceed all the Surahs of the Qur'an with seventy rewards" (from Sunan Al-Tirmidhi and there are no similar narrations for the same Hadith).

6 - Mohamed ibn Musa Al-Harshi Al-Basri reported that Al-Hasan ibn Silm ibn Saleh Al-`Ejly reported that Thabit Al-Bunani reported from Anas ibn Malik who said, "Allah's Messenger (peace be upon him) said: "Whoever recites Surah Al-Zalzalah, will be rewarded for reciting half of the Qur'an, whoever recites Surah Al-Kafirun will be rewarded as if he recited one fourth of the Qur'an, and whoever recites Surah Al-'Ikhlas will be rewarded for reciting one third of the Qur'an". Abu `Eisa said: "This is a Hadith Gharib (a Hadith with a single narrator usually at the beginning of the chain of narration) which we do not know except from the narration of Sheikh Al-Hasan ibn Salam. In the same chapter it is reported from Ibn `Abbas (Al-Tirmidhi alone narrated it and there are no similar narrations of the Hadith).

7- `Ali ibn Hujr reported that Yazid ibn Harun reported that Yaman ibn Al-Mughirah Al-`Anzi reported that `Ata' reported from Ibn `Abbas who said: "Allah's Messenger (peace be upon him) said: 'Surah Al-Zalzalah equals half of the Qur'an, Surah Al-'Ikhlas equals one fourth of the Qur'an, and Surah Al-Kafirun equals one third of the Qur'an." Abu `Eisa said, "This is a Hadith Gharib (a Hadith with a single narrator usually at the beginning of the chain of narration) which we do not know except from the narration of Yaman ibn Al-Mughirah" (Al-Tirmidhi alone narrated it and there are no similar narrations of the Hadith).

8- Mohamed ibn Marzouq Al-Basri reported that Hatem (Hatem) ibn Maymoun Abu Sahl reported from Thabit Al-Bunani from Anas ibn Malik from the Prophet (peace be upon him) that he said: "Whoever recites Surah Al-'Ikhlas two hundred times will have his sins forgiven for fifty years unless he owes a debt." It is reported with the same Isnad from the Prophet (peace be upon him) that he said: "Whoever wishes to go to sleep should lay on his right side then recite Surah Al-'Ikhlas a hundred times, Allah (Glorified and Exalted be He) will say to him on Resurrection Day: "O My servant, enter Paradise on your right." Abu `Eisa said, "This Hadith is Hadith Gharib (a Hadith with a single narrator usually at the beginning of the chain of narration) from the narration of Thabit from Anas. Also this Hadith has been reported in another narration from Thabit in (Sunan Al-Tirmidhi) and there are no similar narrations of the same Hadith.

A: All the Hadiths you mentioned are not authentic and cannot be ascribed to the Prophet (peace be upon him) according to Al-Tirmidhi and others scholars of Hadith, except for two: (A surah of the Qur'an containing thirty verses interceded for a man till he was forgiven. That is: "Blessed is He in Whose Hand is the sovereignty" (Surah 67).) .

and the second is: (The Prophet (peace be upon him) would not go to bed till he recited Surah Al-Sajdah

" and Surah Al-Mulk.) These are two accepted Hadiths and considered acceptable by many scholars of Hadith.

May Allah grant us success! May peace and blessings be upon our Prophet Muhammad, his family, and Companions!

The second question of Fatwa no. 14607

Q2: Is there a Hadith reported from the Messenger (peace be upon him) that reads: "Do not call me master"? Is it an authentic or a weak Hadith? Does the Hadith that reads: "I am the master of all the sons of Adam" weaken the first Hadith? What is the Takhrij (referencing) of the two Hadiths if they are authentic? Is it permissible to call the Messenger master in the Adhan (call to Prayer) and Tashahhud (a recitation in the sitting position in the second/ last unit of Prayer)?

A: The Hadith: "la tosaweduni" commonly pronounced as "la tosayeduni" has no origin as Al-`Ajlouny, the author of (Kashf Al-Khafa') transmitted it

As for the Hadith that reads: \(i am the master of the sons of Adam on Doomsday and no pride. \) it is a part of a long Hadith related by Imam Al-Tirmidhi from Abu Sa`id Al-Khudri and he said it is a Hadith Hasan Sahih (a good authentic Hadith).

As for calling the Messenger (peace be upon him) as master in other than the Adhan, Iqamah (call to start the Prayer) and Salah, it is permissible according to the Hadith mentioned above.

As for the Adhan, Iqamah and Tashahhud in Salah, a Muslim should recite what is reported in the Sunnah and add nothing to it because the Adhan, the Iqamah and Salah are acts of worship and acts of worship are Tawqifiy (bound by a religious text and not amenable to personal opinion) and must be performed only according to textual evidence.

Q 3: 'The singer and the one listening to them are cursed', is this a Hadith or a saying of a scholar?

Second question of Fatwa no. 14160

Q 2: It is said that the Messenger of Allah (peace be upon him) said: "Fear Allah and fear those who fear Him"; is this a Sahih (authentic) Hadith?

A: The first part of the phrase which is mentioned in the question is Sahih and is narrated on the authority of Al-Nu`man that the Prophet (peace be upon him) stated: \(Fear Allah, and do justice to your children.\)

(Part No. 3; Page No. 267)

Regarding the second part of the statement, "fear those who fear Allah"; this has no origin in Sunnah (whatever is reported from the Prophet, peace be upon him).

Second question of Fatwa no. 13958

Q 2: African scholars taught us a Hadith which reads: "Allah said: 'I was an unknown treasure, but I wanted to be known so I created a creature out of my Light and called him Muhammad. All my creatures would then know me through him 'Muhammad'". We thus referred to the Qur'an and sought guidance of the following Ayah (Qur'anic verse):
((And) if you differ in anything amongst yourselves))

A: The passage which is quoted in the question is not a Hadith and it is mentioned by Al-`Ajluny in his book Kashf Al-Khafa' as reading: "I was an unknown treasure but I wanted to be known so I created creatures and informed them of me so they knew me". Al-`Ajluny then commented that Ibn Taymiyyah said regarding this passage: "It was not said by the Prophet (peace be upon him) and it has neither Sahih (authentic) nor Da`if (weak) Sanad (chain of narrators). The same view was supported by Al-Zarkashi, Al-Hafizh Ibn Hajar, Al-Suyuti, etc. Besides, what is mentioned in the passage to the effect that the Prophet (peace be upon him) was created out of Allah's Light is not true for the Prophet (peace be upon him) was begotten by his parents just like other human beings.

Q: is there an authentic Hadith that means: ("Whoever observes the Zhuhr (Noon Prayer) then follows it with four (optional) Rak`ah (units of prayer) Allah will save his face from Hell-fire") ?

A: Imam Ahmad, As-hab-ul-Sunan (authors of Hadith compilations classified by jurisprudential themes), and Al-Hakem reported from Um Habibah (may Allah be pleased with her) that she said: "I heard Allah's Messenger (peace be upon him) saying: (Whoever observes the practice of performing four Rak`ah before the Zhuhr prayer and four after the Zhuhr prayer, Allah will shield him against the Fire (of Hell).) Q: How authentic is the Hadith which says: (may Allah be merciful with a person who offers four Rak`ahs (units of Prayer) before the `Asr (Afternoon) Prayer) ? May Allah reward you with the best!

A: This Hadith was related by Al-Tirmidhy in his Sunan as follows: On the authority of Ibn `Umar (may Allah be pleased with both of them) who narrated that the Prophet (peace be upon him) said, (May Allah be merciful with a person who offers four Rak`ahs before the `Asr Prayer.) He commented: It is a Hadith Hasan Gharib (a good Hadith that is strange to come from this chain of narration). The Hadith was also related by Abu Dawud, Ibn Hibban, and Ibn Khuzaymah on the authority of Ibn `Umar. Its Sanad (chain of the narrators) included Muhammad ibn Mahran concerning whom there was some debate. As for offering voluntary Salah before the `Asr Prayer, the following Hadith was reported on the authority of `Aly (may Allah be pleased with him) who said, (The Prophet (peace be upon him) used to offer four Rak`ahs before the `Asr Prayer.) etc. (Related by Al-Tirmidhy, Al-Nasa'y, and Ahmad) Al-Tirmidhy said: It is a Hadith Hasan (a Hadith whose chain of narration contains a narrator with weak exactitude, but is free from eccentricity or blemish).

The second question of Fatwa no. 12023

Q 2: I read in the books of Adhkar (invocations and Remembrances said at certain times on a regular basis) the following: ("Anyone who enters the market and says: 'La Ilaha Illa Allah, Wahdahu La Sharika lah, Lah-ul-Mulku Wa Lah-ul-Hamd, Yuhyi Wa Yumit, Wa Huwa Hayyun La Yamut, Biyadihi-l-Khayr, Wa Huwa `Ala Kulli Shay'in Qadir' (There is nothing worthy of worship except Allah, Alone without partner, to Him belongs dominion and praise, He causes life and death and He is the Living and does not die. In His Hand is all good, and He is All-Powerful over all things), Allah will record for them a million good deeds and erase a million bad deeds and raise them a million levels.") Is this Hadith or Dhikr (Remembrance of Allah) Sahih (authentic)? I heard some people say that it is Da`if (weak). We appreciate your advice. May Allah reward you!

A: The Hadith in the mentioned wording was related by Al-Tirmidhy and was mentioned in the "Musnad (Hadith compilation)" without the part: (He causes life and death and He is the Living and does not die. In His Hand is all good) but with this addition at the end: (and a house will be built for them in Jannah (Paradise).) The Hadith is Da`if because its Sanad (chain of narrators) includes `Amr ibn Dinar Al-Masry. Ahmad said, "He is Da`if." Al-Bukhari said, "He is Matruk (a narrator whose Hadith transmission was discarded due to unreliability)." Ibn Ma`in said, "He is undependable and insignificant." Al-Nasa'iy said: "He is Da`if."

The first question of Fatwa no. 10652

Q 1: There is a widely circulated statement in some of the books of our Urdu language that reads: "There is no better man than `Ali and no sword other than Dhu Al-Faqar." Is this statement authentic?

(Part No. 3; Page No. 272)

It is also mentioned in the books of Hadith that the Prophet (peace be upon him) said this to `Ali (may Allah be pleased with him) or was it fabricated by people? I heard that this statement is the saying of `Eisa ibn Mahran, a liar from the sect of Al-Rafidah.

A: The Hadith: "There is no man better than `Ali and no sword other than Dhu Al-Faqar" has no reference and may be from the fabrication of the Shiites. Al-Mulla `Ali Al-Qari' commented in his book Al-Asrar Al-Marfou`ah Fi Al-Akhbar Al-Mawdu`ah, which is known by Al-Mawdu`at Al-Kubra: "The Hadith saying, 'There is no better man than `Ali, and there is no sword other than Dhu Al-Faqar' has no reliable reference. Indeed, it is related in a weak Athar (a narration from a Companion) from Al-Hasan ibn `Arafah Al-`Abdi on the authority of Abu Gha`far Muhammad ibn `Ali Al-Baqir who said: "An angel called Radwan announced from the Heavens in (the Battle of) Badr 'No sword other than Dhu Al-Faqar and no man better than `Ali.'" Al-Tabari mentioned this Athar in his book Al-Riyad Al-Nadira and said, "Dhu Al-Faqar" is the name of the sword of the Prophet (peace be upon him). It was called so because there were small holes in it. Al-Qari' added, "It is proved to be invalid for if something like this had been announced from the Heavens in the Battle of Badr all the honorable Companions (may Allah be pleased with them) would have heard it and thus it would have been reported by the great Imams. This is similar to what is related concerning beating Al-Niqarah (musical instrument) in the Battle of Badr. Out of ignorance, they attribute this act to the Angels considering that it continued from the time of the Prophet (peace be upon him) up to the present time although this contradicts reason and revelation even if it was mentioned by Ibn Marzuq and likewise Al-Qastalany in his book Al-Mawahib." This is what is mentioned by Al-Mulla (may Allah confer mercy upon him).

The second question of Fatwa no. 10637

Q 2:

What is the degree of authenticity of these Hadiths? a- "My Earth and My Heavens cannot encompass Me, but the heart of My believing servant encompasses Me."

(Part No. 3; Page No. 274)

B- Abu Sa'id reported: I performed Hajj with `Umar, and when he began circumambulation, he faced Al-Hajar Al-Aswad (the Black Stone in a corner of the Ka`bah) and said: I know that you are a stone and that you can neither do any harm nor good; and if I had not seen Allah's Messenger (peace be upon him) kissing you I would not have kissed you. Thereupon, `Ali said: No, O Commander of the Believers, it can benefit and harm. Whereupon `Umar said: How? `Ali answered: With the Book of Allah, as Allah (may He be Exalted) states: ﴿And (remember) when your Lord brought forth from the Children of Adam, from their loins, their seed (or from Adam's loin his offspring) and made them testify as to themselves (saying): "Am I not your Lord?" They said: "Yes!"﴾ Allah created Adam, passed His hand over his back, let him know that He is his Lord and he is His servant, took his covenant and wrote it on a paper. At that time, this Stone had two eyes and a tongue. Allah ordered it to open its mouth, put the paper in it and ordered it to give testimony of the sincere people on the Day of Judgment. `Ali said: I heard the Messenger of Allah (peace be upon him) saying: Al-Hajar Al-Aswad will be brought on the Day of Judgment with a slippery tongue to testify for whomever faced it and was a believer. O, Commander of the Believers, now you know that it can bring benefit and harm. `Umar said: O, Abu Al-Hasan, I seek refuge in Allah to live among people you are not one of them. »

A: Sheikh Isma'il ibn Muhammad Al-`Ajuni in Vol. 2 of his book Kashf Al-Khafa' wa Muzil Al-Ilbas commented on this Hadith saying:

It was mentioned in Al-Ihya' with the wording: Allah stated, "Not the Heaven nor the Earth encompasses me, but the tender heart of my believing servant." Al-`Iraqi said in his comment on this Hadith: I know of no origin to this Hadith. The author of Al-Durar agreed with him following the criticism of Al-Zarkashi. Then, Al-`Iraqi said: In the Hadith narrated by Abu `Utba and recorded by Al-Tabarani, he said: The vessels of your Lord are the hearts of His righteous servants, and the most beloved to Him are the hearts that are most tender.

Ibn Taymiyah said: It is mentioned in the Israelite narrations (reported from the Jews) with no authentic reported Sanad (chain of narrators) traced back to the Prophet (peace be upon him).

The author of Al-Makasid said following what his Sheikh mentioned in Al-La'li': It has no authentic reported Sanad from the Prophet (peace be upon him) and it means that the heart of the Muslim is full of Iman (Faith) and knowledge about Allah. Otherwise, whoever says that Allah dwells in people's hearts, is more emphatically a disbeliever than Christians who attribute this characteristic to the Christ only, and he mentioned the Israelite narrations including what was related by Ahmad in the Chapter on Zuhd on the authority of Wahb ibn Munabbih who said: Allah opened the Heavens to Hazqil and he looked at the Throne and said: O Allah, Praise be to You. Whereupon Allah said: The heavens and earth were too weak to encompass me, but the heart of my tender believing servant did. It was found in the writings of Al-Zarkashi that some scholars said: This is a batil (null and void) Hadith introduced by atheists, and is frequently narrated by `Ali ibn Wafa for his own purposes. He even says, "When you feel the desire to dance, circumambulate the house of your Lord".

B- Al-Dhahabi said, after mentioning the Hadith in his summary of the Hadiths of

Al-Mustadrak, that its Sanad contains Abu Harun Al-`Abdi whose Hadith is rejected and is not valid. Abu Zur`ah and Abu Hatim said: His Hadith is Da`if (weak). Al-Nasa'i said: He is Matruk (a narrator whose Hadith transmission was discarded due to unreliability). Moreover, Al-Jawzajani said: He is a liar and his name is `Umarah ibn Guwaydah. Ibn Ma`in said: He is not trustworthy and is a liar. Ibn `Ulayyah said: He used to tell lies in Hadiths, and `Uthman ibn Abu Shayba said the same. Likewise, Ibn `Abdul-Barr said: Hadith scholars agreed on classifying the Hadiths he narrated as Da`if.

Q: Your Honor, what is your opinion concerning the following statement: "If He judges me, I will judge Him." This statement was mentioned in the Hadith: While the Messenger of Allah (peace be upon him) was circumambulating the Ka`bah, he heard a Bedouin saying: O the Most Bountiful. The Prophet (peace be upon him) repeated after him: O the Most Bountiful. The Bedouin headed in the direction of Al-Mizab and said: O the Most Bountiful. By Allah, except for your bright face and agile body, I would report you to my beloved (Prophet) Muhammad. The Messenger smiled and said: Do not you know your Prophet, O my fellow Bedouin? The Bedouin knelt down to kiss the hand of the Prophet (peace be upon him) but the Prophet (peace be upon him) said: Stand up O fellow Arab, do not do as Persians do with their kings for Allah did not send me as an arrogant despot. He sent me with the truth as a bearer of glad tidings and a warner. Gabriel descended and said to me: Al-Salam (the Peace i.e. one of Allah's Names) sends you greetings and says to you: Inform the Bedouin that he should not be deceived with Our tolerance or Bounty because we will judge him for the small and the great, and the wick and the husk of a date. The Bedouin said: Will Allah judge me O Messenger of Allah? He said: Yes, if He wills. The Bedouin said: By His Glory and Magnificence, if He judges me, I will judge Him. The Prophet (peace be upon him) said: On what O fellow Arab? He said: If Allah judges me for a fault, I will judge Him for His Forgiveness, and if He judges me on a sin, I will judge Him for His Pardon, and if He judges me on my miserliness, I will judge Him for His Bounty. The Prophet (peace be upon him) cried until his beard was wet (from tears), thereupon, Gabriel descended and said to the Prophet (peace be upon him): O Muhammad, Al-Salam sends you greetings and says to you: Stop your crying for it has distracted the Bearers of the Thrown (i.e. the angels who carry the Thrown of Allah) and inform your fellow Arab that we will not judge him and he will not judge Us and he will be your companion in Paradise.

The Messenger of Allah (peace be upon him) spoke the truth. My question is whether all good deeds of such a person will be annulled? Please explain the Hadith for me.

A: The correct wording of the Hadith is: \(Anyone who misses the `Asr Prayer \(intentionally\) will have all their \(good\) deeds annulled.\) The Hadith refers to those who deliberately delay the performance of the obligatory Salah (Prayer) until the expiry of its time and it is to be understood according to its literal meaning. Moreover, some scholars are of the view that the deliberate delaying of the performance of the obligatory Salah until the expiry of its time is tantamount to Riddah (apostasy). Finally, some

A: The meaning of "`Aza'ul- Jahiliyah" is taking pride in belonging to a specific tribe or clan by mentioning its name haughtily or arrogantly. Therefore, the Prophet (peace be upon them) said that whoever hears someone boasting about belonging to a particular tribe should tell them to : "U`dud Bihinn Abika" i.e. "go bite your father's penis" thus reminding them that they were once despicable sperm ejaculated from the penis to stop them from behaving arrogantly.

Q: I would like to know from your Eminence about the authenticity of the following Hadith because plots are being hatched against our Ummah (nation based on one creed) to drag it into Shirk (associating others with Allah in His Divinity or worship), may Allah save us from that. It is ascribed to the Prophet (peace be upon him) that he said, "Anyone who visits my grave deserves my intercession." and: ﴿In the space between my grave and my pulpit lies a garden from the gardens of Paradise.﴾ Are these sayings reported from the Prophet (peace be upon him)? Are they narrated in authentic books of Hadith?

A: The Hadith reported from the Prophet (peace be upon him) with the wording: "Anyone who visits my grave deserves a surety of intercession for them" is narrated by Al-Daraqutny from the Hadith reported by Musa ibn Hilal Al-`Abdy. Abu Hatim said: Musa's uprightness as a narrator is not verified. Al-`Aqily said: The Hadith of Musa are not authentic and cannot be supported by other Hadith and nothing in this regard is authentic.

Some of the learned scholars of Hadith, Shaykhul-Islam Ibn Taymiyyah included, were of the view that such Hadith is fabricated.

As for the Hadith: ﴿ in the space between my grave and my pulpit lies a garden from the gardens of Paradise. ﴾ Shaykhul-Islam Ibn Taymiyyah said in his book (Majmu` Al-Fatawa, vol.1, p.236), "It is authentically reported that he (peace be upon him) said, ﴿In the space between my house and my pulpit lies a garden

from the gardens of Paradise.﴾ This is the authentically reported narration of the Hadith. But some narrators mentioned the interpretation of "my grave" while, when the Prophet (peace be upon him) said this Hadith, he was not in his grave at the time. Therefore the Companions did not disagree on this Hadith. In fact they disagreed on the place where they should bury the Prophet. Had they heard this Hadith, it would have been evidence for them in solving the dispute.

Following is the Hadith quoted by Shaykh Nasir Al-Din Al-Albany when he edited "Al-Jami` Al-Saghir wa Zyadatuh" by Al-Hafizh Al-Suyuty. The Hadith states the following, (my Lord (may He be Blessed and Exalted) came to me this night in the best shape and said to me, "O, Muhammad!

Do you know about what the chief angels on high differ?" I said, "No." He put His Hand between my shoulders until I felt the coldness of His Hand on my chest. Consequently, I had knowledge of everything on earth and heaven.) Narrated by Al-Tirmidhy and Imam Ahmad on the authority of Ibn `Abbas.

Is this Sahih (authentic) Hadith? Please explain this Hadith in detail. As-salamu `alaykum warahmatullah wabarakatuh (May Allah's Peace, Mercy, and Blessings be upon you!)

A: It was mentioned by Imam Ahmad in his Musnad (Hadith compilation) that `Abdullah narrated that his father narrated to him from Abu Sa`id, the servant of Banu Hashim, from Jahdam i.e. Al-Yamamy, from Yahya ibn Abu Kathir, from Zayd ibn Abu Sallam, from Abu Sallam, i.e. Zayd ibn Sallam ibn Abu Sallam who was named after his grandfather, that `Abdul-Rahman ibn `Ayyash Al-Hadramy narrated to him from Malik ibn Yakhamir that Mu`adh ibn Jabal said, (The Messenger of Allah (peace be upon him) stayed at home one day and did not go out to offer the Fajr (Dawn) Prayer until the sun almost rose. Then, he came out and offered Salah (Prayer) quickly. After Salah, he asked us to remain in our places, and then he said to us, "I will tell you what made me late. I stayed up to offer Salah at night, and I fell asleep while I was offering Salah. When I woke up, I saw My Lord (may He be Glorified and Exalted) in the best shape. He said to me, 'O, Muhammad! Do you know about what the chief angels on high differ?' I said, O, Allah! I have no idea.' He put His Palm between my shoulders until I felt the coldness of His fingertips on my chest. Consequently, I had knowledge of everything on earth and heaven. He asked me, 'O, Muhammad! Do you know about what the chief angels on high differ?' I said, 'About Kaffarahs (expiations).' He said, 'What are Kaffarahs?' I said, 'Walking to join the congregational Salah, sitting in the Masjid (mosque) after Salah, and performing Wudu' (ablution) thoroughly when it is cold.' He asked me, 'What are the degrees?' I said, 'Feeding the needy, lenient speech and offering Salah while people are asleep.' He said, 'Ask Me anything.' I said, 'O, Allah! I ask You to help me do good deeds and abstain from evil ones, grant me the love of needy people, forgive me and have mercy on me. If you want to put some people to trial, make me die before that. I ask You to grant me Your love, the love of those who love You, and the love of deeds that bring me closer to You.' The Messenger of Allah (peace be upon him) then said, 'These words are right, so learn them.") (The Musnad of Imam Ahmad, volume 5, p. 243). It was also related by Al-Tirmidhy who said this Hadith is Hasan Sahih (good, authentic Hadith). He asked Muhammad ibn Isma`il (i.e. Al-Bukhari) about it and he said it is Sahih. The opinion of the Salaf (righteous predecessors) in such Hadith related to Allah's Attributes is accepting them as they are, without Takyif (questioning Allah's Attributes), Tashbih (comparison), Ta`til (denial of Allah's Attributes) or Ta'wil (allegorical interpretation). We should believe in them while believing at the same time that there is nothing like Allah; and He is the All-Hearer, the All-Seer.

Q: I have a question regarding a Hadith that I read in an old book. Following is its text: On the authority of Hisham ibn Harith from Ibn `Abbas (may Allah be pleased with them both) that the Prophet (peace be upon him) said, "Shall I teach you something to learn by heart"? He replied, "Yes O Messenger of Allah." The Messenger (peace be upon him) said, "Write then the whole Surah (Qur'anic chapter) of Al-Fatihah using saffron in a washbowl, then (write) the whole Surah of Al-Mulk, then the whole Surah of Al-Hashr, then the whole Surah of Al-Waqi`ah, then pour into such washbowl from the water of Zamzam (a well near the Ka`bah), or from the rain water, or from the sea water. You should then drink such water on an empty stomach after being mixed with three mithqals of frankincense, ten mithqals of honey, and ten mithqals of sugar. Afterwards, you should pray two Rak`ahs (units of Prayer) in each one of them you recite Surah Al-Ikhlās fifty times after reciting Surah Al-Fatihah. Then you should observe Sawm (Fast) for the following day." Ibn `Abbas said, "I did so and I got the reward declared by the Prophet (peace be upon him)." Ibn `Abbas continued, "You will be a Hafizh (a person who memorizes the whole Qur'an) in forty days. This applies to those who are younger than sixty years of age."

I would like to ask Your Eminence, O Shaykh `Abdul-`Aziz ibn `Abdullah ibn Baz: Is the Hadith quoted above Sahih (authentic) or Da`if (weak)?

It is worth mentioning that such Hadith is mentioned in the book of Khazinat Al-Asrar Al-Kubra Hilyat Al-Adhkar which is compiled by Muhammad Haqqy Al-Nazly; what is your opinion regarding this book?

A: As far as we know, no origin can be ascribed to the Prophet (peace be upon him) for the Hadith in question. Moreover, its Matn (text of a Hadith) is obviously unacceptable.

Regarding the book which is mentioned in the question, we do not have a copy of it. However, you may send us a copy so that we may look into it then inform you of our opinion.

May Allah grant us success! May peace and blessings be upon our Prophet Muhammad, his family and Companions!

Principles of Islamic jurisprudence

(Part No. 4; Page No. 6)

Fatwa no. 17706

Q: What is meant by Halal (lawful) and Haram (prohibited) in Islam?

A: Halal and Haram are two Shar`y (Islamic legal) rulings taken from the Qur'an and the Sunnah (whatever is reported from the Prophet). The Mu'min (believer) should firmly believe in the impermissibility of what Allah (Exalted be He) has made Haram and the permissibility of what Allah (Exalted be He) has made Halal. This belief is a cause for entering Jannah (Paradise). It was authentically reported that A man asked the Prophet \(peace be upon him\) saying, 'Tell me, if I regard as Halal \(lawful\) whatever has been declared Halal \(by Shari`ah\) and regard as Haram \(forbidden\) whatever has been declared Haram \(by Shari`ah\), shall I be admitted into Jannah?' The Prophet \(peace be upon him\) said, 'Yes.'

Accordingly, Muslims are not permitted to declare things Halal or Haram of their own accord, for this is considered one of the gravest sins. Allah (Exalted be He) says: Say \(O Muhammad\): "\(But\) the things that my Lord has indeed forbidden are Al-Fawâhish \(great evil sins and every kind of unlawful sexual intercourse\) whether committed openly or secretly, sins \(of all kinds\), unrighteous oppression, joining partners \(in worship\) with Allâh for which He has given no authority, and saying things about Allâh of which you have no knowledge." Allah (Exalted be He) also says: And say not concerning that which your tongues put forth falsely: "This is lawful and this is forbidden," so as to invent lies against Allâh. Verily, those who invent lies against Allâh will never prosper.

(Part No. 4; Page No. 7)

Muslims have unanimously agreed that when a person regards as Halal that which is religiously well-established and known to be Haram, such as permitting Zina (sexual intercourse outside marriage), Riba (usury/interest), or Khamr (intoxicant), this is Kufr (disbelief) and Riddah (apostasy) that brings them out of the fold of Islam.

Likewise, when a person regards what is religiously well-established and known to be Halal as Haram, such as prohibiting meat, bread, and the like, they thereby violate the Law of Allah and apostatized from Islam.

May Allah grant us success! May peace and blessings be upon our Prophet Muhammad, his family, and Companions!

Fatwa no. 16529

Q: It is said that the imperative form of the verb used by the Messenger of Allah (peace be upon him) conveys obligation. However, there is a Hadith whose apparent meaning contradicts the Hadith narrated by Abu Hurayrah (may Allah be pleased with him) \(When I command you to do anything, do of it as much as you possibly can.\) How can a Muslim reconcile these two Hadiths?

A: the basic rule concerning the commands of the Prophet, peace be upon him, is that it conveys obligation unless otherwise indicated. However, this obligation is in accordance with one's ability, as Allah (Exalted be He) states: \(So keep your duty to Allāh and fear Him as much as you can\) And such is the case of the Hadith mentioned in the question.

The first question of Fatwa no. 18145

Q 1: What is the difference between stressed and unstressed Sunnah? Are we obligated to observe the acts of stressed Sunnah only or the stressed and unstressed ones? Some people may refrain from observing a specific act of Sunnah on the pretext that it is not stressed. Please advise, may Allah reward you with the best!

A: The stressed Sunnah denotes every supererogatory act of worship which the Messenger (peace be upon him) urged Muslims to observe; such as Salat-ul-Kusuf (Prayer on a solar eclipse), Witr (Prayer with an odd number of units), Salat-ul-Duha (supererogatory Prayer after sunrise), and Al-Sunan Al-Rawatib (supererogatory acts that were stressed and regularly performed by the Prophet) which we should observe because Ibn `Umar (may Allah be pleased with both of them) said, «I observed from the Messenger of Allah \(peace be upon him\) \(the offering of\) two Rak`ahs \(units of Prayer\) before the Zhuhr \(Noon\) Prayer and two after it, two Rak`ahs after the Maghrib \(Sunset\) Prayer, two Rak`ahs after the `Isha' \(Night\) Prayer, and two Rak`ahs before the Fajr \(Dawn\) Prayer.» Also, `Aishah (may Allah be pleased with her) said, «The Prophet \(peace be upon him\) never missed four \(Rak`ahs\) before the Zhuhr Prayer.» (Related by Al-Bukhari in his Sahih (authentic Book of Hadith)). These acts of Sunnah complete the defects a person may have when offering the Five Obligatory Daily Prayers. Thus, it is Mustahab (desirable) for Muslims to offer all the acts of Sunnah following the example of the Prophet (peace be upon him) as much as they can, because of the following Hadith Qudsy (Revelation from Allah in the Prophet's words) which states, «My slave continues to come closer to Me through performing Nafilahs \(supererogatory acts of worship\) until I love them.» However, these acts of stressed Sunnah are not obligatory and there is no sin on anyone who does not observe them.

The second question of Fatwa no. 20918

Q 2: What exactly is the difference between the stressed Sunnah and the Wajib (obligatory)?

A: The Wajib is the act for which there is reward for performing it and punishment for neglecting it. The stressed Sunnah designates what is strongly recommended, such as the two Rak`ah (unit of Prayer) performed before Fajr (Dawn) Prayer.

Fatwa no. 13956

Q: Can ijma` (The Consensus of Scholars) be established in our present time throughout the Islamic world? With regard to the Fatwas of the Islamic Fiqh Academy that are unanimously agreed upon by all members of the Academy, are they considered rulings of Ijma`? Is it possible that Ijma` may be concluded in places other than the Islamic Fiqh Academy? Please respond, may Allah reward you!

A: First: Most scholars of Usul Al-Fiqh (Principles of Fiqh) agree that Ijma` can be made and recognized by people of power and knowledge in Muslim nations concerning an issue so that they agree upon a ruling; such as permitting the master to have sexual intercourse with his female slave on the basis of ownership and not allowing the male slave to have sexual intercourse with his female master. They supported this view with evidences from the Qur'an and Sunnah. However, a small number of scholars denied this opinion on the grounds that scholars have scattered after the Prophet's death (peace be upon him) and are in distant countries; therefore, knowing the opinion of everyone of them is impossible. But this opinion was refuted by the fact that Ijma` has occurred as the case of the first two examples and other examples that are mentioned in the book of Maratib Al-Ijma`.

The supporters of Ijma` substantiated their opinion with Allah's statement: ﴿And whoever contradicts and opposes the Messenger \(ﷺ\) after the right path has been shown clearly to him, and follows other than the believers' way, We shall keep him in the path he has chosen, and burn him in Hell - what an evil destination!﴾

Review other evidences in p. 176-192 part 19 and p. 10-11 part 20 from the book entitled Majmu` Al-Fatwa by Ibn Taymiyah. Also, see the proofs of those who supported Ijma`, the discussion of these proofs and the answers of the opponents in the third question of the questions on Ijma` in the first part of the book entitled Al-Ihkam by Al-Amidi. The small number of scholars who reject the Ijma` argue that all the scholars of the Muslim nation scattered after the death of the Prophet (peace be upon him) and went to distant countries and, therefore knowing the opinion of everyone of them and concluding Ijma` on an equal footing is impossible. Thus, it is related from Imam Ahmad ibn Hanbal that he said: "He who maintains the occurrence of Ijma` is a liar." It was answered that this is refuted with the occurrence of Ijma`, such as the first two examples and other related evidences mentioned in the book of Maratib Al-Ijma` by Ibn Hazm with a commentary by Ibn Taymiyah on the book. Moreover, the supporters of Ijma` said about the former saying of Imam Ahmad that he said this out of fear of Allah and disapproval of carelessness with regard to claiming the occurrence of Ijma` without careful examination and investigation of scholars' views. They also said that the Imam said this concerning those who do not have knowledge, or those who denied the occurrence of Ijma` after the time of the Companions or after the three honorable centuries. See p. 315 and 316 from the book entitled Muswaddah 'Al Taymiyah.

In the end, the view that Ijma` occurred in the era of the Companions is more correct due to their small number, the closeness of countries before the expansion of the Islamic world, the diligent seeking of knowledge and the limitation and confinement of differences. Moreover, supposing that Ijma` occurred among scholars in any age after the companions makes Ijma` a valid evidence and on these grounds the other narration from Imam Ahmad (may Allah be pleased with him) is confined to the occurrence of Ijma` and knowing it.

Second: With regard to the Fatwas of the Islamic Fiqh Academy which are unanimously agreed upon by all its members, they are not regarded as a Shar`i Ijma`, as the members of the Academy are not the entire group of authority and knowledge in the Muslim nation.

(Part No. 4; Page No. 12)

Third: Therefore, it is not possible to know the Ijma` of people in authority and knowledge in any one of the ages of this nation except the age of the Companions (may Allah be pleased with them) due to what we mentioned previously. Shaykh Al-Islam Ibn Taymiyah (may Allah confer mercy upon him) said in his book Al-`Aqidah Al-Wasitiyyah: "The Ijma` that can be determined precisely is that of the Salaf (righteous predecessors), for after their era, differences increased and the Muslim nation became spread throughout the world."

During our studies we come across some researches which are not adequately qualified, and as such, we cannot understand many of the debatable matters. how do we reconcile or agree over controversial issues? We appreciate your guidance, may Allah reward you!

A: The seeker of knowledge should review evidences according to the fundamental principles of reconciling evidences or arriving at preponderance, etc. He should seek what he considers as the most dominant view. However, if the seeker of knowledge has no ability in this regard, he must ask trustworthy scholars.

Q 2: Is it obligatory for every Muslim to follow a particular Madh-hab (School of Jurisprudence) and exclude all the other Madh-habs?

(Part No. 4; Page No. 14)

A: It is not permissible for a person who is able to derive the ruling and substantiate it to be fanatical about a particular Madh-hab. Rather, they should follow any of the Mad-habs of Ahl-ul-Sunnah (adherents to the Sunnah) as long as it establishes the proof. Anyone who does not have the ability to derive rulings based on evidence (from the Qur'an and Sunnah) should refer to the people of knowledge and piety. The second question of Fatwa no. 20242

Q 2: Is adopting Rukhsah (concession) in religious matters stand as an indication of encroachment or negligence?

A: Adopting Rukhsah in religious matters is permissible if it designates the Shar`y (Islamic legal) Rukhsah which Allah and His Messenger (peace be upon him) prescribed, such as the Rukhsah given to the traveler to break their Sawm (Fast) during travel and to shorten the four-Rak`ah Salah (Prayer consisting of four units) to only two Rak`ahs as well as to combine the Zhuhr (Noon) and `Asr (Afternoon) Prayers and Maghrib (Sunset) and `Isha (Night) Prayers at the time of the earlier or the later one during travel. Likewise, there is the Rukhsah of wiping over the Khuffs (leather socks) and the like. Accordingly, it is permissible to adopt Rukhsah as far as these cases are concerned. However, if someone does not apply the Rukhsah to which they are entitled, rather they observe Sawm during travel and do not shorten Salah, or combine the mentioned Salahs, or wash their feet instead of wiping over the Khuffs, there is nothing wrong or sinful in this, as this merely counts as a decline to apply what is preferable. This view is supported by the Hadith narrated by Ibn `Umar (may Allah be pleased with him) that the Prophet (peace be upon him) said: «Allah loves that His allowances be taken advantage of just like He hates being disobeyed.» (Related by Imam Ahmad, Al-Bazzar and Al-Tabarany in Al-Awsat) In another narration by Ibn `Abbas (may Allah be pleased with them both), the Messenger of Allah (peace be upon him) said: «Allah loves that His allowances be acted upon just as He loves that His prescribed duties be carried out.» (Related by Al-Tabarany in Al-Kabir and Al-Bazzar; the narrators of this Hadith are Thiqah [trustworthy])

However, adopting Rukhsah does not mean always choosing the easier of the two courses and following one's desires when considering Fatwas and views of the scholars, as this conduct is not permissible. It is obligatory upon Muslims to be mindful and careful when it comes to matters related to their faith, and be keen on discharging their responsibility by not following except what the Qur'an and the Sunnah provide evidence for. If someone is unaware of the legal ruling, they should ask the knowledgeable and trustworthy scholars. They should not repeat the same question to many scholars aiming at acting upon what agrees with their desire, as this indicates their negligence and heedlessness towards matters of their Din (religion). It was reported from some of the Salaf (righteous predecessors) that anyone who goes after the concessions given by scholars will eventually end up as a Zindiq (libertine).

Q: Allah's Messenger (peace be upon him) said, «When any of you wakes up from sleep, he must not put his hand in a utensil until he has washed it three times, for he does not know where his hand was during the night.» Related by Muslim.

Does the person's waking up at night then placing his hand in the utensil containing water remove the purity of water in which case he will not be permitted to perform Wudu' (ablution) with it, or does it maintain the state of purity and therefore it will be permissible for him to perform Wudu' with it? Which is right and better? We appreciate your advice; may Allah reward you with the best!

A: Obeying the order mentioned in the Hadith is an act of worship. However, the person placing his hand in water does not mean that it becomes impure. The correct view is that it is permissible to perform Wudu' with it.

A: If this foam, which is mixed with water and used in putting out fires, is made of impure substances and changes the characteristics of water, it will not be permissible to use it in making Wudu'. If it is made of pure substances, there will be no harm in making Wudu' from the water which is mixed with it as long as the foam does not overcome or change the characteristics of water.

A: All the people who performed Wudu' from the mentioned water after its smell had changed due to the death of a pigeon, have to repeat the times of Salah (Prayer) for which they performed Wudu' from the water of the mentioned tank; because they have been performing Wudu' from impure water which does not remove the state of impurity. Please explain.

A: The Hadith stated in the question means that if the amount of water is enough to fill two pitchers or more, it will not be affected by Najasah which usually falls into it, because it will disappear in the large quantity of water. Thus, water will not be affected by Najasah unless its color, taste, or smell changes because of this

Najasah. The Prophet (peace be upon him) did not mean that this water will never become Najis, because if the color, smell, or taste of pure water changes due to the falling of Najasah into it, it will become Najis even if it is a large quantity. Scholars have unanimously reached this opinion.

This water is still pure as it is, but we fear that the women of the house might have used some of it. Is it permissible for us to use this water in performing Wudu'? It is likely that some people of the house have already used it for Wudu'. Please advise, may Allah reward you.

A: purity is the original state of water. This is definite, and certainty is not removed by doubt. The doubt you feel should be disregarded, and thus you may use this water for Wudu'.

Q: We have a swimming pool at home, but some Najasah (ritual impurity) fell into it. It was a small amount, only filling a teacup, and the swimming pool is twelve meters. Would its water be Najis (ritually impure) and should not be used for swimming? Please advise, may Allah reward you with the best!

A: Water is judged to be Najis if its color, taste, or smell changes due to Najasah.

The second question of Fatwa no. 14599

Q 2: small animals, such as cats, birds, and even snakes and rats, may fall into water reservoirs and tanks. How can we purify this water so that it can be used?

A: If animals that are unlawful to be eaten such as cats, snakes and the like or edible animals such as pigeons or chickens fall into the water but do not die, the water is still Tahir (ritually pure). If the animals die and the tank is not full of water, it becomes Najis (ritually impure). However, if the tank is full of water and its taste, color, and smell does not change, it does not become Najis. It was related by Ahl-ul-Sunan (authors of Hadith compilations classified by jurisprudential themes) on the authority of Abu Sa'id (may Allah be pleased with him) that the Prophet (peace be upon him) said: ﴿"When there is enough water to fill two pitchers, it bears no impurity."﴾ In another narration related by Ahmad, the Prophet (peace be upon him) said: ﴿"When there is enough water to fill two pitchers, nothing will turn it impure."﴾ .

Istinja'

Fatwa no. 18783

Q: A man had his right arm amputated so he uses the left for doing everything, such as Istinja' (cleansing the private parts with water after urination or defecation), Madmadah (rinsing the mouth), etc. Is doing so permissible? Also, this man cannot wash all the parts of his back when performing Ghusl (ceremonial bath); is it permissible for him to perform Ghusl with the help of his wife?

A: the general ruling regarding Istinja' according to Shari'ah (Islamic law) is that people use their left hand. However, Madmadah and Istinja' (inhaling and exhaling water nasally) are to be done with the right hand which is to be kept away from impurities. A proof is the Hadith which is narrated by `Aishah (may Allah be pleased with her) who said:

«Allah's Messenger, peace be upon him, used his right hand for performing Wudu' and eating, whereas his left hand was used for other purposes and removing impurities.»

Therefore, if a person's right hand is incapacitated or has been amputated, it is permissible for them to use their left hand for Madmadah, Istinja', etc. Regarding Istinja', it is sufficient for one to perform Istijmar (cleansing the private parts with a hard material after urination or defecation) only provided that he cleans the place of Najasah (ritual impurity) at least three times before Madmadah and Istinja'.

(Part No. 4; Page No. 27)

and then washes the face three times. He should then complete his Wudu'. It is worth mentioning that washing such parts of the body only once or twice is sufficient for Wudu' though it is better to wash them three times. It is only the head that the Sunnah (whatever is reported from the Prophet) says should be wiped only once along with the ears. As for Madmadah with the left hand, this is permissible for the man in question as his right hand is amputated.

Regarding Ghusl, if he can drench his entire body with water, this will be better. Otherwise, it is permissible for his wife or any other member of his family to wash the parts of his body that he cannot reach provided that he covers his `Awrah (private parts of the body that must be covered in public) when it is a person other than his wife. In addition, if he cannot find anyone to help him perform Ghusl, it will suffice him to perform Tayammum (dry ablution) for the parts of his body that he cannot wash. This is because rulings that apply to a person who cannot use water are similar to what applies to a person who cannot find it. Moreover, the Prophet (peace be upon him) said: «When I command you to do anything, do of it as much as you possibly can...» and Allah (Exalted be He) states: «Allâh burdens not a person beyond his scope.»

Q 1: What is the ruling on Tasmiyah (saying, "Bismillah [In the Name of Allah]") two meters away from the toilet in a Masjid (mosque)? Is that permissible or not?

(Part No. 4; Page No. 28)

A: One of the Islamic etiquettes of entering the toilet is to enter with the left foot first and mention the Name of Allah before entering, saying: "Bismillah, Allahumma inni a`udhu bika min al-khubthi wal-khaba'ith (In the Name of Allah! O Allah, I seek refuge with You from male and female devils)." If one wants to perform Wudu' (ablution) in the Wudu' area, one should say "Bismillah" before performing Wudu', as doing so is Wajib (obligatory) because the Prophet (peace be upon him) said: «There is no Wudu' for the one who has not mentioned the Name of Allah upon \(performing\) it.» (Narrated by a group of Sahabah from the Prophet [peace be upon him] through a good Sanad [chain of narrators])

Q 1: The baths that are built nowadays in houses contain a place for a toilet, shower and basin for making Wudu' (ablution). Is it permissible to mention Allah while making Wudu' and bathing or talking about daily matters if the toilet is far away?

A: It is undesirable to mention Allah in toilets as a matter of glorifying Him. Moreover, it is undesirable for a person to speak while relieving himself because of the Hadith which reads as follows, ﴿If two persons go together for relieving themselves uncovering

\(Part No. 4; Page No. 29\)

The sixth question of Fatwa no. 19497

Q 6: It is mentioned in the book of Hadith by Al-Bukhari from (Ibn `Abbas (may Allah be pleased with them) that: "The Prophet (peace be upon him) once entered a lavatory and I placed water for his Wudu' (ablution). He asked, "Who placed it?" He was informed accordingly and so he said, "O Allah! Make him (Ibn `Abbas) a learned scholar in religion (Islam)." Does the surface meaning of this Hadith indicate that the Prophet (peace be upon him) invoked Allah inside the lavatory?

A: The mentioned Hadith does not indicate that the Prophet (peace be upon him) invoked Allah for Ibn `Abbas (may Allah be pleased with them) inside the lavatory. In fact the Prophet (peace be upon him) has been the most revering and glorifying to His Lord so he cannot have mentioned Allah in the place where people execrate.

(Part No. 4; Page No. 30)

So it can be interpreted as the Prophet (peace be upon him) invoked Allah for Ibn `Abbas saying: "O Allah! Make him (Ibn `Abbas) a learned scholar in religion (Islam)." after he (peace be upon him) left the lavatory and finished Wudu' or on taking the water when seeing it; because Ibn `Abbas (may Allah be pleased with them) placed the water at the door. The proof that supports this view is what Ibn Hajar mentioned in (Fat-h Al-Bary vol.1, p.244):

"Ibn Al-Munir said, 'The reason for the Prophet's invoking Allah for Ibn `Abbas (may Allah be pleased with them) was Ibn `Abbas's placing the water at the door of the lavatory. There was three choices for him. Either to take the water to the Prophet (peace be upon him) inside the lavatory or leave it at the door for the Prophet (peace be upon him) to take it or not to do anything. But Ibn `Abbas opted for the second choice as it was the most appropriate; because the first choice might involve exposure of `Awrah (private parts of the body that must be covered in public) and the third might demand much effort from the Prophet (peace be upon him) to get the water. The second option was the easiest and hence he opted for it. This indicates how intelligent Ibn `Abbas was. That is why the Prophet (peace be upon him) invoked Allah for him to understand religion and be honored, which later came true.'"

Q: Your Eminence, we are about to build administrative buildings in Al-Salil district. We have disagreed with the person in charge with regard to building the toilets in the direction of Makkah. It should be taken into consideration that all the toilets are inside the buildings and not outdoors. The toilets will be used by men only. Is it permissible to answer the call of nature in any direction in these toilets? Please advise.

A: It is permissible to answer the call of nature in bathrooms inside buildings in any direction as evidence of the case can be found in texts authentically reported from the Prophet (peace be upon him). However, it is better not to face the Qiblah (direction faced for Prayer towards the Ka`bah) or turn the back towards it, if possible, to avoid the difference in scholars' opinions. On the other hand, it is not permissible to turn one's face or back towards the Qiblah when answering the call of nature outdoors. Q: There is a Masjid (mosque) 20 minutes away from where I live. I call for Adhan (call to Prayer) and lead people in Salah (Prayer) where no one can recite the Qur'an as I do. Sometimes, I feel that something was discharged from my penis and after Salah I do not find anything except once when I saw a drop of blood. There is no water in the Masjid, so I have to make Wudu' (ablution) at home. Is it permissible to lead the people in this condition? Is it permissible to perform 'Isha' (Night) Prayer with the Wudu' I make for Maghrib (Sunset) Prayer if I am sure that nothing came out of me?

A: You have to clean yourself, especially the private parts after relieving yourself, then make Wudu'. If you make Wudu' and then doubt whether something has come out from you or not, the general rule is purity (as long as there is no proof to prove otherwise) and there is no effect for the doubt. The Prophet (peace be upon him) said, \(A person should not leave \(Salah to renew his Wudu'\) until he hears a sound or finds a smell.\) The basic rule states, "Certainty can not be annulled by doubt". their Wudu' (ablution). Is their Salah (Prayer) valid? what is the ruling on Istinja' in front of the people?

A: A person who wants to perform Istinja' should be alone and not reveal their `Awrah (private parts of the body that must be covered in public) in front of the people. It is not permissible to perform Istinja' and Wudu' in the same small basin. A person should rather perform Istinja' and Wudu' outside it, so that they do not make the water impure.

Q: A person suffers external hemorrhoids and bleeding and cannot perform Istinja' (cleansing the private parts with water after urination or defecation), so he only performs Istijmar (cleansing the private parts with a hard material after urination or defecation) with pebbles. Is it permissible to perform Istijmar with pebbles despite the presence of traces of blood after performing Wudu' (ablution), or should he perform Tayammum (dry ablution)?

A: It is permissible to perform Istijmar with pure pebbles and the like provided that they are Tahir (ceremoniously pure) and can purify the opening of the anus like dry tissues. This replaces water if the opening of the anus is clean after rubbing it thrice or more until it is purified, provided that the pebbles contain no bones or dung.

As for the blood that oozes continuously due to hemorrhoids, it does not affect the purity of the person if the person cannot prevent it. Allah (Exalted be He) says: ﴿So keep your duty to Allâh and fear Him as much as you can﴾ However, he should place tissues there to prevent blood from staining his body and clothes.

Q 1: The Messenger (peace be upon him) commanded us to observe cleanliness and cleanse our private parts after urinating, saying, \(Save yourself from being soiled with the urine...\) This is general for men and women.

Your Eminence, the General Mufti of KSA, we are commanded to use three stones to clean the anus only. Is there a Hadith for cleansing the penis too? I have another question for truly Allah (Exalted be He) is not shy to explain the truth: If men use stones to clean the penis or anus, what should women use when they find no water to cleanse their private parts?

A: using stones in purification and other things of the same nature except bones and waste is a replacement of using water in cleaning the front and back parts (penis and anus) and men and women are equal in this regard. It is obligatory to use three purifying stones for each one; anus and penis. If the discharge does not stop, a person should use more stones until it ceases. It is better to use an odd number of pieces and if a person purifies himself with four, he may use the fifth and if he cleans himself with six, he may use the seventh because of the Prophet's saying: \(Whoever wants to use stones in purification, he should use an odd number.\)

What is the ruling on this? Is my Salah (Prayer) valid although my clothes are Najis (ritually impure) because of this urine?

(Part No. 4; Page No. 37)

Since some scholars think that making Istinja' is one of the duties of Wudu' (ablution), could you please elaborate on this ruling?

A: performing Istinja' is not necessary for making Wudu'; rather, it is obligatory after passing urine or stools. Moreover, it is not permissible to perform Tayammum (dry ablution) in the presence of water even if the weather is very cold unless one fears getting severely ill by using water. 2- Circumcision

Fatwa no. 17740

Q: What is the ruling on the circumcision of girls? If it is permissible, at what age should they be circumcised? What is the Islamic way to do it? I have a nine-year-old girl whom I want to circumcise. Can I do it while she is at this age?

A: Circumcision is one of Sunan-ul-Fitrah (Islamic practices of personal hygiene), according to the Hadith narrated by Abu Hurayrah (may Allah be pleased with him) in the Two Sahih (authentic) Books of Hadith (i.e. Al-Bukhari and Muslim) that the Prophet (peace be upon him) said, «Five practices are characteristics of Fitrah \(natural disposition\): circumcision, shaving the pubic region, shaving the armpits, clipping the nails and cutting the moustaches short.»

It is Wajib (obligatory) for men, according to the order of the Prophet (peace be upon him). It was authentically reported that he (peace be upon him) told those who embraced Islam, «Remove your hair and perform circumcision.» Keeping the foreskin results in retaining Najasah (ceremonial impurity), which invalidates Salah (Prayer), so it should be removed.

As for women, it is Mustahab (desirable), not Wajib for them, according to the Hadith narrated by Al-Dahhak ibn Qays (may Allah be pleased with him) who said, «There was a woman in Madinah who used to circumcise

women. Her name was Um `Atiyyah. The Prophet \(peace be upon him\) told her to reduce the size of the clitoris but not exceed the limit, for that is better for her health and preferred by husbands.»

Related by Al-Hakim in "Al-Mustadrak" and Al-Hafizh Al-Dhahabi in "Al-Talkhis" with a good Sanad (chain of narrators). This indicates desirability.

As for its time, it is desirable in the young age until a discerning age, as it is more merciful to the child and faster in healing. It is Wajib for men after puberty.

The male circumcision is done by cutting the foreskin that covers the penis so that it is totally exposed.

The female circumcision is done by removing the clitoral hood, not the clitoris itself, as the Prophet (peace be upon him) forbade this in the previously mentioned Hadith of Um `Atiyyah .

Fatwa no. 20118

Q: We are Somali Muslim women living in Canada and bitterly suffer from a traditional act imposed upon us by means of custom, namely, the pharaonic circumcision wherein the circumcising woman removes the whole clitoris along with a part of the labia minora and most of the labia majora. In other words, she removes all the external genital organs of the female. This leads to a complete vaginal deformation. Eventually, the whole vaginal opening is stitched in an operation called Al-Ratq that causes intolerable pains to women on their wedding day and when they give birth. In many cases, surgery is also required. Furthermore, frigidity and medical repercussions may also take place causing a woman to lose her life, health, and reproduction. A part of the medical research that elucidates these matters is included in this message. We want to know the legal ruling in this regard. Indeed, the salvation of many Muslim women in many countries is dependant on your judgment. May Allah grant you success, be generous to you, and preserve you for all Muslims!

A: If the reality is as you have mentioned, this kind of circumcision performed in the said manner is not permissible, because it causes women grave harm. The Prophet (peace be upon him) says, «There should be neither harming nor reciprocating harm.» As for the permissible circumcision, it is to remove a slight part of the clitoris at the anterior of the vulva, for the Prophet (peace be upon him) said to the woman

Q: In one of his recorded lectures, the knowledgeable Hadith scholar, Sheikh Muhammad Nasir Al-Deen Al-Albany (may Allah preserve him) said that whoever lets his beard grow more than a fist-length is a Muftadi` (one who introduces innovations in religion). This tape was copied by a seeker of knowledge named `Ukashah `Abdul-Mannan Al-Taiby. He (may Allah preserve him) stated: Every general text which is authentically reported from the Messenger of Allah (peace be upon him) and contains a case of specification within that general rule that we know by one way or another was not done by the Messenger of Allah (peace be upon him) or our righteous Salaf (righteous predecessors), then acting upon that specification despite being within a general rule is introducing an innovation in Islam.

He (may Allah preserve him) said on another occasion: The command "Grow the beard" is a general rule. If one grows his beard to reach his navel, then he acts according to the general rule but was this the act of the righteous Salaf? Anyone who has sound knowledge will answer in the negative. Those who do not know should stick to the general rule, whereas those who have knowledge would say that this part of the general text was not the act of the righteous Salaf. In a nutshell, firstly, we do not know any of the Salaf not to mention the Messenger of Allah (peace be upon him) who was their leader and Imam that he grew his beard without trimming it. Secondly, we know that many of the Salaf used to trim their beards. It is authentically reported from `Abdullah ibn `Umar ibn Al-Khattab, but there is something vague about this narration regarding Ibn `Umar. There are two narrations in this regard; the first which he mentioned that he used to trim his beard only upon performing Hajj or `Umrah (lesser pilgrimage). According to the second narration, he did this constantly, as some of the Tabi`un (Followers, the generation after the Companions of the Prophet) reported from him, including Salim ibn `Abdullah ibn `Umar. There are also other Hadith narrated on the authority of Abu Hurayrah, a group of Tabi`un and Ibrahim Al-Nakh`i, who was one of the latter Tabi`un narrated that the Sahabah (Companions of the Prophet) used to trim their beard. Therefore, the narration which state trimming the beard while there are no narrations that state letting it grow fully makes leaving the beard grow longer than one's fist is an act of Bid`ah (innovation in Islam).

(Part No. 4; Page No. 48)

On a third occasion, he (may Allah protect him) also said: We must adhere to the act of Ibn `Umar because Ibn `Umar was one of those who reported Hadiths concerning letting the beard grow. In addition, he lived during the time of the Messenger of Allah (peace be upon him) as he let his beard grow in the manner he understood that the Prophet wanted Muslims to do. We all know that Ibn `Umar was the ardent, if not the strictest of the Sahabah in imitating the Sunnah of the Prophet (peace be upon him) even on things that some of the Sahabah opposed him. We can not imagine that he heard the Messenger commanding Muslims to grow their beards without trimming and then did the contrary.

Your Honor and the rest of the members of the Permanent Secretariat as well as the Council of Senior Scholars advocate the impermissibility of trimming the beard. For this, I ask Your Honor to explain this issue in detail. May Allah reward you!

A: Muslims must let the beard grow in obedience to the command of the Prophet (peace be upon him). It is authentically reported in the two Sahih (authentic) Books of Hadith (i.e. Al-Bukhari and Muslim) and others on the authority of Ibn `Umar (may Allah be pleased with them both) that the Messenger of Allah (peace be upon him) said: \(Trim closely the mustache, and let the beard grow.\) This is the wording of Al-Bukhari, whereas the wording of Muslim is: \(Trim closely the moustache, and let the beard grow\) .

It is also reported in the Two Sahih (authentic) Books of Hadith (i.e. Al-Bukhari and Muslim) on the authority of Ibn `Umar (may Allah be pleased with them both) that the Prophet (peace be upon him) said: \(Cut off the moustache and let the beard grow to differ from The Magians \) .

All these words refer to letting the beard grow and not trimming it, even if it becomes long as the linguistic connotation of these words suggest.

(Part No. 4; Page No. 49)

As for the rule mentioned in the question, it is Batil (null and void) and we do not know of any evidence to support it. None of the knowledgeable scholars who establish the legal rules mentioned it. Furthermore, what strengthens its invalidity is that it is not frequently mentioned with its subsidiary inferences, as it implies that the person who pays charity should not exceed the amount spent by anyone of the Salaf, and none of the Muslims would say this. The sound legal rule is: One that is spread in most of its subsidiary inferences.

Accordingly, this rule is Batil and a Muslim should not trim his beard even if it is very long in obedience to the Prophet's command and its linguistic connotation.

As for what is reported from Ibn `Umar (may Allah be pleased with them both) that he used to trim the sides and the length of beard, this does not support trimming the beard, although it is authentically reported about him. The evidence here is the Prophet's statement which indicated the obligation of letting the beard grow and not trimming it whether by cutting it off or shortening it. Muslims have agreed that the statement of the Prophet (peace be upon him) should not be opposed by any person's opinions or acts. This is a sound rule which has great benefit to whoever acts according to it. Furthermore, Ibn `Umar did not do such trimming constantly; rather, he used to trim his beard when ending the state of Ihram (ceremonial state for Hajj and `Umrah).

As for the claim that it is not known that any of the Salaf let his beard grow without trimming, this is invalid and contradicts the guidance of the Prophet (peace be upon him). It is reported in many authentic Hadiths that the Messenger of Allah (peace be upon him)

(Part No. 4; Page No. 50)

\(was thick-bearded\) In another narration: \(He had a bushy beard\) and in others: \(His beard hair covered the upper part of his chest\) This is the best refutation to such claim.

In addition, reading the biographies of the righteous Salaf indicates that some of them are described as having had beards that extended to their navel. We need not say this unless the questioner takes it as evidence in his question. There is sufficient evidence in the Prophet's words and deeds and what is inferred from his statements.

The fourth question of Fatwa no. 18956

Q 4: is a person who shaves his beard considered a Fasiq (someone flagrantly violating islamic law)?

(Part No. 4; Page No. 51)

A: Anyone who shaves his beard willingly despite knowing that it is impermissible and insists on that sin is a Fasiq and should repent to Allah from such sin and ask Allah for forgiveness.

May Allah grant us success! May peace and blessings be upon our Prophet Muhammad, his family and Companions!

The fifth question of Fatwa no. 19497

Q 5: Some people claim that there is no prohibition reported from the righteous predecessors, like the Four Imams (Abu Hanifah, Malik, Al-Shafi'y, and Ahmad) and others, on removing what exceeds a fist length of one's beard. On the other hand, you forbid this. What is your opinion in this regard?

Some people say that the Hadith of the Prophet (peace be upon him) concerning those who will dye their hair black at the end of time does not entail an apparent prohibition, but it means that they will be described as black because of their evil deeds. They believe in this claim regardless of the Hadith that states: (...but avoid the black (color).)

Is it true that when women dye their hair yellow or any color other than black it is considered a form of imitating Kafirs (disbelievers)?

A: The claim that the preceding Imams did not forbid removing what exceeds a fist length from one's beard is not acceptable and has no effect. Indeed, those who claim this have made a great mistake and have opposed the guidance of the Messenger of Allah (peace be upon him) in the command of letting the beard grow and the prohibition of shortening it at all. This is proven in the Two Sahih (authentic) Books of Hadith (i.e. Al-Bukhari and Muslim) in the Hadith narrated on the authority of

Ibn `Umar (may Allah be pleased with them both) that the Prophet (peace be upon him) said: ("Do the opposite of what the Mushriks (those who associate others with Allah in His Divinity or worship) do: Keep the beards and cut the moustaches short.") Moreover, Muslim related in his Sahih on the authority of Abu Hurayrah (may Allah be pleased with him) that the Messenger of Allah (peace be upon him) said: ("Cut the moustaches and let the beards grow in order to be contradictory to the Magi.") Also, the Prophet (peace be upon him) said: ("Closely trim the moustache and let the beard grow to be different to the Mushriks.") (Agreed upon by Al-Bukhari and Muslim) Letting the beard grow means to leave it as it is without shaving, plucking, or cutting anything from it. It is obligatory to let the beard grow.

There is no evidence that the Prophet (peace be upon him) used to cut from the width or length of his beard or shorten what exceeds the length of a fist. The view of those who oppose this ruling has no effect. The effective rulings must be taken from what is said by Allah (Exalted be He) or that which is authentically reported from the Messenger of Allah (peace be upon him). Regarding those who claim that the Hadith ("At the end of time, there will be people who will dye their hair with black tint") does not indicate a prohibition to use black dye but it means that they are described as black because of their evil deeds, their claim is false and has no effect. There are authentically reported Hadith in regard to the prohibition on dying hair black and a general command of avoiding this. For example, Abu Dawud related with his Sanad (chain of narrators) on the authority of Jabir ibn `Abdullah (may Allah be pleased with him) who said: ("Abu Kuhafah was brought (to the Prophet) on the Day of the Opening of Makkah while his hair and beard were like a white cloud. The Messenger of Allah (peace be upon him) said, "Change the color of this grey hair but avoid using the black tint.") (Related by Muslim, Al-Nasa'iy, and Ibn Majah) Also, Ahmad in his "Musnad (Hadith compilation),"

Abu Dawud, and Al-Nasa'iy related on the authority of Ibn `Abbas (may Allah be pleased with them both) that the Messenger of Allah (peace be upon him) said: ﴿"At the end of time, there will come people who will dye \(their hair\)

(Part No. 4; Page No. 53)

with black tint like the crops of pigeons; they shall not smell the fragrance of Jannah \(Paradise\)."﴾ As they deserve such a threat, we can conclude the prohibition of their act and the obligation of avoiding it.

Consequently, it is preferable to color grey hair with non-black colors, like henna (a plant that produces a reddish-orange dye) and Katam (a plant from Yemen that produces a reddish-black dye) to give the hair a reddish or yellowish color and the like. It was related by Muslim that Abu Bakr used to dye his hair with henna and Katam, and `Umar used to dye his hair with henna. Also, it was reported that the Prophet (peace be upon him) used to dye his hair with yellowish tint.

It is permissible for women to dye their hair with a yellow tint and other colors, such as henna and Katam, but not black; rather, it is preferable to color grey hair.

May Allah grant us success! May peace and blessings be upon our Prophet Muhammad, his family, and Companions!

Fatwa no. 21026

Q: Praise be to Allah Alone and peace and blessings be upon the Prophet after whom there is no other prophet!

Some people presented to the Permanent Committee for Scholarly Research and Ifta' a book titled "Al-Insaf fima ja'a fil-Akhdh min Al-Lihyah wa-Taghyir Al-Shayb bil-Sawad min-al-Khilaf," Dabiyan ibn Muhammad Al-Dabiyan. The writer concluded that it is permissible to remove what exceeds the length of a fist of one's beard and that it is Makruh (reprehensible), but not Haram (prohibited), to dye grey hair black.

(Part No. 4; Page No. 54)

A: After deliberate study and scrutiny, the Committee answered: The writer's conclusion about these two matters is an apparent mistake. It is established in Allah's Purified Shar' (Law) that letting the beard grow is obligatory according to Fitrah (natural disposition), Sunnah (whatever is reported from the Prophet), and the command of the Prophet (peace be upon him). In principle, a command denotes obligation; here we have a command to be contradictory to the Mushriks (those who associate others with Allah in His Divinity or worship), like the Magi and others. Moreover, prohibition originally denotes prevention; Muslims are prevented from shaving, cutting, or plucking their beards, because this is against the following proofs:

With regard to the proof of Fitrah, it was authentically reported from `Aishah (may Allah be pleased with her) that the Prophet (peace be upon him) said: \(There are ten acts which are akin to Fitrah: trimming the moustache, letting the beard grow, using the Miswak \(tooth-cleansing stick\)...\) \(Related by Ahmad, Muslim, Ahl-ul-Sunan \(authors of Hadith compilations classified by jurisprudential themes\), and others\)

Regarding proofs taken from the Sunnah, it was authentically reported that the Prophet (peace be upon him) \(had a thick beard.\) According to another wording, he was \(dense bearded.\) Also, the recitation of the Prophet (peace be upon him) in his Sirri Salah (Prayer with subvocal recitation) was known to anyone standing behind him because of the movement of the hair of his beard, as related in the Sahih (authentic) Book of Hadith of Al-Bukhari and others from Abu Ma'mar (may Allah be pleased with him).

Regarding the command of the Prophet (peace be upon him), there are many authentic reports which include an explicit command concerning this matter by using the words \(Let the beards grow\) and other words such as: "let it grow", "keep" and "lengthen". Such words indicate that the beard should not be shaved, cut, or plucked.

(Part No. 4; Page No. 55)

The Ijma' (consensus of scholars) on the command of letting the beard grow was reported by Ibn Hazm (may Allah be merciful with him) and was quoted from him by Ibn Muflih (may Allah be merciful with him) in "Al-Furu'", vol. 1, p. 131.

Therefore, every Muslim should let his beard grow to preserve his Fitrah (natural disposition), follow the example of the Prophet (peace be upon him), and obey his command. The basic rule states that any command is an obligation until there is evidence that changes this basic rule and we know of nothing that changes it.

It is not permissible for Muslims to shave, cut, or pluck their beards; in fact they are forbidden to do this for it is against the mentioned proofs. Moreover, the Prophet (peace be upon him) has forbidden Muslims to imitate Mushriks, including the Magi and others. The basic rule states that prohibition indicates prevention until there is evidence that changes this basic rule; and we do not know any reliable evidence to that effect.

Accordingly, the opinion that permits removing what exceeds the length of a fist from one's beard is against the obvious proofs from the Sunnah. Allah (Glorified and Exalted be He) says: ﴿And whatsoever the Messenger \(Muhammad صلى الله عليه وسلم\) gives you, take it; and whatsoever he forbids you, abstain \(from it\).﴾ Allah (Glorified be He) also says: ﴿Indeed in the Messenger of Allāh \(Muhammad صلى الله عليه وسلم\) you have a good example to follow﴾ He (Glorified be He) also says:

(Part No. 4; Page No. 56)

﴿It is not for a believer, man or woman, when Allāh and His Messenger have decreed a matter that they should have any option in their decision.﴾

A Muslim should obey Allah (Exalted be He) and His Messenger (peace be upon him) and abstain from anything against the Shari`ah-based evidence. It is an obligation to follow the inerrant Prophet (peace be upon him). Also, the writer's opinion that it is merely Makruh to use black dye is totally wrong; because there are many authentic and explicit evidence from the Sunnah concerning the prohibition of such an act. Prohibition originally denotes prevention unless there is reliable evidence that changes this ruling, and we do not know of any reliable evidence to that effect.

Consequently, the Permanent Committee for Scholarly Research and Ifta' decided to issue this Fatwa (legal opinion issued by a qualified Muslim scholar) in order to declare the Sunnah, support it, and warn against being deceived by such deviant opinions that are contradictory to the Sunnah like those of the writer of the mentioned book. We advise him to return to the truth and adhere to it and stop spreading such an opinion, which is opposite to the verbal and practical Sunnah and to what has been common to all Muslims among the first generation of Sahabah (Companions of the Prophet) until this age. Also, spreading such opinions, which are against Shari`ah-based evidence, leads to weakening Iman (Faith) and encouraging people to act against the Sunnah.

May Allah grant us success! May peace and blessings be upon our Prophet Muhammad, his family, and Companions!

Fatwa no. 19994

Q: I am a young man from Yemen now living in Saudi Arabia. I strive to be upright and I let my beard grow. Once, I went to the barbershop and while the barber was cutting my hair, the machine removed some of my beard hair by mistake. I did not want to raise a case against the barber, because it would not return the removed hair anyway. Therefore I asked him to trim my beard in proportion to the part removed by the machine. When a Muslim brother saw me, he advised me in a harsh manner that hurt me deeply. When he saw that I shortened my beard, he said to me: You renounced Islam!

The question is: Am I considered Murtad (apostate) because I shaved or shortened my beard? The other question is: Which of the two of us is more sinful; me for shortening my beard, or the brother who asked me had I renounced Islam (by doing so) which means that I became an apostate?

A: shaving the beard or cutting some of it is prohibited, because the Prophet (peace be upon him) commanded us to let it grow and forbade shaving or cutting it. This is a form of imitating the Mushriks (those who associate others with Allah in His Divinity or worship) and removing it causes distortion and blemish. A Muslim who shaves his beard is not considered a Kafir (disbeliever), but he is sinful and disobedient and should repent to Allah and grow his beard. Your brother in Islam misused his words in advising you. May Allah pardon us, you, him and all Muslims.

A: It is permissible to take hair loss medication to treat one's beard. But it is not permissible to take a drug for lengthening it because it is a sort of going to extremes in an act for which Allāh has sent down no proof.

Clipping nails

The first question of Fatwa no. 19771

Q 1: What is the ruling on letting the nails grow long?

A: It is not permissible to let one's nails grow long because it is against Sunan-ul-Fitrah (natural hygiene) which the Prophet (peace upon him) has exhorted us to adhere to. Clipping the nails is one of Sunan-ul-Fitrah, which also include plucking the armpit hair, shaving the pubic hair, and cutting the moustache short; and this should be done at most every forty days, according to the Hadith related by Muslim in his Sahih (Authentic Hadith Book) on the authority of Anas (may Allah be pleased with him) who said: «We have been given a time limit that we should cut the moustache short, clip the nails, and shave the pubic hair at most every forty nights.» Therefore, those women, who practice this bad habit, should repent to Allah (Exalted be He) and abstain from this bad habit which is against the command of the Prophet (peace be upon him). Allah (Glorified and Exalted be He) says: «And whatsoever the Messenger \(Muhammad peace be upon him\) gives you, take it; and whatsoever he forbids you, abstain \(from it\).» Allah (Glorified be He) also says: «And let those who oppose the Messenger's \(Muhammad peace be upon him\) commandment \(i.e. his Sunnah - legal ways, orders, acts of worship, statements\) \(among the sects\) beware, lest some Fitnah \(disbelief, trials, afflictions, earthquakes, killing, overpowered by a tyrant\) should befall them or a painful torment be inflicted on them.»

Q 4: Some people, especially in the summer, shave their heads with no legal excuse. Those who shave their heads offer the extreme heat and habit as an excuse for their act, knowing that shaving the head is one of the attributes of people of Bid`ahs (innovations in religion) including Khawarij (separatist group that believes committing a major sin amounts to disbelief), may Allah curse them. So what is your good advice for them?

A: it is permissible for a man to shave his head, especially when necessary. The Messenger (peace be upon him) granted his permission to do this and he said to the person with Qaza` (leaving tufts of hair after shaving the head), «Have your hair all shaved, or leave it without shaving.» Narrated by Ahmad. Moreover, he (the Prophet) ordered the mother of the children of Ja`far ibn Abu Talib (may Allah be pleased with him) to shave his children's heads when it was necessary.

Q 4: What is the allowable extent of the length of a man and woman's hair?

A: It is permissible for a man to shave his hair or to leave it in a way that does not imitate the Kafirs (disbelievers), provided that he should keep it neat and clean in accordance with the Sunnah. Also, it is permissible for him to cut it short or gather it and let it fall on the shoulders, as narrated from the Prophet (peace be upon him). With regard to a woman, it is not permissible for her to shave her head unless it is a medical necessity. Moreover, she is forbidden to dress it in a way that makes her resemble men or a disbelieving woman. She should rather let it grow long and not cut it short because it is definitely the source of her beauty.

The second question of Fatwa no. 18988

Q 2: I live with my aunt in the same house. She is an old sick woman and she says that her hair harms her. Is it permissible for her to shave it?

A: shaving a woman's hair (on her head) is forbidden unless it is necessary. For instance, if she is unable to dress it and when it is infested with lice, especially when she is old or sick and afflicted with sores or burns in the scalp. Thus, when keeping the hair will harm her and delay her recovery, it is permissible to shave or cut it short.

Imam Ahmad was asked about a woman who is unable to anoint and dress her hair that is infected with lice, may she shave it? He said: If necessary, I wish it will not be bad.

However, if no necessity is there, it will be forbidden for her to shave it. (It is reported from Hammad ibn Salamah from Qatadah from `Aishah that the Prophet (peace be upon him) \("forbade that a woman should shave her head."\) This is also the view maintained by scholars; they held that women should not shave their head hair but may cut it short i.e. cut it short only in the Hajj and `Umrah (lesser pilgrimage). This Hadith is narrated by Al-Tirmidhy in (Al-Jami`-ul-Sahih), Chapter on Hajj. It is also narrated by Al-Nasa'y in (Al-Sunnan, vol. 1, p. 9297) on the authority of `Aly (may Allah be pleased with him).

This is especially when the eyebrow is wide, deep black and its hair is long and thick and the two eyebrows are almost connected.

A: It is not permissible for a woman to cut, pluck or shave her eyebrows in accordance with the Prophet's saying, «Allah has cursed the woman who plucks hair from the eyebrows and the woman who has the hair of her eyebrows plucked.» In fact, Nams (removing hair from the eyebrows) is not an act of adornment, it is a sort of distortion and change of the creation of Allah. If the husband orders his wife to do this, it will not be permissible for her to obey him; because such an act is a sin. There should be no obedience to any creature, in disobedience to the Will of Allah, for their livelihood. So, what is the ruling on using this substance, and what is the ruling if it is not used in the necessary mentioned case? It should be noted that this substance is extracted from certain types of trees, as the trees undergo a process of squeezing until the substance comes out. It is a black substance.

A: If such substance, as mentioned before, prevents water reaching the parts of the body involved in wudu', it should be removed before starting Wudu'. Moreover, it should be removed from any part of the body when Ghusl (ritual bath following major ritual impurity) is necessary.

The second question of Fatwa no. 14313

Q 2: When I use some oils, bandages or braces, I remove them. Sometimes after some obligatory Salahs (Prayers), I find that some parts of the brace or the like have not been removed yet, knowing that the solder does not permeate water. What is the ruling on my Salah; should I repeat it? Would you please inform me as to what is correct? May Allah benefit you and allow others to benefit from you!

A: it is obligatory on you to remove anything that prevents water from reaching the skin prior to Wudu' (ablution). So, if you have already performed Wudu' and Salah then found out that one of the parts involved in Wudu' was covered with anything that prevents water from reaching the skin, the Salah is not sound. Therefore, you have to remove anything that prevents water from reaching the skin, make Wudu' and repeat the Salah.

The first question of Fatwa no. 18451

Q 1: What is your opinion concerning applying liquid kohl to the eyes? Does it prevent water from reaching the eyes if I apply it prior to performing Wudu'? I have heard some sheikhs say that it prevents the water from reaching the eyes and nullifies the Wudu'. Surely, Allah knows the best.

A: If the kohl is that type which dries on the skin, then 'Wudu' will not be valid until you remove it, because it prevents water from reaching what is beneath. If the kohl does not dry on the skin, it does not affect the 'Wudu'. Indeed, Allah knows the best.

Q 2: There are many types of hair creams. Do creams and other hair products made of a viscous substance prevent water from reaching the hair, and what then is the ruling on Wudu' (ablution)? Please advise, may Allah reward you!

A: The types of cream that have a density which prevents water from reaching the skin should be removed prior to Wudu'. On the other hand, those types which have no density do not have any effect on the validity of Wudu'.

Q 1: I was afflicted with a chronic skin disease called (psoriasis) years ago. Thus, I use an ointment every morning and night for treatment. I can not remove this ointment lest the skin would crack. Thus, upon Wudu' (ablution) for Salah (Prayer) water does not reach the skin; what is the legal ruling on this?

A: anointing the skin with ointment does not invalidate Wudu', for it does not prevent water from running on the organs.

Fatwa no. 14683

A: One day we followed a funeral procession to the graveyard. We performed the Funeral Prayer over the deceased and buried him. Upon returning, the Maghrib (Sunset) Prayer was due. We entered a Masjid (mosque) to perform the Salah, but a man said that whoever accompanied the deceased to the grave should perform ablution since the ablution performed for the Funeral Prayer is not valid for the obligatory Salahs. We differed regarding this issue while others agreed with him. Please elaborate on this issue. May Allah's Peace, Mercy, and Blessings be upon you!

A: It is permissible for one who performs ablution for a supererogatory Prayer to offer obligatory Prayers with this ablution.

Q: What is the ruling on Salah (Prayer) performed with imperfect Wudu' (ablution) regarding some parts of the body which are obligatory to be washed, such as the face, feet, and arms?

A: All the parts of the body must be washed properly when performing Wudu'. If a Muslim performs Wudu' leaving some parts that are not touched by water, they have to make water reach them. However, if these parts become dry due to the lengthy interruption, Wudu' must be performed again. If Salah is offered without repeating Wudu', both Wudu' and Salah must be performed again.

Fatwa No. (16292)

Q: What is the ruling on using as much amount of water for Wudu' (ablution) as one Sa` (1 Sa` = 2.172 kg) or more due to believing that less amount of water will not be enough for a perfect purification? What is the ruling on a person who on performing Wudu' always feels that he will break wind and thus stops himself so that no wind may be broken and sometimes feels that he breaks wind without hearing a sound or perceiving a smell? How do you advice him as he has doubts regarding the validity of his Wudu', as in the first case and about purification, as in the second case?

A: it is recommended to use a small amount of water and perform Wudu' thoroughly following the example of the Prophet (peace be upon him). It is impermissible to be wasteful in using water for Wudu' or Ghusl (ritual bath) as the Prophet (peace be upon him) prohibited it. The Prophet (peace be upon him) would perform Wudu' using a Mud (handful) of water and would perform Ghusl using a Sa` of water. He prohibited using water wastefully. This fact is stated in the Hadith reported on the authority of Anas who said:

«Allah's Messenger (peace be upon him) used to perform Wudu' with one Mud and take a bath with a Sa` up to five Mud.» (Related by Muslim.) The Prophet (peace be upon him) is also reported to have said to a person performing Wudu': «Do not waste (water), do not waste (water).» (Related by Ibn Majah). This is in addition to other evidence of prohibiting extravagance in general. As for doubting regarding breaking wind after Wudu', it is ineffective and does not invalidate the state of ceremonial purity, for certitude is not abated by doubt. When asked about the same issue, the Prophet (peace be upon him) replied: «Do not leave the Masjid unless you hear a sound or perceive a smell.» (Agreed upon by Al-Bukhari and Muslim).

The second question of Fatwa no. 18455

Q 2: I read in one of the books of Fiqh (Islamic jurisprudence) that if a person forgets Tasmiyah (saying, "Bismillah [In the Name of Allah]") at the start of Wudu' (ablution) and remembers while performing Wudu' then they should repeat it. In case they remember after finishing Wudu', they should not repeat it. Please guide us to the right ruling, may Allah grant you success!

A: Mentioning the Name of Allah when starting Wudu' is prescribed. If forgotten at the start of Wudu' and remembered while performing Wudu', the person should say it (Tasmiyah) and continue the Wudu', and if they remember after finishing Wudu', their Wudu' would be correct and they do not have to repeat it.

(Part No. 4; Page No. 74)

The first question of Fatwa no. 20619

Q1: Here in the town of Bani Malik, south of the Kingdom, we have some people, especially, the old people, who belong to or follow the Zaydiyy doctrine. They learn this doctrine, which they claim, from certain people who call themselves 'masters' or 'master' who claim that they descend from the offspring of Al-Hasan or Al-Husayn (may Allah be pleased with both of them and with all the companions). Those so-called masters force the clans to respect and honor them, and they - namely, the masters - do not allow any one from the clans to get married to their daughters, because they claim that this is prohibited. However, the masters are allowed to get married to the clans' women. Dear Eminence Shaikh, the masters who teach those people the above-mentioned doctrine and their followers make mistakes in religion and its creed. Some of these mistakes happen when they perform ablution; for example, when they wash the face, they say: O Allah, brighten my face on the day when faces will be bright, and do not darken my face on the day when faces will be dark. When they wash the hands, they say: O Allah, make me receive my book of deeds with my right hand and make me happy and pleased with it, and do not make me receive my book of deeds with my left hand and do not make me ignorant and conceited. When they wipe over the head they say: O Allah cover me with Your reward by the means of this water, and I am afraid of Your punishment and the punishment of the one who does not fear You. When they wipe the neck, an extra act which they add to ablution, they say: O Allah release this neck from Hell-Fire. When they wash the feet they say: O Allah, affirm my feet and my parents' feet on the straight path.

A1: There is no Adhkar (remembrances) said when performing ablution except what has been reported from the Prophet (peace be upon him). For example, in the beginning of ablution one should say: In the name of Allah, and upon completing it, one should say: I bear witness that none has to the right to be worshipped except Allah, alone without partner, and I bear witness that Muhammad is His slave and Messenger. O Allah make me of those who return to You often in repentance and make me of those who remain clean and pure.

He is Allah from Whom we seek success, and may Allah send His peace and blessings upon our Prophet Muhammad, upon his family and his companions.

Fatwa no. 21283

Q: We are a group of disabled men currently living in a government social welfare home. Some of the workers there are Muslims and others are not. They are employed by an agency contracted by the government.

(Part No. 4; Page No. 76)

The question is: Is it permissible for the non-Muslim workers to pour us water to perform Wudu' (ablution), if the Muslim workers are busy serving our colleagues? Please advise. May Allah protect you!

A: Wudu' is considered valid when its conditions and pillars are fulfilled. However, it is not permissible to bring the non-Muslim workers to this country because we are commanded to expel Jews, Christians, and other disbelievers from the Arabian Peninsula. The Prophet (peace be upon him) stated: \(Two religions must not remain in the peninsula of the Arabs.\)

The first question of Fatwa no. 18762

Q 1: what is the ruling on a person who intends to perform wudu' (ablution) and while washing their hands they break wind? Is it sufficient that they have already washed their hands that there is no need to wash them again or should they wash them again after breaking wind?

(Part No. 4; Page No. 77)

A: The Sunnah (whatever is reported from the Prophet) is to wash the hands three times before washing the face, after doing Istinja' (cleansing the private parts with water after urination or defecation). If a person is going to perform Wudu' after waking at night, they should wash their hands thrice before putting them in the pot of water and before washing their face.
